Firefighters quell brush fire in Lake Mary

By Bill Kerne

STAFF WRITER

LAKE MARY - A brush fire started two feet away from the homes of Lake Mary residents Wednesday, and fire officials fought into the night to control the blaze. No injuries were reported.

The fire started at about 4:45 p.m. in the 300 block of Pine Shadow Drive, near the Lake Mary Country Club. It burned an estimated 10 acres, according to the Lake Mary Fire Department.

No residents had to be treated for heat inhalation or other injuries. Hose lines from the fire departments and a helpful breeze kept the fire away from the homes. The cause of the fire is still being investigated.

Lake Mary, Sanford, and Seminole County firefighters responded on the scene.

"The wind helped guide the fire away," Wendy Benton, deputy fire marshal for Lake Mary, said. "Sanford brought their Brush Truck and we used our hose lines to hold the fire back."

The brush fire was under control before dark. It stopped by about 9 p.m., and brush fire trucks were still making sure there were no further fires at around 10 p.m., Benton said.

Lake Mary firefighter Lt. Rick Fudge hoses water over the burning area. Residents of the neighborhood were unharmed.

Airport noise down, study says; residents still complain

By Bill Kerne

STAFF WRITER

SANFORD - Despite studies saying that complaints are down and that the noise levels at the airport meet federal standards, a number of residents near the Orlando Sanford Airport say noise continues to be a problem.

The Sanford Aviation Noise Abatement Committee reports 39 complaints in February. This is down from the 73 complaints the airport received concerning noise in February 1998. There were 165 arriving and departing flights this February compared to 239 flights that month in 1998.

"The number of opportunities for noise is slightly less," Jack Dow, director of operations for the Sanford Airport Authority said. "Operations are down slightly, but there have been some substantive improvements in noise abatement."

The number of flights will remain at about the same level in March, then increase in April as international carriers resume normal activity, Dow said.

Commercial airplanes are climbing at a higher altitude over the last several months, reducing the amount of noise for residents within 10-15 miles of the airport. A study shows that 11 of the 39 complaints concerned flights that are not arriving or departing from the Orlando Sanford Airport, Dow said.

"Some of the complaints are flights that are actually from the Orlando International Airport or the (Orlando) Executive Airport," Dow said.

Nineteen of the complaints last month came from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. Eight of the complaints came from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m., while four complaints came from 10 p.m. to 6 a.m. There was no time given for eight of the complaints.

Residents in Lake Golden Park lodged 10 complaints in February, while residents in Heathrow called five times. Timacuan residents made four complaints. Residents from west Sanford called with complaints three times, as did residents east of the airport.

Silvan Lake resident Beverly Boothe said the number of complaints do not accurately reflect how residents feel about noise at the airport.

"Many people have stopped calling because they've given up," Boothe said. "Some of us feel that we've had our cake, and we're being left a crumb. Obviously, we're not being listened to."

Dow said members of the noise abatement committee realize that there is frustration among residents.

Sanford residents George and Norma Wilson said the new 3500 foot touch and go runway has increased the amount of noise at the airport. The runway is being used primarily by student pilots.

"Now it's virtually unbearable with low flying east-west flights hammering our solitude every one to three minutes," the Wilsons said.

The new runway has allowed Com Air to improve the pattern that the flight school uses for training pilots. Limiting the Trees will come down on Saturday

SANFORD - Volunteer workers will save the City of Sanford thousands of dollars in cutting down 11 declining laurel oak trees in Touhey Park on Saturday.

Workers from the International Society of Arboriculture will donate their time to cut down the trees on Saturday at 8 a.m. The 30-35 workers will also prune and clean the park's remaining trees.

The average cost of a project of this size is $24,000, according to Sanford's Landscape Architect Howard Jeffries. The city is donating $8,000 to the International Society of Arboriculture.

"This is saving us a lot of money," Jeffries said. "Plus, they will have the expertise and the equipment to do the job right."

City workers will perform additional clean-up at the park on Monday.

Two arborists who volunteered as consultants to the city agreed with Jeffries' recommendation that the laurel oak trees are declining and a safety hazard to residents. The City Commission approved the removal of the oak trees at their Feb. 22 work session.

Andrew Kittakey, an Urban Forester, and Bob Finley, an arborist, inspected the trees for the city and recommended their removal.

There are 23 trees currently at Touhey Park. Two of the trees are sable palms, 13 are laurel oaks, and eight are live oaks.

Some residents have complained to the city about the removal of the 11 laurel oak trees.

Salvation Army honors volunteers

By Russ White

STAFF WRITER

LONGWOOD - Most people think about the Salvation Army when they hear volunteers ringing bells at Christmas time.

There's more to the Army's activities than ringing bells - as was evident Saturday when more than 150 Salvation Army volunteers in Seminole County were honored at a breakfast held at the Markham Woods Presbyterian Church.

Major Bruce and Faith Williams said that the volunteers helped serve more than 7,500 meals, 7,000 snacks in the three weeks after the tornadoes hit the area in February 1998. They served the rescue workers and victims of the storms.

When the first brush and woods fires hit near Geneva, the Salvation Army canteen truck was manned 98 consecutive hours by volunteers and served 1,500 meals and 1,000 snacks.

Other volunteers helped distribute more than 1,400 food baskets, 8,915 clothing items and more than 7,000 new toys to 5,800 needy people during the Thanksgiving and Christmas seasons.

All year long volunteers help delivering meals on wheels from the Salvation Army Kitchen in Sanford.

Volunteer Walter Smith said that Salvation Army has served in Seminole County for more than 70 years. "A lot goes on," he said. "We visit shut-ins, conduct camps and children's programs, conduct religious programs and help senior citizens."

Seminole County Emergency Management Manager John Blackwood was honored at the breakfast. Firemen donated more than $2,300 for the needy at Christmas. Also honored was Deputy Chief Sheriff Steve Harriett. The Sheriff's Office collected $3,000 for the Salvation Army Christmas program.

In addition to individual certificates to Salvation Army volunteers, Major Williams presented special plaques to the following:

auditorium to begin the new school term. Everyone was delighted with the new public address system which enabled speakers to be heard in every corner.

The program was opened with the flag salute and the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner." Rev. W.P. Brooks, pastor of First Baptist Church, gave the invocation.

Supt. T.W. Lawton greeted the students and then Principal G.E. McKay introduced the faculty. New teachers were Miss Betty Buhman, Miss Dorothy Sanford, Miss Kathryn Lawton and Miss Elizabeth Earle.

Several announcements were made concerning various improvements to the school including the new radio system and several new sets of books.

The students then picked up their schedules and went to their classes for a few minutes each. School dismissed at 11:30 a.m.

Communications System Installed

Seminole High students were enjoying watching the teachers use the new inter-communications system to talk to Mr. McKay in the office and hearing his clear reply.

the system was installed before the school term with the help of three students: John Dunn, Ed Brannan and Cullen Wright.

It was called the New Flash-A-Call Super Intercommunications Sound System and was made by a Chicago company.

(The article goes on to give the many advantages of the system; it is hard to imagine now a school without an inter-com system.)

New Technology Course Offered

The seniors of SHS would be the first class to have the privilege of using the new textbooks for a course in elementary technology. This new course was designed to assist students in their participation in the national defense program through the use of technical equipment.

Five different workbooks would be in use: General Mechanics, Aeronautics, Radio and Photography, Engines and the Armed Forces.

Two SHS teachers assisted in preparing the books for the State Department of Education. These were G.E. McKay, SHS principal and instructor in math, and Alex R. Johnson, SHS teacher of vocational agriculture.

University of Florida Alumni to Meet

University of Florida Alumni of Seminole County would hold their first fall meeting the next Tuesday night at the Valdez Hotel in the form of a smoker. Guy D. Wood was president.

The Alumni Association had abolished all dues and memberships so everyone who had ever attended U of F was automatically a member.

Florida had a new football coach, Tom Lieg; the season opener was the next Saturday night against Mississippi State at Gainesville. Guy Wood stated that it was desirable to secure active support in behalf of the Gators from this section of the state.

R.A. Smiths Enjoy Vacation

Both Ralph, Jr. and Walter Smith, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Austin Smith, walked away with honors at Camp Ridgecrest, North Carolina where they had spent the summer.

Ralph, Jr. had copped the singles junior title and also won, with his partner, the doubles matches.

Walter won the singles championship in the midget class and he and his partner took the doubles.

In the meantime, Ralph, Sr., president of the Sanford Tennis Club, had had the opportunity to play tennis every day while vacationing with his wife in the NC mountains.

Before returning home, the Smith family visited relatives in Alabama. A few days later, Mrs. Smith and her mother, Mrs. Meeds, went to Chicago by train for a few days.

Mr. Smith, an employee of Chase and Company, reported that southern mills were working to capacity producing national defense orders. At one mill, three shifts were working each day, only stopping from midnight Saturday to 10:00 p.m. Sunday.

What movies did Burke make?

Q. This is a hard one, because I only saw part of the movie years ago. It was a comedy with Billie Burke (not a "Topper" movie). She played a wealthy wife, I believe. She had a son or daughter who was seeing someone of lower social status. I vaguely remember a comical scene in a restaurant. I love Billie Burke. Could you please list her movies? It would make the harsh winters where I live more enjoyable. — B.P., Iron Mountain, Mich.

A. Mr. Burke made too many movies to list them all, and your synopsis of that movie is too vague for us to identify. Among the better Burke films: "Becky Sharp," "The Bride Wore Red," "Dinner at Eight" and, of course, "The Wizard of Oz."

ASK DICK KLEINER

DICK & CHICKI KLEINER

Q. During the 1960s, I saw a black-and-white movie called "The Great Waltz." It was the story of Johann Strauss. The lady vocalist was Milliza Korjus. Can you tell me if that film is available? It was made in 1938. Also, she was in "Caballero del Imperio," but I have been told that film is lost. Do you know if there is any film available today that she was in? — M.V.B., Amarillo, Texas

A. The only film Milliza Korjus was in that is available on tape is "The Great Waltz."

Q. Was "The Greatest Show on Earth" the first lead for Charlton Heston? Until that film, I was personally smitten with Cornel Wilde. — E.D.F., Jonesboro, Ark.

A. No, that was his second lead. His debut film was a forgettable film called "Dark City" in 1950. "The Greatest Show" came out in 1952.

Q. I saw a movie in 1960-62. The title was "Frogs," with Ray Milland. Mr. Milland is deceased. What year did he pass away, and was there a video made of that movie? — J.C.P., Covington, Ohio

A. Milland died in 1986 and, yes, there is a video of that film.

Q. I have been a movie buff since the 1940s. My friends and I are curious about the stars from that era, including Loretta Young, Virginia Mayo, Ann Sheridan, Linda Darnell, Kathryn Grayson and John Payne. Are any of them still alive? — J.B., Troy, Ohio

A. Loretta Young, now 85, Virginia Mayo, who is 79, and Kathryn Grayson, 76, are still with us. The others are gone.

Clinical trials of experimental drugs determine whether or not new treatments work. That makes them vital to society.

However, participants need to know that trials are designed mainly to advance science, not to help the people who volunteer for them. It's true that some volunteers benefit greatly from the trials, receiving treatment that would otherwise be unavailable to them, but others get no benefit at all, either because they received a placebo — a dummy treatment — or because the experimental therapy doesn't work. Still other volunteers may actually be harmed.

When doctors were the main means of steering people to clinical trials, they generally made those distinctions clear. But more and more volunteers are being recruited through advertisements — in newspapers, on buses and subways, on the Internet, even on college bulletin boards. Those ads often give the impression that joining a clinical trial will help you, not science, and they seldom mention the unpleasant possibilities. Some ads are designed to entice you by offering free, apparently top-notch care.

No one knows how many study volunteers are helped or harmed, since no one compiles aggregate data on the outcomes. But one thing is certain: Clinical trials are booming, due to record levels of government and private funding for medical research. Unfortunately, that boom has not only fostered questionable recruitment practices but has also strained the system of safeguards designed to protect volunteers.

To minimize risks to volunteers, most studies sponsored by the U.S. government or involving a drug or other product regulated by the federal Food and Drug Administration must be overseen by one of the nation's several thousand Institutional Review Boards. Those panels — staffed by doctors, ethicists and laypeople, and funded by hospitals, universities, government and manufacturers — judge the scientific and ethical merit of proposed studies, document that volunteers gave informed consent, and monitor the results. If anything looks wrong or goes wrong, the panel is supposed to step in.

However, a yearlong investigation of drug trials by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services found that this system is breaking down. Oversight committees, the investigation's 1998 report warned, "review too much, too quickly, with too little expertise."

To be sure, joining a trial lets you make a potentially vital contribution to medical science, and may even be helpful when conventional therapies fail. But it's important for volunteers to learn all they can about the potential risks. Here are some guidelines:

1. Find a study. Your doctor can help you decide on a possible treatment and may be able to locate an upcoming trial — or refer you to a specialist who can. Other good sources include:
 - The National Institutes of Health, which lists government-funded studies of virtually all major diseases. Check its Web site, www.nih.gov/health/trials/index.htm.
 - CenterWatch, which lists some 7,000 privately funded clinical trials at www.centerwatch.com.
2. Question the investigators. Once you've narrowed the field, thoroughly search the Internet or a medical library for information about the treatment, and talk to your physician again. Then phone the investigators directly — ideally, in a conference call with your doctor. If you meet the study's eligibility criteria, ask questions, including:
 - What evidence supports the treatment's efficacy and safety?
 - What is the study designed to test?
 - What are the possible side effects and risks?
 - 3. Scrutinize the form. If you're satisfied with the answers, ask to take home an informed-consent document. It should guarantee, among other things, that:
 - You'll be warned of potential risks and side effects.
 - You can drop out at any time, for any reason.
 - You'll be promptly informed of any adverse findings during the study that might make you want to drop out.

Sizing up monitors

With prices dropping on many models, you can get more computer monitor for your money these days. But you can also get less: a flat-panel screen based on liquid-crystal display technology. An LCD monitor might cost up to four times as much as a cathode ray tube (CRT) monitor with a comparably sized screen, but it will use just a fraction of the space.

A monitor's nominal size — most are 14 to 21 inches — is based on the diagonal measurement of its picture tube. A 17-inch monitor has about one-third more viewing area than a 15-inch model. A 19-inch monitor has more than two-thirds more. Bigger screens allow you to work with bigger images or with more documents open at a time.

CRT models, the kind that look like TV sets, are the most common. Note that as the CRT screen size increases, so does the whole box: A 19-inch is two to three inches deeper, wider and taller than a 15-inch, and almost twice as heavy. But a big monitor isn't like a big TV; you don't necessarily have to sit farther away from a large screen.

New LCD models, which are only a few inches thick and not as heavy as CRTs, may be digital or analog. Digital LCDs offer a consistently sharp picture (when the monitor is set to its optimum resolution) and use less energy. Analogs need tweaking for the best picture. But the image may not be as bright or have as much contrast as a CRT's, and it dims as you move your view off-center.

You can get a sense of how a monitor performs by doing a few simple in-store checks. Call up a page of text to see if the center and the edges of the image are clear and that the text is crisp, not slightly blurry. Then call up a color image to see that the colors look natural. With a CRT monitor or an analog LCD, you may have to tweak the controls to get the best image. A digital LCD should give you perfect focus and no geometric distortion — all you have to worry about is the brightness control.

Here are some terms you should know when choosing a CRT:

- Dot pitch is the spacing between the phosphor dots on the picture tube that produce an image. Don't buy a monitor with a dot pitch higher than 0.28 mm.
- Resolution is the number of picture elements, or pixels, used to create the image on a screen. A monitor operated at a higher resolution generally shows more detail, but the higher the resolution and the larger the screen, the higher the refresh rate (the number of times per second the image is redrawn on the tube) you'll need.

We've found that a 17- or 19-inch monitor set to a resolution of 1,024x768 pixels can be used comfortably with a refresh rate of at least 75 hertz (Hz). A 15-inch CRT monitor for about $200 to $350 will be fine for word processing and simple spreadsheets, but consider a 17- or 19-inch model if you work with graphics, with several documents open at once, or with large spreadsheets. (The best 17-inch models from our tests cost between $400 and $500; the best 19-inchers, $650 to $850.)

If you need to maximize desk space, a digital flat-panel monitor is a good, albeit pricey, option. When buying a new CRT monitor, check to see if your computer will need a new video card with additional speed and memory. If you switch to a digital LCD monitor and your computer doesn't have a built-in digital-display connection, you'll have to buy a video card with a digital connector.

amount of flights or the time of the flights could be seen as discriminatory by federal officials, Dow said.

The Part 150 Noise study, funded by the FAA, is about 75 percent complete, Dow said.

Noise monitors recently showed that as an aircraft lands from the west, the noise level reaches 80 decibels in a 20-second period over Heathrow. The noise levels reach 83 decibels over Lake Mary, and can reach as high as 97 decibels over Sanford.

Consultant Jimmy Goff told the Sanford Airport Authority on Feb. 2 that the noise level would be well below the 65-decibel level had it been calculated using a 24-hour average. Noise is not considered excessive under Federal Aviation Administration standards unless it reaches 65 decibels over a 24-hour period.

Goff, who is project manager for HNTB Corp., an engineering company that is updating guidelines on how to control noise and plan for development at the airport, said the next step in the noise study would be to solicit public input.

Sanford Airport Authority Chairman Ken Wright has said the airport will work on the single event experiences that people are complaining about, and that airport officials will identify which noise events are attrib-able to the Orlando International Airport.

A new Instrument Landing System, commissioned for operation in the summer, will provide navigational assistance for aircraft landing at the airport's main runway during poor weather. The ILS will allow for a precision approach to the runway, according to airport officials.

DiMaggio - a last glimpse

SANFORD - The old film clips have been shown a hundred times the last few days. Black and white reminders of Joe DiMaggio's style and grace.

Every play he makes in centerfield is so easy.

I keep looking for him to come in for a shoe-string catch or go back for a leaping beauty at the wall - but he makes all the catches too easily.

Still, say those who played with the great DiMaggio, you had to be there every day to appreciate the splendor of his play. The majesty of his game. The power of his presence.

Yet, Joe DiMaggio was lonely and insecure at times.

"He's the loneliest man I ever knew. He led the league in room service," the late Yankee pitcher Ed Lopat said of DiMaggio, who preferred to stay in his hotel room rather than be noticed in a restaurant.

DiMaggio, the writer Jimmy Cannon once said, was afraid of two things - to be recognized on the street and of not being recognized.

There are pictures of DiMaggio smiling, and occasionally laughing.

There are more of him looking sad and lonely.

He wasn't always smiling, even when he was with Marilyn Monroe.

DiMaggio wanted to be alone the night his 56-game hitting streak ended.

He borrowed $16 from teammate Phil Rizzuto when he left the ballpark in Cleveland, having left his wallet behind. Rizzuto said the other night he gave DiMaggio all he had in his own wallet.

Rizzuto and others were being interviewed after DiMaggio had passed away at his home in Hollywood, Fla. He was 84. And the country was crying.

The writer, Roger Kahn, was one of those interviewed. Kahn wrote a book about DiMaggio and Monroe 11 years ago. It was called a love story. DiMaggio hated the book. So did I. Someone sent a review of the book I had done in the Orlando Sentinel to DiMaggio. He personally thanked me.

"That book was awful," he said.

DiMaggio was offered millions for his autobiography. He refused each proposal. He knew what was expected. Everyone wanted him to talk about his relationship with Monroe. The real story.

The real story Joe D. took to his grave this week.

There's a debate - morbid perhaps - as to who the greatest living baseball player is now.

DiMaggio had that distinction since 1969 when baseball had this big shindig in Washington, D.C. There was a big dinner at the Shoreham Hotel.

Everyone was guessing who would be the greatest - DiMaggio or Ted Williams, who had just begun his first season as the manager of the Washington Senators.

When Williams heard the choice was DiMaggio, he failed to appear at the dinner.

Both lugs had egos.

They got over it enough to be good friends in later years.

DiMaggio helped Williams open his new museum in Citrus Hills. Williams said Joe D. was the best all-around player.

The best hitter, though, remains Ted Williams. Teddy Ballgame is also the best living player. And may he live many more happy years.

Ranked teams romp

Lake Mary, Winter Springs softball teams show rankings justified

By Jeff Berinicks
ASSISTANT SPORTS EDITOR

LAKE MARY - The Lake Mary softball team is starting to explore some familiar territory.

In the latest FHSAA rankings, the Rams are 4th among 6A schools and on a collision course with a chance to repeat as state champs with almost the same unit as last season.

Just don't share that with the girls on the team.

"We're not saying anything about it," coach Jeannie Fisher said after the Rams pounded Seminole, 8-1 in a Seminole Athletic Conference victory Wednesday. "We don't even know if they know about it."

The Rams are one of two highly ranked teams - Winter Springs is ranked third in 3A - in Seminole County, but with the same pitching staff and almost the exact same lineup as last season, the Rams have been through the district and regional wars and appear as focused as last season.

Still, Fisher said it's too early to start looking past anyone.

"We can't get ahead of ourselves or look past anybody," Fisher said. "It's just too early to talk about anything like that (a repeat)."

Seminole is a team with some high hopes of its own. Seminole has come a long way from a team that struggled just to go seven innings two years ago to a team with sights set on a run the state tournament.

The 'Noles fell to 8-3 after last night's loss, but coach Dave Rogers said his mind is on winning district games.

"All we want is a district championship," Rogers said of his undefeated district team. "We have to do the little things right, but we're not seven runs worse than Lake Mary or anybody else."

Last night, the 'Noles rested their usual starting pitcher Maria Duval and went with junior Ginny Carnes against the powerful Lake Mary lineup.

Carnes was strong all night, but suffered from fielding lapses as Laura Cooper lined a two-run single that scored a pair of unearned runs to give the Rams the lead. Megan Dontrich later drove in a run as the hosts added two more runs.

That was all the runs pitcher Hallie Sowards would need.

Sowards (4-1) is arguably the county's best pitcher and she finished with a two-hitter, striking out 10, including three straight in the seventh inning.

Lake Mary (10-1) scored again in the third inning when Dontrich singled with two outs, stole second, and scored on a single by Nicole White.

The Rams broke it open in the fourth inning. With one out, following a walk, Kelly Harbour singled and Jackie Crispell's double to center scored both runners. Crispell then came in when Lindsey Manz singled on the next pitch.

Seminole finally scored in the fifth inning. Mindy Crouse walked with one out and, after a strikeout, Laketa Bryant sent a roller to third that was thrown away, allowing and Crouse to come around.

Seminole will look to stay undefeated in district play with a 4:15 p.m. game against the Wolves in Deltona on Friday.

Grayson, undefeated Lions down DeLand

By Tony DeFornier
CORRESPONDENT

DELAND - Oviedo High School's varsity baseball team may be a team without superstars, but Larry Grayson is quietly asserting himself as one of the Seminole Athletic Conference's top players.

On Wednesday, for example, Grayson went 3-for-5 with three doubles and a brilliant diving catch in center field to key Oviedo's 10-6 win over the host DeLand Bulldogs in a Class 6A-District 3 contest.

The win improves the Lions to 10-0 overall and 2-0 against district opponents. DeLand falls to 5-7 and 0-4 in 6A-3.

Grayson put Oviedo ahead to stay when he doubled home Justin Holmes in the top of the first inning for the first run of the game. He also doubled in the fourth and sixth innings.

In the seventh inning, Grayson was robbed of a home run when DeLand left fielder Jared Brooks ran into the wall while reaching over it to pull in Grayson's long fly.

"When Larry is swinging the bat like that, he can carry a team," said Oviedo coach Kenne Brown. "And even when he's not swinging the bat well, he's always capable of making plays like he did in the second inning."

Brown was referring to a sprint-and-dive catch Grayson made on a shot by Brooks. Grayson left his feet and was parallel to the ground when he snared Brooks' line drive.

Grayson did not do it alone Wednesday. Blaine Schulte contributed four RBI - two coming on a two-run home run (his 4th of the season) in the first inning and two on a two-run single in the third - while Holmes was 3-for-4 with a double, two runs, and an RBI.

Jared Goodwin added a single and an RBI, while Jeff Knapp and Bobby Mellor each contributed by scoring a run.

Providing the offense for DeLand were Craig Candeto (two singles, two runs); Brooks (double, run, RBI); Ed Senex (single, two RBI); Cole Nolan (single, run, RBI); and Lonnie Tidmarsh and Nick Turnbul (each with one run scored).

J.C. Bias (3-0) came on in relief of starting pitcher Steve Frey and worked four innings to earn the victory.

Bias struggled at first, allowing two of Frey's runners to score and giving up three runs of his own through the first 10 batters he faced. But he settled down and retired seven of the final nine DeLand hitters, striking out four.

"It's great to get a district win, but we can't be satisfied with the way we played," said Brown. "Our pitchers struggled a bit, we made some mental mistakes on defense, and we let some offensive opportunities get away."

"I guess it's good that we could not play our best and still get away with a win. But our district is too competitive for us to get away with that too many times. No matter what our record is, a game like this in the district tournament could mean the end of the season."

Oviedo travels to Lake Mary on Friday for another district contest at 7:30 p.m.

SILVER HAWKS HAMMER 'HOUNDS

LONGWOOD - Lake Howell scored two runs in the fifth inning to break a 2-2 tie and then broke the game open with a four-run sixth inning as the Silver Hawks went on to whip

Lyman, 10-3, in a Class 6A-District 3 and SAC baseball game Wednesday night.

Silver Hawks basketball stars Chad Parsons and Brad Hoffer combined on a six-hitter, with Parsons (1-1) getting the decision.

Facing the Lake Howell (5-5) offense were Chris Gace (2-for-5 with a double), Luke Lockwood (2-for-2) and Roberto Santana (2-for-5, RBI). J.T. Williamson was 2-for-3 for the Greyhounds (4-7), who will host DeLand at 7 p.m. on Friday, then play at Deltona at 1 p.m. on Saturday.

Timberwolves tame Raiders

By Deana Smith
SPORTS EDITOR

SANFORD - Back in the days of slow pitch softball in Junior College, Lake City Community College was virtually unbeatable, winning several National Championships in a row.

Most people were hoping that would change when the JC's went to fast pitch.

But if what happened at Seminole Community College on Tuesday is any indication, the Timberwolves may be just as formidable as they were in the past.

LCCC scored 24 runs on 25 hits, nine for extra bases, while holding the Raiders to one run on nine hits, only one for extra bases, as it swept the Mid-Florida Conference doubleheader, 11-0 and 13-1 in five-innings.

Mauier had the biggest day for the Timberwolves, who improved to 16-2 overall and 7-1 in the conference, going 5-for-7, including a home run and three doubles, scoring five runs and driving in five more.

Boykin also had a huge day, going 5-for-6, including a home run, scoring four runs and driving in six.

Providing the offense for SCC in the first game were Tiffany Martin and Lake Howell's Jen Gillespie, both of whom went 2-for-3.

In the second game, Deanna Osborn was 1-for-2 with a double and a run scored, while Gillespie, Candice Hays and Adrienne Redditt were all 1-for-2 and Martin was 1-for-3.

The Raiders (15-10-1 overall, 3-5 in the M-FC) will travel to Gainesville today to take on Santa Fe Community College in a Mid-Florida Conference doubleheader starting at 2 p.m.

SCC baseball team wins in 10 innings

By Deana Smith
SPORTS EDITOR

SANFORD - The Seminole Community College baseball team rallied for single runs in the eighth, ninth and 10th innings to pull out a 10-9 victory over Illinois Valley Community College from Oglesby Wednesday afternoon at Raider Field.

The Apache's (11-6) had scored two runs in the top of the eighth inning to break a 7-7 tie, before the Raiders' offense came to life.

Lochloosa Lake gets a 2nd stock of black crappie

SANFORD - A second experimental stocking of black crappie in Lochloosa Lake has Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission (GFC) biologists confident they can rejuvenate the once-heralded fishery...

That was before the black crappie fishery crashed in 1992. According to Win Boggs, owner of Yankee Landing Fish Camp, crappie fishing was very important to the local fishing economy...

Studies conducted by GFC biologists on Lochloosa Lake indicated the crappie population was not rebounding on its own. The idea of stocking fingerling crappie was discussed as an alternative that could potentially improve crappie fishing...

Thinking about nursing insurance

SMART MONEY

nothing to worry about, either. After your Medicare runs out — which will be almost immediately — Medicaid will pick up, because you are entitled to protection through the welfare system. It's the middle class that needs to think in terms of protecting assets. While the premiums may seem "astronomical," the other side of the equation is that decent nursing homes can cost between $30,000 and $50,000 a year. Other things being equal, I think you and your spouse should give very serious consideration to long-term care coverage.

DEAR BRUCE: Do you recommend long-term nursing care insurance for couples? My husband and I feel that the quarterly premiums are extremely expensive, and we have a child with four years of education ahead of him. We want to protect what few assets we have, and no one in either of our families has ever been placed in a nursing home — our relatives have all died of heart disease or other quick maladies. Is long-term care insurance really necessary? Is the information that we are receiving by mail from insurance companies correct, or merely a scare tactic? — JOE, Kokomo Beach, Fla.

DEAR JOE: Any time someone sells an insurance policy to protect you from bad things, they have to cite examples. The larger question is whether or not you think long-term care insurance is a viable option. For many people, the answer is yes. I have said this so many times, I'll be as brief as possible: If you are very wealthy, you don't need long-term care insurance. Your income will take care of your needs. Wealthy in this instance is income at a minimum of $34,000 per year per person. If you are poor and have no assets, there is ment control. You may be declared "lost" simply by holding uncashed distributions or dividends, or when an annual report or other correspondence is returned by the post office as undeliverable. The problem is more widespread than one might imagine; the SEC recently estimated that there are some 3 million lost security holders nationwide, owed a cumulative $10 billion. It is also worth noting that old stock certificates may have value to collectors, even if the issuing corporation is no longer in business. Details about lost securities can be found on pages 33 and 35 of "Unclaimed Assets: Money the Government owes You!" (Nupa, 1997) as well as online at: www.unclaimedassets.com. — Mark Total

DEAR MARK: Thank you for confirming my information, and more importantly, adding the online address. I and my readers thank you.

DEAR BRUCE: My tax preparer tells me I screwed up when I moved half of my mutual funds into another fund within the same family. The IRS nailed me unmercifully on capital gains and dividends on the half I moved. My accountant tells me I should have instructed the fund to withdraw the amount moved from the principle of the investment, thus avoiding the tax bite. Is he correct? — D.K., White Horn, Ga.

DEAR D.K.: It would appear that he is. As long as you only move or disturb already-taxed, already-invested money, to my knowledge there is no way that a taxable event can be triggered. When you sell or otherwise convert profits on paper to profits in your wallet, the feds step in and take their pound of flesh. Before one does any type of financial maneuvering it's important to get sound tax advice. More often than not, you can't be extracted from a bad deal — but you can be prevented from making imprudent decisions.

HOROSCOPES

Friday, March 12, 1999

Keep the faith in the year ahead, because several projects you were unable to bring to the marketplace might work out to your satisfaction as the months unfold. Don't be a quitter! PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Be especially cautious if you are managing money for others today, because mistakes are likely. Although you could mean well, prudence and vigilance must be the order of the day. Get a jump on life by understanding the influences that'll govern you in the year ahead. Send the required refund form and for your Astro-Graph predictions by mailing $2 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 1758, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10158. Be sure to state your Zodiac sign. ARIES (March 21-April 19) It's okay to be one of the good guys in the world, but you might have to stand up for your rights today, because even those who love you could try to push you around a bit.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You're an especially good problem-solver today, and those who realize this might attempt to pawn off their tasks or assignments that they can't solve on you. Don't get burdened down. GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Before you put in any good money, reevaluate your thinking on an arrangement that hasn't proved to be as productive as you first hoped. CANCER (June 21-July 22) The smart thing today might be to not let yourself be drawn into the middle of two dissenting friends. There's a chance they could both come down on you. LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) If you lack the confidence or faith today to carry out a assignment you've worked so hard to get, a stronger personality waiting in the wings will snap it up. VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Social involvements with friends could turn out to be a shade more expensive than you may have anticipated today. If you see things are getting out of hand, bail out early. LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) A number of excellent goals may be established today, but realizing them might be another story. Everyone, including yourself, could be at odds as to how to handle them. SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Plans you make with others today need to be kept as simple as possible, because the more clever you get, the more those coy maneuvers could backfire on you. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You might be able to get away with a "what's in it for me?" attitude with the family today, but should companions pick up on any of those uncharacteristic signals, they'll quickly drop you. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) When confronted with a person who has more authority or clout than you do today, tactfully back off. If you attempt to lock horns, chances are you'll be the loser. AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Sensibly budget your spending habits today, and don't rush into any deal that is dangled before you no matter how enticing it might sound. You could jeopardize your entire bank account. ©1999 by NEA, Inc.

Suit-preference saves the day

By Phillip Alder

What was Irvin S. Cobb, an American writer who died in 1994, discussing when he penned these words? "A sudden violent jolt of it has been known to stop the victim's watch, snap his suspenders, and crack his glass eye right across." Yesterday, I highlighted how to employ useless cards to transmit a suit-preference signal. This is definitely the best improvement in defensive technique in the last 20 years (at least). However, it is no good transmitting vital information if your partner doesn't watch the cards. Also, you and your partner must discuss these situations before giving them a try for the first time. As an example, how should the play go in four hearts?

South wasn't full of confidence, but he had to bid game after receiving a raise from partner. West starts with the spade ace (or king); three, two, queen. At this point, West might guess a minor-suit switch, but he'd better guess correctly, as there are no second chances here. However, suppose West decides that South's spade queen was a falsecard, and continues with the spade king (or ace). Now the spotlight is on East. He must drop the nine, his higher remaining card, to ask for a switch to diamonds, the higher-ranking suit excluding spades and trumps. Assuming West gets the message, the diamond 10 will appear on the table to start trick three, and the contract is defeated. After any other play by West, declarer cruises home with 10 tricks via seven hearts and three clubs. Cobb was writing about moonshine corn liquor.

ASK DR. GOTT

Gases can cause stroke-like symptoms

DEAR DR. GOTT: My elderly uncle, who lives alone, suffers from recurring headaches, nausea, weakness, blurred vision and disorientation. His doctor says the symptoms are probably caused by little strokes. But I worry that the propane heater in his apartment may be to blame. Am I off base?

DEAR READER: On the contrary, you may be right on target. Your uncle's symptoms are typical of carbon monoxide poisoning.

Carbon monoxide, an odorless and colorless gas, is an unavoidable byproduct of fossil-fuel combustion. It causes thousands of needless deaths each year and accounts for more mortality and morbidity than all other poisonings combined. Motor vehicle exhaust is the most common source of carbon monoxide. Other sources include natural gas, charcoal, kerosene and wood. This is the reason why adequate ventilation is so crucial when space heaters (or propane furnaces) are used in the home.

DR. GOTT
PETER GOTT, M.D.

Agency's Indoor Air Quality Information Clearinghouse, P.O. Box 37123, Washington, DC 20013-7123 or call them at (800) 438-4318.

DEAR DR. GOTT: What makes my tongue get red, swollen and painful?

DEAR READER: I dunno. See a dentist. The condition you describe appears to be glossitis (inflammation of the tongue), which can be caused by strongly flavored chewing gum, smoking, spicy foods, ill-fitting dentures and oral infections.

Because carbon monoxide has more than 200 times the affinity of regular oxygen in combining with hemoglobin in the blood, people exposed to this danger quickly suffer from the signs of asphyxiation. Mild symptoms include headache and dizziness that may progress to collapse, seizures and coma. Many cases of carbon monoxide poisoning are incorrectly diagnosed as "flu" or "strokes." However, the disorder can be rapidly recognized with a blood test that measures the amount of carbon monoxide that is attached to hemoglobin. Treatment with a 100 percent oxygen mask, if applied early enough, will almost always cure the poisoning. I agree with you that carbon monoxide is a possible problem in you uncle's apartment. For more information about this and other air-quality issues, write to the Environmental Protection

To give you related information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Medical Specialists." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2017, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10158. Be sure to mention the title.

(Peter Gott, a syndicated columnist for Newspaper Enterprise Association, can be written to at P.O. Box 61288, Cleveland, OH 44161-2888.)
