

FEDERATION MEET CLOSED YESTERDAY

THE HOSTS OF LABOR HAD GOOD MEETING AND A FINE TIME.

The second day of the meeting of the state Federation of Labor was taken up with the reports of committees and various routine matters.

Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Boyle was to have organized a Ladies' Auxiliary branch of the state Federation for the ladies of Sanford.

Wednesday night the closing of officers took place and the meeting was very spirited.

C. F. Shepard of Miami is president of the Federation. J. H. Mackay of Jacksonville is vice president.

The next convention will meet at Tampa and the hope is that the city are planning the state Federation of the best meetings in the history of the organization.

Thursday morning was closing up time and the odds and ends of the various committees and detail work was finished up.

About four o'clock the delegates departed from the city with the feeling that in Sanford they were in the house of their friends.

Represented Governor

Hon. J. C. Privett, state labor inspector read the following address before the convention.

It is with genuine pleasure to be privileged to come before you to extend to you the greetings from the state of Florida.

I appear not only as a representative of that branch of the state government that enforces a state labor law but also as a special envoy of His Excellency, Governor Park M. Trammell.

I will read the Governor's greetings to this convention: Tallahassee, Fla., Jan. 5, 1915.

My Dear Sir:—Having been invited to be present upon the convening of the State Federation of Labor at Sanford on the 12th inst., and it being impossible for me to be in attendance on account of my official duties being so taxing at the present time, I am going to ask that you kindly represent me at this convention.

You may assure the convention of my hearty sympathy in their righteous efforts for the betterment and the general welfare of the laboring people of our state.

one fraught with great danger. With kind regards, I am,

Yours very truly, PARK M. TRAMMELL, Governor.

Our governor has evidenced, as many of you know, his concern in the welfare of the toiling masses of the state.

In appearing before you in the beautiful city of Sanford, located on one side by the picturesque St. Johns river surrounded by clear water lakes and fields of growing celery, I believe I voice the sentiments of all members of this convention.

The names of some of the good friends of Sanford are: J. H. Mackay, J. C. Privett, J. B. O'Brien, George C. Brown, J. Crumble, St. Augustine and L. R. Campbell of Tampa.

get some further information from him as a member of the committee, do he had the honor of the position of District Attorney.

TWELVE THOUSAND KILLED IN QUAKE

reported to have been killed in the earthquake.

In many small towns surrounding Rome buildings were partially wrecked, while at Naples a panic occurred, and houses fell at Capri, a short distance to the east.

In Rome it was thought at first that two shocks had occurred, but in the seismograph instruments in the observatories showed there was only one, which, beginning at 7.55 o'clock in the morning lasted from twenty-two to thirty seconds.

In the capital itself, so far as known, there was no loss of life but a great deal of damage was done, churches and statues suffering mostly. For a time the people were stricken with fear and there was a veritable panic in hospitals, monasteries and convents.

Buildings on both sides of the Porta del Popolo, the north entrance of Rome, threatened to fall and the eagle decorating the gate crashed to the ground.

The famous colonnade decorating St. Peter's Square was lowered four feet and the adjacent house, once occupied by the sisters of Pope Pius X was badly cracked.

Owing to the wide extent of the disturbance and its evident terrible occurrence the extent of the losses or damage is not known.

Likewise Potenza, capital of the province of the same name, on the eastern declivity of the Apennines which has a population of nearly 20,000 has been isolated.

ATTENTION SANFORD BOOSTERS!

The boosters special train leaves the Herald office next Monday afternoon at one o'clock sharp and the run will be made to Geneva first, Chuluota second and Oviedo for supper, and the Board of Trade meeting there that night.

This trip was to have been made last Monday but on account of the heavy downpour of rain it was thought best to postpone the trip until next Monday, January 18th.

Every public spirited man in Sanford and vicinity that has a car is requested to have that same car in front of the Herald office at one o'clock Monday.

The cars are to be decorated and led by the scout car from Oviedo in charge of Captain B. G. Smith, will leave the appointed place and go to Geneva, Chuluota and Oviedo.

Every business man in Sanford should endeavor to make the most of this opportunity by having the cars decorated.

Supper and meeting with Board of Trade.

Train leaves on Tuesday, Jan. 12, at 1 o'clock and arrives at Longwood at 2 o'clock.

CAR INSPECTOR KILLED AT RANDS

CHARLEY POWELL FELL BETWEEN CARS LAST TUESDAY NIGHT.

It is reported that an accident occurred in this city in some form was that of Charley Powell, a young car inspector, who lost his life at Rands Siding on Tuesday night about nine o'clock.

The saddest feature of this accident is the fact that the deceased leaves a wife and several small children who were dependent upon his labors for their living.

The funeral services were held yesterday from the residence of Dr. Brownlee of the Presbyterian church officiating.

Made Great Record J. L. Andrews, the popular insurance agent of this city has made an enviable record in the insurance business.

Clark Howell, Editor Constitution, Atlanta I consider him the most finished orator the south has ever produced.

Captured a Sea Serpent

New Orleans, Jan. 14. Resemblance in many ways the hummingbird of the Paleozoic period, but declared by other experts to be a nearer relative to the whistling Dinotherium of the Devonian age.

To the great grief of scientists when the serpent was captured it passed into the great beyond and no interview could be obtained.

It even antedates the promise of a five cent fare to Coney Island in New York, they declared and the promise of a wave of prosperity.

He has two tusks which protrude into the river. About all he lacks is a standard board and a drummer's stick.

THE CIRCUIT COURT STARTS GRINDING

JUDGE PERKINS OPENS THE FALL TERM FOR SEMINOLE COUNTY.

Judge Perkins opened the court in Seminole County at States Attorney and he is being received by the grand jury.

The greater part of the first day was taken with the civil cases that were sandwiched in between the matter of getting the grand jury together and in working order.

The grand jury is grinding away and will probably not have a report ready before the Herald goes to press.

The members of the petit jury drawn are as follows:

C. H. Dinger, R. L. Shiholser, J. Musson, Carl Roumillat, C. C. Pearson, L. Went, D. E. Hart, I. L. Andrews, S. E. Mathers, E. L. Brown, J. E. Spurling, O. J. Pope, C. W. McClure, Felix Frank, T. B. Adams, Roy Tillis, C. L. Polk, O. W. Duke.

There are many cases on the civil docket and the petit jury will have plenty to do during this term of court.

SEMINOLE FAIR ASSUMES GREAT SIZE

THE LIST OF ATTRACTIONS IS STEADILY GROWING DAY BY DAY

Arrangements are now completed and well ahead of schedule to make Seminole County's first annual fair which will be held at Sanford, Feb. 3, 4, 5, 6, four days and four nights, positively the biggest affair of its kind ever held in the state.

It will be given in a modernized way and will be held on the main street of Sanford. Buildings have been secured, however, for the cattle, poultry and horse show exhibits also for the state, county and city of Jacksonville health exhibits.

Booths of uniform size will be erected to take care of the merchants' exhibits. Booths will also be placed for the Woman's Club, embracing art and craft, antiques and jewelry, and shrubbery, cooking, baking, needlework, etc.

A Better Baby contest conducted by the Woman's Club will be a big feature of this department. Handsome prizes will be given.

The fair has never had an exhibition of such magnitude as the one now being planned by the several committees in charge of the system.

Both arranged and over seventy entries are now being received.

A big appropriation has been made for the amusement, which will embrace complete fights daily by the local and professional prizefighters.

There will be a number of special days during the week. There will be an Orlando Day, State and County, Leesburg, DeLand, Kissimmee, Eustis, Fraternal, Industrial, School and many others.

In point of decorations, the scheme is both novel and new, not only will the booths be a veritable fairyland, but the city itself will garb itself in its best dress for the Fair week.

All to be given absolutely free to the citizens and the visitors.

The Hoosier School

The Hoosier School will be given at the Imperial Theatre on the night of January 26th by the members of the Christian Endeavor Society of this city.

The play is taken from the Hoosier Schoolmaster and will have all the characters that made that book so popular.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Rayton and daughter are here for the winter from New York. They will be at home at Mrs. J. M. Roberts as usual.

FORMER RESIDENT NOTES OUR PROGRESS

SAYS SANFORD HAS BEEN GROWING QUIETLY BUT GREAT

To the Editor Sanford Herald:

The continuous resident of any city or locality is not as fully alive to the various steps of progress as is the occasional visitor. The improvements made go along almost imperceptibly and are passed by with little or no comment. But let the resident go away for a year or two, and upon his return he notices at once, the improvements made during his absence. Old buildings have given way to new ones, new walks have been laid, new streets have been opened up and paved, and new faces appear on the streets. Such is the case with Sanford. An absence of two years from the city has prepared me to judge impartially of the advancement that has been made in many different directions. It is not so many years since I saw the Celery City for the first time.

At that time there was not a cement walk, nor a paved street in the town. Compare that with the present conditions and note the progress that has been made in this direction in much less than a decade. In the past two years, the progress has been even more marked than in the previous five, and that was considerable. Handsome brick blocks have taken the place of old shacks, or of vacant lots, and many beautiful bungalows adorn lots that were formerly given over to palmettos and the wandering kine. Beautiful churches are rapidly succeeding the primitive structures of an earlier day. All around are the signs of progress.

But it is not alone in the city that Sanford's growth is apparent. The permanent brick roads stretching out from the city in every direction are indubitable signs of progress. They show that her citizens are alive to their opportunities, and believe in making their home town the center of trade for the whole surrounding community. The new roads that are being opened up in various parts of the new county of Seminole are additional testimonials to the spirit of progress which animates the entire community.

Sanford is bound to grow. She cannot help it. It's in the air. She has the fertile "back country," and she has the enterprising citizenship to take advantage of it. Success to her.

Respectfully,
C. C. WORTHINGTON.

"Polly of the Circus"

The Atlanta Constitution in the issue of Jan. 5th criticizes "Polly of the Circus" in the following manner: When irritable Polly stood in the dim moonlight of the deserted circus grounds in the last tableau of "Polly of the Circus" at the Atlanta last night, and recited a passage from Ruth to Parson John Douglas, there were literally tears in the voice of Elsie St. Leon.

There had been tears before. But these tears were more contagious. They spread through the audience, and there was many a moist eye as the curtain fell and hands groped for their hats and coats. The charming Miss St. Leon fell into characteristic tears many times during her portrayal of the exquisitely impulsive Polly, and once, when she was trying to swallow an outburst behind the wings, she broke into them anew in appreciation of a handsome basket of geraniums that had been sent over the footlights.

It is unquestionably due to the work of this perennially young lady that "Polly of the Circus" has endeared itself into the hearts of the theatre goers to such an extent that they witness it season after season. There were many in last night's audience that had seen it as many as three times, but enjoyed it anew. It would be hard to imagine a "Polly" without the personality of Miss St. Leon.

Last night's performance progressed smoothly. Miss St. Leon is supported by a good cast. And the show is well staged. One gets a genuine whiff of the sawdust world of the circus scenes and tableaux. It is easy to imagine from the scene the tugging at the heart-strings scene the tugging at the heart-strings of the hero and hero-stress performers as she stands upon the desolate, empty grounds where the tents once stood, and leaving the life and soul in the desert air. The scene is a masterpiece of wagon wheels that wheel over the desert hills.

Particularly worthy of mention in the cast was Scott Mann as Ben, John Douglas as Parson John, and Elsie St. Leon as Polly. The play is a masterpiece of C. C. Worthington. Big time in the city was made.

BRITT CRAIG

LABOR MEET CLOSED YESTERDAY

Sanford won his, with the exception of the name, and we are now gathered in Seminole county. Young in years, but old in name as the Seminole Indian before even Orange county was established, way back yonder in December 1824, changed to Orange from Mosquito county. So the old county of Mosquito nearly a century ago is now composed of one of the most prosperous counties in the state—Seminole. And, represented in the state legislature by one who has always supported the laws proposed by your legislative committee, Hon. Forrest Lake.

The Federation of Labor has been a mighty force in the industrial affairs of our state, and yet it may truly be said that its work has just begun. For fifteen years I have been identified with the active work of this organization. I was present at its formation in the year 1901, have served on important legislative committees, was its secretary and treasurer for several years, attended twelve of its fifteen conventions, and today I have the pleasure of appearing before you as a member of the Typographical Union.

The State Federation of Labor, since its inception, has been of great benefit to the toiling masses of Florida, especially along legislative lines. To go into a review of the many accomplishments during these many years would be presumptuous at this time, but I feel duty bound to inform the delegates here assembled, as many new faces are seen, about a few of the laws that your state Federation of Labor has been instrumental in placing upon the statute books of Florida.

Since the year 1907, when the Federation saw the necessity of the enactment of legislation for the toiling masses, 25 laws in the interest of labor are now embodied in your statute books, among which may be named the following:

1. Enforcement of laws for attachment.
2. $500 license in each county for sale of goods.
3. Right of workmen to organized employees.
4. Reporting of accidents by railroad companies.
5. Enforcement of laws for attachment.
6. Enforcement of laws for attachment.
7. Enforcement of laws for attachment.
8. Enforcement of laws for attachment.
9. Enforcement of laws for attachment.
10. Enforcement of laws for attachment.

8. The enforcement of the child labor law.

9. An employers' liability act.

10. The relief association law requiring that acceptance of relief should not bar suits for damages.

11. Requiring locomotives to have headlights of 1,500 candle power.

For fifteen years we have been struggling for the passage of legislation that will improve the conditions of the men who toil. How successful we have been is now a matter of history, but what more can be accomplished should be the watchword from now on.

The legislative committee that you elect at this convention should be men of broad views, conservative, conscientious, and men who will represent labor in a manner that will redound to the credit of the organization.

If you will pardon, I desire to name a few of the laws that the convention should instruct its committee to add in passage:

A workmen's compensation law.

A compulsory education law.

The establishment of a state bureau of labor and industrial statistics.

Free text books for first four grades.

Universal 8-hour day law.

Laborers' lien law.

Placing of fire escapes on factories over two stories.

Limiting hours for female employees.

Establishment of a minimum wage for women employees.

A labor inspection law.

A semi-monthly payday law for railroad employees.

These ten needed laws with the addition of the 27 now in force would place Florida in line with other progressive states in having laws enacted for the benefit of the men who toil.

Permit me in conclusion on behalf of the Federation to express to you my sincere thanks for the timely and effective assistance you have rendered me. It is a privilege to be able to do my duty for the men of our state and labor law.

May the cause so near and dear to your hearts be ever a success.

Diversified Plantings Are Safe Plantings
The safety in diversified planting in farming and fruit growing never was so apparent as now. It will protect you from losses brought on by over-production and one crop calamities. Diversified plantings provide the profits for an all-year-round income.

Soft Shell Pecans
Pecans will produce more actual food value per acre than any other crop. Plant them around the barns and other buildings. Try some of our big Z trees or other choice varieties.

Roses, Trees, Shrubbery
Planting roses, shade trees and shrubbery will make the home more beautiful and attractive, and will increase its selling value many times the cost in a very short time.

Figs and Assorted Fruits
First plant for home consumption, second, to supply local markets and third, for commercial shipping. Profits ranging from $200.00 to $800.00 per acre can be made from growing, marketing or canning figs, peaches, pears, plums, Japanese persimmons, grapes and other choice varieties.

Oranges and Grapefruit
Our Macclenny nurseries grapefruit and orange trees are isolated, eliminating possible infection of scale, insect and fungi diseases. Many of the famous Florida groves were planted with Macclenny grown trees. The satsuma is specially recommended for northern planting. It is hardy and will withstand very cold weather.

Griffing's Macclenny Trees
We have a complete stock for southern planting at our Macclenny nurseries, near Jacksonville, Florida, including pecans and other nuts, grapefruit, oranges, assorted fruits, rose bushes, shade trees vines, ferns and shrubbery.

Griffing's 1915 Tree Book
Gives the ripe experience of men who have solved the difficulties of fruit and nut culture. Write for the tree book. The Service Bulletins are listed in the tree book and will be mailed on request. They contain planting and culture directions.

HUSBAND RESCUED DESPAIRING WIFE

After Four Years of Discouraging Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave Up in Despair. Husband Came to Rescue.

Catron, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side.

The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good.

I had gotten so weak I could not stand, and I gave up in despair.

At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without tiring me, and am doing all my work."

If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women, in its 50 years of continuous success, and should surely help you, too. Your druggist has sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him. He will recommend it. Begin taking Cardui today.

Why should you take less than 15 years service when you buy roofing, when you know you can get 15 years guaranteed service when you buy

Certain-teed

Quality Roofing Durability Guaranteed

It means the best protection for your buildings. You can test roofing until the cows come home—by every known means—twist it, pull it, tear it, bite it—and when you get through you'll know just as much about how long it will wear as when you started. Even a roofing expert can't tell by any test how long roofing will last. The only true test is on the roof. When a manufacturer has the faith in his product to stand behind it with a 15-year guarantee, backed by the responsibility of his three big roofing mills—there's the kind of dependable product we are looking for to sell as our customers. When in need of Building Materials, Lumber of all kinds, Stock Mouldings, Mill-work, etc., remember that we handle quality goods and our prices are right.

The Mango is a Delicious Tropical Fruit

The mango is one of the most popular tropical fruits—luscious and appetizing. It may be sliced like peaches for breakfast or dessert, or the pulp may be scooped with a spoon from the center, leaving the skin as one does in eating grapefruit. Mangoes are also used for preserves, marmalades, chutney and pickles.

There are all sorts and varieties of mangoes, but the best and most popular are Alphonso, Haden, Combianos, Rapsury, Gordons, Laga Benari, Totafari, Pakari, Bennett and Sandersons. Royal Palm Nurseries catalog for 1915, now ready for distribution, describes no less than twenty-four different kinds.

A Customer Says Reasoner Brothers' Plants and Packing Deserve First Prize
For upward of thirty years Reasoner Brothers have given their best effort in building up a general nursery business, embracing tropical, semi-tropical and temperate fruit trees and plants; all sorts of ornamentals, as well as palms, shrubs, ferns, vines and bulbs, located in the Gulf Coast country, where every climatic condition is ideal. The result of their painstaking and intelligent work is reflected in testimonials from countless satisfied customers all over the world.
A California client writes: "You should certainly receive first prize for packing and also for growing such strong and healthy plants." Another buyer, in New Jersey, is even more enthusiastic, writing: "Not since the last Christmas, when Santa Claus was a real personage, have I had such delight opening packages as when the box from you arrived. The careful packing insured the good condition of the plants; your method of growing equally assured their quality."
A particularly important feature of Royal Palm Nurseries is the Service Department. In thirty odd years of labor Reasoner Brothers have garnered a vast store of tree and plant knowledge. This is now at the disposal of their customers through the Service Department. The current Royal Palm Catalog contains seventeen chapters of interesting and authoritative information, a valuable addition to the library of every farmer and fruit grower. TURN GRASSHOPPERS TO ICE

Story of Glacier Made of Insects Verified by Government Forest Supervisor J. C. Whitham.

Billings, Mont.—Forest Supervisor J. C. Whitham and Fred Rixon, who planned to plant a flag on the summit of Granite peak, 12,950 feet high, the highest point in the Beartooth range of mountains, were compelled to return to this city without accomplishing their purpose.

Mr. Whitham, who is acting supervisor of the Beartooth national forest, has forwarded specimens to Washington confirming the "myth of the grasshopper glacier."

"Actually," asserts the forester, "there is a belt of frozen grasshopper running the entire length of the glacier at the head of West Rosebud, ten miles from Cooke City. The glacier is a mile long and from a distance it can be seen that the grasshopper belt extends the entire length of the ice field. How far into the glacier the mass of hoppers extends it was impossible to tell.

"The grasshoppers are not exactly a solid mass on the surface, but they lie so thickly that a person cannot step without treading upon them. Insect heads, legs and a kind of black debris are scattered all over that part of the glacier. When the wind blows these fragments are scattered all over the mountain top. You can plainly see that the mass must extend some depth into the glacier."

Seven years ago a prospector first told the tale of the grasshopper glacier, but none would credit it. Excursions were made to the glacier in following years, but heavy snows buried the insects.

Mr. Whitham used a pick and dug into the mass where the insects were intact. Those that he exhibited in a bottle were unbroken. He believes that the grasshoppers were endeavoring to cross the range, which rises to an altitude of 11,000 feet, and were overcome. There are no live grasshoppers now anywhere near the mountain top.

NEEDLES IN A CHILD'S BRAIN

Four, Found by Iowa University Surgeons, Had Been There Several Years.

Iowa City, Iowa.—Iowa university surgeons have received a strange request to examine the brain of a negro child which died suddenly and peculiarly in a South Dakota town. The X-ray skiagraph of the brain shows four needles, driven to almost their full length in the brain. The presence of the needles, however, does not explain the little one's death, as the needles evidently had been in the brain several years before it died, and the symptoms had nothing in common with those that death from needle thrusts would cause. Yet to explain away four needles, resting several years in a living brain, is a difficult task.

SHE MADE THE MEN STARE

Not Because She Wore Bizarre Attire, but Because She Was So Modestly Appeared.

Lexington, Ky.—A girl walked down our streets the other day and every man in sight turned to look at her. No, she did not resemble a living model of "September Morn." She was very decently dressed. Her skirt was ample enough at the bottom for her to walk without balancing herself like a parrot on a perch; her waist was modestly made and did not expose any more neck and shoulders than was becoming, and you couldn't tell the complexion of her ankles because her hose was of sufficient thickness to hide them.—In fact, she was so rare a specimen of modestly attired femininity that the men just couldn't help staring.

When It Is Darkest

By his own observations on thousands of nights W. F. Denning, the English scientist, has proved that we are essentially correct when we say that it is always darkest just before dawn. He has found that before dawn a certain number of insects, which were plainly observable during the previous hours of the night, are blotted out, and a nervous feeling is sometimes induced by the dense opacity of the air.

Draw Your Own Conclusions.

"Why," asked the weary-looking woman, "do you constantly refer to yourself as the goat of this household?" "Because," replied the irritable man, in a loud tone of voice, "a goat is supposed to be able to eat anything and act as if he enjoyed it."—Washington Star

LIFE OF SPY IS BRIEF AND FULL OF EXCITEMENT

Notebook of Official in France Discloses Stories of Many Daring Feats.

SHORT SHRIFT WHEN CAUGHT

Take Most Desperate Chances and Usually Die With Back to Wall—If Taken in Zone of Battle They Are Tried on the Spot.

London—These notes were written by a man engaged by the allies in an official capacity, whose duties continually called him from Paris to the firing lines of the Belgian, English and French, and who thus has unusual opportunities of talking with the soldiers and frequently seeing the battle: The general and his staff have established their headquarters in a village a few hundred yards from the Belgian frontier. From the north comes the roar of heavy German artillery brought up during the night, from the west the duller sound of the big guns of British warships maneuvering four miles from the coast and doing good work. I have slept two hours in a deserted farmhouse in company with three wounded British soldiers and a whining dog, evidently left behind by his master in his flight.

A shuffling of feet in the roadway and shouted orders awaken me. A squad of French soldiers led by a lieutenant is gathered at the door, around two civilians, hands tied behind their backs. Spies! Caught on top of a haystack within a hundred feet of the general's headquarters. They had been in the neighborhood for a week, it seems, getting food for one knows where. They refused to speak. They had field glasses and note books with the numbers of French and British regiments. The names of generals and numbers of batteries were found buried in the hay. On both men sewn in the lining of their caps, were passes through the enemy's lines signed by one of General von Kluck's aide-de-camps.

Their case is settled in advance. Interrogated, they neither make denials nor confessions. Simply refuse to speak. Caught at eight o'clock, they are tried at 8:30, a broken table serving as judge's bench for a colonel and three captains called hurriedly from staff headquarters.

Six Shots End Their Lives.

A few questions to which no answers are forthcoming a glance at the notebooks and passes found on the prisoners and it is over. Back of the farmhouse are a poultry yard and decrepit stable. Against the stable wall, eyes bandaged, hands tied, kneeling, the two Germans are placed, the six soldiers ten paces away. The lieutenant's sword is raised, six shots mingle into one. The law of war is carried out. It is nine o'clock.

Such incidents form a part of every day conversations in the camps and trenches on the firing line. If a spy is caught within the zone of battle he is tried on the spot, the trial consisting of an examination of the papers and documents found on the suspect, the hearing of witnesses and of the prisoner's defense. If no papers or documents are found and the witnesses are not sufficiently affirmative the suspect is released or sent to Paris for further examination, according to the views of the commanding officer.

If a suspected spy is caught outside the battle zone, say in Paris, a lawyer is designated to defend him, and in nine cases out of ten the spy is found guilty, and, unless he is French, in which case he is a traitor and dies, is only sentenced to hard labor or imprisoned in a fortress.

Serves for Country.

A French counter-spying system with headquarters in Paris has done good work in sending to a quieter and, we hope, better world, several hundred too-well informed Germans. Unlike that of Germany's, the French organization is recruited among volunteers, all civilians. None are paid in any way and no other incentive but to serve France is offered them. In this way the government has secured from all walks of life a good number of men, and even women, fond of excitement, who are after neither gain nor honor, but who would not stoop to such work in time of peace.

Up to date a dozen or so of these unarmed soldiers have disappeared, some prisoners, most have ended their lives, eyes bandaged, against a farmhouse wall, 12 German bullets in their bodies. When they started out it was with the understanding that the French government could not recognize them in case of trouble. Those that have died took a chance and lost. The "flyer" is worth while, for a week at counter-spying will often furnish more excitement than a month in the trenches.

The stories of spy chasing are now innumerable in French and British army circles. Here are a few of the most daring attempts made by the Germans since the beginning of the war: S— is a large town, 55 miles northeast of Paris. The houses are low, the church steeple alone being visible at any distance. The German artillery bombarded S— for three days, the church and its steeple alone, much to the surprise of the inhabitants, remaining untouched.

The third night of the bombardment a French sentry saw a light from one of the small windows high up in the steeple. The guard was called, and three men sent into the tower, which had seemed to bear a charmed life. There a man was found. For three days his lantern had served the Germans, who trained their guns a few points to the right and left of the light, certain their shells would strike the town. The spy was janitor of the courthouse; had been for four years, and confessed he was a German, having been sent to S— to report regularly to the military authorities in Berlin.

Spy Poses as Priest.

Two sentries guard a railway bridge near A—. It is ten o'clock at night. The village is a mile away. All day trains loaded with British and French troops have passed over the bridge. A priest approaches the sentries, going to the next village, he says, to give the communion to a dying farmer. Disregarding orders the sentries, good Catholics, allow the priest to pass. He disappears on the other side of the bridge. Suddenly one of the sentries sees a flicker of light along the ground 50 yards away. A rush to the spot and the good priest is discovered stooping at the base of one of the bridge arches. The stick of dynamite on the ground and blackened fuses in his hand leave no doubt as to his intentions. The sentries did not wait for a court-martial, but executed the "priest" on the spot. Papers found on him proved him to be a captain in a Hessian Hussars regiment.

In a trench near the Belgian border, a few days ago. A jovial old chap, a farmer, comes along with a basketful of peats. The shooting has stopped for an hour or so, both sides needing a rest after 12 hours of uninterrupted fighting. A number of farmers in the region having refused to abandon their homes, no one questions the farmer's presence among the troops, and his basket is soon emptied. As they are given away the farmer is thanked all around and is just leaving when he is grabbed by the throat suddenly by one of the troopers, who half chokes his victim before shouting, "He's a German. He was my boss in Paris." And so it was. For 12 years Joseph Habig had been chief accountant in a big Parisian wall paper factory. He was German, every one knew it, but he was a good accountant. Under him worked half a dozen young Frenchmen. Two days before the declaration of war his consul had warned him to leave Paris—and he had. His knowledge of French had been used by his officers when he joined the German army, and he returned. This time he stayed.

The best is the best. In Paris last month, at the war department offices, officers hurry in and out, orderlies pass like the wind, generals and their staffs discuss the campaign in the hallways, a young artillery officer, lieutenant of the general staff, according to the insignia on his collar, walks up and down idly smoking. A captain passes by, asks for a light for his cigar, and remarks, "Nice weather, lieutenant." No answer. The captain, surprised, repeats his remark. The lieutenant turns away. Angered the superior officer goes after him. The other runs toward a door.

It's all over in a jiffy. Friend Lieutenant brought into a private office, answers questions with an over-the-Rhine accent, which is a trade mark. He is a lieutenant all right, but in the Eleventh Bavarian regiment. He has made the French war office his headquarters for over a week. Some of the Paris papers got hold of the story, which was, of course, cut out by the censor.

BURY 40,000 IN ONE GRAVE

Austrian Victims of Few Hours' Battle Are Interred in Trench Four Miles Long.

Amsterdam. The Nieuwe Rotterdamse Courant quotes a letter from a Dutchman at the front, that 40,000 Austrian bodies were buried in one day in a trench six and one-half feet wide and a little more than four miles long. The bodies, the letter says, were laid out in a trench in three layers. It is stated that a battle lasting only a few hours.

Why Should Husband Object?

"I'm going to drop my name in a name and use my own," said the lady who had become interested in politics. "Don't you think that will be likely to hurt his feelings?" "Oh, no. I've agreed to let our telephone be kept in his name, and we will continue to use his initials where we have things checked at the department stores."—Chicago Herald.
