Rescue Workers Probe Snow For Avalanche Dead

GARMISCH - PARTEN-KIRCHEN, Germany (UPI) — "It was a horror... it happened like a flash. Just boom, whoosh, white stuff splattering the window... then I grabbed the phone."

Rick Baldwin, 22, of Dalton, Pa., a member of the U.S. Army alpine ski patrol, today described the terror of Saturday's avalanche which roared down the slopes of Mt. Zugspitze, Germany's highest peak.

At least 25 persons, all Germans or Bavarians, were known dead in the slide, worst ever to hit the German Alps. Others possibly were believed buried under tons of snow and ice which covered this ski resort at the base of the mountain.

More than 500 rescue workers, including U. S. Army troops, today were probing through tons of snow and rock.

Demolition experts were trying to blast away gigantic snow ridges threatening the area with new slides.

Kill Right-To-Work Laws, Johnson Urges

Road Plan At Half-Way Mark

Labor Policy Conflicts Cut Seen By LBJ

Changes Seen To Delay Fast Final Approval

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — A House committee sent the governor's $300 million road bond program to the calendar today after removing a controversial Senate amendment that added a $6 million west Florida four-laning project without upping the amount of bonds to finance it.

The House committee removed the so-called Tapper amendment, but tacked on three changes of its own. The swift action is bound to slow down the passage of the ambitious road bill through the Legislature since both houses must adopt the identical bill in order to send it to the people for a vote this fall.

One of the changes added by the House constitutional amendments committee would limit interest rate on the bonds to finance the 1,200-mile four-laning program to a flat 4.5 per cent instead of the "average" 4.5 per cent allowed in the Senate-passed version.

Rep. Emerson Allsworth of Broward said he'll try to get the measure on the special order calendar for action by the full House this week, if possible.

There was little discussion and no attempt to defend the amendment pushed by Sen. George Tapper, of Port St. Joe, that added four-laning of U. S. Highway 98 from Medart to Apalachicola, a project the Governor said could not be justified by traffic need.

A motion to lay the amendment on the table—a House way of killing proposals—was adopted by a close margin.

There were reports that all of this was planned, part of a deal to let Tapper get his pet project into the Senate with the understanding it would be removed in the House. But Tapper denied any deal.

Drought Brings Burning Plea From Forester

County Ranger Albert Harris, of the Florida Forest Service, urged today that all Seminole County residents refrain from any burning until the prevailing drought condition is alleviated.

No measurable rain has been recorded at the Forest Service headquarters in Longwood so far during the month of May and with the low humidity a single spark can start a raging, destructive forest fire, which under present circumstances would be extremely difficult to control, according to Harris.

All Forest Service personnel in the county are working seven days a week around-the-clock with no time off.

Part of the personnel were called to the aid of Volusia County fire fighters Sunday when 400 acres burned east of the St. Johns River.

He thanked all citizens for their cooperation thus far and asked that they continue to exercise extreme caution.

South To Seek School Order Modification

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Southern governors and congressmen agreed today they cannot block an order to desegregate schools receiving federal aid and decided instead to seek modification of the order.

They said the alternative would be serious damage to the southern school system.

The governors of eight southern states, including Gov. Haydon Burns of Florida, met with most of their House and Senate members behind closed doors for two hours in the caucus room of the Cannon House Office Building.

State Biologist Avers St. Johns Fish Kill Increasing

By Paul Brookshire
"A bad situation that gets worse yearly" is the way Harold Moody, State Game and Fish Commission biologist, today described a fish kill in the St. Johns River in the Lake Monroe-Lake Jessup area.

"This year the fish kill is more widespread than ever," Moody continued. "Low water and a concentration of nutrients have caused a more serious situation than in the past."

Moody said that the kill in the two-lake area amounted to thousands and thousands of fish.

(Local fish camp operators do not agree with Moody that the situation is as bad as he says. The local operators contacted agree there is a situation of fish dying but they agree it is "not as bad as last year.")

(One operator said, "We are at the critical stage now, and if we continue to have this dry weather we may have trouble like last year in another 10 days or so. But as long as the northeast winds keep blowing they make the river back up and put more water in the lake.")

State Acts To Aid Casselberry

By Jane Casselberry
A three-man survey team of engineers, led by state engineer, today set out to survey a sinkhole on Northmoor Road in Casselberry.

The group flew in from Tallahassee in response to an appeal directly to the Governor by Sen. Mack Cleveland and Rep. S. J. Davis Jr. asking for assistance to the stricken area.

Bishop emphasized that it is a rare situation when a home is destroyed by a sink hole, with only 10 such cases having been recorded in the state.

"People are still catching fish and will continue to do so," Moody said. However, he said the condition was not "natural" and most of the fish being killed by the water enrichment were not shad.

It is estimated that over one-half million pounds of fish have died in the St. Johns during the past three weeks in the area of Lake Monroe and Lake Jessup.

Vote Machine Study Ordered By Seminole

Seminole County Board of Commissioners has asked for more information on a "votamatic" machine before proceeding with plans to purchase an additional 20 conventional-type voting machines.

The board today instructed County Clerk Arthur Beckwith Jr. to investigate usage of the "votamatic" and report back to the board.

A bill is expected to pass the Florida Legislature to permit counties to use computer-type "votamatic" machines to cut down on long waiting lines at the polls.

The Seminole board is considering a contract with the Shoup Voting Machine Company to buy additional machines at an estimated cost of $38,000. Contract with the Shoup company must be signed by July 1 if the county is to take advantage of a reduction in price.

Commissioner John Fitzpatrick suggested that the county should investigate the use of the compact and less expensive "votamatic" before ordering the Shoup machines.

Commissioner Lee Gary also said the county should check into the possibility of buying used machines.

In other action the commissioners pledged to lend whatever assistance they could to Casselberry in the collapse of homes into a sinkhole.

The board said it had not been requested as yet to aid the city in any way.

County Engineer William Bush gave the board a report on the Casselberry case. He said state geologists believe the major collapse is complete but some adjustment in the land affected still may come.

He said the State Road Department has been ordered to help.

Appeals Court Measure Killed

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The Senate today killed a bill to create a fourth district court of appeals to cover an area of the state from Daytona Beach to Fort Lauderdale.

The measure failed by a vote of 27-14. It needed 33 of firmative votes to pass because it required a constitutional amendment and then an emergency election to put it before the people this year.

The measure had passed the House without controversy more than a week ago, but got snatched in a Senate fight over what city would be designated as the headquarters for the new courts.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson asked Congress today to wipe out "right-to-work" laws in 10 states, including Florida, "with the hope of reducing conflicts in our national labor policy."

In a special message on labor to the House and Senate, Johnson also advocated extension of federal minimum wage law coverage to an additional 4 1/2 million workers.

The President also: — Proposed legislation to require payment of double-time for "certain overtime work" to encourage hiring of more workers.

— Endorsed a bill to provide wider coverage of jobless benefits, with longer duration and increased amounts.

— Indicated that the tax on employers and the amount of wages subject to tax in the unemployment insurance system both would be increased.

The President did not take a position at this time on whether the $1.25 an hour minimum wage should be raised.

"The question is not whether the minimum wage should be increased but when and by how much," Johnson said.

"The Congress should consider carefully the effects of higher minimum wage rates on the incomes of those employed, and also on costs and prices and on job opportunities — particularly for the flood of teenagers now entering our labor force."

However, he rejected labor-backed proposals to reduce working hours through legislation.

The Chief Executive said the time had not yet arrived for changing the 40-hour law.

In recommending repeal of section 4B of the Taft-Hartley Act—the so-called right-to-work law—Johnson carried out a promise he gave to organized labor.

This provision allows states to pass laws banning the union shop whereby workers are required to pay union dues to keep their jobs.

State with right-to-work laws are Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Iowa, Kansas, Mississippi, Nebraska, Nevada, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Dakota, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Virginia and Wyoming.

Johnson told Congress: "With the hope of reducing conflicts in our national labor policy that for several years have divided Americans in various states, I recommend the repeal of section 14B of the Taft-Hartley Act with such other technical changes as are made necessary by this action."

The Seminole County Chamber of Commerce today issued its periodic warning to beware of fast-talking gyp artists.
Other new officers include Mrs. Mildred McMillan, vice president; Mrs. Florence Woodruff, secretary, and Mrs. Ardis Skibenes, treasurer.

- The Chamber listed 10 safeguards from being swindled:
1. On home improvements get at least three estimates from reliable and established firms.

 3. Check the Better Business Bureau, the better business division of the Chamber of Commerce and government agencies to see if the salesman or contractor is legitimate.
 4. Don't sign completion slips until projects are completed.
 5. On a big job, have all suppliers and subcontractors sign releases of lien.
 6. Be extremely cautious of any proposition made over the telephone if contests, surveys and free gifts are mentioned.
 7. Be leary of suggestions of "referrals," "show homes" and "free work for advertising purposes."
 8. Remember, guarantees are only as good as the company behind them.
 9. Ask to see previous work of home improvements, roofing and carpeting salesmen.
 10. Use common sense. Protect yourself. Don't sign a contract unless you are familiar with the firm.

Syphilis Rate Among Babies Increases 180%

The congenital syphilis rate among babies is on the increase, according to Dr. Frank Leone, Seminole County medical director.
Recent research shows that adults are passing it along to infants at an alarming rate, Dr. Leone said.
He said syphilis among the newborn and up to the one-year-old age group jumped 180 per cent.

Dr. Leone and Joe Garcia, epidemiologist for Seminole County urge the following to protect babies and mothers:
"All pregnant women should be blood tested for this disease early, midway and late in pregnancy so that prompt treatment can be administered."
There were 215 cases of congenital syphilis in Florida last year, 31 in the Central Florida area. Two cases were reported in Sanford.

Water Ski Show Florida Fair Hit

The Florida Citrus Water Ski Show has become the hit of the 1965 New York World's Fair.
Attendance for the first week of the show, performed four times each afternoon in the Florida Pavilion Amphitheater, was close to 10,000.
The Ski Show, however, is only part of the transformation of the Florida Pavilion, which this year introduced an all-free concept under the direction of Gov. Haydon Burns.
The Porpoise Show through May 14, drew 148,116 people as compared to 16,817 for a similar period last year.
The Pavilion over all is estimated as having drawn 40 per cent of the total Fair attendance to date. This figure is expected to increase as the Ski Show receives further exposure.

Hinson Named Best Athlete; Farless Taged Top Gridder

Ronnie Hinson and Joe Farless captured the most coveted awards in athletics at the ninth annual all sports banquet at Seminole High School Monday night.

Boosters, parents and players also used the occasion to say goodbye to Coach Jim Pigott, who resigned recently after a highly successful reign at the football helm for eight years.

Hinson, a three-sport athlete, took two top awards at the all-sports affair. He was awarded the Whitey McClucas Memorial Trophy for the "Best All-Around Athlete" and he also took the "Most Valuable Player" award in baseball.

Dr. A. W. Epps Jr., presented the McClucas trophy and Clifford McKibbin Jr., gave the MVP award.

Farless, hailed as "one of the greatest linemen the school ever had," was presented the "Most Valuable Player" trophy in football. It was the 37th annual Peter Schaal Award given by Mr. Schaal.

Pigott and his wife were presented a silver tray by outgoing Booster Club President Roger Harris in "appreciation for eight years of outstanding achievement as coach."

Other football awards: Sanford Herald-Buddy Lawson Memorial Trophy to the highest scorer presented to Lee Sparkman by Paul Brookshire, associate editor of the Sanford Herald.

Sportsmanship trophy to Buddy Burton by Garrett's Department Store presented by Pigott.

Lions Club Blocking Award presented to David Noel by Howard Hood.

Most Improved Player award to Brad Purden by the Kaders, presented by John Kader.

Most promising "B" squad player to Harvey Johnson, presented by Coach Ralph Stumpf for Jim Robson Men's Wear.

Terry Cordell Memorial Trophy presented to Jeff Williams by Miss Barbara Flynt on behalf of the Class of '68.

Rolf Vihlen won the "most valuable boy" award in golf. The trophy was presented by Dr. John Johnson of the Men's Golf Association.

Andy Lyon and Cindy Wilson captured the most valuable boy and girl awards, respectively, in swimming. H. L. Perkins Jr., of Perkins Men's Store presented the boy's trophy and Fred Ganas, on behalf of Sanford Dry Cleaners, gave the girl's award.

Rick Walstrom took the "most valuable" trophy in track presented by Roger Harris on behalf of Aiken Advertising Agency.

In addition to Hinson's award, the sportsmanship award in baseball was presented to Ray Pines by Colony City Printing Co., Inc., by Bill MacLaughlin.

Doug Sanders, who received $1,058 for his 20th-place finish at New Orleans, dropped from the No. 1 position to second place with official earnings of $7,108.11 and a $47,115.76 total.

In the 1960 U.S. Census, with 50 states in the Union, more than 523,000 persons were counted as Indians, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Nebraska will be represented by Wayne State and the University of Omaha.

FLOYD LAY

Groover took the "most valuable" trophy presented by Jack Morrison.

Four boys who lettered for four years were given special award by Harris. They were Jeff Williams, David Noel, Gary Ganas and Ray Bradford.

Nicklaus Heads Money Winners

PALM BEACH GARDENS (UPI) — Hefly Jack Nicklaus who picked up $4,500 for his third-place tie in last weekend's New Orleans Open returned to his usual top spot on the Professional Golf Association's official money-winning list Monday.

The power-packed Obion upped his winnings for the year to $38,000, which doesn't include $10,788.49 Nicklaus has pocketed in unsanctioned tournaments.

Team Champ

Maples Hurls Second Straight No-Hitter

Several winning and losing streaks were either extended or broken yesterday. The most notable was the victory by Quality Mobile Homes, snapping a 34-game losing string carried over from 1964. Chase, of the City League, lost its 10th in a row. Kiwanis made it five losses in succession while Elks won its fifth straight. Shrine won its fourth game in a row and Georges lost its third consecutive game.

In the Junior League, Elks got on the inside track toward the first half championship by shutting out Civitan 1-0 behind the no-hit pitching of Gary Maples. Maples went the seven-inning route striking out 13 and issuing two walks, one in the fifth and another in the seventh inning. It was Maples' second straight no-hitter. The no-hitter also extended Maples' record-breaking hitless inning string to 19. He has allowed only two hits in 20 innings this season and has struck out 41 while walking only four.

Elks could manage only three hits off the effective pitching of Civitan's Tommy Hickson. Hickson gave up only one run, that in the second inning, struck out five and did not walk a man. The three hits came off the bats of Billy Miller, Cecil Simpson and David Soper.

Navy sank Georges last night 11-3. Scott Harris allowed only one hit, that a two-out, fifth inning single by Tommy Whigham. Harris had three hits, including the game's only home run. Frank Dunn and David Bach chipped in three hits to lead the Navy offense. Navy broke the game wide open by scoring five runs in the fourth inning and adding four in the fifth. The win left the Acey-Deucys a half game out of first place.

Kingswood scored 12 runs in the first inning and went on to defeat Chase 15-2. Butch Cook and Ronnie Higgins hit homers for the winners. Frank Stafford was top hitter, however, with four hits for a perfect night at the plate. Bud Moncrief was the winning pitcher. Anderson homered for Chase. Kingswood has only one game remaining and that will be with last place USO, May 20. Leroy Robb, still with a chance for a tie, will play Chick N' Treat tonight and Panning Lumber on the 20th to wind up first half play.

Chisox Look Like Yankees Of Old Days

By Edward A. Granato
UPI Sports Writer

The White Sox, hitting like the Yankees of old, are perched atop the American League by three and one-half games.

And the Bronx Bombers, hitting like the Chisox of old, are in eighth place, 10 games back.

For years the White Sox had the great pitching and the type of running ball club that would scratch up two or three runs a game. The Yankees, of course, had the great sluggers.

Times have changed. The Yankees have more sluggers on the injured list than they do in the lineup. And all of a sudden, the White Sox have been scoring runs in bunches to support their excellent pitching.

Monday night Chicago pasted the hapless Kansas City A's 13-2 while the New Yorkers and Whitey Ford were belted around 9-3 by the Baltimore Orioles. In the only other American League game the Angels outlasted Minnesota Twins 5-4 in 10 innings.

Only two games were played in the National League. The Philadelphia Phillies edged the St. Louis Cardinals 2-1 and the Los Angeles Dodgers outlasted the Houston Astros 5-3 in 11 innings.

Ford was touched for the first six Baltimore runs in losing his fourth consecutive game. His record now is 2-5. Bob Johnson led the Baltimore attack with four hits, scoring two runs and driving in two.

Chicago jumped on starter and loser Nolan Sheldon for three runs in the first, two of them on Floyd Robinson's third home run of the year.

Cassius Clay Now Feels 'Sorry For Sonny'

CHICOPEE, Mass. (UPI) — Cassius Clay is no longer content with the thought of beating Sonny Liston in their May 25 heavyweight title bout. Now he's "sorry for Sonny" and plans to convert him to Islamism after licking him again.

Clay, winding up his preparation for their 15 round title bout at Lewiston, Maine, on May 25, said, "I'd like to take him to one of my meetings and talk to him about religion. I feel sorry for him and I'll feel sorrier for him after I whup 'em," Clay said.

"We've got a temple in Denver. I'll have a couple of hundred brothers visit him afterwards and then we'll convert him."

Clay, whose Muslim middle name is Muhammad Ali, said he had no plans for the conversion of Floyd Patterson whom he expects to meet after he beats Liston in Maine.

"Patterson, I'm going to send 50 of my friends, all in black suits, and line them up against the wall. They'll just stand there, staring at him. I'll buy the first three rows at ringside and let them sit there staring at him. Boy, that'll freeze him. We'll scare him to death," the cocky young

Charlie Dressen Back At Work

DETROIT (UPI) — Charlie Dressen may not be as old as Maurice Chevalier, but he has as much stage presence.

The 66-year-old manager of the Detroit Tigers returned Monday to the Motor City for the first time since suffering a heart attack March 7 during spring training. He explained he's ready to take over as field general, but will spend the first week watching the Tigers from a seat in the stands.

"I'll take over next week," he continued. "My delay has nothing to do with my heart condition. I just want to take some time to get acquainted with how the guys are playing. After all, I haven't watched them play many games."

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (UPI)—Al Arbour of the Rochester Americans, one of a handful of hockey players who wears glasses while playing, today was named the American Hockey League's outstanding defenseman for the 1964-65 season.

The 185-pound former National Leaguer from Sudbury, Ont., received 58 out of a possible 45 points in the balloting of the league's press, radio and television representatives. The other eight points went to Larry Hillman, Arbour's teammate.

Good Samaritan Needs Help

You may not be able to legislate morality, as the well-worn saying advises, but it should be possible to eliminate some of the trouble people sometimes find themselves in because they acted morally.

That appears to be the consensus of a group of 11 lawyers, philosophers, sociologists and others who met in a Good Samaritan Symposium at the University of Chicago.

In recent years, a number of cases in which human beings in mortal danger were ignored by onlookers have aroused the public conscience. At the other extreme, acts of Good Samaritanism have resulted in physical injury, financial loss or lawsuits for those who performed them.

While some countries—France, Germany and the Soviet Union, for example—have "bad Samaritan" laws making it a crime to fail to aid persons in distress when this is possible, the symposium questioned their workability.

No law can ordain courage, heroism or self-sacrifice. The law could, however, provide compensation for Good Samaritans or exempt them from legal action by those they attempt to help. (In some states, doctors rendering emergency treatment are protected.)

As law professor Charles O. Gregory of the University of Virginia put it:

"I suppose there is much to be said for the old Anglo-American attitude of minding your own business—except as that the world changes, the other people's business in more and more ways becomes yours."

VLF---Latest Space Prober

VHL and UHF—standing for very high and ultra-high frequency—are terms familiar to most users of radio and television sets.

Scientists know another range of electrical energy—VLF, or very low frequency—which is far below the normal broadcast band. Up to now, its only practical application has been to contact submarines, because VLF signals penetrate water to a limited extent.

Now the United States is building a 21-mile-long antenna near Byrd Station in the Antarctic, about 750 miles from the South Pole. If theories prove out, signals broadcast there will travel along earth's magnetic field and be picked up by another station near Hudson's Bay.

Because the magnetic field loops far out into space, it is possible that continuous communications with satellites or space probes can be maintained with VLF, even when they are not in direct line of transmission.

If so, man's venture into the new frontier of space will get a boost from research taking place on his home planet's last remaining land frontier.

Thought For Today

Deck yourself with majesty and dignity; clothe yourself with glory and splendor.—Job 40:10.

There is a healthful hardness about dignity that never dreads contact and communion with others, however humble.—Washington Irving.

Dr. Crane's Worry Clinic

Lorna's confession is a classic so be sure you scrubbook this case. And send for the booklet below that outlines in more detail such sex differences between men and women. Lorna is a slave to a sexual inferiority complex, plus the '29 panic which often terrifies such wives.

CASE V-492: Lorna R., age 29, is the drunken wife who spends much of her time in taverns while her husband is away from home.

"Dr. Crane," she moaned, "I grow so lonely that I simply go to a tavern for companionship."

Do you readers believe that standard excuse?

"Lorna," I replied, "if you are lonely, then why don't you go to the corner sandwich shop and enjoy a cup of coffee among a congenial crowd?"

But Lorna hemmed and hawed, for actually it wasn't just loneliness that motivated her.

Any physician can diagnose Lorna's case almost before she finishes her opening sentence.

But it often requires an hour of tactful cross-examination before such a patient will face up to reality and blurt out her inner feelings.

Here is the final confession of Lorna, so read it with care:

"Dr. Crane," she admitted, "I am scared about being unattractive to men."

"And I have no children, although we have been married six years, so I wonder if I am all there as a woman."

"That's why I head for a tavern, for when you have had a few cocktails with a man, he grows confidential and may try to make love to you."

"This isn't true in the ordinary restaurant where you are drinking coffee and having a hamburger."

"Meanwhile, I have had a few drinks, too, so I am not responsible for what happens."

"For when a person is drunk, she can't be blamed for her actions, can she?"

"So when my tavern companion takes me to his hotel room, I admit I have often been unfaithful to my husband."

"But I didn't intend to do so and if I weren't intoxicated, I wouldn't go to a hotel with another man."

"Dr. Crane, I wish I could break myself of this liquor habit."

"My husband sent me to a hospital for a cure, but I wasn't how two weeks before I drifted back to the tavern."

Lorna is thus a slave to a secret sexual urge and it is not likely that any medical cure will occur till the basic cause is eliminated.

"Do you love your casual paramour?" I asked her.

"No, I don't!" Lorna protested in actual tears.

"In fact, when I am sober, I feel nauseated at the very sight of some of those men."

"But when I am full of liquor, I seem to be putty in their hands."

Well, husbands, look at that last statement again, for women are not basically passionate creatures, despite such erotic episodes.

Lorna is quite correct, too, in saying she doesn't love the men with whom she indulges in drunken affairs.

But Lorna is a slave to the fear that she is below par as an attractive female.

So she enters into drunken revels as a sop to her vanity and not because of any localized pruritic urge. This is a basic sex difference.

Send for my booklet "Sex Differences Between Men and Women," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you need for me of his booklet.)

Dick West's The Lighter Side

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Members of Congress frequently get a germ of an idea that for one reason or another fails to germinate.

Such, I fear, is the case with Rep. Craig Hoemer's call for a review of the airline baggage weight limitation.

The California Republican may be right when he describes the present 40-pound "free allowance" on baggage as an "anachronism."

As he points out in a letter to the Civil Aeronautics Board, airlines can lift a lot more tonnage now than they could when that limit was first imposed.

He also may be right in deploring the fact that many passengers, "resenting the extra charge" on excess baggage, carry heavy parcels in the cabin with them to avoid paying the penalty.

He describes that practice as potentially dangerous.

Certainly he is right when he observes that even when the penalty equals the price of a passenger ticket the baggage "receives no free drinks, no free meals, no attention from the stewardess and is unable to enjoy the movie."

Some doubt arises, however, as to whether raising the weight limit to what Hoemer terms "a reasonable amount" is the best approach to the matter.

I note that the congressman does not indicate in the letter what he would regard as "reasonable." Therein lies the rub.

A passenger who ordinarily travels with 99 pounds of luggage undoubtedly would consider 100 pounds as a reasonable limit. But what about a passenger who travels with a grand piano or a stuffed elephant?

Clearly, it would be next to impossible to strike a consensus on what is reasonable. Hoemer's plan, therefore, appears self-defeating.

Nevertheless, some sort of change does seem in order. Several alternatives come to mind.

The airlines could, for example, serve enough extra drinks to compensate for the baggage penalty. But I doubt that would be very practical either.

A better approach, I believe, would be to abolish the baggage limit entirely and start charging passengers by the pound.

At present, a trim 155-pound passenger has to pay the same price for a ticket as a beefy 235-pounder. Being a trim 155-pounder myself, I resent that more than I do the excess baggage charge.

In addition to eliminating this unfair situation, weighing the passengers instead of the baggage would encourage people to lose weight, thus blending in nicely with the physical fitness program.

And, since flight costs would increase for women during pregnancy, it could even help curtail the population explosion.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A vague outline is taking shape of the treaty Ho Chi Minh hopes to get in South Viet Nam.

From hints Hanoi officials and some prisoners let drop, it seems Ho will seek: —Some key posts for Reds in the Saigon government. Recent resignations of South Vietnamese from Ho's government may be designed to have these men available as nominees for Saigon posts. North Vietnamese now hold offices in Laos after having taken Lao names and Lao birth certificates made in Hanoi.

—Local (Red) self-government for some South Viet Nam areas. (These would become bases the Viet Cong could use to prepare for future breakouts.)

—Incorporation of some VC troops in the South Viet Nam army. They would patrol the Red-dominated communities.

—Evacuation of "all" foreign troops from South Viet Nam.

If agreed to, that would mean only U. S. troops would leave. The North Vietnamese don't admit they are in the south. North Vietnamese troops are still in Laos, years after the treaty that required them to leave.

Ho's Southern Expeditionary Force of North Vietnamese troops would get revised birth certificates and remain as "native" southerners. A few might return north in a token show of co-operation and then sneak back along the Ho Chi Minh trail.

—Elections on unification of North and South Viet Nam.

Ho's terrorists could enforce 100 per cent "ayas" in the north and in VC-controlled South Viet Nam areas. His underground could frighten a sizable number of anti-unification people from the polls in Saigon-controlled territory.

If precedent is any guide, Ho would insist either on no inspection or a three-country inspection team to enforce the treaty—with one Communist member and one weak or pro-Red neutral. The Communist on the team could be counted on to veto or slow down action by the team and make it impossible to bar a heavy flow of weapons from Hanoi to the VC.

Experience in Laos, and in South Viet Nam after the treaty which divided the country, shows that protests against such inspection teams and even protests by inspection team members are wasteful effort.

Under such a treaty, Hanoi and the VC could carry on as in the past, but with greater freedom. Red infiltration of South Vietnamese hamlets would be facilitated. The flow of Red materials, VC terrorism and VC political expansion would continue. So would radio orders from Hanoi.

Supposing these Red ideas are rejected.

By treaty, how does one stop Hanoi from sending instructions to its South Viet Nam underground?

How does one get rid of guerrilla fighters with forged identity cards?

How does one eradicate the assassination - enforced Red shadow rule in a hamlet?

How does one keep arms from coming south by sea and down the Ho Chi Minh trails?

Editor, Herald:

Recently my house caught fire and the Longwood Fire Department promptly answered my call for help.

They were very quick in coming, especially considering the fact that it was quite late on Saturday night and they are 100 per cent volunteer. When they arrived they went to work with well-trained precision and even after the fire was out, they swept out the water.

I feel that not enough can be said in praise of these brave volunteers who give their time, energy and sometimes their lives to aid people in times of such great distress. I did not realize nor ever think I would need their services, but now that I have, I cannot thank them enough nor praise them too highly.

I would like to take this opportunity to also thank the many other people that helped and offered to help that night.

From now on you can be sure that I will be a staunch supporter of all volunteer fire departments and the Longwood Fire Department in particular.

"I DO want my children to have things I didn't have as a boy... and a bankrupt father isn't one of them!"

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I wish people would quit feeling sorry for a woman just because she's not married. I am 36, unmarried and intend to stay this way. I have been married (twice) so it isn't like I don't know what I'm missing.

I earn my own living, pay my own bills and don't have to nag a man to give me a dollar every time I need one. I come and go as I please and don't have to worry about a two-timing lying husband who thinks he's doing me a favor by living with me. Don't think I'm lonesome because I'm far from it. I have four steady boy friends and I see them as much as I want to. And, believe me, I like it better this way.

so loud I thought someone was killing her. I later learned it was the usual mealtime battle. Penny is four years old and the way her mother explained it, she's always been a very poor eater. The mother said she took the child to the doctor and he said there was nothing wrong with her—they should put the food in front of her and if she didn't eat it, take it away. And when Penny got hungry enough, she'd eat. The mother said she tried it once but it didn't work, and she couldn't stand to see the child "starve," so now she holds the kid's nose and forces the food down her. The child gets nervous and upset and gives the food back afterwards, so I can't see where this method is any good. Have you or any of your readers any suggestions for making a child eat?

DEAR ABBY: My father-in-law is a lonesome widower. He constantly presses expensive gifts on my husband and me, saying, "You'll get everything I have after I die, anyway," and, "What does an old man like me need money for?" We really don't need the gifts, but it's hard to turn down new cars, good furniture, trips, etc. The problem is that he's trying to build up an obligation on our part to invite him to live with us, which would be disaster. Generosity is his only virtue. He drinks too much, is a hypochondriac, talks endlessly about himself, and has a dull personality. My husband (who loves him) and I (who tolerate him) agree that it would never work out to have him live with us. We don't want to hurt him unnecessarily. How should we react to his gifts and offers?

DEAR NAMELESS: Simply refuse his gifts—and offers—and you'll have no problem.

DEAR ABBY: What a stupid generality "Washed Up" made. At age 76 an uncle of mine from Fort Smith, Arkansas, was the proud father of a baby boy. His wife was 33 at the time. My mother (his sister) said he lied about his age. She was sure he was 80!

Career After Forty

As I looked at the charming woman opposite me at luncheon, I thought how amazing she is — ballerina, wife, mother, actress. She has also appeared on TV and in motion pictures! She is and has been all of these things and, of course women CAN do anything. Maria Karnilova is making the greatest sort of a hit in "Fiddler on the Roof." In which she appears opposite Zero Mostel, and she plays her part to the hilt.

Born in the United States of Russian parents, she was taken to Russia when her parents decided to return, but they came back to the good old USA when she was destined to be a great actress and everything else was six years old. Maria told me she wanted to be what her parents wanted her to be—a ballerina. "Russian parents," she said,

Jacoby On Bridge

By Oswald Jacoby

As Edgar Kaplan points out in "Competitive Bidding in Modern Bridge" the main purpose of the weak jump overall is to deprive your opponents of valuable bidding space. Sometimes this tactic winds up badly when you get doubled; on other occasions the opponents go on to their normal successful contract, but once in a while the bid upsets their lines of communication and gets them into the wrong contract.

If West passes or bids two diamonds over South's one heart opening, North will raise to two hearts. If East has bid two diamonds, West will probably get into the act and bid three clubs. In either case South is likely to try a three heart bid and will play the hand at that contract.

There is no problem to the Now let's see what happens if West bids three diamonds over the one heart opening. West takes quite a chance when he makes the bid because he may go down four tricks if he gets doubled. But no one can double him this time and his partner has enough strength to make three diamonds if he plays it. Even if West goes down one, he has honors to compensate. If North tries a three-heart bid over three diamonds, South won't know how much he has pushed and will almost surely continue to four hearts. Or if North passes, South may compete to three hearts whereupon North may raise to four.

Either way the jump overall has made it mighty hard for North and South to get to their one good contract.

We The Women:

By Mrs. Muriel Lawrence

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: My husband drinks. Last weekend when he came home liquored up my oldest child—a girl of 15—left the house to stay with my sister. She says she won't come home. I guess my husband is a real alcoholic. When he is liquored up he is so abusive and wild that the neighbors complain to the police. We have three younger children. God knows he has put me through enough for the last four years but what I can't forgive is what he is doing to the children. They are so ashamed of him...

ANSWER: Congratulate yourself. You are aware of their hurt.

That sympathy for the suffering of the children of alcoholic fathers is, apparently, rare in their mothers. According to a recent study of the families of alcoholic husbands, their wives "pamper" them and pay little attention to the children. Says the report: "The parents are intensely and resentfully involved with each other. Apparently, the father has been in competition with the children from their birth and is always given preference by the mother. Instead of receiving any understanding of their suffering from her, they are required to understand her suffering."

You're not like that. You resent the hurts being inflicted on your children. Take the next step. Know your own resentment at the hurts being inflicted on you.

It is healthy to resent the demanding tantrums of alcoholics. It's fine to resent the noisy abusiveness that overwhelms everybody else in the family, the absences which torture everybody with terror of the disasters the alcoholic may be incurring, the stupors that maintain everyone in suspended wonder about what he'll do when he wakes up.

As you seem on the edge of knowing your resentment at these demands, it may be time for you to write Al-Anon Family Group Headquarters, Inc., an agency which seeks to encourage alcoholics' families to respect their own needs for attention. Its address is P.O. Box 12, Madison Square Station, New York, N.Y. 10010. It will refer you to its nearest local branch.

How To Stop Willie Mays Is Hurlers' Query

SAN FRANCISCO, (UPI) — Anyone here know how to pitch to Willie Mays?

That's the question they're asking in all National League clubhouses these days.

Mays, with 23 hits in 39 at bats, has a .590 batting average for his last 11 games with the San Francisco Giants. He has hosted his batting mark from .321 to .408 during that stretch.

Willie went five for seven in Sunday's doubleheader with Houston. He hit his 13th homer in the opener.

Southernmost Cape Africa's southernmost point generally is considered to be the Cape of Good Hope, but Cape Agulhas actually deserves that credit. Agulhas, which parts the waters of the Atlantic and Indian Oceans, lies 32 miles farther south.

Of Men and Freedom "The Middle Ages" (Color) Producer George Vicas has bitten off quite a mouthful in attempting to cover a period running hundreds of years in one hour, but he has largely succeeded in imparting the feeling, impact and major events of the era. The show examines the crusades, feudalism, the plague, the development of cities, the 100 Years War, the church, etc., briefly but incisively and the production is not above shortcutting by using every conceivable type of production technique deemed helpful, including animation. Much of this was filmed on location in Europe at sites unchanged in centuries.

There's some jazz jargon, off-hand references to "Chet," "Miles" and "Dizzy" with a slight nod in the direction of "Louis," as Mr. Novak interferences with the plans of a student who'd rather be a musician than a scientist. Fashionettes

Art and fashion have combined to make some of the most dizzying patterns ever seen in the summer clothes picture. Take a bathing suit from Rose Marie Reid. It's of a crazy, mixed up pattern of black dots swirling around a modified white bikini and matching shirt. Black and white squares are used in a one-piece, one-shouldered suit, the newest look for any number of summer fashions.

SANDWICH SPECIAL.

REV. HAMILTON

Rev. Hamilton Accepts Call To Pinecrest

Rev. Ray A. Hamilton, pastor of First Baptist Church of Ojus, who conducted April 28 services at Pinecrest Baptist Church, Sanford, has been called by unanimous vote to the local congregation to serve as pastor.

The 44-year-old minister, since his ordination in 1932, has served four churches in Kentucky and the Ojus church in his 33 years of experience.

His first church began with eight members at Greenup (Ky.) Baptist Church and there were 850 members in the congregation at close of his ministry there.

Hamilton states that one of the most pleasant experiences in his life was to be minister of the 800-member Sand Spring Church, the fourth largest rural Baptist church in the Southern Baptist Convention. He reports that his longest and most fruitful ministry, by way of numbers, was at Immanuel Baptist Church in Louisville, in which 1,495 people joined the church in the 14-year period he was the pastor.

He was graduated from Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville in 1945.

Rev. and Mrs. Hamilton have three children. The oldest son is 23 and teaches in a college in Columbia, S. C.; their daughter is a teacher in the Louisville public schools, and Paul Richard is 10 years old and will be entering school here.

County Shuffles Political Areas

San Antonio Flooded With 11-Inch Rain

Mullet Lake Park near Geneva has been turned into a fine picnic area. There are tables, barbecue pits and rest-rooms.

Vote Precincts Upped Due To Area Growth

J. C. Lavender, county road superintendent, was commended by the Seminole County Board of Commissioners for doing a fine job in developing the park.

The Seminole Booster Club closed out the year with a small surplus to turn over to the incoming administration. The club took in $3,004 last year but failed to get one of its projects off the launching pad — lighting of the track and baseball field. A worthy project for the new officers to undertake.

The All-Sports Banquet at the Seminole High was a very fine affair thanks to Roger Harris, outgoing Booster Club president; Athletic Director Fred Ganas and the Seminole County School Food Service Association.

Ten new voting precincts will be added in Seminole County and the five commission districts will be reshuffled under a resolution adopted by the Seminole County Board of Commissioners Tuesday.

Who's right? Fishing camp operators say the fish kill is not at all in the proportions claimed by State Biologist Harold Moody. Moody called us from Leesburg to say check of the water chemistry is the basis for his findings.

The addition of 10 precincts increases the voting units from 23 to 33. Voting population in each precinct has been kept around 1,000 in the new alignment.

Residents along 25th Street must be mighty pleased now that sprinkler trucks are operating in an effort to hold down the choking dust. Many residents have been complaining about the dust and the difficulty it caused in breathing.

Major changes in the five commission districts include reduction in the size of District 3 currently represented by W. Lawrence Swofford of Altamonte Springs.

Speaking of 25th Street and the work being done to widen it, one resident has complained loudly about the addition of sidewalks to the job. We don't need them, the woman said, and all it means is that all the kids will come out here to use their skateboards.

District 3 was reduced due to increase in population. Part of Altamonte Springs now will be in District 2 represented by Commissioner Lee Gary of Oviedo.

Mrs. Harold Kastner's Doberman Pinscher, Bahia Potentate Lucky Lady and her litter of ten pups, took second place in the dog show held in Orlando, Sunday.

Gary's district has been enlarged in mileage under the new proposal. Longwood will be split between District 4 and 2. Altamonte Springs will be divided between District 4 and 3.

The DeLand Chamber of Commerce has indicated it will not support the proposed Lake Monroe Causeway plan. Officials call it "too costly."

All of Lake Mary will be in one district, where formerly it was split between Districts 2, 3 and 5. It now will be in District 2, represented by Chairman John R. Alexander. District 3 has been enlarged slightly.

A $14 million port facility, including a modern terminal for loading of bulk phosphate rock, is in the works for Port Manatee at Bradenton.

Washington (UPI) — President Johnson will be the commencement speaker when his 17-year-old daughter, Luci, graduates from the National Cathedral Girls School on June 1.

Verifying news reports from Washington that automobile sales prices will be retroactive to May 14, in line with President Johnson's request for an excise tax cut, and that Congress is rushing the legislation to benefit consumers and to stave off a "buyers strike," the following telegram was received here this morning by Bill Memphis Motors:

Luci and 58 of her classmates will graduate at a ceremony at the Washington Episcopal Cathedral.

"President Johnson has proposed that if a reduction in the present 10 per cent federal excise tax on new passenger automobiles is adopted this year it be made retroactive to retail purchases of new passenger automobiles after May 14, 1965. You may inform your customers that General Motors will refund to qualified retail purchasers the amount by which the tax may gradually be reduced."

The President's younger daughter is planning to enter Georgetown University school of nursing in mid-September. She will work this summer as an assistant to a Washington optometrist.

Session Tempo Upped

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The House took up a special order calendar of Senate-authorized bills today while a bill equalizing dog racing and jai alai seasons faces Senate approval.

When several senators tried to amend the bill to extend the dog season, lower the jai alai meeting and add harness tracks to the measure, action was delayed until today to give lawmakers a chance to agree on a compromise.

The 21-14 vote that killed the proposed emergency constitutional amendment creating the new appeals court — which needed 33 affirmative votes to be sent to the voters this fall — came as a surprise.
