This Photograph Was Telephoned

This remarkable example of transmission of a photograph by telephone is one of 15 pictures sent from Cleveland, O., to New York—the first time pictures by wire have been sent with success. Within 45 minutes of the time a photo had been taken in Cleveland it was being exhibited, completely developed, to a group of interested spectators in the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. building, New York city. A new process of transmission by electricity has been perfected, making this possible. The picture here appearing was not retouched, as is customary in the arrangement of most news pictures. An action picture is used to give an idea of how well detail is preserved by this process.

SANFORD PLANS TO ENTERTAIN STATE SCRIBES

Secretaries of Chambers of Commerce to Meet Here Monday for a Two Day Session

Sanford and the Chamber of Commerce will be hosts to another gathering on Monday and Tuesday of next week when between 100 and 150 members of the Florida State Commercial Secretaries' Association will gather here for their fifth annual convention.

Arrangements for the entertainment of the visitors, have been completed as well as the program for the two days. Meeting will be held both in the mornings and afternoons. Entertainment features will include a boat ride to Palatka, drives through the city and a banquet are being planned for the visitors' entertainment.

The theme of the convention has been previously announced will be "Getting Folks to Florida." Many excellent addresses by prominent men from all over the country will also feature the business session. The convention will be presided over by Willis Powell, head of the state body, who is also secretary of the Sarasota Chamber of Commerce.

Headquarters will be maintained at the Valdez Hotel. It is expected that a large number of the delegates will arrive in the city Sunday. Not only will secretaries of the several organizations of the state be present but also the presidents of the Chambers of Commerce will attend. President Edward Higgins of the local organization issued the invitation to the latter officials to join in the convention.

The first day's sessions will be held at the court house and the second day's meeting will be at the Masonic Hall. Registration of the visitors will take place at 9 o'clock Monday morning. The convention will officially open at 10 o'clock. Invocation will be given by Rev. W. J. Carpenter, pastor of the First Methodist Church.

An address of welcome will be made by Mayor Forrest Lake when he will extend to the visitors the hearty greetings of the city. Responses to the mayor's talk will be made by H. E. Robinson, West Palm Beach.

Following is the program for the meetings on Monday:
10:00 A. M.—Convention called to order by President Willis B. Powell, Lake County.
Invocation—Rev. W. J. Carpenter, Sanford.

FIRE KILLS WOMAN AND SIX CHILDREN

CANTON, Mass., May 24.—A woman and six children were killed in a fire which destroyed a two-family house here today. The victims were, Mrs. Angeline D'Amatece and two of her children and four children of Joseph LeClair. The cause of the fire is undetermined. Mrs. D'Amatece and one of her children were found suffocated near a window. The other children were burned to death.

FIRM STAND IS MAINTAINED ON TAX MEASURE

Congress Stands Pat on Impending Tax Bill—Senate Takes Up Conference Report at Session Today

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Congress continued firm Friday in its support of the pending tax measure on the eve of final action on the bill.

The senate will take up the conference report Saturday with prospects of favorable action before adjournment in which event the house is prepared to take it up Monday. Republican leaders in congress freely predicted Friday that the measure would be signed by the president.

At the same time, President Coolidge let it be known that the general question of whether the bill is an improvement on existing law will form the basis of his action. Specific considerations in determining his action are whether the new measure will provide sufficient revenue, whether it will provide an efficient system of administration and whether what he views as its undesirable features are outweighed by its good points.

Chairman Smoot of the senate finance committee declared after a conversation today with Secretary Mellon that there was no possibility of a change in the conference report which would modify the publicity provisions or the estate tax rates increase.

James Satterfield Meets Death on Gallows in Stoical Manner Friday

ATLANTA, Ga., May 24.—As stoically as he had borne the more than a year of imprisonment, James B. Satterfield went to his death on the gallows Friday afternoon, convinced until the very noon was adjusted about his neck that Providence would intervene to save him from the extreme penalty for the murder of his brother-in-law, R. H. Hart.

His only show of emotion was when he broke down and wept a few minutes before he plunged to certain through the steel trap as he spoke of his daughter, Elizabeth who committed suicide not long ago in dependency over her father's impending doom.

POSTAL MONEY ORDERS STOLEN AT LAKE MARY

Money Order Blanks Numbering About 35 Disappear Mysteriously from Postoffice Lake Mary

The postoffice at Lake Mary has recently been robbed of money order blanks numbering about 35, it became known Friday. Guilty parties have not yet been apprehended but several are suspected, it is understood.

Efforts to get a statement from Postmaster J. P. Hall, of this city, regarding the robbery were of no avail. The official stated that he had nothing to say for publication in connection with the theft of the money order blanks.

A. E. Sjoblom, who is postmaster of Lake Mary, when reached by telephone Saturday morning, declared the office had been robbed of the blank orders but just when he could not state. However, he said that it was his belief that they had been taken about the tenth of the month. The theft was not discovered until Thursday night of this week, when the postmaster was checking up his accounts and found that many blanks were gone.

The postoffice, kept in connection with the general store which Mr. Sjoblom conducts, is separated from the main part of the business by a partition, it is said, but it is quite possible for some one to gain entrance to it, without his knowledge, said Mr. Sjoblom.

Whether the thief or thieves procured the money order blanks at night or during the day, Mr. Sjoblom was unable to say. He stated that it is easy enough for a person to obtain the book during the daytime but that it might have been secured at night. The postmaster declared that several times he has left his safe unlocked and the robbery might have occurred on one of those nights.

It is said that several of the money orders have been filled out and cashed but for what amounts and on whom, it could not be learned. The orders, however, were signed by A. E. Sjoblom as postmaster. One of them is said to have been cashed at Winter Park and marked as coming from the Barlow office.

Postoffice department officials are said to be investigating the matter and it is possible that the guilty parties may be apprehended within a few days, it is learned.

SENATE GIVES WHEELER VOTE OF CONFIDENCE

Colleagues of Montana Senator Overwhelmingly Adopt Measure of Expressing Faith in Integrity of Senator Wheeler by Vote of 56 To 5—Prominent Republicans Vote in His Behalf.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Senator Burton K. Wheeler, of Montana, indicted by federal grand jury in his home state, was given an overwhelming vote of confidence Friday by his colleagues in the senate.

Sweeping aside two proposals to defer expression as to guilt or innocence until after the court trial, the senate adopted, 56 to 4, the majority report of the investigating committee of the charge of accepting a fee to practice before the interior department after his election to the senate.

Joined Democrats. Eighteen Republicans and the two former-labor senators joined with thirty-six Democrats in favor of the resolution approving the majority report submitted by Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, the chairman of the investigating committee. The five opposing the resolution were Republicans. They were Curtis, Phipps, Spencer, Sterling and Willis.

Senator Wheeler did not vote. The proposals under which the senate would not have expressed itself as to the guilt or innocence were put forward by Senators Sterling, of South Dakota, a member of the investigating committee, and Spencer, of Missouri. That by Senator Sterling, which specified that no question should be raised as to Senator Wheeler's qualifications to sit in the senate was rejected 58 to 5.

Twenty-two Republicans, thirty-four Democrats and the two former-labor members voted against the Sterling resolution, while the five Republicans supporting it were Curtis, Sterling, Spaworth, Warren and Willis.

Senator Spencer's resolution would have limited the senate to a statement of facts had been developed in inquiry which would have limited the senate's statement to facts had been developed in the inquiry which would disqualify Senator Wheeler from retaining his seat. It was rejected 56 to 8, all of those supporting it being Republicans.

Voting against the resolution were eighteen Republicans, thirty-six Democrats and two former-labor senators. Those supporting it were Moses, Phipps, Reed of Pennsylvania, Spencer, Stanfield, Wadsworth, Warren and Willis. Senators Curtis and Sterling joined in opposing it.

Follows Long Debate. The balloting came after nearly three hours of debate in which Senator Sterling, author of a minority report holding that with the facts before it the grand jury was justified in voting an indictment, because of the storm center of attack from both sides of the chamber.

Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, declared that every honest citizen acquainted with the facts knew that Senator Wheeler had been "framed" because of his activities in pressing the investigation of the department of justice and asserted that senators would be "assisted and encouraged" behind Senator Sterling's resolution.

Declaring that upon the testimony adduced before the committee "no reasonable man on earth can say Senator Wheeler is guilty of that which the indictment was justified," Senator Johnson, Republican, California, declared that it would be "cowardly" for the senate not to go on record in vindication of the Montana senator.

"There are circumstances surrounding this case," Senator Johnson said, "which arouse indignation in the breasts of the people of the United States."

Senator Sterling told the senate he did not think he ever would have to defend his courage in the senate; that he had ever voted the course of his convictions and that he did not believe that the senate by its vote should prejudice the trial of Senator Wheeler in Montana.

Washington News

The agricultural appropriation bill, carrying $60,000,000, was passed by the senate. President Coolidge attended the opening of the new Congressional Country Club, his cold having improved. By a vote of 56 to 50 the senate adopted a committee report endorsing Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana. The senate Mayfield committee continued inquiry into charges of Ku Klux Klan activity in the 1922 campaign in Texas. Agreement was reached by the senate foreign relations committee to vote tomorrow on propositions dealing with the world court. The troubles of Gaston B. Means were so bitterly debated before the Daugherty committee that spectators had to be ejected by the police. Chairman Hale of the senate naval committee declared the American navy to be nearer the 100-ship ratio than at any time since the arms conference.

Strange Tales Told On Printing Bureau

ATLANTIC CITY, May 24.—A story of startling conditions in the government printing office at Washington was related here before the second annual convention of the Third District Bookbinders Federation by George H. Carter, public printer. Until he broke it up, Carter said, a ring of race track touts and handbook makers operated throughout the government printing office. Track results, he said, were wired into the office over private wires operated by the government employees, that more than $2,000 daily was placed in bets by workers, both men and women alike.

INVESTIGATION IS MUCH ENLIVENED BY ALTERATIONS

Police Are Called In As Attorney Witnesses Almost Clash In Investigation of Daugherty Affairs

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Between ranking exchange of tant and libel, which involves senators and witnesses, the Daugherty investigating committee inquired Friday into the status of the federal prosecution against Gaston B. Means, its star informant, and heatedly debated charges of spy work on its own proceedings.

Once or twice the capitol police quieted the audience, over-excited by the continuous outbreak before it, and at the end the guards intervened to stop an altercation between principals, for even the adjournment until Monday did not abate entirely the fighting spirit.

Attorney C. Todd, assisting attorney general in charge of the prosecutions against Means in New York, despite turmoil and attack, told his sensational interrogators that Means was a crook, and that he could "nail him" because of the "fairy tale about the loss of his papers" referring to the disappearance of the defendant's records desired by the committee.

As he warmed up to his work, he told the committee it was engaged in "protecting Means," and drew a double flare-back, being charged "giving immunity to bootleggers," in order to obtain the indictment of Means and other spies owned by Means, with some documentary evidence.

He charged with seeking a special judge—John M. Killis, of Toledo, Ohio—to try Means.

Todd taunted Senator Wheeler, the committee prosecutor, with his own indictment in Montana, which was told by Chairman Brookhart that he had proven himself "unfit" to conduct the Means case.

As the attorney said that two departments of justice operatives under his orders were on watch the night Means claimed his famous diaries and records were spirited away, and saw no one enter his home, the discussion of spy work aroused Paul Howland, attorney for Harry M. Daugherty.

Committee members were charging him with being involved in unprofessional conduct in the matter of working with the spy and an alleged "frame up" against Senator Wheeler, Howland declared.

Senator Wheeler debated this hotly with him, and Chairman Brookhart chimed in saying that Howland had known in advance of the indictment against Senator Wheeler.

The arguments continued between Howland and Brookhart after the hearing had adjourned, Means joining in to state his objections in personal fashion to Howland in an anteroom, but the capitol police intervened and quieted the row.

Trip To California Celery Fields Will Be Made In Fall

An 18-day trip to the celery fields in Sacramento Valley of California is now contemplated according to plans now in the making which were laid before the Chamber of Commerce at its weekly meeting at the Valdez Hotel Friday night.

P. S. Smith, traveling freight and passenger agent for the Union Pacific System and A. Rico King, Florida passenger agent for the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis Railroad, were both visitors in Sanford Friday in the interest of the tour, which they declared in meeting with hearty approval.

The trip, which is primarily designed for the growers of this state who wish to see how the celery is raised in California, is planned to be made during the month of September. However, the date has not been finally settled and it may be later or earlier than now contemplated. The tour will be well worth the time and money expended, according to Mr. King and Mr. Smith, who stated that sightseeing expeditions at points enroute are being arranged, which will be very interesting and entertaining to members of the party. Among the stops now contemplated are: San Francisco, Los Angeles, Salt Lake City, Denver and Colorado Springs. The trip may be made for approximately $250 for each person, which includes railroad fare, pullman accommodations and meals on board the train. The agriculture committee of the Chamber of Commerce is taking the matter under consideration and it is probable that several growers and business men of this city may make the trip, it is said.

TUTORS FREED ON CHARGE OF KILLING YOUTH

Three Instructors In Preparatory School Cleared of Charges By The Authorities

5,000 People Are Seeking Slayers

Father of Dead Youth Declares Will Spend Million In Search

CHICAGO, May 24.—Richard P. Williams, Mott Mitchell and Charles Dense, instructors in the Harvard school, were released and exonerated in connection with the murder and kidnaping of Robert Franks, 13 year old son of millionaire, Jacob Franka. Meanwhile 5000 detectives, police and friends continue the search.

The father said "I'll spend a million dollars to solve this crime. Money means nothing to me now." The mother collapsed when consulted about the funeral arrangements.

Only a few meager clues, including a gray automobile and a pair of spectacles of peculiar make and theories of kidnaping and ransom, are all the police have to guide them in their search for the brutal slayers of the dead youth.

Even the cause of death was not determined definitely Friday night and after twenty-four hours of investigation the police admitted the crime one of the strangest and most baffling in the city's history.

The place where the youth died had not been ascertained, but the police believe it was far from the isolated swamp where his body was found stuffed into a culvert. Coroner's assistants believed poison was the actual cause of death and anxiously awaited the results of a chemical analysis Friday night to determine definitely. They said the blows on the head which the boy suffered had not fractured the skull.

Kidnaping for ransoms or some unexplained motive, alternated in the minds of the police, who were disinclined to believe that the boy had been abducted for ransom alone after doctors expressed the belief that he had been killed within four hours after his disappearance Wednesday afternoon while on his way from a private school to his home three blocks distant. One instructor of the fashionable school attended by the boy was under surveillance tonight and two others, including the principal, were questioned during the day.

Grey Car Not Found. A grey car, which tottered near the school Wednesday and was which the boy is believed to have been carried away, has not been found and automobile tracks near the culvert where the body was found are undeveloped clues. The pair of spectacles found near the body and at first believed to be the property of the boy, presented a peculiar angle. They were rimmed, narrow of width, made for a person of narrow head but large nose and for one near-sighted, the police deduced. Finding of the owner of the spectacles will go far toward solving the mystery, authorities believe.

The construction of a special delivery letter, received at the Franks home yesterday morning, a few hours after a telephone call had informed the family the boy was kidnaped, and about the same time the body was found, offered one of the more tangible clues. The writer has not been traced but the letter was one such as a well educated person would compose and was written on a small typewriter of the folding type, according to a typewriter expert. The missive, demanding payment of $10,000 ransom, was followed a few hours later by a telephone call to the effect that a taxicab was being sent to carry Mr. Franks to the kidnapers. The father, Jacob Franks, wealthy watch manufacturer, was waiting with the money but refused to accompany the taxi driver when the latter said he did not know where to go with his fare.

Degenerate Class Discarded. An early theory that the boy had been the victim of a degenerate who used the ransom rule to cover his tracks was discarded by the coroner's aids who insisted that some form of poison had caused the boy's death.

Robert Franks, a freshman at the private school where sons of the rich are students, left the institution shortly after 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon, leaving behind him a letter which was to be placed in a mailbox at some time later.

He started toward his home and passed a grey car standing at the curb a half block away. Irving Hartman, 17 years old, said the Hartman boy believed that the car was planned to take him to some place later.

MAY POSTPONE ANY ACTION ON WORLD COURT

and the jurisdiction and procedure of the court are unaffected.
"The resolution gives effect to the determination of both presidents to avoid all legal relationship to the league of nations. The court, under the resolution, would become in fact a world court, and all American interests would be safeguarded.
"The resolution is an attempt to give effect to the presidents' policy and to reconcile as far as possible all divergent views as to how this can best be done."
Wholly Free of League.
In its preamble the Pepper resolution declares an intention to insure the United States remaining wholly free from any legal relationship to the league of nations. This purpose it proceeds to accomplish by means of a long and technical arrangement, with two annexes, and with six amendments are set forth in definite language for adoption by the other nations holding membership in the court, as a condition of American adherence.
Among other things, in addition to the amendments demanded, the resolution sets forth that American adherence is "subject to the declaration that the United States disclaims all responsibility for the exercise by the court of the jurisdiction to render advisory opinions, and subject to the further declaration that the United States intends to adhere to the Monroe doctrine as a national policy and assumes no obligations inconsistent therewith."

Municipal Court.
Only two cases appeared before Judge J. G. Sharon at the Friday morning session of municipal court. They were: C. Gaines, possession of liquor, $2 and costs; George Patterson, drunkenness, disorderly conduct and carrying concealed weapon, case continued to Monday.

A Correction.
Through a misunderstanding, it was stated in a news story appearing in Thursday's issue of The Herald that the Chamber of Commerce was to have charge of the mooring boats at the municipal athletic field last night. President Edward Higgins of this organization stated today that local body was in no way connected with the contents and that they were put on by other parties.

Through an oversight the name of Luella Echols was omitted from the program published in The Herald of the piano recital given Monday night by the pupils of Mrs. Fannie Munson. Miss Echols, a member of the graduating class this year, rendered the selection "Joyous Farmer," by Schumann-Harth.

COOLIDGE SPEAKS ON PURPOSE OF OUTDOOR LIVING

Coolidge said today in his address opening the conference.
"In the case of people which represents many nations, cultures and races, the purpose of the president said, "a unification of interests and ideals in recreations is bound to wield a telling influence for solidarity of the entire population. No more truly democratic force can be set off against the tendency to class and caste than the democracy of individual parts and prowess in sports."
The president told the several hundred delegates who had gathered in the conference in response to his call that the purpose of the meeting was to "encourage Americans to make more of their opportunities and appropriate more of the advantages of America."

Political Situation In France Remains Dark

PARIS, May 23.—The ministerial situation in France grows no clearer as the first of June approaches bringing the resignation of the Poincare government nearer. Not only will socialists not accept the office, but it is by no means certain they will agree to vote the Bourgeois budget. It will be upon this question of voting that the battle will rage at the socialist congress June 1.

FATHER AND SON MUST DIE
GREENVILLE, S. C., May 22.—Alexander and Holland Pittman, father and son, 49 and 22 years of age, respectively, late Wednesday were sentenced to die in the state electric chair Friday, June 27, for the death, January 31, of State Constable J. H. Howard on Hogback mountain. Sentence was pronounced by Judge J. T. Mauldin in sessions court. Notice of appeal was given.

REGRET RESIGNATION
TOKIO, May 22.—The resignation of the American Ambassador, Cyrus E. Woods, is the subject of editorials in all the newspapers Wednesday morning. They are couched in laudatory terms and expressed deep regret that the ambassador finds it necessary to relinquish his post. All likewise connected his resignation with the passage of the immigration law with its exclusion of Japanese.

would work to injure credit, and would divulge trade secrets to competitors.
Other provisions of the bill require that the tax returns be opened to inspection by certain congressional committees.
With the conference report placed in final form today, Chairman Smoot of the senate finance committee said, he would present it in the senate tomorrow.
It will be called up for approval on Saturday, when little opposition is anticipated. The house, in event of its adoption in the senate, will take the report up Monday, and quick approval also is expected there.
Estate Tax Rates.
The treasury again voiced displeasure today at the increase provided in the estate tax rates, which Secretary Mellon also has opposed before the senate finance committee personally. It was contended the increase would force a break-up of larger estates and result in lower collections than under the present rates.
Representative Green, however, said the treasury actuary had estimated the increase would bring in about $10,000,000 more revenue annually, which he said, is "scarcely any more than could be expected from the increase in the value of estates subject to this tax as the wealth of the country increases."

CONTRACT FOR SEAWALL LET

BRADENTOWN, May 23.—Contract has been awarded for construction of nearly a mile of seawall beginning on a line with Manatee Avenue and running in a southeasterly direction for approximately 5,000 feet. It will average 250 feet from the present shore line along the Bradentown-Cortez Beach road. In the same locality private capital is being the construction of five miles of paved streets, ten miles of curbing and ten miles of sidewalks.

"NO FENCE" QUESTION
NEW SMYRNA, May 23.—A special election has been called by the county commissioners for May 28 in the Oak Hill section of Volusia county when the people will vote on the question of whether sheep, goats and swine shall be permitted to roam at large within the confines of Oak Hill voting precinct. If a majority vote in favor of the proposal, owners of these animals will be required to keep them under fence instead of the present system of allowing them to run at large.
Principal vehicles used in country districts of India are bullock carts, the harness consisting of a yoke and driving lines of rope.

Many Motorists To Be At G. O. P. Convention

CLEVELAND, May 23.—The thousands of persons who plan to motor to Cleveland during the Republican national convention the week of June 10, are to be well taken care of according to Fred H. Caley, president of the Ohio State Automobile Association, and secretary of the Cleveland Automobile Club and the new American Automobile Association.
The problem of finding parking space has been rendered less acute by the action of the city government in taking over property near the city and county buildings which was occupied by cheap restaurants, shanties and ramshackle tenements, with the purpose of clearing it. Through the grounds immediately surrounding the convention hall will be closed to parking, plans are afoot for providing space on the neighboring lake front between the country court house and the city hall for nearly 4,000 cars.
It is expected that any cars that may be left out over night will be watched. A special police squad will be detailed to the convention zone, an anti-Automobile Club operates an anti-theft department.

WANTS AD MEETING

ST. PETERSBURG, May 23.—A determined effort will be made at the London meeting next month to bring the 1925 convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World to St. Petersburg. Five delegates will go from this city to the convention with the avowed purpose of bringing back an agreement to hold next year's sessions here. This announcement is made following appointment of Fred G. Aulbrook as delegate-at-large of the local representatives. Mr. Aulbrook will be aided by Frank F. Pulver, former mayor of this city, and three others who will go to the London meeting.

SEND GIRLS TO GET COURSE
ARCADIA, May 23.—The county commissioners of DeSoto have contributed $100 to be used in sending two home demonstration girls to Tallahassee for the short course of training there. To this sum will be added a similar amount by the Arcadia Woman's Club.

SCALP IS WORTH $2,000
HONOLULU, May 23.—A human scalp is worth $2,000, according to the territorial industrial accident board in making its first award in the territory for personal disfigurement without accompanying disability. The ward was made to a Japanese woman employed by a clothing concern. Her tresses caught on a revolving shaft and she was scalped. Her other injuries healed perfectly.
In all Poland there are only about 500 motorcycles, half of which were made in America.

OPTOMETRICISTS HOLD MEETING ON MAY 28 AND 29

TAMPA MAN KILLED

HOLLY SPRINGS, Miss., May 23.—Harry Witt Memphis and Nathan Goldberg, Tampa, were instantly killed today when the automobile they were riding in overturned at a sharp curve on the outskirts of Holly Springs.

SMUGGLING ALIENS
TAMPA, May 23.—Several men are already in custody and warrants are out for three others, charged with smuggling aliens into this country. Four are said to have been members of the crew of the cann launch Peccavi, which it is charged, brought the aliens into this country. Ten aliens were captured aboard the vessel a few weeks ago when it tied up at the foot of Laurel street, West Tampa.

SCHOOL TEACHER SHOT.
AMHERST, Mo., May 23.—Posses are searching the goods for the slayer of Miss Louise Gerrish, 19, village school teacher, whose body was found in a shallow grave in a pasture. Seven buckshot wounds were found in her breast.

Radio Fans Rank Jazz Third In Popularity

NEW YORK, May 23.—Jazz music, acclaimed and denounced from hundreds of platforms and pulpits, ranks only third in popularity among radio fans, according to officials of station WEAF of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company.
Careful tabulation of an average of 750 letters a day from radio fans, officials have declared, showed that classical music programs rank first in popularity, and that educational or informative lectures came second.
Station WJAF programs have been heard in South Africa, Alaska, Argentina and the Pacific coast. C. J. Loun of Capetown, South Africa, sent a detailed description of a night's program to prove that he had tuned in.
The total mail received by four New York City broadcasting stations, WJAF, WJZ, WJY and WHN from appreciative or displeased radio fans is estimated at 2,500 letters a day.

Sacrificed Monkey To Test Electric Chair

MANILLA, May 23.—"Ronquillo," a monkey which long has been a pet around the Luneta police station, has been sacrificed on the altar of science. The Philippine government more than a year ago adopted the electric chair as a means of executing condemned murderers, and in order to test the efficiency of the apparatus, which recently was received from the United States, Ronquillo was commandeered as the first victim. It required five seconds to kill the monkey.
Officials have announced that the chair is ready to be used for the execution of nine murderers who have been held in Bilibid prison awaiting the installation of the apparatus. The Philippine Islands is the first country in the Far East to adopt the electric chair for the execution of murderers.

Votes 64 Years; Then Is Found Ineligible
SEATTLE, May 23.—E. W. Binns, 80, of Seattle, veteran of the Civil War, who voted for Abraham Lincoln twice and who has cast his ballot for every Republican presidential candidate since 1860, has recently found out he is not a citizen and can not vote for a candidate this fall.
When Binns went to register the clerk of a Seattle registration office found out that he was born in England, that he was not naturalized, though he had voted since 1860, and that, while he thought his father was a naturalized citizen of the United States, he could not produce a copy of his father's naturalization papers.

Treasurer Of King Cannot pay His Taxes

LONDON, May 23.—Sir Frederick Fensby, Treasurer of the King and Keeper of the Privy Purse, has written in reply to a tax summons that his expenses and taxes are so great that he cannot meet the demand for several months.
The king's treasurer resides in Surrey and was summoned for water rate taxes amounting to $75 and poor rates amounting to $220. No one appeared at the court for Sir Frederick and the case was adjourned.
The assistant overseer told the court that he had written to Sir Frederick at St. James Palace five times and had had only one reply in which an extension of time until next June was asked, Sir Frederick frankly explaining his position.
As the king's treasurer, Sir Frederick holds one of the most onerous and confidential positions in the royal household. He has a very wide range of important responsibilities, one of his duties being the distribution of the large sums which the king gives to charities.

Cook Reveals Big German Appetite

NUREMBERG, Germany, May 23.—Song birds in a noble dining table, was a common sight of the fourteenth century. This was served by royalty and noble diners of state. A compiled in 1452 has been gathered by writers on domestic history in times when kings and princes gorged themselves on every delicacy, and appeared to be a largely fond of black birds.
At nearly all great feasts a popular dish was an entire fowl, supposedly of Spanish origin, contained two pounds of fat, half a pound of marrow, eight pounds of haddock, eggs, one pound of water, of oysters, onions, spices, and various other seasonings. Beef tongue and calves' head were prominently featured in the book, which is supposed to have been conceived by a Rosenthal convent in the city of Palatinat. Even today it appears, was a delicacy in those days and great barrels of it each year.

Wise Investors are Heading East at the Dawn of a New Day in Greater Orange

NOW, that the all-important ORLANDO-EAST COAST HIGHWAY is completed as far as BITHLO, THOUSANDS of home seekers and investors who anticipated the event—and purchased property in the community—may be expected to launch one of the biggest development booms ever initiated in the county. The lands in East Orange have been tried. They show remarkable fertility. Many of those who look upon this locality as containing some of the most suitable soil on the "ridge" for citrus culture and truck farming, are on the ground already, prepared for the approaching new days.

BUY BITHLO NOW

OPPORTUNITY BECKONS YOU—INVESTIGATE OUR CHOICE LANDS ADJOINING

BITHLO is the Midway Station—the only railroad station touched by the great Orlando-Ocean Boulevard between Orlando and the East Coast. Bithlo is suburban to no other city. It is distinct. Consequently, by all the laws and lessons of economy, it must grow and keep on growing.
BITHLO, by reason of its geographical position—situated in the heart of East Orange—must serve that vast area of fertile trucking, farming and citrus lands NOW thrown open to investors and developers who knew, and who have been waiting only the advent of the new highways now penetrating the locality to let them into the fortunes securely vested there. When the East Coast Highway is completed over the St. Johns River to the Atlantic, about July, Bithlo will mark the traffic lines from either end. Aside from the bright future assured for the town through agriculture developments, it holds a master key of comfort and attraction for the tourist—being likewise in the heart of almost virgin hunting and fishing grounds. It is only a few miles from the St. Johns River, the tributaries of which in that community abound with fish and game.
A new era of the development is on in Bithlo, and TODAY is the time to investigate the commanding possibilities evident on every hand. For a short time only, we will continue to sell lots in Bithlo at prices which prevailed before the Ocean Highway opened the town.

The Main Street in Bithlo is 117 ft. wide—Others as wide as 100 ft. Lots 50 foot frontage, with suitable depths. Prices $50 to $2000 a lot—Reasonable Terms. Lands Adjoining Bithlo—$50 to $125 Per Acre. COME IN AND SEE US TODAY

THE SATURDAY EVENING

FLORIDA LOAFING

Two years ago, when one happened into Miami, he found an extra large subdivision in the first throes of being sold to the public. It was partly sand and partly palmetto scrub, and it was six miles from Miami. Brass bands lured the credulous investor to the auto busses that plied between the city and this embryo suburb; and when the busses were getting ready to start and all the brass bands were rendering three or four popular tunes at one and the same time, the uproar was similar to that which occurs when a football team returns to the dear old college town after knocking the daylight out of the Big Blue team--or the Big Red team or the Big Green team or the Big Yellow team, as the case may be--for the first time in seven years.

Good conservative residents of Miami shook their heads soberly over the brass bands and the hullabaloo and did considerable viewing with alarm. Two years ago the average price of a lot in this waste of sand and palmetto scrub was $700. Today the average price of a lot in the same subdivision is $2500, and the cheapest lot that one can buy is $1600. The palmetto scrub and the jungle have vanished, and in their places are lawns and palm trees and macadamized roads; sidewalks and electric lights and excellent golf links; big, airy shops and fine schools and an outdoor swimming pool and hundreds of attractive Spanish-type stucco houses.

The Miami people who at first viewed the development with alarm as being located in an unaccessible and unattractive spot have begun to build houses in it and move their families out to live in them. The company that is developing the subdivision now runs nineteen auto busses to it from every part of Florida, and gives prospective buyers free transportation, food and lodging during two and three day trips. Nobody would be particularly surprised if this company began to run auto busses to its subdivision from the Grand Cañon and Los Angeles.

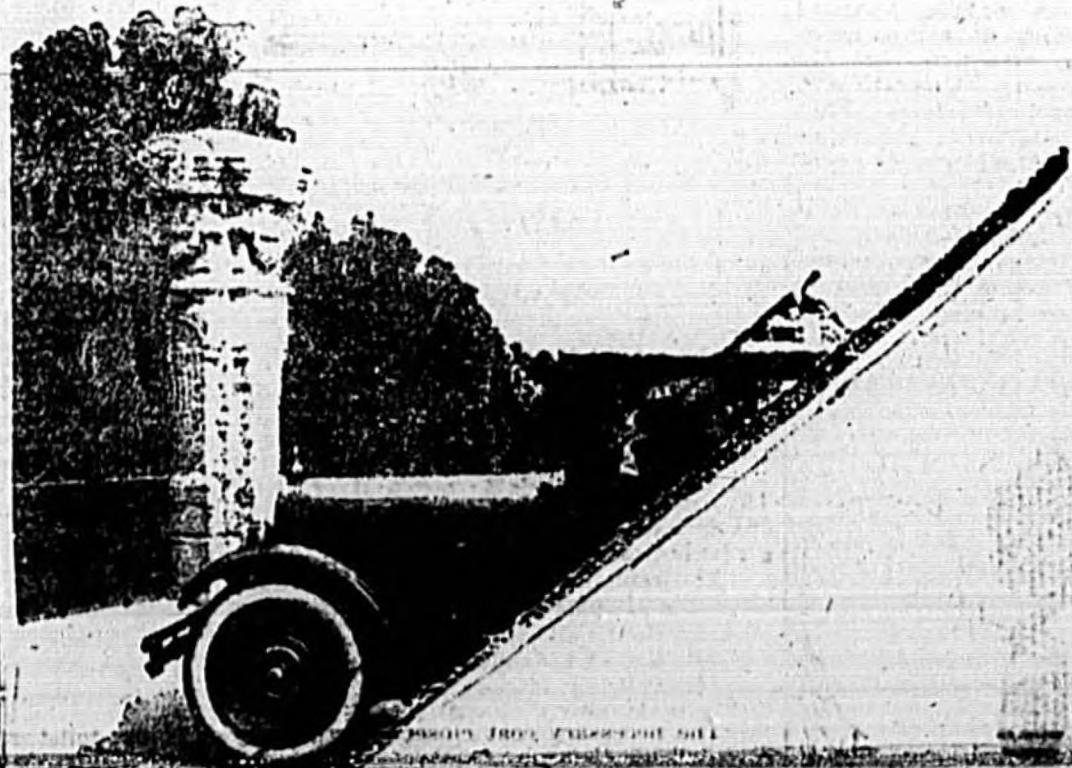

The great danger of relating these glittering stories of sudden riches that have been acquired in Florida real estate lies in the fact that persons with small capital in many parts of the North, who have no knowledge whatever of Florida conditions, may pick up the idea that they can in Florida, drop all their money on one thing that is offered, and succeed in nothing but success. Many have sunk their money in Florida farmlands, and have lost it all, because of insufficient knowledge of the land.

...le money; but his purchase has been pure speculation, as dangerous as any speculative purchase in the stock market. The tales of great increases in Florida values are set down here in order to show one of the chief reasons for the optimism in regard to real estate that exists on every side in Florida, and for the consequent inability of the retired business man to stay retired.

There is great difference of opinion in Florida as to the amount of income that a person should have in order to retire from the bleakness of Northern winters and live lazily amid the oranges and the grapefruit, the sand spurs and the coconut palms, the idle rich and the apologists for the climate, the real-estate enthusiasts and the perfecting of their bathing girls and the other details and all the other details.

...is possible to find in Northern cities that a person who owns a winter home in Florida, or who owns a house or apartment in any Florida resort, must necessarily have horny spots on the thumb and forefinger of his right hand from slipping the coupons from his huge pile of dividends.

Fortunately for the Florida real-estate promoters, this idea is as erroneous as the belief that all residents of Paris, France, are immoral. The idea is probably due to the fact that the representatives from Florida who are heavily advertised in the leisurely sections of the Sunday papers from January until March each year, and the members of the Park Club, whose selected cerebrates and brains are in Florida, are in Florida, and nobody else.

One more week before election. Politics will be at fever heat.

All these conventions being held in Sanford are making this city much talked of.

None can say Oscar W. Underwood does not talk out in meetings.—Tampa Times. He talks, but always on the wrong side.

A business man can run without advertising—like an automobile can run without gas—down hill.—Ocala Star.

Some of our local candidates have said that they feel they will be successful in their pursuit of office. This feeling doubtless originates in their wish bone.

School days are over. How will you, boy, spend the summer months? It is the wise youngster who gets himself a job and saves his earnings.

More street lights are needed on Magnolia Avenue near the South-side grammar school building. There is a long stretch of territory there kept in darkness.

An industrial accident board has figured it out that the human soul is worth two thousand dollars. According to that, getting hurt must have been a profitable experience.

It is estimated that fifty cigarettes are manufactured each month for every man, woman and child in this country. Many are thrown into the wood, many are thrown into the street.

The New York Herald Tribune says that the crime of Celia Cooley, the bobbed hair bandit, is upon our heads. Too much cannot be done for the betterment of social conditions.

Sanford is to have a "Pay Up Week," when all old accounts will be required up. Those interested in keeping business conditions good should cooperate to the fullest extent to make this a great week.

Lake Mary is the scene today of many eloquent political speeches by candidates vying for every office in the county. These political meetings at different points of the county make good "get-together" occasions and benefit the voters of the section as well as the would-be office holders.

Winchester, Va., was the first town in the United States to install municipally owned water works. That was in 1800. It would be interesting to know just how many towns today have municipal ownership of their water works and their other public utilities.

A boy apparently intending to commit suicide left a note with a friend, which was not to be opened until the next day. The friend, however, could not wait and, reading the intentions of his friend, was able to prevent his act.

The moral of this story is: when you are feeling blue and just as if the world were against you and you might as well leave, be sure to let a note with some friend.

When the editor of the Tampa Tribune offered to bet ten thousand dollars on his candidate for governor, he may have violated the ethics of the best journalism. He may have broken the law. He may have even done his duty, but he has done his duty.

The Spendthrift Speaks Again.

After several years of argument and suspense the bonus bill has been passed over the president's veto. The bonus itself is no longer a matter of any national consequence. It has automatically with its passage, become a dead subject, and post mortems seldom amount to anything. However, the motives which prompted the enactment of such a measure are at present of just as much importance as ever or as the effect of the bill will be, upon national credit and upon the pocketbooks of the taxpaying public.

The cry of the people for five years has been tax reduction. With the immediate and stupendous rise in prices at our entrance into the World War, came a proportionate rise in taxation. With the cessation of hostilities, prices in general resumed their normal level. But not so with taxes. Taxes remained well over our heads and the people have paid and paid until it seemed that the nation-wide shout for tax reduction would surely reach the ears of the Washington government.

Apparently we were mistaken. Coolidge heard, and stood by the masses. And Republican though he be, one cannot help but admire his stand. But congress, that is supposed to be a more perfect representation of the people, that is invested with the right to override a presidential veto for the purpose of enabling it to check an autocratic president, that Congress played politics. It saw the impending Democratic landslide and inevitable defeat of the Republican party. Like a drowning man it gasped for the American Legion for help. Its feeble voice has gone out for the Legion vote in the November elections.

Congress played politics, but it played a poor game. It doesn't even know the game. It shot for the vote of the American Legion, but it missed its mark. Those boys who went to France, and served in the trenches sacrificed more than mere gold could ever repay. Their's was a sacred contribution to the welfare of the nation and posterity for which it is an insult to offer mere gold. It is like the small town rich boy offering a dime to the blacksmith's son for pulling him out of the lake.

Those of us who were unfortunate enough to be held on this side do not deserve a bonus, pension, or anything else. It may have been a little tough then to leave a nice home, a good job, perhaps a wife or sweetheart, and endure for months the discomforts of camp life, but who among us would tax anything in the world for it? It was an experience that we will not get again in this life, an experience which taught us many things, which brought out in us many qualities we did not know we had, which developed us in many ways nothing else would have. Does the government owe us for that? The government amply paid us in the experience we received.

But the bonus bill has been enacted, the national debt has been enlarged by many millions of dollars, and an immense increase in taxation has been saddled on to the people. We certainly will not refuse to accept the bonus. We will take our little share the same as you will, but when that check comes in we will think of the dirty politics behind it. We will think of the ten millions Congress voted to give Germany a few months ago. And we will wonder if this be consistent. Yes, it is consistent for the Spendthrift Congress. We will vote to put men in office who know something of the value of money and who are more interested in the welfare of the people than in the acquisition of votes.

"God Doesn't Want My Business."

One of The Herald's good friends sends a newspaper clipping saved from the days before the prohibition amendment went into effect, and asks why such articles are not found today in the newspapers.

"Believe," he writes, "there is opportunity to do an immense amount of good on the old W. C. T. U. plan. With the saloon and the liquor traffic outlawed, the temperance organizations seemed to have lost their pep, though heaven knows, now is the time when all the fiery zeal that can be produced should be directed toward the training of young people to an abhorrence not only of intoxicating liquor, but of the abominable treason to their country in the patronage of the bootlegger's trade.

"This old clipping," he continued, "is one that I happen to know told the true story of one man's conversion to the prohibition cause. Perhaps you would be willing to re-print it, even if it does not apply to present affairs."

The Herald is glad to give space to the clipping out of courtesy to this friend's request, but it ventures to disagree with him as to its application to present affairs. Under the caption, "God Doesn't Want My Business, the clipping says:

In these days when the liquor men, grown desperate at the advance in public sentiment against their business, are eagerly counseling among themselves how to make more "decent" and "respectable" the traffic in drink, one recalls the incident told by the noted evangelist, Charles G. Finney. In one of his series of meetings he noticed a man who seemed to lack peace of mind and a quiet conscience, and yet regularly attended the services. Mr. Finney asked him if he would be willing to join him in prayer, and the inquirer expressed his willingness to do so. "Now," said the evangelist, "I will offer the prayer and if you can conscientiously do so, repeat my words, 'O Lord, I will give Thee my life,' prayed Mr. Finney, and the man repeated, 'O Lord, I will give Thee my life.' 'O Lord I will give Thee my talents,' prayed the evangelist, and the man uttered the words after him. 'O Lord I will give Thee my friends—I will give Thee my business,' continued the man of God, but when he spoke the word 'business' the man on his knees rose to his feet, crying, 'No, I can't pray that prayer. God doesn't want my business.' The man proved to be a liquor dealer, and well he knew that the business in which he was engaged had no part in the divine scheme of things. No matter how 'model' a saloon he kept, no matter how 'high toned' an establishment he conducted, he knew God had no use for it. Should a nation that calls itself Christian have any use for the legalized liquor traffic?

Even more difficult must it be for the trafficker in outlawed liquor to think of offering his business to the Lord. The fellow who sneaks around finding buyers for the poison he sells, the fellow who is making money out the violation of law, the fellow who helps protect this business or who helps it flourish—not one of these, any more than the saloon keeper the evangelist tells about, could point to this business as a contributor to the betterment of the world.

Our friend's clipping, then, is as applicable as ever. There still is business that "God does not want."

DO NOT WORRY, eat three square meals a day; say your prayers; be courteous to your creditors; keep your digestion good; change, go slow and easy. Maybe there are other things that your special case requires to make you happy, but my friend, these, I reckon, will give you a life.

W. G. ROSS, of Los Angeles, a real estate dealer, kills himself with poison, to "see if dead men return." He will learn that they don't return, or if they do, they don't know it. The best thing a man can do, especially in Los Angeles, is to live as long as he possibly can, see all he can, learn all he can.

HERE'S HOPE for the hopeless, the victim of the fever, Mr. Coolidge, who has a "rose cold" sits for 45 minutes in an air-tight room, breathing air mixed with chlorine gas. He leaves saying, "The trouble is gone."

Chlorine gas cures colds in men and epizootic in horses. Why should it not cure, or at least relieve, hay fever that tortures thousands for weeks every year?

ANOTHER MAN, aged 100, died Wednesday. Merely living to be 100 years old doesn't amount to much. It all depends on what you ARE when you reach 100, or 90, or whatever the age may be of which you boast.

Women will be interested in one particular centenarian living in England. Her name is Mrs. Haldane, of Cloan, and she is the mother of Lord Haldane, British statesman of power. This is what the solemn old Athenaeum says about her:

It is not the splendor of her years alone which makes the record of Mrs. Haldane, of Cloan, remarkable. She has entered on her hundredth year this week with a mental and even physical vitality that must be almost unexampled. I asked Lord Haldane recently how his mother was bearing her great age. "She is splendid," he said. "She reads German, French, Italian, Latin and Greek, without spectacles."

"SHE READS German, French, Italian, Latin and Greek." This means that she has used the brain that keeps her going. There is no room for women of that kind. Human beings and trees die at the top.

HARRY L. HOFFMAN is accused of a brutal murder. His wife sits in court, helping his lawyer to select jurors that are to decide his fate. Reporters describe her sitting in the shadow, picking out the men approved with a nod of the head after one quick glance and see more what is in there than would be seen by all the court room and other men in the court room put together.

One hundred thousand years ago, sitting at the entrance to her cave, a woman learned how to judge men quickly with one look. And she knows.

THE SENATE committee on agriculture rejected the Ford bid for Muscle Shoals Wednesday by 10 to six. That isn't first, but it shows how difficult it is to get anything through in Washington sometimes. It isn't quite so difficult if there is a "little black bag" with the right kind of lining in the offering.

MORE ATTACKS on Jews in Hungary and portions in Transylvania. In Budapest, while a professor was lecturing on anatomy some of the students demanded that four Jewish students "be killed on the spot to furnish material for dissection." Part of the complaint was that they rarely had opportunity to dissect Jewish corpses, due to the fact that the Jews bury their poor and do not let them go to potter's field or the dissecting table.

IN TRANSYLVANIA twelve Jews are said to have been killed recently, one victim, a woman, being "drenched with petroleum and burned to death before the eyes of her son, prior to his being hanged." There are no words to describe the brutality bred of war.

THE STOCK speculators felt a little better Wednesday. Few tears were left in the little eyes, because the soldiers got their bonus. But some realized that, after all, paying a few hundred million dollars to soldiers isn't quite as bad as setting fire to the constitution and the declaration of independence, and stocks picked up.

WALL STREET men will discover that Secretary Mellon, who had no trouble in cutting hundreds of millions of the national expenditures, will easily find a way to finance the soldiers' bonus.

TO CUT SLICES out of a man's capital, discouraging effort, is as foolish as a well regulated income tax is wise.

Those that advocate cutting a chunk out of capital, whenever the government needs money, should consider the methods of the nomadic Tartars. Those savages, as they drove their cattle from one pasture to another, would stop, cut a piece from a living animal, eat it, then drive the mutilated creature on its way.

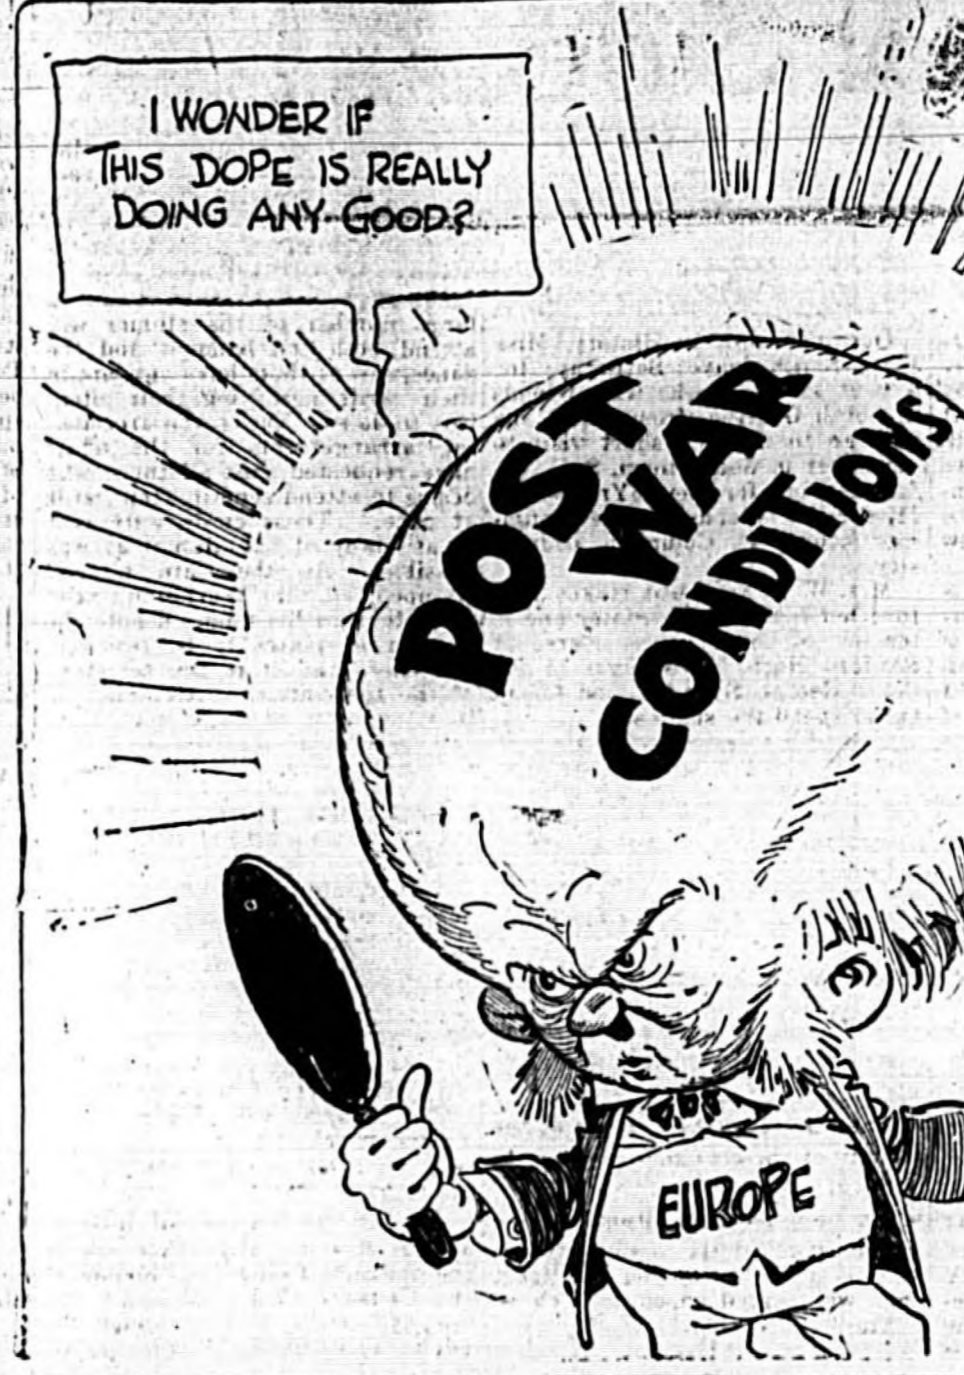

Their idea was that they could keep the cow alive, and eat a little piece out from its haunches or shoulder, whenever they wanted it. That wasn't good for cattle. Many died, and the rest thus mutilated were not healthy.

It would have been wiser to kill and eat the calves, imitating the income tax collector.

Better take part of what a cow produces or part of what capital produces than cut a piece out of the cow or a piece out of capital. Both get sick and cease to yield, if you mutilate them.

Discouraging capital is bad for the nation in which, under our industrial system, the capitalist does the most productive work. If you

AH, THAT IS THE QUESTION

JUST IN PASSING

BY R. J. HOLLY

Sidney J. was here on Tuesday and "shot his bolt" as per the regular schedule.

McAdoo says he is willing for Bryan to be elected. Now this is co-operation to the nth degree. The two Williams are both willing and where there are two Will's there should be a way.

And now at the eleventh hour the Presbyterians declare the doctrines of evolution to be false. All that the churches need to worry about is not where we came from, but "whither are we going."

Sanford has been the place of parades this week and it is now up to the Ku-Klux to finish up the week with one of their very own. It has been hectic and complex, and now we are dejected.

The Sanford Herald issued a very creditable edition on Thursday giving due notice to all the candidates and the officers of the Shrine. It was probably one of the best Shrine numbers ever issued in the state, especially so in a city the size of Sanford.

Conventions are the thing and Sanford being an ideal convention city should have more of them. Since there are certain lines of business that make all the money, from conventions these certain lines should help the Chamber of Commerce pay the expenses of these gatherings. Sanford will get plenty of advertising from every convention.

I want to take this occasion to compliment the Sanford police force and their very efficient head, Chief Williams. The way they handled the large crowds here this week and kept everything running smooth and without any friction calls for this bouquet which I hereby hand them. The Sanford police in their new and natty uniforms are the pride of the city and they are courteous and obliging at all times and especially to strangers. This is not written with the view of falsifying their wages but is a tribute to them and to the City Commissioners who employ them.

Sanford is showing class these days in many ways. The people who have been absent from this city for any length of time see many changes here that betoken a growing and substantial city. With changes in the business district and many apartment houses contemplated this summer Sanford will be ready to take care of many new people and winter tourists this winter. We can all help in this movement by building more houses.

It would be a good thing for Sanford people traveling north this summer to take along plenty of literature about Sanford and distribute it all along the way if you are going by auto. There is nothing like having printed literature about your city since everyone inquires about Florida wherever you go.

My old friend, Fred Eberhardt of the Willite Company, here, this week said that up in Boston where he was forced to make a speech on Florida and especially on Sanford there were twelve or more people at the meeting who knew all about Sanford. Fred says that Sanford is in the public eye just now and people everywhere want to know about the "City Substantial."

According to the Jacksonville Journal an Orlando painter was found dead from a bullet wound on the fair grounds. Of course while the wound covered much territory it was evidently fatal as the painter is dead—so say we all.

Today the candidates are spouting at Lake Mary all day. Monday night they perform at Altamonte, Thursday night at Oviedo and wind up the affairs of state here Saturday night on Magnolia Avenue. It has been a most pleasant campaign and as the progenitor of these meetings the writer feels that candidates and voters have been "up-lifted."

Florida leads all other states in oyster bed cultivation. This item was among others in the daily papers this week. It may be true, but if Florida does lead all other states in oysters we should be able to get them much cheaper than we do.

Every newspaper you pick up contains news of railways in collision with autos and all the attendant details of killed and wounded. Also accounts of folks being killed in autos by fast driving and collisions. All of which means that the foolish season is upon us and only vigilance on the part of drivers of cars will cut down the casualties. The railroads are striving to prevent accidents—why don't the auto drivers do likewise?

The Safety First committee of this division of the A. C. L. had a good meeting at the office of Superintendent T. L. Dumas last week and many fine talks were made on safety first not only on the railroads but in regard to dangerous crossings where a little care on the part of auto drivers would save many lives. The trains run on a track and cannot be expected to get out of the way of careless auto drivers. The engineers are beset by these careless ones and are anxious to avoid accidents, but some of them are given nervous prostration by hitting cars and killing folks who will not exercise common judgment and "stop, look and listen" before crossing railroad tracks.

LEARN TO SWIM MIAMI NEWS

A great deal has been written and a lot more said about the value of knowing how to swim. It seems as if everybody who is physically able to spend any time in the water ought to be familiar with this art, but the plain fact is a good many men and women who are intelligent enough for the most part not only do not understand the science of swimming but still worse are willing under this handicap to take some desperate chances with deep water. It is perfect nonsense for example for young people to go out in canoes without knowing how to handle themselves in the water. This is

WHAT THE TEACHERS WILL DO

Professor Cooper, teacher of agriculture and manager of athletics at S. H. S., has been struck by Cupid's dart and has already left for Mars Hill, N. C., where he will be married May 29, to Miss Gladys Boyse and they will return to Sanford where they will be at home to their friends at their attractive new home on Palmto Avenue.

Retiring from teaching is Miss Mary Zachary, instructor in Domestic Science. Miss Zachary is soon to become the bride of Dick Philpaw, a prominent young man of Gainesville. The many friends of Miss Zachary regret that they have to give her up. Mr. and Mrs. Philpaw will be at home to their friends in Gainesville after July 1.

Mrs. Maxwell, a resident of Sanford, teacher of Latin at S. H. S., will remain in Sanford until later in the summer, when she is planned to spend a month at the beach.

Our instructor in History, Miss Kitty Smith, leaves Saturday for a visit of two weeks with friends in South Georgia. From there she will go to make a short visit to her sister in Georgetown, S. C., before leaving for New York, where Miss Edith intends to take a summer course at Columbia University.

Mrs. W. R. Fort, who makes Sanford her home in the winter and is teacher of the business course at Sanford High, leaves June 15 for South George, Soperton, and Atlanta, to spend the summer.

Miss Ellen Mahoney teacher of English, leaves Sunday for her home in Leesburg. Later in June she intends to take a trip to the Canadian Rockies, stopping over in Washington state, Vancouver, and California, returning via Yellow Stone Park, and Salt Lake City, to her home in Leesburg.

High School Alumni To Have Banquet

The Alumni banquet of the Sanford High School Alumni Association will be held at the Woman's Club next Wednesday night, May 28, at 8:30 o'clock. After the banquet those attending will have the privilege of attending a dance given by the alumni association at the Sanford Country Club.

Although it is expected that a large number of the alumni will attend both the banquet and the dance, few of them have yet sent in their cards signifying their intention to do so. Those who are making arrangements for the affair have requested that all those who desire to attend send in their cards at once. These cards were sent to as many of the alumni as was possible. As they are already stamped, all that the alumni need do is to sign his name, denote the number of plates to be reserved, and then mail it to the secretary of the association. Alumni, send in your cards at once; next Monday will be the last day on which they will be received.

NO OUTSIDE WIRES

EASY TO TUNE

The Radiodyne Type WC 10 is a super-receiver of the compound circuit type, which requires nothing more than a twenty or thirty foot wire for balancing purposes.

This wire may be thrown on the ground or strung up behind the picture moulding of any room, or hung in the attic, therefore no outside antenna is necessary. However any outside type of antenna may be used if desired.

THE VOICE OF THE NATION

RADIODYNE

GREATER SELECTIVITY WITH INCREASED VOLUME AND BEAUTIFUL TONES.

Six tubes in all are used in the Radiodyne Type WC 10 and these may be of any of the standard types. (Dry cell or storage battery.) There are only two adjustments which are in the form of four-inch solid bakelite dials. These are the primary and secondary adjustments. A third knob is provided, however, only as a compensator for long or short balancing wires as the case may be. This adjustment is set at a given position and is never changed unless one wishes to change his balancing wire or antenna if one is used. The three rheostat knobs are also set in a permanent position depending on whether small or large tubes are used.

USE IT ANYWHERE AS EASILY AS YOU DO AT HOME. JUST TURN THE DIAL, PICK UP ANY STATION YOU LIKE, THEN REGULATE THE SOUND VOLUME. THAT'S ALL THERE IS TO IT.

NEEDS OF THE HOUR

What are the needs of the hour—the most imperative demands of home or business?

Do you seek a new house, apartment or flat?

Would you like to move to the country, the mountains or seashore for the summer?

Is the cook leaving, and would you choose a satisfactory successor who is willing and capable?

Are skilled office workers needed in business?

Are additional helpers necessary in store, factory, mill or office?

Are you out of work and in need of pleasant, profitable employment?

Are you desirous of supplementing your income by part time work in some congenial line of endeavor?

Would a profitable business venture interest you?

Have you lost or found some article of value?

Do you seek opportunity in buying, selling, renting, exchanging?

In the solution of all these needs of the hour and scores of others that are just as imperative.
