

Smoking-Car Story: Air Will Be Clean

(By Associated Press)
 NEW YORK — Railroad cars free of odor despite tobacco smoke, spilled drinks and the other incidents of long-distance travel are promised as another transportation improvement by a New York firm of air research engineers.

Apparatus developed for installation with ordinary air-conditioning equipment, which controls only temperature and humidity, is a sort of enlarged gas mask. Principal ingredient is carbon, which has a long-known affinity for absorbing gases (all smells are gases) and other air impurities.

According to W. B. Connor Engineering Corp., 80 percent of the several thousand new passenger cars under contract include carbon air purification in their design. When materials can be obtained in sufficient quantities, manufacture of carbon air purifiers for home and office is promised.

POLES STUDY
 WARSAW, (AP)—Although Poland's universities were hard hit by the war and many buildings were destroyed, there are more students today than before 1939. Total enrollment is 48,277, of which 39,467 are in state universities and 8,810 in private institutions.

ALL WET
 BILLINGS, Mont., (AP)—A too well "fire watered" Indian was facing a "borrowed" team of horses and a farm wagon maddly across yards and gardens when a police patrol car rolled up. The rambunctious redskin leaped from his Ben Hur mount, outran the police automobile several blocks to the turbulent Yellowstone river, leaped in and swam swiftly to an island, where he added insult to the officers' injured prestige by waving a lattered straw hat he had worn at a jaunty angle all through his escapade.

Weights & Measures Unraveled In China

By HAROLD MILKS
AP Newsfeatures
NANKING—Chinese government experts assisted by American technicians are trying to unravel the age-old snarl of China's weights and measures.
Centuries ago some emperor, to hike tax revenue, changed the size of the unit for measuring payment of taxes in the form of grain. Succeeding dynasties increased the size of baskets for measuring taxes in kind. Gradually this system was extended to units of weight and length as well as volume.
After the birth of the Chinese republic officials sought to standardize weights and measures.

They found thousands of different units of measurement in use, alike in name but different in application.
The last Kuomintang congress decided upon nationwide adoption of the metric system. But the changeover will take time. So an interim solution was worked out, known as the one-two-three system because the unit of volume equals one liter, two units of weight equal one kilogram and three units of length equal one meter.
It isn't quite so easy as that, though, while the system is generally used throughout industrialized China, agricultural areas still cling to the old units, which vary from village to village, from trade to trade.
Government experts have found the Chinese foot has varied through the ages from 19.3 centimeters to 67.7, the bushel from 476 cubic centimeters to 5,130 and the pound from 285 grammes to 1,940.

Bare Midriff Given Short Shrift In Court

LAS CRUCES, N. M., (AP)—There is no middle ground when District Judge J. L. Lawson is on the bench.
A litigant in a civil case appeared in court in a two-piece ensemble, sometimes referred to as a "bare midriff."
Judge Lawson refused to permit the woman to testify and took her counsel to task for allowing her to enter the court in such attire.

Baptist Minister Still Rides Range But Breaks No Horses

(By Associated Press)
DELRAY BEACH, Fla.—The Rev. John R. Martin, pastor of the First Baptist Church, still rides as he used to although he's given up breaking outlaw horses.

The 37-year-old minister, also a former lifeguard and Army polo player, occasionally takes part in rodeos, too, just for fun.

He is a native of Fort Pierce, Fla., schooled in Daytona Beach. He was range rider for the United States government, working on a tick eradication program, from 1927 to 1930. He rode 10 to 13 hours a day, seven days a week, hunting cattle that hadn't been dipped. He started riding in rodeos and breaking horses, but then joined the Army for a three-year hitch and went to Fort Sill.

There he became Sgt. Martin and played on the enlisted men's polo team. He left the Army in 1936, entered a seminary at Fort Worth, Texas, and returned to Florida the next year after being married.

He still has cattle and horses in Volusia County, and every year, he goes back on the range for the summer roundup, always carrying a pistol because of snakes and panthers.

"The cowboys have a lot of fun with me," he says. "They like nothing better than to nut me."

WARSAW, Poland—(AP)—If there's any doubt about a rigid, internal censorship in Poland, this should clear it up.

"Everything's censored but our visiting cards."

We hear a good deal these days about the city's new parking meters but if we were to tell you all we hear we would probably be put in jail for using that kind of language.

The Treasury department reveals that 2,380 persons in the dry states of Kansas, Oklahoma and Mississippi paid $86,977 in federal liquor taxes. And that just goes to show what it goes to show.

An unusual highway accident occurred in California the other day. Smoke from a city dump suddenly obscured the highway and before it cleared 24 automobiles had piled up in one gigantic collision. The remarkable thing about it was that no one was killed and only seven persons injured.

Pemie Steed, well known Orlando attorney and son-in-law of Mrs. J. G. Ball of Sanford, had a close call on a flying trip from Orlando to Tallahassee. At Gainesville
the plane caught fire on the take-off and Mr. Steed and another attorney barely escaped without their coats, hats and brief cases.

What this city needs is a good parking lot. Why doesn't some enterprising veteran with a yen
for business adventure take over one of these vacant downtown
lots, establish a parking service for about ten cents a day, with a wash and polish job thrown in for another 50 cents. He could make money at it.

We were interested to see where athletes in Russia compete for the glory of Russia alone. "The spirited, philistine attitude of athletes for sports sake is alien to our physical culture movement,"
says "Red Sport", a Moscow newspaper, "and harmful to the interests of the Soviet people and for this reason cannot exist among us." That may be why the Russians are such poor losers.

At least one Orlando woman is aroused to the menace of drunken drivers. Mrs. O. C. Howell writes the Sentinel, "When a lovely child like little Nancy Smith met's death at the hands of a drunken driver, I think it is time that we wake up and vote the liquor evil
out of our town, state and nation."
Of course, we tried that once and it didn't work, but such tragedies as Mrs. Howell refers to may induce the people to try again.

The Mayfair Inn is going right

for the entertainment of its guests
next winter, despite all the problems and difficulties which such improvements nowadays entail.
The Mayfair knows that not all tourists want to come and just sit in the sun; some of them want to do something. They want recreation, swimming, golf, sailing, dancing. They come to Florida to play as much as to rest after months of hard work in their northern homes. And if we have these things for them to do, they will come here, just as they have been going to Winter
Park, Orlando, Lakeland and Winter
Haven for so, these many years.

We believe that the radios go too far in editing speeches of prominent citizens, in direct convention of the freedom of speech amendment to the Constitution.
When Admiral Halsey
said, "It's nobody's business where U. S. warships go," he added, and was so quoted by every newspaper in the United States,
"Will you go where we damn please,"
but when the radios reported it they cut out the "damn." No doubt they acted in good faith and in a fair sense of their responsibility to the public in keeping the air channels pure and clean, but when one considers the number of murders that are committed on the radio every day and night, it seems to us they are overdoing it just a little bit
when they censor "damn."

Labor Without Strife

This Labor Day marks a year in which labor has been thoroughly harangued for strikes, for impeding re-conversion, for hampering national production. But the industries in which labor and management have developed a smooth machinery for working together, to the advantage of both groups, are seldom heard about.

A good example of a factory with friendly relations
is the Cleveland plant of the American Stove Company.
Neither the workers nor the bosses think they do anything remarkable, but they have learned how to avoid trouble. The system is based on frankness all around and quick attention to small differences.

Any minor grievance is told to a union committee member, who immediately goes with the worker to the foreman. If it can't be settled right then, it is taken to the personnel manager the same day. Gripes never lie around long enough to become serious problems.

Another principal of the organization is to settle everything within the plant. All problems are considered strictly family business, and neither labor nor management calls in outsiders to help. Management is as free in bringing their questions before the union representatives for suggestions as the union men are to bring up any friction they may spot.

Organized labor worked for many years to achieve fair play and decent working conditions. In the course of the struggle, the pendulum has sometimes swung so far that their efforts have created great difficulties for management and worked against the good of the whole. But if such satisfactory conditions as those at this Cleveland factory could be achieved in most industries, there would be few major labor problems in the country.

Territory Report

All of the United Nations maintaining dependent territory are required by the UN Charter to file regularly reports covering educational, social and economic conditions in the territories.

The first such report to be submitted to Secretary-General Trygve Lie was prepared by Acting Secretary of State Dean Acheson and filed by Herschel V. Johnson, United States delegate to the UN. It is considered a broad interpretation of the rule, and as such may stand as an example to other nations with dependent colonies.

Under the charter the dependent people of the world are divided into two classes. The first, which embraces 20 percent of such peoples, is the group designated as coming under the trusteeship of the United Nations. The second and larger group includes the non-self-governing territories, each of which is governed by its owner.

The American report is comprehensive, covering Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, Virgin Islands, Guam and American Samoa. The statement exemplifies the feeling that it is important to take this regulation seriously.
America statesmen believe that the welfare of the dependent colonies requires that it not be considered a trivial diplomatic formality, but an obligation for the member nations to make public conditions in their territories.

Endowment For Science

A national science foundation, to be created by the government, is proposed by David Dietz, well-known writer. He says that other great countries are spending huge sums for the advancement of study and research in pure science, while the United States as a nation is inclined to rest on previous achievements in applied science.

One example of the let-downs in interest is the proposed closing of several telescopes in America's biggest astronomical laboratories because of lack of funds for operating them. During the war the government provided billions of dollars for research on such scientific subjects as radar and the atomic bomb, but this work was all based on previous findings in the realm of pure science.

It is time now to open new fields of research, and this can only be done by heavily endowed institutions.
For many reasons, the endowments of established scientific schools have suffered a decline in value, and it is important that they be supplemented by government support, if no other source of funds is forthcoming. The work of research scientists, which often seems unproductive as it is being performed, has proven, again and again, to be of incalculable value to the nation later on.

legislature decreed that the first Monday in September be a holiday, and other states soon followed the example thus set. In 1894 Congress recognized that day, and now virtually all states recognize it. When it comes, factories and mills stop their machinery, and the laboring public takes a holiday.
The Bible in many places recognizes the worth of honest toil and commends the man who does it. This leads one to wonder if churches should not also take part in celebrating Labor Day with religious exercises. Perhaps the name ought to be changed to
"Christian Labor Day."

Record Number Seek Careers As Doctors

CHICAGO—Women in unprecedented numbers are preparing for careers as doctors.
A total of 864 of them recently completed their freshman terms in U. S. Medical schools. That number established a record.
The enrollment of women medical students in the United States averaged between 250 and 300 in recent years. But the drafting of able-bodied pre-medical students in the last two years gave the roads a chance to enlarge their branches. They made the most of their opportunity. Among other gains, a dozen of them invaded the Harvard Medical School for the first time.
A survey just completed by the American Medical Association's council on medical education demonstrated, however, that men still predominate. Freshmen in the scholastic year that ended this summer totaled 5,991. For each woman there were six men.
Dr. Victor Johnson, the council's secretary, figures 3,000 veterans of World War II will be among the 6,000 students expected to enter medical schools in the fall. Current information indicates 700 women, including 18 former WACS and WAVES, will be in the incoming freshman class.
Enrollment in all medical schools this fall is expected to approximate 25,000. It has recently ended it was 23,147.

Miss Whittington Weds Vincent Peel In Melbourne; To Make Home Here

Whittington of Sanford, became the bride of Vincent Peel, son of Mrs. David Peel and the late Mr. Peel of Melbourne. The Rev. Leonard F. Vanderwater of Jacksonville officiated.
Palm fronds formed the background of the chancel which was decorated with baskets of white chrysanthemums, gladioluses, asters, and tuberoses. The chancel rail was covered with sprigs of fern interspersed with feverfew and the altar held vases of white chrysanthemum and gladiolus. The entire church was lighted by white candles in seven branched candelabra.
Proceeding the ceremony Mrs. J. L. McEwan of Sanford gave a program of organ music and Miss Betty Brantow sang "I Love Thee" (Greg) and "Through The Years" (Youmans). During the service "To A Wild Rose" was played softly and the traditional wedding marches were used.
Miss Gladys Peel, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor. She wore a floor length dress of blue marquisette and carried a bouquet of red roses. Gene Tucker served as best man and usher—were Jackson Vaughn and Max Rodes.
The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in a gown of white satin and net. The satin bodice which featured a scalloped neckline extended into a graceful peplum and the skirt was of net over satin which terminated in a long train. Her fingertip veil of illusion was edged with lace and held in place by a halo of seed pearls. Her only ornament was a single strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom, and she carried a spray bouquet of white roses and tuberoses showered with white satin ribbons.
Mrs. Whittington wore a summer print with black hat and accessories and a corsage of red roses. Mrs. Peel, mother of the groom, wore a dress of blue and white crepe with white hat and accessories and a corsage of red roses.
Immediately following the ceremony a reception was given in the church parlor which was decorated with pink chrysanthemums. The lace covered table was centered with a three tiered wedding cake which was cut by the young couple in the traditional manner and punch was served from another table. Assisting in serving were Mrs. Max Rodes, Mrs. Miriam Shull, Mrs. King Burgess, Mrs. Mable Gross, Mrs. J. J. Kirkland and Mrs. Jos. L. Forester. The guest book and bride's book were kept by Miss Helen Vaughn and Mrs. William J. Bass.

Sanford Sweeps St. Augustine Series With 5 To 2 Victory

Schantel Hurls Six Hit Tilt; Daytona To Play Here Tonite

By ARTHUR BECKWITH, Jr., Herald Sports Editor

The Sanford Celery Feds let the third place St. Augustine Saints down on a 5 to 2 count last night on the six hit hurling of Jim Schantel before 1,000 fans at the Municipal Park.

The Feds came from behind twice to hand the visitors their second defeat in as many days. St. Augustine opened the first inning by scoring a single marker when Pawlick drew a free pass and moved to second on a fielders choice and went to third as Byron Sharpe allowed Stillwell's third strike to get away from him. Karpinski singled to bring Pawlick across the plate.

Sanford knotted the count in the third frame on a single by Bob Tuttle and a screaming triple to left center field hit by Dave Bride to score Tuttle.

The Saints forged ahead once again in the fifth frame on a single tally by Pawlick who blasted a long two base blow and scored on a double by Stillwell. Tuttle opened the three run sixth inning for the locals with a triple quickly followed by a single to left by Bride to tally Tuttle. Levy walked and Ovie Clig sent a line drive two base blow down the left field line to drive Bride and Levy home.

The final Fed marker came in the eighth as Buddy Lake singled to right and took second on an error by Smith, and went to third on a miscue by Nelson. Clig piled a long fly into right and Lake scored on the throw-in.

Levy-Whitner Announces Opening Of Back Nine Sept. 1

SPORTS ODDITY

A Brooklyn cup which hits a golf ball cross-handed, left hand below right, probably will be heard from when the nation's amateurs start swinging top of the National Championship at the Baltusol club in New Jersey September 1.

If Jim Oleska had not joined the finest perhaps he would have been one of the Dodgers. For he has played semi-pro ball. He hit a baseball just like he hits a golf ball, cross handed. Both kinds of balls always have gone far into the distance when he has connected.

Jim, who is once a cavity, and a helper to the greenskeeper at a public course in Brooklyn. It was there he learned to get a golf ball into the hole. The fewer number of strokes. Now 11 years old, he was the lowest of the New York's best golfers. He is not a club member but he is on the links most of the time well up in club tournaments.

According to an announcement that was made today by Ed Whitner, manager of the Seminole Country Club, the back nine course will be opened Sunday Sept. 1.

Plans have been made for a Blind Hogeby tourney for Sunday afternoon and a "mist july" hour will follow at 5 P. M.

Whitner also said that the back nine will be open for the first time in a number of years, and that a number of Central Florida golf enthusiasts will be on hand for the opening.

Best Golf Games All Ahead, Says Babe Didrikson At 32

DENVER—"I'm going to lead in golf. In two years I'll be the best woman golfer in the world."

That was Mildred Didrikson talking back in 1934. There was no shadow in the muscular Norwegian girl's self-belief and she didn't think she was boasting. To her it was a plain statement of fact.

The Babe never has had to back up on her prediction and recently, as she walked off the Denver Country Club course after winning the Women's Trans-Mississippi tournament in a breeze, she confided: "I haven't even started to win golf tournaments yet."

"When I was a kid, the boys tried to keep me out of their sports. But I fought my way in, and usually made them. I don't know why people get excited just because I beat the girls."

On the golf course, where she hits a ball as no other woman and few men can hit it, the Babe is adding to the laurels that won her acclaim by many experts as the best woman athlete in world history.

In 1932, she won the national A.A.U. track and field championship single handed and broke two world records in the Olympics. As a basketball player, she was captain of the A.A.U.'s All-American team.

Today, at 32, as the wife of George Zaharias, one-time monster of the mat and now a well-heeled Delver, rasing promoter, her whole ambition is golf.

The Babe lost her amateur status ten years ago because she endorsed an automobile. Her purse was empty so she got a job with a sporting goods company and for three years toured the world with Gene Sarazen on professional exhibitions.

Then, with her financial status

Jack Dempsey's father, Hugo Dempsey, was a Irish fellow of his son's career in pugilism, but sometimes he was a bit pessimistic about Jack's chances in the sport.

Jack's father was so excited that he had to be taken to a hospital. He died a few days later.

It was a tragedy for the young fighter. He had just started to make a name for himself in the sport.

Rioting Again Breaks Out In City Of Bombay

More Indians Killed When Police Try To Disperse Mobs In Street Battles

BOMBAY, Sept. 3. (AP)—New riots between Hindus and Moslems have flared again in Bombay before the city could recover from Sunday's street battles. The latest communique says that 81 persons were killed and 300 injured since the weekend violence broke out. Fresh communal fights began early this morning.

There were pre-dawn outbreaks in some of the areas where a curfew was imposed yesterday. Two were killed and eight injured when Bombay police tried to disperse armed mobs in a street battle on Victoria Gardens road. The mobs hurled stones, sticks, soda-water bottles—anything that came to hand.

Another police had to open fire three times during the morning to quell outbreaks with estimated casualties of ten killed and 60 injured. Violence spread to the northern part of Bombay where several assaults and stabbings occurred. Two shops were looted and police killed a man at one of them.

The city is beginning to feel the effects of the rioting. No meat is available in the riot-stricken areas. Tram and bus traffic is paralyzed.

The ill-feeling between Hindus and Moslems mounted to new heights of fury as the Indian government took office yesterday under the leadership of Congress Party President Jawaharlal Nehru. The Moslem League has refused to participate in the government. It was set up as a preliminary step in Indian independence.

In spite of the Moslem grievances and demonstrations, Nehru pledged himself to govern India for the Indians and he promised a ten-year program which may improve their living conditions.

From Mohandas Gandhi, spiritual leader of the Hindus, came this statement: "If Hindus and Moslems must fight let them be brave and fight it out amongst themselves."

Wilson Reports Little Celery Set In Sanford

Market Head Asserts Weather Ideal For Setting Escrow

JACKSONVILLE, Sept. 3. (Special)—"Very little celery has been set in the Sanford section but plenty of good plants are being cut back for later planting, according to Manager H. J. Lehman of the Sanford State Flower Market." William L. Wilson, director of the Florida market system, declared here today. "The market average will be set around Sanford," Director Wilson asserted and pointed out that "the weather has been ideal for setting escrow. Beans will be planted in the Sanford area from now on and some potatoes will be planted in the next few weeks for fall markets. It was also indicated that Sanford will have more buyers and dealers in the coming season. An increased demand for fresh fruit and vegetables is forecast," said Mr. Wilson.

Receipts of poultry and eggs on the Dade City Market have increased substantially during the last week, auction sales on the State Livestock Market comparing favorably with substantial increases in reports from throughout the State indicate plantings of fall vegetables is going forward satisfactorily," said Mr. Wilson. "The outlook as September opens, indicates Florida will send a good volume of tomatoes, watermelons, cucumbers, celeris, beans, and other produce to market this fall and winter."

A report just received from Manager Frank E. Conner of the Wauchula State Farm, says that the outlook for the autumn good through 1946 is related planting in some sections. A considerable increase in acreage devoted to fall crops is indicated. Many fields of these crops have been put into production. This is attributed to the availability of bulldozers. For clearing this new ground which is so desirable for raising the high quality produce for which the Wauchula market is famous. Shipments of these crops should start late in the season.

Italy Would Maintain Post-War Air Force, Army And Navy of Only 297,000 Men

AFTER A HECTIC SESSION LASTING MORE THAN NINE HOURS United Nations delegates are shown here today in the United Nations Conference on the Limitation of Armaments in London. Delegates from the United States, Great Britain, France, the Soviet Union, and other nations are present.

PARIS, Sept. 3. (AP)—The Allied Peace Conference moved today to limit the size of Italy's fighting forces. Drastic reductions in the wartime strength of the Italian army, navy and air force were urged by the conference military commission. For the most part, the recommendations are in line with previous suggestions made by the Four.

According to proposals unanimously approved by the commission today, Italy is to have a post-war army, navy and air force of only 297,500 men—a mere fraction of that country's wartime fighting strength. The size of the Italian army would not be permitted to exceed 250,000 men, including 65,000 Carabinieri. The navy would be held down to 22,000 men, and the air force would be limited to 25,000.

Italy would not be allowed to have any military factories. The commission also recommended that Italy be restricted in its production of arms and munitions. The commission also recommended that Italy be limited in its production of arms and munitions. The commission also recommended that Italy be limited in its production of arms and munitions.

Government's General Accounting Office Largest Of Its Kind In World

By CLARKE BEACH
By Associated Press—Anybody who gets money from the government who isn't entitled to it has to buck the General Accounting Office (GAO).

It's the biggest accounting outfit on earth. It has thousands of ways of finding out how government funds, whether through fraud or error.

Fifteen women, for instance, have learned how GAO catches on marital wrong-doers. Each was married, or said she was, to two servicemen at the same time and drew wives' allotments from both men's pay.

But they didn't know that GAO has a file of paid allotment checks arranged by first names. GAO figures that when a woman commits bigamy or adopts a false surname she is likely to retain her true first name. If in the "Mary" file the arrangements of two checks look alike the cases are checked—sometimes with surprising results.

Every voucher paid by a disbursing officer of the government is reviewed by GAO's Audit Division. In the fiscal year which ended this July, 39,000,000 vouchers were checked.

GAO filed exceptions to 417,000 of the vouchers—resulting in the government's receiving refunds of $45,400,000. The discrepancies are usually the result of error and not fraud, says E. W. Bell, chief of the division.

Bell has 5,000 bookkeeping sleuths in his division, some of them at his headquarters in Washington and some at 250 field stations.

Largest field offices are in Cleveland, where 500 accountants and lawyers check on payments made under Navy contracts; and in St. Louis where 600 more keep tabs on Army transactions.

Health Official Warns Citizens Of Mosquito Bites

JACKSONVILLE, Sept. 3. (Special)—The State Health Officer today to use every measure at their disposal to protect themselves against the bites of mosquitoes. Malaria may spring up in many sections this fall unless precautions are taken, warned John A. Mullen, director of the Bureau of Malaria Control.

Heavy rains during the late summer have increased the water surface in lakes, ponds, swamps and streams, said Mr. Mullen. And, in areas where unusual conditions have occurred, a heavy production of malaria carrying mosquitoes can be expected. In addition to this, the fact that there are more human malaria carriers in the State at this time than has been experienced in many years could very easily start transmission of malaria.

This has been brought about by returning war veterans many of whom are carriers of foreign strains of malaria, which are resistant to treatment and can be transmitted by our malaria mosquito, said Mr. Mullen.

Mr. Mullen stressed that household insect sprays should be used daily in the home to destroy mosquitoes and every dwelling should be screened. When screening cannot be accomplished, DDT should be applied to the walls.

The State Board of Health has received a commitment of $257,000 from Congress to be spent on DDT house spraying in 23 counties for the fiscal year, 1946-47, said Mr. Mullen.

Malaria is without rival among the diseases affecting man, and it is imperative that efforts to stamp out this scourge should not be relaxed.

Lazarus, aviation supervisor of the Florida Improvement Commission, felt that this was a chance for Sanford to place itself on the international air map, since the site was ideal for airplanes to smash world soaring records. ## Orphaned Children Of Europe Given Priorities In Immigration Quotas

By Associated Press
By JANE FADS
WASHINGTON—The homeless, orphaned children of Europe want to "belong." They want and need love. They want to live and play and go to school like others of the world's children.

Uncle Sam, who has helped Europe is helping again. The U. S. State Department will stand, but under Presidential order, first, some is given to the children.

Since the first step-load of immigrants arrived last May, more than 300 unaccompanied children have been brought to this country. These children are below the age at which they legally could be responsible for themselves. They are not coming to relatives or other interested individuals who would be responsible for them.

They come to this country under a corporate affidavit of the United States Committee for the Care of European Children. The affidavit guarantees that they will not become public charges and that they will be under the supervision of operating agencies approved by the U. S. Children's Bureau.

The children coming to the United States now are orphans, that is, they are orphaned. After this they are sent to whatever affiliated organizations are best able to meet their particular needs.

But the Committee does not place children in foster homes. It urges that a family eager to adopt a child get in touch with its local council of social agencies, which will know which local agency is in charge of any European child needing a home.
