SIMON SUM IS ALLEGED FOR DRY LAW WORK

New Money Bill Provides For Reduced Total For Enforcement Of Prohibition

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—(A.P.)—A new money bill, said to appropriate $5,234,000, less than the budget asked, was presented to the House today at the same time a dispute was in full swing between President Hoover and the Democratic leadership over reductions in federal expenditures.

Nine million one hundred and 20 thousand dollars, the smallest sum in 13 years of national prohibition, was set aside for enforcement of dry laws in the fiscal year of 1934 by the four-percent appropriation bill reported to the House.

The Senate agreed to an immediate showdown on the controversial branch feature of the Glass banking bill. The statement by Senator Robinson, Republican of Indiana, that the Hoover-Roosevelt agreement to have debt discussions with Great Britain was "a violation of authority" was challenged in the Senate by Democratic leader Robinson who called the Republican member's speech "chicanery."

Approval of the Appropriation bill, a state of affairs throughout virtually the entire country was reported to the State Department in a dispatch from the American legation at Managua.

The House Ways and Means Committee decided to meet next week to consider re-issuing the federal gasoline tax.

Heavy Shipments Of Freight Taken To Jax By Boats

The equivalent of 40 freight car loads of citrus, gathered from points as far south as Winter Haven and Mountain Lake, left Sanford this past 48 hours on our boats operating between this city and Jacksonville.

The steamer "Oceola" left yesterday afternoon with 800 boxes of citrus and a shipment of celery, scheduled to arrive in Jacksonville at noon today.

The freighter "Jean" left here late yesterday with 1553 boxes of citrus, the equivalent of three carloads of canned fruit, half from the local canning factory, and a mixed cargo of freight. About 1500 boxes of fruit were loaded at De Land also.

The "City of Sanford" and the "City of De Land" were scheduled to leave here this afternoon for Jacksonville carrying 15,000 boxes of fruit and other cargo.

The total number of boxes near the 25000 mark, reaching a new high figure for shipments this season on the Johns River from Sanford to Jacksonville.

According to officials of the St. Johns River Line, two carloads of citrus had to be canceled for shipment today owing to the capacity of the boats having been reached.

The warehouse of this river line is crowded with freight, both incoming and outgoing, of various kinds, and that portion of the waterfront is the scene of activity from early morning until late at night as officials and crew handle the loading and unloading of freighters.

Whether the Municipal Pier will continue to be the unloading point for the steamer "Oceola" as it has in the past few weeks, is a matter that will probably be decided at the City Commission meeting of next Monday night.

Bank Of England's Head, 61, Is Married

LONDON, Jan. 21.—(A.P.)—Great Britain's chamberlain of mystery, Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England, giving the latest surprise today when his marriage to Miss Friedella Worthorne followed shortly after the announcement of their engagement. She is the daughter of Lady Alice Keynens. The engagement came as a distinct surprise to their friends and after the ceremony at the district registry office the couple immediately disappeared.

ECONOMY MOVES OF SHOLTZ HAVE SAVED BIG SUMS

However, Savings Are Not Nearly Enough To Meet Deficits

TALLAHASSEE, Jan. 21.—Economy has swept through four departments under major appointments of the governor and saved about one-tenth enough money to reduce the gasoline tax by one cent.

If the sum saved taxpayers by the new comptroller, Jim Lee, is added to that of the new general revenue fund has been fourth enough to meet the deficit the general revenue fund has been running for the last six months. This does not include contemplated savings in bank liquidating expense because depositors alone get the benefit of that.

This is how it works: The department has been cut $1,500 a year; the state veterinarian $100,000; the state forestry board $100,000. That is about $230,000 a year, and if you multiply it by ten you get a little more than the ten per cent of gasoline tax, which is over $2,000,000 a year.

Add in Jim Lee's saving of something like $50,000 and divide by twelve to get the monthly saving and the result is less than $2,000 as compared with the monthly deficit of more than $100,000.

Under the governor, there remain the state shell fish commission and the motor vehicle department. Of course, there is the road department too, but it owes so much money that it will be lucky to pay off its debts without being called upon to help the deficit.

One reason for the deficit is that the road department has been drained in past months for that purpose.

If the tax department expenses are it is presumed it will be equal to whether the school or whether it would be all right to transfer it to general revenue.

State Gov. Sholtz is against transferring but there is something about the latter which goes most people.

But the taxpayers of Florida are more interested in tax reduction than in meeting deficits and so the saving so far could be used to cut the state ad valorem millage. If payments do not fall off any more the saving would just about allow for whacking off the odd 5-8 mill from the total state levy of 4-8 mills.

Gov. Sholtz knows that economies so far have not saved anything. That is probably why he has warned state employees that even with all this slashing, checks may be a little late.

President-Elect Says He's Confident Congress Will Work To Get Something Done

SHEFFIELD, Ala., Jan. 21.—(A.P.)—Beginning an inspection of the Muscle Shoals power and nitrate project, President-elect Roosevelt told a crowd today "I am confident Congress will do something practical" to put "Muscle Shoals back on the map."

Significance was attached to his statement that "We are going to treat Muscle Shoals from a national standpoint." Senator Norris of Nebraska, whom Roosevelt introduced to the crowd at the station after his arrival from Washington as the "Father of Muscle Shoals," is preparing to push his bill for government operation in the next session.

BATTLE FOR THE FARMER

WASHINGTON—A bill to stay farm foreclosures proceedings while a national law is made to settle or extend the date was introduced in the Senate.

Lions Become Playful On Being Liberated In First Step Of "Big Game Hunt"

WOLF ISLAND, Mo., Jan. 21.—(A.P.)—Two full grown lions refused to take Denver M. Wright and his store of hunters seriously yesterday when the St. Louis novelty manufacturer released the animals from their cage as prey for an "African" lion hunt.

Wright climbed to the top of the log cage and opened the door to freedom for the huge cats as other members of the party took refuge inside a barbed wire barricade.

One of the lions dashed out of the cage and then streaked through the side of a barbed wire fence to lead the animals into the underbrush of Hog Island. His companion languorously walked out of the cage and then with a roar dashed through the fence to join the first animal.

CHANGE IN CRIME LAWS OF STATE IS IN PROSPECT

Revision of Statutes May Be Next Undertaking Of Bar Group

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 21.—(A.P.)—Revision of Florida's criminal laws was in prospect yesterday as the next major undertaking of the state bar association, which in 1931 put a new chancery act on the state's law books, and has just finished a modern code for cooperation of the legislature.

The twenty-sixth annual convention of the state association entered its third and last day here today. Among reforms in the criminal laws, which will be proposed to the bar delegates are:

Abolishment of the office of the justice of the peace, and the short form of indictment to replace the long form now required; admission of comment by the state on a defendant's failure to testify on his own behalf, now not admissible; modification of the

Toadfish Is Edging Way Into Imposing Choice Food Lists

STUART.—The lowly toadfish and the sting ray or "stingaree," are edging into Florida's imposing list of edible fishes, according to Robert Pruden, Daytona Beach fish and shrimp dealer, who visited Stuart recently.

"The sting ray, once despised toadfish or 'puffer,' familiar to all salt water anglers, has already won a high place for itself in competition with mackerel, bluefish and pompano in the retail markets of West Palm Beach and Miami.

"Those who have sampled them declare that they taste like frog legs or lobster," Pruden declared, and "experts are usually willing to pay a premium for them after the first trial."

Only the tail of the toadfish is marketable, Pruden said. Other parts of the fish are said to possess objectionable alkaloids.

"The vicious sting ray, enemy of waded, with a dangerous spine at the end of its whip-like tail, has also recently been successfully introduced into Florida's list of edible fishes, said Pruden. Only the wing of this member of the ray family are said to be edible, but the flesh is declared to be of exceptional fine flavor.

LINER MAKES DARING RESCUE OF SHIP CREW

22 Men Removed From Sinking Freighter By American Craft During High Winds

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—(A.P.)—The liner American Merchant, fighting a violent storm of hail, rain, high seas and gale force winds, saved the crew of a sinking freighter yesterday after the storm had battered the British freighter into a wreck and taken the lives of four men.

S.O.S. calls and brief radio messages flashed from the scene in mid-Atlantic told, act by act, of the drama that was taking place 1575 miles east of New York.

The hero was Capt. Giles C. Stedman of the American Merchant, who already had been decorated by two governments for previous rescue feats.

Posting Of Names Of Those Getting Benefits Is Proposed

Anderson, Orlando attorney, and endorsed by the Orlando Junior Chamber of Commerce, receives the approval of Congress.

This plan in detail will be presented to the Florida League of Young Democrats in convention at Orlando Monday in the form of a resolution. If this resolution is adopted by the convention, copies of it will be furnished to each of Florida's senators, congressmen and congressmen-elect, the President of the United States, the President-elect, the Vice-President, the Speaker of the House, to the press and to the national and to all presidents of Young Democrats, with a request that similar resolutions be considered by their organizations.

Mystery Of Shot Fired Into Home Solved By Woman

The mystery surrounding the firing of a shot into the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Truluck, 103 W. 10th St., late Thursday night was cleared up last night when Mrs. J. T. Griffin, owner of the Celery Club, telephoned Sheriff J. P. McClelland that the shot was accidentally fired from her automobile which was passing the house at that hour.

The hind leg of her dog played the leading role in the shooting, according to Mrs. Griffin, story. Her husband had just returned home from a hunting trip near Palatka, and because of a touch of the flu which had seized him and cut short his stay near that city, he forgot to unload a double-barreled shot-gun that he left lying in a small recessed back of the seat of his Ford coupe.

Mrs. Griffin, upon closing the Celery Club, left the building for the purpose of taking some of the help home. As usual, a small white dog that is a pet of the Griffins, jumped into the car and from there into the recessed.

Just as the car passed the Truluck home, the dog jumped to the seat, and in so doing its hind leg pressed against the trigger of the right barrel, firing the gun. The load went through the rear window glass about the center of the living room and on card tables where guests of the Trulucks were playing cards.

Mrs. Griffin explained that she thought the load went into the air, from the position of the gun, and that she did not think it necessary to report the matter. Upon reading an account of the matter in last night's Herald she immediately telephoned her story and the case was settled.

TWO ARE HURT IN A. C. L. WRECK OF PASSENGER TRAIN

TAMPA, Jan. 21.—The Atlantic Coast Line's Southland, from Tampa to the West via the Perry cut-off, was derailed at Thonotosassa at 6:57 o'clock last night. No passengers were hurt. Engineer B. F. VanMeter, of Lakeland, was slightly injured and was sent to the Tampa hospital.

The negro fireman, A. L. Black, Tampa, escaped serious injury after being pinned under the locomotive. But it was said he was not dangerously hurt.

The Southland, which left Tampa at 6:35 o'clock with six cars, was running about 35 miles an hour when derailed near a private road crossing. The cause was not immediately ascertained, and railroad authorities were unable to say whether the locomotive split a switch. That, however, seemed to be the general theory.

The locomotive ploughed about 15 yards through the earth, dug down nearly six feet and then turned over on its left side. The tender, which also was derailed, along with the mail car, crashed into the cab. The rails were torn up for a distance of 30 yards.

Coast Line officials, who were quickly on the scene, first satisfied themselves that none of the passengers or crew except the two men on the locomotive had been hurt, and then set about to put the Southland on its way with as little delay as possible.

The section leaving Tampa books up with the section leaving St. Petersburg at Trilby. When the St. Petersburg section reached Trilby it was backed from there to Thonotosassa to pick up all passengers for Atlanta and the West. The delay was not as great as some passengers at first had expected.

The Tampa section had a mail car, a baggage car, two day coaches and two pullmans.

Among passengers aboard were E. J. Keefe, William Walker, W. J. Westmoreland, R. E. Hillier, Tampa; H. Shaner and C. E. Lindsay, Lakeland, and Paul Stanton, Frostproof, all bound for Chicago. The Tampans telephoned their homes that the Southland had been derailed but all passengers escaped, even bruises.

Citrus Industry Is Said To Be Aided By Poor Business

WINTER GARDEN, Jan. 21.—K. C. Moore, county agricultural agent, addressed the students of Lakeview High School during the chapel period on Friday of last week on agriculture as a vocation for the future.

"The average age of the students I am talking to is around fifteen years," Mr. Moore said. "In five years most of you will have chosen a vocation in which you will be happy and make a contribution to the world. Your parents may not at first believe it, but the depression has helped the citrus industry more than anything which has happened in 15 years. I have records which show it costs the California citrus producer $400 an acre to produce his crop. It costs the Orange county producer on an average of $90 per acre. Citrus crops are bringing better prices than other agricultural crops during this depression."

Mr. Moore told the students that farmers usually lead happy lives, and explained the various lines of agriculture open, emphasizing the importance of a good education as a prime factor for success, coupled with good common sense.

DOMINION STATE GOVERNOR TELLS OF ITS FINANCES

Pollard Says Virginia Example Should Be Followed By U. S.

MIAMI, Jan. 20.—Gov. John Garland Pollard, of Virginia, executive of one of the few states with a balanced budget, believes that the system now in effect in his state would prove feasible for the United States, he declared at the Miami Biltmore Hotel, where he is a guest.

Governor Pollard is accompanied by his sister, Mrs. J. W. Wils, of Atlanta, who presides as hostess of the executive mansion.

Empowered by the Virginia general assembly to cut down appropriations to avoid a state deficit, Governor Pollard reduced the state budget $5,000,000 last year and another $3,000,000 this year. The reduction was absorbed principally in salaries, he said. Under the Virginia system, which lately has been adopted by many other states, the governor now has the right to appoint heads of various departments previously elected or named by boards.

The Virginia plan, Governor Pollard points out, enables the state to adjust its expenditures immediately and not wait until a debt has piled up. Other states that have adopted the plan he said, with but one or two exceptions, waited until there already was a large state debt.

Although his own salary was protected by the constitution, Governor Pollard reduced it on two occasions, with those of other executives and state employees.

The Virginia executive, who was a close friend of the late William Jennings Bryan, made his last visit to Miami shortly after the death of the Great Commoner.

If the President of the United States were given the same power to reduce expenditures as that his own state has placed in his hands, Governor Pollard believes the national budget could be balanced with the least possible loss of time and in such a way that the nation would benefit immediately.

His election as governor of Virginia eliminated a long and brilliant public career for Governor Pollard, who served as a member of the Federal Trade Commission under President Wilson and was a member of the war work council during the World War, being stationed in France and later Germany. Following the war, Governor Pollard served as dean of the department of government and citizenship for the ancient college of William and Mary, and later as attorney general of the state of Virginia.

At the time he was last in Miami, the Miami Biltmore Hotel was then under construction and Governor Pollard declared he was delighted to have the opportunity to see the great resort center since its completion.

Better Business Signs Are Seen In Pensacola Area

PENSACOLA, Jan. 20.—With the first two weeks of 1933 past, encouraging business signs have already been noted in Pensacola.

January construction activity started off in such brisk fashion that the month's building permit total is likely to exceed that of any month of 1932.

To date permits totalling $46,797 have been issued. Most of this is represented by the permit issued to J. H. Sherrill to construct a $42,000 residence at LaRue and 19th Avenue.

The Mutual Building and Savings Association recently issued its 88th semi-annual statement. This association, the oldest of its kind in the state, has never missed a dividend and never declared one under six per cent. Its assets are listed at $534,488.56.

Official port figures for November showed that for the third consecutive month, Pensacola led the entire state in exports. The year of 1932 was a record one in this line and already indications are that January will continue the activity.

Mandamus Seeks 840-Mill Levy For Lake Worth

LAKE WORTH, Jan. 20.—An amended petition for a peremptory writ of mandamus to force the city commission to revise its 1932-33 budget to include a tax millage sufficient to meet all outstanding interest and bond principal indebtedness, given as $2,497,594.93 was filed in circuit court Tuesday by Earl J. Reed, as a taxpayer and owner of one $1,000 bond of an improvement issue of $1,250,000. The court issued an alternative writ returnable on Jan. 17.

If the suit is decided in favor of the plaintiff and the peremptory writ is issued it will mean a tax levy of approximately 840 mills based on the present valuation of $2,921,522, city officials say. Reid several weeks ago filed a similar suit and the court ruled in favor of the city on several points raised by Attorney L. T. McGee in his demurrer. The plaintiff was given 20 days in which to file an amended bill. The amended petition is similar to the first except that it leaves out a request for interest on judgments against the city amounting to approximately $700,000. Holders of the judgments now have a suit in which they are asking for a levy sufficient to raise 6 percent for one year on their holdings. This would add an additional 14 mills to the levy asked by Reed.

Why Unemployment?

Without attempting to minimize the extent of unemployment or the seriousness with which it is affecting the numbers of persons and our entire business world, nevertheless we find many popular misconceptions exist regarding it.

But as a matter of fact, a study of statistics will reveal that while one modern ditch-digging machine may do the work of fifty laborers, profitable employment has actually increased with the introduction of machinery.

Also we find that while the war encouraged women to take the places of men not only in offices and stores but also in some more vigorous occupations, the proportion of men to women employed has not increased so disproportionately as to have disastrous consequences.

We have also heard a great deal about child labor since the depression began to cause unemployment, and we heartily concur that from a humanitarian point of view and for the sake of the children themselves, child labor should always be limited by rigid laws.

MORATORIUM ON DEBTS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—The measure in Congress to place a moratorium on debts of mortgaged farms and other property is directed by the bill to take steps which, without attempting to recite the legal intricacies here, amounts to declaring an indefinite moratorium, indefinite in length, during which no one creditor, nor all of them, can take action against the sheltered debtor.

Among these is one which goes a great distance, which is supported by both conservative and progressive thought, which was endorsed by President Hoover in a special endorsement message last week, and which has real probability of enactment in this session.

The bill is called, loosely and very mistakenly, an emergency bankruptcy bill. "Emergency" it is, but "bankruptcy" is precisely what it is not. It might more correctly be called a bill to prevent bankruptcies.

THE SO-CALLED FARM PROBLEM

The case that has been built up by careful students of legislation against the Jones farm relief bill, passed recently in the House of Representatives, would seem to be sufficiently strong to prevent the ultimate enactment of that measure.

It is a general practitioner, called in a specialist and told his patient was suffering from pernicious anemia in its advanced stages. It is extremely unlikely that the specialist would immediately begin to advise him as to what hospital would be the best for undertaking a blood transfusion.

Attempting To Haul Down The Flag

For clouded vision, strangled minds and ignoble motives nothing in our history has equaled the performance of the Senate and House of Representatives in passing by a two-thirds vote the measure to haul down the American flag.

The court, however, does much more than declare a moratorium. The bill prescribes a process through which, under the supervision of the court, the debtor makes a compromise with his creditors. Speaking very roughly, and without attempting to be exact about the legal refinements necessary, included in the bill, the secured debtors are thrown into a common pool with the unsecured debtors, although, of course, the priority of lien of the secured creditors is preserved.

NEARLY BILLION DOLLARS MORE IN CIRCULATION NOW

45 Billions Are On Deposit In All Banks; Turnover Is Slow

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—There are $3,589,000,000 in circulation in the United States, the Federal Reserve Board reported recently—nearly $1,000,000,000 more than during the "prosperity" period of 1927, 1928 and 1929. And despite bank failures, salary reductions, and stock market losses, there are more than $45,000,000,000 on deposit in the nation's banks.

Mr. and Mrs. John Citizen gasp. "Why, then," they ask, "all this talk about printing more money?—and if there is so much, where is it?"

In the opinion of a number of the nation's leading economists and bankers, the need is not for more money, as the layman thinks of the word money, but for a more rapid turnover or use of existing money.

A symposium of the views of a large group of tradesmen, throughout the country, approached at random on this subject by The Christian Science Monitor, offers various means of accomplishing this increased turnover.

Mr. and Mrs. Citizen learn that the money referred to as "in circulation" is only the cash—coins and bills—in the hands of the people, either in use or hoarded, an amount which fluctuates but little, and which comprises only about 10 percent of the total "money" or medium of exchange. The rest is "credit."

The scarcity of which Mr. and Mrs. Citizen are so aware, they soon see, if not in the cash, as is shown by the Federal Reserve report, or even in the credit, but in the use of this cash and credit. Reports show that the cash is there in sufficient quantity, either in banks or held by individuals, to form the basis for sufficient credit. The question does not seem to be how much money should be printed, but how to put money more generally into use.

Here Mr. and Mrs. Citizen find it convenient to have defined the commonly used, and confused, monetary terms. The gold, silver, nickel and copper coins, together with paper money, or bills, of various denominations, constitute the cash or currency. In every commercial transaction a bank check would be considered "cash" in that such cases the word would be used to differentiate it from a "charge". For purposes of monetary cash, however, refers only to officially coined or printed money.

Credit is that which is represented by various kinds of paper and bookkeeping figures. Here also, the common definition of credit, does not apply. Money, thought of usually as the tangible coins and bills, means this cash and credit together. It is interchangeable with "medium of exchange."

As stated, the Federal Reserve reports the amount of currency in "circulation", meaning the amount not held by the Treasury or Federal Reserve banks as backing for currency, or as reserve, or free gold. Circulation, to Mr. and Mrs. Citizen, means in use, or passing from hand to hand. Much of the money reported in circulation by the Federal Reserve actually is in hoarding.

When that money is brought out of hoarding and put into use, or "turned-over", the Federal Reserve may decide there is then too much currency out in use, so it sells bonds and thus takes some out of "circulation". When hoarding increases, the board then, perhaps, buys bonds, putting more money out into "circulation" to take the place of that withheld by individuals.

"But what has an increase in the turnover of money," Mr. and Mrs. Citizen persist, "to do with employment?"

A rapid turnover of money, it is explained, furnishes the basis upon which is built or manufactured credit. More credit means more money and higher prices, and a speeding up of industry—more jobs.

Advocates of currency expansion, by printing more paper money, claim that it would bring about this increased circulation by putting money out of hoarding. Opponents of direct currency expansion claim that unissued money, that money backed by nothing but a promise to pay, as is provided, would cause more harm than good, by sending good money chasing bad. Even if the new money were actually issued, it is argued, it would only increase the already existing millions.

C. Of C. Directors Vote In Favor Of Full Debt Payment

TAMPA, Jan. 21.—Directors of the Florida state chamber of commerce, in quarterly session here, voted almost unanimously yesterday in favor of full payment of foreign debts to the United States, in considering a questionnaire from the chamber of commerce of the United States.

The vote put the state chamber on record as "opposed to cancellation, modification or even discussion of the foreign indebtedness situation."

"The sooner we stop talking about this debt situation—just stop discussing it pro and con—and tell the debtor nations they will stop seeking negotiations for a change in the amounts of terms of the debts and start making arrangements to pay," Peter O. Knight told the directors.

"We had already settled with Europe after the war, for about 45 cents on the dollar," he said. "The amount of the indebtedness due us from Europe was only $11,000,000,000. At the same time, our taxpayers have an annual tax bill of $14,000,000,000 Florida alone pays $140,000,000."

"If the citizens of our own country can pay $11,000,000,000 in taxes in one year, certainly Europe can pay $11,000,000,000 in 60 years, the time they were given to pay. That would require an annual payment of only $25,000,000 a year."

"I move, that this body go on record as being opposed to cancellation, modification or discussion of the debt situation."

The motion was passed with one dissenting vote. The questionnaire was offered in three separate ballots. All three were covered in this one motion.

Commission Will Probe Economic Situation Of U. S.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—(AP)—Formation of a commission to investigate the economic situation, particularly in regard to the technique of production and exchange, was announced yesterday by Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university.

"The commission will consider the whole question of the effect of recent technological advance, particularly as manifested in mass production, and its effect upon economic processes and social welfare," Dr. Butler said.

The commission will consist of 17 members, seven from Columbia university, four from other universities, and six from among students of economics and public affairs.

No mention was made of technocracy, that group of investigators quartered at Columbia university which for months has been investigating and charting the effects of technological unemployment.

Recently a demand was made on Dr. Butler by a group of business men that the university oust the technocracy group, but the demand was not complied with.

Nation's Research Laboratories Have Shown No Let-Up

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—If industry throughout the world slowed up during the economic recession, the nation's research laboratories speeded up proportionately, it is made clear at an exhibition of "depression inventions" on display at the New York Electrical Society headquarters here.

These inventions include new feeds and containers, new farm machines, cotton houses, copper sheeting as thin as paper, colored aluminum, glass bricks, ruflex stockings, metal wood, glass blackboards, bases that run on rail or road, heat screens, paper milk bottles, fabric-covered metals, air-conditioning outfits, talking electric signs, steel houses, huleum wall covering, aluminum foil for insulation, a telegraph for stock quotations, a typewriting typewriter, electric teleographs, automatic accounting machines, vertical antennas, and many other things of convenience and utility.

Dr. H. C. Parmelee, vice-president and editorial director of the McGraw-Hill Publishing Company, described and exhibited many of these results of laboratory experiments and discoveries at a natural science forum of the society recently. Dr. Parmelee said that 1000 more patents were granted by the United States Patent Office last year than in 1931, and that in 1931 the increase was 2000 over 1930.

"This striking annual increase in patents issued during the depression years," he continued, "is evidence of a drive on the part of inventors and manufacturers to bring new things into trade and commerce."

Southern States Are Considering Sales Tax Plans

ATLANTA, Jan. 21.—(AP)—Sales taxes and allowing the state to under consideration in four southern states whose general assemblies are now in session. A fifth commonwealth, Mississippi, already has a levy on retail sales.

Georgia is the latest state to pass a sales-tax measure into its legislative hopper. One bill before the Assembly now would levy a 2 percent tax on retail sales.

Another would pave the way for a constitutional amendment permitting abolition of ad valorem taxes and allowing the state to collect as high as 5 percent on sales.

The Governor of South Carolina suggested a sales-tax measure to relieve property tax. In his message to the Assembly, however, no sales-tax bill has been introduced in that state yet.

State Senator Kimbrell, of North Carolina, says he will offer a "retail commodities tax" bill. It would tax tobacco, playing cards, cardies, etc., with the prevailing rate of 20 percent, but some items less. Senator Clement, of the same state, has introduced a production-tax which is in effect a tax on gross sales. It provides a one-half of 1 percent levy on manufactures. It includes all fabricated goods of industry as well as electricity, gas, ice, etc.

A bill providing for a 10 percent levy on soft drinks and near beer has been introduced in Tennessee.

Cousin Of Hoover Loses Homestead To Federal Bank

DES MOINES, Iowa, Jan. 21.—Economic conditions proved no respecter of persons when it cost Arthur E. Hoover, cousin of President Hoover, his homestead at Grand Meadow, Minn.

Building nearly 9000 in interest on a $10,000 note, Hoover has decided his homestead to the Federal Joint Stock Land Bank here to prevent a foreclosure sale and possible delinquency judgment. He retained the right, however, to buy the property back at a later date if he cared to and can raise the money.

He came here to confer with bank officials after foreclosure proceedings had been threatened. He was accompanied by two members of the Farmers' Holiday Association, whose followers have been active in preventing foreclosure sales in Iowa and Minnesota by attending sheriff sales in large numbers to overawe prospective bidders.

Hoover and his friends lobbied bank officials here for their fair treatment. The bank officials said arrangements were authorized by the board. Filing certificates costing $974 for the office of the clerk of the circuit court were ordered purchased under terms of a contract with the Allen White company made in 1922. Other office equipment also contracted for, but not immediately needed according to the clerk, which was stored at $738, was not bought. Money was taken from the courthouse furniture fund.

STRAWBERRIES IN CELLOPHANE IS LATEST SYSTEM

New Packing Plan To Add Increased Value To Berry Crops

MIAMI CITY, Jan. 21.—When modern housewives go a-marketing for Florida strawberries in the future it is rather more than likely that they won't be playing hide and seek with what's in the bottom of that pint cup of berries. That, at least, is the idea one would get from the favor with which cellophane-wrapped berries are being greeted in the northland.

The use of cellophane for strawberries is being tried out here and reports which have been received thus far this season are most encouraging, according to E. E. Macintosh, vice-president of H. H. & H. Co., the firm which is putting cellophane-wrapped berries on the market. Thus far the fruit which has been put up in this manner has commanded a premium sufficient to more than care for the extra cost of putting the fruit up in cellophane packages.

When a pint of berries is wrapped in cellophane practically all of the fruit immediately becomes available to the eye of the consumer who may wish to buy it. The berries are securely wrapped in the cellophane and packed in the cup in the same manner as ordinarily packed.

When berries are placed in the cellophane after they have been packed in the cup, the process constitutes the placing of the cup of fruit up-side-down over a four-leaved affair upon which has been placed the cellophane. The four leaves of the contrivance are then lifted up against the four sides of the cup which is then turned off the fruit. The cellophane is then drawn securely about the berries, the leaves of the wrapping machine let down and the cup replaced over the fruit, leaving it in its original position but securely wrapped in cellophane. The moisture of the fruit results in the cellophane coming securely sealed in a short time.

When the fruit is put up in the field in cellophane the wrapping machine is placed on the berry table, the cellophane is unrolled and the sides lifted up. The cappers are put in first up. The cappers are put in first placed in each corner to give a
