'Good Morning America' Coming To Lake Mary?

"Good Morning America," the popular ABC television network news program, may be coming to Lake Mary. At least the Lake Mary City Council gave its permission Thursday night to Carl Weist, an official of the Natural Resources Group (NRG) to invite the television program to the city. The purpose is to promote the efforts of NRG to get city water customers to install water-conservation devices in their homes.

NRG, a nonprofit corporation headquartered in Milford, Conn., and Boston, promotes water conservation through the use of gadgets in homes.

The council, as part of the program, agreed to use some $10,000 from its water funds to initiate the program with assistance from NRG.

And the council instructed City Attorney Gary Massey to prepare an ordinance for later adoption requiring home-builders to install water-saving devices in new houses.

At the same time, City Manager Phil Kulbes reported that a St. Johns River Water Management District (SJRWMD) study shows that the level of the St. Johns declined by two feet from February 1981 to this past February.

"Consumption of water in the area is at an alarming rate," Kulbes said. He noted that many homeowners in addition are installing shallow wells for lawn irrigation purposes.

Some of those who have installed shallow wells are crossing those lines to tap into city water supplies, contaminating city systems in the process, Kulbes said.

He noted that tapping into city water systems in this fashion violates state law. And shallow wells can cause sinkholes, Councilman Richard Fess said.

Kulbes said the SJRWMD will be asking the Legislature to adopt a law requiring homeowners to seek permission before installing shallow wells.

In another matter concerning water conservation, Councilman Gene McDonald asked Kulbes to write a letter to the management of the Mayfair Country Club criticizing its using water to fill hazards at the golf course.

"Tell them we look with disdain on their pumping water into ponds while the whole world is trying to save water," McDonald said. "I know we have our nose under their tent, but they are a neighbor."

The country club property is owned and leased by the city of Sanford to a private group. Sanford supplies water to the golf course just as it does to Lake Mary.

And city negotiations with Frank Stenstrom to buy one or more old wells have collapsed, Kulbes said. Stenstrom informed the city he is no longer interested in selling the wells.

The council was optimistic that it could purchase one or more of the wells as a nucleus for its own water system. Kulbes estimated it would cost a minimum of $24,000 for the city to drill its own well, install casing and a pump. He was instructed to investigate whether federal or state funds are available to the city for such a project.

On promoting the water-saving gadgets, Weist of NRG said it would cost a minimum of $10,000 for his group to come into the city with a program promoting their installation.

Kulbes said the city could expect as a result of the promotion to have at least 40 percent of the city's 860 water customers install the devices, which include plastic-covered spring-steel baffles for water closets and especially designed shower heads. The shower heads wrap air around water for a finer spray to cut down on water use.

The council voted unanimously to cash in money-market certificates in the Water Department fund to finance the program. The certificates can be redeemed May 26.

Hickman Tries Again

I-4 Park Sewer Plea Rejected By Sanford

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Dr. J.W. Hickman, owner-developer of the I-4 Industrial Park, has made another request to the city of Sanford to incorporate his sewer utility plant into the city system.

Hickman has made two similar requests to the city in recent years. "This was merely to test the waters in Sanford as Dr. Hickman has previously done," said Greg Drummond, a spokesman, today.

Drummond explained that Hickman never wanted to be in the sewer utility business — he owns the Lake Monroe Utilities Corp. — but had to because the service was not available from another source.

Hickman's major interest has been in developing his industrial park, located off State Road 46 and abutting Interstate 4.

But now may not be the time for Sanford to be concerned with expanding its sewer system to serve more customers. The city is having its own problems with the state Department of Environmental Regulation (DER).

Not only has Sanford had to abandon plans to expand its Poplar Avenue sewer treatment plant into a regional facility to serve all the north end of the county, but its current operations are in jeopardy.

DER officials several months ago told the city its "waste load allocation" — permission to continue dumping highly treated effluent into Lake Monroe — may be pulled.

If the city is denied this method of effluent disposal, it would have to go the more costly route by acquiring a large tract of land to land-spread the effluent.

The new ruling from DER came after the city had spent $450,000 in city, state and federal funds toward the regional concept. Some $113,000 of the money came from city coffers.

To heap insult on injury, the city a few weeks ago received a letter from another section of the DER asking what progress it had made toward the regional concept.

The DER official, Dick York, administrator of the sewage technology and planning section, Bureau of Wastewater Management and Grants, in a letter to Sanford from Tallahassee said he had "noted an apparent lack of activity" in the development of the regional concept.

The city of Lake Mary, counting on the Sanford regional facility to increase its industrial growth, considered the DER letter to Sanford the last straw.

Lake Mary Councilman Ray Fox told Lake Mary City Manager Phil Kulbes to get out a blunt letter to the governor. "We might get faster action if you point out the idiocy of statements" in the York letter, Fox said.

He said Kulbes' letter to Gov. Bob Graham should make it clear that Lake Mary is supporting Sanford in every way and that the governor should be advised to have his DER appointees either "learn to read and write or drop out of the program."

Saying the cities have tried to be nice with the state for years, Fox said this approach has not worked. "We've tried nice for six years; let's try nasty," he said.

In the meantime, Sanford City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles has been trying to work with DER officials out of Orlando to solve the Sanford sewer problems in a proper balance.

The balance, Knowles is suggesting, is to let the people live while allowing the community to provide sewage treatment.

Science Fair Set Saturday

While many schools around the country observed National Energy Education Day today with special activities and projects, Seminole County school children will be focusing their efforts on a Festival of Science to be held Saturday at Seminole Community College.

There will be both indoor and outdoor activities and displays around the campus at Five Points, south of Sanford, including the gymnasium and science wing, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. There will be energy-oriented projects such as solar water heaters and solar ovens.

Three hundred to 400 students from kindergarten through 12th grade will participate. Students also will compete in an "Ecology Bowl" quiz contest.

In addition to exhibits and demonstrations, students will compete in the Science Olympics events. The festival is open to the public.

The Southern Bell Telephone Co. will conduct a light-wave demonstration, the Central Florida Zoo will bring a collection of live animals, and the Central Florida Rocketry Club will launch rockets. There will be a space-time machine and a laser program.

Dum lights, empty parking lots, and cold lunches are part of the program today at many schools in observation of the day.

Gerry Katz, a former physics teacher who started the "day" four years ago, says students and teachers in 10,000 schools across the nation will take part in the observance.

In some schools, lights will be lowered; in others, teachers and students will save energy by using something besides a car to get to school. Katz says on energy day last year teachers at Milton High in Milton, Wis., were offered rides on horseback.

The cold lunches will be served at some schools saving energy by turning off kitchen things that heat.

Katz said energy day has gotten so big he resigned his teaching job in Greenville, N.Y., and now works out of energy day headquarters in Reston, Va.

At Marlboro, Mass., high school, Katz said, students will put on debates on energy deregulation and a program entitled "Energy Night Live" will top the day featuring eight skits.

Mayor Wants To Remove Casselberry Planner

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

Citing offensive conduct and abusive language by the city planner, Dale MacMahan, Casselberry Mayor Owen Sheppard is seeking the immediate removal of the seven-year veteran planner.

In a hand delivered letter to MacMahan Thursday evening, Sheppard informed him he is requesting the Civil Service Board "to convene an immediate hearing" to review charges filed against MacMahan.

Sheppard said the charges have been documented since last June 4 until the final one on March 8, which was filed by Sheppard.

"The charges include conduct unbecoming an employee of the city, offensive conduct toward a fellow employee and offensive conduct before the public," Sheppard said. "I filed the most recent charge against Dale for using abusive language in the hallway with the public standing there."

MacMahan said he has not had an opportunity to confer with his lawyer concerning the charges and declined to comment as to what course of action he will take.

"I received the mayor's letter via a police detective at my home last night at about 9:45," he said from his City Hall office today. "I don't know what I'll do yet, except that I plan to discuss it with my lawyer."

Sheppard said that under Civil Service Board guidelines MacMahan has a choice of two options. He can resign immediately or take the matter to the Civil Service Board, he said.

"My action as mayor and administrator of the city to remove Dale is the result of a culmination of things that have come to a head," Sheppard said. "I am taking the action I feel is necessary to correct the problem."

"I consider Dale to be a very good city planner," Sheppard added. "Unfortunately, I cannot condone his conduct."

MacMahan, who joined the city Feb. 10, 1975, receives an annual salary of $22,581. He is charged with overseeing the comprehensive urban planning program for the city, including working closely with contractors, developers, planners and city residents in preparing site plans.

No date has been set for the Civil Service Board's consideration of the charges against MacMahan.

Savings & Loans

In Central Florida, Their Health Is Good

By JOE DESANTIS
Herald Staff Writer

While the high cost of borrowing money, competition from money market certificates and mutual funds, and higher unemployment rates continue to pose major headaches for savings and loan institutions nationwide, Central Florida-based S&Ls appear to be weathering the recession in a healthier manner than their national counterparts.

A check with several local S&Ls reveals that while the national picture remains bleak for the lending institutions Florida's continuing population and business growth is playing a major role in the condition of local S&Ls. And while mortgage foreclosures are increasing in other areas of the country, especially in the Northeast, savings and loan officials agree that Florida remains in a better financial condition than the rest of the country.

"When the cost of money exceeds the return on your loan portfolios, and with the competition from mutual funds, money market certificates and other investments coming into play," says Tom Berrell, "that's where the savings and loan business gets hurt."

Berrell, division manager for Security First

Federal Savings & Loan in Longwood, feels Florida is the place to be during the current recession.

"Being in the savings and loan business, there's no other place in the country I'd rather be right now," he said.

"Construction is continuing and the business community and population continues to grow rapidly. I don't believe that the major savings and loan institutions nationwide are in peril of insolvency. There are problems, especially in the northeastern part of the country."

"Large cities there have declining population bases, and right now they have very little loan demand," said Berrell. "A few savings and loans have gone by way of merger."

While higher interest rates on mortgages are scaring the public away from new home purchases, the increased cost of living, higher unemployment and the general impact of current inflation levels appears to have little effect on Seminole homeowner's ability to meet their monthly mortgage payments.

Surprisingly, the delinquency levels on mortgage payments are as good as they've ever been," said Berrell. "People don't seem to be having problems. The savings and loans are willing to work with people when they do have problems. The last thing anyone wants to do is lose his home, and the last thing we want to do is take it."

Dot Brenner, vice president of First Federal Savings & Loan of Mid-Florida in Sanford, agrees with Berrell.

"We feel good. The last few weeks our savings flow has increased. If you had asked me about six weeks ago, I would have said the picture was gloomy," Mrs. Brenner said.

"I'd have to say Florida is healthier than the national picture, despite the unbelievable adverse publicity that savings and loans have been receiving," she said.

With respect to late mortgage payments and foreclosures Mrs. Brenner says that while S&Ls may have been a little more lenient in the past on delinquencies, most of them are staying on top of late mortgage payment notes.

"Normally we start foreclosure proceedings when a mortgage is 90 days in arrears," she said. "We'll work along with people, but we want the mortgages cleaned up. Even with the way the economy is, after 90 days we have to start sitting on people," she said.

"I'm not saying we won't work with a mortgage holder if he has a problem, but staying current with payments has helped our cash flow," she added.

Park Federal Savings & Loan Association, Fern Park, which became part of Pioneer Federal Savings & Loan following a Feb. 1 merger with Pioneer Federal, is pretty much in the same position as other local savings and loans.

"Up north, foreclosures are becoming a bigger problem," agreed Pioneer vice president and regional manager Walt Metzendorf.

"But we haven't noticed a rise in Florida or in Seminole County. I think that's due to the conservatism of the local savings and loans in this area. They just don't make bad loans," he said.

"Late mortgage payments become critical after 90 days," Metzendorf said. "But we feel the way most institutions do. We'll work with people on an individual basis. I've seen some go as late as six months, but in those cases the individual is definitely making an effort to pay," he added.

IN BRIEF

Reagan Cheered By Slight Increase In Housing Starts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan embraces the slight increase in housing starts as a sign of an upturn in the economy. The housing industry itself, however, remains troubled.

Reagan today was to meet with housing industry leaders, at their request. He planned to offer White House help to seek solution to their financial problems.

The president appears powerless, however, to do anything about housing's major headache — high interest rates — that have stymied home sales for several months.

Workers Earn, Spend More

By United Press International
American workers earned more last month, had more to spend, and apparently went out and spent it. At the same time, they seemed to save less.

Figures released by the government Thursday showed personal income rose 0.5 percent in February and disposable income — that left over after taxes and government fees — also increased 0.5 percent.

Last-Minute Rehearsal

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — With the countdown rolling toward Monday's blastoff, the space shuttle pilots added a final re-entry rehearsal to their schedule today to hone up for a landing between two mountain ranges in southern New Mexico.

Space workers at waterlogged Edwards Air Force Base in California loaded hundreds of tons of ground servicing equipment aboard the "shuttle express" — a 23-car train bound for the White Sands Missile Range in time to support any possible emergency shuttle landing as early as Monday.

The immunization clinic for children at the Midway Community Center will be held each second and fourth Thursday of the month from 8 to 11 a.m., not on Fridays as stated in Wednesday's Evening Herald. The Herald regrets the error.

Camp-O-Ree Weekend

The Seminole District of Central Florida Council, Boy Scouts of America will hold the 1982 Spring Camp-O-Ree at the property north of Cranes Roost Boulevard located behind the Altamonte Mall today through Sunday.

The Camp-O-Ree and Scout Show will include Scouting skills and demonstrations of bridge and tower building. More than 600 Scouts in Seminole County will compete for awards during a Skill-O-Rama on Saturday.

The Public is invited to see Scouts in action. There will be a campfire program 7-9 p.m. Saturday.

WEATHER

United Press International
Indiana residents today feared another round of thunderstorms would pound saturated sandbag dikes at Fort Wayne, sending a wall of water rushing through the submerged city where 10,000 are homeless and 19 dead in a week of flooding. A batch of tornadoes raked Texas, Kansas and Oklahoma early today, leveling one home and damaging others, ripping roofs of trailers, knocking out power to many towns and injuring at least five people. Flash flood watches were posted for parts of Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Iowa and Indiana as thunderstorms packing high winds and hail churned toward the Midwest. Bloating rivers in Fort Wayne pushed near record levels Thursday and more rain today could burst man made dikes already taxed to the limit by flood waters, displacing thousands more and flooding hundreds more homes. Six days of flooding in Indiana, Michigan and Ohio, and a flurry of tornadoes that swept the Plains this week have killed at least 19 people, routed 10,000 from their homes and caused at least $39 million in property damage.

Armed Bandits Rob Sanford Shoe Store

By TENIYARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

Sanford police are investigating the armed robbery of a Sanford shoe store in which a man and a woman entered the store and stole an undetermined amount of cash and two gold necklaces.

A man, wearing a black cowboy hat, and a woman walked into the Payless Shoe Store, 2434 French Ave., at about 7:15 p.m. Thursday and, at gunpoint, demanded money and two necklaces one clerk was wearing, police said. The thieves were armed with a .22-caliber revolver.

The bandits forced clerks Christopher Kusik, and Pauline D. Morse, into a storage room and then fled.

RIP OFF THE "PITTS"

Five University of Pittsburgh students and a Ft. Walton Beach man staying at a Longwood motel reported someone broke into their rooms and stole about $230 cash.

Paul M. Westwood, 18, and Timothy J. McAloon, 20, both of Pittsburgh, said someone broke into Room 235 at the Quality Inn at State Road 434 and Interstate 4 between 10:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. Wednesday and stole $40 from each of their wallets, deputies said.

At about the same time, thieves stole $50 from Darrell Gissendamer, 21, also of Pittsburgh, who was staying in Room 293 at the motel, deputies said. Gissendamer told deputies the money was stolen from his wallet which was lying on a table by the bed.

John J. Solomon, 22, Pittsburgh, who was staying in Room 285 at the motel and Mike C. Miller, 21, Pittsburgh, was staying in Room 279 at the motel, said thieves also broke into their rooms Wednesday afternoon, deputies said. The thieves stole $50 from Solomon, but nothing was reported missing by Miller, Thomas K. Manning, 25, of Ft. Walton Beach, told deputies thieves stole $50 from his suitcase in Room 215 sometime between noon and 10:30 p.m. Tuesday.

TRIO CHARGED IN COW KILLING

Three persons have been arrested and charged with the unlawful killing of livestock.

Shirley Crouch, 27, of Edgewater, Fla.; Joseph Thigpen, 31, of Osceola Road, Oviedo; and Steven Girtler, 29, of 132 E. Woodland Dr., Sanford, were arrested at 5:19 p.m. Wednesday and charged in connection with the killing of a 250-pound calf at a pasture southeast of Sanford, sheriff's deputies said.

Ms. Crouch and Thigpen were released from the county jail on $5,000 bond. Girtler was still being held today.

LONGWOOD HOME BURGLARIZED

Thieves broke into a Longwood man's home sometime between 11:30 a.m. and 3 p.m. Wednesday and stole over $1,600 worth of property.

Merrill Joseph Sinder, 37, of 341 Forrest Park Court, told deputies someone broke into his home and stole a camera, leather wallet, binoculars, checks, stereo headphones, two clocks and a color television set.

SWEET CRIME

Someone poured sugar into the gas tank of a Sanford woman's car sometime between 8:30 p.m. Sunday and 7:30 a.m. Monday, causing about $200 damage to the vehicle. Leola Pryor, 47, of 1802 Coolidge Ave., told Sanford police her car was parked in front of her home when it was vandalized.

SKELLETAL REMAINS IDENTIFIED

Skeletal remains discovered March 6 by a Longwood man in a wooded area near an Interstate 4 rest area in Longwood have been identified as those of a 35-year-old Orlando man.

Seminole County sheriff's deputies said the identity of Dennis Ray Kreisler was determined after investigators matched his Army dental records with those of the skeleton. Kreisler's death appears to be a suicide by asphyxiation, according to the county medical examiner.

"It was determined that he had apparently tied a plastic bag around his head and suffocated himself," said sheriff's spokesman John Spolski.

Deputies said Kreisler's wife had received a suicide note from her husband and later discovered the couple's van in the wooded area near the I-4 Longwood exit.

Spolski said details concerning the suicide are "sketchy" because Kreisler's disappearance was reported to Orange County authorities by Mrs. Kreisler and "our department didn't become involved with it until the skeleton was found by a Longwood man in Seminole County."

The skeleton was discovered at about 7:45 p.m. March 6 by Gregory R. Kane, 22, of Longwood, as he chased a dog into the wooded area. Kane notified deputies of his discovery.

HOPPINESS IS...

Michelle Lyon, 7-year-old second grader at Wilson Elementary School, Sanford, has a grin to match that of the peculiar green fellow sitting on her head. On Wednesday, second graders at the school presented a program on toads and frogs, comparing the two amphibians through the use of poems, dances, songs, and puppets. Teachers Carol Baker and Pauline Kirkpatrick pronounced the project a "hopping success."

Hold down electric costs with a new Watt-Wise™ home.

If you're building or buying a new house, the wisest move you can make is into a Watt-Wise home. Because it's constructed with a combination of energy-saving features that meet FPL's standards, so you can save on the cost of electricity every month, every year. Just how much you save will depend on your lifestyle and conservation efforts.

Among the many cost-saving options of a Watt-Wise home are: extra ceiling and wall insulation, solar or heat-recovery units for water heating, and a high-efficiency air conditioner or heat pump.

Other easily included power savers are fluorescent lighting, a microwave oven, and thermally efficient windows and doors to minimize heat build-up.

Your new Watt-Wise home will not only help you hold down the cost of electricity, but it will help reduce FPL's dependence on costly oil, which will benefit everyone.

Below is a list of builders who can tell you more comforting facts about Watt-Wise homes.

Encouraging the construction of energy-efficient homes to save you money is another way we're working hard at being the kind of power company you want.

What Comes After Brezhnev?

The Soviet Union is drifting toward a dangerous crisis that arises from a critical flaw in its own political system, namely how a new leader can succeed to power without a national convulsion. This problem is one of the highest prices the Kremlin must pay for its lack of legitimacy.

The unexpected death of Mikhail A. Suslov at age 79 on Jan. 15, shortly after suffering a stroke, is an urgent reminder that the months and even the days of the aging oligarchy now governing the Soviet Union may be numbered. Leonid I. Brezhnev, president and secretary of the Communist Party, is 75, noticeably enfeebled, and afflicted with poor health. Most of his colleagues in the top reaches of the Kremlin are more than 70. A complete change of leadership cannot be far away and, indeed, reliable indications suggest a struggle for power — an early maneuvering for advantage — is already underway in Moscow.

For a better understanding of the Soviet succession crisis, we must examine the decisive influence exerted by Suslov over the Soviet system during his long life and, indeed, even in death. Suslov possessed perhaps the finest intellect within the Politburo. He occupied the number-two position in the official Soviet hierarchy, by choice it is said, but he exercised an undisputed primacy over policy. He was Joseph Stalin's ruthless surrogate on the Politburo, the living link with Vladimir I. Lenin and the Communist revolution almost 65 years ago.

But Suslov was much more. He was the unique defender of the faith, the powerful guardian of ideological purity against corruption of counter-revolutionaries and Westerners, whom he called "the class enemy" to the end of his days. It was Suslov, the eminence grise of the Kremlin, who engineered the overthrow of Nikita Khrushchev in 1964 and enthroned the neo-Stalinist Brezhnev. Suslov was chiefly responsible for crushing the 1956 Hungarian revolt, for ending the 1968 liberalization in Czechoslovakia, and finally for the martial law crackdown in Poland. It was Suslov who ordained the collective Soviet leadership under Brezhnev for the last 18 years — ever pressuring for advantage against the Free World but avoiding rash confrontations such as the Khrushchev-inspired Cuban missile crisis.

Although Suslov vigorously supported the Soviet military in its unprecedented buildup, he zealously blocked all generals and admirals from the seat of power. Suslov was behind the ouster of famed World War II hero, Marshal Georgi Zhukov, from the party Presidium in 1957, and he saw to it that no professional military man sat on the ruling Politburo.

Had Suslov outlived Brezhnev, he would undoubtedly have played a major role in selecting a hard-line successor from the party hierarchy. As it is, his absence has magnified the vacuum at the top and created an opportunity for military encroachment into the Kremlin. The collapse of Communist Party authority in Poland and its replacement by military rule — an unprecedented development in the entire history of communism — has to be of extraordinary interest these days to Soviet military leaders. The generals are reported to be contemptuous of the Communist hierarchy's appetite for luxury and, more recently, of the corruption in the highest circles — black market scandals involving close friends of Brezhnev's daughter, Galina, and also Brezhnev's brother-in-law, Gen. Semyon Tsygunc, who died mysteriously in January, reportedly a suicide.

Meanwhile, the number-two position, which Suslov occupied, is being filled by Konstantin U. Chernenko, 71, Central Committee Secretary, Brezhnev's protegee and heir apparent. But, when the time comes, Chernenko may last no longer than Georgy Malenkov, Stalin's anointed heir who was toppled by Suslov and Khrushchev within three years.

Actually, no one in the Kremlin, and least of all Brezhnev, can know who will emerge on top because the Soviet system has no mechanism for transferring power. As with so much Communist history, this decision ultimately will be made by force and then sustained through terror. The victor of such a struggle must be a shark among sharks. Whoever the next ruler over all the Russians turns out to be, he will be of the utmost significance for the world because his finger will be on the nuclear button and he will command the mightiest military machine in the history of mankind.

BERRY'S WORLD

"I submit that we should all go down to the Caribbean Basin and check things out while the weather is still crummy around here."

By JOE DeSANTIS

As the old truck-driving song goes, "Caffeine, nicotine, benzedrine and wish me luck." That combination has been known to get a trucker from sea to shining sea in record time.

It could also get him or her busted or dead. Benzedrine is illegal. And cigarettes, if you choose to believe the surgeon general, cause cancer, heart attacks and bad breath.

So coffee, with caffeine as its main ingredient, is the lone legal eyepener.

To show you just how important coffee is to our functioning society, the Encyclopedia Britannica devotes eight full pages to the bitter bean. Read them and you will discover that lore has it that some sheep once ate the bean and began acting crazy. The critters looked like they were having so much fun, the shepherd ate a few. He got crazy, too. Practically stoned (this was the world's first caffeine high), he rushed into town and began spreading the word.

The word was this: It doesn't taste like much, but oh, what it'll do for your spirits.

It is suspected that had not this shepherd dared taste the bean, the world would still be floundering in the Dark Ages. Thanks to coffee, man's mind began to click and progress was waiting to show us the way to modern times.

According to a survey by the National Coffee Association (NCA), Americans managed to drink an average of 1.92 cups of coffee per day in 1981. Forty percent of the population drinks their coffee black, the rest down it with some com-ination of cream and sugar. The largest group of coffee drinkers is aged 30 to 59.

Coffee is the most popular drink, excluding water, in this country, according to the NCA. People in the Northeast drink the most, men drink slightly more than women, most coffee is consumed at breakfast, and only six percent of the population drinks decaffeinated coffee.

So much for coffee trivia. Then there's the TV commercial which has Juan Valdez alive and well in Colombia picking coffee beans by hand and singing his very own song: "These are the hands of Juan Valdez, stubborn man as the story says, plants and picks and sorts by hand the finest coffee in the land..." In the key of C, please.

According to national Chamber of Commerce statistics, central Florida is one of the top places in the country to live. It's economically sound and growing rapidly. Progress has adopted the area. To give credit where credit is due, you have to seriously wonder just how much coffee has contributed to the evolution of central Florida.

Almost every grocery store in town devotes at least half an aisle to coffee, and there's probably at least a half dozen stores that devote whole walls to special blends. That's probably because nearly every home has a coffee pot.

Research indicates that without a caffeine fix in the morning, half the area workforce wouldn't make the curtain call. Every restaurant in town peddles coffee. A goodly portion of the working masses make a ritual out of it, leaving their place of employment to meet a few friends at their favorite hideaway and sit around sipping coffee and discussing everything from football to babies to bridge.

This is normally done around 10 a.m. or so because the first-thing-in-the-morning caffeine fix takes a nosedive about that time.

Of course, everyone can't leave their jobs at once. (The resulting economic chaos would baffle the mind. And the traffic jams...) So, the central Florida area has a dozen or so companies that place coffee, pots, and mixers on site.

Coffee makes beady little eyes wide and bright by making the heart beat like a runaway metronome. Stop by a place where people meet for coffee and take a close look. Eyes are glazed and gaze idly into the distance, words are few and mumbled, tempers short. The cup is raised and the ticker quickens. Before you know it, caffeine highs abound and the workforce is functional.

But all is not well in Coffeland. Consumption and sales of the beverage are down and have been sliding lower since 1962.

"It's hard to give a specific reason for the decline," says David Kuhner, NCA director of public relations. "Some trace it to the Brazilian freeze which sent prices up; some say it's the country's health awareness, but the decline started long before that."

I don't know about the decline. I do know that around most newsrooms, almost as much coffee is consumed as ink.

ROBERT WALTERS

Democracy In The Work Place

WASHINGTON (NEA) — At first glance, the corporate headquarters of Consumers United Group in a downtown office building here appears to be no different from any other thriving, big-city commercial enterprise.

Some workers scurry about the office while others concentrate on tasks at their desks. Telephones ring constantly. A mainframe computer quietly digests, analyzes and spews out data needed to serve the firm's clients.

The sale of health and life insurance, an important component of CUG's business, last year produced $80 million worth of premiums. During the past decade, the company's customers have included some of the country's largest banks, department store chains and military fraternal organizations.

Behind that business-as-usual facade, however, CUG is unlike any other corporation for this country.

At a time when those who formulate public policy are becoming increasingly intrigued by "work place democracy" as a means of expanding the productivity of the nation's work force, CUG is a model of that concept in action.

"All of us who work here have an equal voice in the management of the company," says James Gibson, CUG's 50-year-old founder, who is clearly disturbed by the fact that "I still have too much influence here."

Although Gibson is the closest thing in the CUG hierarchy to a chief executive officer, he doesn't even have the power to make major decisions for fellow employees. Twice in recent years, for example, he wanted to move the corporate offices to a new location in this city — and twice he was overruled by a vote of the firm's approximately 300 workers.

Like many major Japanese companies that have become objects of fascination for corporate planners in this country, CUG has a firm policy of guaranteeing continuous employment to its permanent personnel rather than furloughing or dismissing workers when business declines.

Thus, when CUG lost a major customer last year, its employees all remained on the payroll but agreed to accept temporary salary reductions ranging from 8 percent to 22 percent, with the biggest cuts sustained by those paid most.

Those reductions eventually will be returned to CUG's workers — with interest — as business improves in the firm's specialties of financial planning, group insurance sales, health promotion and computer time-sharing.

Nobody gets fired by a boss at CUG because of alleged poor performance. Workers whose competence is questioned are judged by a committee of their peers, then have the right to appeal a decision to terminate their employment to a company-wide five-member Personal Justice Committee.

Fat Cats May Grab Off Public Lands

WASHINGTON — It's time someone blew the whistle on a Reagan administration scheme that could lead to one of the biggest land grabs by greedy private interests in the nation's history.

The plan is to sell off some of the more than 700 million acres of land now owned by the federal government, as a means of reducing the national debt and gaining tax revenue from its development.

The plan's backers have even coined a government-style word for the process: "privatize." It's a peculiar choice, reminiscent of "privatize," the 18th-century name for a government-licensed pirate. But by any name, the scheme has a fishy smell to it, and I'd like to publicize the privatizers before they succeed in squandering our children's priceless heritage.

The idea of selling off Uncle Sam's real estate evolved out of the so-called Sagebrush Rebellion, a movement to give individual states the federal lands within their borders. There was widespread suspicion that the

Music Hurts Musicians

By AL ROSSITER JR.
UPI Science Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Hearing loss among devotees of pop music and rock and roll bands has been recognized for sometime, but two English researchers say musicians in orchestras also have to worry about noise damaging their hearing.

Those players sitting close to the orchestra's brass and percussion sections were found to have the most serious problems.

"Our findings give a clear indication that orchestral musicians can be exposed to potentially damaging sound pressure levels," reported Graham A. Westmore of Pilgrim Hospital in Lincolnshire and Ian D. Evernden of Atkinson Morley's Hospital in London.

As expected, the noise varied with music being played. The researchers reported in the doctor's magazine "Archives of Otolaryngology" that they measured the sound generated during a variety of works to get a balanced view of the overall sound levels to which a musician may be exposed.

Measurements were made during the rehearsals of six different pieces — Bruckner's Symphony No. 8 in C minor, Mozart's Symphony No. 35 in D major, Ponce's Guitar Concerto, Bartock's Ovar Khayyam Suite, Britten's opera Billy Budd and Prokofiev's ballet Romeo and Juliet.

"It is immediately apparent that a day spent playing a Mozart symphony entails no hazard to hearing, whereas this may not be true of a day spent playing Bruckner," the report said.

Of a total recording time of 14.4 hours, sound pressure levels exceeded 90 decibels for 3 1/2 hours and equalled or exceeded 120 decibels for little more than 1 minute. (A motorcycle 25 feet away produces sound levels of about 90 decibels.)

The researchers said considerably louder sound levels — always generated by the percussion section — occurred but for periods too short to measure.

Of the 68 ears of 34 musicians tested for hearing loss, the researchers found that 23 ears had impaired hearing. The most severe hearing loss occurred among woodwind players — those who are most commonly seated in front of the brass and percussion sections.

Although hearing loss was relatively common, the report said in most cases the loss was slight and no cases of permanent disablement or inability to work came to light during the study.

Unfortunately, the researchers said, the effects of noise and age on hearing are additive and the effect of a minor hearing loss sustained early in a working career may become substantial in older age.

The report said most musicians discreetly use earplugs to protect their ears, but often these consist only of cotton which the researchers said is relatively ineffective.

They said some orchestras ease the problem by raising the percussion and brass sections to a higher level.

"Finally, it must be stated that, by their own admission, many orchestral musicians actually enjoy and receive a form of physical as well as aesthetic stimulation from the barrage of sound to which they are subjected," the report said.

"This must be akin to the experience of devotees of discotheques, although it seems unlikely that anyone there is actually listening to the music."

Matter Of Survival Bargaining

The self-congratulatory sounds coming out of Detroit in the wake of the contract settlement with Ford are muted, as well they ought to be.

In the usual jargon of labor negotiations, the union's acceptance of a scaled-down wages and benefits package in return for a tentative management commitment to job security is being hailed as a breakthrough.

If so, it's certainly not on the same front industry negotiators have been contending for the last half-century. In fact, to a union rank and file accustomed to most of everything every three years, it may look more like a breakthrough to the rear.

But little choice of direction was involved. The auto workers were faced with the necessity of easing the financial strain for the troubled automaker or accepting the loss of large numbers of jobs as plants closed and other and cheaper sources of parts were found for the assembly lines of those remaining open.

If breakthrough isn't quite the term to describe what went on at Ford, there is one that does. It's concession bargaining, and there's going to be a lot more of it going on. Still in the auto industry, General Motors workers, after some initial balking, now appear ready to at least talk about following suit.

Rubber workers, who have just begun negotiations with major manufacturers, say they aren't. They are, however, offering a more modest package of demands than in previous years.

The recession has a lot to do with the trend. There is, however, much more to it than that.

What is in effect under way is a restructuring of the nation's traditional heavy industries. Beset by soaring costs, slack domestic markets and increasing foreign competition, they must adapt to changed conditions or go under.

The auto industry — in the midst of a well-publicized multi-billion dollar conversion to the fuel-efficient compact models the Japanese and Europeans pioneered — is a prime example.

Steel is a better one, possibly already beyond being helped much by such first-aid measures as concession bargaining. Its plant is obsolete, closings and layoffs are widespread, imports are flooding the home market, the U.S. product is priced above foreign steel and there is a world glut, much of it coming from developing countries subsidizing developments of national steel industries.

Considering the price paid in reduced benefits and ultimately lost jobs in the renovated industries, concession bargaining may appear to be a poor bargain.

But it's better than the most obvious alternative — no jobs at all.

Boy Scouts Hold Derby Race And Advancement Rites

The Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts of Pack 837 in Geneva held a derby race recently, racing cars they made from solid blocks of wood. All of the cars were individually designed by the boys.

First place award went to Chris Durando, second place to Scott Hora and third place to Bogie Lile.

Following the derby, advancement ceremonies were held. Bruce Ciener was promoted, receiving the highest skills in Scouting by getting the Arrow Light badge. He was also promoted from Webelos to Boy Scouts Troop 837.

The Bridge of Achievements was completed when Tony Sini and Mike

Mellor became Webelos. The Scout award was presented to Mark McGregor.

The Geneva Boy Scouts and Webelos from the Cub Pack will participate in the Scouts Camp Out this weekend. The Central Florida Council Camp Out will be held behind the Altamonte Mall and will receive televised coverage.

Mrs. Corinne Sini has been holding 30-minute nutrition classes in the fourth and fifth grade classes at Geneva Elementary School for several weeks.

Mrs. Yeisley, Mrs. Packard and Mrs. Brooks' classes have been learning the value of proper diet, balanced meals and what junk foods will do to health.

Mrs. Sini is teaching these classes as a result of training she received last September at a special Food and Nutrition Forum held in Washington, D.C. Mrs. Sini was awarded a partial scholarship from the Campbell Soup Company and must pass the information she is doing on to her community, which she is doing through the classes at the school.

Mrs. Sini says she plans a Quiz Day the last day she teaches, April 1. The students will be asked to submit a menu for three balanced meals as part of their examination, and all students participating in the nutrition class will receive a Special Interest Certificate from the 4-H Clubs.

Mrs. Sini says she has used a special text book entitled, "Super Foods Book," which includes "recipes, games and puzzles." Some of the students have reported back that they are enjoying the good recipes.

Spring has sprung and softball fever has hit Geneva again. The Geneva men's softball team has a new name, new manager and coach, and new sponsors.

Hank Heath is the new manager of the Geneva Merchants team while Jack Romans is the new coach.

The sponsors are: Hillside Farms, Breeze Inn, Leisure Time Bar, Hanxy Way, Geneva General, Geneva Grocery, Golden Acres, Ciener's Nursery, Inc. and Central Florida Carriers.

Team members are: Truby Kinnaird,

Larry Kinnaird, Tony Kinnaird, Mike Childers, Chuck Starrett, Ed Ransey, Jay Eichner, Joe Newton, Grant Ford, Randy Isner, Lance Hilliard, Jack Williams, Jim Parton, Henry Schear, Scott Riddle, Billy Kinnaird. The official bat boys are Micah and Jeret Kinnaird (they even get uniforms, too).

Truby Kinnaird says the team is looking better than ever, and you can see the action at the Red Bug Softball park on Thursday evening. Next Thursday's game will be against Awards Unlimited beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The team is expecting to bring home the first place trophy for the fourth year in a row.

Gardening

Caladiums Popular In Summer

One of the most popular of our summer annuals is the caladium. This colorful, tropical foliage plant will grow in all areas of the state. Caladiums add a cool look to the summer flower garden and they are relatively easy to grow.

Tom Davis

Urban Horticulturist
322-3238

Caladiums are tropical American in origin. They're readily available at most Florida nurseries in either the fancy or lance leaf varieties.

Fancy leaved caladiums are the most popular and familiar. They have large, somewhat rounded leaves, and are available in a wide range of foliage color, from pure white, with strongly contrasting green veins, to bright pink or rose.

The lance leaved caladium is available in all these colors too, but it's leaf shape is narrow and elongated rather than round, and the entire plant is somewhat smaller than the fancy-leaved varieties.

You'll need to follow a few basic guidelines to insure success. Choose a flower bed with moderately rich, well-prepared soil for planting caladiums. Soils should be porous and contain organic matter before planting. Make sure the site has good drainage. Caladiums grow best in a moist, but not soggy, soil. Too much water will cause roots to decay.

You need to plant caladiums in a site that is somewhat shaded, because caladiums can't tolerate full summer sun. This is where I find a lot of homeowners go wrong. Forty to 80 percent shade is considered ideal. They do need some sunshine, and an hour or two of full morning sun is considered best for caladiums. Longer exposures tend to bleach the foliage of its attractive colors, and limit plant growth, as well. When planting caladiums, place them two inches deep and eighteen inches apart in the soil.

Caladiums respond well to fertilization and a complete fertilizer should be mixed with the soil at planting time. A minimum of two pounds of an all-purpose garden fertilizer is suggested for one hundred square of garden. Each month during the growing season apply another pound of fertilizer for every one hundred square feet.

Mulching plants will help maintain necessary soil moisture and promote lush, healthy foliage development. If the soil is allowed to dry out, the plants wilt rapidly.

Caladiums grow best at temperatures of 80 or 90 degrees fahrenheit, and they make excellent house plants. For house plant conditions, prepare a soil of one part sand and one part peat. Keep the soil moist but not soggy. If the plant turns pale or doesn't seem to be growing well, try giving it some plant food.

Cut leaves are very popular as indoor decorations. The leaves will last several days if the freshly cut stems are plunged into hot, then cold water. Keep the stems in the hot bath until the water turns lukewarm, then place the cuttings in a bath of cold water.

LABELS FOR EDUCATION

The Junior Woman's Club of Sanford Inc. Education Department, under the chairmanship of Vicki Cavallaro, left, collected 540 labels from Campbell products during the past year. The clubwomen have donated these labels to Wilson Elementary School toward a "Speak & Spell" game. In turn the club will host an ice cream social for the class collecting the most labels to be applied toward acquiring the game. School principal Terry Rabun stands behind the school student council officers, from left, Shauna Schumacher, Jason Helmdollar, Arlene Colon and Lisa Lee.

For Every Unwed Mother There's An Unwed Father

DEAR ABBY: I liked your advice to the guy who never messed with "nice" girls but hoped to marry one, though he was no virgin himself. When I was a young man, a girl I liked a lot told me she wanted to remain a virgin, but she wanted her husband to be "experienced."

If all the girls are supposed to stay pure and all the men are supposed to be "experienced," where are the men supposed to get experience?

RUPERT: DEAR RUPERT: Probably from those girls who were "pure" until they met up with a guy who was looking for experience.

DEAR ABBY: This is in response to your reply to "A. in W.Va." At last! Someone actually says that because a girl isn't a virgin doesn't mean that she should be branded with a scarlet letter forevermore! And even more astonishing, someone has also come right out and said that if a boy wants a virgin he should remain one himself. I couldn't agree more with you on both counts, as that has been my opinion for a good many years now.

All these jerks like "A. in W.Va." who believe in practicing the double standard of sexual "morality" should read your answer. You are 1,000 percent correct. It is about time — in fact, long since past time — that boys realized that if the girls they go to bed with are not "nice," just because the girls go to bed with them, then what are these boys? They are certainly no better. Keep sockin' it to 'em, Abby!

DELIGHTED IN SAN FRANCISCO

regarding the guy who never messed with "nice" girls but hoped to marry one.

I'm reminded of the conversation that took place between me and the father of a girl I wanted to marry. I was 20 and she was 17. Her father asked me if I had ever "been with" a woman. "No, sir," I lied.

"Well, you'd better go out and get some experience before you marry my daughter," he said. "I don't want no clumsy guy who doesn't know what he's doing practicing on my little girl!"

DEAR ABBY: Your statement, "If a guy wants a virgin for a wife, he himself should remain one," was excellent!

I, for one, am tired of the double standard. No one is saying that it is easy, that it takes no control, that it takes no self-discipline. Self-control, rather than hindering, actually adds to one's enjoyment of the sex act. We are no different than animals

DAR Program: 'Our National Defense'

Declaring, "I am not a war monger, I am a hawk — I believe in being prepared," Cmdr. Raymond G. Fox, Jr. (U.S.N. ret.) spoke to members and guest of the Sallie Harrison Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution on "Our National Defense" at the meeting of the Chapter at the First Presbyterian Church in Lake Mary Friday afternoon.

Fox, Lake Mary City councilman, was born in Sanford and grew up there where he was graduated from Seminole High School and subsequently enlisted in the U.S. Navy.

"I would like to speak to you for a few minutes" he stated "about the defense posture today and some of the reasons why we have reached the dismal position that we now find ourselves in."

"Prior to World War II, American defense policy was one of isolation. Our statesmen and some senior military officers felt that we were adequately defended by two great oceans on our flanks and by friendly nations to the north and south. The small segment of vocal dissidents were ignored. Our military establishment was under-manned and supplied with WWI technology weapons. With Europe in flames and German submarines along our coasts, America finally decided to re-arm. This country, in a short 48 months, managed to out-produce the rest of the world in all types of military hardware. By the spring of 1945, the U.S. had over 13 million men and women in uniform, and probably more military equipment, of all types, than the rest of the combined world. By 1949, however, we had dismantled the finest military machine the world had known to that time," he declared.

Fox informed the women of the needs for a strong defense program, citing the unprepared conflicts of the past and the need for reputable elected officials and dependable allies.

"Ladies and gentlemen, let us rekindle our spirits and our resolve to become a nation that is once more respected by our allies and adversaries alike," Cmdr. Fox admonished.

The meeting was presided over by the Regent, Mrs. W.S. Brumley. Following the meeting and program refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Raymond G. Fox, Mrs. W.E. Baker and Mrs. R.E. True.

Three new members welcomed into the chapter were Mrs. Harry Cushing, Mrs. John Brumley and Mrs. Theima Gles.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Fox, program chairman.

Susie Stout, M.V. Parry Sr. Repeat Vows

Susie Elaine Stout and Christopher Vaughan Parry Sr. were married Feb. 26, at 4 p.m., at Kraft Azalea Gardens, Winter Park. The bridegroom's father performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wels, Winter Park. The bridegroom is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. Maldwyn V. Parry of Sanford.

Given in marriage by her brother, Daniel Stout, the bride wore a white satin gown fashioned with a chapel train embroidered with seed pearls. She wore a garland of flowers in her hair.

Mrs. Rick Ferguson attended the bride as matron of honor. She wore a pale blue organza gown with a spray of baby's breath in her hair.

Rick Ferguson served the bridegroom as best man. Following the reception at Longwood Village Clubhouse, the newlyweds departed on a wedding trip to St. Augustine.

They are making their home in Longwood. The bride is a hairdresser at Altaires, Altamonte Mall. The bridegroom is employed by Ryder Trucking Co.

Wooten Woos 'Em At Trojan Relays

Seminole Junior Keys 2 Comebacks

ORLANDO — Seminole's Mike Wooten stood eagerly awaiting the arrival of Torin Williams with just a half of a mile to go in Thursday's mile medley relay.

Williams had made up several steps on the opposition, but as he lunged to hand Wooten the baton, the Tribe still trailed by seven yards entering the final leg.

Not for long. Grabbing the baton like his last meal, the smooth-running junior overtook his opponent halfway around the track and when he entered the stretch with just a lap to go, fans and teammates were screaming, "Woo, Woo, Woo."

He wooed them all right. Wooten's first quarter split was 56 seconds and when he cruised across the finish line 15 yards ahead of the competition, Seminole had won its specialty in 3:36.6, the second best time in the state behind Ft. Lauderdale-Dillard's 3:34.6.

"We'll take that, man," screamed an excited coach Hank Daviero. The Seminoles took that (mile medley) along with a first in the mile relay, fourth in the shot put (Issac Williams, 47-10), first in the triple jump (Dion Jackson, 41-10) and places in the 880 relay, two-mile relay and sprint medley for fourth in the Trojan Relays at Evans High School.

The host Trojans nipped Oak Ridge, 59-57, for the top spot with surprising Winter Haven (51 1/2) finishing third, 2 1/2 points ahead of Seminole. "Coach Daviero and myself would have liked to have done a little better team-wise, but we're really happy with some of the performances we had today," said distance coach Ted Tombros.

He was the happiest with Wooten who joined Torin Williams, Joe Whack and Larry Eason as the state's second best mile medley team.

"Mike had a great day," exclaimed Tombros. "And Eason (21.3 split) and Torin Williams (51.6 split) did a great job of keeping it close until Wooten took over."

Wooten was also the catalyst in the mile relay victory. He took the baton from Mike Bennett in fifth place and when he handed off to Vince Edwards the

Noles were in second

Edwards easily blew away the opposition for a winning time of 3:27. Senior Victor Williams ran a 53.1 first leg.

The 880-relay quartet of Eason-Bennett-Rendel Manley-Edwards finished second. Edwards turned in a 20.9 finishing split. The time was 1:30.9.

Victor Williams also figured in the two-mile relay win as William Boyd, Richard Grey and freshman Charlie Smith joined "Quick Vic" for an 8:44.5 clocking. Williams and Grey had 2:08 880s.

The sprint medley of Bennett-Mike Apple-Deron Thompson and Torin Williams took a sixth in 2:03.8. Eason followed up Jackson's top spot in the triple jump with a third (45-5).

Lyman's Greyhounds used some strong performances by their distance runners to finish sixth with 34 points.

Senior Randy Beary came from 40 yards back to anchor the 'Hounds to a win in the three-mile relay. Beary also turned in the meet's best mile in 4:29.5 as the Greyhounds took the team mile. Vince Presley leaped 20-3 for third in the long jump.

Lake Brantley's Kevin Besaw, the state's best discus man, won his specialty with a toss of 156 feet.

Coach Emory Blake and Nate Perkins' Seminole girls go to the east coast Saturday for the Space Coast Relay at Merritt Island.

The junior varsity teams of the Five Star go at it on Tuesday at Lyman beginning at 3 p.m.

Sowers Powers Raiders

Third baseman Tony Sowers powered a three-run homer and Jim Mee plated the game-winning run as Seminole Community College upped Florida Junior College 6-5, for its eighth straight victory at SCC Thursday.

The win ups the Raiders to 2-4 for the season and more importantly 5-1 in the Mid-Florida Conference. Today's 3-5 SCC hosts Long Island University.

Sowers rocked his HR in a four-run first inning which erased a 2-0 FJC lead. Robert Thigpen continued his lusty hitting for the Raiders with two hits including a triple and 2 RBI.

JC Baseball

Mee, who also had two singles, rapped his game-winner in the fourth as the Raiders mustered only six hits.

"Our defense was real good," emphasized coach Jack Pantellas. "But (Jody) Ryan almost added to the flame instead of putting it out in the ninth."

FJC scored two runs in the last inning before Ryan worked out of the jam for the save. FJC is 13-9 and 1-5. Brian Rice picked up the victory.

'Hounds Score Early For Win; Seminole Swoons For Setback

Score early and carry a good defense. Teddy Roosevelt once told that to his Hough Riders before a big softball game, but he could have been talking to the Lyman and Seminole softball teams Thursday.

One heard and one didn't, however, as Seminole dropped a 9-2 decision to DeLand and Lyman nipped Apopka, 12-11, in Five Star action both at home.

"I don't know if it's spring fever or hot," lamented Tribe coach Beth Corso. "We're just not playing well."

Corso could have better called it "error fever." Over the past two games, the Tribe has accumulated 19 miscues. Seven came Thursday as DeLand jumped to a 5-0 lead after two innings and never looked back.

Sophomore Katie Barbour and Susan Bagley continued to be the only strong sticks for 3-7 Seminole. Barbour's double keyed the first run in the fifth and Bagley's leadoff single paved the way to the only tally in the seventh.

The Lady Greyhounds, meanwhile, were following Roosevelt's advice to the limit.

The 'Hounds exploded for six runs in the first and tacked on six more in the second to hold off Apopka, who rallied late on two home runs by Sharon Hundley, one a grand slam in a seven-run sixth inning.

Prep Softball

In the first, Rhonda Tempesta walked, Sybee Helms singled, Kathy Richardson singled and Michelle Kuhrt followed with another hit. After Klin Gilliam flew out, Linda Hoek reached on an error to plate a run and Marcie Lewis did the same for two more.

Hoek had another RBI in the second, while Lewis and Pam Stambaugh reached on errors to force in runs.

Kuhrt and Gilliam each had two hits for Lyman. The 5-3 'Hounds play at Spruce Creek today at 5:30. Seminole tries to regroup Monday at 3:15 p.m. against Oviedo at Red Bug Park. Tuesday, the girls return to Ft. Mellon Park for a 4 p.m. game with Spruce Creek.

Blazers Scale Mt. Sampson

By United Press International
The network executives cringed, did a double-take, then resigned themselves to the fact Ralph Sampson and the mighty Cavaliers of Virginia had struck out.

Alabama-Birmingham, under the steady guidance of Coach Gene Bartow and the poised play of Oliver Robinson, stunned third-ranked Virginia, 68-66, Thursday night, setting up a Mideast Regional final Saturday morning between the upstart Blazers and Louisville, which recorded a 67-61 decision over Minnesota earlier in the evening.

Alabama-Birmingham, the champion of the Sun Belt Conference, hit 10-of-12 free throws in the final 87 seconds to hold on to its lead over the Cavaliers, who were forced to foul in an attempt to gain possession of the ball. Robinson scored 17 of his 23 points in the second half, including a pair of free throws with 11 seconds to play that gave UAB a 68-61 lead.

Sampson, who led the Cavaliers with 19 points, hit a slam dunk with five seconds left to cut the final margin to two points.

UAB took a 55-52 lead with 7:18 remaining on a three-point play by reserve center Donnie Speer. The

College Basketball

Cavaliers, who finished the season 30-4, could never regain the edge. After Speer's three-point play, a technical foul was called on Virginia coach Terry Holland and Robinson sank both free throws for a 57-52 UAB lead.

In the final 87 seconds, Robinson hit four free throws, Jonas Nicholas added three, Leullen Foster had two and Norman Anchrum had one to offset three clutch field goals by Virginia's Jeff Jones.

In the earlier Mideast game, Lancaster Gordon and Derek Smith scored on slam dunks to start a second-half surge that carried 20th-ranked Louisville over the sixth-ranked Gophers. Smith and Gordon scored three quick baskets, two on dunks, to start the second half and give the Cards a 38-33 lead.

Gordon finished with 23 points, including 14 in the second half, while Smith had 17 for Louisville, 22-9. The Gophers, 23-6, were led by Trent Tucker and 7-3 center Handy Breuer with 22 points apiece.

In the West Regional at Provo, Utah,

Lester Conner scored 24 points and Charlie Sitton added 16 to lead No. 4 Oregon State to a 60-42 victory over No. 8 Idaho and set up a showdown in the final with Georgetown, which routed Fresno State, 58-40, in the second half of the doubleheader.

Conner and Sitton were ready for the rematch. Conner was 10-of-15 from the field and had a game-high 10 rebounds. Sitton, who had 9 points in the second half, was 7-of-9 from the field with 7 rebounds.

In the nighttime, No. 7 Georgetown finally worked Pat Ewing into its offense in the second half and the 7-footer combined with All-America guard Eric Floyd for 31 points to lead the Hoyas.

"I felt we were having problems trying to beat them from the outside," said Georgetown Coach John Thompson. "We started going inside in the second half, putting pressure on them."

Ewing, a freshman, scored 12 of his 15 points in the second half, grabbed seven rebounds and blocked two shots. The Hoyas shot 63.6 percent from the field to set a tournament record.

Hisle Looks For A Grade

By United Press International
Milwaukee's Larry Hisle is his own toughest critic.

"If I were to grade myself so far at this stage, I would say I'm C-plus," said Hisle, who leads the Brewers in home runs with four and RBI with six so far this spring. "If not for the bad weather, I'd have been close to being ready."

Hisle's shoulder has kept him out of action for most of the last three seasons. Also coming back from a shoulder injury, pitcher Bob McClure, has the "inside track right now" for the No. 5 starting job, Rodgers said. Jim Slaton might be worked in as a spot starter, as well as a middle reliever, he added.

As for Paul Molitor's switch to third, Rodgers said "I like him there. He has agility, range, quickness, and the arm. It might be his best position." Rain forced cancellation of three games: Milwaukee vs. California, San Diego vs. Chicago (NL) and Oakland vs. San Francisco.

In other exhibition games: At Tucson, Ariz., Len Barker scattered three hits over six innings to spark the Cleveland Indians to a 2-0 decision over the Seattle Mariners.

At Pompano Beach, Fla., Charlie Hough, Doc Medich and Jim Farr combined on an eight-hitter and Buddy Bell hit a three-run homer to lead the Texas Rangers to 4-0 victory over the Montreal Expos.

At Fort Myers, Fla., third baseman Ted Cox allowed a grounder by Hal McRae to go through his legs with the bases loaded in the sixth inning, enabling two runners to score and helping the Kansas City Royals defeat the Toronto Blue Jays, 3-2.

At Orlando, Fla., A run-scoring triple by Rob Wilfong and a two-run homer by Dave Engle in the fifth inning carried the Minnesota Twins to a 4-3 win over the Boston Red Sox.

At St. Petersburg, Fla., Bob Forsch, Joaquin Andujar and Vicente Romo combined on a two-hitter to lift the St. Louis Cardinals to a 3-1 victory over the New York Mets.

At West Palm Beach, Fla., Baltimore's Mark Corey knocked in three runs with a triple and a homer and Mike Flanagan, Ross Grimsley and Don Stanhouse limited Atlanta to four hits in a 7-3 victory over the Braves.

At Tampa, Fla., Ron Cey hit a two-run homer and Jorge Orta rapped out a pair of hits to drive home three runs, pacing the Los Angeles Dodgers to an 11-0 rout of the Cincinnati Reds.

At Clearwater, Fla., Rick Rhoden, who had a two-run single, won his third game of the spring with a two-hitter over five innings in helping the Pittsburgh Pirates hand the Philadelphia Phillies their fifth straight loss, 6-2.

Leonard Serious About Stafford

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — Although he was joking with challenger Roger Stafford during a news conference announcing a May 14 title fight in Buffalo, welterweight champion Sugar Ray Leonard made one thing clear, he's serious about the match.

"It's going to be a test where I once again have to prove myself in the ring," said Leonard, who will be defending his title for the second time. He was an easy winner over Bruce Finch in his last outing.

Stafford, 25, the No. 2-ranked contender, and the popular Leonard, 25, who won the WBA and WBC titles with a 14th-round TKO of Thomas Hearns in September, will fight at Buffalo's Memorial Auditorium.

"It will be a tough fight," Leonard added. "Mr. Stafford here wants to take my crown. He wants to take away my son's commercials."

Although appearing nervous at first, Stafford said he was confident when asked if he could take Leonard's title away. "You know I am," he answered, then added, "well, maybe you don't know I am, but I know I am."

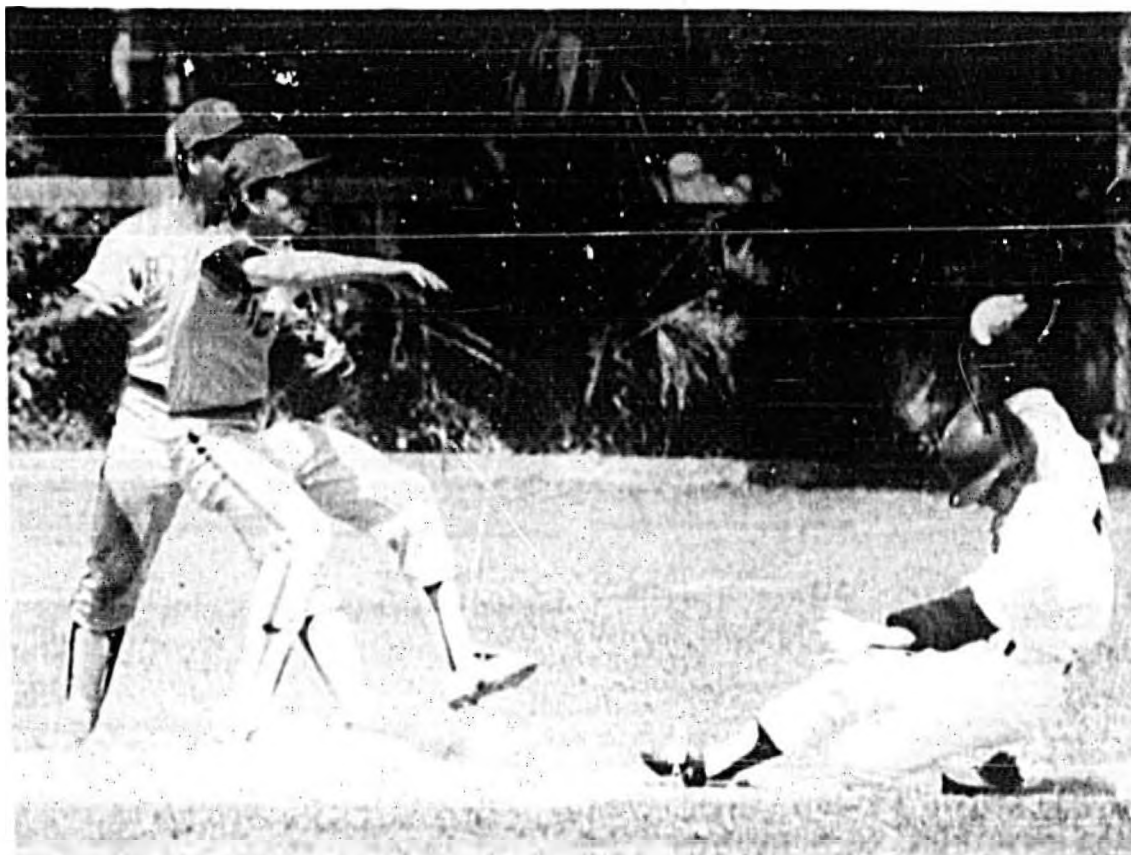

Leonard will set up a training base three weeks before the fight at the Buffalo Convention Center and said his wife and son will join him a few days before the bout.

Stafford, who has a 19-21 record and recently won a unanimous decision over former WBA champion Pipino Cuevas, started training in his hometown of Philadelphia. He will travel to the Catskills April 3 to continue workouts. The card will also feature a 15-round bantamweight title fight between champion Jeff Chandler of Philadelphia and challenger Kiko Bejnos of Mexico.

SLIDING CYCLONE

Iowa State's Bob Mancuso slides into second base as Rhode Island's Mike Cantone comes across the bag firing in college baseball action Wednesday at Sanford Memorial Stadium. Coach Larry Corrigan's Cyclones are defending champions of West Rinker's college baseball week at the Stadium, but Rhode Island nipped them, 4-2. Junior Mike Hocutt, last year's most valuable player, leads the Cyclones with 11 hits in 25 at bats and 11 runs batted in. Iowa State, 5-2, finishes up today and heads for Ames Saturday.

Laurels Sanford Soccer Teams Rest Unbeaten

It's considered taboo to rest on one's laurels, but that's just what three members of the Sanford Soccer Club will be doing for a week before resuming action March 27.

Sanford Boatworks 200, Sanford Celery City Printing 400 and Sanford 800 are all unbeaten and untied in the season's first three games. Only a first-game tie keeps Sanford Celeste Industries 201 from joining the unblemished trio.

Boatworks coasted easily past Pine Hills 200, 5-0 as J.J. Partlow and Craig Tozzi rang up two goals apiece. Partlow gave 200 a 2-0 first-half edge and Tozzi made it 6-0 before Jason Helmadollar added number five.

Boatworks gets back into action against Winter Park 202 at 10:30 a.m. next Saturday at the Sanford Airport.

Celery City rolled to number three with a fine two-half effort by smearing Downtown Orlando 401, 6-1. Shea Whigham started the scoring with two goals, the second on a feed from Steve Sapp.

Matt Albert set up Durrant Richards for the third goal, while Tom Chernetsky added his unassisted effort for number four. Whigham collected the hat trick with another unassisted boot and Sapp closed the scoring on a feed from Durrant Richards.

Sanford Soccer Club

Goalie Carry Smith turned in a spotless performance in the net, while Todd Smith and Chernetsky also had good showings defensively.

Celery City looks for victory number four against Sanford 400 at the airport March 27 at 9 a.m.

College Park was the third victim to fall before Sanford's 800 eight-year-olds. Josh Letchworth tipped his hat to the Parkers with three goals and Jason Walraven added a solo for the 4-1 victory.

Sweeper Paul Guarino and halfbacks Kris Esterson, Brian Suber and Scott Heiferrath kept the game under control for 800.

Sanford hosts Southeast Orange 801 next Saturday at the Sanford Airport beginning at 11:30 a.m.

Celeste Industries "Big 3" of Alex Piquer, Chris Ray and Chuck Holl helped 201 edge Pine Hills 280, 3-2 for its second victory against set-backs and a tie.

Piquer scored two unassisted tallies, while Holl assisted Ray for the goal which proved to be the difference.

Defensively, Oberto Pedro, Mike Aulzer, Cory Stickney and Nick Pastis turned in solid performances. On March 27 Celeste travels to Pine Hills for an 11:30 a.m. encounter with 281.

While four teams were continuing to whet their appetite with unbeaten streaks, two Sanford teams — New Smyrna Speedway 080 and Sanford 090 — tasted the win column for the first time.

NSS demolished Sanford 081 in a battle of 10-year-olds, 10-1. Phil Prez notched the hat trick, Scottie Burton added two goals, while Tim Watsanen, Jaime Dellarco, Donovan Tucker, Barry Coleman and Greg Dean joined in the fun with a goal apiece.

Sanford 090 used an outstanding performance in the net by Chad Crawford to turn away FC United 710, 1-0. Chet Tulp kicked the game-winning score for 090.

Sanford's Kiwanis 400 continued to have its troubles, dropping a 7-2 encounter to Winter Park 481 for an 0-3 slate.

Tim Deppen, on an assist from Steve McCormick, tallied the first Kiwanis goal. John Stuart chipped in number two from the 35 yard line on a sensational boot over the keeper's head.

Other games on Saturday, March 27 include: Sanford New Smyrna Speedway at Matland 061 beginning at 10:10 a.m.; Sanford 000 at Union Park beginning at 12:30 p.m.; and Sanford Kiwanis meeting Sanford 480 in a battle of 14-year-olds at the airport at 9 a.m. — SAM COOK

Planning Exercise? Know Risk Factors

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB — I need your opinion about jogging. My husband is 5 feet 9, weighs 180 pounds and is 27. He plays baseball or basketball every week and works out with weights almost daily. He has mentioned having high blood pressure but it has not restricted him. He has not had a complete physical for at least three years.

His jogging is not a normal "put your sneakers on and job a mile or so." He prances around with garbage bags under his jogging shirt to make him sweat more and make the run more beneficial. Upon completion of his run (usually six miles) he's thoroughly soaked and even after showering and resting for a half hour he's still sweating. He insists he feels better but I wonder.

He works shifts and eats mainly sandwiches, hamburgers, french fries and assorted fast foods. He won't listen to me but maybe he will listen to you.

DEAR READER — Your husband's young age is in his favor but I do believe anyone who does as much exercise as you describe should know what his risk factors are. The risk factors are the best indicators of how much fatty-cholesterol deposits are in the arteries. If they are high, a person should take precautions not to overdo his exercise, at least until the risk factors are controlled.

High blood pressure is one of the most important of the three risk factors. Weight control, which is benefited by exercise, often helps here. High cholesterol levels are important and they should be lowered also by weight control and diet. The third important risk factor is cigarette smoking, which I hope your husband does not do.

Any plastic or vapor-tight garment that holds moisture in should not be used for vigorous exercise. The body is designed to eliminate sweat to help cool the body as body temperature increases with exercise. If you keep it from doing that you are in much greater danger of having a heart stroke. I am sending you The Health Letter number 13-2, How to Measure Your Risk of Heart Disease, which your husband should read. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I hope you have an answer to my problem and thousands of other women. For years I have tried to get rid of cellulite problems and it only gets worse and worse. I have read everything I can get my hands on and written to experts but they won't answer.

I'm considering going to a new figure salon for passive exercise. They claim an hour on their roller table is equivalent to three-and-a-half hours of exercise and I've heard that massaging, rubbing and rolling the cellulite area is very important. My waist is only 26 but so are my thighs.

DEAR READER — The problem is with the word "passive." Those kinds of exercise do not eliminate fat. And cellulite is just fat, nothing more and nothing magical. It has been biopsied and studied in detail. Women tend to deposit fat on the thighs and men are more likely to develop a large abdomen. The dimpling is just dimpled fat so don't be misled.

The way to get rid of cellulite is to get rid of fat, wherever it is deposited. Despite your waistline, that means a weight control program. A good active exercise program and diet will do much more for you than rollers. Join a club that provides a good active exercise program.

HOROSCOPE

By HERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Saturday, March 20, 1982

YOUR BIRTHDAY

March 20, 1982

Make an effort this coming year to expand your range of contacts and acquaintances. Knowing people in various fields will be an enormous asset in the times ahead when chance involves you in several unique adventures.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) In matters where the control is in the hands of others, it's important that you show faith in them today. Knowing that they have your support, they'll try harder. Predictions of what's in store for you in each season following your birth date and where your luck and opportunities lie are in your Astro-Graph. Mail $1 for each Astro-Graph Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) This could be a romantic and exciting day, because members of the opposite sex will find you very appealing. You must still be careful with whom you get involved.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You can be very ingenious today in furthering ventures of which you are fond. Don't permit less-imaginative associates to slow you down.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You can excel today in activities that are both challenging and fun. In areas that require industriousness, you may come in second.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Until they are accomplished facts, it would be wise today to stay atop matters that affect your finances and family. You'll have time to play later. LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You're basically generous and warm-hearted. This is admirable, but be careful today or you may overdo it and make an agreement unfair to yourself.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Things should work out to your satisfaction today, owing to the efforts of others as well as yourself. Don't exaggerate your input while downgrading theirs.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You need to be around people today who know how to enjoy themselves. Active pals will arouse your zest for life, but avoid those who find no fun in splitting the tab.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) When it comes to push-and-shove, you're the person who always stands by others in their time of need. You'll do so today, but keep your good deeds secret.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Friends will find you stimulating and fun company today, but they may not be able to maintain your pace. Be the one who calls it quits before they do.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You function best today in involvements that are meaningful and have a practical purpose. Stay out of areas that will be a waste of time and talent.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Situations in which you share interests equally with others will develop today so that all will benefit. Self-serving projects may go awry.

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Santsag

Here is a hand from a Swiss team match at the Dallas regional. Both sides were using negative doubles so after West's two-heart overall each North decided to double to show his seven HCP and support for both unbid suits. At table one, South jumped to three spades, and North decided that he had bid more than he should have and passed.

The play was short and easy. Dummy's ace of hearts took the first trick. South played four rounds of trumps to pull East's and tried to establish a diamond. Unfortunately for him, West had discarded two diamonds and just one heart on the spades. South was held to his contract since he never got a club trick.

North and South remarked that they had been lucky to stop at three. When time came to compare it turned out that the other South had bid and made four spades by simple, but careful play.

At trick two he led a club from dummy. West won and forced him with a heart. South led a second club. Again West won and forced him, but South just led a third club. Now Dummy's 10 of trumps was here to ruff another heart led so this South was able to draw trumps and make his 10th trick with an established club.

And You Thought Buying A Bike Was Easy

By MARK VOGLER

So you want to try on a pair of wheels for size. Choose a color you like and a style that suits you. Carefully consider how much money you want to spend and the uses you want to get out of your purchase. Will it be for work or pleasure? Perhaps all occasions? Finally, make sure you have the right fit and feel comfortable with it. Sounds kind of like a trip to the clothing store, doesn't it?

Not quite. But Lloyd Scruggs, owner of a Sanford bicycle shop, views his job in much the same fashion.

It's sort of like trying on a new suit. We want to know the color and type of suit you want before we determine the size," says Scruggs, who converted his grocery business at 1201 Mellonville Ave. to bikes back in 1967.

"They come in all makes and all sizes. Different bikes for different folks. Everyone's needs and tastes aren't the same. You want a bike to suit your purpose," he says.

"Before anyone buys a bike, they should determine the use they're going to put it to. You don't want a plain one-speed coaster-brake to go cross county with. It will take a decent 10-speed bike for that kind of traveling."

Scruggs says he generally recommends a three-speed bicycle for most people.

"With the kind of terrain we have in central Florida, relatively flat, the three-speed bike is efficient for most folks," he says.

"Generally, I suggest the three-speed bike because most people aren't too crazy about a 10-speed configuration. They don't like sitting on the small seat. And they don't want to bend over to reach those curled racing handlebars."

Tires make a big difference, too.

Balloon tire bicycles are popular and very ideal for those who want to just cruise around town.

"They're harder pedaling, but are very good for soft, sandy soil. They're low pressure and the wide tread make them effective for riding on this type of surface," says Scruggs.

"But if you're going to do long distance, high speed riding, you'll need the narrow high pressure tires. They are easier to pedal and are good for the hard surface," he says.

Like the tailor at a clothing store, Scruggs has his own set of measurements he must take before making a sale.

The frame size is important. Usually the rider's frame size is the largest one that can be straddled with both feet flat on the ground.

"Generally, most of the bikes have a frame size (measured from the center of the crank to the top of the seat post) of 19 to 21 inches. But only when you get into your better built bikes do you have the choice of frame size," says Scruggs.

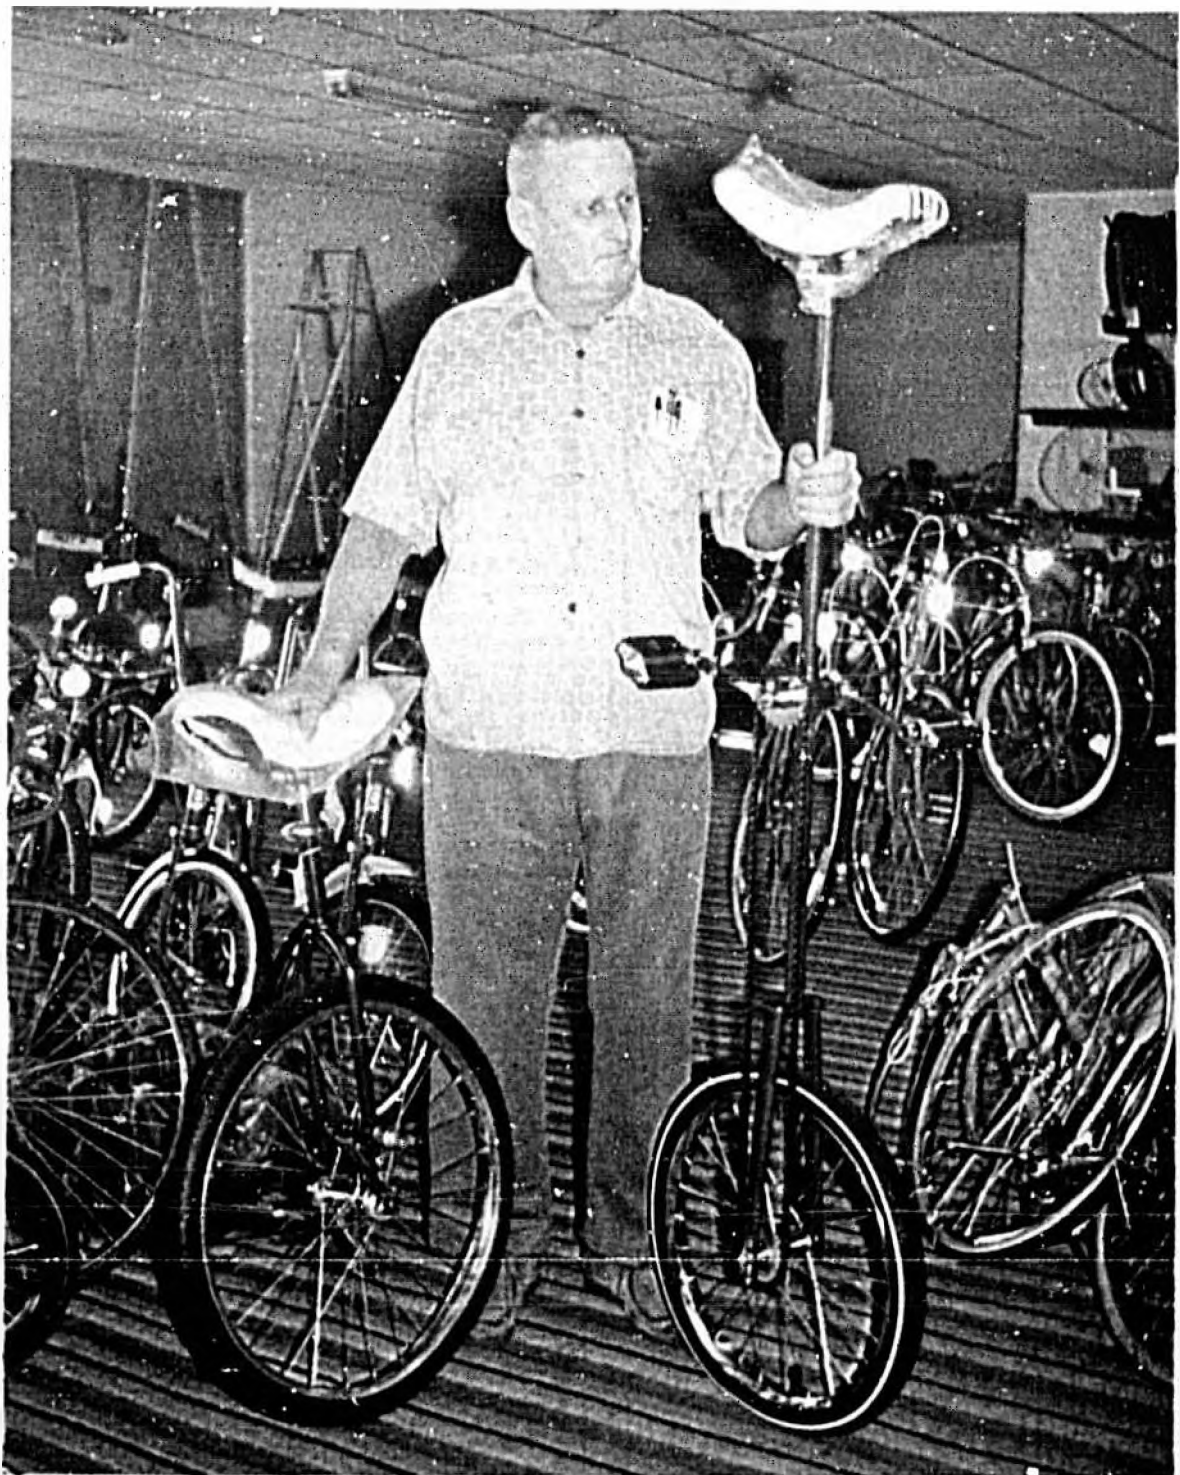

The wheel size is important when considering the type of cycling a rider will do. The 26-inch wheel is the standard size, but most good 10-speed bikes will have the 27-inch wheel because it's designed for long-distance touring.

The seat, like the handle bars, is adjustable to suit the individual biker's needs.

Usually a rule of thumb to follow: the rider is most comfortable and in the best position when he is seated on his bicycle with his leg not quite fully extended and the ball of the foot on the pedal when at the lowest position in the pedaling turn.

Usually, $145 to $185 is the going rate for an adequate three-speed bike.

Cheap bikes can be bought for less than $100, says

When it comes to buying a bicycle, it's not a matter of simply choosing the prettiest color or the model with the most chrome. Sanford bike store owner Lloyd Scruggs says buying a Scruggs.

You can buy a decent bike for less than $200 or spend as much as $2,600 for a slick, lightening quick 10-speeder. The choice is yours.

Whatever suits a biker's fancy, the chances are good two-wheeler (or even a one-wheeler like the ones he is holding in the picture) is a lot like shopping for clothes — you have to find something that fits your needs.

that Scruggs can find the right fit.

He, like most local bike dealers, will tell you there's no set way to sell a bike.

Just like trying out new clothes, the bike has to be tailored to the person, he says.

Chuck Woolery Left 'Wheel Of Fortune'

DEAR DICK: Can you tell me why Chuck Woolery is not on "Wheel of Fortune" any more? I notice they have a new master of ceremonies. We miss seeing Chuck and hope there is nothing wrong with him. Bernice Monnier, New Baltimore, Mich.

The official position is that he left the show in order to pursue his personal acting and singing ambitions. And he may do that. But Joanne Pflug, his wife, tells me he left because Merv Griffin (the show is produced by Merv's company) wouldn't pay him the money he felt he should be getting. When I called the Griffin company, however, they said Chuck left the show in order to pursue his personal acting and singing ambitions.

DEAR DICK: Could you tell me whether or not Harrison Ford accepts fan mail, because about a month ago I sent him a letter and in it I asked for an autographed picture of himself. I haven't gotten anything back yet. Tanya Davis, Pierce City, Mo.

Most stars never see any fan mail personally. Some have secretaries handling it, but most simply hire one of the fan mail services that do it professionally. Only a few letters slip through and reach the star's own chubby little hands. You will probably get your picture eventually, because most stars' services do that (although the autograph is applied with a machine). But don't labor under the illusion that your letters are read by the stars.

DEAR DICK: Last New Year's Eve was terrible — no Guy Lombardo! I have been a fan of his for years. I would stay up to midnight to see him on TV. Now, for the last two years, I haven't seen him. What's happened — they broke tradition. Will Guy Lombardo ever be back for New

Ask Dick Kleiner

Year's Eve? Burl Faurote Jr., Warsaw, Ind.
 Not in this world. Lombardo died Nov. 5, 1977. He was 75 years old.

DEAR DICK: We were watching "The Jeffersons" when my mother said that "That is not the same lady that used to play Helen Willis." I disagree with her. We have a $50 bet riding on your answer. Who is right? Judy W., Michigan City, Ind.

You win. There has only been one actress — Roxie Roker — who has ever played the part of Helen Willis on "The Jeffersons."

DEAR DICK: I am interested in knowing if Irene Dunne is still alive. So many great names of the past seem to drop out of sight. June Holz, Covina, Calif.

None of Bing's sons was killed in a motorcycle accident. Edgar Bergen died in 1978. Irene Dunne is still living.

DEAR DICK: I have a $15 bet riding on this. Were John Belushi and Dan Aykroyd — The Blues Brothers — really brothers? Rick Buckley, Battle Ground, Wash.
 No. Not even cousins.

Opposite End Of Lens For Husband And Wife

NEW YORK — While Todd Davis (Bryan Phillips on "General Hospital") is busy working in front of the camera, his actress-wife Rosalind Miles is looking to use her creativity behind them. Says Todd, "For the past few months, Rosalind has been studying television directing at Don Martin's communications school in Los Angeles. So far she loves it and Don thinks she has real potential." Could this possibly lead to discord some time in the future if Rosalind finds herself directing Todd in something? Says Todd: "No, of course not, as long as she doesn't try to tell me what to do." "General Hospital" producer Gloria Monty is recuperating at home after major surgery.
