

CANTWELL SEES BEST BASEBALL SEASON IN 1933

Boston Braves Pitcher Wants Chance To Start More Games

JACKSONVILLE, Jan. 6.—Ben Cantwell, who pitched the Jacksonville Braves to a Southeastern League pennant in 1927, is looking forward to his best season in baseball. Cantwell was here yesterday for a brief visit, coming up from his winter home in Sanford.

Cantwell, who now is with the Boston Braves, wants a chance to start more games. He was used almost entirely in relief roles last summer and yet came out with the eighth best earned run record among National League pitchers. He believes he could do even better as a regular starter.

Ben also sees the Braves' as almost certain to finish in the first division this year, providing no accidents crop up. He declares Bill McKechnie is one of the smartest managers on base ball, and gives him credit for being able to get more out of players than most.

"The team is out there hustling every day," Cantwell declares. "The boys give Bill the old college try and attempt to win as much for him as for any other reason."

Cantwell declares he is feeling better than he ever has before. He is a bit heavier than usual, but expects to be down to the usual 163 to 165 mark by time Spring training begins in March.

Last year Cantwell had his best season, from the point of all-around performance, since he was used to the New York Giants in 1927 by Charlie Griner for $25,000. Later Cantwell went to the Boston Braves in the deal which involved Rogers Hornsby.

"In 1932 Cantwell won 13 games and lost 11 under adverse circumstances. He was sent into the game usually when his team had a small lead and was given the choice of protecting that or having a loss chalked up against him. There was little chance to get credit for a victory. He came through in excellent style, saving no less than nine such games. Three more than any other relief hurler in either league cared for."

Only 66 runs were scored against Cantwell in 146 innings. Forty-nine of these were earned for an average of .296 per nine inning game and Ben would have had a much better mark save for one game in Cincinnati.

"I started that day," Cantwell recounts, "and they got 10 runs off of me in five innings. It seemed that everything I threw up there was knocked for extra bases."

That was the only real shaking I took all season, though Philadelphia got six runs off of me in two innings one day and hit me ball out of the infield."

To offset these showings, Cantwell came through with a number of long stretches of scoreless innings. He says the best game he pitched was a 13 inning 4 to 3 defeat he accepted from Chicago. The Cubs got three runs in the second inning and from then on until the thirteenth only two men got to first base. He got revenge for that, however, by later scoring Guy Bush, 2 to 0.

Penney Company Leases Property For Ocala Store

OCALA, Jan. 6.—The J. C. Penney Company, operators of 1,145 stores throughout the nation, has taken a ten-year lease on 15,000 square feet of the three-story Mackay building. It was announced here recently. While the deal has been on the verge of completion for some time, the signed lease and blueprints for re-modeling the building did not arrive here until last Saturday.

The building is owned by the Ocala Manufacturing Company, of which J. J. Taylor is president, who's arrangements for the deal were made through Stephen McCready, president of the Central Florida Realty Company.

The decision of the great national organization to enter the local field is considered a boost for the Ocala business territory, since the company has had investigators here making thorough investigations. Hailing the transaction as "the biggest of its kind since the boom," Mr. McCready said he was "particularly happy" that it went through with the arrival of the new year, since it furthered his belief that real estate activity is "picking up" in Ocala.

Building Permits At Gainesville Are High

GAINESVILLE, JAN. 6.—Talking into account the cost of the demonstration school being erected by the College of Education of the University of Florida, at the Ninth Street site, Gainesville had a building total for the year ended Saturday of approximately $465,000, or not far from half a million dollars.

The month of December added through the co-operation of the city and civic organizations, to be used as a community gathering place to house convention gatherings and for use of tourist organizations. For convention purposes the building will seat 3,000 persons.

MOUNT DORA—Capt. Myron Cronwall took over management of Mount Dora Theater.

ST. PETERSBURG REPORTS HIGH DECEMBER MEAN

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 6.—Last month was warmer and sunnier than the normal December here. Mean temperature last month was 62.2 degrees, compared with an 18-year average mean of 64.4 degrees. It is necessary, however, to go back only one year to find a warmer December. A mean of 74.2 degrees was established by December, 1932, and December 1922 and 1923 each recorded mean temperatures higher than that of last month.

The month that ended Saturday came very near establishing a new record for dryness. Total rainfall for the month was only 0.43 inch, compared with an 18-year December average of 2.66 inches. December 1932 continues to hold the record for dryness with 0.41 inch. Only two days last month had rainfall; Dec. 17 had 0.28 inch, and the last day of the month had 0.15 inch.

Highest temperature last month was 82 degrees, Dec. 24, and the lowest was 45 degrees, the 19th.

The year 1932 averaged a little warmer and slightly drier than normal. Mean annual temperature of 1932 was 73.5 degrees, compared with an 18-year average of 73.8 degrees. Total rainfall last year was 64.19 inches; the 18-year average annual rainfall is 51.37 inches.

ATLANTA ISSUES SCRIP TO MEET CITY PAY ROLLS

Officials Deny Action Means Bankruptcy Insolvency of City

ATLANTA, Ga.—Scrip amount of $400,000 was distributed by the city of Atlanta Dec. 28 to meet November city pay rolls. This scrip money is being accepted by some of the stores, but not by any other.

Stating that Atlanta is not bankrupt or insolvent, Acting Mayor J. Charlie Murphy urged the acceptance of this scrip as a face value. "This scrip is better than money, since it is backed by $75,000,000 in tangible assets of the municipality and 3 per cent interest," Mr. Murphy insisted.

The scrip will be redeemed or before Mr. E. as promised and the interest will be paid. Mr. Murphy stated, Mr. E. G. Gadsden, West city comptroller, estimated that the city treasury will have to pay $630,000 due Atlanta banks and have a balance of $157,000 by the end of the year.

Mr. West pointed out that Atlanta has $312,000 in the treasury now and that receipts will swell the amount so that by the end of the year the treasury expects to have $377,000, of which it owes Atlanta banks only $262,000, leaving a balance of $115,000.

"Atlanta is in good condition," Mr. Murphy emphasized, "and the only reason we have been forced to issue scrip is that taxpayers $3,770 to the eleven months' total of $219,216.50, bringing the year's figures on the permit book to date fall us to $215,536.50."

The total for the 12 months of 1932 was $297,052.50, thus giving the year 1932 a margin in the total of $28,787.00, not counting the demonstration school.

The University demonstration school is costing approximately $250,000 the building alone but the state building does not have to be placed in the city's building records although the three structure now is cause of reaction in within the city limits.

Clara Bow Film Will Be At Milane Sunday

Clara Bow returns to the screen at the Milane Theater Sunday where "Call Her Savage", her initial Fox starring picture opens its long-awaited engagement.

As the heroine of Tiffany Thayer's dramatic story, a role which she herself selected, the famous red-head is said to portray a life nearly paralleling her own hectic career. It is the fight waged by a misunderstood girl to curb the conflict of desires that rage inside of her extraordinary intense heart.

In both screen adaptation by Edwin Burke, and the star's interpretation of the title role, "Call Her Savage", has been hailed as the most courageous portrait of a woman's soul yet screened.

As the half-breed sweetheart to whom she turns when society has failed her, Gilbert Roland heads the supporting cast. Others featured include Thelma Todd, as her honey-haired rival; Monna Owsley, her weak-willed husband; William Robertson, her stern parent; Estelle Taylor, her indiscreet mother; Anthony Jovitt, as a wealthy suitor; Weldon Heyburn as her mother's lover, and many others.

Details have not been completed. The club discussed the plan Wednesday but referred it back to the general activities committee for further consideration and a report.

Work Will Seek To Be Of Benefit To Florida Agriculturalists

TAMPA, Jan. 7.—For the purpose of making available research into the best methods of fertilization and of supplying Florida growers with accurate information in simple and dependable form, the Florida Agricultural Experiment Station has been reorganized and is now organizing its activities for the year.

Officers named for 1933 at the inauguration meeting Dec. 27, were C. T. Melvin, of Tampa, president; Bayless Haynes, of Jacksonville, vice president; W. L. Johnson, of DeFoe, secretary; and John Banks, of Jacksonville, treasurer. Corporation offices will be in Tampa with operating headquarters at Winter Haven, where Mr. Holland will direct tests and prepare practical information for Florida growers regarding forms of plant foods, their application to crops, cultural practices, and other details of good husbandry.

The companies which have organized and will support this research work are said to represent more than seventy-five percent of the fertilizer business of the state. In announcing plans, President Melvin said it is hoped that all eligible fertilizer manufacturers will become members and participate in the work.

Organizations already affiliated are West Coast Fertilizer Company, Florida American Fertilizer Company, Florida Fertilizer Company, Jacksonville International Agricultural Corporation, Milberry, Armour Fertilizer Works, Jacksonville; Virginia-Carolina Chemical Company, Jacksonville; Nitrate Agencies Company, Jacksonville; Trueman Fertilizer Company, Jacksonville; Swift and Company Fertilizer Works, Atlanta; Lyons Fertilizer Company, Tampa; Gulf Fertilizer Company, Tampa.

The institute will co-operate with the National Fertilizer Association and with state and federal agencies. Mr. Melvin explained yesterday. "It is considered by the sponsors of the institute that this is the most forward effort yet undertaken," he advised. "During the last few years many new materials have come upon the market. Various theories for fertilization and cultivation have likewise been presented to the public. The result has been a considerable confusion."

"The purpose of the institute is to place in the hands of the grower by publication and by public meetings, dependable advice and information of a scientific nature but in a practical manner. Only well tried recommendations will be presented, and the individual ideas of no one person will dominate."

"As quickly as a definite program has been worked out, this information will be given to the press. While Mr. Holland, who is at the present time busily engaged in preparing the exhibits for the Florida county fairs, will not come to us until Feb. 1, organization work will proceed so that it is possible the organization will be in complete running order when he does come."

The sympathetic purpose of the institute is to co-operate fully with all agencies of a similar nature. A determined effort will be made to avoid friction or controversy. The institute is particularly desirous of co-operating fully with state and federal agencies. Its activities will not be directed against any other source of agricultural information.

The members constituting the institute are contributing their money and energy to this work for the benefit of the whole industry and some of its members desire any prominence in connection with this work. We hope to make this institute a thing of real value to agriculturalists in Florida.

Travelers Around America

DECATUR, Ga., Jan. 7.—(AP) Mr. Hubbard would like to see the fair, especially the exhibits in the South. He is in Decatur, who pointed out that the city has paid in full all accounts due, and that taxes had been reduced 15 per cent.

"An 'school teachers' strike' policemen, military workers and officials of every kind have received their pay in full for the year 1932, and there are no outstanding bills of any kind," Mr. Candler stated.

"The only indebtedness against the city," he continued, "is bonded debt, on which all payments have been made to date and the sinking fund has been provided for as required."

"During 1931 and 1932 the tax assessments were reduced uniformly 15 per cent and in case of inequalities the reductions were, in some cases, as high as 33 per cent. Salaries of school teachers were not reduced in 1932, but the salaries of all other city employees were reduced 15 per cent."

"In connection with the DeKalb Chapter of the American Red Cross the city is carrying on relief work, distributing coal to those who are destitute or in need. This coal costs the city $4.77 a ton, delivered to the consumer. During the winter the city tries to furnish limited work to the unemployed and at the close of each day the laborers are paid off, half in cash and half in food supplies."

The police department has re-organized a safety committee in conjunction with the American Legion, enforcing all traffic regulations of the city and state.

Many Less Hunting Licenses Issued In 1931 Than In 1930

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—(AP) Agriculture Department figures show approximately half a million fewer hunting licenses were issued in 1931 than in 1930. This was a record decline.

Market Street in La Paz

Orange-colored shavings from the printer of a paper, "La Paz Times," were scattered on Market Street in La Paz, Ariz., on the 6th day of the year. The shavings were scattered in wide areas of the street and on the sidewalks. The shavings were scattered in wide areas of the street and on the sidewalks.

MIAMI, Fla.—The Grotto, as it is called, is such a secluded spot in Bay Front Park that sightseers and promenaders often overlook the loveliest section of this noted stretch along the Miami water front, which only a few years ago was entirely under the blue waters of Biscayne Bay.

When engineers pulled several hundred acres of land up from the bottom of Biscayne Bay to make a much-needed boulevard and recreation center, they left, as a result of their great suction pumps, a hopeless-looking stretch of barren white sand. Landscape gardeners and park designers were called from many parts of the country to transform this barren waste into a beauty spot.

Full grown trees and palms of many varieties, shrubs and brilliantly flowering plants, transplanted and aided by the tropical climate and gentle rains went on growing as if this had always been their home. Vast expanses of velvety lawns rested the eyes of the traveler as one sauntered along the miles of paths bordered with gay blossoms.

Like a hammock in the Everglades in the Grotto, fenced in and entered only through high rustic gates, this secluded corner is like a fairy tower. The imagination of the artist who planned this surprising spot must have had fairy tales in mind, for the place has a fairy unreal atmosphere.

Hills and dales have been artificially made pools with bright fish, water trickling down the jagged rocks among all kinds of strange tropical growths and ferns and palms with winding paths of coral rock leading from one delight to another. Deep shade, so dense that even the rays of the bright Florida sun can not penetrate, give cool refreshment.

If the hurried passer-by fails to investigate the stirring spot, the children have been wiser. They are well acquainted with its every delight. They come with nurses or with mother and very properly admire the flowers and goldfish. But more of them just romp in and have a grand time just as if the garden were their very own.
