

BLANKET CODE FOR INDUSTRY BEING SCANNED

Johnson Begins Clarification To Meet Certain Objections Of Some Industries

WASHINGTON, July 27.—(A.P.)—New interpretations of President Roosevelt's blanket code agreement of wages and hours for industry were in the making last night by the National Recovery Administration on the eve of the widespread appeal to 5,000,000 employers to restore purchasing power.

To meet difficulties which have arisen about some sections of the agreement which the President is asking all employers to make with him, starting today, Hugh S. Johnson, the administrator, and his legal staff began clarification to meet objections of some industries.

Meanwhile, details of the elaborate campaign to take the "N. R. A." and its "blue eagle" to the nation were announced by the administration. It called for a house-to-house canvass in every community to enlist support.

Recovery Act And Code Explained At Club Meeting

First-hand information relating to the National Recovery Act and the proposed Florida Celery Shippers' code of ethics for the celery industry, were given Sanford Kiwanians during their meeting at the Montezuma Hotel yesterday by Kiwanians V. A. Spear and Peter Schaaf.

The former told his impressions of Tuesday afternoon's gathering of local civic and business leaders who had evidenced real interest in the discussion of the National Recovery Act as it was carried on in the City Hall.

The latter gave a detailed report on Tuesday night's meeting of local celery growers and shippers at the Court House, where by a 40 to 3 vote, the tentative code of ethics was endorsed.

As a musical feature, Miss Velma Shipp rendered two vocal solos, with Miss Elizabeth Clark as piano accompanist.

During the meeting, E. C. Harper, local electrician, and a former member, was welcomed upon his return to the membership.

Those present were: Miss Shipp and Miss Clark as guests, and Kiwanians Howard Overlin, who presided, Frank Peters, F. R. Wilson, A. B. Johnson, Dave Benlake, E. C. Harper, W. S. Coleman, W. T. Langley, Bill DuBoise, Fletcher Bailey, Counts Johnson, C. E. Mason, S. J. Nix, P. S. Lamson, W. A. Patrick, Otto Caldwell, S. P. Doudney, Jno. D. Jinkins, Rupert Strickland, Howard Long, C. P. Proctor, J. G. Sharon, Peter Schaaf, W. B. Zachary, E. I. Hoy, Ray Fox, V. A. Spear, E. D. Randall Jr., Arthur Branan, and L. S. Leach of Macos, Ga.

Citrus Committee Members Selected

WINTER HAVEN, July 27.—(A.P.)—The shippers committee of the Florida citrus growers clearing house selected C. A. Stewart of Frost Proof, W. H. Mouser, and R. B. Woolfolk, Orlando, to serve on a committee with representatives of the citrus exchange and independent growers to work out a new marketing agreement under the agricultural adjustment act.

AIMEE SAYS HER SPOUSE IS OUT OF TEMPLE FOREVER

BALTIMORE, July 27.—(A.P.)—Aimee Temple McPherson Hutton indicated yesterday her husband's connection with the million-dollar Angelus temple had been severed forever.

Commenting on the report that David Hutton, her husband and former choir leader in the temple, had opened his recent vaudeville debut with the statement that he had been "acting" since he had married her two years ago, the evangelist said:

"If he means that, he can never return to Angelus temple. We have no hypocrites."

She was not so definite what effect the purported statement would have on their strained marital relations.

"The temple and my home are entirely separate," she said. Hutton recently started divorce action, charging he had been treated as a "pet poodle" and was tired of being the husband of a famous woman.

His action was taken after she left France aboard the liner City of Havre. The evangelist touched upon the matter at a meeting at Norfolk, Va., Tuesday with relations of her late for Hutton, and some time later in the day, Hutton's attorney said he would seek to bring the two back together "if it seems at all feasible."

This last development was unknown to the evangelist until she reached Baltimore yesterday morning and her opening remark on hearing about it was that it was "very interesting."

Pauline Moran To Be Feature Of Concert

Announcements were made this morning that Miss Pauline Moran, Georgia vocalist, will be featured on the program which will be presented through a loud speaker on the Court House lawn tonight at 8:30 o'clock, according to G. C. Fellows, director of the Sanford concert orchestra.

WORLD PARLEY HAS RECESSED INDEFINITELY

Prevailing Pessimism Assuaged By Letter From President Expressing Good Will

LONDON, July 27.—(A.P.)—The economic conference which convened here June 12 with high hopes of solving some of the world problems adjourned for an indefinite period today.

Prevailing pessimism of the delegates were relieved by a message from President Roosevelt, who declared he did not regard the parley as a failure.

To the conference chairman he wrote "We in the United States understand the problems of other nations better today than before the conference met and we trust other nations will in the same spirit of good will the American policies which are aimed to increase an unprecedented economic situation at home."

Rainey MacDonell, chairman of the conference, asserted the discontinuance of meetings was a necessary adjournment.

Cordell Hull, secretary of state, in his farewell address, pleaded for a relaxation of economic arguments urging the governments to study his proposal for a continuation of the tariff treaty.

James Cox joined Hull in challenging the nations to keep hammering at the economic and financial problems and predicted the conference will convene later.

One Balbo Plane Forced Down By Engine Difficulty

SHOAL HARBOR, Newfoundland, July 27.—(A.P.)—General Italo Balbo, leader of the trans-Atlantic air armada, landed here yesterday with 23 of his Italian seaplanes, finishing the third lap of the homeward journey from Chicago. A mishap to one of the fleet of 24 ships caused this plane to descend at Victoria harbor, Prince Edward Island, shortly after the expedition left Shediac, New Brunswick, yesterday and threatened to delay the departure of the fleet for its eastward flight back across the ocean.

Al Capone Named In Blanket Indictment

CHICAGO, July 27.—(A.P.)—A blanket indictment charging Al Capone, Dr. Benjamin Squires, Aardn Sapiro, and 21 other defendants of conspiracy charges including bombings, window smashing, and restraint of trade was returned by the county grand jury today. The indictment is regarded as the state's first front attack on racketeering and the violence it brought into legitimate industries in Chicago.

BRITISHERS HAIL RECOVERY PLAN OF UNITED STATES

Commons Hears U. S. Held Biameous For Failure Of Parley

LONDON, July 27.—(A.P.)—Approval for President Roosevelt's bold recovery program was voiced in the British House of Commons last night by spokesmen of the three principal political camps. The debate, which hinged on the world economic conference upon the eve of indefinite adjournment that gathering, drew from Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, the declaration that the pound sterling is an independent currency, linked neither to gold nor the dollar.

Independent speakers of the Labour, Liberal and Conservative groups declared the United States is not to blame for lack of accomplishment by the economic parley.

"There was no basis on which President Roosevelt would stabilize the dollar with reference to the pound," declared the veteran Liberal chief, David Lloyd George.

Asserting that the economic conference is dead, Lloyd George is engaged in finding the best method of enabling it, so as to keep the appearance of life after the spirit has departed.

Cheers greeted the statement from the conservative member, Wardlaw Miller, that it was impossible for the United States to (Continued On Page Four)

U. S. PLANS BIG CAMPAIGN ON KIDNAPING EVIL

Formation Of Federal "Scotland Yard" Is Under Consideration By Attorney General

The federal government's crusade against kidnaping kept pace Wednesday with a rising tide of public indignation over the nation's "national capital."

Attorney General Cummings let it be known after a conference with President Roosevelt that the government would spare no expense to stamp out kidnaping.

Plans for forming a federal "Scotland Yard" were discussed. Cummings said: "The fight has to be won; we are going ahead to the limit."

Although authorities at half a dozen points won victories over kidnapers and organized gangs, they appeared no lessening in kidnaping and crime.

Police of Los Angeles gave permission for a bodyguard to protect the wife and baby of Bing Crosby, singer, from kidnapers. Two victims—John J. O'Connell, Jr., of Albany, N. Y., and Charles J. Urschel, of Oklahoma City—remained in the hands of kidnapers.

Progress in prosecution of suspected kidnapers included issuance of federal warrants at St. Louis for two more alleged members of the gang that attempted to obtain $100,000 ransom for August Fuhr, banker, of Alton, Ill. Two others were held.

At Kansas City, the case of Walter H. McGee, former Oregon convict, accused of kidnaping Miss Mary McElroy, 25, daughter of the city manager, was given to the jury with the state demanding the death penalty.

Officials reiterated that they had powerful evidence against Roger Touhy and three members of his Chicago gang. Preparations continued for removing the four prisoners from Milwaukee to St. Paul, Minn., for prosecution in the $100,000 kidnaping of William Hamm, Jr., wealthy brewer.

National Recovery Act Calls For Organization With Military Likeness

WASHINGTON, July 27.—(A.P.)—"Generals" and "colonels" and "captains" will preach the gospel of "NRA," hoist the blue eagle, marshal battalions of speech-makers and check up on every town and city block in the country to see that President Roosevelt's wage and hour agreements are obeyed.

Hugh S. Johnson's campaign is organized along strictly military lines, till and drill, it was revealed last night when the elaborate plans to reach every home in the country were made public.

The "educational" campaign will elect a "general" to conduct their city campaign, whose chief aide will be a "lieutenant general," a woman. The "general" will name three "colonels" and a number of "majors," "captains," and a "company" of privates.

Over these will be state organizations, a state chairman and chairman appointed by the governor. Then there will be state committees appointed by Johnson, and under these the military setup in the cities.

Radio, press, pulpit, moving pictures, luncheon clubs and civic organizations are all enlisted in a campaign that seems even more comprehensive than those of the World War.

Johnson has enrolled 13,000 organizations. Last night, more than 70,000,000 pieces of literature were on their way to explain the President's aims.

"Buy only from those who support the President's plan" will be the cry far and wide. The campaign will last about five or six weeks, it was announced.

No definite date for beginning of the campaign has been set. Organization of the state, regional and local committees probably will be completed in a week or 10 days. The "educational" campaign will last about three weeks. Then will come the "mop up" of a week, during which the multitudinous sides of General Johnson throughout the land will check by a house to house canvass to detect "snipers"—those who are not complying with the blanket code of wages and hours.

After looking over his lay-out, Johnson remarked that he guessed his message would reach to the "grass roots" without any trouble.

McGEE GIVEN DEATH VERDICT FOR KIDNAPING

Extreme Penalty Is First One Assessed In Nation's Crusade Against Crime Evil

KANSAS CITY, July 27.—(A.P.)—Walter McGee was sentenced to death today by a criminal court jury which convicted him of kidnaping Miss Mary McElroy, daughter of the city manager of Kansas City.

The case was the first in which the extreme penalty has been assessed in the nation's crusade against kidnaping. The jury deliberated three and three-quarter hours last night and reached their verdict soon after resuming deliberations today.

The jury interrupted the trial of McGee's brother, George, facing the same charge, to render the verdict.

The former Oregon convict retained his composure as he heard the jury announce he had been condemned to the gallows. No member of the McElroy family was in the court room.

The two kidnapers alleged by the state to have been McGee and Clarence Stevens, who is still a fugitive, forced their way into the McElroy home and abducted Mary McElroy while she was taking a bath. They returned her next day after the payment of $10,000. More than half the ransom was recovered.

Suspected Driver Of Car That Killed Sheriff Arrested

BROOKSVILLE, July 27.—(A.P.)—Authorities announced here the arrest today of Jesse Jamandes Morales on suspicion of being the driver of the automobile that hit and killed Sheriff S. L. Lipscomb at Perry last night.

Officers said Morales alleged he was flying to Tampa to visit relatives but denied hitting anyone at Perry. They said the car bore a New York license and carried eight passengers and a quantity of baggage. The Perry police chief, Parker, and Deputy Sheriff Rodentberry of Taylor county, identified the car here today and took it to Perry for inspection and further identification by other witnesses.

Taylor county officers said the sheriff was killed by an automobile last night as he and a deputy sought to arrest a man alleged to be an escaped convict from Ralston.

Two Women Die In Attempts To Save Life Of Young Boy

OKECHOBEE, July 27.—Two women were killed and a girl was injured at Sherman, near here yesterday, in a desperate effort to save the life of a boy who was caught on an electric wire.

The dead are Mrs. Claude French, 43, and Mrs. Ruby Bell, 24, a neighbor. Nydia French, 18, daughter of Mrs. French and her brother, Frank, 13, were badly burned.

The boy came in contact with the wire which carried 220 volt while trying to gather guavas from a tree in his yard. His sister rushed to his rescue but was knifed down when she touched him. His mother tried to snatch the boy from the wire and was killed instantly.

Mrs. Bell then ran to the rescue and was dazed by one shock. She then gripped her teeth and snatched the wire from the boy, dying in her heroic deed. The boy was badly burned but was expected to recover.

MARTINSVILLE, Virginia, July 27.—(A.P.)—James Hammond, Howard Hammond, and Arch Purdy, boys ranging in age from twelve to fifteen, were instantly killed early today and Archer Dillon was severely injured when the four boys, lying asleep on the shoulders of a highway near here, were run over by an unknown driver. The boys were walking home when they stopped to rest and went to sleep on the edge of the highway. Dillon remembered nothing until he was being carried into a home nearby.

MUNCIE, Ind., July 27.—(A.P.)—H. Whit Braden, of Tampa, Fla., was elected second vice president of Phi Delta Kappa Fraternity at the national convention Tuesday.

Death this morning at 11:30 o'clock claimed Mrs. Samantha A. Bader, 72, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Roland C. Sheaffer, 113 Elm Avenue, where the deceased has been ill for the past several weeks. Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock with Rev. Smith Herdin, pastor of the First Methodist Church, officiating.

Mrs. Bader has made her home with Mrs. Sheaffer here for the past four years but she has been a winter resident of this city for more than 20 years, coming each year from Camden, Ohio, her home. She was born in Summerville, Ohio.

The deceased is survived by her daughter, Mrs. Sheaffer; two brothers, Frank Stephens, of Camden, and Gustav Stephens, of Richmond, Ind.; four grandchildren, Vernon, Donald and Bobby Sheaffer, of Sanford, and Mrs. C. E. Johnson, of Dayton, Ohio; and three great grand children, Roland, Donald and Jimmie Johnson, of Dayton.

40 To 3 Vote Is Registered For Agreement Considered At Meet Of Farmers

(Continued From Page One) vision of the code so that it should be effective when it met with the approval of 80 percent or more of the state celery growers rather than 80 percent of the tonnage.

"A good deal of our troubles of last year," Mr. Lehman argued after Mr. Dornier had explained the purposes of the meeting and had announced that the code would be read and passed upon last night, "came because things were railroaded through. This code should first be printed in the newspapers of the state so that every grower might know just what it contains. Then it could be discussed at a meeting and given approval or rejection."

"We must not lead ourselves to believe that the trouble with our industry is a matter of overproduction," he continued, "when as a matter of fact it is a lack of proper marketing. I think that it is absolutely wrong to put this code on a tonnage basis. It is not fair to have the big corporations and shipping groups to rule the roost. They will shove the little fellow out of business and they will come into power."

Later in the meeting, after a lively discussion which culminated in the voting down of a motion that the grower who farms 15 acres or less shall be exempt from the reduction plan, Mr. Lehman led a final argument against the manner in which the debate was leading.

"I move that we adjourn at once if we growers haven't anything to do with this code," he said, "I certainly don't think it should be railroaded through. We are on the wrong track if we put our hard-earned dollars into the industry can't have some say so in this matter instead of the few corporations who are trying to run this thing."

When, near the end of the meeting, it was moved that the code be adopted in principle, with details to be worked out between heads of the shipping groups and Secretary Wallace, and this motion passed by the 40 to 3 vote, Mr. Lehman arose to state that "I'll go along with you now that you've voted for this thing, but I want you to know that I object to the way it has been handled." W. H. Hughes and L. B. Mann of Lake Monroe were the other growers who voted against adoption last night. The matter was laid before the more than 100 growers who were present at the meeting got under way by Mr. Dighton.

Declaring that "the entire code very intimately concerns every grower in this room," he began by reminding his hearers that "it must be impressed upon you that since the celery industry is not a basic agricultural industry such as is the wheat or cotton industry, the government will not deal with celery growers direct but with the shippers of celery."

He asked the growers to recall difficulties of last season, beginning in January when the market fell. "You recall that after securing the remarkable co-operation of more than 80 percent of our growers, we began a policy of plowing under a portion of acreage," he said.

"As a result," he continued, "the market reacted and at least some of the growers saved money. You broke because we didn't carry this program through. It also failed because it was not mandatory and there was no enforcement."

"The people in the shipping end of the industry believe and have as believed for some time," he continued, "that we've had too much celery and that we never get a good price unless a break comes in that some other producing district suffers reverses or there is a dearth of green vegetables at a certain time of the season."

"The shippers know that the normal acreage increase here is about 15 percent annually," he said, "and that where in 1928 Saranota had 500 acres set out in celery, that area now has over 1500 acres in celery. Therefore, we now are concerned with more than 6500 acres of celery in Florida. So, with the consuming power of the people decreasing, and the amount of celery increasing, it follows that we now have too much celery."

"Last June, our organization decided not to take further steps in the matter of acreage reduction, price bolstering or market control," he said, "but, the Congress shortly after passed an Agricultural Adjustment Act which is made to order for us. This Act seeks to increase the consuming power of the farmers by the limitation of acreage, to insure for him a higher price for his commodity, and to provide him with a marketing agreement. Such an Act is almost identical with what Mr. Scott, Mr. Hutchison, and Mr. Leffer wanted last season."

"Our organization now feels that if 80 percent of the shippers of celery agree among themselves that this code is of benefit to the growers of Florida," he said, "that Secretary Wallace will provide for its enforcement."

Mr. Dighton then read the code itself. When he had concluded, he stated, "You will see that this is a very broad code, but also it is broad. It puts a large power in the hands of a few."

In support of the code, Mr. Dighton read a letter from an official of the Department of Agriculture, "indicating to our organization that this code we have drawn up is no laughing matter and that the government would enforce it if it is assumed that it meets with the approval of the shippers and growers."

There are some of the questions that arose during the meeting: R. H. Murrill asked, "What about new growers and those who haven't planted celery for several seasons?" Mr. Lehman asked, "What about the celery that could be shipped out of Florida by truck?"

What about California and its growers? In answer, Mr. Dornier stated that these questions had been raised at Lakeland and that they are covered under the code. He declared that the matter of celery moving by truck is negligible, and he expressed the opinion that California growers will join with Florida growers in any code which is of benefit to the industry. R. H. Chapman was a speaker who moved for the adoption of the code early in the meeting as did D. P. Herndon.

"I think this proposition is all right," Mr. Chapman said. "As to what is to be done in the industry, I believe that such a question will work itself out. I am sure that everyone will be represented. The thing has enough teeth in it to protect every grower and shipper in Florida. It should be approved. Further, I believe that we can get 100 percent of the farmers to sign a petition approving the code, and that after it is approved by Secretary Wallace, we can get the same growers to sign another petition asking the government to limit the acreage."

Henry Nickel, whose motion that the code be adopted as to principle was carried late in the meeting, declared in answer to George Baines' argument that there should be a definite expression as to which growers are to be affected by the acreage reduction plan, that "in my opinion a plan of graduated reduction would be more amenable to Secretary Wallace and such a plan no doubt will be drafted."

Just before a vote was taken, Mr. Dighton arising during a warm debate between Mr. Lehman, Mr. Dornier, and Mr. Nickel as to acreage reduction, stated "I believe that before this code is adopted that there will be a provision entered keeping persons from increasing their acreage." This statement had the effect of practically halting further discussion on the reduction feature of the code, and a vote was taken shortly after. A related motion, presented by G. S. Schmah, of Lake Monroe, after the code was adopted in principle, died for want of a second. It was "That no farmer be allowed to farm more than 100 acres of celery in one season and no organization can farm over 500 acres of celery."

Among those present last night were: Peter Thurston, C. Bell, G. H. Brown, O. P. Herndon, Randall Chase, Hugh Weischel, John Meisch, Sr., Frank Meisch, Henry Richter, Meade Fox, R. B. Chapman, H. M. Humbley, A. C. Pappas, J. J. Cates, R. R. Pippin, Henry Nickel, Nick Zernovian, W. C. Hathaway, George Baines, G. L. Blodson, Fred Zetterner, Alex R. Johnson, Dr. C. W. Baker, W. H. Bach, W. P. Ravanel, Joe Meisch, L. F. Mann, H. J. Lehman, George Herbst, S. R. Dighton, and others.

A Ghost Out of The Past

A writer in Scribner's Magazine sees in many of the dire predictions and gloomy forebodings of a few pessimistic crape-hangers...

When the depression of 1893 had just gotten under way, there were the usual pronouncements of industrial and political leaders that it was all over...

Said Oliver W. Berry, New York banker in July of 1893: "It looks now as if the country had seen the worst of its trouble and that the end is in sight."

While the then governor of New York reiterated this same sentiment, as follows: "I believe that today was the crucial day in the history of the present financial troubles and that the tide turned favorably..."

And a typical New York editorial of that day said: "In all branches of trade, merchants realize that the period of depression has passed, and they look forward to continued activity and profit for some time to come."

By January of the following year, the whole world was about to come to an end. Said Representative Dalzell of Pennsylvania: "This is a crisis among the most appalling in our economic history..."

While the New York Journal of Commerce was blaming it on the machine age, as follows: "Labor must stand at a disadvantage so long as the supply of productive plant exceeds the possibilities of our consumption..."

Lippincott's Magazine in the same year was calling attention to the plight of agriculture: "The agricultural population of this country will in 50 years be poor and illiterate..."

How truly does history repeat itself! And how quickly do people forget!

Convict Labor

Decision of the board of commissioners of state institutions to discontinue the practice of selling articles made at the Raiford prison for outside consumption...

It is a sound and fair economic policy to have prisoners of the state work in whatever reasonable capacity will save the taxpayers money...

But when they enter the field of competition with commercial enterprises then they become a decided liability making a situation which is extremely unjust to private business...

Of course, the prison production would be limited and might be argued that the field is large enough so that a few hundred pairs of very under-priced shoes on the market would not have an adverse effect...

Convict labor in competition with paid labor is an evil which should be discouraged and it is reassuring that our state has decided to abolish it.

THE STOCK MARKET BREAK

The break in the security and commodity markets last week overshadowed all other financial developments. It was easily the severest shaking out that these markets have experienced since they commenced their sensational rise early this spring...

Not unnaturally, the full impact of the selling wave was felt in those securities and commodities which had risen the fastest and the farthest in recent weeks. Thus the so-called "wet" stocks were the heaviest sufferers...

In order to obtain an idea of what happened to the price structure in the three days in which the liquidation was most violent—Wednesday, Thursday and Friday—let us first look at the stock market averages.

The low point of the year touched by the 100 representative stocks in this group was 79.78, made March 2. Between that low and the high of the movement, 107.73 reached on Tuesday, July 18, this group rose 28 points.
