Family Donations Get Legislators' Support

By Michael Beha
Herald Staff Writer

At least two Seminole County legislators said today they tentatively support legislation that would allow blood donors to designate their blood for use by family members.

State Rep. Art Grindle, R-Altamonte Springs, said he is considering sponsoring a bill that would allow directed blood donations, reversing the policy of the American Association of Blood Banks. And Rep. Carl Selph, R-Casselberry said he supports Grindle's effort.

"I can't imagine how my giving blood for my granddaughter can hurt the program. I would think it would help by bringing more people in to give blood," he said.

Grindle said his interest in the legislation has come from public reaction to the plight of 31-year-old Richard Studer of St. Cloud, who was not allowed to give blood to his 11-year-old son by order of Central Florida Blood Bank officials.

Blood bank officials said a national policy forbids them from allowing donors to specify the recipient of the blood.

Studer was afraid his son would contract AIDS or other diseases which can be transmitted by blood transfusions.

Selph said he was totally unaware that such a policy existed until the Studer case was publicized.

"It amazed me when I heard it. I can understand the father's fear. It should be his right as a father to give blood for his son."

"I don't in any way want to injure the 'People ought to have the right to give blood for their own family.'

—Rep. Art Grindle

program," Grindle said. "I think Richard Studer feels the same way. But people ought to have the right to give blood for their family."

Grindle, who said he's been a blood donor for 25 years, said receiving a family member's blood in a transfusion not only seems to make sense medically but "strengthens the bonds of the family."

Selph said "it's ridiculous that they cannot do it."

He said he would "tentatively" support the bill. "But I have to look at it further. There may be a very good reason for the policy."

Grindle said he also wants to study the policy and all the possible ramifications.

He will be meeting with officials from the state Department of Health and Human Services for technical information on the subject and will try to determine whether any state department has jurisdiction over the blood bank.

"They're not regulated by anyone as far as we know," he said.

Meanwhile, some other Central Florida residents are getting involved in the battle as well.

Helen Hart, a former Seminole County Republican committee member, has begun a petition drive to seek a change in the national policy.

Hart said she's forming a committee to support Studer. The committee will be composed of doctors and other professional people who want to see the policy changed. Grindle was the first legislator she contacted but others are also on her list, she said.

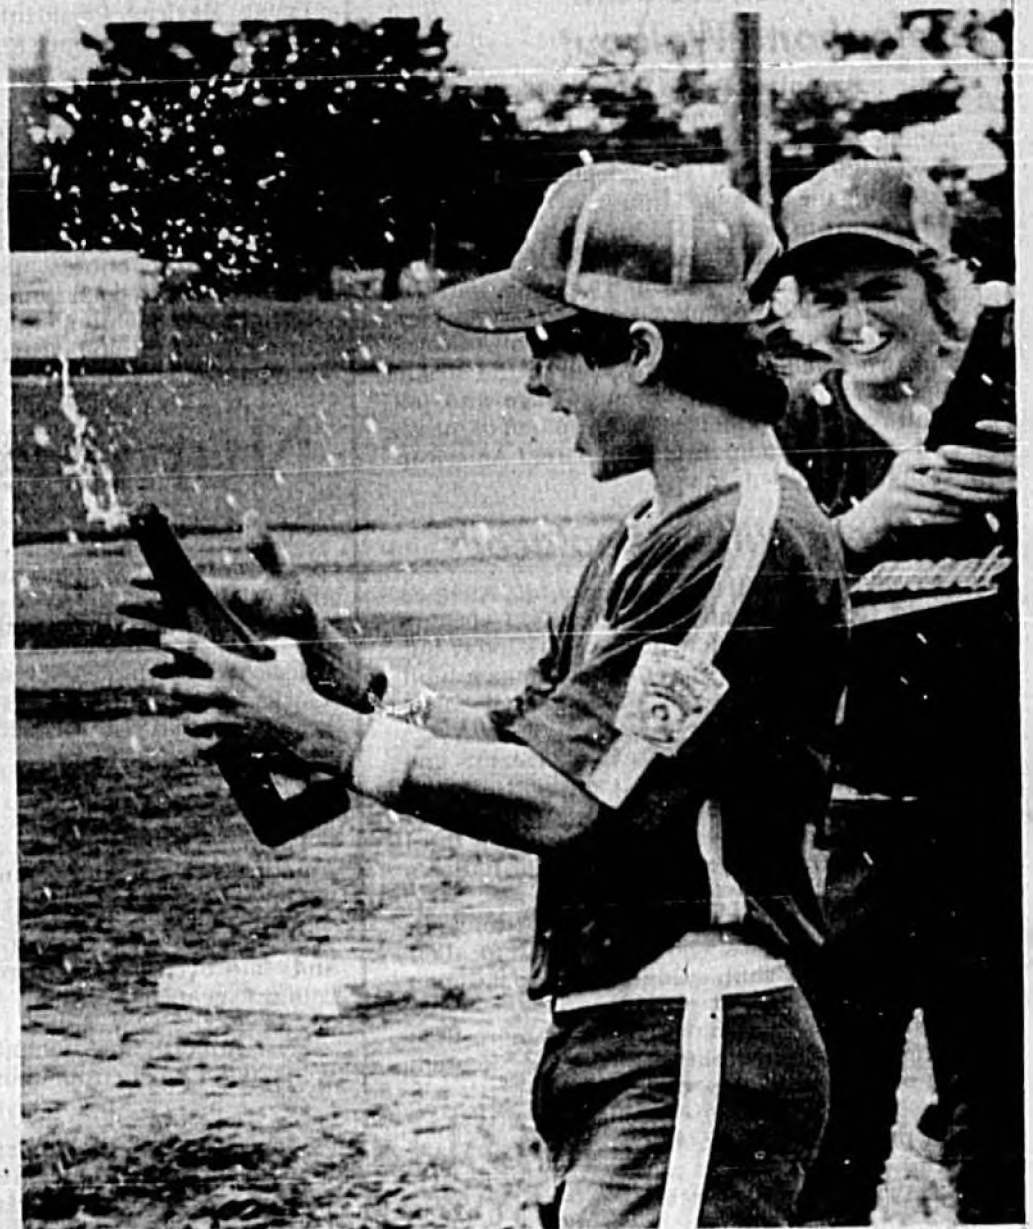

"Here's a man who has the courage to stand up for his rights," she said. "I think someone should help him."

Mrs. Hart said she's not opposed to blood banks themselves but to the policy.

"I've always been involved in righting things that violate people's rights. If you want to receive blood from the blood bank that's fine. But if you want to give blood for your family then you should be able to."

Studer will continue his effort to change the policy even though he lost the initial battle with the blood bank. His son received a transfusion from the blood bank to combat a severe viral infection which had led to the boy being chronically undernourished.

Studer will appear on NBC TV's Today Show on Tuesday and has promised to take make a nationwide appeal.

Team Spirits

Scott Stiles pops the cork on a bottle of victory "champagne" and Greg Ebbert waits to see how it all comes out before tackling him during the Altamonte Little League team's victory celebration in Euflis Saturday. The team was in high spirits after their 12-1 win over West University, Texas, to capture the Little League Junior All-Stars Southern Regional championship. The victory advanced Altamonte to the Junior League World Series which gets under way Tuesday in Taylor, Michigan, near Detroit. Sports Car Crash Kills 16-Year-Old Longwood Girl

A 16-year-old Longwood girl was killed Saturday when the sports car in which she was a passenger went out of control and collided with a van.

Darlene Barbara Calnes, 256 Lazy Acres Road, was pronounced dead on arrival at Halifax Hospital in Daytona Beach shortly before noon.

The eastbound sports car in which she was a passenger ran off the shoulder of State Road 44 about six miles west of New Smyrna Beach at about 11 a.m. The car then swerved back onto the highway and traveled into the westbound lane and struck a westbound Dodge van. The van was also hit in the rear by a westbound station wagon.

The driver of the sports car was Cori Ann Thorpe, 15, of 12 Sleepy Hollow Cove, Longwood, who was treated for minor injuries at Fish Memorial Hospital in New Smyrna Beach and released. According to the Florida Highway Patrol, Miss Thorpe did not have a driver's license and charges are pending in relation to the accident. The car, a 1979 Mazda RX-7, was registered to Charles R. Thorpe of the same address.

Miss Calnes would have been a senior at Lake Mary High School this fall.

Also treated and released from the emergency room of the New Smyrna Beach hospital were the driver of the van, Fred Grubbs, 50, of Winter Haven and his passengers, Patricia Ann Grubbs, 40, Debora Grubbs, 19, and Melanie Grubbs, 9.

The driver of the station wagon, David McComb, 33, of 1307 Nottingham St., Orlando, and his three passengers were not hurt, troopers said.

Only One Holdout On New Fire Truck

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

The Lake Mary Volunteer Fire Department may have won its battle to get a new 1,250-gallon-per-minute fire pumper truck in the 1983-84 fiscal year.

A final decision on the matter will be made by city commissioners after a public hearing on the budget slated for Sept. 15. But after a lengthy presentation by volunteer fire department Capt. Larry Dale, only one city commissioner continued fighting the proposal to include acquiring the new $100,000 plus vehicle in the city's proposed budget for the new year beginning Oct. 1.

Commissioner Ray Fox opposed the plan to buy the truck next year and finance it over a period of years. Fox said his opposition to the truck purchase does not indicate a lack of support for the volunteer department.

Three of the commissioners—Russ Megonegal, Charlie Lytle and Burt Perinchief—indicated support for the new fire truck.

Commissioner Kenneth King said he can see Fox's point of waiting until next year, but lauded Dale's report.

Fox said his major concern is that with the acquisition of the new vehicle, about 55 percent of the department's budget in the new year would be used for debt service—not only payments for the new truck, but also payments on one acquired two years ago.

He said the 1984-85 year would be a better time to buy the truck because a final $10,000 payment on another city project will be made during the upcoming year.

Dale, in a detailed presentation, said that the purchase of a 750 gallon per minute pumper two years ago was only the first phase of a two part plan to beef up the volunteer department's equipment.

He pointed specifically to a disaster preparedness report submitted to the commission by the volunteers in 1978 and a written justification for the first truck submitted in 1980 specifically noted the plan for the two trucks.

If a major fire would occur, there is no way the city could be protected with only one piece of Class A front line equipment, he said. Dale said there are 40 potential sites in Lake Mary where two pieces of Class A equipment would be needed to successfully battle a blaze. He added that 50 percent of the city is without fire hydrants.

He said that an older piece of equipment owned by the department cannot be used in tandem with the two year old truck and its supply of water would be depleted in one to two minutes at a major fire.

"The Lake Mary Fire Department has the smallest budget in the county and the largest department," Dale said, noting that the volunteers have more calls per 1,000 citizens than any other department in the county. "We are spending less per person for fire protection than any other city," he added.

Saying that the proposed new budget for the volunteer department totals $49,669, Dale reminded this is only 6.4 percent of the entire city budget.

"Our budget is a minimal amount for what the city is getting. I'm saying we do need another pumper," Dale said.

No Lone Rangers State Won't Cut Staff At Longwood Fire Tower

The state Division of Forestry has decided to retain its entire complement of three rangers on duty at the Longwood Fire Tower. That means there will always be more than one ranger manning the post, said a spokesman for the division.

Bill Bell, forestry division supervisor for Seminole, Orange, Osceola and Brevard counties, said the division decided not to reduce staffing at the Longwood tower after receiving pleas from Seminole County officials. They had planned to eliminate one of the three positions in the 1983-84 budget.

State Rep. Carl Selph, R-Casselberry, said he asked for all three rangers to remain on duty at the tower after seeing a resolution from Seminole County commissioners explaining why all three are needed.

Currently, only two rangers are assigned to the Longwood tower because of a hiring freeze that would not permit the replacement of a ranger who resigned to become city forester for Altamonte Springs. The vacant position was also not scheduled to be filled in the upcoming 1983-84 budget year.

Rangers man the Longwood tower, as well as fire towers near Oviedo, DeBary and elsewhere around the state, during the prime fire hours of 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. The rangers are charged with spotting and extinguishing fires in forested rural areas.

With three rangers on staff, the division has enough manpower to keep two rangers on duty every day of the week, meaning the tower would not go unattended while one ranger is fighting a brush fire. With only two rangers on staff, only one ranger would be on duty four days a week.

A 25 percent increase in forest fires is expected in the Longwood district during the coming year because of increased use of the forest as a recreational area.

Bell said the division will cut another job from the four-county staff to allow the Longwood position to remain staffed.

It has not been decided what job that will be.

The forestry division also operates airplanes for spotting fires in isolated areas and maintains crews to combat major forest fires.—Michael Beha

Sibling Rivalry

Having a sister one step away from being a black belt in karate can sometimes get a fellow down. But 12-year-old Brice Clener puts up a good defense in sparring matches with sister Cindy, 14. He's just two steps away from black belt status himself, according to karate instructor Jerry Tanner. The Clener siblings may seem young to be such karate experts, but Tanner says he starts 'em as young as age 6. He says karate is good for kids because it teaches discipline and self-understanding. Tanner has been teaching karate in Sanford for three years, currently two times a week at the Salvation Army gym, 700 W. 24th St. Cindy, he said, expects to complete her training in six months. She'll become a junior black belt, he said, which is the same as an adult black belt except that the person does not have the adult weight or height. When she turns 16, Cindy will be a black belt in the adult class without taking further tests. She has already won seven trophies in state competition, he said. As for Brice, now a "third brown" in karate terminology, he has to pass two more tests before attaining black belt status. Otherwise, the Clener kids, of 980 Lake Harney Road, Geneva, are just normal kids. This brother-sister tussle outside the karate school after a lesson was over who would get to sit in the front seat of the car on the way home.

IN BRIEF

Phone Makers Join Telephone Walkout

By United Press International
Workers who manufacture telephones, joining operators and service workers on the picket lines against the telephone company, extending the week-old strike.
The members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, representing about 38,500 employees in 19 plants, join the nearly 700,000 telephone company workers from the Communications Workers of America and two smaller unions involved in the strike. The strike began Aug. 6 over wage and job security issues connected to the spinoff of the 22 Bell operating companies from parent American Telephone & Telegraph.

Strikers Will Be Replaced

HOUSTON (UPI) — Continental Airlines vowed to permanently replace 2,000 striking mechanics and maintenance workers today but union leaders called the announcement a bluff and said they were not disappointed pilots refused to walk out.
Some 2,000 mechanics, cabin cleaners and maintenance workers — members of the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers — today entered their third day of a contract wage dispute with the nation's eighth largest air carrier.
"Beginning (today) we will start to permanently replace mechanics who do not report for their next scheduled shift," Continental spokesman Bruce Hicks said Sunday night.
"We are ready to hire. There are more than enough qualified, excellent candidates," he said. "All of our mechanics who report for work will get $16 an hour. Those mechanics on Friday were making $13.45 an hour."
The union, without a contract since Dec. 31, 1981, wants $17.70 an hour.

Power Back On Again

NEW YORK (UPI) — Electricity flowed into the garment district today for the first workday since a three-day blackout cost merchants millions of dollars in business, but stores were warned to conserve power to keep from straining re-wired cables.
The power restoration was completed by management personnel because of a strike by Con Ed unionized employees. Those who spliced and rerouted the cables had "worked their way up through the blue collar ranks, so they've done splicing before," Walden said.
Last week's blackout, caused by a combination flood and fire in an underground power substation, struck at one of the peak seasons for garment manufacturers, who were expecting to do about $500 million in out-of-town business.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: Heavy thunderstorms in the West sent mud and rocks careening down hillsides, blocking a Utah highway with 4 feet of mud and prompting flash flood warnings today. A Florida man was killed by lightning and 5,000 people were plunged into darkness for seven hours. The National Weather Service today warned of flash floods in the central plateau states of Idaho, Utah and Nevada and parts of Wyoming, Colorado and Arizona. A flash flood watch covered 12 Utah counties and forecasters warned of another day of rain. A string of showers and thunderstorms closed several western Utah highways Sunday. Four feet of mud and a separate rock slide closed State Road 73 in Utah County, about 30 miles south-west of Salt Lake City. Rocks and mud careened down hillsides, closing roads in two counties, during the rainstorms. The intense thunderstorms soaked California and sent a giant slab of granite sliding down a mountainside at Yosemite National Park. The slab crashed into a roadway and blocked one of the park's entrances. No one was hurt.

In U.S.—Mexican Summit

C. American Crisis Overshadows All Else

By Jane Bussey
LA PAZ, Mexico (UPI) — Despite tough disputes over immigration and economics, the Central American crisis overshadowed the urgent bilateral problems facing Mexican President Miguel de la Madrid and President Reagan in their six-hour summit.
Mexico came away with a few concrete benefits, such as the U.S. extension of another $500 million in guaranteed credits for grains and Reagan's offer to increase oil purchases from Mexico for the U.S. strategic petroleum reserve.
The two countries also signed an accord that few could take issue with — to fight the pollution that is poisoning the air, land and waters along the 1,900-mile common border.

Wide differences remain on illegal immigration and commercial relations — Mexico wants trade barriers lowered — but the starkest contrast came when Mexico argued for non-intervention in Central America.
De la Madrid repeatedly stressed self-determination and non-intervention.

Analysis

He made a pointed reference in his opening comments to the "shows of force which threaten to touch off a conflagration" directed at U.S. Navy task forces operating off the coast of Central America.

"We want the people of those countries ... to be the masters of their will and their destiny," de la Madrid said.
Mexico maintains that U.S. intervention in the region is as detrimental as the Soviet intervention channeled through Cuba and Nicaragua.
"Because we ourselves have lived through it we can understand this same experience in countries south of our border," de la Madrid said, referring to Mexico's own 1910 revolution, in which about 1 million people died.
While both countries call for non-intervention and self-determination, a senior Mexican diplomatic source has praised leftist-ruled Nicaragua's steps toward establishing electoral policy.

The source also said that the purported supply by the Nicaraguans of arms to leftist Salvadoran guerrillas is a less important arms source than weapons captured from the army itself.
But while Reagan throughout his speeches stressed the enormous cooperation between the two countries, de la Madrid repeatedly underlined the differences.
"The relationship between Mexico and the United States is moment by moment becoming a two-fold priority: we seek to avert our differences and we must resolve those that arise with all due dispatch," de la Madrid said.

Number Of Blacks, Indians In U.S. Growing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Blacks now make up 12 percent of the U.S. population, the Census Bureau says, noting that it counted a 17 percent increase in the number of American blacks during the 1970s.

In a report, the agency said there were 26.5 million blacks in the United States in 1980. The nation's total population that year was 226.5 million.

The new report was based on information gathered during the 1980 census.

The bureau also reported a 72 percent increase in the American Indian population, which totaled 1.4 million in 1980.

The growth was a result of both "natural increase" and improvements in procedures for finding and counting people, the agency said.

Most minorities — including Indians and Asians — were living in metropolitan areas in 1980, its report added.

Asians and Pacific Islanders totaled 3.5 million in the 1980 census, or 1.5 percent of the total U.S. population, the report said. There was no comparison to 1970 figures.

Census Bureau statistics also showed more than 58 percent of all American blacks living in inner cities and another 19 percent in the suburbs.

Metropolitan areas with the largest black populations were New York City-New Jersey, 1,940,628; Chicago, 1,427,826; Los Angeles-Long Beach, 943,968; Detroit, 890,532; Philadelphia, 884,405; and Washington, D.C., 853,719.

The report said the black population was older in 1980 than in 1970, with the median age rising to 24.9 from 22.2.

The bureau found 39 percent of blacks over 15 years old were married, another 15 percent either separated or divorced, and 37 percent were single.

There were 6 million black families in 1980, and the percentage that included a married couple declined from 67 percent in 1970 to 56 percent in 1980, the report said.

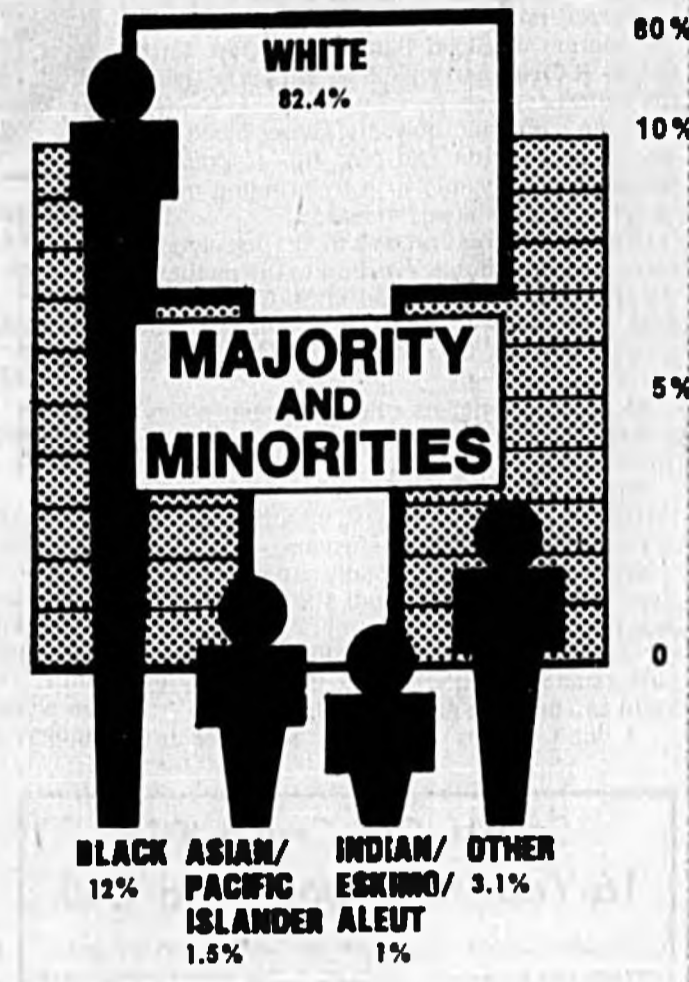

About 38 percent of the black families were reported headed by a woman with no spouse present, up 10 percent from the 1970 census. The average size for a black family in 1980 was 3.72 members, compared to a national average of 3.27.

Most American Indians — 53 percent — lived in cities, while 25 percent lived on 278 reservations. Of the 297,445 American Indian families found in 1980, 71 percent were married-couple families, the report said.

The Indian population was considerably younger than the nation's total population. Their median age was 22.9, compared with 30 for the nation. Nearly 40 percent were under 18 years old and only 3 percent were 65 or older.

Among American Asians and Pacific Islanders, 93 percent lived in urban areas. About 60 percent of all American Asians were married.

Cities with the largest Asian and Pacific Islander population included Honolulu, 456,465; Los Angeles-Long Beach, 434,850; San Francisco-Oakland, 325,619; and New York-New Jersey, 271,040.

In Mysterious Incident At Their Home

Elderly Longwood Man Dead, His Wife Injured

Longwood police suspect foul play in the asphyxiation death of an 81-year-old man whose wife also apparently suffered superficial knife wounds in a "suspicious" incident Saturday at their home.

A preliminary report from the Seminole County medical examiner Sunday indicated that Salvador Ruiz, of 850 S. Lorman Circle, died of asphyxiation, homicide detective Smokey Parr said today.

Longwood police Lt. Terry Baker said police received a call from Ruiz's wife, Canda Ruiz, at 8:33 a.m. Saturday stating that her husband needed medical attention.

When officers arrived at the Ruiz home, they found Salvador Ruiz lying on the floor of the family room. He was transported to Florida Hospital in Altamonte Springs where he was pronounced dead.

Officers said they found Canda Ruiz, 67, lying on a sofa in the living room, bleeding from her arms and legs, apparently suffering from knife wounds, police said.

She was listed in good condition today at Florida Hospital-Orlando, police said.

Parr declined to comment on how Mrs. Ruiz' was injured or on other aspects of the case which is still under investigation.

"It is suspicious and we do suspect foul play," he said.

Polish Authorities Scatter Demonstrators

GDANSK, Poland (UPI) — The Communist regime's crackdown on demonstrators shows there has been no change in official opposition to the Solidarity union since martial law was lifted.

Riot police swinging clubs broke up a peaceful demonstration by up to 10,000 people Sunday on the anniversary of the 1980 strike at the Lenin Shipyard where the Solidarity free trade movement was born.

Police sources said several dozen people were arrested as Solidarity supporters tried to march from a church to a union monument outside the shipyard. An American television news crew was taken into custody briefly.

The police charge against the pro-union parade came without warning. Hundreds of officers, both in standard light-blue uniforms and gray combat fatigues, had been massed on the streets of Gdansk beforehand in preparation for a confrontation.

Violence Appears To Ease

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI) — The Chilean capital hoped for a respite today from five days of violence in which 24 people died demanding an end to military rule with celebrations for Ascension Day, a national Catholic holiday.

Shops, banks, and government offices were closed. Political activity was expected to be at a minimum.

A police spokesman said Sunday night that anti-government demonstrations that broke out at the Metropolitan Cemetery were "minor." Police used tear gas to disperse crowds who set up barricades on a highway following a funeral for one of the victims of the violence.

Most of the deaths, including three children, were victims of army troops enforcing a dusk-to-dawn curfew Aug. 11, the fourth of a series of national protest days called by opposition labor leaders and the Christian Democratic Party, Chile's largest.

French More Involved

NDJAMENA, Chad (UPI) — France, moving a step closer to direct intervention in Chad's civil war, ordered crack paratroopers into the western village of Salal today to protect the capital from a possible onslaught by Libyan troops and rebel forces.

"A line has been drawn across the sand and Libya is being dared to step over it," a Western analyst said of France's deeper involvement on the side of embattled President Hissene Habre.

Western military observers said the French moves could result in a stalemate of the 7-week-old conflict because the Libyan-backed rebels might not risk direct French military intervention.

Reagan Talking Like A Candidate...

President Reagan ...expected to seek re-election in 1984

By Helen Thomas
UPI White House Reporter
EL PASO, Texas (UPI) — President Reagan is talking like a candidate, acting like a candidate and running against Jimmy Carter again.

The president has not formally announced he will seek re-election but is expected to do so in the late fall. His travels to the Hispanic heartland and the sharp tone of Reagan's rhetoric against the domestic and foreign policy of his Democratic predecessor appear to be clear signals he is already making his bid for a second term.

Presidential counselor Edwin Meese said Sunday on ABC's "This Week with David Brinkley," he is certain President Reagan will seek re-election and expects the president to announce his re-election campaign in the next month or two.

And Reagan's eldest son, Michael, said Sunday on a Pittsburgh radio show that his father "doesn't like to leave a job when it's half done" and will probably run again.

The president left Washington Friday on a three-week, cross-country speech-making trip and vacation aimed at drumming up support from two powerful voting blocs — Hispanics and veterans.

In his travels, he is not just testing the waters, but also meeting with Republican leaders and renewing old ties with supporters. Aides say a re-election campaign committee soon will be in place and ready to make formal what already seems to be taking place.

"We're making good inroads" into the Hispanic voting bloc, said Edward Rollins, the president's chief political adviser.

He said Reagan hopes to win 35 percent of the Hispanic vote this time around. Reagan won an estimated 25 to 30 percent of the Hispanic vote in 1980.

Rollins also said neither blacks nor women have been written off as possible Reagan supporters.

The president has taken aim at Carter in two major speeches in the past two days, although he avoided mentioning his predecessor by name.

"Three years ago the ominous signs were everywhere," he told the U.S. Hispanic Chamber of Commerce in Tampa. "The world seemed to be counting us out," saying America's best days were past, he said.

"Even our leaders were throwing up their hands, suggesting we were in a malaise, that was the word they used, and our problems were unsolvable."

He said his administration has restored "hope and confidence" in America and had warded off the Soviet Union from its intention of dominating the world. In the same speech, Reagan resorted to the recurring theme of his 1980 debate with Carter: "Are you better off today than you were four years ago?"

Gas Prices Lower Than Last Year

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Despite the nickel-a-gallon federal tax imposed this year, oil expert Dan Lundberg says motorists this summer are paying about 4-cents-per-gallon less for gasoline than they did last year.

"The public today is paying 9.76 cents less," Lundberg said Sunday, but the gain is really only 3.56 cents because of a combination of state and federal taxes added since April 1.

Last August, the overall price of gasoline was 128.83 cents a gallon. In the latest 50-state Lundberg survey of 17,000 stations, conducted since July 22, the overall price was 125.27.

Lundberg said the public is paying 6.2 cents more a gallon in taxes since the nickel-a-gallon federal gas tax went into effect April 1. Twenty-four states have added their own tax increases, he said.

Since July 22 the overall price of gas has climbed only eight-hundredths of a cent, from 125.19 cents a gallon to 125.27, Lundberg said.

Lundberg predicted the remaining 26 states will eventually raise gas taxes because of little public outcry about the federal tax increase.

Since the July 22 survey, the price of regular gas rose one one-hundredth of a cent from 115.61 to 115.62. The price of regular unleaded remained at 122.67 and the price of premium unleaded rose from 133.50 to 133.67. The price of premium leaded rose from 137.67 to 137.70.

Soviet Diplomat's Son Said Still In The U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A top White House aide says U.S. officials have indicated to the Soviets they should not make a Soviet diplomat's son leave this country until he is allowed to meet with American officials "to see what his real wishes are."

Rejecting claims of Soviet embassy officials who say U.S. authorities have no right to question the 16-year-old, presidential counselor Edwin Meese said only that. "We do not have the power to go into the embassy property to interview him."

Soviet officials say Andrei Berezhkov, 16, remains on their embassy compound but that has not been confirmed. Immigration authorities have issued border alerts that he is to be detained. FBI agents are posted at airports and the embassy to make sure he does not leave for the Soviet Union.

"If they tried to move him out of the country, we would see about what could be done," said Meese, appearing Sunday on ABC's "This Week with David Brinkley."

"I think we have indicated they should not have them leave the country until we have had the opportunity to see what his real wishes are."

Berezhkov's father, Valentin, a veteran diplomat, is due for reassignment at the end of August and the youth was to return to the Soviet Union to start school. He was visiting his family for the summer on a diplomatic passport and visa when they reported him missing, in the family car, Wednesday night.

Police treated it as a routine missing person report. The Soviet embassy said the boy returned home voluntarily early Thursday morning.

But then The New York Times and the White House received letters signed Andy Berezhkov asking for help in remaining in the United States. The Soviets denounced the letters as forgeries, noting the use of American idioms and cliches, and called attempts to interview the youth "a gross violation of international law."

"We are continuing to pursue contacts with the Soviets," said White House spokesman Larry Speakes, adding American authorities believe the boy is still in Washington. "We think what we are doing is perfectly legitimate and consistent with international law."

Lake Mary Decides Not To Sell 2 Lots

The two lots owned by the city of Lake Mary on Seminole Avenue between 8th and 9th streets are not for sale.

Located on property acquired by the city when it purchased the community's original water system, is a four-inch well that Lake Mary may need as it moves toward acquiring its own water supply.

The city commission at a special meeting Thursday night unanimously turned down an offer by Lucy Paskoski to buy the lots as a home site.

She offered the city $5,560 for the lots which measure 50 feet by 116 feet each and agreed to pay closing costs and title insurance fees on the sale.

Mayor Walter Sorenson told the commission that the offer was unsolicited.

Commissioner Ray Fox said it would be unwise to sell the lots when the city has not yet completed planning for a method of getting its own water supply.

Sanford currently supplies Lake Mary with water under a contractual arrangement.

FLORIDA

IN BRIEF

Reagan Losing Ground With Women Voters

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — President Reagan has lost a foothold with Florida's women voters who expressed displeasure with his performance in office in a recent statewide poll.

Only 43 percent of homemakers and 48 percent of the state's working women gave Reagan excellent or good ratings in the poll released Sunday and conducted for the Florida Republican Party.

Meanwhile, nearly 60 percent of the men questioned said the president is doing well in office.

State GOP Chairman Henry Saylor said he suspects the president fared so poorly with women because "women do the shopping and they're the ones who suffer from the economy." Because the economy has improved in recent months, Saylor said he expects the so-called gender gap to narrow.

Saylor also said "all this talk about war" probably has scared housewives with children.

The Danger Only Half Seen

If a Soviet naval armada docked in Cuba, picked up Fidel Castro's army, and sailed across the Caribbean to invade Central America, even the squishiest dove in Congress could not seriously doubt what would have to be done. The 1947 Rio Treaty — pledging nations in the hemisphere to assist in repelling outside aggression — would be invoked and the United States would lead the way in fighting to protect a region only 800 miles from its own borders.

Anyone in Congress who suggested, in these circumstances, that the United States spurn a "military solution" and instead promote negotiations aimed at compelling the governments under attack to share power with the invaders would be laughed off Capitol Hill.

Knowing this, the Soviets and their Cuban helpmates pursue a less provocative but no less threatening strategy. Its genius lies in exploiting local conditions to promote revolutions the end result of which is hardly different from what might be obtained by outright invasion: The creation of governments loyal to and allied with the Soviet bloc.

Nicaragua is the first fruit of this strategy and El Salvador is scheduled to be the next. Honduras and Guatemala would be next in line followed, one must assume, by subversion of Mexico itself.

The United States must either learn to counter this subtle, indirect aggression or watch helplessly as Central American states are added one by one to the Soviet empire. The Reagan administration recognizes as much. Many in Congress, and in the country, seemingly do not.

Therein lies President Reagan's chief challenge as he confronts what is rapidly becoming his administration's most pressing foreign policy problem. No one can doubt that the United States has the military strength, economic resources, and diplomatic capital to keep Central America out of the Soviet-Cuban axis. But the Reagan administration's efforts to defend the region are increasingly hampered at every turn by a badly divided Congress and the limits imposed by ambivalent public attitudes.

Consider the following:

- The trivial levels of military aid for El Salvador that Congress will approve preclude a victory against Marxist guerrillas and may be barely enough to guarantee a stalemate.

- Even the administration's decision to signal U.S. resolve by dispatching naval units and a modest ground force to "show the flag" via training exercises in Central America was roundly condemned by many congressional Democrats, including House Speaker Tip O'Neill. For good measure, a bevy of former Kennedy and Johnson administration officials — architect of the Vietnam disaster — added their own criticism.

This sabotage of administration policy is undermining whatever prospects exist for successful negotiations on a regional settlement in Central America. Worse yet, it is devaluing the administration's show of firmness and invites Soviet, Cuban, and Nicaraguan miscalculation. Thus, an already dangerous situation is made more perilous still.

It is axiomatic that no U.S. foreign policy can be sustained unless it enjoys broad, bipartisan support. Mr. Reagan cannot lead where Congress and the country will not go.

To date, the president's best efforts to explain the stakes and illuminate the dangers in Central America have fallen short. He is trying again with the creation of a presidential commission on Central America headed by Henry Kissinger.

If this too fails to marshal a consensus, the doubters, defeatists, isolationists, and the faint of heart must be presented with what would amount to a presidential ultimatum: Support the minimum firmness required to prevail in Central America or accept responsibility for the region's slide into the Soviet orbit. And then accept the political consequences at the polls beginning in 1984.

The Soviets, Cubans, and Nicaraguans are playing hardball in Central America. Mr. Reagan must soon begin to do the same in dealing with domestic doubts and criticism that are effectively tying the administration's hands.

How It's Done In Nagasaki

NAGASAKI, Japan (NEA) — I have seen the present of Japanese industrial planning and it works beautifully.

At least at the Mitsubishi shipyard and engine works it does.

Mitsubishi is the largest employer in Nagasaki prefecture. And that said, it should be added that it is an understatement. Mitsubishi, which traces the origins of the Nagasaki operation back to a foundry set up in the 1850s with the assistance of Dutch engineers, has some 11,000 workers on its payroll. It accounts for 37 percent of the prefecture's entire industrial output by value.

There are two other aspects of the Mitsubishi operation that make it of particular interest at this time:

1. It is in large part a new facility, the Koyagi Island works dating from 1972.

2. It is a leader in what the relentlessly realistic Japanese recognize is a non-growth industry for a developed technological economy such as their own.

Koyagi Island off the entrance to the deep, hill-ringed bay on which Nagasaki proper is located, is reached by launch that passes, in the 15-minute voyage, some historic territory. This was the source of much of Japan's naval strength in World War II.

The yards, some distance from the epicenter, survived the atom bombing of Nagasaki on Aug. 9, 1945 (at 11:02 a.m. — you are frequently reminded of such details in this city intensely conscious of its place in history).

The Koyagi Island facilities largely duplicate those of the old main plant, but on a larger scale. The building docks could accommodate ships of up to a million tons, and monsters such as that were Koyagi's original purpose.

The facilities, constructed from scratch, were completed in 1972, just before the first oil shock, as a consequence of which the bottom fell out of the giant tanker market.

Mitsubishi went through a rough period of few orders, but without the mass layoffs that similar large enterprises in other industrial countries would have felt compelled to initiate.

Mitsubishi shipyards is doing all right now, having shifted emphasis from supertankers to smaller bulk carriers.

But it is operating at a third of capacity, and its Nagasaki payroll has stabilized down a third from peak pre-shock and recession employment of 16,000.

Also, shipbuilding for Japan, as for other developed industrial economies, has largely gone elsewhere. In this case, it is South Korea that is getting the orders for new yards at Pusan.

It might appear that the Nagasaki yards would be a prime target for phasing out under the master plan of Japan's renowned and somewhat misunderstood Ministry of International Trade and Industry (MITI). Taking a long-range view of the economy's problem areas and potential strengths, MITI encourages orderly withdrawals by Japanese enterprises from declining industries and expanded activity in those showing promise for the future.

U.S. Contradicts Traditional Policy

WASHINGTON — The Reagan administration has put itself in a paradoxical situation as it starts approving the sale of high-technology goods to the Chinese mainland under a new, friendlier policy toward Peking. The White House must now try to explain to our allies why it is suddenly all right to sell high-tech items to a communist country.

The irony will not be lost on our friends. Ever since President Reagan took office, they have been subjected to stern lectures from Washington, warning against selling Western technology of potential military usefulness to the communist bloc.

Now the administration must persuade skeptical allies that Peking is somehow different from Moscow. The Japanese and West Europeans — as eager as anyone to grab a share of the communist-bloc high-tech market — may be forgiven if they fail to detect the difference.

The forum in which these doubts will eventually surface is a little-publicized spinoff of NATO called COCOM — for Coordinating Committee. It was set up in 1950 to control the sale of strategic material to communist countries. Japan and all NATO members except Iceland

Graduate engineering courses will be offered through nine Florida universities, including the University of Central Florida, beginning Aug. 22.

A total of 60 courses will be offered through the program to help meet the need of high technology industries which are locating in Florida.

The program, called Florida Engineering Education Delivery System, was launched with $1.3 million in special funding for two years from the state Legislature.

FEEDS advisory board chairman Carmen Palermo, vice president and chief scientist at Harris Corp. in Melbourne said engineers are leaving college with a bachelor's degree because the starting salary for engineers is so high.

But because of rapidly advancing technology, it is important for practicing engineers and scientists to keep up, via graduate courses.

Videotapes of engineering classes at UCF, the University of Florida, Florida State University and Florida Atlantic University are the heart of the program. The tapes will present a professor's lecture and class discussion about an engineering problem or technique.

When the courses are taken for college credit, the tapes will be augmented by local tutors at state universities or at other locations like Eglin Air Force Base. But the courses will also be available on a non-credit basis to businesses which want to bring their engineers up to date on the latest technologies and the fundamental science underlying them.

The program is the first time Florida's universities have cooperated in a program of this nature. And the FEEDS coordinators hope the program allows all four of the state's engineering colleges to save money and participate in joint research projects.

Officials with the program hope it can be improved in the future to provide the classes live using microwave signals with audio and computer hookups for students at remote locations so professors can determine how well students are understanding the material.

Students can obtain master's degrees and doctorates through the program.

FEEDS registration will be held between Aug. 22 and 29. Information can be obtained from Dr. B. E. Mathews at UCF. Mathews can be reached at 275-2156.

Reagan Meets The People

By Ira R. Allen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — For half an hour twice a week, President Reagan puts aside the business of state and meets with Americans from different walks of life.

During the 30 minutes of "administrative time" late Tuesday and Thursday afternoons, Reagan spends five minutes with people who have been brought into the Oval Office by aides or Republican members of Congress to shake hands, have their pictures taken and exchange chit-chat.

It is one way a president has of meeting face to face with more ordinary Americans, although they are well-scrubbed and carefully screened.

The parade of children, senior citizens and handicapped generally have one thing in common: They have achieved something or overcome some adversity. Occasionally, someone wants to present him with a gift or an award.

During these sessions last month, Reagan met with two teenage beauty queens, several handicapped children and business leaders.

Despite the obvious public relations aspect of the exercise, reporters are not usually allowed to witness the exchanges. Photographers, however, are.

In recent weeks, the only substantial thing participants would say upon leaving the Oval Office was the comment from Miss Teen Age America, Amy Sue Brenkacz of Joliet, Ill., who said, "I love to talk but it was the first time ever I've been speechless."

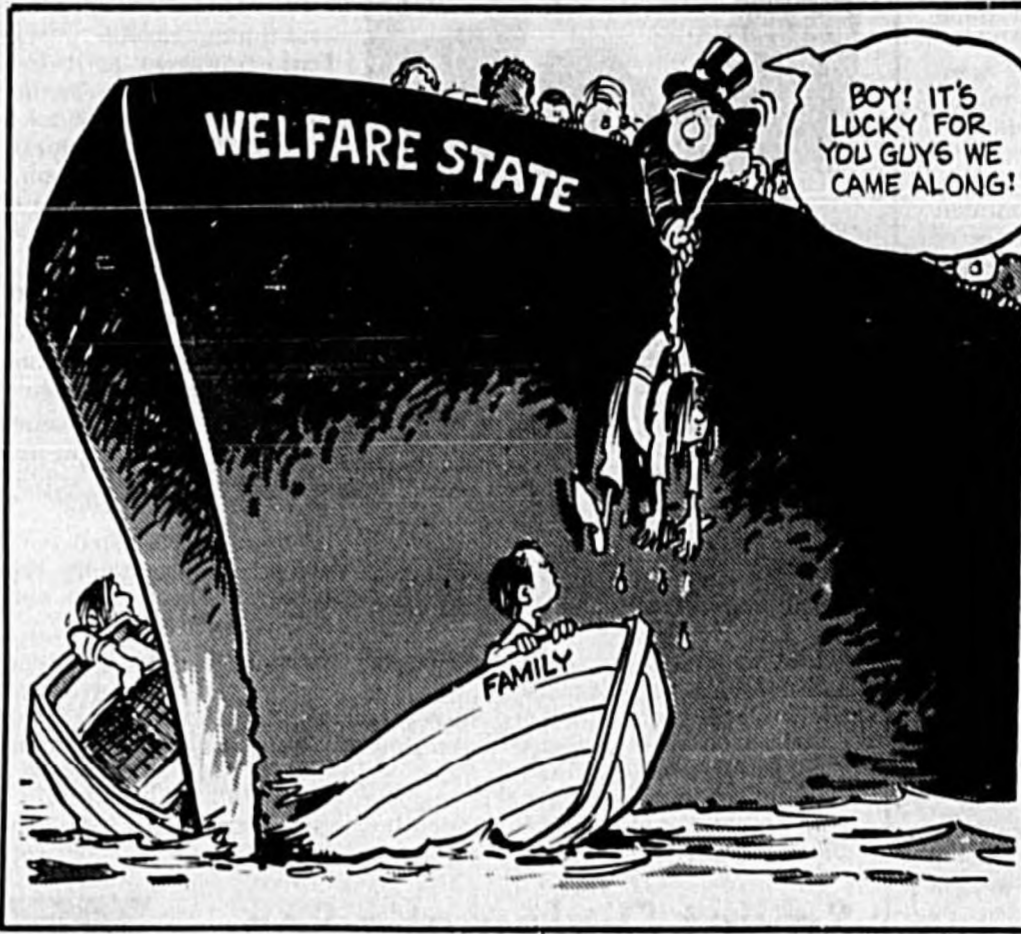

Among the approximately 50 visitors in the past month were: A craftsman who makes quill pens for the Supreme Court, the mother of a freshman House Republican, the editor of the Times of London, America's Junior Miss, the poster child for the Asthma and Allergy Foundation, a Vietnamese girl who lived in a box on the streets of Saigon, Red Skelton on his 70th birthday, the 94-year-old woman who served Reagan meals at his college fraternity, officials of the Mars candy company, five new White House reporters, an epileptic who walked across America, Kiwanians and Optimists and broadcasters whose gift of a 1920s-style microphone was snuffed for bombs before entering the White House.

Irreverents among the news photographers who record the stream of visitors refer to the parade as "the freak-a-week" show.

To be sure, it does the president no harm to greet less exalted guests than the heads of state and staff aides he usually sees. And it is good public relations.

"He likes it very much," an aide said. "It's a chance to have contact with a good cross-section of America."

But since the "cross-section" is always sponsored by White House staff members or friendly congressmen, the visitors are not only awe-struck, but guaranteed not to tell Reagan anything he doesn't want to hear.

JEFFREY HART

Democratic Revolutions

In a recent column, I urged that the Reagan administration put some backbone of clear principle in its foreign policy by announcing its support for revolutions in favor of greater human liberty, but at the same time its open opposition to revolutions that seek to establish dictatorships. Lenin, Hitler, and Castro were of the latter sort. Washington, the British leaders of 1688, and most of the French revolutionaries of 1789 were of the former.

That would provide a good compass for our policy makers to steer by, and it would justify certain kinds of intervention on our part, as in El Salvador and Nicaragua. Naturally, intervention on the side of democracy would always have to be exercised with normal prudence.

The recommendation that we support revolutions directed toward freedom runs into one fundamental objection: do people everywhere really want freedom, even ultimately and down the road? Is it not possible that some cultures and nations are not at all destined to be self-governing? Is democracy really "natural" in the sense that it is the universal form of government toward which human nature tends?

No answer to those questions can be proved empirically, but our 18th century founders and most European republican thinkers believed free institutions to be thus "natural."

They were not naive. They did not believe that all European countries, let alone Ethiopia or China, would become republics in the near future. But they believed that human beings naturally desire to be self-governing and have a say in the arrangements under which they live.

Is this an unreasonable view? El Salvador is a poor, over-populated and backward country, yet last year it held elections which a horde of outside observers judged to be remarkably clean. Despite threats from the totalitarian left, Salvadorans turned out in huge numbers to vote.

My own eyes were opened in a small way to the democratic imperative in Barcelona during the summer of 1966. Spain at that time was still very much in its Franco era.

The businessmen, university people, writers whom I met — none of them remotely sympathetic to the communists — were embarrassed at a personal level that they had so little say in how they were governed. The Franco dictatorship was at that point, at least, relatively benign and it had engineered an economic boom. But these people had opinions, they felt capable of commenting on their own lives politically, and they wanted the political institutions that would enable them to do so.

I remember talking late one night in a cafe with a Spanish graduate student who was a leader in an anti-Franco democratic underground organization called "The Young Oaks." He hated communism, felt that Spain would always reject it — if necessary violently — and he wanted a democratic form of government in Madrid. He knew that it would be risky, based upon Spain's historical experience, but it seemed to him the only form of government consistent with the dignity of a modern European nation.

The police knew about this young man, because very late that night I heard them questioning the manager of the small hotel at which I was staying. Was the American being "political"? No, senator, no. After getting their usual free drinks, like cops everywhere, the cops left. While they drank their free drinks, they parked their machine guns on the bar.

I had always felt appreciative of our American freedoms, but especially so at that moment. Still, I think that other people want those freedoms too, and not only white Westerners — among whom, of course, I include Salvadorans.

are represented on the committee.

Compliance with the COCOM rules is voluntary. But that didn't stop the United States from hauling the British before a COCOM jury of its peers in the mid-1970s to explain the proposed sale of 800 Rolls-Royce jet engines to Peking, plus a factory in China to make more.

A review of the Rolls-Royce case by the State Department's Bureau of Intelligence and Research called it "a watershed in Peking's dealings with the West." The review, classified secret, was shown to my associate Dale Van Atta.

There is no doubt that the jet engines, called Spy-202s, are strictly military. The secret report said the Spy-202 is "the first piece of foreign hardware (with no civilian application) that the Chinese have bought since their split with the Soviet Union."

The Brits had neglected to obtain COCOM approval before announcing the sale — "the first time that a member of COCOM had openly sold military equipment, clearly identified as such, to China," the report states. The situation raised "new questions about the future of COCOM."

British officials had discussed the sale with U.S. officials before the public announcement — but not before the Chinese had been promised the jet engines. This "precluded the possibility of waiting for necessary revisions of COCOM rules or extensive checking with other Allies," the State Department report noted. It added: "Significantly, the British did not disagree that the proposed sale would violate existing COCOM rules. But they argued that those rules were obsolete."

The United States, playing the role of staunch defender of COCOM, prevailed on the British to take their case to the committee and cast the only outright objection to the jet engine deal.

In objecting to the British transaction, the United States cited three reasons: the "technical jump" it would give Peking, the difficulties it would cause in enforcement of other COCOM restrictions and "the adverse political effect that such a deal would have on U.S. allies in Asia."

The British went ahead with their $200 million jet engine contract with the Chinese. Now U.S. objections may come back to haunt administration officials when they try to explain to COCOM that times have changed — or that our allies should "do as we say, not as we do."

PERIPATETIC POOH-BAH: James Miller, the high-flying chairman of the Federal Trade Commission, may be brought down to earth shortly by a subcommittee of the House Government Operations Committee. Members want to know why he flits around the country and abroad at taxpayer expense during a time of severe budget restrictions — and often travels first class.

Miller's travel vouchers show he has spent about $20,000 on travel since Oct. 1, 1981. His peregrinations included visits to Acapulco, Paris, New Orleans, Tokyo and the Virgin Islands. An FTC spokesman said the chairman must go first class for health reasons and has a doctor's excuse to prove it.

One odd trip Miller made was to Atlanta to address the Oral and Maxillofacial Surgery Political Action Committee, which supported more Democrats than Republicans last year. The odd thing about the trip was that Miller gave the group a message it didn't want to hear — namely, that the administration believes doctors should not be exempt from regulation by the FTC.

Altamonte Dream Becomes Reality

Eric Martinez Drives In 4 As Juniors Earn Spot In World Series

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

EUSTIS — It took Altamonte's Junior League All-Stars six and one-half hours to capture the first Little League World Series' berth in the program's history Saturday — but when you've waited and dreamed for 13 years, what's a few more hours?

Little League Baseball

Altamonte built a 10-0 lead before a deluge of rain and strong winds interrupted play, causing a four-hour delay. When action was resumed in the bottom of the fifth inning at 3:40 p.m., it took less than an hour to wrap up the league's first Southern Regional title with a 12-1 victory over outclassed Houston's West University, Texas.

The Juniors, who represent the South, left for Taylor, Mich. (near Detroit) Sunday. They will play the Central representative, Madison, Wis., Tuesday at 5 p.m. In Tuesday's 2 p.m. game, the Latin American team, Puerto Rico, plays the West representative, California. The East team, Seaford, Del., takes on the Altamonte-Madison winner at 5 p.m. Wednesday.

"We didn't play very well," lamented West University coach Lee Howell about his teams' two games against Altamonte. "But that Altamonte is an awful good ball club. Before we came here, nobody was really on our level. We won a lot of games by blowouts."

"But this Altamonte team psychs you out. My kids were awed watching them practice. They are just tremendously aggressive defensively and we were outcoached, too. That's what beat us," he added.

And they aren't too bad offensively either. When the Altamonte boys whipped West University Thursday, it was through the benevolence of 21 walks. Saturday, though, first baseman Eric Martinez slapped three singles and drove in four runs to lead a 14-hit parade.

Once again, the big inning demoralized the opposition. Altamonte's Jeff Hagen and Robbie Wade were paired in an excellent pitching duel until the Juniors broke loose for nine big runs in the fifth inning.

Anthony Lazaalc, back in the starting lineup for the first time since he suffered a broken wrist on July 11, smoked a single to left field to ignite the rally. Matt Messina took a pitch off the bill of the helmet to move Lazaalc to second. Hagen walked to fill the bases and Jimmy Waring took four wide ones to force in a run for a 2-0 lead.

Leadoff hitter Matt Lange followed with a base hit to left to score another and Eric Martinez, who had delivered Lange with a single for Altamonte's first-inning run, drew another walk to make it 4-0.

Chris Brock followed with a ground ball to third which forced Lange but scored Waring for a 5-0 lead. Ernest Martinez then rifled a single over third to score another tally and Randy Green reached on an error to reload the bases.

Lazaalc, batting for the second time, promptly singled to right field to push the score to 7-0. Eric Birle, pinch hitting for Messina, reached on a fielder's choice for an RBI and an 8-0 lead. Green was tossed out when he tried to score from third on a passed ball, but Hagen reached on a fielder's choice and another run scored for a 9-0 lead. Pinch hitter Scott Stiles capped the outburst with a line single for a 10-0 bulge.

The nine-run outburst built a solid cushion for Hagen, a sly lefthander who turned in his best performance of the year before tightening up during the four-hour rain delay.

"I was psyched," said Hagen. "And I didn't wear my undershirt. It was too hot and tight. I felt more comfortable."

Hagen, who is 5-0 in postseason play, breezed through the first four innings. He allowed a single in the first and a walk in the second. In the third, the Martinez twins were double trouble for Houston. With one out Collin Bray walked. Chris Finley followed with a ground ball to Ernest at third. He scooped it up and tossed Finley out at first, then returned to third base to take a return throw from brother Eric to nail a straying Bray for a double play to end the inning.

"Those (Martinez) twins are something else," said Terry Hagen. "They've been playing that way all year. They're great hitters and heads up players."

After the rain delay, Hagen walked the bases full, but escaped unscathed when Bray lined to left, catcher Green alertly picked Ronnie Klaus off first base and Finley took a called third strike.

"Jeff (Hagen) was a little tight in the fifth, but he got out of it," said manager Frank Messina. "He told us he was tired before the sixth, so when he got in trouble we brought on the stopper."

Who is Cory Prom, Prom, the savior of Wednesday's win over Lake Charles, La., came on with a bases-loaded, one-run-in, and one-out jam. The stylish lefty fanned Lantz Howell and induced Klaus to ground out to second to end the inning.

West University could muster just two hits — both by Waite — off Hagen and Prom. Hagen struck out two and walked nine, six of which came after the delay. Prom struck out one and didn't walk anyone. Wade went all the way for Texas. He struck out two, walked five and hit one batter.

In the top of the seventh, Altamonte's self-dubbed "pine-riders" blew the lead up to 12-1. With one out, pinch hitter Greg Ebbert singled to left and Stiles followed with his second hit — a smash up the middle. Zac Maddox then singled to load the bases. Eric Martinez followed with his third hit of the game to drive in two more runs for the 12-1 final.

In the seventh, Prom nailed the down the championship as center fielder Brock added a fitting conclusion. Bray popped to shortstop and Finley lined to second before Mark Waite singled over second base. Cleanup hitter Charlie Gasper followed with a tremendous drive to straight-away center, but Brock got on his horse and ran the ball down with an over-the-shoulder catch two feet from the fence.

Hello, Taylor, Mich.

The Martinez brothers were double trouble for West University, Texas in Saturday's Southern Regional championship. Eric (above) grabs a throw from his twin Ernest to nab Chris Finley at first base. At the right, Ernest has already put the tag on Collin Bray as the umpire signals the completion of the double play and the third out of the inning. An inning later, Altamonte broke loose for nine runs en route to a 12-1 victory.

Waring, Ebbert Take 2nd Trip — Crawford Bows Out With Winners

Imagine, if you can, being in two World Series by the time you are 13-years-old. Now, that's quite a dream.

Impossible? Not if you're Jimmy Waring or Greg Ebbert. Two years ago, Waring and Ebbert were two of the top performers on the Seminole Pony Bronco team which stunned favored Miami Avanti in the Southern Zone Tournament and then finished second to California in the Bronco World Series at Lafayette, La.

This year, Ebbert and Waring are two big reasons the Altamonte Junior League All-Stars begin World Series play in Taylor, Mich. Tuesday at 5 p.m. against Madison, Wis.

Ebbert, a stylish lefthanded pitcher, was the Broncos' top reliever and a first baseman during their incredible summer of '81. Waring was a strong-armed center fielder and leadoff hitter. Both were just 11-year-olds on that team.

Two years later, Ebbert is still toiling on the mound with some duty at first base, but Waring has moved into the shortstop position. His strong arm and sure hands have been the key to a tremendous defensive unit which completely overwhelmed West University, Texas in the Southern Regional. Altamonte buried the Texans, 19-0, Thursday and, 12-1, on Saturday for the title.

The Juniors are 13-2 since beginning tournament play. Altamonte won three of four games to take the District 14, Division II, added the District 14 crown with a win, took three straight to grab the Section 3, three of four for the State Tournament and three straight in the Southern Regional.

All of the losses have been avenged. Oviedo tipped Altamonte, 1-0, in the division, but the Juniors came back with an 11-0 pasting. North County blanked the Juniors, 7-0, but Altamonte bounced back with a 20-4 romp in the state.

"The Bronco team we were on was good," said Waring comparing the two squads. "But this team is better. It's got more depth."

As the squad as shown time and time again, it has 14 starters. Anyone of the 14 can be called on at any time and produce. "This is just the finest group of boys I've ever been associated with," said manager Frank Messina. "They're very unselfish and all the attitudes are excellent. When they're called on, they come through."

"They could make anybody look like a good coach."

Which isn't hard for this team because the coaches are good — even the ones you don't know about. Messina and coach Terry Hagen are both good motivators. Hagen is the strategist while Messina keeps an eye on the book. Hagen, a veteran of past Little League wars under Altamonte's Gene Letterio, has positioned his players expertly throughout the tournament.

Maybe the best quality Messina and Hagen have going for them, however, is their openmindedness. When one of the knowledgeable parents has a suggestion, Hagen or Messina doesn't construe it as meddling. On several occasions Don Birle or Ernest "Lefty" Martinez has sauntered down to the dugout to point out something that might have been missed.

Birle, Eric's father, serves as the team's batting practice pitcher while Martinez, father of the twins, is considered one of the top hitting instructors in Central Florida, according to Hagen. "Lefty has been a tremendous help to us," said Hagen. "There isn't anything he doesn't know about hitting."

Hagen and Messina thought so much of Martinez' input that they wanted to take him along to Taylor, but the World Series only allows accommodations for two coaches. Martinez was injured in a construction accident two years ago, and has been out of work. He could not afford the trip, so District 14 officials passed the hat at the Southern Regional at Eustis and $575 was collected from the Altamonte, Eustis and Texas fans. Martinez will now make the trip.

"That's the great thing about Little League baseball," pointed out Altamonte president John Strott. "Everybody gets involved. Why, the Eustis people contributed $265 to the fund. It was tremendous of them."

Another tremendous individual — who will be greatly missed — is District 14 administrator Don Crawford. Crawford will step down this year after 11 years as the leader of this successful program. Crawford has been the backbone of the district for a long time, but has been bothered by heart problems the past few years.

As an administrator, he was very effective. He attended every game possible — sometimes two a night — and was always available for a ruling. And, he was always accessible to the press. I've wakened him several mornings before he's had his coffee and he was always congenial. Even at 6:30 a.m.

Crawford couldn't pick a better time to bow out. Altamonte's Junior Leaguers and Orlando's (Oviedo, primarily) Big Leaguers are both competing in World Series tournaments this week. "Two in the World Series, that's a good way to go," said Crawford Saturday. "That'll be something to remember if they both win it." Even, if they don't. — SAM COOK

Grand Slam Sinks District 14, 7-3

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — One "mistake" cost the District 14 All-Stars the ballgame Sunday afternoon as Broward County's Rick Iosemeyer belted a grand slam homer off Dave Mennch to lead the host team to a 7-3 victory over District 14 (Central Florida area players) in the opening round of the Big League World Series.

District 14 goes into the loser's bracket and will be back in action tonight at 5:30 against Puerto Rico. Puerto Rico was dropped to the loser's bracket after being set down by China, 7-4, Sunday.

"Dave made one mistake in throwing him (Iosemeyer) a low pitch." District 14 manager Howard Mable said. "He just golfed over the wall in right field."

The game was suspended for two hours by rain and Mable said his team was not as crisp due to the delay. Despite not being as sharp as Mable would have liked, District 14 took an early lead with a pair of runs off Broward's Phil Curry in the top of the second. With one out, Rob Isner hit a ball into the mud in front of home plate and reached safely on a Broward County error. Oviedo's Brett Thayer followed by hitting another one into the mud and the throw to get Isner at second was not in time. Chris Kessinger, also of Oviedo, then laid down a sacrifice bunt to put runners on second and third and Ocoee's Brent Hazen followed with a clutch two-run single to give District 14 a 2-0 lead.

Mennch, out of Winter Park, got through the first two innings without being touched. But, in the bottom of the third, he gave up a single and then walked the next two hitters to load the bases. Iosemeyer then stepped up and drilled a 1-2 pitch over the right field wall for a grand slam and a 4-2 Broward County lead. Broward added another run in the inning to take a 5-2 lead.

District 14 pulled back to within two runs, 5-3, with one run in the top of the fifth. Lake Mary's Kevin Wick, who came on in relief of Mennch, led off with a single but was forced at second on a grounder by Ocoee's Brent Casteel. With two outs, Eustis' Dwayne McLeod ripped a double over the center fielder's head to chase home Casteel.

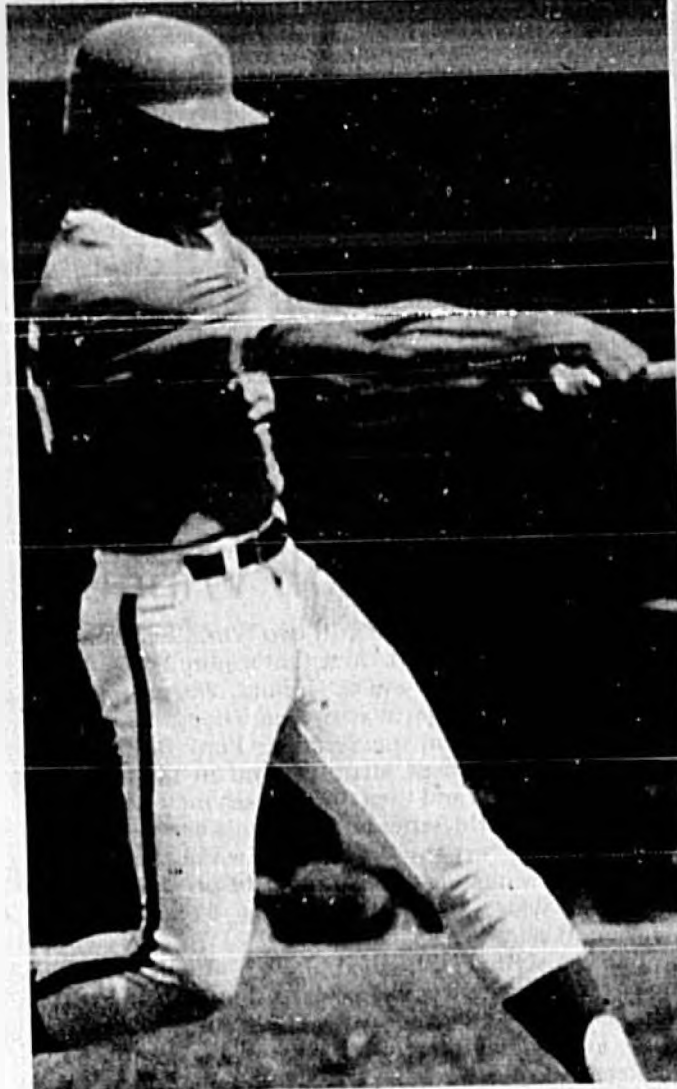

After Wick shut down Broward in the bottom of the fifth, District 14 threatened in the top of the sixth with two runners in scoring position and only one out. Thayer drew a one-out walk and Kessinger followed with a double to put runners on second and third. However, Curry came back to strike out the next two hitters to end the inning. Broward County came back with a pair of insurance runs off Eustis' Todd Auckland in the bottom of the sixth and Curry closed the door on District 14 in the seventh to ice the victory for Broward.

"We're in the loser's bracket now. It's going to be tough, but we've done it before," Mable said. "Now we are going to find out what kind of team we are."

Mable said he will go with Oviedo's Darrin "Drink" Reichle tonight against Puerto Rico. The winner of tonight's game has Tuesday off and will resume action on Wednesday night at 5.

George Foster drilled a grand slam homer in the third inning Sunday to lift the New York Mets to a 5-2 victory over the Chicago Cubs. The blazing Mets have now won 11 of their last 14 games.

Foster's Slam Lifts Mets; Nolan's Single Carries Birds

Baseball

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Mets, who over the last two weeks have discovered how much fun it is to win, continued to have a grand time Sunday.

George Foster hit a grand slam in the third inning, lifting New York to their 11th victory in 14 games, a 5-2 decision over the Chicago Cubs.

Ed Lynch, 8-7, went eight innings for the victory as the Mets completed a three-game series sweep. Jesse Orosco pitched the ninth for his 13th save. Chuck Rainey, 12-9, took the loss.

In the third, successive singles by Lynch, Bob Ballor and Hubie Brooks loaded the bases with none out. After Keith Hernandez grounded into a force at the plate, Foster broke an 0-for-13 slump by hitting an 0-1 pitch for his 10th career grand slam and 19th homer of the season.

The Mets took a 1-0 lead in the first. Ballor led off with a single, stole second, and advanced to third on an infield single by Brooks. He scored on a single by Hernandez.

Lynch weakened in the fifth, allowing a leadoff homer to Mel Hall, a double to Jody Davis and an RBI single by pinch hitter Thad Bosley.

In other games, Philadelphia bested St. Louis 5-1. Pittsburgh downed Montreal 5-3. Los Angeles edged Atlanta 5-4 and San Diego nipped Cincinnati 10-9 in 10 innings.

finished for his sixth save, Steve Sax had four hits for Los Angeles.

Padres 10, Reds 9
At Cincinnati, Terry Kennedy singled in pinch runner Luis Salazar from second base with the tie-breaking run in the top of the 10th inning to lift the Padres. Sixto Lezcano hit for winner Luis DeLeon, 3-4, and walked with one out. Salazar ran for Lezcano, stole second and scored on Kennedy's liner to center.

Giants 5, Astros 2
In a night game, Jeff Leonard had three hits, including his 15th home run of the season, leading the San Francisco Giants to a 5-2 victory over the Astros in Houston. The decision halted a four-game Astros winning streak and a three-game slide for the Giants.

Joe Nolan singled in the tie-breaking run with one out in the ninth inning Sunday to give the Baltimore Orioles a 2-1 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

With one out, John Lowenstein drew a walk off Richard Dotson, 12-7. John Shelby ran for Lowenstein and stole second. After Ken Singleton drew the fifth walk off Dotson, Nolan followed with a single to left scoring Shelby.

Scott McGregor, 15-5, loaded the bases in the ninth. Scott Fletcher and Julio Cruz singled and all runners were safe when Nolan couldn't pick Harold Baines' sacrifice bunt. Tim Stoddard relieved and escaped the jam for his fifth save.

With Chicago ahead 1-0 and batting in the fifth, Rudy Law drew a one-out walk. Carlton Fisk followed with a line drive that a fan in the grandstands reached out and caught. Fisk was ordered to second base and Rudy Law to third. In arguing with the umpires, Chicago Manager Tony LaRussa pulled out third base and threw it toward the dugout. He was ejected by home plate umpire Tim Evans but failed to leave the dugout until the start of the bottom of the sixth. Baltimore Manager Joe Altobelli played the game under protest.

When play resumed, Tom Paetorek was intentionally walked, loading the bases. Greg Luzinski popped out and Ron Kittle fanned to end the inning.

Angels 7, Mariners 2
At Anaheim, Calif., Tommy John tossed a five-hitter and Fred Lynn slammed a two-run homer in the first inning to propel the Angels. The 40-year-old John, 9-9, did not allow a hit until Ron Roenicke's one-out single in the fifth. Richie Zisk hit his 11th homer of the year and Dave Henderson clubbed his 12th for the Mariners.

Royals 4-3, Red Sox 3-6
At Boston, Rick Miller's one-out, bases-loaded single in the bottom of the ninth gave the Red Sox a victory in the opener. In the nightcap, Amos Otis and George Brett drove in two runs apiece, Leon Roberts homered and Dan Quisenberry notched his 31st save of the season to help the Royals salvage a split.

Indians 3, Rangers 0
At Arlington, Tex., Neal Heaton pitched a four-hitter for his first major-league shutout and Andre Thornton smacked three singles and drove in a run to lead the Indians.

The Sox opened the scoring in the second. Vance Law walked. Scott Fletcher was safe on a fielding error by third baseman Rich Dauer and Julio Cruz followed with an RBI single.

Baltimore tied the score in the sixth. Cal Ripken doubled, went to third on a passed ball by Fisk and scored on Eddie Murray's sacrifice fly.

Blue Jays 4, Brewers 3
At Toronto, Garth Iorg scored from second base on a wild pitch in the eighth inning and Lloyd Moseby followed with his 16th home run of the year to lift the Blue Jays, Dave Stieb, 13-10, pitched a four-hitter over eight innings. The Brewers lost the last three games of the series after winning the opener.

Yankees 4, Tigers 1
At Detroit, Dave Winfield's eighth-inning double snapped a 1-1 tie and Ken Griffey had three hits, including a two-run homer, to spark the Yankees. Shane Rawley, 11-10, pitched his 10th complete game of the year, allowing six hits and two walks while striking out four.

A's 6, Twins 0
At Oakland, Calif., Dwayne Murphy drove in two runs, one with a broken-bat grounder, and ignited a two-run sixth with a check-swing double to back the three-hit pitching of Steve McCatty and lead the A's. McCatty pitched his first shutout since Sept. 8, 1981.

Phillies 5, Cardinals 1
At Philadelphia, Greg Gross drove in three runs with a triple and a sacrifice fly to lift the Phillies. The victory was the seventh straight for John Denny, 13-5, and the Phillies' eighth in their last 10 games. The Cardinals lost for the 11th time in their last 13.

Pirates 5, Expos 3
At Montreal, Dave Parker lined a two-run, bases-loaded single in the seventh to power the Pirates to a three-game sweep of the Expos. Rick Rhoden, 9-9, allowed four hits, five walks and three runs in six innings and Kent Tekulve got the last out for his 14th save. Dan Schatzeder, 4-2, was the loser.

Dodgers 5, Braves 4
At Atlanta, Fernando Valenzuela and Tom Niedenfuer combined on an eight-hitter and Dusty Baker drilled a two-run homer to push the Dodgers within 1/2 game of the first-place Braves in the NL West. Valenzuela, 12-6, gave up eight hits over 7 1/3 innings. Niedenfuer

Olive Babbitt, Family Relations chairman of the Seminole County Extension Homemakers, receives the State 3-Year Citizenship award for Beverly Dorton of Sanford, from Dr. John T. Woeste, head of the University of Florida Institute of Food and Agricultural Sciences.

County Homemakers Win State Citizenship Award

Five area women have returned from the Extension Homemakers 59th Annual State Convention at the University of Florida in Gainesville.

Representing Seminole County were Margaret McClain, Council president; Sarah Bennet, Council delegate; Olive Babbitt, Family Relations chairman; Andrea Wise, Public Relations chairman; and Barbara Hughes, Home Economics Extension Agent.

Due to the illness of Beverly Dorton, Citizenship and Community Outreach chairman, the program was presented by Olive Babbitt on the success of the county's patriotic ceremony given last May at the Agricultural Center. Sanford on the Flag Dedication & Flag Burning. This ceremony was presented by the Seminole County Extension Homemakers in which over 600 school children and adults learned how to properly dispose of an American flag no longer fit for display. An educational exhibit of American memorabilia was also promoted at the flag presentation.

Andrea Wise, president of the Lake Mary Extension Homemakers club, and Barbara Hughes, Extension Home Economics Agent, presented the program on "The Crime Is Not Being Prepared" to make people more aware of how they can work with local law enforcement agencies to develop a variety of programs in crime prevention in their areas. Andrea introduced the program to the Lake Mary Extension Homemakers and recently received attention through the article in a national magazine. Andrea was also appointed the new State Public Relations Chairman of the State Council of Homemakers clubs.

At the banquet, Seminole County received the State Award for their successful programs on Citizenship & Community Outreach. Olive Babbitt accepted the award for Beverly Dorton, Sanford who was unable to attend because of illness.

According to Andrea Wise, "We were extremely thrilled and excited, and very proud to bring back such an award for our county. The fellowship, fun, and new learning experiences we shared will help us to become better leaders, and that 'Doing Does Make the Difference' in an all volunteer organization."

They in turn were to take back the information learned to the people in the community.

Because of Seminole County's outstanding educational programs over the past three years in Citizenship & Community Outreach and on Crime Prevention these two programs were presented at the conference to be shared among the 45 counties and over 700 people represented.

Anyone Can Sue Anyone; Collecting Another Issue

DEAR ABBY: I had an affair with a man I work with. I'm well over 21 and should have known better, but he told me he was "fixed" (vasectomy), so I didn't have to worry.

Well, he wasn't as "fixed" as he said he was because I turned up pregnant! When I told him, he didn't believe me, but after I showed him the lab report and my doctor's bill, he believed me. Marriage is out of the question because he isn't my type (for marriage). Besides, he is twice-divorced and says he will never marry again.

He went back to the doctor who performed his vasectomy and had some tests made that proved his vasectomy didn't hold. He's considering suing the doctor. In the meantime, I had an abortion, which cost me $300.

I was advised to sue him for leading me to believe that I was safe with him.

Two questions: Can I sue him? And can he sue his doctor?

HARD WAY
DEAR LEARNED: You can sue anyone you want to sue. And so can he. Whether you (or he) can collect is another matter. There's a valuable lesson here. In matters as serious as contraception, leave nothing to chance. Assume that the responsibility is all yours — because it usually is.

DEAR ABBY: I know you asked to hear from men on the subject of whether the woman should call the man, or wait for him to call her, but I hope you will find the following gathered from my own experience worth sharing with your readers:

When I give my phone number to a man, I always ask for his because it's a very easy way to separate the married men from the single ones.

Men who have something for "someone" at home to hide can be flushed out quickly, as they either refuse your request or give you a phony number.

Those who give you only the number of the place they work (with the lame excuse, "Well, that's where I usually am") merit suspicion.

Having a man's number can be very important if you make a date and for some reason have to cancel it, or want to tell him you'll be running late.

In these times a woman can't be too careful. Right, Abby?

down the aisle and give me away in marriage, which presents a problem.

Would it look funny if Dad accompanied me down the aisle in his wheelchair? He can operate it himself, so it's not as if I would have to push it. He's not sensitive about being in a wheelchair and says he will do anything I want him to do. Has anybody ever done this? I'm afraid it wouldn't look right.

Could I have my older brother walk me down the aisle and have my father waiting for me to give me away in marriage?

Could I walk down alone and have my father waiting for me? Please give me some ideas. I sent for your booklet on how to have a lovely wedding. It was very helpful, but it didn't cover this.

Thank you.

DECEMBER BRIDE
DEAR BRIDE: Any of the options you mentioned is perfectly acceptable. Do whatever is comfortable for you and your father. It's your day. Good luck and God bless.

Pope To Fulfill Longtime Dream

LOURDES, France (UPI) — Thousands of pilgrims flocked to Lourdes today for Pope John Paul II's celebration of the Feast of the Assumption at one of the holiest shrines in the Roman Catholic Church.

John Paul, the first reigning pontiff to visit Lourdes, looked forward to fulfilling a longtime wish by officiating at an open-air mass on one of Catholicism's most important anniversaries.

The pope, winding up a two-day visit, also was expected to meet some of the young people and the sick who come to this shrine in southwestern France seeking solace or miraculous cures for their ailments.

The Assumption holiday marks the date that many Christians believe the Virgin Mary was taken to heaven. Her alleged reappearance here 125 years ago to a young peasant girl, Bernadette Soubirous, began transforming the quiet little town in the Pyrenees mountains into the "place of miracles" dedicated to Mary.

Despite the declared spiritual aims of his trip, John Paul's personal pilgrimage included security concerns after the bombing of a statue near Bernadette's shrine and an arson attack on a Catholic newspaper office in Toulouse.

Thousands of police and volunteer Catholic activists maintained a tight security cordon around each stop on John Paul's schedule. The pontiff led a torchlight procession around Lourdes' basilica Sunday night from the safety of his bullet-proof "popemobile" rather than on foot.

The pope confessed to be gratifying an old wish in coming to Lourdes, which often has been criticized — even by top Catholic leaders — as a false and over-commercialized shrine.

"I have so ardently desired to make this pilgrimage," he told those who gathered for his visit. His plan to see Lourdes two years ago was postponed after the May 13, 1981, attempt on his life in St. Peter's Square.

After kissing the ground outside the grotto where Bernadette said Mary appeared before her 18 times, John Paul effectively gave a Vatican seal of approval to the town's shrine.

"Today in your midst God has gratified my wishes to the full," he said. "There is a special grace here ... it has been transmitted in an especially strong, pure and transparent way by a teenager with a simple and courageous soul."

At a spectacular candlelight ceremony in front of Lourdes' imposing three-tiered basilica, the pope delivered one of his strongest attacks on religious persecution.

The Polish-born pontiff urged the faithful to pray for all people suffering from hunger, war, terrorism, or illegal imprisonment and those "humiliated in their legitimate national aspirations."

On arriving for his second papal visit to France, John Paul was welcomed by the country's agnostic president, Francois Mitterrand. They discussed world problems for one hour before Mitterrand departed and left the pope to make his pilgrimage with the faithful.

Church officials admitted that the crowds, up to 80,000 strong but far below expectations, were little more than the number of pilgrims who make the journey to Lourdes on a normal weekend.

Time Medicine Taken Can Make Difference

DEAR DR. LAMB - I want to thank you for your help with my allergies. In one of your columns you had a letter about hay fever and I was able to use your advice...

DEAR READER - You need to know that everyone has secretions from the lining of the nasal passages and sinuses. And the amount increases when you are lying down.

DEAR READER - I am pleased that your change in the way you take your medications has been a real help to you.

DEAR DR. LAMB - For the past two years I get up in the morning and cough up mucus and phlegm. There is a drainage that comes down from my nose
