Also on August 1, there will be added service to West Palm Beach and to Boca Raton, Pompano Beach and other lower East Coast points not heretofore served, although Sanford has been a stop on Tailways thru lines between Miami and New York and to Atlanta for about six years.

Mr. Foster explains that the new routes and points served will increase 'Tamiami's operation in Florida substantially and will provide these central Florida cities with thru service to New York, Memphs, New Orleans and other established co ters of travel.

"But where are the snows of yesteryear?" sang Francois Villon, French poet and pin-pricker of empty bbles in the frothy world of the mid-15th century. Such a refrain might well swell up and out of The historic base of man's space exploration along Cape Kennedy and among the devoted spacemenscientists, craftsmen and astronauts--on this anniversary of man's first Moon Walk.

Just a short one year ago Neil Armstrong stepped from the spider-like "Eagle" onto the moon's hitherto untested surface with the words which electrified millions who watched on TV-"One small -step for man, one giant leap for mankind."

Even President Nixon was moved to such a bold and broad statement as: "This is the greatest week in The history of the world since creation. The world has never been closer together.

So we gave up sugar, consoling ourselves with cyclamates (you could hardly tell the difference from the real thing). Well, we all know what happened to them as grocers sought to strip their shelves of the hundreds of different products containing the new forbidden additive.

Then there are the antibiotics in the beet, hormones in the poultry, and pesticides on the fruits and vegetables, not to mention pus in the milk. Processors do their part with questionable coloring, preservatives, flavorings and bleaches.

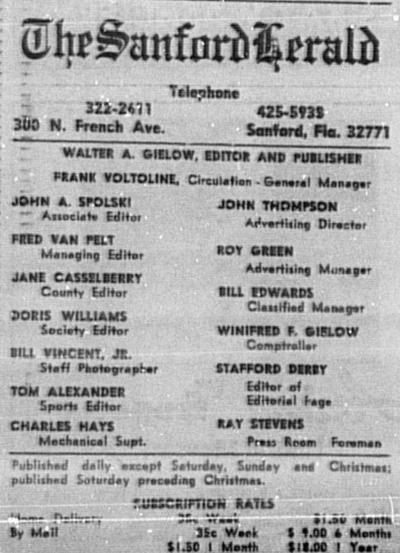

Some of the chemicals added by sneaky processors to disguise their products and deceive the consumer according to former commission m of the Food and Drug Administration George P. The heat of politics has done a great deal of melting of that vast and complex space army which had been so vital to the great years of space feats-the decade of the 1960s where often it was the space accomplishment alone that showed how great an American effort could become.

We are deeply concerned about the continuing and probable cutting of the space program even more. Already the seven scheduled moon landings are down to six and three or four more are getting eyed by a money-saving Congress.

What a contrast to a year ago! Then there was hardly enough praise and gratitude sufficient to crown the accomplishments which were a team effort. New in our space counties, the scientists who put their hearts and brains into the effort are being hard

Such a dismaying shattering of a force which cannot easily be re-built, the long years which were needed to muster the very complex and the very professional space army which put the Stars and Stripes on the moon and established record after record i man's exploration of space, is an issue of more than

But there is a local issue and there is need every strong move among all those who see Cape Kennedy as essential in the new program to develop a "space shuttle" to make it clear to our Congressional delegation that they should be on the watch that a Californian in the White House does not rutionalize the development of a new space facility in California for the "space shuttle" as desirable in the nation's

Florada hus bean "hitten" once. That's enough! A second such bite would be our own fault. Along this line we are escouraged by the continuing effort of some of the present Floridisms in Washington to bring the stal situation at the cape to national attention and to let those in power know that Cape Kennedy is the logical site for new space programs,

We are also quite in harmony with the move by Senatorial Candidate Farris Bryant (D) who has gone on record with a statong and specific statement urging Cape Konnody's care for new use while emphasizing that this is not only in line with Florida's needs, but is-in fact-the only way in which the space shuttle program can be handled economically.

All praise has gone and will go to the "Men On The Moon" for that historic event. Now let us be sure that the team that made that possible is not shattered beyond mending and that blorida retains its historic role in the 1970s spate program!

Boxing Returns Sanford

Amateur boxing is scheduled to return to Sanford this Thursday night, according to local promoter R. G. Kondracki, Kondracki confirmed this morning that amateur fights will be held this Thursday at 8 p.m. at the Sanford Armory.

Kondracki is the manager of the local boxing team, and plans to have fighters from Green Cove Springs, Daytona Beach, Melbourne and Eustis here for the matches.

This is the second such amateur card in Sanford. The first card was a disappointment when two of the boxing teams had car trouble and only three exhibition matches could be staged.

Kondracki told The Herald that anyone who kept their ticket stub from the first card will be admitted fre: of charge by presenting it at the ticket booth. Kondracki plans to have 8-10 fights on the card. Local fighters who will see action are Victor Perez, Aaron Perez, Steve Macek, Johnny Foster, Kip

Braden and making his first fight, John Green. Other Sanford fighters will also be on the cards. The Sanford boxing team has been fighting for some time now and has made a good showing in every outing. They have fought in Eustis, Daytona and Green Cove Springs. Most promising of the fighters is Victor Perez.

Perez plans to turn pro in the very near future. He already has over 20 wins to his credit as an amateur.

TALLAHASSEE-A 40 page summary of Florida's fresh water fishing and hunting regulations for 1970-71 is now available at the office of all County Judges and offices of the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission. The regulation summary includes information on fishing and hunting licenses, seasons, bag limits, and legal methods of taking fresh water fish and resident game animals and birds. The summary booklet also includes regulations covering Florida's fifty-five fish management areas and 37 wildlife management areas. In addition to general hunting and fishing regulations, the 1970-71 summary contains information on the statewide archery hunting season, controlled bear hunts, trapping regulations and seasons, and the new zoning regulation that governs open hunting seasons. The publication, issued by the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission, does not include migratory bird hunting regulations as set by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. Migratory bird hunting regulations will be published as a separate summary later in the year.

Sportsmen may obtain a copy of the new hunting and fishing regulations by contacting their County Judges or writing the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission in Tallahassee, Panama City, Lake City, Ocala, Lakeland, or West Palm Beach. . . .
