You can tell this '63 on sight—even at night!

For years now, Pontiacs have been the easiest cars to pick out in a crowd. And the '63's are no exception. At night, with the highway driving beam on, Pontiac identifies itself by its unique over-and-under headlight arrangement. (It's more than just a nice styling touch—the headlights aim better this way.) By day, of course, a new boldy linear grille design sets Pontiac beautifully apart from the which-car-is-which problem. Another way you can tell the '63 Pontiac is by looking at the drivers. They're the ones who are smiling. Say—maybe you'd better see your dealer about that. He's smiling about Pontiac too. Wide-Track Pontiac.

Missing Paper Caper

"Mystery of the Missing Republican" has been solved. Both wire services, United Press and Associated Press, reported Friday afternoon and Saturday morning that Seminole County's Mack Cleveland Jr. and Gordon Frederick were unopposed for the Senate and House, respectively, in the special March 26 Legislature election. Further, the wire services reported they were the only candidates from among more than 400 who were unopposed in the primary and in the general election.

Friday's Herald raised the question, "Where was Jan Fortune?" For Fortune, of English Estates, had formally announced Friday morning he intended filing for the Republican nomination for State Representative in the House from Seminole County.

A representative of Fortune telephoned The Herald late Friday that Fortune had qualified. A telephone check with the Secretary of State's office at Tallahassee verified that fact, and that Fortune's papers had been misplaced in the State Secretary's office.

Therefore, Cleveland is the only unopposed candidate in the entire state ticket. A Democrat, he will be automatically elected for a four-year term as Seminole County's first State Senator representing only this county. Previously, Seminole and Brevard County shared the Senatorial seat.

There will be no primary election, originally scheduled for Feb. 26, according to Registrar Camilla Bruce, since there is no party opposition.

Frederick, a Democrat, and Fortune, a Republican, will fight it out in the special March 26 general election for the House seat vacated earlier this month by Cleveland. The term will run to the November 1964 elections.

Frederick previously served Seminole County in the State House of Representatives. Fortune is a political newcomer, and has the endorsement of the Seminole County Young Republican Club.

A native of Pennsylvania, he came to this area with the Martin Company of Orlando as a cost reduction and efficiency manager. He holds an undergraduate degree in engineering from Penn State University, a masters' degree in business administration from the University of Pennsylvania and is completing requirements for a Ph. D. degree from New York University.

He is a member of several technical societies, the Masons, Seminole County Young Republican Club and All Saints Episcopal Church.

He resides with his wife, Donna, and eight-year-old son, Jan Eric, at 2120 Sunderland Road, English Estates.

At to his campaign, Fortune said that "I believe in a strong two-party system and I am in this race to win. I promise an aggressive representation for all the people of Seminole County and will work for progress in the whole county. I am in favor of fiscal responsibility in government."

W. P. Medcalf, of Altamonte Springs, will serve as his campaign treasurer.

The Herald talked with Fortune Sunday noon and was informed the Martin Company has agreed to a 60-day leave-of-absence for Fortune, if elected, to attend the Legislature session opening April 2.

Teachers and students alike are still talking about the trio that sang at the Booster Club dinner honoring the athletes at Seminole High. A real professional job that "laid 'em in the aisles," the story goes. Howcum I miss these finer things in life?

Now that Seminole Memorial Hospital is to get another $100,000 facelift, remind me to ask Bob Bessinger how the daily census there is now. But even if it is low—and nobody said it was—this is a good time to finish out that east wing. Maybe the hospital facilities will stay ahead of the "population bulge." And THAT will be different!

There MUST be a reason, but for the life of me I can't think of one, why the teenage lads were given a weekend in the pokey, when our juvenile judge is reputed to be one of the most understanding and considerate of public officials. The sheriffs are not unaccustomed to seeing "screaming m e e m e e s" around their bastle, but they probably had some "screaming mamas" on their doorstep—and justifiably so. And why is it that an adult—like a traffic violator—can "get sprung" in a short time, and these kids couldn't even see their folks? . . . Yes, there MUST be a reason. . . . Maybe someone will tell us what it is. . . . And I'm not the one to say that ANY violator shouldn't be punished.

That folk-singing trio, I'm told by our city staffers who keep up on all the goings-on hereabouts is made up of Lynn McCord (member of the Triple Trio and soloist for the glee club), Jack Ivey (tumbler-cheer leader and who is sporting a brand new guitar in accompanying the trio) and Jim Touhy (brilliant tackle on the Warrior eleven). . . . And they have a booking as entertainers for a U of Florida dance early next month. . . . Lotsa fun, eh kids?

The crowd-building Seminole County Semi-Centennial Celebration on April 27 is attracting the interest of commercial enterprises. . . . With thousands of folks here for the big wing-ding these business men feel sure they can capture some of the attention of the celebrators. . . . And not the least of these will be the Automobile Dealers Assn. . . . They have BIG plans. . . . And say that they want to do something that will ADD an attraction to the outstanding events that are planned by the committee in charge of the Semi-Centennial. . . . This thing can REALLY grow with THAT kind of support. . . . More carnival atmosphere than the famed Mardi Gras!

Congratulations to Patty Glenn Johnson for the Honorable Mention award in the Jeannie With The Light Brown Hair singing contest at White Springs. . . . First time such a distinction was given. . . . Competing with 31 other top-flight vocalists from all over Florida, some of whom were professionals, this is high recognition. . . . Bedford Aiken, her escort, was praised for his gentlemanly, gracious and courtly manner. . . . Fine representation for our city, these two young folks! . . . Patty Glenn's singing teacher, Grace Krick Sanders, also was commended for work with the local song-bird. . . .

POLICE BLOTTER JOTTINGS. . . . Horse ran loose on 13th and French yesterday and dog locked up in Sanford Memorial Library. . . . There was no explanation how the dog got in.

United Press International Pro-Communist hijackers aboard the Venezuelan freighter Ansoategui offered today to surrender to Brazilian authorities at their obscure anchorage in Brazil's north coastal waters.

Brazilian destroyers were expected to leave their base at Belem and head for a rendezvous with the hijacked ship 200 miles to the north and halfway between Devil's Island and the mouth of the Amazon River.

Brazilian authorities have promised the hijackers political asylum.

In Washington, Assistant Secretary of State Edwin M. Martin told a House Foreign Affairs subcommittee today that the present anchorage and the offer of asylum by Brazil "makes it sure of them avoiding capture."

In two radiograms directed to news agencies, second mate Wimar Medina Rojas took sole responsibility for the seizure of the ship last Tuesday and said all personnel name of the Venezuelan Arm-Force of National Liberation (FALN), said the ship dropped anchor "between the mouth of the Amazon Grande River and the island of Maraca" off Brazil's north coast at 9 p. m. Sunday night.

Fern Park Incorporation Is Proposed

Incorporation of the community of Fern Park as a municipality was proposed today in a legislative hearing at the courthouse. The local legislative delegation was asked to have the Legislature, meeting in April, approve a city charter, subject to a referendum.

Rep. Joe Davis, presently the only elected legislator, called today's hearing.

Sitting in at his invitation were Mack Cleveland Jr., Democratic nominee for Senator unopposed in the special March 26 general election, and Gordon Frederick and Jan Fortune, Democratic and Republican nominees, respectively, for the House seat vacated by Cleveland earlier this month.

Vernon W. Dunn, speaking for the Fern Park incorporating and charter committee, requested "an act to create and organize . . . a municipality to be known and designated as the 'City of Fern Park' and to define its territorial boundaries and to provide for the government, jurisdiction, powers, privileges, franchises and immunities, and to provide for a referendum election to determine whether this act shall take effect."

The delegation also was requested to sponsor a bill abolishing the current charter of the Town of Casselberry and substituting an up-to-date charter. Kenneth McIntosh, town attorney speaking for Mayor Fred Heath, explained the present charter is "antiquated and obsolete for a modern community." He added the proposal, if approved by the Legislature, would be submitted to a referendum vote.

Mayor Tom McDonald, of Sanford, requested the delegation to make an investigation and "pursue state-wide legislation" to eliminate contamination of well fields for municipal water supplies. He explained there is no effective control method over sewage and waste disposal, adding there are "too many septic tanks in some areas."

Mayor Leo Gary, of Oviedo, asked for legislation permitting the writing-off of some delinquent taxes, some as much as 25 years old, and for permission to adopt the county's percentage on discount rates on taxes.

McDonald and Gary stated Sanford and Oviedo have voted approval of the proposed increase in cigarette taxes.

North Orlando sought a bill to rename Mulvan Avenue (SR-194) to North Orlando Boulevard. The delegation advised this request should be referred to the County Commission, with it to forward a formal application to the State Road Department.

Mayor Al Lorman, of Longwood, said that city favors a bill providing for re-registration of voters.

George Bobrow submitted a number of petitions as a sample of public opinion favoring annexation by cities and counties without referendum votes.

The delegation recessed at noon until 1 p. m.

Indigent Care To Be Talked By Commission

The County Commission will meet with officials of the proposed Retirement Life Inc., a DeBary nursing home at 7:30 p. m. tonight to discuss farming out the county's white indigent residents now living at the county home.

The meeting will be held at the commission chambers in the courthouse.

County Commission Chairman J. C. Hutchison today said officials of the proposed home had agreed to take care of some of the white patients "but we haven't talked price yet," Hutchison said.

Bids on the home are expected to be opened Feb. 28.

The 98 to 112 bed facility is being built by local men, headed by Dr. Leonard Munson, as president, and Robert Reaser, hospital administrator and Tom Armo of DeBary, as the other officers.

DeBary men, including builder W. C. Miller, and Dr. Mack Lipton are on the board of directors, along with architect Jim Chapman, and attorneys Kenneth Leffer and Bill Hutchison.

When plans for the home were revealed, Dr. Munson stated that it would meet all state and AMA requirements, and was not designed to be fancy or elaborate, but is to be kept simple and efficient to keep down costs.

The nursing home will have facilities to care for the patients if they become ill, and they will be under the care of their personal physician, and the supervising medical staff.

Casselberry Board To Meet

The Casselberry Board of Aldermen will meet in continued session at 7:30 p. m. today in the Women's Club Building on Overbrook Dr.

Business carried over from last Monday's meeting includes appointment of a building inspector to replace Alderman Cliff Overman whose resignation is effective this month.

The board also will consider the proposed budget for the Casselberry Recreation Commission and a report on the proposed county study and survey to provide drainage outfalls for the area.

Urban Control In Legislature?

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—Florida lawmakers and veteran political observers are wondering today if the state's new legislative reapportionment plan may be the beginning of eventual big-city domination of state government.

Urban areas have had the potential to control the Legislature for some 10 years. The potential has yet to materialize.

But the 43-senator, 112-representative plan is a breakthrough and may provide the stimulus needed to rally urban lawmakers into a united action force.

Many observers feel urban voters were the big force behind the state's latest redistricting efforts.

Court Strikes Down Dodge Law

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court today struck down as "punitive" a federal law which takes away the citizenship of a native-born American if he dodges the draft by going abroad.

Included unconstitutional was a section of the Nationality Act of 1940.

The government appealed when two lower courts found the statute unconstitutional. The issue has been argued five times before the high court.

Today's 5 to 4 decision recalled two related rulings of 1958 when the court split 5 to 4 over nationality issues.

In 1958 the justices held that Congress may decree loss of nationality if a citizen votes in a foreign election but not if he deserts the armed forces in wartime.

FEC Merger Would Help Workers, Spokesman Says

JACKSONVILLE (UPI)—The union spokesman told United Press International any merger would have to be approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

"The ICC has strong regulations protecting workers' jobs in any merger or abandonment. We would probably be in a better position if the FEC merged."

"But even if it decided just to go ahead and abandon the entire line, the ICC would make certain our income was protected."

The spokesman said the only way a merger could hurt would be in that some men would lose their jobs. "The number would be comparatively few. Not enough to make us fight a merger."

Navy Polaris Shot Flops; 'Blown Up'

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—A Navy attempt to score the third straight success with its powerful new Polaris A3 missile failed today when the rocket went off course and had to be blown up.

The bullet-shaped A3 mightiest weapon ever developed for submarines, thundered from a land-based launching pad on Cape Canaveral at 9 a. m.

But within two minutes, the Polaris careened wildly off course high in the sky, and appeared to nose sharply upward.

A range safety officer quickly flipped two switches that triggered radio signals to launch off an explosive "destruct" package which destroyed the errant rocket in flight.

The debris plunged into the Atlantic well east of land. The failure came on the heels of a pair of roaring successes last week, the first for the new, 2,880-mile Polaris. No reason was given immediately for the mishap.

The Air Force said the "destruct" action performed as planned. On a Polaris shot late last year, the safety device did not work and the rocket landed east of Savannah, Ga.

Dr. Robert McFadden of Altamonte Springs and Dr. Kenneth Wendell of Forest City gave dental checks. Dr. Leroy Reams also has been giving free checks and x-rays to students in his office at Casselberry as part of the health program.
Mrs. Fisher stated, "This is the first attempt at a dental program to be started in Seminole County schools and we hope it will continue and expand as an important part of the school program."
She expressed her gratitude to the local dentists who have donated their services to interest the students in the importance of dental health.

Mothers in charge of checking eyes were Mrs. Edward Lunn, Mrs. David Colborn, Mrs. James Birkenmeyer, Mrs. Clare Balmer, Mrs. Edward Nagel and Mrs. C. C. Jones.
Student helpers assisted with the various checks and recorded the weight and height of each student.
Mrs. Fisher and Mrs. David G. McCoy gave hearing tests with an audiometer and Mrs. Fisher worked with the students whose particular problems called for retesting and referral.

Legionnaires Asked To Work On New Building

By Joan Magin
Cdr. W. P. Jepsen of the Chuluota American Legion Post has issued an appeal to all Legionnaires in the community to volunteer their services to complete the new Post Home which is being built at Christmas and Chuluota Rds.

Jepsen said that at the last monthly meeting of the Post a vote of confidence was given the building chairman who reported that they expected work on the foundations to be completed last week.

Jepsen also said that the Post has regretfully announced it will be unable to send a boy to Boys State in Tallahassee this year since all available funds are going towards the new building.

However, the Legion invites and will welcome offers from any organization to sponsor a boy in this worthwhile project. Further information is available from Jepsen.

It was reported that local sponsors have been found to support two Junior League Baseball teams in Chuluota this year. A manager has been secured for one team, however, a man is needed to manage the second team, Jepsen said.

The Post is making tentative plans to sponsor a chicken barbecue in April as another fund-raising event for the new building.

Bid Opening Nears For New School

Walter Teague, administrative assistant, told School Board members last week that building plans have reached the point in local, state and federal approval that contractors will be requested to submit bids on these dates for these projects:

March 12, 10 a.m.—Lyman High School, two science rooms, general shop and music department; and Crooms High School, five classrooms and library addition.
March 26, 10 a.m.—New English Estates elementary school, 15 classrooms, cafeteria and administrative suite.

April 9, 10 a.m.—South Seminole Junior High School, cafeteria and music department; Sanford Junior High School, lunchroom, library and music department; Rosendal elementary school, five classrooms.
Board agreed to co-operate with property holders along Eastbrook Road, in the Eastbrook subdivision, to improve the three-quarter mile road. Property owners have agreed to donate necessary right-of-way, cutting school bus travel by an estimated 10 miles daily.

Contract for asphalt paving of the running track at Seminole High School was awarded to the Wilkins Paving Company on its low bid of $353. Contracts for baseball equipment went to Seminole Sporting Goods, $225 and $320; Hughes, Orlando, $31, and Pickrel, Orlando, $126.

The board also agreed to request the State Legislature to approve a law increasing the minimum bid from $300 to $600. It also approved the Florida Education Association's state-wide legislation program.
A policy denying future solicitation of funds or use of students to solicit by outside agencies also was adopted.

Altamonte Class Has Foreign Study Day

ALTAMONTE THIRD GRADERS of Mrs. Nadine Colling's class had a foreign countries display last week to conclude their studies on foreign lands. Students bringing and modeling costumes from other lands were, front, from left, Mike Girard, Jimmy Simunek, Jeff Brown, Renee Cockrell, John Keim and Walter Knochelet; back, Mrs. Colling, Jeff Rickett, Sandra Nichols, Marcia Segrest, Susan Norris and Sheryl Hull. (Herald Photo)

Students in Mrs. Nadine Colling's third grade class at Altamonte Elementary School have been learning about various foreign countries. As a windup to this particular phase of study, Mrs. Colling invited the children to bring to school any items they might have from these countries.

The invitation was met with enthusiasm and as a result two tables in the classroom last week were laden with articles from Japan, Spain, Italy, England, Norway, Africa and Brittany, for foreign study day.

Lagging Crime Defenses

An old axiom of warfare has it that sooner or later the defense always catches up with the offense. One could wish it were applicable to the victims of criminals.

Not the least disturbing aspect in today's large and rising volume of robberies, assaults and burglaries is the unevenness of the "match" between criminals and victims.

And with shopping centers, branch banks, gasoline stations and homes springing up in growing numbers, criminals' opportunities to get at money and goods are vastly multiplied.

Yet we live in a society which seems incapable of thinking up new defenses against their marauding assaults. Now and then a community grudgingly increases its police force, votes money for high speed radio contact, and the like.

But even an enlarged police force cannot be everywhere in towns or cities with so much wealth steadily and invitingly exposed.

As aggressors, especially if armed, criminals on the streets or breaking into buildings naturally stir fear. But they themselves are not immune to fear. Why can't we play upon it in more effective ways?

Thieves fear identification. Well, then, let some inventive outfit switch from making guns for indiscriminate sale to making good, cheap cameras which would photograph every individual who presents himself at shop counters, hotel desks, gasoline stations, etc.

Some banks do this now, and some supermarkets televise the whole market area to detect shoplifters. This is a mere start.

Bandits are also alarmed and unnerved by sudden, loud noises and big bursts of bright light. Some stores and homes use such devices now, but their total number is small.

To be effective, such defensive measures must be altered in pattern from time to time (maybe bells for a while, then a frantic klaxon). If they become wholly predictable, advantage may be lost.

They must be placed where thieves cannot destroy them. Clerks, shopkeepers and others should be able to operate them from several widely spaced foot treadles, so touching them off will not alert the thieves in advance.

The treadles which trip these mechanisms should also send a signal direct to the nearest police station activating a flag which indicates instantly the pin-pointed spot being robbed. Fire departments have such devices. Quick contact with a roving squad should put police swiftly on the scene.

All this would be immensely costly, slow in installation. So is the mountainous toll in stolen money and property — add the insurance premiums which rise as the risk increases.

The notions here are merely suggestive. Properly, we in this country worry about assuring the rights of the accused. Isn't it time we did a little more than talk about protecting the innocent victims of crime? Surely we can think of something.

Dr. Crane's Worry Clinic

CASE O-461: Jack K., aged 16, is a tragic case. "Dr. Crane," his mother began, "Jack went wading during the past summer.

"He was with some of his pals. But he stepped into a deep hole in the stream and sank from sight.

"His friends weren't able to rescue him, for the current was so strong it must have pulled Jack under.

"And now his Daddy and I are still grieving, for Jack was our only son. What can we do to lessen our anguish?"

The best way to memorialize your dead loved ones is with living monuments.

Weave into the lives of modern young folks some of the ideals so ably illustrated by your dead.

For example, Jack's dad could very easily memorialize Jack by taking an active interest henceforth in the YMCA or the Boy Scouts.

This he could help make sure that every boy in his area learns to swim.

Dads, if your children are of kindergarten age or upward, do they know how to swim? If not, you are derelict!

For it is the duty of EVERY good father to help his child learn the simple habits of swimming, riding a bicycle, administering first aid, driving a car, etc.

Don't try to pass the buck to the high school driving course, or to the YMCA or the Boy Scouts. It is the duty of Dads.

Oh, it is permissible for you to take your children to the "Y" and get them memberships so they can then learn to swim under the expert teaching of the "Y" athletic director.

But at least take them down there and start the learning process so you can claim credit on your "Father's Test" named below.

Remember, the YMCA is an interfaith organization to benefit ALL children, whether Jewish, Catholic, Protestant or even atheist!

Similarly, the Boy Scouts and kindred youth organizations are interfaith.

Their leaders actually serve as "assistant parents" to all of your mothers and dads! And the "Y" is also the gymnasium, plus the recreational center for EVERY local church that wishes to avail itself of such superb aids for training its youth.

Most churches obviously can't afford individual recreational buildings with a basketball floor and a big swimming pool. Besides, that would cause too much duplication.

But whenever your city has a "Y" that "Y" building with its trained staff, is really the adjunct of EVERY church in the area. Each clergyman has its assistance merely for the asking.

So never regard the "Y" as even remotely competitive to any local church.

And be very generous in support of such youth organizations. For Jack's death actually has cost his community his lifetime earning capacity.

And at the average wage scale nowadays, any boy's death means a loss to society of $250,000 (quarter of a million).

So when the "Y," by teaching swimming to hundreds of boys and girls each year, saves even ONE such life, it has far more than justified its entire annual budget!

Send for my "Tests For Good Parents," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents, so you may avoid Jack's type of tragedy.

Phil Newsom Says . . .

Moslem Power Gaining?

"Maghreb" is a general geographical term which covers Arab North Africa from Egypt to the Atlantic and includes the countries of Libya, Tunisia, Algeria and Morocco.

At the peak of Moslem power in Africa and Europe, it also included Spain.

Politically, it generally is limited to Tunisia, Algeria and Morocco, and the idea of a united Maghreb has been pressed more or less enthusiastically since both Morocco and Tunisia became independent of France in 1956.

With the advent of Algerian independence last year, the issue took on new impetus, presumably with French support as part of President Charles de Gaulle's grand design for Africa.

It would link the three in a federation held together by close association with France, and by geography, by a common religion, by common economic problems and a common interest in the Sahara.

Most enthusiastic promoter of a united Maghreb was the late Sultan Mohammed V of Morocco, who began talking it up in 1957 the sultan saw himself as a force between East and West, had no great love for Egypt's Nasser and feared Soviet penetration into Algeria.

It is the sultan's son, King Hassan II, who this week played host to a unity conference in Rabat among the foreign ministers of Tunisia, Algeria and Morocco.

But since the Arab world never has been noted for unity and Arab politics seldom are tranquil, the conference actually came down to one of differences.

Of recent vintage and still just below the surface was the bitter quarrel touched off by Tunisian charges that Algerian Premier Ahmed Ben Bella supported a December assassination plot against President Bourghuilha.

There also were Moroccan resentment against Tunisian recognition of the independence of Mauritania and Morocco's claims against Algeria in the Sahara.

Morocco particularly has its eye on Tindouf, which it claims France artificially absorbed into Algeria. Tindouf is an oasis of a thousand date palms and a few thousand permanent residents.

Drop-Out Tragedy

A few years ago the word "drop-out" was probably meaningful only to teachers, school administrators and parents directly involved. Now it is talked of in discussions of the economy, of crime, of the whole future facing American youth.

The drop-out, of course, is the youngster who leaves school before graduation. In the present decade, it is figured there will be 7.5 million of these.

They will be throwing themselves, untrained, into a world wherein the unskilled may by 1970 make up no more than 5 percent of the total U. S. work force.

With all the alarm felt over this prospect, there has been far too little digging into the background of known drop-outs to search for the causes of the problem. Now, however, we have some new facts from a Maryland study managed co-operatively by state, county and Baltimore city education departments.

First off, it blasts the idea that most drop-outs are delinquent children. Scanning nearly 14,000 who left high school in 1960-61, the questioners found that four out of five never were rated serious behavior problems. Nearly as many never had been suspended.

The notion that most drop-outs are either the product of broken homes or are altogether homeless does not hold, either. Some 70 percent of those studied lived with both parents. Another 10 percent lived with one parent or the other.

Half the drop-outs had average to above average intelligence, which hardly makes the lack of it a dominant element in the story.

What did impress the Maryland testers was the generally low educational and aspirational level of the drop-out's parents. Some 80 percent of the fathers and nearly as many mothers had themselves been drop-outs. And a high proportion showed very limited total schooling.

Thus, as some top educators have suggested in broad terms, it is not so much the broken home as the home with a poor atmosphere which is heavily at fault. In too many cases, no interest in getting an education — or in any kind of solid achievement — is implanted in the school youngsters.

The Maryland investigators found this showing up in another way. More than two-thirds of the drop-outs never took part in athletics or any sort of extracurricular activities. This was most noticeable in big schools where competition was sharp.

Certainly lack of intelligence, of energy and drive, of such fundamental learning tools as reading skill, were important factors in numerous instances. But the drop-outs themselves told the key part of their story: lack of interest was the biggest cause.

More and more often, the matter of inadequate home setting — either inhospitable or indifferent to learning — crops up as we look at the country's educational needs.

Many say more and better education is vital to us. But how do you begin the process with the millions of children whose family way of life affords education no place or stature?

Perhaps this is the question to which concerned educators should today be addressing themselves, above all other matters.

Matter Of Fact

How did holy days turn into vacations? Holy days were originally set aside to honor some sacred event or person, and even in early days some aspects of these days were joyful and carefree.

In the course of time, the rest and recreation part remained as the religious significance faded.

Peter Edson Political Notebook

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Republican congressional strategy is gradually taking shape. It should begin to show when Senate and House settle down after a week of GOP oratory in observance of Lincoln's birthday.

Just before this weekling began, GOP congressional leaders of both houses approved two statements lambasting the Kennedy fiscal and foreign policies.

These were adopted at an organization meeting of the joint Senate-House Republican leadership Feb. 7.

This 11-statesmen group may play an increasingly important role in the next two years, up to the time the Republicans nominate their candidate for the presidency and he takes over as head of the party.

In the leadership are Senators Dirksen, Ill., Kuchel, Calif.; Hickenlooper, Ia.; Saltonstall, Mass.; Morton, Ky.; Reps. Halleck, Ind.; Arends, Ill.; Byrnes, Wis.; Ford, Mich.; Brown, Ohio, and Wilson, Calif.

The new members are Sen. Thurston Morton, former GOP National Committee chairman, and Rep. Gerald R. Ford, the new House GOP Policy Committee chairman.

Morton and Wilson are Congressional Campaign Committee chairmen. Their groups will finance the staff work for leadership statements, even though this takes some money out of their campaign budgets. It is noteworthy that Rep. William E. Miller, N.Y., who is also GOP National Committee chairman, does not sit in on this act officially. Neither do Senators Barry Goldwater of Arizona nor John G. Tower of Texas, the two most aggressive attackers of all Kennedy policies.

The two minority leaders, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen and Rep. Charles A. Halleck will continue as principal official spokesmen for the party in Congress and will continue the "Ev and Charlie show" from time to time, with minor changes.

They appeared on a national television panel show as a curtain raiser and they will be back on the air waves again whenever they have anything to say, which is frequently.

But they will also present guest stars now and then, particularly governors and presidential possibilities when ever they are in Washington. It's good free time, open for the asking.

It has taken over a month to get all this worked out. But as Sen. Norris Cotton, R-N.H., comments, no time has been lost. It has taken the Senate a month to lay the ghost of the liberals from both parties who wanted a rules change to prevent filibustering. And it has taken a month for the President to send Congress his principal messages on State of the Union, budget, economic policy, tax reform, farm, education and health programs. Also a request for a big supplemental appropriation for the rest of this fiscal year. They now give the Republicans something to shoot at.

The leadership statement on foreign policy, released this week, does not try to answer the President's State of the Union foreign policy declarations point by point. The criticism are more on the President's conduct, or misconduct, of foreign policy in Europe, Cuba and other trouble spots.

Also, the Republicans think they can make more political hay by attacking the President's domestic policies. They say that "The Republican goal in this Congress will be a reduction of federal spending which can lead to a reasonable tax cut."

What this is taken to mean is that the Republicans are shooting for a balanced budget. They will try to reduce government appropriations first. Then they will limit the tax cuts to the amount they can slash from the budget.

The Republican congressional leadership offers no substitute program of its own other than that, "The government can help solve unemployment by encouraging industry and investment capital to promote expansion and new ventures. . . . Chronic government deficits will never stimulate American ingenuity, build confidence or create jobs."

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Kennedy is raising the specter of an economic recession in his campaign to persuade voters and Congress that income taxes must be cut this year.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

John V. D. Southworth

DEAR ABBY: Regarding the cat who won't eat meat on Friday. It's no mystery. Animals can count. If an animal is used to getting fish every seventh day, he is puzzled and uneasy if he doesn't get it. When my mother was a girl, she had a pony who knew when it was Sunday. Every other day the pony would take the road to school, but on Sundays the pony would head right for the church. Cows can count, too. Otherwise, when a herd enters the barn, no matter in which order they come in, why does each cow go to her own stall?

JEAN

DEAR EAJN: All right, I'll agree — animals CAN count. But I am an Iowa girl who had to be told by an Illinois professor that cows could give milk before they calved, so please don't ask me how come a cow knows her own stall.

DEAR ABBY: As a former teacher and college dean, may I add a few words to the young man whose father refused to regard D as a passing grade.

Though systems differ, D usually means "passing but unsatisfactory." A former Dean of Admissions at Harvard summed it up well. "D means 'just got by.' How would you like to eat an egg that 'just got by'?" Sincerely,

DEAR ABBY: My 15-year-old son seems to be obsessed with those smutty girlie magazines (pictures of women) and I can't do anything about it. I have found them hidden under his mattress, in his closet and almost everywhere I look. I keep throwing them away, but he keeps buying more. Is this typical of a normal 15-year-old boy's behavior, or is he headed for trouble?

PALO ALTO

DEAR PALO: All normal 15-year-old boys have a normal curiosity, but your son's curiosity appears to be insatiable. He should be talked to by his father. If he has none, a mature, clean-thinking, intelligent, adult man could relieve the boy's curiosity by encouraging him to ask questions, and freely discussing his fascination with the opposite sex. Excessive pre-occupation with sex can be damaging.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Hate to write letters? Send one dollar to ABBY, BOX 3365, BEVERLY HILLS, CALIF., for Abby's new booklet, "HOW TO WRITE LETTERS FOR ALL OCCASIONS."

A single suit play is one in which you want to find the best way to play a particular suit. You must decide which card to lead from which hand. The usual method is to lead a low card from the weaker hand toward the stronger, but the only real general rule is that each case depends on its own merits and on how many tricks you need in the suit.

South has a standard two-trump opening and North a sound raise to three. It is expected that South will have little trouble making his contract and such is the case. In spite of West's spade lead, which is the best suit for his side to attack, South is sure of nine tricks by playing the club

The correct play is to lead either the nine of clubs intending to play the eight from his hand, or the queen, intending to play the Jack or ten. With either play South is able to keep the lead in dummy for repeated finesse and will take four club tricks.

We The Women:

By Ruth Millett

A banker, giving his women customers a verbal pat on the back, says that women approach budgeting the way they enter a strange town—by asking questions. Men, on the other hand, plow right ahead and refuse to ask for help until they are in financial trouble.

Come to think of it, that is one advantage that the lowly female has over the lordly male—the humility that permits her to admit who is totally ignorant on some subject and want to ask a few questions.

Instead of being hesitant about saying, "I don't know" do-it-yourself job than call up a neighbor who has already done it himself and say, "Just how do you go about this job?" He would rather pretend he knows all about finance than admit his ignorance and ask for advice.

But a woman faces no face when she confesses her ignorance on any subject. On the contrary, her frank admission that she needs to have something explained adds to her femininity. That's really quite an advantage, isn't it?

BARBARA DAMPIER

THE BEST KIND OF JOB to have is the kind in which you are interested all the time, which gives you a deep sense of satisfaction and presents a constant challenge. This is the way Miss Barbara Dampier feels about her job as draftsman in the office of County Engineer Bill Bush. "It is a fascinating occupation, and I don't even mind working overtime or on weekends when I get going on a new project," said Miss Dampier, who, incidentally, is a native Sanfordite.

Right now her pet project is the map she is making of the flood-prone areas of the county. When completed, the maps will give engineers, county commissioners and zoning personnel the knowledge of exactly where flooding is occurring in the rainy season, and what land is likely to be under water, when prolonged rainfall backs up creeks and rivers.

The drawing up of these maps is aided by aerial photographs from the military services and surveys and searches by the Godette Survey Company as well as by independent surveyors and the findings of county surveyors.

Far from being strictly a drawing board draftsman, Miss Dampier has made many field trips, sometimes even as head of a crew of men, in boots and field clothes tramping the areas under search with the crew. A strange set of circumstances sparked her interest in the world of engineering. She had originally started out to be a nurse and was attending school in Miami when a serious automobile accident left her unable to return to school for quite a while.

Later she obtained a job with a steel company at Miami and as she watched the engineers, got interested in the work. She was allowed to do some estimating for them and soon started going to night school to study engineering.

Local engineer Fred Williams gave her a helping hand and an encouraging pat on the back, telling her to "go to it," and bringing her in on much of the work that he did, to see if she really would be able to carry out her desire to complete her studies.

In addition to her work with Williams, she also worked with the state and with Al Doudney. She interprets the notes of the engineers, right of way agents and surveyors for her maps, makes the preliminary designs and prepares the maps.

One of the current projects is a map of the county road system which will show every road and designate in color which roads are sand, or secondary, or first class, which are maintained by the county, state, city or municipalities.

"One thing I am very much interested in seeing in this area is the establishment of a technical university, so that I can go on with my engineering studies and get my degree," said Miss Dampier. "As it is now the nearest place to study is at Gainesville, and it is just too far to go to work and study at the same time."

"We desperately need technical schools and colleges in this area, we could certainly put them to good use," she emphasized.

With her abiding interest in her work (which she does not consider at all strange for a woman, though many people are intrigued by her unusual occupation) Miss Dampier finds little time for other "hobbies" but enjoys a "good game of cards."

PRETTY PATTY WALKER, the red-haired teller at the Sanford Atlantic Bank, was guest of honor at a going-away party given by her sorority, Gamma Omega Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha, Tuesday.

Patty, who is leaving Saturday for Atlanta has been one of the most active members of the sorority, having served as president, vice president, treasurer and publicity chairman at various times.

The party was held at the home of Kathy (Mrs. Henry, III) Tooke in Ravenna Park and the group presented Patty with a gift of sports wear. During the evening the girls played charades and spent the rest of the evening talking about the good times they had had together, and enjoying delicious refreshments.

Mrs. Walker is a local gal, having graduated with the class of 1954 at Seminole High. She is an ex-newspaper gal, too, having worked for a while at the Herald, later moving over to the Sanford Atlantic Bank.

While at Seminole High, she sang with the Triple Trio, among her many other activities. Sanford friends will miss Patty, who is "just restless and wants to see some big city life," when she moves to Atlanta. Diana Fleisher, who works at First Federal is going with her, and both expect to continue with their careers in banking, up in "Gawjia."

Sorority sisters who joined the going-away party included Mrs. Kirby Fite Jr., Mrs. John Dickey, Mrs. T. U. Metts Jr., Mrs. Leo Kerwin, Mrs. Mike Keenan, Mr. Eli White, Mrs. James McKee, Mrs. John Higgins, Mrs. Ray Fox and Mrs. Jack Schlarard.

Valentine Arrangement Program Presented At Ivy Circle Meeting

"Gardening can be fun," according to the young women, all in their twenties, who make up the Ivy Circle of the Garden Club. Special project of the group is "Learning Better Gardening."

Since the circle was organized four years ago the membership has grown by leaps. Most of the charter members were daughters of older garden clubbers.

To join the circle, each prospective member was invited to attend a meeting as a guest, then voted into the group. So far this year, seven new faces have appeared in the circle.

Meetings are held at homes of the members and programs have been enjoyed this year on arrangements, Christmas workshops and a lecture on orchids. Later they plan to hold a landscaping clinic and take a trip to Eustis. They plan to help send a young boy to camp this summer.

CLYDE HARRIS, one of the junior members of the Sanford Art Association has his first "one man show" on display now at Senkork's Paint and Glass Company on Magnolia Ave. Clyde paints in a colorful and lively manner on a variety of subjects. At first glance, the eye is caught by the pleasing colors both rich and bright, giving a glimpse of lightness of spirit as opposed to a dark and gloomy outlook.

Clyde is a pupil of Mrs. Beth Gregory, a 18 year old sophomore at Seminole High School. He has been drawing and painting, "ever since I can remember," and it is so much a part of his life that he paints every day . . . in oils and water color mostly. Besides painting, biology is his favorite subject, and he thinks he may be able to combine the two subjects in college with a major in one and a minor in the other. His entry in a correspondence course in art brought him a first prize from a Minneapolis firm, to whom he sent a sample of his work. Besides this one man show at Senkork's you can see more of Clyde's work at the Art Show here Feb. 24 and at the Sidewalk Show in Winter Park, March 8 and 9.

At the February meeting Mrs. C. P. Harkey presented a program on Valentine arrangements.

The circle plans to share in the establishing of the Garden Club headquarters in Sanford. They sold Christmas cards to help raise funds for their share in this project.

In addition to learning more about gardening, the young women are meeting other young people with similar interests in the community. After each meeting they enjoy a social get-together with coffee and refreshments.

Members of the Pilot Club of Sanford met at the First Federal Building for the monthly business meeting. Mrs. John Lamberton, president, opened the session with a salute to the flag and heard reports from each chairman.

Mrs. B. E. Chapman reported on the milk fund and Mrs. A. O. Payne on activities of the Anchor Club.

It was announced that the club had served 48 hours at the USO during the past year. Plans were discussed for a variety show in the near future.

Mrs. Harry Swanson told of plans for the Civic Night dinner on Feb. 26. Mrs. May Plinchon, past international president, will be the guest speaker.

The club decided to send representatives to the two days in court this month with Judge Mize presiding. Mrs. Ralph Ray read the bulletin about the Spring Convention May 3 to 5 in St. Petersburg.

A nominating committee was named. They are Mrs. Sue Stevenson, Mrs. Harry Boone and Mrs. A. O. Payne. Alternates are Mrs. David Gatchel and Mrs. Jerry Jernigan.

"LET'S TALK DRY CLEANING"
By - WOODROW CASH
Let's talk about printed fabrics — big news this year in fashions. In the ordinary or direct method of printing fabrics, simple and elaborately colored designs are impressed on the woven cloth by means of engraved rollers. In block printing flat blocks are used instead of rollers and this operation is performed by hand. Stenciling is another hand process of applying colors to fabric. Often the stenciled design is planned to fit a woven pattern, so it looks as though the fabric were composed of two or more series of different colored threads.

What has all this to do with cleaning? A great deal. Your cleaner must make certain that the dyes used in the roller or stenciling process are color-fast—that they will not "bleed." Combination fabrics—like wool-and-nylon, rayon-and-wool, dacron-and-nylon—all require different types of dyes which in turn impose a need for special cleaning formulas.

Every garment you send us for cleaning presents its own special challenge. We'll always make the necessary tests to determine which method will insure safe, satisfactory results. If it can be cleaned, we can clean it. . . . Just a little bit better! Call us for prompt pickup and delivery service.

Mrs. Roy Partin, Mrs. B. F. McWhorter and Mrs. R. L. Cliequonnol were co-hostesses for the February meeting of the Mimosa Circle at the Partin home.

The rooms were decorated in a Valentine theme of red and white. Upon arrival members were served coffee and heart shaped cup cakes frosted in red and white.

Mrs. W. B. Moye, president, requested reports from committees and asked the group to save old Christmas cards and jewelry for the children in Korea.

Mrs. C. L. Wallis was thanked for her contribution of the Garden Gate articles for January and Mrs. Don Smith announced that she still had some gloves for sale if anyone needed another pair.

Following the meeting, an auction was held which was very exciting. Others attending were Mrs. Herbert Behrens, Gerald Behrens, Frank Cortis, Howard Rice, Walter Schwarz, James Askew, Mary Swankhouse, W. S. Willis and Carl Chorpensing.

Biddy All-Stars Sweep 2

The Sanford Recreation Department Biddy Basketball All-Stars played a pair of outstanding games Friday evening as they swept two games from two teams from DeLand in real close contests.

In the opening game Sanford went ahead on the opening tap on a lay up by Mett Morgan and kept command the rest of the game.

At the end of the first half DeLand came out fired up at the beginning of the second half and closed the gap to 24-20 at the end of the third quarter. Sanford put on an impressive fourth quarter drive headed by Lloyd Wall, Rick Fordham and Bruce McKibbin, to pull out the win by 32-28.

High point man for Sanford was Lloyd Wall with 10 and Bruce McKibbin with eight.

In the feature game of the evening DeLand jumped off to a 2-0 lead but Sanford came back quickly with three quick buckets by Bobby Lundquist. Sanford went to the dressing rooms at half time with a slim 18-17 lead. DeLand rallied in the opening minutes of the third quarter to put Sanford at a 23-18 disadvantage with 2:03 remaining in the third quarter.

Sanford's Ken Hinson bursted for six quick points on real aggressive floor to knol the score at 26 all at the end of the third quarter. At the start of the fourth quarter Sanford fell five points back at 31-26. With 32 seconds left in the game DeLand held a 37-34 lead but a steal by Ken Hinson and a tap in by Billy Miller gave Sanford the winning margin.

Final score was Sanford 39, DeLand 38. Outstanding game performance was turned in on the boards by 3'4" Mike Long and 5'5" Rick Galloway against the DeLand center Tee Tier who stood a towering 6'9".

The two games were warm-up exhibition games for all-stars which will be defending the State Title here on March 1 and 2.

King, Queen Title Slated For SOKC
A race that is certain to be thrill-packed from start to finish is scheduled at the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club Saturday night. It is the second running of King and Queen championship and the field will be composed of the greyhounds who finished from one to four in both the Racing

Queen Stake and the Racing King Stake.

In the running of this speed classic last February Fred Whitehead's Wade T Ray romped off with the honors for the Kings, but four Queens followed him across the line leaving three Kings to bring up the rear. Wade T Ray is competing here this season but is not in the lineup.

Cecil Austin's Texas Lace won the Racing Queen Stake on Feb. 9 and she heads an all-star field in tonight's featured ninth race. If Texas Lace wins it will be her fifth victory this season. Another main event entry also seeking a fifth victory is Edward Pryor's Ed's Last Straw. This sensational pup, who will be two-years-old until May, just moved out of Grade M in January and then skyrocketed into Grade A competition.

Rounding out tonight's feature field will be Duke Drake, Rock Flight, Rock Tray, Penrose Lilly, Excelling and Sarasota Suncoast.

Oviedo Grabs 9th Straight
Oviedo had a close call Friday night winning their ninth straight cage game against St. Ives Bible School but the locals were hard pressed in the final period to pull out a 39-36 victory.

The Lions blew a 10 point lead with two minutes left to play as the Bible School cagers took advantage of several Oviedo miscues to press closer.

Jim Courier was the high scorer for the Lions, scoring 18 points.

Oviedo now sports a 13-3 record. In JV action, Oviedo won, 54-34.

Eye Neglect Hit

"The greatest cause of blindness in children is parental neglect," Dr. Sidney Katz, local ophthalmologist, told members of the Pinecrest PTA Tuesday in an informal talk on diseases of the eye.

Standardized visual chart tests are not very reliable,

Dr. Katz said, because of the ability of children to memorize the chart.

He advised parents to have their children's eyes checked before they go to school to determine if there are any defects in vision which need to be corrected before they handicap the child's learning process.

In other business, Mrs. Robert Rosemond, chairman of the Beautification Committee requested an extra $225 to replace the dead shrubbery in the front of the school with hardy plants that will not be affected by freezing weather.

Mrs. Rosemond note that though the initial cost of the hardier shrubs is more, the long range cost will prove minimal.

A motion was made and carried to appropriate the necessary funds.

Vice president Bill Shepard, presiding in the place of President Kenneth McIntosh who was absent because of illness, urged parents of Pinecrest School children to remember that membership dues in the PTA are still being accepted for this school year. Parents may send dues to the teacher by the child, he said.

Remember the hassle last year (Jan. 19) regarding our medical examiners? ...

The courthouse today looked like the "mob scene" from Caesar and Cleopatra ...

Nobody asked me but, after this morning's rain why doesn't the city convert the sewage treatment plant into a water treatment plant.

How come that bird sanctuary hearing is scheduled for Orlando on Feb. 28 instead of this county when we are so vitally concerned?

A FEW CONVERSATIONS. A CONVERSATION WITH MACK CLEVELAND JR. REPORTER: What about this pay raise for the county commission?

CLEVELAND: As far as I'm concerned it will have to come from the commission as a body and not just from one commissioner ...

A CONVERSATION WITH GORDON FREDERICK: REPORTER: What about this pay raise?

FREDERICK: The way the matter has been presented to the delegation as a one man request I fail to see how we can in good conscience act on it.

A CONVERSATION WITH JAN FORTUNE: Reporter: What have you got to say about that pay raise?

FORTUNE: I'm here today only to observe, that's all. Reporter: No comment at all on the raise?

A CONVERSATION WITH JOE DAVIS: REPORTER: Say how about this ...

DAVIS: Well, Mr. Vershel I have not determined if it is the proper thing to do at this time.

This rain has just about filled the gorges as far as finishing Seminole Park Raceway road.

Hijackers Set To Surrender BELEM, Brazil (UPI)—A Brazilian naval vessel headed for the mouth of the Amazon River today under orders to escort the hijacked Venezuelan freighter Anzoategui here for formal surrender by its rebel crew.

A spokesman for the Brazilian Foreign Ministry in Rio de Janeiro said political asylum would be granted the pro-Communist Venezuelan who seized the freighter last week in the Caribbean, en route to Houston, Tex.

The Anzoategui was reported anchored in Brazilian territorial waters Monday night in the north channel of the Amazon River mouth, about 50 miles from Macapa, capital of the northern territory of Amapa.

It was pointed out that although the county assumes no responsibility on drainage for the Center, the matter of providing outfalls for the entire South Seminole area eventually would become county business.

JOHN FITZPATRICK One Man Fight

Pay hikes, increased court fees and a revised pension plan were broached by county officials at the Seminole County legislative hearing Monday afternoon.

Possible legislation on these matters were brought up at a public hearing called by S. J. Davis Jr., incumbent Representative, who invited three candidates to sit in: Mack Cleveland Jr. for the Senate, and Gordon Frederick and Jan Fortune for the House.

John Fitzpatrick, who said he was speaking for himself only, asked the legislators to introduce a bill increasing Seminole County Commissioners pay $100 monthly.

Arthur H. Beckwith Jr., court clerk, sought support of the delegation for statewide legislation increasing many court fees. He explained these excess fees go to the county general fund.

Support of a revised statewide pension plan for sheriffs and deputies was asked by Sheriff J. L. Hobby. Presently sheriffs and deputies pay four per cent of their salaries into a pension fund.

water conservation and drainage, and to establish under this survey a water control program of dams, levees, canals, dikes, reservoirs, etc., to regulate and control the water supply, payable through general obligation bonds, assessments and ad valorem taxes to be approved in a referendum.

"We must take care of the water supply," General Hutchinson said, "for the development of Florida will be curtailed."

Legislation also was sought to establish a county animal pound, with a full-time officer, and to control junk or salvage yards.
