Interest Increases To Buy Old Memorial Hospital

By MICHAEL BEHA
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole county's efforts to sell the old Seminole Memorial Hospital will enter their final stages Tuesday when the appraisal of the hospital's value is submitted to county commissioners.

Bids for the purchase of the property will be opened July 21. The man charged with handling the sale said today several groups have been in the county to tour the facility. John Percy, director of public services and development, said six people showed up for a pre-bid conference on June 30 and were taken on a tour of the hospital.

"I was sort of disappointed with the turnout. I had hoped for a good turnout of about 50 people," he said. But several other groups have apparently toured the facility unofficially. "Some people have been going through the place on their own."

Percy said two local investors were among those who went on the June 30 tour.

Jeno Paulucci and a local real estate agent who did not reveal who he represented were among those in the tour, Percy said. Two men from Massachusetts also viewed the facility. The Massachusetts pair were the only ones who gave an indication of what they might do with the building.

"They said they were interested in it for a nursing home," Percy said. "But it appeared they were more interested in the smaller building behind the hospital."

Percy added that several other people have written or called about the property but have been unable to tour it.

He anticipates several people will enter bids besides those who toured the hospital.

Structurally, the building is in good condition, Percy said. It was constructed in three phases, the X-ray laboratory and the lobby were the latest additions. Other small additions were built as the hospital needed room, Percy said.

The air conditioning system in the three-story, 115,000-square-foot building is rather piecemeal, Percy said. "There are several different units. We're not sure how well the ones in the old part of the hospital work."

In addition to the people who toured the hospital as potential buyers, Don Hahn, of the Walter Sobel & Associates consulting firm looked at the building with an eye toward converting it into office space for the county.

Sobel, the Chicago firm that has made an analysis of the county's office needs, will prepare a report for the county detailing how the hospital might help meet those needs.

"We would hope to get from their report an idea of the break-even point," he said. Above that price the county would probably sell the property; below it, the county would convert the building into office space.

County commissioners have scheduled a July 26 work session to decide what action to take on the hospital.

Percy said, "Although the building's being considered for use as offices, its prime use would be as a nursing home or something else to use all that plumbing."

"It has all these little bathrooms in every room. That's not really much of a consideration for offices," he said.

Downtown Another Suit Hearing Today

Seminole-Brevard Circuit Judge Roger Dykes was to hear another hour's argument at 4 p.m. today on whether the city of Sanford should be allowed to move forward in its plans for downtown Sanford development.

Lawyer G. Algernon Speer requested the new hearing by asking Judge Dykes to reconsider his decision allowing Sanford to proceed with the development plans. Sanford is delaying the development until all legal action is concluded.

City Attorney Bill Colbert said today Dykes also will consider whether to require Speer and his clients — nine downtown property owners — to pay the city some of the costs of defending itself in court.

Colbert said earlier the costs would amount to several hundred dollars.

A five-day trial on the issue was held by Dykes from March 29 to April 2.

On April 19, Dykes issued an order saying the city is empowered by law to adopt a downtown development plan. He added the proposed plan will benefit the general public and implementation of the plan would not constitute either a public or private nuisance.

He refused to issue an injunction stopping the city from doing the work, adding the plan would not constitute taking a public property.

All those issues were contended by Speer in the lawsuit.

The plan calls for turning the one-half block section of Magnolia Avenue between First Street and south to the alley into a pedestrian mall.

It also calls for additional landscaping and lighting in the two-block section of First Street between Park Avenue and Palmetto Avenue and provides for additional parking at a proposed new parking lot on the corner of Second Street and Magnolia Ave.

Speer was representing himself and nine other property owners in the lawsuit.

Implementation of the downtown development plan has been held up for more than 18 months while the issue has been in the courts.

Speer filed his request for a new hearing in May. Dykes decision was given on April 19, but since it wasn't filed in the Seminole County Courthouse until April 29, Speer counted the 10 days he had for asking for a rehearing from the April 29 date.

If Dykes' decision after today's hearing is not favorable to Speer's cause, Speer has the right to appeal to the District Court of Appeal in Daytona Beach and then onto the Florida Supreme Court if he wishes.

Longwood Eyes Retirement Idea

By JOE DeSANTIS
Herald Staff Writer

What many of Florida's municipalities send up to Tallahassee in the form of retirement contributions annually seldom makes its way back in the form of retirement checks.

That fact, combined with the continued rising costs of Florida's Retirement System to small cities, has the Florida League of Cities interested in finding an alternative.

During a Thursday workshop session on its budget, the Longwood Commission kicked around the idea of finding an alternative to its present participation in the state retirement program.

Sanford City Manager Warren "Pete" Knowles is likewise interested in an alternative.

But for cities like Sanford and Longwood to withdraw from the state program, legislative action would be necessary. And even if enacted, the legislation would be a very expensive withdrawal for cities who have belonged to the state program since it began seven years ago.

Longwood City Administrator Dave Chacey said the city spends about $116,000 a year on retirement contributions, representative of slightly more than 10 percent of the city employee payroll. Yet Longwood has only one employee currently drawing a retirement check, and that employee's check is being paid by the city due to the fact the employee retired before Longwood entered the state program.

Knowles said Sanford and other municipalities often do not realize any benefits from the money they've invested in the retirement program.

"About 83 percent of city employees never reach 10-year investment tenure," Knowles said.

"That makes it rough on the taxpayer."

"Under the state program if an employee worked 9½ years and then left the city for a private employer, everything the city has invested for that person is gone. The cities lose their contributions and that money remains with the state," he said.

Knowles said the Florida League of Cities has prepared a proposal for a House and Senate Actuarial Study to determine what kind of impact withdrawal from the state program by a large number of cities would have. The study is expected to be ready for legislative introduction this fall.

"Right now, cities that got involved in the program initially are locked in come hell or high water," Knowles said.

"When the state program first began, the city's contribution was 4 percent of employees' salaries. Now it's up to 10.93 percent," informed Knowles. "And the benefits haven't changed."

Knowles said he felt it would be tough to convince the state Legislature to allow cities to withdraw from the program, but that alternatives could be worked out.

"The plan being presented by the Florida League of Cities is one of gradual

Two Men Held In Shooting Cases

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

Two Seminole County men are being held in the county jail without bond on murder charges stemming from two separate shootings last month.

Edward Lee Perry, 48, of an undisclosed address in Altamonte Springs, is being held for the murder of David Castor, 41, of 607 Sherwood Court, Altamonte Springs, according to a grand jury indictment handed down Thursday.

Perry, a mechanic, is charged with shooting Castor in the home of Perry's estranged wife, Rosa, at 603 Sherwood Court, on June 25, police said. If convicted, Perry could receive the death penalty or could face a minimum sentence of life imprisonment with a mandatory sentence of 25 years in prison before becoming eligible for parole.

Altamonte Springs police said they arrived at the shooting scene, found Castor dead and Perry with a 9mm automatic handgun. Police said, upon entering the home, Perry reportedly told them, "That SOB is dead. That — was sitting there drinking beer with my wife...I told him he couldn't do that, so I killed the —," police said.

Witnesses at the scene told police Castor had been visiting Ms. Perry with several other friends when Perry broke into the home and shot Castor, police said.

Meanwhile, Walter Kenneth Harper, 24, of 403 Ventura Drive, Sanford, is charged with attempted murder and aggravated battery in connection with a June 30 shooting, which left his girlfriend Janice G. Smith, 22, of the same address, in serious condition at Florida Hospital-Orlando, police said. Ms.

Smith is currently being treated for gunshot wounds in her chest, received from a .32-caliber handgun, police said.

Harper, who was released from Central Florida Regional Hospital July 2 following treatment of a shotgun wound in his chest which police say was self-inflicted, is charged with attempted first-degree murder and aggravated battery.

Harper a hair stylist, reportedly told police that he and Ms. Smith shot each other during a "lovers argument." However, police contend that Harper shot Ms. Smith while the two were arguing in front of the Sanford home, brought her into the house, called police, then shot himself with the shotgun. When police and rescue workers arrived at the home, Harper and Ms. Smith were lying on the kitchen floor, police said.

Mosquito Control

Countywide Spraying Uncertain

Chances are dim a countywide mosquito control program will be in effect in Seminole during this mosquito-biting season.

That's the fear of Sanford City Manager W. E. "Pete" Knowles, who has been unable to get an appointment with County Administrator Roger Neiswender to talk about it.

Knowles said today he has tried numerous times to reach Neiswender by telephone but has been unsuccessful.

All Knowles wanted to talk to Neiswender about was the possibility of a cooperative cities-county mosquito control program.

The key was to gain at least $15,000 from the state, as well as other state funds, and state expertise for an effective program.

One thing has been accomplished. City Commissioner Eddie Keith has asked Longwood Mayor June Lormann, chairman of the Council of Local Government (CLG) in Seminole County, to call a special meeting of that group to discuss the issue.

Mrs. Lormann said today she is asking representatives to the council to see whether they are willing to hold a meeting during this summer recess.

Knowles said the idea is to see first whether the cities and county are amenable to a cooperative effort. It was noted at a recent meeting between Sanford officials and a state entomologist that it is impossible to have an effective program in just one city.

The entomologist said a pond or other standing body of water in county territory could be a breeding place for mosquitoes that would infest the city.

The ideal would be to have a countywide program, he said.

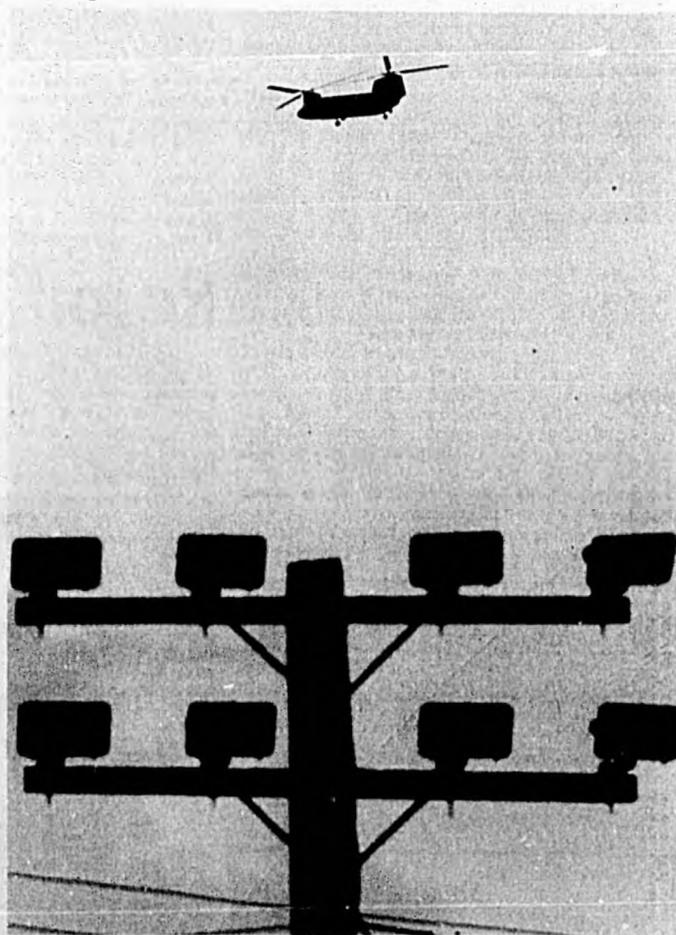

During county budget sessions, county Health and Human Services Director Dr. Jorge DeJu urged that $200,000 be allocated for a mosquito control program in the unincorporated areas of the county only.

The commissioners turned down the recommendation.

Knowles noted recently that Sanford's major interest is the $15,000 available from the state for a mosquito control program. He said while state officials said Sanford would be given the money for an independent program, that money would be taken away from the city and be given to the county if it decided to undertake such a program.

"The city didn't want to do a program one year and get the $15,000 and the county decide the next year to do a program and the city lose the money," Knowles said.

NATION

IN BRIEF

Economic Recovery Spurred By Rising Consumer Credit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Reagan administration hopes consumers will lead the nation out of the recession and is encouraged by the fact consumers have increased installment credit for three straight months.

The Federal Reserve said Thursday outstanding installment credit rose by $1.4 billion in May, following increases of $990 million in March and $1.18 billion in April. Credit growth had been virtually nil for several months.

Robert Dederick, acting undersecretary of commerce for economic affairs, said "as consumer confidence continues to improve, greater willingness to assume new debt should augment consumer spending and bolster the prospective economic recovery."

Reagan Blocks Rail Strike

SANTA BARBARA Calif. (UPI) — A nationwide railroad strike that was set to begin Sunday and promised to stagger the already slumping economy, is off — at least for now — while the White House tries to resolve stalled contract talks.

President Reagan, saying the railroad is vital to national defense and the coal and farm industries, used his executive powers Thursday to delay the walkout for at least 60 days.

A White House spokesman said Reagan would establish a special three-person board early next week. It would present to him within 30 days recommendations to settle the contract dispute between the union and the industry.

Ex-Page Flunks Lie Test

WASHINGTON (UPI) — One of the former Capitol Hill pages who alleged homosexual activity between congressmen and teenage pages flunked a lie detector test, his attorney is quoted as saying.

NBC News reported Thursday the lawyer for former page Leroy Williams told its reporter Williams failed a polygraph examination administered by the FBI earlier in the day.

Williams, 18, of North Little Rock, Ark., has alleged he had sex with three congressmen and arranged a meeting between a senator and a homosexual prostitute.

Taiwan Arms Sales Flap

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Some of President Reagan's most ardent supporters are warning of a political revolt so strong "it's going to leave his head swimming if he decides to end U.S. arms sales to Taiwan."

The leaders of several conservative groups told a Capitol news conference Thursday a proposed policy change would be an "inexcusable and total sellout of Taiwan."

Robs Sanford Convenience Store

The 'Curler Bandit' Strikes... Again

Police are searching today for a man, who reportedly wore small red curlers in his hair, when he robbed a Sanford convenience store at gunpoint Thursday night.

David E. Steele, 42, assistant manager of the Lil' Champ convenience store, at 2752 Country Club Road, told police that a man entered his store at about 9:25 p.m., pointed a gun at Steele and another employee and said, "Give me the big bag."

Police said the man then took a bag containing an undetermined amount of money and fled.

Steele told police he thinks the armed robber is the same man who robbed him at the store about three weeks ago.

Police said the store was held up at about 10:25 p.m. June 14 when a man, who also wore curlers in his hair, walked into the store with two guns in his hands just as Steele was placing money in a bank deposit bag.

The armed robber reportedly told Steele, "Give it (the bag) to me right now. I want that." Steele added that the gunman laughed while ordering him to hand over the money, police said. He then fled with over $500.

FISHING EQUIPMENT, TOOLS TAKEN

About $1,000 worth of fishing equipment and tools were stolen from a Sanford man's boat which was parked in his garage between 6 p.m. Tuesday and 7 a.m. Wednesday.

Edward S. McCall, 45, of 402 Elliott Ave. reported the theft to police.

AUTO THEFTS REPORTED

The following automobile thefts were reported to Sanford police Wednesday:

— Tom O'Day, 41, of 307 Tucker Drive, Sanford, reported his car stolen from the Aamco transmission shop at 2890 U.S. Highway 17-92, Sanford, during a recent burglary of the business. The stolen car is valued at about $3,500, police said.

— Salesman George Imbimbo, of the Jack Prosser Ford dealership, 3786 U.S. Highway 17-92, Sanford, reported the theft of a 1982 Ford Granada valued at $11,000 from the Winn Dixie supermarket parking lot at 3818 Orlando Drive at about 8:47 p.m. The keys had been left in the vehicle, police said.

— James D. Almany, 32, of 201 Fairmont Drive, Sanford, reported his 1978 Pontiac Grand Prix, valued at $4,500, stolen from The Barn restaurant and bar parking lot between 7 and 11:15 p.m.

VACATIONER'S HOME HIT

A Longwood man's home was burglarized while he was away between 4 p.m. Monday and 4 p.m. Tuesday.

Deputies said thieves broke into the home of Rodney C. Hogshead, 35, of 1331 Carlton St., by removing a glass window pane. Once inside, the burglars placed the glass pane on a bed, ransacked the home and stole a video recorder and camera, valued at more than $1,600, deputies said.

Chief McGowan's 1st Arrest In 10 Years Leads To Conviction For Woman, 19

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

A 19-year-old Orlando woman, convicted of burglary to a dwelling and facing up to 20 years in state prison, is being held in the Seminole County Jail today pending the outcome of her present investigation.

Nellie Marie Quigley Couey, of 1713 Pine Branch Road, was convicted Thursday by a six-member jury after over four hours of deliberation, of burglarizing the home of William Callarman, 110 Park Ave., Casselberry, on April 28. Ms. Couey and a 17-year-old boy, who faces similar charges in juvenile court, were arrested shortly after the reported burglary by Casselberry Police Chief Fred McGowan.

"I haven't made an arrest in about 10 years," McGowan said. "I was a little rusty but it feels good to see a conviction come out of it."

Police said the woman and boy reportedly stole over $2,500 worth of jewelry, coins and other items from the Callarman home and "because of a good description given out by police dispatchers of the getaway car, I spotted them near the crime area and arrested them," McGowan said.

Ms. Couey testified during her two-day trial that she thought the house she was accused of burglarizing belonged to a friend who asked her to help him move to a new home. She added that she had never been to the home before and that when she arrived, the unidentified friend handed things to her and the boy out the front door.

"The unidentified friend Ms. Couey refers to is no more than a smokescreen for the jury," McGowan said. "That was a lot of nonsense."

Prosecutor Steve Brady said today that Ms. Couey has "been arrested numerous times on burglary charges prior to this arrest but we never were able to bring her to trial because of lack of evidence against her."

Circuit Judge Robert B. McGregor set Ms. Couey's sentencing for Sept. 9.

withdrawal," Knowles said. "Present employees already enrolled in the state program would remain in it and as new employees joined a city, they would fall under the city's own retirement program."

"That way, if an employee stayed with a city for just a few years and then left, the money the city invested in that employee's retirement program would remain with the city and could be invested. That would make the retirement program a lot easier on taxpayers," he said.

Knowles added that if legislation is passed to change the present retirement structure, municipalities could investigate several alternatives to the state program.

"The Florida League of Cities is talking about a Pooled Pension Program where each entity's contribution would be separate, but pooled," he said.

"Under that type" of program, any contributions made for employees who don't remain with a city for a minimum period would remain with that particular city," he said.

Knowles said other retirement plan options for cities would include standard insurance annuity plans offered by most life insurance companies or IRA accounts (Individual Retirement Accounts).

Knowles and Chacey agreed it would be hard for cities to convince the state to give back any monies already invested in the state retirement program and felt the Legislature would be more receptive to some kind of gradual phase out plan as proposed by the Florida League of Cities.

Chacey said without the state providing at least a partial refund from retirement money already invested with the state, small municipalities would have a tough time coming up with "seed money" to get an alternative retirement program started.

Retail Sales Down In June

United Press International
Cool weather and the stagnant economy depressed sales at the nation's largest retail chains in June and deflated May's consumer spending spree, analysts said Thursday.

Retailers said lackluster sales of weather-sensitive merchandise, such as air conditioners and apparel, were partially responsible for the June slump.

"More importantly, the poor performance of most retailers in June reflected the still sluggish economic environment coupled with high interest rates," Jeffrey Feiner, senior retail analyst at Merrill Lynch Pierce Fenner & Smith Inc., said.

Among the Big Five retailers, Sears Roebuck and Co., K mart Corp. and Montgomery Ward & Co. reported declines in June sales. J.C. Penney Co. and F.W. Woolworth Co. logged only modest increases.

"June marked a change in direction from the good retail sales pace established in May," Feiner said.

Analysts attributed the May buying surge to cabin fever on the part of frustrated but still cautious consumers who had been snowbound by unseasonable April storms.

"We do not expect to see any viable improvement in the retailing picture until the back-to-school selling season begins in mid-August," Feiner said.

Sears, the No. 1 retailer, said its sales for the five weeks ended July 3 dropped 1 percent to $1.85 billion from $1.87 billion in June 1981. Chairman Edward Telling blamed the decline on cooler weather and "exceptionally strong" year-ago sales. Sears had a 7.2 percent gain in May.

K mart, ranked second, reported June sales fell 1.2 percent to $1.59 billion vs. $1.61 billion the year before. The company cited "continuing slow consumer demand." Its sales spurted 7.6 percent in May.

Penney, the third largest, showed a 0.2 percent gain to $1.033 billion vs. $1.031 billion in June 1981. Penney's May sales climbed 3.6 percent.

Hinckley Still Loves Jodie Foster

NEW YORK (UPI) — John Hinckley Jr., writing from a mental hospital, compared himself and actress Jodie Foster to Romeo and Juliet and said his shooting of President Reagan was "an unprecedented demonstration of love" for the actress.

"She will never escape me," Hinckley, 27, wrote.

"It was my fate that I shot the president and it is my fate that I pay the price for my deed."

Hinckley made the statements in a letter written to a New York Times reporter who covered Hinckley's trial on charges of shooting the president and three other men in March 1981.

Excerpts of the letter appeared in today's edition of The Times.

Hinckley was found innocent by reason of insanity last month in the shootings and is now in St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Washington, D.C., for psychiatric evaluation.

"My actions of March 30, 1981, have given special meaning to my life and no amount of imprisonment or hospitalization can tarnish my historical deed," he wrote.

"The shooting outside the Washington Hilton Hotel was the greatest love offering in the history of the world. I sacrificed myself and committed the ultimate crime in hopes of winning the heart of a girl. It was an unprecedented demonstration of love.

Smith Seeks House Seat

...House hopeful

Betty Smith of Sanford, civic leader, lecturer and part-time instructor at Seminole Community College and the University of Central Florida, has announced her candidacy for a seat in the Florida Legislature.

The seat she is seeking is currently held by State Rep. Robert Hattaway, D-Altamonte Springs. The district includes portions of Altamonte Springs, Longwood, Lake Mary and Sanford.

Hattaway said he will not be seeking reelection to the House, but is instead considering a state Senate race.

Mrs. Smith, a Democrat, began the victim advocate program at the Seminole County Sheriff's Department as a volunteer and was later hired to fill that position. She is a founder of the Seminole County Task Force on sexual abuse of children and co-founder of the task force on domestic violence.

Mrs. Smith has a bachelor's degree and a master's degree in history from the University of Central Florida.

Seminole County businessman Art Grindle, a Republican, is also running for the seat.

Selph, Sturm Shindigs

Carl Selph of Casselberry, Republican candidate for the District 34 seat in the Florida House of Representatives, will kick off his campaign with a reception today.

The reception is scheduled for 4:30 to 8 p.m. at the Selph campaign headquarters, 133 U.S. Highway 17-92.

Winter Springs Mayor Troy Piland, Democrat, and Casselberry Councilman Jim Lavigne, Republican, are also running for the seat.

House Seat 34 is in a new district which includes parts of Casselberry, Longwood and all of Winter Springs, portions of Oviedo and a part of Brevard County.

A country western barbecue will be held from noon to 3 p.m. Saturday at the soccer field off State Road 434 to benefit the Bob Sturm campaign.

County Commission Chairman Sturm, completing his first term in office, is running for re-election. He is a Republican.

Food, refreshments and music will highlight the Saturday activity. It is billed as an "open contribution" event with those attending making any contribution they wish.

5 Candidates Qualify

Only five candidates have filed qualifying documents with Seminole Supervisor of Elections Camilla Bruce since the qualifying period opened at noon Tuesday.

Sandy Goard, Mrs. Bruce's office manager, said today that School Board members Pat Telson and Allan Keith filed for re-election as did County Commissioners Sandra Glenn and Bob Sturm. In addition, former two term School Board member Jean Bryant qualified to run against Keith.

Keith has served 16 years — 4 terms — on the school board while Mrs. Telson is completing her second term. School Board offices are nonpartisan.

Mrs. Glenn and Sturm, both Republicans, are seeking second four-year terms.

As of May 31, Seminole County had 71,876 registered voters qualified to cast ballots in the Sept. 7 and Oct. 5 primaries and the Nov. 2 general election.

The voter registration books will remain open until Aug. 7.

Patrol Director Resigns Over Misuse Of FHP Planes

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Florida Highway Patrol director J. Eldridge Beach is quitting, following allegations that he misused FHP airplanes, taking flights to go hunting and attend football games. Beach, who headed the FHP for the last 10 years and has been a state law enforcement officer for more than 30 years, was accused by several FHP officials of using state aircraft for personal travel, including trips to vacation resorts and football games.

New FDLE Chief Chosen

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Gov. Bob Graham has picked the number two man in the Dade County police department to be the new director of the Florida Department of Law Enforcement.

Graham said Thursday he will ask the Cabinet to appoint Robert Dempsey, who currently is assistant director of the Dade Public Safety Department, to succeed FDLE director Jim York, effective Sept. 1.

Graham said Dempsey, a lawyer and former New York City policeman, will emphasize the fight against drug smuggling as York did. York, FDLE chief for the last two-and-a-half years, is resigning to become a lawyer and lobbyist for the Florida Sheriff's Association.

Bafalis Gaining On Graham

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — An independent statewide poll shows Republican gubernatorial candidate Skip Bafalis has increased his name recognition among Florida voters, but he still trails far behind Gov. Bob Graham.

Bafalis, a U.S. congressman from Fort Myers, improved his name recognition from 30 percent in May to 53.8 percent in June, according to an MGT-Market Research poll released Thursday.

The number of voters who said they would vote for Bafalis increased from 20 percent to 23 percent during the same period. Graham, however, continues to hold a big lead with 53 percent of the voters contacted in the statewide poll saying they favor the governor.

OPEC Tries To Curb Output

VIENNA, Austria (UPI) — OPEC ministers, meeting in emergency session today to decide future production ceilings, faced a potentially bitter dispute over rebel oil states that are violating their agreed quotas.

One oil minister conceded the cartel may have to live with some cheating among the 13 member states who agreed last April 1 to limit production to 17.5 million barrels per day.

Current output by the Organization Of Petroleum Exporting Countries runs slightly above 18 million barrels a day, including that from quota violators identified by oil sources as Iran, Libya and Nigeria.

It costs a lot these days to put meat on American tables. But it could be worse. The United States, as represented by New York City, is at the low end of the scale in a Japanese-conducted survey of beef prices in major world cities. Local prices for comparable grades of beef are given in dollar equivalents.

Meat Prices Going Up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Livestock producers are facing their best financial year since 1979, thanks to a sharp decline in pork production that has raised prices of red meat and poultry, the Agriculture Department says.

The good fortunes of livestock producers are partially the result of the misfortunes of grain producers. Feed prices are so low that livestock production costs fell at the same time livestock prices rose.

For consumers, higher prices for livestock mean continued rising prices at least through mid-summer.

"Combined with lower feed costs, the improved prices created the most profitable situation for livestock producers since mid-1979," the department said Thursday in its livestock and meat outlook and situation summary.

In the second half of this year, total meat production is expected to be well below 1981 levels, as further declines in pork production more than offset small gains in beef and chicken production, the department said.

Following a 9 percent decline in pork production in the first half of this year, economists predicted pork production would be 12 percent to 14 percent lower this summer, compared to a year ago, and 19 percent to 21 percent lower this fall.

Production is not expected to pick up until mid-1983. Beef production in the first half of 1982 was down 2 percent.

Construction Down In Altamonte

By JOE DeSANTIS
Herald Staff Writer

The current building recession is making itself felt even in one of Seminole County's busiest communities.

The Altamonte Springs Department of Community Development's June building report reveals while there's been only a slight decline in the total number of building permits issued compared to the same time last year, but the value of those permits has dropped substantially.

According to the report, the city issued a total of 56 building permits in June with a total value of $723,753. In June, 1981, the city issued 61 permits with a total construction value of $3,503,874.

Building permit fees slipped from $24,864 last June to $15,023 this June.

"That is quite a drop," said Pat Martin, the building department secretary who compiles the monthly building report.

"Last year at this time, the city issued a few more permits but the construction value was much higher than this June," Mrs. Martin said.

She explained that one of the reasons for the significant drop in construction value was two major business construction projects last June.

Construction costs of the new Lionel Toy World on State Highway 436 ran upwards of $600,000 while the Northlake Center construction totaled over $1 million, comprising a large chunk of the $3,503,874 June 1981 totals.

"Also, I'm sure the interest rates have a lot to do with the drop in construction," said Mrs. Martin.

Along with a slight dip in the total number of permits, it appears there's been less new construction in the city and more building additions and alterations.

A total of eight new construction permits were issued in June, totaling $508,574. Four single-family dwellings with a combined construction value of $222,919, three duplex buildings at Oakland Village valued at $138,000 while the Keyes Real Estate building in the Spring Centre Square office complex accounted for $147,655.

Mrs. Martin said the four single-family dwelling permits were the most the city has issued for one month in quite some time.

Residential sheds, garages, room additions and reroofing represented 12 of the remaining 48 permits issued in June. The value of residential permit construction was just under $30,000.

Interior and exterior commercial additions accounted for 15 permits with a construction value of $109,650 while the remaining 12 permits issued were for swimming pools and spas, walls, fences and commercial signs.

While June saw the number of building permits drop, Mrs. Martin said July is shaping up as a stronger month.

She indicated that plans for a large office building on Palm Springs Road, two single family dwellings and a car wash are presently before the city's Planning and Zoning Board.

Life Care Center Deadline March 1

Construction of a $20 million life care center on an 8 1/2-acre tract north of the Evening Herald along U.S. Highway 17-92 facing Lake Monroe must begin by March 1.

Developer Robert G. "Bud" Feather, developer of the tract, officially filed his deed for the property at the courthouse and Sanford Mayor Lee P. Moore signed documents permitting the transfer of ownership for the tract this week.

Feather, who is also a county commissioner, acquired the property from Altamonte Springs developer, Tom Rucker. Rucker bought the property from the city of Sanford for $130,000.

Since the city sold the property for the sole purpose of having it placed on the tax rolls, the city included a reverter clause in the sales contract with Rucker and has included the same clause in the contract with Feather setting definite dates when construction must be underway.

The reverter clause gives the city the right to repurchase the land if construction isn't begun by the deadline. Feather's deadline is March 1, 1983.

Rucker's deadline expired, but the city permitted him to sell the property to Feather.

Feather has asked the city to sponsor an industrial revenue bond issue to help finance his life-care center. The city has agreed. The city would have no responsibility for repaying the issue.

Feather plans to build 350 to 400 one-bedroom apartments at the site. All of the apartments are to face the lake. A variety of recreational services and a cafeteria also are to be built on the site.

Casselberry Traffic Woes To Be Reviewed

Long-hoped for and often-discussed solutions to a traffic snarl at the intersection of State Road 436, Red Bug Lake Road and Winter Park Drive in Casselberry will be the topic of a meeting Tuesday between state, county and city officials.

The intersection has long been a problem for rush hour drivers and because of jurisdictional problems, a solution has thus far eluded traffic planners. The intersection connects a county road and a state road within a municipality.

Seminole County Engineer Bill Bush said he and Casselberry Mayor Owen Sheppard will meet Tuesday with C.A. Benedict, district engineer of the State Department of Transportation.

A short-term solution to the problem would be the addition of another lane on State Road 436, permitting a second left turn lane onto Red Bug Lake Road, Bush said.

The cost for the project would be $35,000 to be shared by county and state officials but would depend upon Casselberry's acquisition of a right-of-way.

A long-range solution, a four-lane overpass for State Road 436 over the intersection, also will be discussed. The cost of that proposal is currently estimated at $4 million to $5 million but costs for rights-of-way and other property plus funding delays could escalate those projections, Bush said.

Neither the short-term nor the long-term solutions is ready to go to construction and have not even entered the design stage.

Rotary Schedules Bar-B-Q

The Sanford Rotary Club will hold its first annual barbecue and country western dance on July 17 at the Sanford Civic Center.

Barbecue will be served at the civic center patio. The dance will be held from 5 to 7 p.m. at the civic center patio. The dance will be held from 8 p.m. to midnight.

Tickets are $20 per person. More than $3,000 worth of door prizes will be awarded.

Jack Horner, club president, expects $10,000 in proceeds from the event. The money will be given to charity.

The barbecue and dance will be the club's major fund raising project of the year, replacing the Central Florida Air Show.

Horner noted that Rotary was unable to obtain the military flight demonstration teams last year for the show and had to cancel the popular event.

In the past, he said, the club has donated the proceeds of its fund-raising events to a scholarship fund at Seminole Community College, to the Central Florida zoo at Sanford, Boy and Girl Scouts and to Little League baseball.

Developer Seeking Right-Of-Way

The Seminole County Commission has given John Casselberry, owner of Casselberry Gardens, approval to negotiate with appraisers certified by the county for the appraisal of a right-of-way across the Casselberry motor vehicle inspection station property on State Road 436.

Casselberry offered the county $100 for a right-of-way across the property but was informed by County Attorney Nikki Clayton that proper procedures require either an appraisal or a bid.

Mrs. Clayton said commissioners are required by law to put up for bid parcels which are valued at $1,500 or more. Property valued at less than $1,500 can be sold privately.

Casselberry was reluctant to go through the appraisal procedure for fear it might cost more than he had planned to spend on the entire 10-foot right-of-way.

Commissioners gave Casselberry a list of county-approved appraisers and told him to work out his own arrangement for appraising the property.

Soviet Trade Sanctions A Must

President Reagan's decision to bar the sale of any U.S.-developed technology for use in the Soviet Union's Siberia-to-the-Rhine natural gas pipeline has, predictably, stirred howls of protest in Moscow.

The Soviets are furious over a Reagan move that could delay completion of the pipeline for two years or more and cost the Kremlin the equivalent of billions of dollars in lost natural gas sales.

Just as predictably, Western Europeans are bemoaning Mr. Reagan's effort to subvert a pipeline project that promises lucrative contracts and thousands of jobs for European manufacturers of gas turbines and other machinery produced under license from U.S. companies.

European Common Market members are already accusing the Reagan administration of violating international law by asserting an extraterritorial extension of U.S. jurisdiction. This issue may have to be settled by the World Court.

The French and Germans are particularly upset, partly because their manufacturers are in line to receive most of the pipeline contracts and partly because Paris and Bonn are most eager to expand East-West trade.

So why is Mr. Reagan picking on the pipeline? For starters, the business-as-usual approach symbolized by a 3,500-mile pipeline built with Western credits and American technology would spell gross appeasement in the wake of Afghanistan, Poland, and the relentless Soviet military buildup.

On a more tangible level, the pipeline would yield Moscow billions each year in hard Western currencies desperately needed by the Soviets to shore up their sick economy. If past practices are any guide, the Soviets would use some of this hard currency to purchase more Western technology essential to modernizing their arsenals of conventional and nuclear weapons.

The pipeline would also render Western European nations dependent on the Kremlin for roughly 30 percent of their industrial fuel supplies.

Only the naive would discount the potential for political blackmail once the Soviets gained control of Western Europe's natural gas tap. After all, the Soviets were in the forefront of those urging OPEC to use its oil weapon against the United States and Western Europe in 1973. European memories seem tragically short.

Obviously, President Reagan is paying a diplomatic price for imposing the first really significant economic sanctions on the Soviets since the short-lived U.S. grain embargo of 1980-81. The NATO allies pay lip service to trade and credit sanctions, as at the Versailles summit, but in fact prefer profit to principle.

They wonder aloud why the United States forces them to sacrifice while it continues selling the Soviets huge quantities of grain. That is a fair question but it does not obviate the need to curtail the flow of credit and technology that, in effect, subsidizes Soviet militarism and helps to drive up Western defense budgets.

A decade ago, Western leaders argued that expanded East-West trade would moderate Soviet behavior in the world. Failing that, the level of trade could be restricted to punish the Soviets for transgressions that threatened the peace.

Business as usual while the Soviets conquer Afghanistan and snuff out liberalization in Poland is undisguised appeasement of the kind that led to global war in 1939. If President Reagan has to ruffle European feathers to minimize the risk of a worse cataclysm in our own time, so be it.

BERRY'S WORLD

THAT FAMILIAR-LOOKING MAN WHO JUST GRABBED US BY THE COAT LAPELS AND SCREAMED IN A TREMULOUS VOICE, "I AM STILL IN CHARGE! I AM STILL IN CHARGE!" WHO IS HE?

By MICHAEL BEHA

Two recurring issues cropped up before Seminole County commissioners this week, taking the spotlight away from the budget-making efforts which have dominated their sessions for the past month.

The struggle to find enough space to house Seminole County offices brought some interesting facts to light about the county's existing facilities.

County administrator Roger Neiswender said one reason the courthouse, which was opened in the mid-1970s, is so inadequate in providing office space is the difficulties encountered by the county over the past 15 years.

The design was begun in 1964-65 and at that point they "thought this building would hold everything we'd ever need," Neiswender said. A lawsuit seeking to move the county seat from Sanford was filed and the issue was fought in court for several years until the Supreme Court ruled in favor of the county.

The real culprit in the situation, Neiswender said, was Walt Disney World and the expansion that accompanied it.

That expansion, which has affected virtually every aspect of life in the county, has left county officials reeling to try and keep up.

Possible short term solutions to the office space problem has resulted in at least one idea that was rapidly discarded — putting the state attorney's office and the public defender's office into the old jail.

The reason for scrapping the plan was a potential conflict of interest from the two offices' clientele.

County officials have charted space available in many Sanford buildings, including the old Seminole Memorial Hospital and are now considering the possibilities.

At the time of construction, the courthouse was expected to meet the county's need for 10 years. It has done that. But the additional phases of construction which were planned for that site have not been done.

An addition was foreseen for the east end of the facility and optimistic plans foresaw a 16-to-18 story wing to house the county offices.

One thing is certain — one of the first group of offices to be removed from the courthouse will be those of the board of county commissioners.

Several commissioners feel "they have the least need to be in the courthouse."

The board eventually plans to locate its offices at the Five Points complex.

Another issue, construction of soccer fields at a facility owned by Seminole Soccer Club, was also back in the public eye.

Commissioners voted 4-0 to grant the club a six-month extension of its land use exemption and then approved, 3-1, the club's site plan for construction.

The subject was on this week's agenda because Commissioner Bill Kirchhoff had asked for it to be tabled at an earlier meeting. Kirchhoff had earlier voted against the exemption and opponents to the project thought he was on their side.

This time when the exemption came up for a vote, Kirchhoff was out of town.

DON GRAFF

On How Not To

It is not only in Denmark that something is rotting.

A rank odor is also evident in most of the Danes' West European neighbors. It comes from the rapid decay of a Western consensus that appeared to have been established during the June summits.

"Appeared" has to be the operative word there, because if the allied leaders had really understood and meant what they were saying to each other, their subsequent divergence could not have been so swift and so wide.

It is essentially a divergence between the Europeans as a group and the United States. There are several reasons for it — different reactions to the Israeli campaign in Lebanon, U.S. import penalties on European steel and continuing European unhappiness with U.S. economic policy in general.

But the most damaging is the post-summit intensification of American efforts to block the projected pipeline to fuel West European industry with Soviet natural gas. The Europeans see Washington's move to prevent not only American concerns but their foreign affiliates from contributing to the pipeline's construction as an exercise in economic coercion that is of dubious legality and reneges on understandings reached in June.

The justification as spelled out in Washington — or that part of it that is vehemently anti-pipeline — is that the gas connection would put the Europeans in a dangerously dependent position, weakening Western capability and will to resist Soviet pressure. The worst-case scenario envisages a Persian Gulf upheaval cutting off Mideast oil and the Soviets simultaneously closing the pipeline valves.

Possibly. But the Europeans argue that Soviet gas is one way to lessen their present dependence on Mideast oil. And the Soviets also would have a large stake in keeping the gas flowing — the hard currency it would be earning. They could squeeze the Europeans for political purposes only at the short-term cost of needed revenues and the long-term prospect of losing customers. Judging from their performance as exporters of oil and gold, their market strategies are primarily motivated by their own economic needs.

Another sticky point for the Europeans is the continuing supply of American grain to the Soviets. This is, of course, the reverse of the gas situation — selling to rather than buying from the Soviets. And Washington's argument is that it is irrelevant anyway because the Soviets can buy grain elsewhere, as they demonstrated during the Carter administration embargo.

Still, it ranks the Europeans, who read the American position on Soviet trade as being "do as we say, not as we do."

But even accepting Washington's case against the pipeline in toto, it is questionable that the economic points to be scored against the Soviets in this fashion are worth the consequent political damage to the Western alliance.

That alliance has survived many strains — American preoccupation with a long war in Vietnam intensely unpopular in Europe, the quarrel with France over leadership, Britain's economic warfare with its major continental partners.

But not since the Suez crisis of 1956 has the United States taken such direct and forceful action against its own allies.

The alliance did not succumb in that trial and it is very unlikely that it will in this one. But it will leave its disfiguring mark.

JACK ANDERSON

Soviet Union Halted By Israel's Might?

WASHINGTON — The Russians did their usual huffing and puffing over the Israeli invasion of Lebanon, but never went beyond rhetorical flourishes.

My intelligence sources tell me this may have been because Soviet leaders were afraid the Israeli war machine was too strong for the kind of limited intervention that was the Kremlin's only real option. Or, as Marx might have put it (Groucho, that is), the big bully was confronted by a little bully and didn't want to risk a bloody nose.

As soon as Israeli tanks crossed the Lebanese border, the Soviets put their forces in the Middle East on full alert. This included the Soviets' Mediterranean fleet and an airborne division in the Caspian area, a few hundred miles north of Lebanon.

Except for a few alarmists, State Department and CIA analysts discounted the Soviet alert as a prelude to direct intervention in support of the Soviet-supplied Syrians and Palestinians.

ROBERT WAGMAN

The Campaign Trail

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Although the California primary is barely history, the winners of their parties' U.S. Senate nominations are already off and running against each other. And their campaign themes have quickly become apparent.

The Republicans, despite a bitter primary battle among a host of candidates, have united behind their standard-bearer, San Diego Mayor Pete Wilson. The reason for this quick burying of the hatchet is the Republicans' universal distaste for the Democratic nominee, Gov. Edmund "Jerry" Brown.

In fact, Wilson and the Republicans have already made it very clear that Brown will be their No. 1 campaign issue.

All of the polls continue to show that Brown has a high negative rating. So, the Republicans will do everything they can to turn the November election into a plebiscite on Brown's political career.

Meanwhile, Brown perceives that he must turn the focus away from himself and, therefore, is campaigning on national issues. He would like to turn the election into a vote on Reaganomics and the effect on California of a Republican-controlled U.S. Senate.

The two candidates have already met in a brief debate on a local television news program. Both liked what happened, and their advisers are negotiating over a series of half-hour debates, perhaps as many as a dozen, beginning as early as July.

With campaign activity proceeding at this rate, one might think that the election was being held in August. By November, voters may well be sick of both candidates.

The early polls give Wilson a comfortable lead of about 15 percent. But Brown has amassed one of the largest war chests in California political history and will most likely spend more than $3 million by Election Day.

Wilson, on the other hand, spent almost all of the $2 million that he had raised on his primary campaign. Now he must start collecting more money.

The conventional wisdom is that Jerry Brown should never be counted out regardless of the polls — and especially not four months before the election.

One of the more interesting primary races is developing in New York for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Most observers all but conceded the race to New York Mayor Ed Koch as soon as he declared his candidacy. Few of them bargained on the tenacity of his opponent, Lt. Gov. Mario Cuomo, or on the depth of anti-Koch feeling among many Democrats, especially upstaters, liberals and minorities.

Cuomo is playing well to upstaters who remember the many jokes that Koch has made at their expense, to liberals who remember Koch's support of some aspects of Reaganomics and to minorities who have seen elements of racism in Koch's wooing of middle-class New Yorkers during his tenure as mayor.

The polls still show Koch in the lead, but Cuomo is within striking distance. This race may go down to the wire in September.

Another fascinating primary campaign has developed in Connecticut for the GOP Senate nomination.

Party regulars, especially conservatives, have no great love for the incumbent Republican, Lowell Weicker. In fact, GOP stalwarts feel such animosity toward Weicker that they might be expected to vote for anyone over the maverick who has regularly thumbed his nose at the party over the years.

Thus, the odds in the race might seem to favor Weicker's GOP primary opponent, Prescott Bush, the brother of the vice president. And so they would if politics were a simple thing.

The problem is that the winner must face Toby Moffett, a popular Democratic congressman, in November. Several recent statewide polls show that Moffett would easily defeat Bush in a head-to-head race but would lose to — or, at best, run even with — Weicker.

In effect, the Connecticut GOP must choose whether to cut off its nose to spite its face. Things may become even more confusing, because it is assumed that Weicker, if he loses to Bush in the primary, will run as an independent in the general election.

Insiders now are predicting that Republican regulars will swallow very hard and give the nomination to Weicker — and then hate themselves for doing it for the next six years.

ROBERT WALTERS

Annual Party Meetings?

PHILADELPHIA (NEA) — Trade associations, fraternal organizations and professional societies do it. So do corporations, labor unions, veterans' groups and countless other organizations in virtually every field of human endeavor.

They all hold annual meetings or conventions that provide members with the valuable opportunity to become familiar with new developments in their field, renew old friendships, size up new acquaintances, reminisce about the past and plan for the future.

Among the very few organizations in our society that don't have a tradition of yearly conventions are the country's two major political parties — and based on the experience of the National Party Conference held here recently by the Democrats, it's time to reconsider that longstanding abstention.

Prior to the mid-1970s, both Republicans and Democrats confined themselves to sponsoring conventions only once every four years, with the dominant agenda item being the selection of presidential and vice presidential candidates.

In 1974, however, the Democrats held a "Mid-Term Conference" in Kansas City, Mo., to write a party charter. Although that meeting was hardly bereft of acrimony, it achieved its goals and was quite successful. A second conference was held in Memphis, Tenn., in 1978, followed by a third in Philadelphia this year.

If the Democrats continue that practice, they will be holding biennial national meetings while the Republicans will remain on a quadrennial schedule. But most European political parties hold annual meetings, as do most Republican and Democratic state organizations in this country.

Crucial to the success of annual national party conferences probably would be the establishment of relatively low expectations on the part of the participants, the public and the news media. The meetings should not be promoted as forums for showdowns among conflicting ideologies or competing candidates for the presidency.

They could, however, serve as a vehicle for robust debate over issues and provide a showcase for dozens of the sponsoring party's most attractive leaders rather than only a half-dozen self-proclaimed presidential contenders.

When political conventions are held only once every four years, it's hardly surprising that internal pressure and tension escalate to frustration and hostility. But an annual meeting presumably would allow differences of opinion to be resolved (or at least discussed) before they mushroom into divisive controversies.

Yearly meetings would pose special problems for the party in control of the White House at the time, because both Republicans and Democrats traditionally have been determined not to unnecessarily embarrass their presidents.

To the extent that a president had strayed from the goals and aspirations embraced by a majority (or even a substantial minority) of the party's respected leaders and grass-roots activists, however, the yearly conferences would provide an especially effective mechanism for political feedback.

It seemed, as a State Department analysis put it, that Soviet intervention in Lebanon "becomes a distinct likelihood ... in the event of a serious threat to the Syrian government." So why didn't the Soviets make their move? Intelligence experts offered several reasons. One was that the Palestinians themselves would have been unhappy about direct Soviet intervention. Another was that the Kremlin lacked a solid pretext for armed intervention.

But the most interesting explanation is that the Russians were leery of risking an embarrassing military defeat at the hands of Israel. For example, an airborne invasion would require Soviet control of the air. But destruction of the Syrians' entire surface-to-air missile strength had given Israel total air superiority.

In short, a modest "police action" could be disastrous for the Soviets, and the Kremlin was not prepared to escalate into a full-scale war with Israel. So it settled for bombast instead of bombs.

Revels, Jeff Blake Clout Home Runs

Nationals, Lucas Bounce Back, 8-2

Jeff Blake, Sanford Nationals catcher, gets "five" from manager Sylvester "Slick" Franklin after clubbing a three-run homer in the third inning.

Blake's big blow over the centerfield fence gave the Nationals a 5-0 lead en route to an 8-2 victory over Clermont.

Leonard Lucas, Sanford National hurler, was in top form Thursday night. The lanky right-hander shut down Clermont on five singles and fanned 10 hitters as Sanford won, 8-2. The Nationals play Tavares tonight at 8.

It didn't take long for Sanford National to get back on its feet. After being stunned by Groveland in a dramatic game Wednesday night, Sanford got impressive efforts from every player in an 8-2 rout over Clermont Thursday night in the Sub-District 2 Little Major League Tournament at Fort Mellon Park.

Leonard Lucas hurled a five-hitter and struck out 10 to pick up the pitching victory. "Leonard pitched a heck of a game," said Sanford National manager Sylvester "Slick" Franklin. "He pitched the last few innings with a blister on his finger."

Lucas, who was aided by a towering two-run homer by Todd Revels and a three-run blast by Jeff Blake, said it was one of the better games, he pitched all year. "The team played good defense behind me," Lucas said. "I want to get back at Groveland now."

In the second game of the night, Groveland shelled Leesburg National, 18-2. Tonight's first game features Leesburg National against Leesburg American at 6 and Sanford National faces Tavares at 8.

"Groveland is the team to beat," Franklin said. "And there's only one team that can beat them — and that's us."

Sanford jumped on Clermont starter Jack Feltama for two runs in the top of the first. With two outs, Lucas beat out an infield single and Revels followed with his second homer of the tournament.

Jeff Blake's three-run homer to straight away center field highlighted a five run third inning as Sanford National took a 7-0 lead over the defending two-time district champions.

The Nationals scored once in the fourth as Willie Grayson, who has five hits in six at bats so far in the tourney, singled and came around to score on a single by Lucas. "Grayson is the hottest hitter on the team," Franklin said.

Clermont got RBI singles from Jeff Boykin and Lenny Baird in the fifth but Lucas retired them in order in the sixth to sew up the win and hand Clermont its walking papers from the double elimination tournament.

"We didn't have to go out in the field first this game," Franklin said. "We got the jitters against Groveland and they scored six in the first inning last night."

In the second game, Groveland got a one-hit, 11 strikeout performance from pitcher Daren Turner whose dipping curve fooled many a Leesburg National hitter.

Turner also blasted a three-run homer and teammate Randy Hart drilled a three-run shot to pace Groveland's 16 hit attack.

Nate Chapman: Yank Farm Hand

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Nate Chapman, as the saying goes, always seems to "fall a little short."

Chapman is playing right field for the Nashville Sounds of the Southern League and playing it quite nicely, too. He runs and throws well, has a glove that reminds you of a magnet by the way it grabs everything and he isn't a bad line-drive hitter, either.

He has hit as high as .309 in Double A ball with West Haven in the Eastern League three years ago and he batted .284 for Nashville last season when he drove in 75 runs and showed some power with 10 homers. He has hit nine homers already so far this season.

But right there is the nub of Chapman's problem.

Those stats all were compiled off Double A pitching and this is his sixth straight year in that same classification. Staying at one level so long can get to a guy. Chapman is entitled to say "give me a break."

He got a few little ones when the New York Yankees, who originally signed him and still own his contract, moved him up to their Triple A club, once to Tacoma in the Pacific Coast League in 1978, then to Columbus in the International League the following year and once more to Columbus early last year. But none of those "promotions" really were long ones and he always came back to Double A ball.

Johnny Oates, the Sounds' manager, thinks Chapman can play in Triple A. Chapman, who'll be 28 in three months, believes the same thing. He thinks he could even play in the majors given the chance but wonders if he hasn't been stamped strictly a Double A ballplayer.

"Sometimes before I fall asleep at night, I lie there in bed and wonder if I'll ever get a chance to play in the big leagues," the 5-foot-9, 160-pound left-handed hitter from Mobile, Ala., says, a little wistfully.

"The Yankees have a great organization to play for, but a lotta guys in it don't always get the opportunity they deserve. Watch me play and you'll see I give 110 percent every night. My mother, Costella, asked me why the Yankees don't trade me and give me a chance to play with some other club in the big leagues. I tell her I'm not gonna give up. Eventually, I may get a chance to go up there."

What hurts Chapman particularly is that he hasn't seen any of the other outfielders in the Yankees' system he feels are any more capable than he is.

"I saw the guys they had in spring training from Triple A," he offers. "I thought I could run and throw as good as they could. I can hit with any of them, too."

Looking ahead, Chapman says he'll give himself two more years and if he doesn't move up, he'll hang it up.

A bachelor, Chapman rents an apartment for $250 per month and that enables him to save a good part of the $2,100-per-month salary he gets as one of the senior players in the league in point of service.

Yankees' scout Dave Yaokum signed Chapman and told him something that still sticks with him.

"He told me in order to play in the big leagues, you have to be able to run and throw and he said I could do that. He said for me to play my natural way and be aggressive and I'd get there. That's what I do, but I don't know why ... I still don't get there."

Winter Park's 5-Run Burst Spells Doom For Legion, 7-1

By SAM COOK
Herald Sports Editor

Sanford Legion Post 53 lost its eighth game in 12 decisions Thursday night at Sanford Memorial Stadium, but manager Bobby Lundquist feels he's found another starting pitcher for next spring.

Senior-to-be Andy Griffith pitched five scoreless innings before Winter Park broke loose for five runs in the fifth inning en route to a 7-1 victory over Sanford.

"Andy pitched a real good game," said Lundquist. "He just got tired in the sixth. He hung a couple of fastballs up there and they boomed them."

With one out in the sixth, Winter Park broke a 0-0 deadlock when Carl Veazey chased home three runs with a bases-loaded triple. John Martin tripled home Veazey and later scored on a passed ball.

"Boom, boom, boom and they had five runs," said Lundquist. Winter Park added two more in the seventh off Griffith and reliever Stevin Dennis.

Sanford scored its only run in the last inning. Terry Russi walked, moved to second on a fielder's choice and zipped to third on a passed ball.

Legion Baseball

Teddy Jones then shot a double to right center to score Russi.

"Our bats were dead," lamented Lundquist. "And their little lefthander (LaGrange Lyons) gave up just three hits."

Sanford's Sunday game with Boone will be rescheduled for sometime next week. The Legion will play Altamonte Springs on July 17 at Lyman High School at 7:30 p.m.

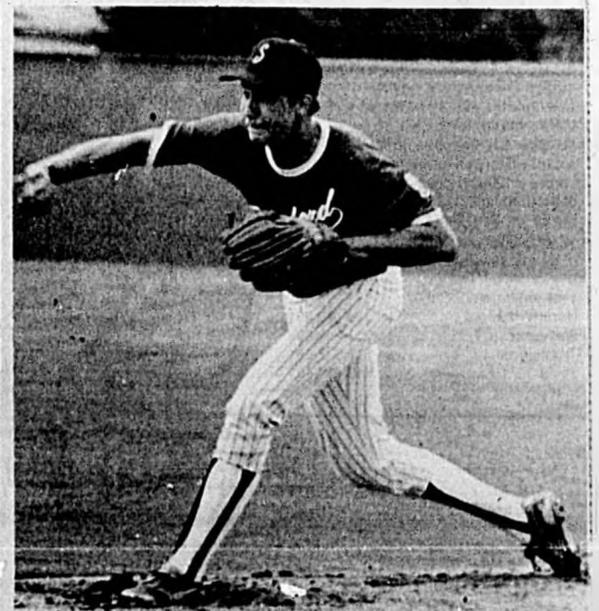

LEGION LEADS — Financial relief may be in sight for the Sanford crew. Team members had to ante up $25 apiece to make ends meet to continue playing.

"The parents have been just great about donating money," said Lundquist. "And the Women's Auxiliary has been bending over backwards trying to help us."

"The new president is supposed to call an emergency meeting after she gets installed Sunday to help us. All we want to do is break even," he added.

Alton Davis dives safely into second base as Winter Park's Phil Esposito makes the tag and the shortstop backs up the play.

Andy Griffith, Sanford Legion right-hander, hurled five scoreless innings Thursday before being roughed up in the sixth for five runs in a 7-1 loss to Winter Park.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

County Sports Hall Of Fame Nominations Start Aug. 15

Tim Raines, Zinn Beck, Joe Sterling. Those men will always be remembered in Seminole County for their athletic endeavors. And, sometime in the near future, Seminole County residents will have more than just stories and statistics to remember them by.

The Seminole County Sports Hall of Fame, in its infant year, will enshrine some of Seminole County's greatest athletes, coaches, administrators and fans and will be displayed at Seminole Community College.

Up to five candidates will be eligible to make the Hall in its first year. Candidates must be at least 21 years old, have lived in the county for three years or worked in the county for five years.

A 75 percent vote is necessary for a candidate to be elected to the Hall. The selection committee is comprised of 20 members and nominations will start August 15 and run through September 15 of every year.

Woman, 76, Wins $5,500

CASSELLBERRY — The "Super 8" handicapping skill contest returned to Super Seminole Greyhound Park July 2 and was hit for $5,500 on July 3.

The proud winner is 76 years young Ms. Trieu T. Le, a native of Viet Nam, who moved to Maitland, Florida after the communists took over her country.

Ms. Le picked the correct order of finish for all eight dogs in the matinee 12th race to win the prize. When asked what she will do with the money, she replied, "would like to own small home," and now maybe that wish will come true.

The July 17 finals of the $10,000 Super Seminole Derby is approaching with a strong field taking shape. Dominie (Williams) leads with 61 points, followed by Little Ruler (Mendheim) 59 points, Hasty Bo Jack (Wells) 55 points, Nephew Havoc (Florlando) 55 points, Mads Hopper Jack (Andrews) 54 points, George Nordt (Andrews) 54 points, Mountain Halo (Skeen) 51 points, Lou Lola (Hal Gill) 46 points, JR's Habib (Baumgarten) 41 points and Twinkle Hope (M-F) with 41 points.

Hot Hounds finishing in the money in each of their last times out are Attaway To Go (Williams) with 7, Monty Wonder (Wells) with 5 and Space King Jim (Baumgarten) with 3. Odd Gus (Andrews) has finished in the money 8 of the last 9 outings and Rendezvous Cafe (Wells) 3 of the last 4.

Pirate Tryout Saturday At 9

The Pittsburgh Pirates will hold their annual tryout camp for players aged 16-22 at 9 a.m. Saturday at Sanford Memorial Stadium.

All players will be given an opportunity to show their skills. American Legion baseball players will need a permission slip from their coach or post commander in order to compete.

Mr. C's Claims 7th Win

Willie Mitchell scored 16 points and grabbed 10 rebounds Thursday night as Mr. C's Chicken knocked off the Orlando Pioneers, 59-53, in Summer League Basketball at Seminole High School.

The victory was the seventh without a setback for Mr. C's varsity. It plays St. Cloud Tuesday at Seminole High.

Calvin "Kiki" Bryant suffered a cut over his eye and saw partial playing time but still scored 10 points. Vernon Law tallied 10 points and handed out eight assists. Torie Hendricks collected 10 boards.

Mr. C's junior varsity suffered its second loss in six games, dropping a 68-56 game to Orlando. James Rouse scored 16 points. Kenny Gordon had 12 markers and 16 rebounds. Donald Grayson tallied 10 and Sam Redden doled out 10 assists.

JV tip-off is 6:15 p.m. Tuesday.

Team Florida Loses, 69-51

ST. JOSEPH, Mo — Team Florida, under the coaching direction of Ken Patrick, ran into a tough New Jersey team here Thursday losing 69-51 in the AAU Jr. Olympics Girls 19 and Under National basketball tournament.

Lisa Ingram, perhaps the best women's player in Florida, scored 13 points while teammate Kathy Kaminski added 14 and Sharon McGowan had 10.

O-Twins' Streak Snapped

ORLANDO — Nashville rapped 18 hits off four Orlando pitchers as the O-Twins win streak was halted at five games in Nashville's 7-6 victory Thursday night at Tinker Field.

Orlando will try to get back on the winning track tonight in a 7:30 game against Nashville.

Trailing 6-5 going into the eighth, Nashville came back for two runs to go ahead, 7-6. Reliever Eddie Hodge walked in the winning run and was tagged with the loss.

Steve Douglas, Andre David, David Meier and Mark Funderburk each had two or more hits for the O-Twins who remain one game behind Columbus in the Southern League's East Division.

Jago Resigns From Rowdies

TAMPA (UPI) — By mutual consent, Tampa Bay Rowdy coach Gordon Jago has resigned and will be replaced by Al Miller, who again becomes the only American coach in the North American Soccer League.

Jago's resignation followed a 2-1 loss at home Wednesday night to the Chicago Sting, the Rowdies' 13th loss of the season against 10 victories.

Owner George Strawbridge said assistant coach Kevin Keelan will coach the club in its game at San Diego Saturday night, but said Miller, who has coached at Dallas and Calgary will be the permanent coach.

Jago tried to resign last May, but was talked out of it by a committee of veteran players.

A's Rake Alexander, Martin Gets 1000th

United Press International
Billy Martin notched his 1,000th managerial victory Thursday night and it was all the sweeter since it came against his old team the New York Yankees and owner George Steinbrenner.

"We're the quiet clubhouse," Martin laughed, slyly referring to his differences with Steinbrenner, after his Oakland A's rocked Doyle Alexander for their 6-3 victory over the Yankees — a club again marked by controversy.

Oakland starter Mike Norris and Alexander both came off the disabled list earlier in the day. But while Norris put on a sparkling performance, Alexander was raked for five hits and five runs in 1 1/3 innings. Yankee Vice President Bill Bergesch delivered a stinging criticism and said he was speaking on behalf of Steinbrenner.

"What Doyle Alexander did to his teammates tonight was disgraceful," he said. "George said he is sorry he ever signed Alexander. If we could trade him tomorrow, we would."

Alexander, making his first Yankee start since he broke a knuckle on his right hand punching the dugout wall in Seattle on May 8, explained:

American League

"That's the worst I've thrown in three weeks. If they pitch me, I'll get better. If they don't, I won't. I don't feel I let my teammates down."

Norris, 4-6, had a no-hitter until one out in the seventh when Oscar Gamble punched a single to center, then John Mayberry hit a towering home run to right. In the eighth Willie Randolph hit a single and Gamble cracked a solo homer in the ninth.

"He was super," said Martin of Norris, then added, "I just hope I'm around for the next 1,000."

In other games, Chicago topped Detroit, 3-2, Minnesota blanked Milwaukee, 3-0, Boston whitewashed Texas, 3-0, Toronto shamed Kansas City, 5-4, California defeated Cleveland, 5-1, and Seattle downed Baltimore, 4-3.

Chicago 5, Houston 3; Montreal 7, Los Angeles 3; Pittsburgh 9, Cincinnati 8; San Francisco 9, New York 7; San Diego 5, Philadelphia 3; St. Louis 5, Atlanta 2. White Sox 3, Tigers 2. At Chicago, Jerry Hairston slammed a two-run pinch homer with two out in the ninth inning to lift Chicago. LaMarr Hoyt, 11-7, was the winner. Twins 3, Brewers 0.

At Milwaukee, Kent Hrbek went 4-for-5 and Jack O'Connor, 2-2, hurled seven scoreless innings to spark Minnesota to the first shutout against the Brewers in 137 games.

Red Sox 3, Rangers 0. At Arlington, Texas, Jerry Remy's run-scoring single snapped a scoreless tie in the sixth and Dwight Evans' RBI double added an insurance run for the Reds.

Blue Jays 5, Royals 4. At Kansas City, Mo., Willie Upshaw's RBI single capped a two-run rally in the eighth to lift Toronto.

Angels 5, Indians 1. At Anaheim, Calif., Fred Lynn cracked a three-run homer in the third and drove in another run with a groundout in the fifth to help the Angels snap an eight-game losing streak.

Mariners 4, Orioles 3. At Seattle, Dave Edler drove in three runs and Bobby Brown and Terry Bulling scored twice each to help the Mariners.

Thompson, Parker Clouts Derailed Cincinnati Comeback

United Press International
This has been a disastrous first half of the season for the Cincinnati Reds and Thursday night at Three Rivers Stadium in Pittsburgh their frustration reached gargantuan proportions.

Less than 24 hours after rallying for five runs in the ninth inning to defeat the Pirates, 6-5, and snap a ninegame losing streak, the Reds scored six runs in the ninth inning to take an 8-4 lead over Pittsburgh.

But alas, the bullpen done them wrong. Ignited by pinch-hitter Willie Stargell's two-run homer, the Pirates erupted for five runs in the last of the ninth to beat the Reds, 9-8. Jason Thompson delivered the killing blow, a three-run double off loser Joe Price.

"Our bullpen just came apart," McNamara explained.

National League

Chuck Tanner, the Pirates' manager, said Stargell's homer was the hit that got the team inspired.

"His homer really got us going," said Tanner. "That livened everybody up ... we stood in there and came out a winner. Kent Tekulve gave up three runs in the ninth but got credit for the victory."

Cubs 5, Astros 3. At Houston, Jody Davis drove in three runs with a basesloaded double in the eighth inning to lead the Cubs. Phil Garner homered for Houston.

Cardinals 5, Braves 2. At Atlanta, Tom Herr's tworun triple and George Hendrick's two-run double keyed a five-run eighth inning that carried the Cardinals. Bob Horner hit his 18th homer for Atlanta.

Padres 5, Phillies 3. At Philadelphia, Ruppert Jones slammed a two-run homer in the first inning and Garry Templeton and Luis Salazar also homered to power the Padres. John Montefusco, 7-4, was the winner and Eric Show relieved in the eighth for his third save.

Expos 7, Dodgers 3. At Montreal, Warren Cromartie drove in three runs and David Palmer, 4-2, continued his mastery in Olympic Stadium to help the Expos snap a four-game losing streak.

Giants 9, Mets 7. At New York, Chili Davis went 4-for-6, knocked in two runs and scored three times and Reggie Smith got three hits and drove in three runs to spark the Giants.

Managers Complete All-Star Rosters

NEW YORK (UPI) — The major leagues Thursday completed their rosters for the All-Star Game and as usual it was impossible for every deserving player to gain a spot.

The leagues added 12 players apiece to the starters and pitchers previously announced and the AL's Andre Thornton and the NL's Bo Diaz were among the missing.

The game is scheduled for Tuesday night in Montreal, with the American League trying to snap a 10-game losing streak. The rosters are limited to 28 players.

NL Manager Tom Lasorda of Los Angeles named catchers Tony Pena of Pittsburgh and John Stearns of New York, backing starter Gary Carter of Montreal. In addition, infielders Bob Horner of Atlanta, Ray Knight of Houston, Al Oliver of Montreal, Steve Sax of Los Angeles, Ozzie Smith of St.

Baseball

Louis and Jason Thompson of Pittsburgh were named to the team.

Four more outfielders also were announced, including Dusty Baker of Los Angeles, Leon Durham of Chicago, Ruppert Jones of San Diego and Lonnie Smith of St. Louis.

The AL team, managed by Oakland's Billy Martin, added designated hitter Hal McRae and outfielders Willie Wilson of Kansas City, Ben Oglivie of Milwaukee, Dave Winfield of New York and Carl Yastrzemski of Boston.

The back-up infielders selected were Buddy Bell of Texas, Cecil Cooper of Milwaukee, Harrah, Kent Hrbek of Minnesota, Eddie Murray of Baltimore and Frank White of Kansas City. Backing up starting catcher Carlton Fisk of Chicago will be Lance Parrish of Detroit.

Kansas City leads the AL with five All-Star members, while the Montreal Expos top the NL, also with five members.

Milwaukee and California each placed four players on the AL team while Los Angeles and Philadelphia each have four players on the NL contingent.

The rest of the NL's starting team, announced Tuesday, includes: Pete Rose of Philadelphia at first base; Manny Trillo of Philadelphia at second; Dave Concepcion of Cincinnati at shortstop; Mike Schmidt of Philadelphia at third; and Andre Dawson and Tim Lincecum of Montreal and Dale Murphy of Atlanta in the outfield.

The remainder of the AL starters are Rod Carew of California at first base; Bobby Grich of California at second; Robin Yount of Milwaukee at shortstop; George Brett of Kansas City at third; and Reggie Jackson and Fred Lynn of California and Rickey Henderson of Oakland in the outfield.

HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Saturday, July 10, 1982

YOUR BIRTHDAY July 10, 1982
You should do very well in your career or chosen field this coming year, provided you can subdue your restless desires for change. Build upon your present position and make yourself more valuable.

CANCER (June 21-July 21)
This will be a very enjoyable day if you treat whatever occurs philosophically. Know in your mind that everything will work out fine in the long run. Predictions of what's in store for you for each season following your birth date and where your luck and opportunities lie are in your Astro-Graph, Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
Your gifts to research, probe or detect are exceptionally keen today. If there's information you'd like to ferret out, you'll have no difficulty doing so.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
Persons with whom you deal on a one-to-one basis today will predicate their actions upon the way you treat them. If you are cooperative they'll be so, too.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
It's important to involve yourself in worthy projects today. If you fail to be industrious and productive you'll later feel guilty about wasting your time.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
It will help your romance considerably if you are more demonstrative today with the one you love by letting him or her know how you really feel.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
This is a good day to have a few select friends over to your place. You'll know how to entertain them so that everyone will have an enjoyable evening.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
You need a change of pace today, but try to select fun things to do which are more mental than manual. Do nothing related to your usual work.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
Don't let your income and expenditures get out of balance at this time. See to it that the items you buy don't exceed the surplus you have on hand.

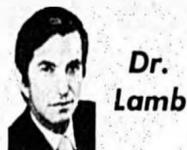

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
You won't do so unless you feel it's necessary, but if you think your leadership is required you'll take change in a manner none will find objectionable.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
Don't let the manana syndrome take over today. Fight tendencies to sweep responsibilities under the rug or postpone what needs doing today.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
Select companions today with whom you feel comfortable. If you choose types you feel you have to entertain, they won't be much fun.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
You're capable of major achievements today, but you're not likely to put forth your best efforts unless you feel strongly motivated or challenged.

Constipation Again With New Medicine

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am now 70, and was troubled with constipation most of my life until I followed your suggestions about bran. By taking two heaping teaspoons of bran mixed with regular cereal on a daily basis, I have not needed a laxative for three years. It has been wonderful and I feel great.

But, alas, now my doctor prescribed Norpace, 150 mg, to correct a heart problem and immediately the constipation returned. I have increased the bran to three heaping teaspoons per day, which has helped some, but the stool is still too hard and not too regular. Also there is quite a bit of straining required.

Should I increase the bran even more or do you have any other suggestions? The heart specialist who prescribed the Norpace always seems too busy and phone calls are taken, relayed and answered by his nurse.

DEAR READER — You need a family doctor to coordinate your health program. He would be able to call your cardiologist and resolve your medication problem.

You might get some benefit from increasing your bran and other sources of bulk but your story is one of a complication of medicine. About 10 percent of the people who take Norpace do develop constipation. As you know, it is used to control heart irregularities. And it is not the only medicine available for that purpose.

Your doctor should change your medication. You should not stop it on your own but it can be changed to something else that will not cause you to have bowel problems.

Straining, by the way, is a good way to trigger serious heart irregularities. There has been more than one heart patient who died from straining on a bedpan in the hospital. I don't think straining is a good idea.

Other medicines may cause constipation, including those used to treat high blood pressure. When possible, if this complication occurs, a different treatment program can be tried.

I am glad you had such good success with bran and am sending you The Health Letter number 184, Spastic Colon, Irregularity and Constipation.

Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I need some information on an aneurysm of the main artery — the aorta. I'm interested in a balloon of the main artery. If a man has the surgery and it is successful, will he live indefinitely or will his life span be only one or two years? I understand that if it is not done the aneurysm will rupture and a person will die from the blood loss.

DEAR READER — An aneurysm is a weakened wall of an artery. It stretches and balloons out. You can have such an aneurysm in almost any location. It can involve the aorta in the chest or further along its course in the abdomen.

Modern surgery for such problems is really excellent. The risk is usually low in experienced hands and the grafts that are put in will last for years and years. Most patients with a successful graft that replaces the aneurysm die from some other event in life such as a heart attack or other unrelated problem.

Each case must be considered on its individual merits but usually such aneurysms should be corrected surgically.

work out for his game contract. He could lead a low club and play his eight spot. As long as East did not hold both club honors he would be sure of gathering in at least nine tricks.

He could also try the diamonds first. If West held four or it broke 3-3, he would also be home.

Then Pete said to himself, "Isn't there some extra safe play to guard against finding four diamonds and both club honors with East? I have to guard against my normal bad luck."

Then Pete found a super-safe line. At trick two, he led the four of diamonds from dummy and played his nine spot. West was in with the 10, but had no way to keep Pete from making four diamonds, three spades, one heart, one club, game and rubber.

Pete's play wasn't absolutely guaranteed. Shift the 10 of diamonds over to East and East could play it on dummy's four and the contract would be doomed. Pete had just added one little extra chance and that extra chance had materialized.

Azalea Care Now Ensures Massive Display In Spring

Azaleas may now be showing symptoms of several ills that can be easily corrected. Take care of them during the summer heat and you will be rewarded with a massive display of blooms next spring.

The most common disorder of azaleas at this time of year is chlorosis. It is characterized by a yellowing of leaf areas between the veins, while the veins remain dark green. This is caused by a lack of available iron.

Chlorosis in azaleas can be corrected by the addition of ordinary agricultural sulfur. However, the more finely ground dusting or wettable sulfurs are more satisfactory. They act more quickly and are more easily incorporated into the soil. Use sulfur at the rate of 1 pound per 100 square feet per application, and do not use more than 2 or 3 applications per year. At least 6 to 8 weeks should elapse between applications.

The homeowner can temporarily correct iron deficiency by spraying plants with a solution of ferrous sulfate at the rate of 1 ounce per gallon of water.

Chelated iron compounds, available at

Desmond Hastings

Urban Horticulturist
323-2500
Ext. 181

most garden centers, are beneficial in correcting chlorosis in azaleas. Chelated iron can be applied to the foliage and/or soil. Because the iron chelates are effective in relatively small amounts, and an overdose may injure the plant, the manufacturers' directions should be carefully followed.

Proper watering is important in the culture of azaleas in the summer. Watch for signs of wilting during hot, dry weather. A thorough soaking of the soil in the root zone about once a week, is all that is necessary, but it must be done thoroughly. Azaleas have shallow feeder roots which quickly dry out in dry soils.

A soil abundantly supplied with organic matter will have good water holding ability and require less frequent waterings. A mulch of pine needles or compost will prevent the loss of moisture from evaporation and will keep the soil cool and moist over the plant's root area.

Azaleas may develop summer symptoms of freeze damage as the lower bark near ground level splits. Damaged branches should be cut back to sound, healthy wood.

Young flower buds may have already formed on the healthy azalea plant in anticipation of next spring's bloom. You must take special care now to see that the azalea plant remains healthy and to protect the potential blooms of spring during summer.

Pruning or shearing of azaleas should be done as soon as the flowering is over and before too much new growth emerges. If pruned during the summer, there is a strong possibility that next year's blooms will be reduced in number, but that's better than no blooms at all.

All Extension Programs are open to anyone regardless of race, color, sex or national origin.

Youth Ranch Film Free To Public

Saturday at 7 p.m. in the Community Hall in Geneva, the Lighthouse Youth Ranch will host the second in a series of films, "Distant Thunder."

The movies are free to the public and would have a special appeal to the "younger generation," but Moms and Dads are likely to enjoy them, too.

Wayne Johnson of Geneva, also owner of the Orangewood Feed & Tack Store in Oviedo, wants to remind everyone that July's monthly gospel sing has been moved from the third Saturday of the month to Monday night, July 12 at 7:30 p.m.

The fabulous Blackwood Brothers will be the feature group for the evening. If the last time the Blackwoods were in Oviedo at the High School commons singing is any indication of the crowd to expect this time, better get there early to get a good seat.

Approximately 1400 people attended the last sing here.

The magical, mystical season of Little League All Star Tournaments is upon us. The 13-year-old senior league team and the senior senior league team from Oviedo Little League have really been putting in the hours practicing for next week's games.

The senior team will face

Altamonte at 7:30 p.m. in Eustis Monday, July 12. According to coach, Dallas Childers, the team will leave the Oviedo field by 5:30 p.m. in a car caravan.

Tom Ferguson, manager of the team, has the following roster of young men to field Monday: Eddie Trembley, Terry Gammons, Chris Redding, Clifford Marimon, Craig Duncan, Ellis Bell, David Wood, Eric Shogren, Tim Portman, Randy Ferguson, Tim Watson, Curren Golden, Mark Hoffman and David Childers.

The 13-year-old team will face their competition, Altamonte, Wednesday at 5:30 p.m. at the Altamonte field. Manager Mike Childers and Coach Dwayne Golden are directing the following mighty team: Jeff McGeath, Mark Merchant, Tony Bellflower, Terry Campbell, Steve Hoffman, Robert King, Jeff Joyce, Aaron Gammons, Geordie Wheeler, Jerrett Kinnaird, Glen Reichle and Tommy Kinnaird.

Good luck Oviedo All Stars.

'Brothers' To Sing In Free Concert

The "Blackwood Brothers" will appear at the Oviedo High School auditorium in Oviedo Monday, at 7:30 p.m. The concert is free to the public. Miss B.J. Johnson of Geneva will appear on the program.

The name, "Blackwood Brothers" is synonymous with Christian music. The name is recognized both nationally and internationally, with the Blackwood Brothers having performed in 38 countries. When the Blackwood Ministry Team is performing, the air is electrified with excitement and the presence of the Holy Spirit is evident by the jubilant smiles of enjoyment and satisfaction upon the faces of those in attendance.

These men have performed before more audiences, traveled more miles, sold more records, and have won more awards than any other group in Christian music. Their new middle of the road style is exciting the young and young at heart alike. You will find every concert offers music appealing to those of all ages.

Currently, the Blackwood Brothers television show is syndicated five times weekly over four cable T.V. networks going into almost every city in America, plus fifteen foreign countries.

The Blackwood Brothers have been recording records for 36 years. They have recorded one-hundred-thirty-one albums, and have sold over 21-million recordings.

BPW Clubwomen Spread Friendship On Tour To Peru

By DORIS DIETRICH
PEOPLE Editor

As the 1982 club season came to a close, 25 members of the Florida Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs departed on an annual hemispheric friendship tour to Peru.

According to Mrs. Marie Accardi, the first day the clubwomen visited Iquitos where they boarded the Amazon Explorer for a 2-hour ride on the World's longest river to reach the Amazon Jungle. Mrs. Accardi said they stayed at the Amazon Lodge which is on stilts above the water in the middle of the marshy jungle.

Amazed at the rustic living conditions, Mrs. Accardi marveled, "The rooms had kerosene lamps. They used kerosene for cooking."

The next morning, the clubwomen boarded a large open boat to visit the Yagua Indian Tribe where the men (attired in grass skirts) demonstrated their skills with deadly blowgun darts. Mrs. Accardi vividly recalls. She said the women were topless and the boys naked while the young girls wore "very short skirts."

The entourage left Iquitos the next day for Lima, the capital.

Mrs. Accardi claims the highlight of the tour was when the 25 clubwomen from Florida joined 50 members of the Peruvian BPW Federation in the international candle lighting ceremony, following by a cocktail party and dinner at "the beautiful residence of Mrs. Yolande de Chavez Cabello, founder of the Peruvian Federation 17 years ago."

"There are now three BPW clubs in Peru with a fourth in the chartering stages, according to Mrs. Accardi.

The president of the Peruvian Federation, Mrs. America Checa, told the Florida delegation that their project this year is to build a home for the elderly and to work with women in jail, Mrs. Accardi mentioned.

Noting that the Peruvian women wear colorful native costumes on the streets in keeping with tradition of their homeland, Mrs. Accardi attested, "We spent 10 wonderful days in Peru where we saw all the important regions and the Andes Mountains."

Mrs. Accardi, a retired pharmacist, is a longtime member of the BPW Club. She says area women who are interested in joining may contact her in DeBary. There is also a BPW Club in Longwood, she says.

Male Graduates Flunk Written Courtesy Test

DEAR ABBY: "Blow, blow, thou winter wind, "Thou art not so unkind "As man's ingratitude."

I think I know why Shakespeare used "man's" ingratitude here: For years I have been mailing checks to soliciting graduates who have thoughtfully sent me announcements of their graduations.

The girls, God bless their thoughtful, grateful hearts, are battling 100 percent in written "thank-you's", whereas, from at least 75 percent of the boys, the only acknowledgment for receipt of gifts is the endorsement on the back of the check. (It is heartening, however, to know that at least the boys can write!)

Now, a bended knee plea to you prospective male grads: Under your endorsement, at least scratch out a "thanks." No, Abby, amend that to read: "Look kid, from now on please write a thank-you note." I am swearing off the thankless sex.

TEED OFF IN TEXAS DEAR TEED OFF: For shame! I know not your gender, nor do I want to know, but pray, judge not all males as thoughtless, lazy ingrates. Shakespeare undoubtedly used "man" to devote all mankind, which included womankind as well. However, to revise all classic literature in an attempt to desex it, would be a man (or woman)-sized job.

DEAR ABBY: Please settle an argument I'm having with my sister-in-law. Her husband died four years ago, and she has never bothered to change the utility bills or credit cards to her name. All her bills are addressed to "Mr. and Mrs." just as though her husband were still living. (There is still a phone listing for "Mr. and Mrs.") She says as long as the bills get paid, it doesn't matter whose name they are in. Nor does it matter how she's listed in the phone book. Is it legal to transact business using a dead man's name?

PERPLEXED IN PA.

DEAR PERPLEXED: A Philadelphia lawyer can tell you what's legal, but why is this a cause for argument? If your widowed sister-in-law, for any reason, wants to retain her charge accounts and telephone listing in the name of "Mr. and Mrs.," why should you care?

DEAR ABBY: This is a reply to "Bitter Daughter," who complained about having to "entertain" friends and relatives she hadn't seen in years following her 85-year-old mother's funeral. Daughter asks, "Where were all these criers the last four years when Mother was in a nursing home waiting for someone to come and visit her?"

First, my sympathy to the daughter. Then my question to her: How many friends did you invite to your mother's 80th birthday party? And how many times did you phone her "cronies" and offer to pick them up and take them to visit your mother? Did you arrange little parties for your mother at the nursing home? Nothing elaborate — just one or two of her friends and some iced tea, cookies and ice cream?

As we sow, so shall we reap. It seems so strange to me that those who have never put themselves out for other expect so much for themselves when the gulping get rough.

My own mother lived life to the fullest and gave of herself as long as she could. Toward the end, the hospital halls were filled with friends because she had been a friend to so many.

Maybe this message will help those who still have time to give of themselves. They will be rewarded.

MOTHER'S DAUGHTER IN EL PASO

DEAR ABBY: My sister-in-law, Margaret, was going to ride along with two other women who came by for her. When they pulled up (both sitting in front) Margaret started to get into the back, when they said, "There's plenty of room for three in front."

As she started to get in, the woman on the right moved to make room for Margaret, and she accidentally stepped on the gas pedal. The car lurched and Margaret was thrown to the pavement and broke her leg. It was a nasty break, which will take a long time to heal.

Please warn your readers to always shift into "park" when people are getting into and out of a car.

Commitment And Patience Key To New Product's Success

NEW YORK (UPI) — For 20 years American industry has tried to find the key to new product success, but with little result according to a survey by Booz, Allen & Hamilton, the giant management consulting and research firm.

One might say things have gotten worse. The computer chewed up the survey data and concluded that only 65 percent of new products were commercially successful between 1976 and 1981, down from 67 percent in the 1963-68 period.

But, said Booz,Allen Senior Vice President J. R. Rockwell, a conclusion that things actually have deteriorated would be misleading. The survey also showed the number of bad new products considered seriously had fallen from 58 for each successful product in a five year period 15 years earlier to seven to one in the most recent period.

Rockwell said that had saved a lot of wasted time and effort and who knows how much money.

"What it boils down to," he said, "is that business has learned a great deal about what not to do in investigating and introducing new products but is just starting to learn the harder task — what positive steps to take to make sure the good ideas succeed."

One such study said recently a big factor was management reluctance to venture into something that might not return a short-term bottom-line profit.

The new Booz,Allen study took a year to complete and covered 700 manufacturers of industrial and consumer goods. About 13,000 product introductions were examined. The study reached several conclusions that ought to concern business. For example:

—The contribution of new products to sales growth of American industry likely will increase by one-third in this decade.

—The more new products a company succeeds in introducing, the more the cost of introducing each goes down — about 20 percent for each doubling of the number of new products.

Stuffed Owl Owner Not A-Fowl Of Law

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI) — Birdwatcher T.R. Vanhorne said he didn't believe the government should be able to take away his stuffed screechowl Igor — and a federal judge agreed.

U.S. District Judge Robert G. Downar, after joking with attorneys about the case Wednesday, reversed Vanhorne's April conviction and $100 fine for illegal possession of an animal on the endangered species list.

Vanhorne, 44, said he fought the conviction because he didn't want the government to take Igor away. "Don't let them (the government) run over you," he said after the court hearing. "Fight it."

An amateur ornithologist, or birdwatcher, Vanhorne said he found Igor in 1975, when the owl's wings were broken in an accident.

He nursed Igor back to health, and the owl lived at his Chesapeake home, sitting on Vanhorne's shoulders, nibbling at his ears and peanuts.

Igor died several months later, and Vanhorne had him stuffed so he could keep him around.

But federal game wardens, spying Igor on display in Vanhorne's motorcycle shop, swooped down and charged him with having an endangered species without a permit.

Vanhorne said he had a falconer's permit when he caught Igor but did not renew it when the owl died.

U.S. Magistrate Gilbert Swink fined Vanhorne, saying he either had to pay the yearly $50 fee for a falconer's permit or turn Igor over to the authorities.

Vanhorne hired an attorney and appealed. Wednesday, Downar overturned the conviction and fine. Vanhorne had lawfully acquired the owl and the taxidermist who stuffed Igor had a right to sell the owl himself.

"Therefore, one could lawfully acquire the owl without a having a license," Downar said.

Vanhorne collected Igor after his hearing and said he was happy to have the owl back. "I'm going to take him home and display him in my shop," he said.

State Pushing For Deer Hunt July 16-19 In The Everglades

MIAMI (UPI) — A circuit judge has scheduled a hearing for Tuesday on whether game officials should be given permission to hold a limited hunting season July 16-19 to prune the deer herd in a 500,000-acre area of the Everglades.

Attorney Michael Hacker of Miami filed a suit last week asking the court to stop the three-day hunt and save the deer.

"I wouldn't call it a hunt. I'd call it a kill," Hacker said Thursday.

Game officials say the hunt is needed to thin out the starving deer population in a huge area flooded by high rains. They say if nothing is done, the herd may be wiped out by starvation.

But Frank Denninger of West Palm Beach, a guide who has hunted deer in the Everglades in the past, says he supports the suit.

"We started thinking, 2,000 is a lot of animals. Why don't we let nature decide this time," Denninger said. "Man keeps trying to control things but we can't do everything."

He said most hunters he had talked to "think it's sick, but the game officials say if you don't do it we will."

The case was originally assigned to Circuit Judge Richard Feder, but it was transferred Thursday to Circuit Judge Edward Klein, who set a hearing for Tuesday, just three days before the hunt is set to begin.

Officials of the Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission said they would issue 3,200 kill permits to owners of airboats and tracked, tank-like hunting vehicles.

Officials said the purpose is to decrease competition for food among the deer population, which numbers about 6,000. The area has been flooded by recent rains, which have sent the deer to small islands where there is a limited amount of food.

"The problem we have is that deer are distressed by high water and we're likely to see deer beginning to die from starvation," said commission spokesman Biff Lampton.

The state originally wanted only about 2,000 deer killed, but continued flooding forced officials to raise the limit to 3,200.

Despite kill permits for 3,200 deer, officials realistically expect about 2,500 to be killed.

"I am outraged — furious," says Ruth Wallace, head of the Coalition of Concerned Citizens for the Big Cypress. "This so-called mercy kill is a pathetic excuse for the Game Commission to take the easy way out."

"The short-term solution is to capture deer and transport them to the Big Cypress where there is plenty of food and high ground and where they are needed," she said.

"I know plenty of people who will volunteer their time and equipment to help reduce the size of the herd by a civilized method."

On the other side is Flip Pallott of South Miami who vigorously supports the game commission plan.

"This is not a hunt, but a sound management tool," he said. "The deer will die. The question is how — by extended suffering or by swift management as directed by biologists who are experts."

"We saw the biologists hit a home run with their controlled hunt (in another area of the Everglades) last year. This is the same situation on a bigger scale."

Sailing Into A Shimmering Vacation Sunset

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

The perfect vacation getaway is described in various ways by different people, but area travel agents say "bon voyage" is the latest word for Seminole County travelers.

"Sail to the sun-kissed beauty of the Caribbean Islands or to exciting Mexico for a vacation you'll always treasure," reads one travel brochure that, along with thousands of other pamphlets, sway vacationers toward a tropical holiday.

"We are definitely booking more cruises this year than in recent years," said Beth Kooman, a Sanford travel agent.

"One main reason for the increase is probably because of the new Scandinavian cruises out of Port Canaveral," she says. "People are taking the cruises there just to see what it's like and end up loving it. So, they book on another cruise for their week or two-week vacation.

"Cruises are up," says Debbie Fowler, who works for another Sanford travel agency. "It's true. People are getting a taste for cruises from the Port Canaveral cruises and decide they like it. I, personally, love cruises."

Area travel agents say that although cruise travel has increased, they are still booking a steady number of flights and even some bus tours.

"We have a lot of people living in this area who are from the North, have relatives up north or have two homes, one here and one there, so we still do a lot of bookings for flights to New York, Michigan, etc.," Ms. Kooman says.

'We're also getting a lot of people who just stop in and want to know about places and attractions here in Florida and along the south

Georgia coastline.' — Debbie Fowler

"People also seem to be taking advantage of the lower air fares to western cities and are flying out there more this season," Ms. Fowler says. "We also have some international travel but there's really not a great jump in the numbers of local people flying to Europe.

"We're also getting a lot of people who just stop in and want to know about places and attractions here in Florida and along the south Georgia coastline," she continues. "We have some material on local vacation spots but they could probably get more information from the chambers of commerce. But we're willing to help them any way we can.

"Most people don't understand how a travel agency works," Ms. Kooman explains. "We don't charge a fee to the traveler for our service. We receive a commission from the airline or shipline, or whatever, for booking a trip with them. They pay us, not the traveler. So, we look to find the best route and means of travel and accommodations for a person because if they are satisfied with our work, they'll come back and they'll refer us to friends."

Ms. Kooman and Ms. Fowler both say that their agencies are "full-service agencies" in that, both provide such services as transportation bookings, cancellations and rebookings, hotel accommodations, tours, rental cars, and, at times, can even recommend restaurants and special events.

"It saves the traveler a lot of time by coming to us because we do the telephoning and we can check flight information right here at the office," Ms. Kooman says. "We even save them the trouble of standing in airports waiting for their tickets because we print the flight tickets or other travel tickets and they pick them up right here."

"The recent problems Braniff Airlines experienced with bankruptcy are a good reason why people should use travel agents," says agent Ruth Moore. "People who bought tickets directly from Braniff couldn't go to Braniff and get their money back for purchased tickets but those who went through a travel agency were able to be refunded the money by the agency. We're a safeguard against such things penalizing the traveler.

"With the airport being at least an hour away from Sanford and ports for cruises being even farther, it just makes sense to use a travel agent to make things simpler," Ms. Kooman says.

How Tattoo Returned To 'Fantasy Island'

DEAR DICK: I am curious as to why Tattoo isn't on "Fantasy Island" and why Roarke has a new assistant. My brother says he heard that Tattoo shot his wife. Is that true? L. Carlson, Bloomington, Ind.

Herve Villechaize, who plays Tattoo, is still around, and he hasn't shot anybody. He was ill for a while, plus he was involved in a contract dispute with the studio, so they used Wendy Schaal, playing Roarke's goddaughter, in a few episodes. But Herve is better now and the contract problem has been ironed out, so he's still around. That's the short and short of it.

DEAR DICK: I want to know why in the commercial for Stove Top stuffing they don't eat both stuffing and potatoes? That is the way we always eat them. Eric Blakeslee, Kalamazoo, Mich.

I like these weighty questions. Commercials are designed to sell products, and they're trying to sell the stuffing mix, not the potatoes. If they advocated eating both potatoes and stuffing mix, some people would eat less stuffing mix and more potatoes, rather than vice versa — unless, of course, they also had rice, which would mean that they would eat less of both the stuffing mix and the potatoes, and more rice. Except on Thursdays.

DEAR DICK: While watching "My Fair Lady" on TV, I wondered who dubbed in the singing voice for Audrey Hepburn. My son, Ken, said she did the vocals herself. Did she? Marilyn Jones, Schoolcraft, Mich.

No, Marni Nixon sang the songs for Audrey.

DEAR DICK: My friend said she read that Jan Michael Vincent died around October of 1981. I think he is still alive. Could you please settle this? Beth Weddle, Columbus, Ind.

Ask Dick
Kleiner

DEAR DICK: Is Robert Conrad of "Wild, Wild West" still alive? My husband says he heard he was killed in a boat accident. C.H., Portage, Mich.

DEAR DICK: On "Policewoman," starring Angie Dickinson, is Earl Holliman, who played her captain, still alive or not? Ed and Bev Van Leer, Quincy, Ill.

DEAR DICK: My father-in-law and I are in disagreement. He says Jackie Cooper died two years ago and I say he's alive. Who is correct? S. Colin, Rock Hill, S.C.

DEAR DICK: I would like to know if Werner Klemperer, who was Col. Klink on "Hogan's Heroes," has died or is still alive and acting. Chris Fortner, Seneca, Mo.

DEAR DICK: Can you tell us if Louis Nye is still with us? A friend says he read he had died some time ago. But I think I saw him on a commercial recently. C. R. Young, Coos Bay, Ore.

I am happy to inform all you people that everybody you asked about is, as this is written, still alive, and still acting.

DEAR DICK: Who was the male lead star in the original movie "Goodbye, Mr. Chips"? Also, could you please tell us who played the female lead? H.M. Miller, Vancouver, Wash.

That marvelous film co-starred Robert Donat and Greer Garson.

DEAR DICK: Please settle this argument. A friend of ours says that Mrs. Olsen, the Folger's coffee lady, is Ann-

Margret's mother. If she isn't, it means a free dinner for the both of us. Becky Bulot and Michelle Pavlak, Michigan City, Ind.

Happy eating! The confusion comes from the fact that Ann-Margret's real name is Olson, but Mrs. Olsen's real name is Virginia Christine. There is no relationship.

DEAR DICK: Would you please tell me the name of the detective series that aired several years ago starring Vincent Baggetta, now on "The Chicago Story." Judy Musketnuss, Williamsport, Pa.

That was called "The Eddie Capra Mysteries."

DEAR DICK: Would you please tell us if Tom Netherton is still with Lawrence Welk? V.C., Athens, Ga.

Nobody is still with Welk. He has quit the show, and the whole company has disbanded, or disorchestrated.

DEAR DICK: Is the little girl on "My Three Sons" who played Dodie the same girl who played Hotsy Totsy on "Welcome Back, Kotter"? Who's right — me or my girlfriend? My sanity depends on it. — MIKE ELKINS, Michigan City, Ind.

I don't know if I am driving you over the edge or not, but the truth is that they were two different girls — Dawn Lyn was Dodie and Debralee Scott played Rosalie (Hotsy) Totzie.

DEAR DICK: I've been racking my brain trying to remember the name of the actor who played Hawkeye on the TV series, "Broken Arrow. I know you'll have the answer. — FAY LOWTHER, Lethbridge, Alberta, Can.

Maybe the reason it's so tough is that there was no Hawkeye on "Broken Arrow." There was a Tom Jeffords (played by John Lupton) and a Cochise (Michael Ansara) and a Duffield (Tom Fadden), but nary a Hawkeye.

DEAR DICK: Please tell me the name of the leading man, the wing commander, who starred on the old series "Twelve O'Clock High." — BRADY PINNER, Rock Hill, S.C.

That was Robert Lansing.

Feast, Famine In Public Broadcasting

NEW YORK (UPI) — Few fortunes shift with more contrary emphasis than those of public broadcasting where feasts and famines frequently dwell in loving coexistence. Thus, while WNET in New York was tightening its belt this week, WQED in Pittsburgh was counting its money.

Both stations are major producers of the PBS fare that last season drew worshipful audiences in numbers never before seen, while federal money for programming was drying up.

For WNET, Reaganomics, a recession and increased satellite transmissions that are cutting into a formerly lucrative tape duplication business in Ann Arbor, Mich., mandated a $7.4 million belt-tightening.

For WQED, a track record including a sizable collection of Emmy and Peabody Awards for children's programming resulted in a $6 million bonanza from what funds the Corporation for Public Broadcasting has left in its coffers.

WQED President Lloyd Kaiser, whose station's overall budget actually is up $1 million this year because heavy local programming has sparked heavy local support, said the $6 million will fund a five-station consortium to produce 26 children's programs for the 1983-1984 season.

A similar consortium, headed by WNET, was funded last year for drama, and the "American Playhouse" series was the result.

"We're living in the era of the consortium," Kaiser said.

"The CPB decided children's programming is its top new priority and it seems to be the priority of American people as well ... There has been tremendous demand for quality programming for young people and their families, and much of the criticism has been that it has not existed anywhere save in public broadcasting."

Even as Kaiser — whose station launched "Mr. Roberts' Neighborhood" 10 years ago and created the highly acclaimed "Once Upon a Classic" series — planned productions to match them, WNET President John Jay Iselin was cutting his budget from last season's $4.8 million to $47.4 million.

"We've tended in the past to be more optimistic about revenues," he said. "This year, there is virtually no gambling."

The one bright light in the WNET budget is a surge in public contributions Iselin said rose in the 1981-1982 season to $13.9 million from the previous season's $12.6 million.

Despite tight money, however, WNET has managed to increase its "operating surplus" from $472,000 to $542,000. Iselin said that kitty constitutes an investment fund for years to come.

"Even though we've had a balanced budget for a decade, we've had virtually no working capital," he said. "We have lived by our wits and by scrambling. We need some sort of working capital to invest today in what will be tomorrow's images."

It's 'Play Ball' For Tuesday's All-Star Game

By PETER MEADE
 On Tuesday when ABC televises the 53rd Major League Baseball All-Star game, it will mark the first time ever that the national pastime's annual battle between the American and National Leagues will be held north of the border. Montreal's Olympic Stadium will be the site.

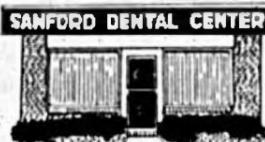

The ABC announcing crew of Al Michaels, Keith Jackson, Howard Cosell and Don Drysdale will be on hand to report the action.
 The starting lineups for the two leagues will again be chosen by fans' balloting. The popularity of the voting has made the All-Star game the largest non-political election in the United States. Since 1970 when the fans began choosing the starting players, Gillette, sponsor for the balloting, has tallied more than 86 million votes. Luckily, presidential elections are not conducted in the same manner as All-

Star balloting, since fans have shown tendencies to prefer certain popular players regardless of their year's performance. But in most cases talent does win out. The California Angels' Rod Carew, one of baseball's best hitters, is the all-time leading vote-getter over the years with a total of 27,317,054 votes. Carew will certainly be on hand again for the American League in this year's contest.
 In the first All-Star game in 1933, Babe Ruth's two-run homer led the American League to a win. This tradition has not held up — the National League has emerged victorious in every interleague contest for the last decade, including 23 out of the last 25. The N.L. leads the series 33-18-1. Is the National League really that much better?

 "I don't think there is much difference," Monte Irvin has said. Irvin is the Hall of Fame outfielder who is now an aide to Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn. "There is so much interchange of players between the leagues. I think the American League has just been unlucky. Once they come out of this rut they might win four or five in a row."
 Tommy Lasorda, manager of the World Champion Los Angeles Dodgers, will be piloting the National League squad. Billy Martin of the Oakland A's will be skippering the American Leaguers, filling in for New York Yankees manager Bob Lemon, who was fired earlier this season.

Do TV Stars Yearn For Broadway?

Successful television actors know that lurking behind the initial hello's from most friendly interviewers is a two-part question: "Wouldn't you rather be in theater and what role would you most like to play?"

Suave, bright John Hillerman, who plays Higgins in CBS' popular "Magnum, P.I.," said the waiter in his hotel restaurant beat me to the query "at lunch yesterday so I have some answers." John says the personable inquisitor was more actor than waiter and was either hoping for his first role, or earning eating money between acting opportunities.

John said he had neither enough spare time nor a deep craving right now for live theater. However, he added, it might be fun to do a few weeks of Noel Coward's "Blithe Spirit," cast with "two wives who are right for my own age. I'd want Betty White (with whom he co-starred in her brief series) as Elvira (the ghost.) And after its run, I would want it taped as a cable-TV special."

But don't hold your breath. John's done Broadway and he did 42 weeks a year at a respected theater in Washington, D.C. "I was never unemployed but always poor until I got into television. I don't miss the applause one bit and I love the money."

Two actresses who also profess love for their series are Katherine Cannon, the co-star of NBC's "Father Murphy," and Denise Miller of CBS' "Archie Bunker's Place." But both hope for a juicy role or two someday on stage. And both have the backgrounds for musicals as well as dramas.

Lithe, well-bred Katherine says that she and her drama coach feel she could fill, and be fulfilled by, a run as complex, tragic Blanche in a revival of "A Streetcar Named Desire."

Spunky, 18-year-old Denise figures: "I'll probably be 40 before the right kind of Broadway role for me comes along. For drama I'd love someday to do 'Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf.' My favorite musical is 'Woman of the Year.'" That stars Lauren Bacall as a talented career woman with a lot of living to her credit including a busted marriage and blighted romances. As Denise wisely reckons, she won't be ready for that for years.

Sinatra's '83 Gala Benefit

By CINDY ADAMS
NEW YORK — Frank Sinatra has already OK'd 1983's major New York City benefit. It's for the Sloan Kettering Memorial hospital and it'll be at Radio City again, Sunday, Jan. 23. It'll be Mr. Sinatra plus a show of his choosing, booking, directing, producing, arranging and organizing... Tom Eyan, who received a Tony for best book of a musical ("Dreamgirls") has a newle, "The Melody of the Glittering Parrot," about

Sarah Bernhardt's understudy. He wants Carol Channing for it. Maybe he should change the title to "Hello, Sarah?"

Danny Aiello is off to Italy to film "Once Upon a Time in America" with Robert De Niro. At least that's what I think he said. Danny's muffled voice came from inside an outfit with a hood... Van Cliburn is surrounded by proteges. He was summoned to the phone while at dinner recently — it was Imelda Marcos on the phone.

Because of Cliburn's famous piano competition, the First Lady of the Philippines called to have a child prodigy show off her etudes. The filipina played, Van listened, his lamb chop cooled and ITT went up five points.

"Romantic Comedy," starring Dudley Moore, begins filming in California July 17. Having signed before he hit it big in "Arthur," Moore will earn the paltry wages of only $1 million...

Commercial TV Fare Means Success For 'Nickelodeon'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Violence on television is nothing new to Cy Schneider. He saw it coming the day the Three Stooges moved from the movie matinee to the tube and he says the networks haven't materially changed the scenario since. Nor have the networks changed their wicked ways where children's programming is concerned, which, from a business point of view, suits Schneider just fine. He is, after all, vice president of the biggest children's channel in the cable business and network neglect of the subject has put Nickelodeon in 8.5 million homes in 1,725 cable systems nationwide.

"The nets haven't changed their policy or what they've done in more than 20 years," he said. "They've concentrated almost all their children's programs on Saturday morning.... We came to a place where there was a natural void and we began to fill it.

"It was a very natural thing for us to do because what you must do in cable television is provide the consumer with something he cannot get on commercial television."

The innovative Nickelodeon since has filled the void left by commercial television with 91 hours of programming a week, with never a head-bashing or a car-smashing in any one of its 15 daily hours.

"They now have pretty substantial evidence that violence on television is causing violent behavior with kids, which was never a mystery to me," Schneider said.

"The old Three Stooges pictures were put in syndication on television 15 or 20 years ago and the source of that humor was guys slapping each other in the head and poking their fingers in each other's eyes, and all that was supposed to be very funny."

He said the only thing the networks have provided by way of an update may be found — not in the so-called "Saturday morning ghetto" of children's programming, but in prime time where the big Nielsen numbers live.

"There are a lot of kids who watch 'Dukes of Hazard,' and that show is dependent on hillbillies cracking up cars for comedy," Schneider said. "I frankly think it is part of a very long tradition of violent solutions. Negotiation is not the long suit of our popular

Saturday morning are no longer doing as much zapping of guys as they used to, but there is still a lot of violent behavior that is a source of comedy and children are imitative. While

Scheider said children now watch an incredible 25 to 30 hours of television a week and that the Saturday morning format — to which even the verable "Captain Kangaroo" now has been relegated by CBS — can command only "about 8 percent of their viewing time."

The rest belongs to Nickelodeon and other purveyors of quality children's fare not pumped from the cartoon mills that have supplied the networks for years.

"I don't mean to knock cartoons, but I think a steady and sole diet of that is more than we need," Schneider said. "We're trying to do something else. We're trying to bring an encyclopedia to a world that's up to its armpits in comic books."

'The superheroes on Saturday morning are no longer doing as much zapping of guys as they used to, but there is still a lot of violent behavior that is a source of comedy and children are imitative. While I don't believe it's doing terrible damage, I can't believe it's doing anybody any good.'

Blockbuster Movies In Your Living Room

Movie theaters are probably the last place on earth you'd find cable viewers who subscribe to any of the premium pay services. If they wait a bit, they'll eventually see all the blockbusters, unedited and uninterrupted, in their homes.

Here are a few major films showing on one pay service, The Movie Channel, in July:

ORDINARY PEOPLE (July 12, 24, 28) — Mary Tyler Moore, Donald Sutherland, Timothy Hutton and Judd Hirsch star in a moving drama, directed by Robert Redford, about an "ordinary" American family whose members are engaged in an emotional tug-of-war of guilt and despair. Timothy Hutton won an Oscar for his portrayal of a teen-ager still smarting from the loss of his beloved older brother. We see another side of Mary Tyler Moore as she plays the aloof mother. In an era when action, stunts and special effects seem to be mandatory in the cinema, "Ordinary People" proves that a "quiet" film can still be a good one. Dramatic tension and realistic interpretations of universal feelings give this film heart. It's rated R, though PG would be more appropriate.

RAGING BULL (July 13, 19, 25) — Robert De Niro is the heart of this film, based on the life of former boxing champion Jake LaMotta. "Raging Bull" is a made-for-DeNiro movie, as the protagonist is a violent, neurotic tough guy — the type DeNiro specializes in. Cathy Moriarty, an unknown who was discovered by chance, gives a subtle and convincing portrayal of LaMotta's abused wife. There are some amazingly realistic fight scenes in the ring. Even though the film was shot in black and white (to capture the feeling of the era in which LaMotta made headlines), it's not for those with weak stomachs. Its cussin' and fightin' earned it an R rating.

KRAMER VS. KRAMER (July 15, 17, 18, 21, 23, 27, 31) — Now for people with weak stomachs. This one is a family film, a real tear-jerker about an estranged husband and wife (Dustin Hoffman and Meryl Streep) battling in court for custody of their child. Justin Henry as the precocious spoiled brat gives a performance that outshines both the stereotypical father and the wimpy mother. Rated PG, this film is worth a look-see, but don't feel bad if you find it's not as good as all the hype led you to believe.

Other films worth checking into this month: "Stardust Memories," "Gloria," "Paradise Alley," "For Your Eyes Only," "S.O.B.," and "Heaven Can Wait."
