

Drug Smuggling? It Happens Here

By DAVID M. RAZLER
 Herald Staff Writer

"Just because they don't see 10,000 pounds of dope makes them think Seminole County doesn't have a drug problem."

But Seminole County, like most areas in Florida, is used extensively by smugglers bringing in drugs from south America and distributing them to other areas of the country, said Don Harper, resident agent in charge of the federal Drug Enforcement Administration's regional office.

In past months, Harper and his agents, backed up by Seminole County deputies and Sanford police, made two arrests of persons from out of state who were busy dividing up large quantities of marijuana.

"None of the men who had come to split up the shipment were from the county, but both deals, which ended with the seizure of about a ton and a half of marijuana, took place just outside of Sanford."

"While some of the drugs imported into Seminole County are from the surrounding region and consumed here, most of it is transported out of state, Harper said. Seminole County is not as big a center for drug trading as the coastal and southern Florida counties, Harper said. But he said smugglers do work out of the area and only about a quarter of them by his agency's estimates, are caught.

Local people "are like ostriches," Harper said, ignoring the existence of drug wholesaling until a large raid is made.

He said local drug smuggling operations can be found at airports, motels, empty roads and any other area which proves useful to smugglers.

Sanford Airport, like Herndon Airport in Orlando and other airports across the state, has become a center for arranging drug deals and bringing in contraband.

"It doesn't matter where the sheriff's office is," said Harper, explaining that even with Seminole County's sheriff's headquarters located near the Sanford Airport runways, law enforcement officers cannot spend all their time watching for suspicious aircraft.

Could these be airplane tire tracks? A federal drug official calls this stretch of State Road 433 in Lake County just west of the Seminole County line a "county-maintained runway" for drug smugglers.

Accused Heroin Salesman To Face State Charges

A man charged with offering 10 ounces of heroin to Sanford police and federal officers will face state and not federal drug charges.

Just before one of the two recent Sanford-area raids, Harper, gray-haired, a motel room and sat down with a group of similarly dressed businessmen to discuss commodity futures.

"It could have been hush of corn, but in this case the commodity was an illegal drug," he said. A short time later, several persons from the Midwest were arrested and their financial future dampened as the ton of pot was seized outside.

Anyone with a pilot's license might be a smuggler, either putting up the capital to rent a plane and outfit it with extra gas tanks, or opting for the $2,000 to $50,000 paid for a run to South America or Jamaica, he said.

Anyone with money qualifies as an investor in a planeload of drugs, Harper said.

Businessmen, real estate dealers, and law officers have been involved, he said. Some of the businessmen never see the drugs. They only reap profits much greater than from any kind of legal investment, he said.

Some of the smuggling and drug running is done by traditional organized crime, but this accounts for only a small percentage of the drugs which pass through the region, he said.

Harper said he believes DEA and local officers are able to stop about 25 percent of the marijuana brought into the country but only about 15 percent of the cocaine and pills, the other illegal products produced in South America.

Cocaine is the easiest drug to smuggle, he said, because a few pounds is worth more than a full planeload of marijuana. A pilot can easily conceal a few pounds of powder on a plane, but has a much harder time hiding 500 pounds of pot, he said.

The regional DEA office, headquartered in Altamonte Springs, serves all of eastern Central Florida, Harper said.

With a budget estimated at between $70,000 and $90,000 for the coming year, the agency office is supposed to control major drug trafficking throughout the Orlando-Seminole metropolitan area and surrounding rural counties, he said, calling the agency underfunded and understaffed.

Currently, Sanford, Seminole and Orange counties and Orlando provide the Group Counters Political Evangelists

NEW YORK (UPI) — Evangelists of the electronic pulpit who imply God is a conservative Republican who hates ERA, abortion, Panama Canal treaties and 55-mph speed limits, and will condemn to eternal hell all who vote otherwise, aren't the only ones who can wage a political holy war.

A coalition of laymen, led by Norman Lear, the king of the sitcoms, have declared a jihad of their own.

They call themselves "People for the American Way," and before and after the November election, they will be running a series of Lear-produced commercials attempting to blunt the thrust of TV evangelists Jerry Falwell, James Robertson, Jim Bakker and Pat Robertson.

The surge of old-time religion into the political arena alarms Lear, who more than any other producer brought taboo, liberal social commentary and explicit sex into television with Archie Bunker and the rest of genre. With the Rev. Dr. Charles V. Bergstrom of the American Lutheran Council, former Iowa Sen. Harold Hughes and the Rev. William M. Howard of the National Council of Churches of Christ, he screened the commercials for reporters.

One spot features a "Bible Belt" housewife who turns off her vacuum cleaner to exhortate the pulpit politicians and conclude, "If my preacher and I don't coalition are author-editor Norman Cousins, Notre Dame President Father Theodore Hesburgh, and the Rabbi Marc Tanenbaum of the American Jewish Committee.

Hughes, who left the Senate in 1975 for a lay Christian ministry, said the group has no argument with pastors who express political views from the pulpit—only with the absolutism in which the religious right deals.

Lear said his group is not formally endorsed the group, but, "we, the 43 million Christians represented by the National Council of Churches, summarily reject the notion there is such a thing as a Christian vote."

Lear said his group is forced to buy time at individual television stations nationwide because the major networks rejected spots as "too controversial." He said the move to confront the religious right wing in its own television arena was his idea, and he provided initial "seed money" for the drive.

Additional funds will be solicited from the public, with the commercials slated on a week-to-week basis.

KAZARIAN BEATS THE PRICE!

By STACY BIEVENU

"IF YOU'RE UNDER 25: If you own a van or a pick-up, or if you just need immediate Auto Insurance coverage — you need to call me. Yes, according to Ralph Kazarian, "You may be paying too much for your Auto Insurance."

Mr. Kazarian is fully aware that we, as drivers, are tired of reading deceptive ads about how we can beat the high cost of our auto insurance, but there is something definite that sets him apart — specialization. He's an unusual man in his line of business, for he is willing to give hard-luck YOUNG DRIVERS a more-than-fair deal on their auto insurance.

"I feel that young people, in many cases, are unjustifiably charged high rates, and I know that many may be short on cash. That's why monthly payments are our specialty. Furthermore, there are a large number of drivers under 25 that are paying high rates due simply to their age; others are penalized because of their personal tastes in automobiles. Finally, customers who need minimum insurance coverage are turned away repeatedly. To overcome these situations is my whole reason for being in business."

Yes, his all sounds quite promising, but just how can Ralph Kazarian afford to offer a truly better price to you and me?

"I've shopped for years to find companies who offer the best possible rates for my particular customers. As a result, I represent 35 to 40 different companies who target their efforts to the specialized automobile and truck insurance market. This allows me to give my customers the insurance they need at the price they want to pay."

And Mr. Kazarian has proved himself to be quite successful in his approach. After 15 years in the business, he's established himself as an institution within the auto insurance industry in Florida. To prove his ambition and determination, he's opened nine offices in the last two years in the Central Florida area and has just recently remodeled his new Sanford office, which is located between Burger King and Flagship Bank on Orlando Avenue (323-2454).

So...if you're really interested in finding out how to get the insurance you need...at the price you want to pay — stop by one of Ralph Kazarian's auto insurance agencies.—ADV.

Teacher Builds Self-Esteem Of Children With Problems

By CHARITY CICARDO
 Herald Staff Writer

Have you hugged your child recently? Sherrill Casey probably has hugged a number of children or given them encouragement during the week.

"I like to make kids feel good about themselves," said Casey, a learning disabilities instructor at Idyllwild Elementary School.

Casey was one of the first four such instructors in Seminole County. The program began in 1979 with learning disability teachers in two schools. Now, every school has a program.

Learning disabilities could include visual perception, motor skills, or hearing impairment, Casey said sitting in her classroom decorated with Halloween pumpkins.

Most of the students achieve in one area, but are under-achievers in another area, said Casey, president of the Council for Exceptional Children.

"For instance, maybe a child can't remember things right now, like a homework assignment, but can recall something he read a long time ago," Casey said.

Casey would work with the child to help him remember things that have just happened.

Casey has 21 students. Most of them are boys.

"Usually boys aren't ready to start school, so that makes them slower learners, Casey said.

About 15 percent of the county's students are in the program.

Children in learning disability classes generally are either of near average intelligence or are extremely bright.

Regular teachers are beginning to spot children who have problems, and can refer them to a learning disabilities instructor, said Casey, who has taught in Seminole County for 10 years.

Casey said reading is one of the biggest problems for her students.

Casey writes an individual schedule for every child.

"The important thing is to build up a child's self-concept, to make that child feel better about himself," she said.

For her work with exceptional children, Casey won a Special Education Teacher of the Year award given by the Council for Exceptional Children.

She was a finalist for honors from the State Federation Council for Exceptional Children.

Iranian: Hostage Release Awaits Signing

By United Press International

Iran's U.N. ambassador said Friday night the United States has already accepted the conditions for the release of the 52 American hostages "in general terms" and all that stood in the way of their freedom was the signing of an agreement.

The ambassador, Dr. Ali Shams Ardakani noted that Iran's Parliament, the Majlis, is to formally set the condition Sunday.

"In general terms," he said, "I believe the conditions have been accepted by the United States."

He did not specify what the conditions were, but said: "There must be a mechanism for such an agreement. It involves the signing of firm documents."

Ardakani told UPI that a "third party" probably will be needed to arrange the release and the signing of any documents.

"I assume they (Washington and Tehran) will seek a third party," he said.

A number of possible third parties already exist, including U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim, who went to Tehran in January in a bid to resolve the crisis; Switzerland, which represents U.S. interests in Iran; and Algeria, which represents Iranian interests in the United States.

Iranian officials at the United Nations said the release of the hostages, held now for 356 days, would be followed by an anti-American propaganda campaign, but that this was meant only for Iranian consumption.

Other reports said the hostages would be freed as early as Sunday.

NBC News quoted a Mideast diplomat "in a position to know" at the United Nations as saying the hostages will be released Sunday, "barring unforeseen circumstances."

But CBS News reported that a high-ranking Iranian official at the U.N. said the hostages will or will not be released, "he said."

"We don't know your terms because the parliament committee still has not reported."

State Department officials also said they had no information to back up the reports and said the United States was waiting for the outcome of the Majlis — parliament — meeting on Sunday.

State Department spokeswoman Anita Stockman denied reports that Secretary of State Edmund Muskie will soon fly to West Germany, where the Americans are expected to be taken after their release.

But there were signs something was afoot at the U.S. military base in Wiesbaden, West Germany, where news organizations from the world were gathering in anticipation of a release.

Officials said workers at the base had hooked up a bank of phones in the wing of the military hospital used early in the crisis when some captives were freed. Such preparations, the officials said, were "normal readiness plans."

At the Vatican, Pope John Paul II conferred privately with the Iranian ambassador to Italy, Mohammed Bagher Nassiri Sadati, and church sources speculated they might have discussed the release of the hostages.

Vatican sources described the talks as lengthy, but would not disclose what was discussed.

PEOPLE IN BRIEF

After 8-Year Sulk, Bergman To Make A Movie In Sweden

Called Fred International BERGMAN BACK: Swedish director Ingmar Bergman has ended an eight year sulk and will make his first film in his native land in 1981. According to Stockholm newspaper reports it will cost $12 million, making it the most expensive movie ever made in Sweden. The title is "Fanny and Alexander" and, as usual, Bergman won't reveal what it's about. Bergman's last film made in Sweden was "Cries and Whispers." In 1978 he was arrested by Swedish tax collectors and handed off the stage of the Swedish National Theater in the middle of a production. He later was cleared of all charges, but he refused to work in Sweden 'til now.

Towns Fight Energy War

LIGHTS OUT: Wallace Tryon, 41, will go to bed early. Lynn Dugan, 17, is willing to give up electronic lights, television, radio and the washing machine — but not her hair dryer. Bruce Amundson, 11, won't be able to watch television and he says, "It's bad, believe me, it's bad." These are some of the sacrifices the 700 residents of Monterey, Mass., are enduring in their effort to win a three-and-a-half day energy saving contest among 11 New England and Canadian communities. The town that cuts its energy consumption the most wins a scroll from the Conference of New England Governors and Canadian Premiers.

Stars, Candidates Party

ERA MUSICAL: A batch of Hollywood stars threw a party this week to help elect two Florida legislators. The reason for this interest in the pro Equal Rights Amendment stance of the two politicians. Theirs could be key votes when ERA comes up for ratification in the Florida Legislature. Valerie Harper and Faly Bergman appeared at the event, and partygoers included Henry Winkler sporting an un-Foxtel style beard, Chevy Chase, Laraine Newman, Marybeth Burrell, Cindy Williams, John Ritter and Maureen McGovern.

How Not To Win Votes

QUOTE OF THE DAY: Robert A. Cedarburg was campaigning for Congress in St. Louis. After he told a group of senior citizens he was against Social Security, he was asked about care for the elderly. He replied: "Well, fortunately in the years past, they died at an earlier age." He added, "Maybe that wasn't well put."

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: Strong winds buffeted the East Coast as a storm system began moving in, causing flooding, beach erosion and the closing of some roads along the North Carolina Coast. The National Weather Service said part of the flooding could be attributed to unusually high tides whipped onto the beaches by gale force winds. Gale warnings were issued along the Atlantic Coast Friday from South Carolina to Maine. Tides of 2 to 4 feet above normal were expected on the beaches of New Jersey. Frost and freeze warnings were issued for Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma as temperatures were expected to drop into the upper 30s and low 30s for the first time this fall in that part of the country.

Police Gain Information On Abductors

Sanford police and Seminole County Deputies say they have more to go on in their search for two men who abducted and assaulted a Sanford woman Wednesday afternoon. The 23-year-old woman was first able to speak to police Friday after two days during which doctors said she was suffering from too much shock to talk about her ordeal. But Police Det. Karen Reynolds said police did not want to disclose too many details about what they have learned of the two men who walked in the woman's car, kidnapped her and left for work at 8 a.m. and left her on the ground in Paola where she was found about four hours later.

The woman remained at Seminole Memorial Hospital recovering from the shock of her kidnapping and apparent sexual assault. She was listed in satisfactory condition. DOG OWNERS CRIMINALLY CHARGED
The owners of a German shepherd condemned to die have been charged with illegally taking him from the Seminole County Animal Shelter last month. Richard and Joann Russell of Oviedo, owners of "Roll," were charged Thursday with violating county law when they walked into the shelter on Sept. 27, and took their dog, which had been ordered held there by County Judge Alan Dickey. The Russells had a new court order signed by Dickey ordering the dog be released only to a trainer from K-9 of Orlando.

But instead of coming to the pound with a representative of K-9 and presenting the order, the Russells waived it in the faces of shelter attendants and took their dog, forcing their way past two shelter employees, deputies reported. The couple will be arraigned on misdemeanor charges of violating a county ordinance at a later date. BURGULARS HIT HANDY WAY
Burglars broke the front window of a Sanford convenience store early this morning and made off with seven cases of beer and other items. The burglars broke the window of the Handy Way store, at the corner of Corey and Elliot avenues, shortly before 3 a.m., when the store was closed. The burglars made off with $800 worth of goods, including the beer which had been left in front of the window, they report.

$464,000 For Sanford Programs

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer
The Sanford Housing Authority has received approval for a new $464,000 grant from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) to fund its housing rehabilitation program. Six of these have been rehabilitated so far, and three have been sold.

Tom Wilson, executive director of the housing authority, said the funding is "third year money" to continue the authority's housing rehabilitation program and public housing modernization. Applications for additional funding to modernize the Castle Brewer Court are to be submitted to HUD in the next few months, Wilson said. The grant is to get a much mileage out of the money as possible," Wilson said.

Bear Attacks Worry Park Officials

HELENA, Mont. (UPI) — A Glacier National Park official is taking a look at policies to protect thousands of park visitors from the aggressive North American grizzly bear, blamed for the deaths of three people this year. Ranger says this year's death toll in the huge Montana park was the worst in 70 years.

In July, a young bear rampaged through a camp, killing an Ohio man and a Minnesota woman. Earlier this month, a ranger discovered the remains of a Texas man killed by a grizzly. One of the killer bears was found and killed, but the second still roams the park. Standing 8 feet on its hind legs, the average grizzly weighs up to 800 pounds and some males exceed 1,000 pounds. The North American grizzly is a biologic powerhouse that develops massive strength, quickness and running speeds of 25 mph.

"Being mauled by a grizzly is like being hit by a lightning bolt," it's something we have to accept," researcher John Craighead said. "There is no question that bears can co-exist with humans, but there will always be conflict. It's the bear's territory and it's man that's got to concede."

How to manage the conflict between man and bear has divided the experts, however. Aggravating the problem is the increase in popularity that bear country has enjoyed in the past decade. "There are just too many backpackers," University of Idaho Professor Jim Peck said. Of the 13 million visitors to Glacier this year, 25,000 were "back-country" campers. As many as 200 grizzlies inhabit the 1,600-square-mile park and surrounding areas, and each bear can range as far as 200 square miles. Peck researched ways of minimizing human-bear confrontations at Glacier under contract with the Park Service. His private advice now is for backpackers to stay out of the bear's territory. "You've got a whole lot of backpackers who are going in these areas who don't know how to respond to a bear."

GIRL PULLED FROM POOL
A thirteen-month-old girl was in good condition at Florida Hospital-Altamonte Saturday after being pulled from a swimming pool at her home Friday afternoon, according to a hospital spokesman.

Megan Helmers had been pulled out of the pool and was conscious and breathing when a Seminole County rescue team arrived at 4:27 p.m., said John Redman, Seminole County Department of public safety shift supervisor. The girl is the daughter of James and Mary Helmers, 104 Elderberry Lane, Forest City. She is expected to be released from the hospital in a couple of days, the spokesman said.

SUIT FILED AGAINST SANFORD
The city of Sanford and a Sanford employee have been charged with negligence in an accident early this year which reportedly injured a woman and her daughter. Katherine and Joseph Dodson and their daughter, Kara, have filed suit in Seminole Circuit Court against Sanford and Lawrence Beaton asking for more than $2,500 in damages. The suit states Mrs. Dodson and Kara Dodson were passengers in a car struck by a city flatted refuse truck on Jan. 8, at the intersection of Holly Avenue and First Street. The two passengers were injured in the collision, the suit states, causing the accident in Boston, its driver.

REFRIGERATORS STOLEN
About 40 used refrigerators worth $60 each were stolen from apartments at Lake Kathryn Village Apartments, a U.S. diplomat in Havana says. The owner of the apartment complex, Sid Vihlen, 670 Vihlen Road, Sanford, told police the refrigerators had been stolen from Oct. 8 - 22.

Best Is Choice For Congress

No one except special interest people like special interest politics. David Best, candidate for the U. S. Congress from Florida's Fifth Congressional District, doesn't like special interest politics, either.

Says Best:

"The money doled out to politicians by organized Washington pressure groups exercises a very corrupting influence on our political process. I will accept no special interest money in my campaign. I would rather not go to Washington, than to go a compromised man."

There are a lot of other things Best doesn't like: inflation; too much federal spending which creates budget deficits; the high cost of medical care, putting it out of the reach of many; the tarnished American image abroad.

He's not alone in his concerns.

Now he's prepared to go to Washington to represent our district, and he would go well-equipped, the Herald believes.

Best spent about six years with the Department of Defense's National Security Agency as a special intelligence agent to counter foreign surveillance operations against the U.S. As a counter-intelligence agent he won special citations for work relating to cryptanalysis and Command and Control Systems for nuclear weaponry.

While in Washington in that capacity, he didn't remain idle, spending his nights taking graduate courses in mathematics and completing a four-year program at American University School.

He received his juris doctor degree in March, 1968, then a year later returned to Orlando to practice law. Best also taught mathematics in the early 1960s at Orlando's Edgewater High School.

Best, 42, is a sharp, aggressive individual with a probing mind who has in perspective many of the vital issues facing our nation today. And he vows a commitment to pursuing solutions to and improvements in those areas with diligence and persistence.

The Herald believes Mr. Best will do just that, and would be an effective representative in Washington.

Worthwhile Effort

The Seminole Mutual Concert Association kicks off this year's series Nov. 22 with the Florida Symphony Orchestra. Residents of the area could do themselves and their families a world of good by purchasing a membership for the season.

The association strives to bring live entertainment and cultural enrichment to Seminole County through three or four live concerts a year at the Sanford Civic Center. This type of live entertainment can be a source of enjoyment for anyone, but we think it's especially important for our children, who increasingly are riveted in front of a television.

As Jan Freeman, president of the association, put it so well: "All of us have a need for interaction with cultural arts, and this is a good way with live entertainment. It's hard to get involved with TV, but when you're in an audience and you see it live, it's a totally different feeling. And it's especially important for young people. If we don't bring children in now and get them interested, what will happen in 25 years?"

The association is a non-profit organization which depends on proceeds from memberships to pay for the performers. It's an organization that deserves community support.

BERRY'S WORLD

WASHINGTON — When Defense Secretary Harold Brown disclosed on Aug. 22 that the United States is developing a Stealth bomber, he knew a military secret that had been faithfully kept in its particulars, if not in its concept.

Brown threw the spotlight on what had been a darkened silhouette. He revealed that prototypes of the radar-proof planes had already been tested in secret. That his predecessors had managed to keep under wraps for more than a decade. There's no reason for me not to add that the military committee has not yet decided on a name for the plane.

Now that Brown has broken security, in fact, the Stealth story can safely be told, although some sensitive details should still be withheld.

Oddly enough, the story began with a routine contract with the Lockheed Corporation to modify two C-130s. These were huge military transport planes of the model that Libya's dictator Muammar Qaddafi had been trying to scrounge from the United States through everyone from president Carter's brother, Billy, to international swindler Robert Vesco.

At Lockheed's secret works in Burbank,

Around

A lot of folks just don't go in for special days throughout the year unless they're bona fide time-wasters.

In previous years, Mother's Day took care of all the moms, including grandmothers and mothers-in-law.

But of late, Grandmother's Day has come along, and with the advent of Mothers-in-Law Day four years ago, the grandmothers are getting triple honors throughout the year if their offspring are "day acknowledge."

The Clock

Do you think it a little odd that the founder of Mothers-to-Law Day (whoever it may be) chose the fourth Sunday in October — so close to Halloween — and — uh — witches and such?

Yeah, I've heard. Some mothers-in-law are those god-awful women who some children-in-law can't stand.

DICK WEST

Reagan, Meet Sophocles

WASHINGTON (UPI) — All journalists soon learn the truth of Shakespeare's observation that "The first bringer of unwelcome news hath but a long office."

Or if they don't learn that, they are sure to agree with Sophocles that "None love the messenger who brings bad news."

Through this occupational hazard, I long ago absorbed the painful lesson Ronald Reagan has just been taught the hard way: Never knock a tree.

Had the Republican presidential candidate consulted me, I might have spared him the flak he has been catching from environmentalists and others since asserting on the campaign trail that trees contribute to air pollution.

As I could have predicted from bitter experience, negative reaction to his allegations has been fierce and intense.

Sample: A California newspaper proposed a comparison test in which the head of the Sierra Club would be locked in a room with an automobile emitting exhaust fumes.

Another sample: At a college where someone dragged an ash tree with a banner reading: "Chop me down before I kill again!"

One reason I could have foreseen this type of backlash is because much the same thing once happened to me.

In the course of trying to speak out about the public interest, I came across a report that cited trees as a major source of certain air pollutants.

At the time, I was as shocked as anybody else. Having been reared in the Klammersquad tradition, I subscribed to the view that trees could do no wrong.

But, as a journalist must, I put aside personal feelings and became a messenger of such unwelcome news. I proposed that anti-paraphernalia companies undertake development of an under-limb spray that would prevent trees from breathing the air.

It was only trying to be helpful. And my reaction was vilified and abusive. Readers accused me of slandering innocent trees, being disrespectful of Mother Nature and other benign deities.

I was, of course, only a bringer of the news. I had no part in preparing the report; nor had I planted any of the trees that reportedly were giving off noxious vapors.

Nevertheless, it was a losing office.

Well, such is a journalist's lot. But how dreadful it would have been had I been running for president. For that report on arboreal pollution likely would have cost me the green vote, and probably the decisive vote of a television.

Reagan, who is running for president, may now be in exactly such a pickle. If so, perhaps there still is time for him to smooth things over.

Fortunately for his campaign, there has just become available a government study of the sort the tree lobby loves. It finds that trees can significantly reduce heating bills in the winter and cooling costs in the summer.

Let Reagan quote that report on his campaign trail and voters offended by his pollution comment might forgive if not forget.

Democrat Questions Stealth Timing

WASHINGTON — When Defense Secretary Harold Brown disclosed on Aug. 22 that the United States is developing a Stealth bomber, he knew a military secret that had been faithfully kept in its particulars, if not in its concept.

Brown threw the spotlight on what had been a darkened silhouette. He revealed that prototypes of the radar-proof planes had already been tested in secret. That his predecessors had managed to keep under wraps for more than a decade. There's no reason for me not to add that the military committee has not yet decided on a name for the plane.

Now that Brown has broken security, in fact, the Stealth story can safely be told, although some sensitive details should still be withheld.

Oddly enough, the story began with a routine contract with the Lockheed Corporation to modify two C-130s. These were huge military transport planes of the model that Libya's dictator Muammar Qaddafi had been trying to scrounge from the United States through everyone from president Carter's brother, Billy, to international swindler Robert Vesco.

At Lockheed's secret works in Burbank,

Hold It! Before you take my head off, let me explain that there are some very fine and loving relationships among in-laws of all sorts and shapes.

Just this week, my only son-in-law declared that the law, "... but you're just the normal mother-in-law." So then, I'm abnormal or sub-normal, huh? Was he trying to hand me a back-handed compliment? Or was he attempting to intimidate me? Whatever, I primed with grace.

And also this week, one of my former mothers-in-law returned to Spartanburg, S.C. after a three-month stay in Sanford. She arrived here on a stretcher via air ambulance and left as bright and spry as Ponce de Leon's nearby immortal Fountain of Youth.

I love this lady. She was my first mother-in-law, and we have claimed each other through the years.

Now, arriving within the next few days for the winter in Sanford will be another set of adopted parents-in-law from the Chicago area. We are looking forward to the folks' arrival around — uh — Halloween.

I wanted to buy these great girls a little something, but can't bear them now. "Now, we don't need anything — just a phone call on any occasion. Spend that money on something you want."

So, I have been thinking about my mothers-in-law all week. Maybe I should get each a plant. I missed. Yeah, that's what I would do while enjoying the company of a favorite plant person.

I bought the plants and departed with a smile. Let's see, I will hang one in the dining room, and another in the living room as a tribute to my two favorite mothers-in-law.

Let's Fine Goat Lady Every Day

With respect to the goats that the lady has out in the Lake Brantley area, I believe that all of the people that are supposed to uphold our laws are simply too lazy or else simply too adept at passing the buck.

The zoning violations bureau should forward a case each and every day that she is in violation to the state attorney's office and they should prosecute every single one of them just as soon as they receive them — even if it means having several charges outstanding at the same time.

This would then cost the lady $25 per day or else it would let Judge Dickey have an opportunity to show to the citizens of Seminole County that in fact he does not intend to uphold the law that he swears to uphold.

At the same time as all of the above is going on, the Seminole County "in house" legal staff should bring a law suit to enjoin her from continuing to keep goats in an area that is not properly zoned for them.

It makes one wonder: if the goats were being kept next door to the judge, the state attorney or the commissioners — would this have been going on for this long?

Let's Fine Goat Lady Every Day

With respect to the goats that the lady has out in the Lake Brantley area, I believe that all of the people that are supposed to uphold our laws are simply too lazy or else simply too adept at passing the buck.

The zoning violations bureau should forward a case each and every day that she is in violation to the state attorney's office and they should prosecute every single one of them just as soon as they receive them — even if it means having several charges outstanding at the same time.

This would then cost the lady $25 per day or else it would let Judge Dickey have an opportunity to show to the citizens of Seminole County that in fact he does not intend to uphold the law that he swears to uphold.

At the same time as all of the above is going on, the Seminole County "in house" legal staff should bring a law suit to enjoin her from continuing to keep goats in an area that is not properly zoned for them.

It makes one wonder: if the goats were being kept next door to the judge, the state attorney or the commissioners — would this have been going on for this long?

Houk Could Be New Bosox Boss

BOSTON (UPI) — Former New York Yankees and Detroit Tigers manager Ralph Houk will be asked to replace ousted Red Sox skipper Don Zimmer, the Boston Globe said today.

Houk, 61, was on a list of possible managers that included Ken Harrelson, Frank Robinson and Bob Lemon, the newspaper said. Red Sox owner-general manager Haywood Sullivan will announce the choice Monday, the Globe said.

Sullivan said two weeks ago that Houk "has been discussed" as one of the people who would meet co-owner Buddy LeFleur's requirements the manager be "a strict disciplinarian, a solid baseball man and a motivator," the Globe said.

Houk retired in 1978, but worked informally for the Tigers organization since then. He could not be reached at his Pompano Beach, Fla., home for comment. Houk led the Yankees to three straight pennants in 1961, 1962 and 1963.

Borek Clings To Slim PGA Lead

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (UPI) — Gene Borek of White Plains, N.Y., holds a comfortable five-stroke lead going into today's third round of the $100,000 PGA National Club Professional Championship.

Borek completed his rainedelayed first round Friday morning with a Sunday-par 67 then fired a 68 in the afternoon second round. That put him at 135 — nine strokes under par — and five shots ahead of Jim Albus of Locust Valley, N.Y., and John Nichols of Montgomery, Ala., who tied for second at 140.

John Traub of Rochester, Mich., was another stroke back at 141.

More than two-thirds of the 354-man field, playing on three golf courses, had to finish their first round Friday morning because rain and lightning forced a delay Thursday afternoon.

Borek finished in a tie for the first-round lead at 67 with Dick Lutz of Oakland, Calif., and Gary Wintz of Orlando, Fla. But Lutz and Wintz couldn't keep up the pace in the afternoon second round, each shooting a 75 to fall seven strokes back of Borek.

That tied them at 143 with Jon Cutshall of Houston, Texas, Roger Kennedy of Pompano Beach, Fla., and Jim Seely of Landover, Md.

Tied at 143 were Dwight Neal, Potomac, Texas; Chuck Hart, Hamburg, N.Y.; and Gary Baker of Miami.

Defending champion Buddy Whitten of Belmont, Mich., finished the second round at 147.

After today's round, the field will be cut to the low 90 and ties for the final two rounds Saturday and Sunday.

Records Fall In Big NASCAR Event

MARTINSVILLE, Va. (UPI) — Three drivers, led by polewinner Geoff Bodine of Pleasant Garden, N.C., have swapped the Late Model Sportsman qualifying record in time trials for Sunday's $111,565 Cardinal 500 NASCAR national championship doubleheader.

Bodine, driving a Pontiac, led the assault Friday on the half-mile track with a record speed of 97.853 mph to win the pole for the 250-lap LMS half of the race.

Maynard Troyer of Rochester, N.Y., won the pole for the 250-lap Modified half during Thursday trials.

Sam Ari of Ashboro, N.C., won the outside pole position in the LMS race with a 92.89 mph clocking in an Oldsmobile while Tommy Ellis of Richmond also broke the record with a speed of 91.71 mph in a Pontiac.

The record of 81.185 mph was set by Sonny Hutchins of Richmond. He was seventh fastest Friday.

The remainder of both the Modified and LMS fields will be filled Saturday in qualifying races.

A glum DeBartolo — arms-to-arm with Veeck at a news conference after the AL meeting — said he was "shocked" by the vote. But he said he would meet with Veeck and the board of directors to reapply for approval before the Dec. 8 winter meetings in Dallas.

"We will reapply for admission. Hopefully, the situation will be more positive," said DeBartolo, who also owns the NHL Pittsburgh Penguins. "I'm sure we will prevail and we will own the White Sox and give you a winner."

However, McPhail wasn't as optimistic. He emphasized he had warned Sox shareholders of the potential for opposition within the league, specifically citing the local ownership issue.

DeBartolo refused to speculate whether he will sue either the league or Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, who publicly criticized DeBartolo's attempts to purchase the Sox.

Seminole Falls To 4th Quarter Rally

Astronaut Trips Tribe With Late Scores

Halfback Jimmy Williams (20) leads the Seminole ground express for a first quarter pickup against Titusville Astronaut.

By SAM COOK, Herald Sports Writer

TITUSVILLE — For three quarters here Friday evening, Seminole and Astronaut resembled two aging, old-time performers slipping back and forth trying to seize an advantage.

Seminole punter Jeff Litton and his Titusville counterpart Billy King barged the pigskin at each other 12 times while the two teams battled to a 0-0 deadlock.

The War Eagles finally came up with two touchdowns in the last four minutes of the fourth quarter to nudge the Tribe 14-0. The setback dropped Sanford to 1-4 and saddled Coach Jerry Posey's first losing season at Seminole.

Astronaut, a perennial powerhouse, improved to 5-2 with its losses coming to Merritt Island (4-4) and arch rival Cocoa (1-4).

The two eleven-hour touchdowns offset a determined effort by the Tribe defense and spoiled an inspirational return by senior quarterback Clarence Sipko, who is coming back from a shoulder separation.

With four minutes to play in the third quarter Sipko relieved junior Litton on the Seminole 31-yard line. His first aerial attempt fell incomplete, but he then turned to his forte — quick feet — and ripped off gainers of 10, one (first down drive), six and six yards for a Tribe first down at its 47-yard line.

"I didn't feel any pain from the shoulder (injury) or nothing," Sipko related after the game. "With me in there, it helps open up the middle because of my outside speed."

And the middle did open on the next two plays as senior Wayne Pace and halfback Jimmy Williams followed center Philip Reno and guard Donald Crook for 14 yards and a first down at the War Eagle 33-yard line.

The Tribe's only drive stalled at that point, though, as Pace was dropped for a four-yard loss and Sipko fired incomplete. He then gained eight yards on a scramble, but suffered a fourth and six to halt the march.

"The first drive we had we should have scored something — a touchdown or a field goal," Sipko later lamented. "But I missed the tight end on an 18-yard, I went for the wideout, and that kinda messed us up."

More damaging than Sipko's incompletion was the War Eagle's lone scoring drive of the night, which they put in gear from their own 36-yard line.

It took only three minutes and eight plays to march the 60 yards. The big play on the drive was a rollout left by quarterback Donnie Whiting.

Whiting was pressured by defensive end Reginald Walsh, who turned in an outstanding game with three sacks. This time, however, Whiting scrambled free and whirled without Retf Humphrey with a desperation loss.

Humphrey came back for the ball, making a diving catch for a first down at the Tribe 40-yard line.

"This one bounced before he caught it," defensive Coach Rager Beathard said about Humphrey's miracle grab, near the Sanford sideline. "All I can say is the redshirt didn't call it and that's football. But that was a super catch for the touchdown."

That it was was. On the very next play, Whiting connected with all Star Ken Calhoun, who feuded off senior Jim Vothline for the TD. Calhoun normally plays defense but is used when the War Eagles near the goal line for just that purpose. After Robert Whitney's extra point gave Astronaut a 7-0 advantage only 3:36 remained in the game.

With only 1:01 left, huge defensive end Charlie Merritt snatched a Sipko third down pass and rammed into the end zone for a 25-yard interception scamper. Whitney line drove the PAT for the final 14-0 final.

"We were a little stale the first half," Posey said after the loss. "I told Litton at halftime if we didn't get a sustained drive going, we wanted to take a look at

Bishop Moore Stings Greyhounds 10-6

Benton Wood
Sports Writer

Lyman's Greyhounds have a habit of starting early on the blocks before fading in the final 34 minutes. The Hornets played their best second half of the season Friday night against Bishop Moore, but the Hornets scored 10 first half points to hang on to a 10-6 win for their third victory of the year.

Lyman slipped to 57 for the season, had a shot at salvaging the first win in a six rally directed by sophomore quarterback Dwayne Johnson.

The Greyhounds took over the football at their own 30-yard line with 3:38 left in the game. Johnson quickly found fellow sophomore Willis Perry on a nine-yard strike. Following a seven-yard pickup by fullback John Haas, Johnson connected with wingback Mike Gerrity for a 13-yard gain and senior John Ratch for another 10 yards.

Facing a third-and-two situation at the Hornets 20-yard line, Johnson scrambled for three yards and the first down with 58 seconds showing on the clock.

However, the Bishop Moore defense rose to the occasion, stopping Johnson on the 10-yard line on fourth down following a pair of incomplete passes.

"We've got a bunch of gutsy kids," head coach Brian Smith praised.

"Everyone we turned to tonight did the job. We had one bad play on defense, otherwise we shut them out."

Smith was referring to Lyman's only score of the night that came with 2:25 left in the contest.

Johnson dropped back to pass and dumped a screen to Willis Perry at the 30-yard line. Perry failed inside and scored around initially. Johnson's first-half lead of 10-0 was overturned around the 10:00 mark when Bishop Moore's sophomore quarterback found the end zone and simply outed the Bishop Moore secondary.

A stringy Lyman defense allowed Bishop Moore only 20 yards total offense in the second half compared to 37 yards by the Greyhounds.

However the first half spelled Lyman's doom.

Bishop Moore scored its lone touchdown on the Hornets' second possession of the night. The Hornets pinned Lyman on the 10-yard line and forced Johnson to punt out of his end zone.

A stiff Hornet rush forced Johnson to punt the ball straight up in the air and Bishop Moore took over at Lyman's 24-yard line.

It took only three plays for halfback Scott Haffner to dash 13 yards, giving the Hornets a 7-0 lead with 1:14 left in the first period.

Johnson's first two passes on the evening were intercepted and the second one helped set up a Bishop Moore field goal at the end of the first half.

The Hornets' Mr. Versatility David Disney picked off a deflected pass and returned it to the Greyhound 43-yard line. Taking over at quarterback, Disney led the Hornets to Lyman's three-yard line with 10 seconds left in the half before Vince Benedetti booted a 19-yard field goal for Bishop Moore's 10-0 halftime lead.

Disney had to move from halfback to quarterback in the first quarter when first string signal caller Theo Thomas was leveled by defensive end Donald Johnson, forcing him from the game with a broken leg.

"We haven't worked that much with Disney at quarterback before tonight," Smith confirmed. "But he did a hell of a job. He came in and got the job done."

Lyman's job Haas carried 18 times for 97 yards but found coach Bill Scott focused on his sophomore backfield of Johnson, Perry and wingback Vince Wood, and No. 10 East Carolina. No. 6 Nebraska; No. 7 North Carolina; No. 10 Ohio State vs. Wisconsin. Unranked Southern Cal is tied.

Alabama, ninth in the nation in offense and seventh in defense, faces a dangerous foe in Southern Mississippi. The Golden Eagles, fifth in total defense, boast a strong running game in Sammy Winder, who averages 101 yards rushing per game and leads the nation with 11 touchdowns.

Texas' versatile A.J. Jones has rushed for 560 yards and seven touchdowns and has added 101 yards and another TD catching the ball. Southern Methodist's John Striminas has intercepted five passes and returned two of them for scores.

Oviedo Lion quarterback Willie Harrison scrambles away from Rockledge defenders during action in the Lion's 50 loss Friday night. Oviedo was stung on an 88-yard touchdown run on the first play of scrimmage.

Lyman's troubled football program was dealt yet another damaging blow this past week when its sensational halfback Audie Cleveland quit the team.

Audie Cleveland.

The three mentions of those two words gave opposing defensive coaches sleepless nights. He was the Ole Sayers of Lyman High School. A blue-chipper. An All-State selection. Dazzling speed. Excellent hands. Dangerous on the halfback pass from anywhere on the field. Always a threat to break a kickoff. Possibly the best player the school's ever had.

Cleveland was the epitome of instant offense. Last year he was the main ingredient of the Greyhounds' microwave offense. It was devised for the big play.

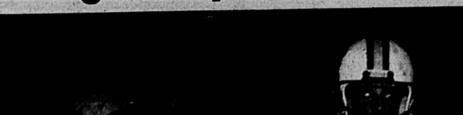

Cleveland, more than anyone else, was responsible for the football resurgence at Lyman which saw the Hornets post a 6-4 record and win a trip to the Rotary Bowl. It was the first winning season in a long time.

This year the star didn't shine so brightly. Cleveland looked a step slower. One-on-one where he used to be unstoppable now saw him being brought down by players of lesser caliber.

What was the reason? It wasn't the offensive line. Guards Terry Barrett and Chris Breen anchored a line that was stronger than a year ago.

How about Cleveland's statistics? In the home six games, he ran for 204 yards over 17 carries per outing. Good for most backs, but not for Audie Cleveland. He showed flashes of his old form. Against Boone he ran for 100 yards on just 14 attempts. Against Spruce Creek he totaled 147 yards.

Looking For Running Room

Lyman's Jon Haas (23) seems to be picking his way through the Bishop Moore defense gingerly with the help of a Vince Preesley (36) block. Haas carried 18 times for the Greyhounds and helped Lyman control the rushing game but a slow first half and a stingy Hornet defense spelled a 10-6 loss for the Greyhounds who are 6-7. The win lifted Bishop Moore to 5-4 on the season.

Lyman's first two passes on the evening were intercepted and the second one helped set up a Bishop Moore field goal at the end of the first half.

The Hornets' Mr. Versatility David Disney picked off a deflected pass and returned it to the Greyhound 43-yard line. Taking over at quarterback, Disney led the Hornets to Lyman's three-yard line with 10 seconds left in the half before Vince Benedetti booted a 19-yard field goal for Bishop Moore's 10-0 halftime lead.

Disney had to move from halfback to quarterback in the first quarter when first string signal caller Theo Thomas was leveled by defensive end Donald Johnson, forcing him from the game with a broken leg.

"We haven't worked that much with Disney at quarterback before tonight," Smith confirmed. "But he did a hell of a job. He came in and got the job done."

Lyman's job Haas carried 18 times for 97 yards but found coach Bill Scott focused on his sophomore backfield of Johnson, Perry and wingback Vince Wood, and No. 10 East Carolina. No. 6 Nebraska; No. 7 North Carolina; No. 10 Ohio State vs. Wisconsin. Unranked Southern Cal is tied.

Alabama, ninth in the nation in offense and seventh in defense, faces a dangerous foe in Southern Mississippi. The Golden Eagles, fifth in total defense, boast a strong running game in Sammy Winder, who averages 101 yards rushing per game and leads the nation with 11 touchdowns.

Texas' versatile A.J. Jones has rushed for 560 yards and seven touchdowns and has added 101 yards and another TD catching the ball. Southern Methodist's John Striminas has intercepted five passes and returned two of them for scores.

Oviedo Lion quarterback Willie Harrison scrambles away from Rockledge defenders during action in the Lion's 50 loss Friday night. Oviedo was stung on an 88-yard touchdown run on the first play of scrimmage.

Lyman's troubled football program was dealt yet another damaging blow this past week when its sensational halfback Audie Cleveland quit the team.

Audie Cleveland.

The three mentions of those two words gave opposing defensive coaches sleepless nights. He was the Ole Sayers of Lyman High School. A blue-chipper. An All-State selection. Dazzling speed. Excellent hands. Dangerous on the halfback pass from anywhere on the field. Always a threat to break a kickoff. Possibly the best player the school's ever had.

Cleveland was the epitome of instant offense. Last year he was the main ingredient of the Greyhounds' microwave offense. It was devised for the big play.

Cleveland, more than anyone else, was responsible for the football resurgence at Lyman which saw the Hornets post a 6-4 record and win a trip to the Rotary Bowl. It was the first winning season in a long time.

This year the star didn't shine so brightly. Cleveland looked a step slower. One-on-one where he used to be unstoppable now saw him being brought down by players of lesser caliber.

What was the reason? It wasn't the offensive line. Guards Terry Barrett and Chris Breen anchored a line that was stronger than a year ago.

How about Cleveland's statistics? In the home six games, he ran for 204 yards over 17 carries per outing. Good for most backs, but not for Audie Cleveland. He showed flashes of his old form. Against Boone he ran for 100 yards on just 14 attempts. Against Spruce Creek he totaled 147 yards.

Life Is Sweet At Sweetwater

Tom Murphy, golfer at Sweetwater Golf Club has a goal, to be successful at what he does and make his 200-plus members happy.

Tom's hails from Wheeling, West Va., was assistant pro for four years at Jackie Glasson's Inverary Golf Club, where his older brother, Larry, is head professional.

He also has a younger brother, Jim, who is head professional at Spiedel Golf Club, where they play the LPGA's West Virginia Classic.

The Sweetwater pro's philosophy of helping his members, "have a good time" is on the belief that his well-stocked pro shop and "the best place around for dinner" as he puts it, will give his members a feeling of a country club atmosphere with a taste of down home goodness.

Sweetwater's golf course is a tight, par 71, 6,300 yards of pure delight.

It has just enough water to make it tough and most of the holes come right out of the sand (that means trees on both sides of the tee box are close causing a feeling of claustrophobia).

The 11th hole is one of the toughest in Central Florida.

It's a par five, 558-yard straight away hole with a pond directly in front of the green. It will make it virtually impossible for a player to reach green in two shots. The course is well bunkered to give battle to the handicap golfer.

"It's a test for the average player," said Tom. "It will make him feel like he's been on a championship golf course."

The general manager of the facility, Roland Hearn, believes with beautiful fairways and greens the condition of the course is very important. In his opinion there is no finer golf facility around.

McMahon, the nation's leading passer, may be restricted to limited duty because of strained arm ligaments when BYU takes on Hawaii Saturday night in Aloha Stadium. McMahon suffered the injury in last week's 70-0 rout of Utah State.

"Jim does have a problem in his arm," said BYU Coach LaVell Edwards. "How extensive it is we don't know - we probably won't know until game time."

Edwards said if McMahon cannot open the game, senior Royce Bybee will start for the Cougars. 5-1.

After dropping their season opener to New Mexico, the Cougars have needed only five straight victories, averaging 45.3 points in the process.

"We feel good about the way we've played in the last five games," said Edwards. "Since the New Mexico game, we've played well and I believe we're getting better every week."

After reaching consecutive upsets over West Virginia and New Mexico the last two weeks, Hawaii Coach Dick Tenney has reason for confidence, but he certainly respects the Cougars.

"Brigham Young is still the class of the Western Athletic Conference by a ton," said Tenney. "They got caught with their hands down against New Mexico at the beginning of the year, but since then they haven't been human."

In games involving top 10 teams this week, it's top-ranked Alabama vs. Southern Mississippi; No. 2 Texas against Southern Methodist; No. 3 UCLA vs. California; No. 4 Notre Dame vs. Arizona; No. 5 Georgia vs. Kentucky; No. 6 Florida State vs. Memphis State; No. 7 North Carolina vs. East Carolina; No. 8 Nebraska vs. Colorado; and No. 10 Ohio State vs. Wisconsin. Unranked Southern Cal is tied.

Cooney Makes Quick Work Of Ron Lyle

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (UPI) — Gerry Cooney entered his bid for a double-digit win over with a savage left hook to the side with 45 seconds to go in the first round. He knocked the 38-year-old veteran with combinations to the head and body, then sent him reeling through the ropes with another crushing left hook to the ribs.

Lyle was counted out with just 11 seconds to go in the round, still lying on the apron with his feet dangling through the ropes into the ring.

"I feel I'm ready for a little shot," said Cooney, now 244 with 21 knockouts, including his last seven opponents. "I've been the No. 1 contender for a while now and I think I deserve a shot."

Cooney could be in line to face the winner of today's WBA title fight in South Africa between champion Mike Weaver and South African challenger Gerrie Coetzee.

Cooney said the home crowd spurred him on Friday night.

"I was just ready for it," he said. "I wanted it, especially here at the Nassau Coliseum before all the fans who have backed me for so long."

Lyle, now 40-1 and apparently through as a fighter, was in intense pain after the fight.

"I guess this is it, it's the end. It's over for me now, I'm through."

Cooney, a 6-foot-5, 225-pounder from nearby Huntington, N.Y., doubled Lyle over with a savage left hook to the side with 45 seconds to go in the first round. Cablevision
Denies Charges
Orange-Seminole Cablevision
officials, appearing before a National Labor Relations Board hearing in Orlando Friday afternoon, denied charges of unfair labor practices brought by two former employees.

Barbara King, 27, of 503
Elm Drive, Cassberry, and
Richard J. White, 2000 Kings
Ave., Winter Park, charged they were fired the day after they submitted cards favoring a vote on unionization.

Stephen McMahon, regional manager for American Communications and Communications Corp., parent company of Orange-Seminole Cablevision, said Friday that King was terminated because of her "poor performance" and White was fired because of "failure to observe com-

BUSINESS

IN BRIEF Chelsea Guarantee Veep Gains Title Designation

Richard Nichols, vice president of Chelsea Title & Guaranty Co. has announced that David N. Berrien, senior title officer, has received the Certified Land Title Searcher designation from the Florida Land Title Association.

Certified Land Title Searcher is a professional designation by the title industry in the state of Florida. This award is earned only by those individuals who have a minimum of five years experience in the preparation of complete abstracts of title. In addition these individuals must have a good working knowledge of the title insurance and escrow functions of the business, and must pass a rigorous, day long examination given by the Florida Land Title Association.

Berrien has lived in Seminole County since 1955, having come here with the U.S. Navy to the Naval Air Station, Sanford. Since his honorable discharge in 1958 he has worked for three financial institutions, an insurance agency, and two title companies.

Berrien, his wife Judy, and his son Dean, live at 624 Camellia Court in Sunland Estates, just south of Sanford.

Real Estate Courses Set

Ten evening and weekend courses, including one on real estate investments and income tax, will be offered starting in November by the University of Central Florida College of Extended Studies.

There will be a six-week Real Estate I course, Nov. 3-Dec. 17, at Lynn High school, with classes 6-10 p.m. Monday and Wednesday.

Real Estate II also will be available on video tape for those students unable to attend scheduled classes. Tapes may be viewed at the UCF Real Estate Institute on the main campus or at the UCF Daytona Beach campus, 215 S. Clyde Morris Blvd.

Tuition for any Real Estate I course is $90, which includes books.

Real Estate II (broker) will be taught Nov. 11-22 on the main UCF campus. Classes are 6-10 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. Tuition is $120.

Realtors Pick State Head

William A. Watson Jr., of Jacksonville, has been elected 1981 president of the 63,000-member Florida Association of Realtors to succeed Parker C. Banzhaf of Sarasota. New officers will be sworn in during the association's inaugural meetings at Lake Buena Vista, Jan. 13-17.

Other state-wide officers elected during the state association's recent annual convention in Miami Beach, include: Jack I. Kornblith of Cocoa Beach, president-elect; Basil D. Farrell of Sarasota, treasurer; and Eleanor V. O'Connell of Gainesville, corporation secretary.

Vice presidents to serve during 1981 are: James M. Parrish of Gainesville, District 1; Patricia A. Deas of Daytona Beach, District 2; Sally H. Venara of North Palm Beach, District 3; Carlos Dominguez of Kendall-Pertree, District 4; Betty J. Davis of Fort Myers Beach, District 5; David H. Gilson of Gulf Beach-Seminole, District 6; Robert H. Erford of Orlando, District 7; Edward J. O'Donnell of Tallahassee, District 8; Helen Edwards of Pensacola, District 9; Lana Prillman of Zephyrhills, District 10; and Richard A. Newstreet of Fort Lauderdale, District 11.

Gas Prices Take Slight Dip

Gasoline prices across Florida dropped by an average of 2 to 4 cents per gallon between September and October, the latest AAA Club of Florida Fuel Gauge report shows.

The average price for all grades of gasoline at full service pumps is $1.24, down from the $1.27 indicated in the September survey.

The latest study showed motorists could save about 5 cents per gallon by using self-service pumps.

While the price declines were small, drops were noted on three grades of fuel. Regular averaged $1.22 per gallon across the state, a drop of 6 to 8 cents per gallon; unleaded dropped 1 of a cent per gallon to $1.26, and premium dropped by 2 of a cent per gallon to $1.36.

Consumer Credit Week Set

Florida Gov. Bob Graham has recognized the invaluable assistance being offered to Floridians by the Consumer Credit Counseling Services. He has issued a Proclamation designating the week of Nov. 2-8, 1980 as "Consumer Credit Counseling Week."

Business Nominees Needed

The U.S. Small Business Administration has urged small business leaders and small business associations, other trade associations, chambers of commerce, SBA's Advisory Council members, state and local officials and bankers to submit nominations of persons to be honored during 1981 Small Business Week.

Each year, SBA notes the achievements of small business by sponsoring a week-long national program. During this program, called National Small Business Week, the beneficial role of small companies in the national economy is stressed and outstanding small business persons around the country are honored. Also honored are a number of persons with outstanding records for having acted as advocates for the small business community and for performing with distinction on Federal procurement contracts.

SBA is seeking advocacy candidates in eight categories: banker, family-owned business, minority business, accountant, research, innovation, media and lawyer advocate.

The national winners will be chosen from among state winners in each of those advocacy categories. Nominations of Small Business Week candidates should be sent to the SBA field office.

Stone Receives Small Business Award

The news isn't all bad for recently elected U.S. Sen. Richard Stone, D-Fla.

In announcing the award, Wilson S. Johnson, president of the 820,000-member group — with 2,195 of those members in Florida — explained that the "Guardian Award" gives recognition to legislators who support all business, and at the same time assures our members of how their legislator is representing them in Congress.

Fanatic? Cultist? Nut?

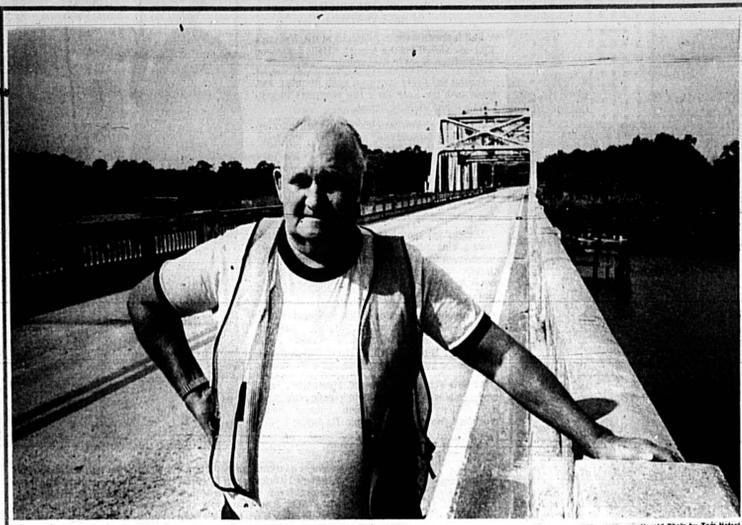

What was he doing out there? Why was he carrying it? Several people spotted the man as he walked back and forth along the Sanford lakefront. He was hard to miss. Several people looked their horns at him as they drove past. They might have been curious why he was carrying what he was, but they did not stop — probably did not want to get involved.

River Bridge Opened About 100 Times Monthly Tender's Job Is A Lonely Lot

There were two shifts at the bridge then. Langford worked a 12-hour shift each day for the first part of the week and another man did the same for the last part of the week. Forty-eight times around to open the bridge and 48 times back any time a fairly large boat wanted to pass through.

When the old bridge was finally replaced by the Stremstrom bridge, Langford sold the camp but decided to stay in the bridge-tending business and transferred to the Lake Monroe bridge.

Langford and three other men share duties at this bridge which was built in 1933. Being larger, it is operated by an electric motor rather than muscle power. It is manned 24 hours a day and is opened about 100 times monthly, Langford said.

To open the bridge, the tender has to walk out to the middle and climb a ladder to a small enclosure which houses the controls above the roadway. Weekends are the busiest times when large pleasure boats move up and down the river. The river is low right now, Langford said and there is a 13-foot clearance between the water and bridge. The river is the lowest he has seen since he has been here.

Each morning Langford drives from his Sanford home in Sunland Estates and parks just off the highway in a spot reserved for the bridge tenders. On the west end of Lake Monroe is something like tending a lighthouse. The quarters are cramped, there is not a whole lot to do, and company is scarce.

But one Sanford man sees it as a job that has to be done and he is willing to do it.

John Langford spent a good deal of his life driving a truck around the country. In fact, he spent more than 3 million miles behind the wheel before moving to Florida and settling in one place.

About six years ago Langford and his cousin bought the fishing camp located on the St. Johns at the old Dadeen bridge and that was how he got started in the bridge-tending business.

The old living bridge spanning the river was extremely narrow and dangerous, the scene of several fatal accidents. Due to its small size the bridge was opened manually by pushing a large handle around which operated the mechanism. "Forty-eight times around and 48 times back," recalled Langford.

While the fish camp and the bridge were two separate entities, the people at the camp had been operating the bridge for years as a convenience for the Department of Transportation.

put the cross down, leaned it against his white Chevrolet and explained his mission. "I'm witnessing for the Lord Jesus Christ," he said. In a day when few people lived for Christ, Butler said he used the cross as a symbol to remind people that Christ died for us, so that we might have everlasting life.

Butler explained he is an evangelist by profession who lives in Sanford but preferred not to say where. He said he is not trying to bother anyone and does not want to be a hindrance. From time to time he simply finds an open stretch of land near a road, picks up his cross and starts walking. From his shirt pockets he hands religious tracts to anyone who stops.

One of those stoppages was a sheriff's deputy who had been instructed to check him out after the deputy had received a phone call from a concerned citizen. Butler explained his mission and asked the deputy if he knew Jesus as his savior. The deputy assured him he did; they shook hands and the deputy left.

"You attract attention," Butler said of his cross-carrying strolls and the attention is not always favorable. "I've been hollered at, cussed at, run at, bit at and missed. The devil doesn't like it (his mission). I've had cigarettes and beer bottles thrown at me. It's awful to see the state of people's hearts. These people need help."

Butler said he once carried his cross from Orlando to Dundee, near Cypress Gardens. "The power again is so enormous," he said. "We have to get prayed up."

He went on to explain that the cross is his

Somebody thought he might be some kind of religious fanatic or involved with some kind of cult. Another was not as generous and figured him to be a nut.

Here was a man dressed in a pair of blue trousers and a white dress shirt with the cuffs folded up to the elbows. His shoes were polished and his black hair, graying at the temples, was neatly combed. He was not looking like a fanatic. He was not wearing any flow robes or such cloth. He was not trying to sell anything — no flowers to stick in people's laps in exchange for a contribution. But he was with that that large wooden cross.

He carried it upright, cupping the base in his hands with the trunk leaning on his shoulder. The arms of the crossgates stretched several feet above his head. Between the cross and his shoulder was a large, well-thumbed copy of the Bible. His name, printed in gold on the cover, was John D. Butler.

Stopping his back and forth march, Butler

Women Say 'Hello' To Fall Fashions

By DORIS DIETRICH
OURSELVES Editor

Fall fashions were in full focus at the Women's Club of Sanford for the annual, "Hello Luncheon and Fashion Show," Wednesday.

During the lively luncheon each member and guest took the floor for a few moments to say, "Hello," and identify herself.

The fashion show was under the chairmanship of Jeri Kirk who said she, "came back home from Europe just to see this show."

Pat Foster was chairman of the salad luncheon and Dorothy McReynolds was in charge of door prizes. Martha Nancy was the fashion coordinator and commentator and background music was provided by Ruby King.

The fashion model supervisor Patti Brantley wore a wine colored velvet pantsuit with a street length coat from Merle Norman Boutique. Karen Jacobs was the grande finale in a black negligee covering lacy black teddies from another era — from Lois' Place.

drive right through the warning gates which lower, blocking the bridge to automobile traffic prior to its opening.

"People don't always recognize the gate for what it is," Langford said. "They'll be driving along, not paying attention, then look up and see the gate down in front of them. They'll lose a windshield or part of a top but luckily no one's been killed."

Despite several warning lights on the road and a horn to alert motorists, they still somehow fail to see the gate which is itself equipped with several lights. "It should be enough but still people drive along looking at the scenery and miss the lights," Langford said.

Perhaps one explanation is the low river traffic forcing the bridge to open. Langford said he has talked with many people who frequently use the bridge and are surprised to learn it can be opened at all.

Things have been pretty quiet the past couple of months, Langford said, and he has not lost a gate. But there is more and more traffic on the road and this time of year the "snowbirds in boats" start heading south, wintering in Sanford. The bridge will have to be opened to let their houseboats through and Langford figures he will probably lose a couple or more gates.

Wishes stem is brewing just in time for the annual school Halloween carnival to be held Friday on the campus from 1 to 4 p.m. The public is invited.

The school luncheon changes its decorations monthly under the direction of Betty Gipson and Laura Welch. Students draw, paint and design the pictures.

Roslyn Althea Elaine Lawson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richmond J. Lawson, of Winter Park, appeared with the Westminister Choir on PBS Channel 24 Wednesday.

Mom's Work Leads To Dad's Play

DEAR ABBY: How can I get the message to my mother (age 49) that if she doesn't start spending more time with her husband (he's 51) her marriage could be in trouble?

Dad has always been an excellent provider, so Mother never had to work. Well, two years ago, Mother got bored and started selling real estate. I respect Mother for doing her own thing, and she's good at it, but daytime appointments should be enough. Now she's seeing clients in the evenings, too, so Dad has to shift for himself.

Last night Mom was working again, so my husband and I invited Dad, a very handsome man, to have dinner out with us. We ran into Peggy, a beautiful blonde I went to college with. Peggy joined us for a while, and I didn't even know him and now she was working, and I could see Dad making a mental note of it. Abby, he's not a dirty old man - he's lonely and neglected.

So how does a 28-year-old daughter tell her mother to start acting more like a wife and less like a real estate agent?

very good dancer to begin with, and that loud music gives me a headache. Freddy is a fantastic dancer and he's trying to get me to learn, but I really don't care for it. You see, I'm sort of a strict Baptist family, and I'm also against going to places where there is drinking. Freddy likes to go to discos, and even though he's not a big drinker he'll have one or two because he has to order something.

Please don't think I'm a stick-in-the-mud, Abby. I'm not, I just don't care for disco and drinking. I really love Freddy, but I wonder if a marriage can work with a man who wants to disco every night when I'd rather stay home and watch TV.

DEAR LOVE: Take a second look, and a third, and a fourth. If it's really love, it will last. In the meantime, I know it sounds awfully fast, because two weeks ago I didn't even know him and now he wants to marry me. He's 24 and I'm 20.

There is only one problem, Abby. Freddy is crazy about disco and I hate it. I'm not a

1. Are you 18 years old or over?
2. Are you an American citizen?
3. Have you lived in the county 29 days before the election you want to vote in?
4. Are you on parole for a felony?

If you have any further questions concerning voting.

USA 'Shareholders Report' Given DAR

Sallie Harrison Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution (DAR) met at the home of Mrs. A. W. Lee, Laurel Avenue, Sanford, for the October meeting. Mrs. Tik Willy was the co-hostess.

Regent Mrs. William Bramley Sr. conducted the meeting. Routine reports were given. A program entitled "Report to Shareholders" was presented by Ena. Sonja Hedley, assistant public affairs officer of the Orlando Naval Training Center.

According to a DAR member Mrs. Raymond C. Lewis of Lakeland, "We Americans, as shareholders, are privileged to see and hear about our country's Naval defense including our carriers, submarines and other vessels around the world."

The hostesses served refreshments to the 16 members attending.

...THE HOPE OF OUR COMMUNITY, OUR NATION!

HIDING IN THE LEAVES... One of the adventures of Autumn is hiding in a pile of leaves. Not really hiding, though. The fun is in poking your head out and surprising someone!

When we're growing up, every season brings its adventures. Our days are full of opportunities for having fun.

Hopefully those days will also be marked by adventures that help build character. With each passing season the soul as well as the body needs to grow.

The opportunity for youngsters whose families are concerned for their spiritual development is in religious education.

We don't begin under the debris of Fall - our convictions are the heralds of a new Spring.

War Preparation Opposed

By DAVID R. ANDERSON

UPI Religion Writer

For 450 years, members of three small Christian denominations—the Friends, the Mennonites and the Church of the Brethren—have resisted war and the preparations for war that they have become known as the "peace churches."

They have been persecuted and jailed for their absolute pacifism, led the opposition to conscription and the military draft and initiated efforts to encourage and support those who refuse to pay the military portion of their income taxes.

New members of the three denominations are preparing to take their message to the larger, mainline churches.

The peace churches, says John K. Stoner, a Brethren in Christ minister from Akron, Pa., must confront the mainline churches on their quiet acceptance of preparations for nuclear war.

"The myth that nuclear war is prevented by threatening nuclear war envelops the minds of more people than just about any lie you can think of," Stoner says.

Stoner says the belief that preparation for war prevents war is the notion of "mutually assured destruction" as a deterrent — is deeply embedded in the American consciousness.

"Opposition to nuclear disarmament in the church is entrenched in the 100-and-a-half-year-old tradition of the peace churches," Stoner says.

One specific proposal has already been suggested by Father George Zabalka, the Roman Catholic chaplain in the Air Force crew that bombed Hiroshima and Nagasaki. Zabalka, in an interview published in the evangelical monthly Sojourners, says that he once prayed for the success of the American war effort but now believes the churches erred in giving unstinted approval to World War II.

He sees, he said, "an immediate need to call an ecumenical council for the specific purpose of clearly declaring that war is totally incompatible with Jesus' teaching and that Christians cannot and will not engage in or pay for it from this point in history on."

A renewed peace witness by Friends, Mennonites and Brethren would bring into sharp focus conflicting traditions in Christianity—the absolute pacifist position and the just war theory.

Most mainline denominations, including Zabalka's Roman Catholicism, follow the just war theory: the idea that some wars can be morally justified and justified by application of a number of criteria first developed by St. Augustine and later modified and refined by theologians throughout church history.

"Many denominations, in voicing their opposition to the U.S. involvement in Vietnam, used just war criteria in coming to their decision that the war was wrong.

Nuclear war, however, according to the peace churches and a growing number of those in mainline denominations, calls into question whether the just war theory any longer has relevance.

Stoner says "It is inordinately wrapped in an aura of piety and Bible-believing religiosity."

"This mind must be turned around to see that love, justice, and the power of the Spirit of God prevent nuclear war," he adds.

How the historic peace churches will confront the mainline churches will become clearer following an October meeting of some 400 members of the three denominations in a "New Call to Peacemaking" conference in Green Lake, Wis.

Guidelines Issued On Gay Ordination

By DAVID R. ANDERSON

UPI Religion Writer

In an unprecedented action, the United Church of Christ has prepared for its local congregations a study guide that anticipates the ordination of homosexuals to the church's ministry.

"It would seem," the guide says, "that a gay or lesbian person would be subject to the same understanding, procedures and criteria for ordination as would any candidate for the ministry."

"However," it adds, "the subject of homosexuality is complex and currently quite controversial."

"There are many different, and often conflicting, viewpoints about homosexuality," it says. "Likewise, there are many different, and often conflicting, viewpoints about the ordination of a gay or lesbian person."

No issue has convulsed U.S. churches life more in recent years than the ordination of homosexuals. Most denominations still insist that homosexuality is a sin and the overwhelming number of religious bodies forbid ordination of avowed, practicing homosexuals to their ministry.

Although a number of pastors and priests have acknowledged their homosexuality in recent years, nearly all of those who have been ordained have done so after a period of intense controversy.

The national denomination has no clear who shall or shall not be ordained but does provide standards that are usually respected by the associations.

Prepared by the denomination's Office for Church Life and Leadership, the study guide was created to aid local church decision-makers in finding their way through the mass of contradictory opinion on the issue.

It notes first that the national church's Manual on the Ministry, which contains ministerial standards, does not take the matter of contradictory opinion on the issue.

The guide says it hopes such a study, taking local ministry committee members through a step-by-step process of looking at the issue, will prepare a committee for a responsible and faithful consideration of the matter of homosexuality.

Perks Bring Us To A Boil

When Jimmy Carter was running for the presidency as an "outsider" four years ago, he often made points by denouncing the federal bureaucracy as a "horrible... mess."

But as the incumbent president campaigning for re-election, Mr. Carter now studiously avoids government inefficiency and extravagance as a campaign issue. Indeed, he recently pushed through a 9.1 percent pay raise for federal workers, effective Oct. 1, which pushes his own voluntary pay increase guidelines for private industry to the outer limits.

Besides continuing its customary rate of bloat during President Carter's watch, the federal bureaucracy is largely unchanged — except for one so-called "reform" that has received all too little attention. This year for the first time, the Carter administration is recognizing what it considers outstanding bureaucrats, not with plaques, but with hard cash — bonuses up to $20,000 each.

These new perks are just the beginning of a major new bonus program that Mr. Carter says is the cornerstone of his effort to overhaul the Civil Service system. Within the first year, as many as 1,400 senior federal executives are expected to be recognized with cash bonuses.

The expansion of bureaucratic bonus recipients from 250 to 1,400 within a 12-month period is about par for the rate of growth of the average federal program. It's not hard to see, therefore, that before very long more civil servants than not will be expecting a $10,000 or $20,000 bonus as a right of employment.

It's wonder Washington, D.C. is substantially ahead of all other U.S. cities in median family income. Clearly, the Carter administration's government-worker policies will ensure that public servants on the federal payroll continue to be better off than their tax-paying employees.

Once again this year, Americans dominated the Nobel awards for physics, chemistry, and physiology or medicine. It has come to be expected. We were not surprised, but we could not suppress a feeling of pride.

There are so many Americans these days who cannot find anything right about our system. We are told public education is declining. The military services are described as second-rate. In all fields, there are those who praise the American triumphs of times past.

And yet, out of eight winners of Nobel prizes this year in scientific fields, six were Americans, one was a Briton and one was a Frenchman.

Moreover, the winner of the prize for literature, a Polish poet, has lived for 20 years in the United States and is a professor at the University of California in Berkeley.

The Nobel prizes are not propaganda prizes. They are truly international in significance. That scientists from our country continue to dominate the awards, year after year, tells us something good, for a change, about America.

If this be jingoism, make the most of it.

WASHINGTON — Earlier I reported on the surprising number of foreign agents, past or present, who have become close aides and advisors of Ronald Reagan. I listed five; here's a sixth aspect.

Washington attorney Eugene Rossides heads the Reagan campaign's nationalities division. He is a Greek, and he is a Republican. Yet he is regarded with suspicion by many members of his own ethnic community. The Greek-Americans, because of his support of the right-wing military junta that ground down the people of Greece from 1967 to 1974.

Rossides once registered as a foreign agent, not for Greece but for France, when he served as a lobbyist for the Concord superpet jet. He also incorporated the American Helioptic Institute (AHI), which has lobbied heavily on matters relating to the embattled island of Cyprus.

But sources formerly affiliated with the institute say the transaction between the two funds was not always enforced, with the result that donations from Greek-American and other foreign sources may well have gone, not to the trade activities, but to the lobbying operation.

Confidential report, sent to the Greek ambassador in Washington by a disenchanted AHI officer in 1976, made the point that the Public Affairs Committee had little funding called off. Sources familiar with the situation suspect that President Ford and his political aides feared that his ties to the institute would result in embarrassment to our government.

A number of prominent Greek-Americans — including former elite leader Elias Demetriopoulos — refused to have anything to do with the institute because of Rossides' perceived political ties to the discredited military junta. He was, incidentally, also a football star at Columbia University and a Nixon administration official at the Treasury Department.

During the Ford administration, the Justice Department and Internal Revenue Service agents launched a tentative inquiry into the institute's activities, but it was mysteriously called off. Who's Running For VP?

NASHVILLE (NEA) — Quick! Who is running for vice president? You can be forgiven for not remembering, because Walter Mondale, George Bush and Patrick Lucey have become the forgotten participants in campaign '80.

The network news and the major newspapers chronicle the daily activities of Jimmy Carter, Ronald Reagan and John Anderson. But it is rare indeed when one of the vice-presidential candidates receives such coverage.

Neither is it for lack of trying on the part of the reporters traveling with the vice-presidential aspirants. Every day they prepare stories of their candidate's doings only to hear more often than not that their editors are not interested.

Typical was the recent half-day visit to Nashville by Republican George Bush. Tennessee is considered vital by both political parties. Despite a recent Democratic poll putting Carter about seven points ahead of Reagan, the state's 19 electoral votes are still a toss-up.

Bush's trip was intended in part to counter the favorable publicity the president had received from local and national coverage. Bush flew into town in the early afternoon after a morning of campaigning in Spartanburg. The airport press conference was almost exclusively for the benefit of the local media.

The national press traveling with the candidates has been given questions and answers a dozen times before. But for the local reporters, it was all new and newsworthy.

Then it was off to Vanderbilt University — and to something of a surprise as Bush was greeted by one of his best crowds of the campaign. He responded to the cheering, chanting students who filled the campus auditorium to overflowing with one of his most enthusiastic recent performances.

From Vanderbilt, Bush sped to his hotel for a series of "one-on-one" interviews with local reporters. He gave each a little nugget of news aimed at producing even more coverage.

After the interviews, Bush and his aides tuned in the evening news. They were pleased to see that such local station gave the visit from five to 10 minutes of favorable coverage. It had been a successful afternoon!

The evening was so successful. First came a packed fund-raiser for Mike Adams, a Republican who is running a close race for Congress against one-term incumbent Bill Boreas. The 400 people who paid $100 each to have cocktails with Bush provided money that will be crucial for the final days of Adams' campaign. And Bush picked up a political IOU from Adams that can be cashed in at some future date.

Deputize Guardian Angels

New York City, among its many problems, has one that smokes in a daily crisis: a severe shortage of police. On the subways, on the street corners, in the parks — when a policeman is needed, you just can't find one.

Naturally, crimes of personal violence are escalating amid a widespread sense that the jungle is closing in.

There now moves to the center of the stage a group known as the Guardian Angels.

This is an organization of young men, black and Hispanic primarily, and apparently public spirited, who are identifiable by their red berets. They carry no weapons, but they know some of the subway and park routes and patrol the parks and other haunts of muggers, rapists and drug pushers.

Since the summer, they have made almost one hundred citizens' arrests. They saved the life of one policeman.

Several women I know tell me that they would much rather ride in a subway car containing a Guardian Angel than one with a regular Transit Policeman.

Obviously, the Guardian Angels raise some serious problems. Mayor Koch and others have denounced them as vigilantes, which they are. But Bronx District Attorney Mario Merola and New York State's Lt. Gov. Mario Cuomo have been among the prominent officials to praise them.

In only one dubious case have the Guardian Angels been charged with any breach of the law. Recently one of them was charged with assaulting two Transit Policemen, but witnesses claim that the two policemen instigated the incident.

Precedents exist for the Guardian Angels. The Sephardic Jews in a Brooklyn community have formed neighborhood patrols to protect their group from harassment. When the blacks rioted in Baltimore in 1968, armed men sealed off the principal Italian neighborhood and completely eliminated damage there.

The Guardian Angels, however, do not confine themselves to a neighborhood; they have made the entire city their domain.

Under any normal circumstances, no responsible official would approve of vigilante activity. The laws should normally be enforced by the constituted authorities. And though the Guardian Angels do not carry weapons, their karate is a form of violence.

But New York City today is not a normal community. Law enforcement is breaking down. The police, seriously undermined, take only the feeblest interest in crimes less serious than murder.

The program, he said, will have interesting sociological effects. "People in urban areas will have a different sociological community to work with. They will have a community near their homes, instead of the office complex."

"In a sense it will be a return to a cottage industry environment — the electronic cottage industry. People in large cities can live in small town environments," he said.

"It could have some interesting political implications but I'm not sure yet what they are."

He said his team also will work on some longer range experiments with other corporations around the next two years.

Niles has an office at USC, but says he does much of his work at home, on a computer. "I can get into an international computer and talk to anybody in the field in the U.S. and

Spooky Prep Season Heads For Halloween

Seven weeks ago, few would have predicted the present state of prep football at Seminole County.

Now his 34 Lions play just to entertain in hopes of making a late season surge to improve to a break even record.

With a current 1-4 record, Jerry Posey will experience his first losing season since taking over the head coaching job at Seminole.

The going won't get any easier against Lake Howell, which is still clinging to an outside mathematical shot at the Five Star Conference County Bowl game.

Greynolds, currently 0-1 and in a new-found rebuilding stage, face the tough task of trying to knock off a first Greynolds victory at DeLand, an awfully tough place for Seminole County.

Through the Lions' first three games Monday didn't get the kind of play he expected from his few remaining vets off of last season's 12-1 record. But those veterans have displayed a new intensity over the last three games and the development of some of the younger players, like quarterback

Sam Weir at Lake Howell has the best shot at carrying the Seminole County prep grid banner into a post-season bowl game.

Illustrated in Seminole High's 1-4 record. Posey and Tribe quarterback Clarence Sippo were ready to tackle what looked to be somewhat of a rebuilding year, one that held promise with a break here or there.

But Sanford hopes for a Five Star pennant were dealt a stiff hand by the remainder of the season and will try to develop the missing offensive punch they're lacking.

Quarterback Dwayne Johnson and running backs Vince Presley and Willie Perry, all sophomores, will have a lot of game time under their collective belts by season's end.

The young, 'hounds' do however face another tough task against DeLand, a team that has tossed away its past track record. Until this season Don Stowers' DeLand Bulldogs could almost be counted on to go 5-5 the first half of the season and 6-1 the second half. But DeLand has shown a penchant for more consistency this year, especially in conference play. And on the right night the Bulldogs defense can be awesome.

All 33 Dave Tullis and his Lake Branley Patriots will be scouting instead of tending to see how Sam Weir's Silver Hawks respond to a loss they had planned on.

The Patriots' lack of lack of execution and fitness weren't in the Hawk game plan in the 17-16 loss to Maitland, but it did click "on" in any given night in the Five Star" reared its head. McKay: 'We Broke Our Jinx In San Francisco'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — "We broke our jinx in San Francisco," beamed Tampa Bay coach John McKay, whose Buccaneers found Larriville Elliott with a 24-20 win over the San Francisco 49ers.

In a day that was like a dream come true for Buc fans, McKay, who called it "the only time this season that we have played a pretty good overall game."

The Buccaneers' victory over the 49ers was the first since they were defeated by the San Francisco 49ers in the previous five weeks.

San Francisco grabbed a 13-7 halftime lead on Freddy Solomon's 53-yard scoring punt return and a pair of Werthingham field goals, while a 43-yard kickoff return by Gary Davis was followed by a 49-yard Tampa drive involving 10 straight running plays. Jerry Eckwood belted it in from the 2.

Tampa Bay had not scored in the third period this season, but broke that jinx 5:27 into the second half of Sunday's contest when Eckwood rolled off the right side of his line on a 35-yard scoring punt, second longest scoring run from scrimmage in Buc's history.

"It was a 36-inch," said Eckwood, top Tampa Bay rusher with 79 yards on 14 carries. "Our offensive line blocked well and made a key block on their linebacker."

San Francisco came back with a 79-yard drive on six plays, climaxed when a scrambling Joe Montana found Larriville Elliott all alone for a 46-yard scoring toss. It was Montana's 12th consecutive completion, setting a new record.

The young effort quarter-back again looked like the San Francisco real-calculator of the future, as he hit 14 of 21 passes for 200 yards.

But he also threw one interception and that came later in the third quarter when Mike Washington intercepted a toss and brought it back to the 18. An interference call on the other safety Ricky Churchman in the end zone set up a Doug Williams two-yard rollout for the touchdown to put Tampa ahead 23-20 after three quarters.

In the fourth period, San Francisco drove 81 yards to the Tampa Bay 1, but decided on fourth down to go for Werthingham's three-field goal in what turned out to be an unshaky decision by coach Bill Walsh.

"We had to go for the points. We would have assumed that we could stop them after that," the coach said afterwards.

With San Francisco up 23-21 and Tampa Bay with a first down on its 20, Buccaneers' Doug Williams, who had not had a good day up to then, engineered the last-minute drive that led to Werthingham's field goal and may have turned the season around for Tampa. Williams hit Ricky Bell in midfield for 17 yards on a 4th and five. It probably the key play of the contest.

"On our last drive we put it together and controlled the ball without making any critical mistakes as we have done in the past," said Williams. "It's been a long time since we've won and it feels great."

Said Walsh, "This was a tough game to lose. It was a good team effort by us — a half dozen plays on each side made the difference." Walsh praised the play of Montana and rookie running back Earl Cooper, who ran for 36 yards and caught eight passes.

A confident Bell said, "This is a big win for us. It'll build up the confidence we need to win the division."

San Francisco grabbed a 13-7 halftime lead on Freddy Solomon's 53-yard scoring punt return and a pair of Werthingham field goals, while a 43-yard kickoff return by Gary Davis was followed by a 49-yard Tampa drive involving 10 straight running plays. Jerry Eckwood belted it in from the 2.

Tampa Bay had not scored in the third period this season, but broke that jinx 5:27 into the second half of Sunday's contest when Eckwood rolled off the right side of his line on a 35-yard scoring punt, second longest scoring run from scrimmage in Buc's history.

"It was a 36-inch," said Eckwood, top Tampa Bay rusher with 79 yards on 14 carries. "Our offensive line blocked well and made a key block on their linebacker."

Spooky Prep Season Heads For Halloween

Seven weeks ago, few would have predicted the present state of prep football at Seminole County.

Now his 34 Lions play just to entertain in hopes of making a late season surge to improve to a break even record.

With a current 1-4 record, Jerry Posey will experience his first losing season since taking over the head coaching job at Seminole.

The going won't get any easier against Lake Howell, which is still clinging to an outside mathematical shot at the Five Star Conference County Bowl game.

Greynolds, currently 0-1 and in a new-found rebuilding stage, face the tough task of trying to knock off a first Greynolds victory at DeLand, an awfully tough place for Seminole County.

Through the Lions' first three games Monday didn't get the kind of play he expected from his few remaining vets off of last season's 12-1 record. But those veterans have displayed a new intensity over the last three games and the development of some of the younger players, like quarterback

Sam Weir at Lake Howell has the best shot at carrying the Seminole County prep grid banner into a post-season bowl game.

Illustrated in Seminole High's 1-4 record. Posey and Tribe quarterback Clarence Sippo were ready to tackle what looked to be somewhat of a rebuilding year, one that held promise with a break here or there.

But Sanford hopes for a Five Star pennant were dealt a stiff hand by the remainder of the season and will try to develop the missing offensive punch they're lacking.

Quarterback Dwayne Johnson and running backs Vince Presley and Willie Perry, all sophomores, will have a lot of game time under their collective belts by season's end.

The young, 'hounds' do however face another tough task against DeLand, a team that has tossed away its past track record. Until this season Don Stowers' DeLand Bulldogs could almost be counted on to go 5-5 the first half of the season and 6-1 the second half. But DeLand has shown a penchant for more consistency this year, especially in conference play. And on the right night the Bulldogs defense can be awesome.

All 33 Dave Tullis and his Lake Branley Patriots will be scouting instead of tending to see how Sam Weir's Silver Hawks respond to a loss they had planned on.

The Patriots' lack of lack of execution and fitness weren't in the Hawk game plan in the 17-16 loss to Maitland, but it did click "on" in any given night in the Five Star" reared its head. Now military junta. He was, incidentally, also a football star at Columbia University and a Nixon administration official at the Treasury Department.

During the Ford administration, the Justice Department and Internal Revenue Service agents launched a tentative inquiry into the institute's activities, but it was mysteriously called off. Sources familiar with the situation suspect that President Ford and his political aides feared that his ties to the institute would result in embarrassment to our government.
