greeted in fun by Mr. Johnson as the "most obnoxious man in the club," and was told to try to make all the fun he could and cause members to forget their troubles.

ALL EYES ARE ON HIM as Prince Nawaf ibn Abdul Aziz, 14-year-old son of King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia, visits students at Bayside High School, L. I., New York.

Lion Witte, after receiving a past president's pin from King Lion Livingston, and in turn conferring the president's pin on the latter, thanked the club members for their co-operation and outlined the successful accomplishments of the club during the past year.

Work of the Sanford Lions club included a Christmas party with many toys donated for underprivileged children, aid to the blind both here and at the Holly Hill project, sending a boy, Porter Lansing, Jr., to Boy's State, aid in backing the Southeastern Olding meet and promoting the Junior Baseball League in its most successful season, said Lion Witte.

King Lion Livingston thanked Lion Witte for his fine leadership and hard work during the past year, and asked co-operation of the members in the program ahead. Mrs. Witte placed a paper crowns on the King Lion's head, and humorously told of her experiences at the Sarasota state convention of Lions.

Guests included Lester C. Huffman, immediate past president of the Daytona Beach Lions Club and now treasurer of "35 north" and Mrs. Huffman, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Luke and Mr. and Mrs. William Wray.

U. S. Dilemma

Far south in Hong Kong Marshal Li Chi Shen, one time chief of staff for Chiang Kai-Shek says he favors a "democratic" secession of South China, and he asserts that this movement already is in progress.

But that's only part of the story. Famine has been taking a toll of millions in various parts of the country. The black marketeers are perched like carrion crowns on the back of the stricken nation, and a crazy inflation has carried the national currency to the staggering figure of 53,000 Chinese dollars (Yuan) to the American dollar, whereas the Yuan normally is about 50 cents in U. S. money.

What Washington now has to decide is whether it will do anything to dump more millions of dollars or other aid into such a morass which instantly swallows everything that touches it. That's a tough question to answer.

The Export-Import Bank in Washington has a loan of $500,000,000 conditionally earmarked for China, but the time limit on that will expire June 30 unless the United States government implements the loan. Secretary of State Marshall expressed the view Wednesday that the end of the month probably would be al-

Chinese Loan

(Continued from Page One) less the United States intends to force the Chinese people to reconsider their stand. The proposed loan, he said, would be large enough to permit financial stabilization "for at least three years."

Catholic Archbishop Paul Yu-Pin in Nanking also called for American aid with the statement that China's civil war actually is a "foreign war." Unless the United States gives assistance, "she herself may be the next victim," and this may become the birthplace of World War III, he said. The archbishop recalled that he warned the United States during a pre-war lecture tour of the dangers of a Japanese attack of Pearl Harbor. His reference to a "foreign war" echoed recent Chinese government charges that Soviet Russia was helping Chinese Communists.

Foreign Minister Wang Shih-Chieh explained China's new "offer-to-Bureau" foreign policy before the People's Political Council standing committee. Military police barred correspondents from the executive meeting. Several Chinese newspapermen were ejected.

The government's position in Manchurian fighting continued gravely as the country awaited developments from a scheduled war council at Peiping between Chiang Kai-Shek and his military commanders.

A Central News Agency dispatch from Changchun, capital of Manchuria, said government forces had recaptured strategic Kungchuling midway between Changchun and Szeipinkai, which has been under Communist siege since June 12.

Communist attacks continued against Szeipinkai. There was no further word as Nationalist radio columns reported converging on the shell-torn city -- important as a rail junction.

Rail service between Peiping and Paoting, Hopeh provincial capital, was suspended, Peiping dispatch reported, following Communist raids in which several sections of track were blown up.

However, that doesn't appear to be the final word. The discussion of ways and means continues. Doctors don't abandon a patient without giving him the benefit of every possible treatment.

Legislation to restrict gasoline and petroleum products exports was introduced today as the House Merchant Committee launched an inquiry into oil shipments to Russia.

The bill, offered by Committee Chairman Weichel (R-Ohio), would prohibit any petroleum exports unless the War and Navy Departments certified that they would not interfere with national defense, and the Commerce Department certified that they would not restrict domestic consumption.

Weichel's committee is trying to find out why oil is being exported to the Soviet and other countries at a time when there is talk of gasoline rationing in the United States.

Capt. Ralph E. Wilson, Navy representative of the Army-Navy petroleum board, testified at the first session that the shipments to Russia represent "normal requirements" and there is "no indication" that the Soviets are trying to build up military stocks.

Wilson also told the committee in response to questions: 1. The oil going to Russia from the West Coast does not meet Navy specifications, but could be made so by refining processes. 2. There is no way to tell for what purpose the oil is being used but it is of a type equivalent to that used in the Merchant Marine. 3. This country's present known oil reserves amount to 23 billion barrels, which is being drawn upon at a rate of 1,900,000,000 barrels a year.

In connection with the latter point, Wilson told the committee that the United States fleet might be "largely immobilized" in a major war if unable to obtain oil imports.

He expressed that opinion after Col. G. H. Vogel, the petroleum board's executive officer, testified that there are adequate available petroleum reserves but that the "productive capacity is not now sufficient to meet a continuing national emergency."

Rep. Willis Bradley (R-Calif.), a committee member, said: "Former Navy captain himself asked: 'Then it comes down to the fact that if we couldn't bring in oil the Navy might be largely immobilized in the event of a major war?'"

"That is correct," said Wilson.

KIDNEYS GIVE YOU UP NIGHTS? If you get up nights—have frequent desire to pass your water—but have only scanty amount, and have backache due to excess acidity in the urine, he said you're reading this!

Three months ago Dr. Killian, a famous doctor, found hundreds of his patients with this trouble. Painstakingly he made a medicine of 12 herbs, roots, vegetables, berries—KIDNEY TONIC and called it "Branon-Root" and millions of grateful men and women have been helped with this medicine.

Branon-Root goes right to work to flush out kidneys—increases the flow of urine, helping toxins escape, and the irritated bladder gets a good flush out. Many report getting a good night's sleep after the first few doses. Caution: Take as directed.

For free trial supply, send to Dept. 8, Branon & Co., Inc., Box 1119, Stamford, Conn. Or get full-sized bottle of Branon-Root today at your drugstore.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

GOD CREATED ALL WEALTH, MATERIAL AND SPIRITUAL.
WE ARE WELCOME TO IT,
BUT HE WANTS US TO DIG FOR IT: The silver is mine and the gold is mine.—Haggai 2:8.

Don't worry about the rainy weather. Comfort yourself that it remains cool. We can't have everything.

Congress begins considering legislation to restrict on exports to Russia... after the end of the oil of Indiana begins rationing gasoline to its dealers to conserve supplies.
If they have to ration gasoline in peace times, what will they do when the next war comes?

The Senate has voted to make the Speaker of the House next in line of succession to the Presidency after the Vice President, after rejecting a motion proposing the president of the Senate. They wouldn't play a dirty trick like that on one of their own members.

The Florida State Advertising Commission has issued a beautiful new booklet proclaiming the virtues of this state, both scenic and industrial. It's a four color job, magnificently printed and covers everything from bathing beauties to strawberries. It also contains a large official map of the state showing highways, rivers and harbors, and various points of interest including the Big Tree and Sanlando Springs.

President Truman was fully justified in vetoing the wool price bill, passage of which was a "tragic mistake." Anyone who has to buy anything made of wool these days knows that a little competition from foreign producers would help American consumers more than it would hurt American producers. In fact, it would probably take a lot more wool imports than we are likely to get before American wool producers would feel it very much.

While the Big Three foreign ministers meet in Paris to iron out the economic problems of Europe and decide whether they will accept American aid, 350,000 coal miners go out on strike as if to show how futile our efforts to help people who will not help themselves, can be. And while the French coal miners strike, tentensifying Europe's difficulties in taking care of herself, America's coal miners add to world confusion and scarcities by limiting production over here. It's a wonder what the delegates from Russia, where strikes are not tolerated at all, think as they meet in Paris amidst such abuse of democratic principles.

Eric Johnston, chairman of of the movie industry, does not think much of Wallace's recent grand tour of Europe. "It would be tragic," he says, "if Europe and the rest of the world were to be misled by these false preachings that America is going to misuse its political and economic power in the world today.

The three great misconceptions which Wallace has spread about America, Mr. Johnston points out as follows: (1) That the foreign policy of the U. S. is imperialistic, (2) That the U. S. is the most racist of nations, (3) That the U. S. is heading into a depression. None of these things, he insists, is true.

One Universe

Our own, and the millions of other "island universes" that astronomers tell us are suspended in space, show evidence of surprising uniformity in chemical composition.
Also they all came into being as a result of a single super-tremendous atomic explosion some 3,000,000,000 years ago.
This is the view of the Indian astro-physicist, Dr. S.
Chandrasekhar of Yerkes Observatory.

The more that is learned about the various heavenly bodies, the more impressive is the recurring similarity in their ingredients, Dr. Chandrasekhar points out. He believes that the "star mother of the universe" was a vast mass some thousands of billions of miles in diameter. Apparently it was so dense that a cubic inch weighed tons. Its contraction produced a temperature of several billions of degrees and the resulting explosion created the universe as we know it. All heavenly bodies since that day of their creation have been disintegrating. The condition of substance in them now indicates their age. For example, a study of uranium on the earth indicates that this sphere is between one and a half and two and a half billion years old.

Here is startling argument for the oneness of creation, scientific witness of the One Mind, or One God of theology.
To many people it will be more impressive evidence of the existence of a single Creator than any Scriptural quotation.
If there is this underlying unity in the universe, certainly man is on the right track in trying to attain one-world harmony.

German Tax Problem

From Berlin where she has been helping to revise the German tax system, Dr. Mabel Newcomer, Vassar College professor and national tax expert, writes concerning the problems involved.
"The tax plan, like all aspects of the evolving government, is based on the idea that Germany must some day govern herself. Yet administration through the four present zones is difficult. Taxes, which must be uniform, require four-way agreement. Since the four members of the tax committee come from four countries with different ideologies and complex national interests, this is not easy. But compromises are gradually being achieved.

Dr. Newcomer feels now that re-education of Germans is the most important occupational job confronting the allies. She admits that it is easy to become discouraged with the lack of progress during the more than two years since VE-day. But her own "extra-official" work with groups of Berlin women has been rewarding. Large numbers have attended the meetings which she arranged, and have shown themselves eager to learn of other countries. She believes firmly that money spent in a long-range educational program might prevent future war.

As an experienced educator who is herself an inspiring teacher, her views are worth consideration.

Education or Training

Speaking at the University of Illinois, Robert M. Chancellor of the University of Chicago, advocated a tightening up of the qualifications for college entrance and at the same time, an expansion of programs for adult education.

He urged that university students, instead of being given practical training, be made to place their emphasis on history, philosophy, and theology, thus acquiring a background to give them understanding of modern problems.
And, for adults, Dr. Hutchins discussed in particular the "Great Books" program which has proven so successful in many communities, saying that more must be done along those lines to educate the people at large, if they are to survive in an atomic age.

The Chancellor, always a stimulating thinker, has brought to the fore again the old question of whether education should be for the purpose of learning how to live or on the more mundane plane of how to make a living. Some people refused to dignify the latter phase by the name of education, claiming that training is a better word. Perhaps the solution lies in a compromise whereby education and training proceed along parallel lines.

Moglis began last year, when

The "secret police of the realm" went into action, and their in-six days ago of an obscure coun-the Count De Vulpien.

A search of the count's chateau they make us apprehensively

Guatemala Tourist Decrease Due To Propaganda In U. S.

LAKELAND, June 30, (Special) -A decrease in tourist travel to Guatemala is being attributed by its business men to propaganda in the United States that the country is filled with communists although many have been driven out and only a few are left, according to the observations of President Luis M. Spivey of Florida Southern College who is directing a summer school program in the Latin-American country.
"The average citizen of Guatemala cannot understand that fewer tourists may mean that we have less money in the States," Dr. Spivey says. "They have a notion that all of us are rolling in dollars."

Living conditions in Guatemala are better this summer than last year when the college began its Guatemala summer program, the college president reports. Food is plentiful but about 15 percent higher. Hotel rates have gone up and rents for private houses, particularly in Guatemala, are exorbitant.
"Despite the increase, very attractive hotel rooms are available for seven dollars a day with meals so abundant that the guest is in danger of overeating," Dr. Spivey says.

however, that the president of The Guatemalan president's popularity is lowest with the so-called "rich" people, Dr. Spivey feels.

He is insisting that Indian workers be paid higher wages with a minimum of 25 cents a day. His opponents advocate a minimum of about 15 cents a day.
Southern's summer school party, President Spivey says, received a very cordial welcome to Guatelast Saturday and during last week entertained the students at his summer home.

War In China

sign war" is of course that it echoes Chinese Nationalist government charges that Russia is aiding the Chinese Communists in their effort to overthrow the Nationalist government and establish Communism in China. As a matter of fact this charge isn't new, but has been maintained by Chiang's government for a long time. The Russians are accused not only of furnishing the Chinese rebels with war supplies, but with having turned important military positions over to them when the Soviet forces were withdrawing from Manchuria.

Anyway, the vital point is that if the Chinese Communists should be successful in their rebellion, Moscow ultimately would add China with its 500,000,000 to the Soviet sphere of influence. That would make Russia the dominant power in the Orient. Small wonder then that Archbishop Paul Yu-Pin should think of China as the possible birthplace of a third World War.

So China would seem to be confronted with a very terrible paradox: that she must forge peace in the flames of war.
