Three hit by drive-by dartsman

Police in the Tampa area are trying to determine the identity of a dartsman who has wounded three people with homemade blow darts that authorities say may have been dipped in some kind of poison.

None of the three victims was seriously injured after being struck by the darts, which police say were fired from a passing vehicle.

Hugo's winds at 115 mph

Forecasters are continuing to keep a close watch on Hurricane Hugo, which was tabbed a Category 3 hurricane after its winds grew to 115 mph yesterday.

The storm is two to three days away from the Leeward Islands and may or may not threaten the east coast of the U.S.

Hugo would not reach waters off the coast of this country until late next week, provided it maintains its current path, forecasters say.

Smoke rises at Smokerise

LONGWOOD — Seminole County sheriffs deputies found empty fuel cans behind a burning Sweetwater Oaks home.

At 11:31 a.m. Thursday, deputies found the empty cans behind 102 Smokerise Blvd., Longwood, where Seminole County firefighters had responded to a residential fire.

The deputies turned the matter over to Seminole County Fire Department. No report on the fire or its cause was available at press time.

Water restrictions eased

SANFORD — Seminole County residents can resume watering their lawns and washing their cars in the evening hours, but officials are warning that other water-use restrictions could last until next summer.

"Unless something unusual happens, we'll be in unusual restrictions until next summer," said Bill Osborn, director of technical data services for the St. Johns River Water Management District.

Water well levels have increased only slightly since the restrictions took effect Aug. 19, he said.

"If we get a hurricane we could come out of it, but I don't think so," Osborn said.

His comments came after the district's board voted to ease restrictions by allowing residents to water their lawns and wash their cars between 6 p.m. and 8 p.m. three days a week.

The board agreed to add the nighttime hours to the phase-one schedule because residents had complained the prohibitions were too restrictive.

COMING SUNDAY

Sanford mom reunited with son

Kenny O'Gorman was 15 months old when his mother put him up for adoption because of what she called "family problems with the child's father" at the time.

Kenny, now 26 years old, finally located his long-lost mom last week.

It's a story you won't want to miss in Sunday's edition.

It's kickoff time

Seminole, Lake Mary high schools begin grid seasons tonight

By VICKI DeBONNER and SANDRA BOUGHANNE Herald staff writers

It was to be a raucous time this afternoon at Seminole and Lake Mary high schools as the Sanford and Lake Mary high schools' student bodies warm up for their opening games of the football season this evening.

Sanford's Fighting Seminoles will play at 8 p.m. at DeLand High School. The Lake Mary Rams will take on the Lake Brantley Patriots who host the game tonight at 8 p.m.

Spirit is effervescing at the schools, student and faculty leaders said this morning.

Lake Mary High School Principal Don Reynolds described the opening of the season as "festive" with fireworks and entertainment by the school bands.

"It's really what high school activities are all about," he said.

Most of the youngsters come to school clad in the school colors.

"There's orange and black everywhere," said Wayne Epps, principal at Seminole High School.

The school store sells T-shirts in various styles with the Seminole logo silk screened on them. According to Epps, they produce at least one new shirt style every year so that seniors have a collection of shirts from which to choose.

"And some kids just make their own," he said.

At Lake Mary high, hundreds of students were to participate this afternoon in a pep rally in the auditorium, according to Fred Tombros, director of student activities.

On Wednesday night, a family pep rally kicked off the spirit of the season when students and parents were invited to be introduced to all the

What water restrictions?

Sanford utility employees prepare to repair a break in a 10-inch water main caused by a contractor working on a natural gas line under Sixth Street between Myrtle and Oak avenues. The old water main had no valve to shut off the water and isolate the break so the water pressure had to be reduced over much of west Sanford for several hours Thursday until workers repaired the break. The mishap comes at a time when Sanford and Central Florida is under mandatory water restrictions.

Residents opposed to project

By J. MARK BARFIELD Herald staff writer

SANFORD — Residents from Seminole and Lake Counties united Thursday to oppose a five-acre commercial site on State Road 46 less than a mile from the Wekiva River.

"No one I've talked to is in favor of a Handy Way (convenience store)," said Joan Erwin, a Lake County resident living on the west side of the Wekiva River. "People I've talked to all said they moved to Lake County to get away from that sort of thing."

Erwin joined Seminole County residents, a member of the League of Women Voters and representatives of the Friends of the Wekiva River Inc. in speaking against the proposed convenience store at the southwest corner of the intersection of Longwood Markham Road and SR 46.

Thursday's testimony concluded 2½ days of hearings for an appeal filed by the state Department of Community Affairs (DCA) against Seminole County. DCA wants the county to change the land use from commercial, which would allow a convenience store, to a residential or agricultural classification that would allow more limited commercial uses.

The hearing officer's recommendation to Gov. Bob Martinez and the Florida Cabinet is expected in about three months. Their decision could follow within an additional three months, state hearing officer Bob

Sanford taking a stand on AIDS research; charity event tomorrow

By LAURA L. SULLIVAN Herald staff writer

SANFORD — Early in the nation's confrontation with AIDS, few people knew how to talk about the disease that was then thought to be confined to homosexual communities.

Denial, instead of education, was the approach most communities chose. Here in Florida, one family with three AIDS-infected children were buried out of their Arcadia home. And in Indiana, an entire community forced a young hemophiliac suffering from AIDS and his family to leave town.

But, in and around Sanford, Central Florida is talking about how to fight the disease that took the life of a local attorney who was infected in 1983 when he received nine units of blood.

Karen Coleman, sister of Thomas E. Whigham, said she believes Central Florida stands apart from other communities in the way schools, businesses and churches have worked together for research of the disease that killed her brother at age 35.

"These are not entertainers. These are our own people — local people — taking a stand on AIDS research," Coleman said.

About 400 people will board the Grand Romance tomorrow night for an event to help establish an endowed chair at the University of Miami for research of the neurological effects of acquired immune deficiency syndrome. This may be the first such chair in the nation.

The Grand Romance charity ball will launch from Monroe Harbor after a 7:30 p.m. ceremony to honor Whigham. Before the launch, Sanford Ballet Guild and Destiny Choir will perform dockside.

Tickets for the cruise are still available for $75. Coleman said $50 from each ticket will go to AIDS neurological research. The Superchallenge effort has raised $50,000 toward a $1 million goal.

Several thousand dollars already have been received from people who won't be attending the ball tomorrow, Coleman said.

On the boat, former Pablo Cruise musician and Sanford native Dave Jenkins will perform with local bands Mike Galloway and the Midnight Creepers and The Shy Guys. All three levels of the boat will feature live entertainment while champagne, wine and hors d'oeuvres are served throughout the cruise.

Althea Parrish, who helped organize the AIDS Superchallenge Charity Ball with Jay Stokes, said she has planned some special touches for the event, including moonlighting.

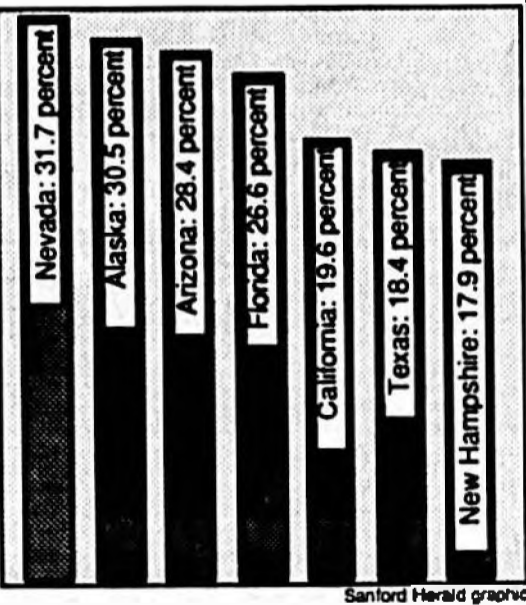

When the event was in planning stages four months ago, Parrish said, she chose tomorrow's date because of the full moon.

Whigham was a 1971 graduate of Seminole High School, where he had been student body president and football team captain, and a graduate of University of Florida and Nova Law School. He was a partner of Stenstrom, McIntosh, Julian, Colbert, Whigham & Simmons.

Whigham died Oct. 18, 1988, after suffering from progressive multifocal leukoencephalopathy (PML), a virus that destroys the brain.

Florida fourth among fastest-growing states

From staff and wire reports

While Florida is growing, it isn't growing as fast as California and the growth doesn't have as much effect as it does in Nevada, according to a Census Bureau report released Thursday in Washington, D.C.

California added 4.6 million people since 1980, compared to Florida's 2.5 million. Nevada's population had the largest percentage of increase since 1980, growing 31.7 percent. Florida grew a mere 26.6 percent, good for fourth place behind Alaska and Arizona.

But that's not all. After years of struggling, agriculture-based states and areas of the Industrial Rust Belt are turning the population tide, either trimming their losses or beginning to build again, the Census Bureau said.

As examples, the bureau said three industrial-based Midwest states that saw populations

Three shot, wounded by darts

Police investigating whether darts may have been poisoned

United Press International

TAMPA — Possibly "deranged" people have shot and wounded at least three men with homemade blow darts that may have been dipped in poison, police said Thursday.

None of the victims was critically injured, although at least one was treated at a hospital for dizziness and another was reported to have temporarily lost consciousness.

Police spokesman Wiley Howell said two of the victims believed they were shot by two men in a maroon or red sedan.

The third victim could only confirm that his assailant apparently was one man in a car. The attackers ranged in age from 17 to 25.

"It may be some deranged people or some type of revenge. We just don't know the motive," said Sgt. Bob Pennington of the Tampa Police Department.

"These guys are just driving around and shooting people."

Two of the attacks occurred within about 15 minutes of each other Aug. 30 about 5 miles apart, while the third was Sept. 1 near the site of one of the first assaults. One of the first attacks occurred just north of a police station.

Tammy Comer Sr., 26, the last to be hit, pulled the dart from his arm and put it in his pocket, and because the pain wasn't much more than a sting, caught his bus to work. But a half hour later he became ill and was taken to the hospital where he was treated and released four hours later.

Doctors said the homemade dart probably had been dipped in something because it made him sick.

Pennington said the homemade darts are about 3 inches long and are fashioned from a sewing needle attached to a plastic tube and topped with cotton. He said in at least one incident the dart was propelled through a drinking straw.

He said experts at the FBI laboratory in Washington, D.C., are examining a milky substance found on the needles.

Medical experts at the state Police Control Center at Tampa General came up with no answers.

"It could be anything from narcotics to pesticides to small pox," said Director Dr. Sven Normann. "But there aren't many substances that can maintain their potency after drying on the end of a needle."

James Ponder, 35, told police he was approached by two men in a red or maroon car who asked him how to get to Clearwater, and then where they could buy some crack cocaine, Howell said.

School: Christmas carols permitted

PENSACOLA — Escambia County students will be able to continue singing traditional Christmas carols at school concerts, Superintendent Pete Payton said Wednesday.

Payton announced last month that prayers led by ministers would no longer be allowed over public address systems at school-sponsored events. That decision was prompted by an 11th Circuit Court ruling earlier this year on a Georgia school prayer case.

At the Aug. 21 announcement concerning prayers, school officials said they did not know if it would affect Christmas concerts. But on Wednesday, Payton said a 1977 court ruling allows the concerts as long as a variety of sacred and non-religious music is used.

Gunmen escape after bank robbery

MIAMI LAKES — Three gunmen wearing stocking masks robbed a Southeast Bank branch Thursday, pistol-whipping a customer and escaping with an undetermined amount of money, the FBI said.

The gunmen entered the bank on Ludlum Road in Miami Lakes about 10:15 a.m., FBI spokesman Paul Miller said. The trio drew pistols and ordered the tellers and customers to drop to the floor.

"One of the customers didn't hear the command. He was concentrating on something else at the time. One of the subjects went over to that customer and struck him on the right ear with his handgun," Miller said. "He cut his ear, but the customer did not require medical attention."

The suspect then vaulted over the counter and threatened to kill a teller unless he was given money, Miller said.

The suspects ran out of the bank through an apartment complex and escaped by car with a bag of money, Miller said.

Sailor found dead aboard research ship

FORT LAUDERDALE — A sailor was found dead in his cabin aboard a Navy research ship at Fort Everglades Thursday, and deputies said he apparently died of natural causes.

The man, believed to be in his 40s, was the first engineer aboard the USS Lynch, which docked at Fort Everglades Saturday for maintenance. The oceanic research vessel is owned by the Navy, but operated by a private contractor, said Broward County Sheriff's spokesman Al Gordon.

Crewmen checked on the man when he did not report for duty Thursday morning, and broke down his cabin door, which was pinned shut by the body, Gordon said.

The victim had complained to shipmates of severe back pain, and had told another shipmate a week ago that he intended to put himself on the crew's "unfit list," but did not say why, Gordon said.

Genzman nominated to attorney's office

WASHINGTON — President Bush said Thursday he would nominate Robert Genzman as U.S. attorney for the Middle District of Florida.

Genzman, 38, of Orlando, has served for the past year as court-appointed U.S. attorney for the Florida district. Pending Senate confirmation, he would succeed Robert Merkle.

Circus animals to return home

VENICE — Dozens of animals stranded in Japan because of a contract dispute between Ringling Bros. and Sanyo, a Japanese circus and a Japanese promoter are heading home to the winter headquarters of the circus.

Jerome Sowlasky, vice president and general counsel for Ringling Bros., said a group of baboons arrived in the United States Wednesday and most of the animals should be out of Japan by the end of the week.

Almost 100 animals had been held in Japan since Sept. 3 when Japan Educational Corp. canceled the circus's run there a month early and refused to relinquish export permits held on the animals until it was paid $3 million.

Sowlasky declined to comment on the reason for the dispute or whether the circus made any payments to the promoter. But he said the Japanese government issued new export permits after more than a week of discussions with U.S. officials in Tokyo.

Two plead guilty in lock pick scam

MIAMI — A man and a woman pleaded guilty Thursday to fraud for doing business by telephone with out-of-state buyers for "lock pick guns," devices that were supposed to be able to open car doors quickly.

Jeffrey Lynn Colclander and Grace Freeman sold the devices to automotive businesses around the country from their business, Contemporary Concepts, in north Miami. They made at least $184,000 in less than two months and nearly all of their customers were dissatisfied, said U.S. Attorney Dexter Lehtinen.

Florida Power fined $100,000 for violations at nuclear plant

CRYSTAL RIVER — The Nuclear Regulatory Commission has slapped Florida Power Corp. with a $100,000 fine for violating regulations in the testing of safety equipment at the Crystal River nuclear power plant that would be used in the event of a meltdown.

The NRC said studies of the plant's program "indicated failure to implement adequate management and program controls to assure that equipment was properly qualified and to verify that equipment was properly installed in the field."

The company has 30 days to pay the civil penalty or appeal the decision, which was announced Wednesday. The nuclear plant is located

Hurricane Hugo's winds reach 115 mph

United Press International

MIAMI — Hurricane Hugo jumped 40 mph to 115 mph Thursday as it bounded westward across the Atlantic, aiming its 100 mph winds just north of the Leeward Islands.

At 10:30 p.m. EDT, Hugo was centered near latitude 13.9 north, longitude 51.1 west, or about 650 miles east of the Lesser Antilles. It was moving west at 15 mph and little change in motion was expected in the next 24 hours.

Hugo grew to hurricane strength Wednesday and forecasts at the National Hurricane Center said a well defined eye was visible on satellite photographs.

At 115 mph, the hurricane was a category 3 tropical system on the Saffir-Simpson Hurricane Scale, making it capable of blowing down trees and causing structural damage to small buildings, destroying mobile homes and causing a storm surge of up to 12 feet.

Hugo was about two or three days away from the Leewards and it appeared the storm would pass a little north of the islands. Probability charts issued by the hurricane center indicated there was a 6 to 8 percent chance Hugo's eye would pass within 65 miles of St. Croix and St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands, and San Juan and Ponce, Puerto Rico, by Sunday morning.

Hugo is the eighth named storm and the fifth to reach hurricane strength during the 1989 Atlantic-Caribbean hurricane season that began June 1 and ends Nov. 1.

Like its predecessors, Felix and Gabrielle, Hugo was born near the Cape Verde Islands off the African coast.

near the town of Crystal River on Florida's west coast.

Florida Power spokesman Mark Jacobs said the testing program is designed to protect vital safety equipment in the event of an accident that would threaten the plant's core, an event commonly referred to as a "meltdown."

Jacobs said the company will not decide whether to appeal until it receives a copy of the NRC report.

"We remain confident that the plant emergency equipment would work efficiently before and after an accident should it ever occur," he said.

The "environmental qualification" of electrical equipment at nuclear power plants was to have been completed by November 1985, but the NRC said Florida Power has just begun implementing a comprehensive program.

Martinez denies backtracking on abortion regulation

United Press International

TALLAHASSEE — Gov. Bob Martinez denied Thursday he would accept less stringent regulations for abortion clinics as part of his package of abortion reforms.

His denial came a day after a top official of the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services testified before the House Health Care Committee that Martinez was prepared to let clinics provide the sort of routine risk assessments already considered standard medical practice.

"There is no shift in my position on this subject," subject, and Thursday's hearing — which was conducted in the House chamber for security purposes — was the first involving testimony by the general public.

Chairwoman Elaine Gordon kept a tight rein on the talks, saying she wanted the testimony restricted to the governor's proposals, but she upset abortion foes when she barred testimony by people under age 18.

Florida Right to Life had brought to the hearings a 10-year-old boy who had been adopted and a healthy 4-year-old girl who had been born at 19 weeks gestation.

Otherwise, we don't want anyone who's at risk in terms of death not to get the best service we can obtain," he said.

The Legislature will meet in special session Oct. 10-13 to consider Martinez's proposals. The House Health Care Committee has been meeting this week to hear testimony on the subject, and Thursday's hearing — which was conducted in the House chamber for security purposes — was the first involving testimony by the general public.

Live Oak council votes police force out of existence

United Press International

LIVE OAK — Residents of the rural north Florida community of Live Oak are wondering what they are going to do about police protection now that the city council has voted the town's police force out of existence.

The vote to get rid of the police department came Tuesday night, after a two-year feud between the council and the police department came to a head. Essentially, the city had accused police officers of using their patrol cars to joy-ride outside the city limits, City Manager Myron Holmes said.

There have also been accusations that the police drug squad has been a little rough on suspects.

In voting to abolish the 16-member police department, the commission agreed to pursue a contract for law enforcement with the Suwannee County Sheriff's Department.

"Somebody said 'I'll make the motion, if you'll second it,' and somebody else said, 'I'll second it if you make the motion,' and — bap, bap — it happened," said council chairman Sonny Nobles, the only one of the SANFORD — Kathryn Vestrin, 32, 300 Fern Park Blvd., reported to the sheriff's department Tuesday that an unknown person entered her bedroom and removed her brown and white gerbil valued at $5.

Lake Monroe man arrested for loitering

SANFORD — Anthony Columbus Edwards, 25, 852 Dunbar Ave., Lake Monroe, was arrested Friday morning on charges of loitering and resisting arrest without violence.

Sanford police officers arrested Edwards after seeing him in an alley near Fourth Street and Sanford Avenue three times. He tried to hide from officers, then offered a false name when they approached him, according to police reports.

Police said Edwards has an extensive criminal history in the sale and delivery of cocaine. The area where he was arrested is a major traffic area for crack cocaine, the reports said.

Edwards was transported to Seminole County jail where bond was set at $500.

Altamonte Springs man arrested for DUI

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Stephen Scott Simpson, 31, 350 Notre Dame Dr., Altamonte Springs, was arrested at 12:12 a.m. Friday by Florida Highway Patrol on charges of driving under the influence.

Juvenile charged with loitering

LONGWOOD — A Longwood teen was arrested Thursday on charges of loitering and prowling at a Handy Way convenience store at 467 Church Ave., Longwood.

The 19-year-old was arrested by Longwood police at 10:38 p.m. and taken to the Seminole County jail. Bond was set at $100.

Man charged with marijuana possession

LAKE MARY — William Jordan Coen, 21, 152 Crown Oaks, Longwood, was arrested for possession of less than 20 grams of marijuana.

A Lake Mary police officer stopped Coen at 12:03 a.m. Friday at Lake Mary Boulevard and Lake Edward for a defective vehicle equipment citation when a crime check revealed a Volusia County warrant on the man.

A plastic bag containing marijuana and drug paraphernalia were found beneath the floor mat of the driver's seat, according to police reports.

Coen was transported to Seminole County jail. Bond was set at $500.

THURSDAY
 01:50 a.m. — 130 Kridler Rd., medical call, woman, 32, not transported.
 09:15 a.m. — 12th Street and Olive Avenue, trauma call, man, 26, transported by AMT.
 01:10 a.m. — 3422 S. Orlando Dr., medical call, man, 37, transported to Central Florida Regional Hospital.
 02:16 p.m. — 1381 W. 16th St., trauma call, boy, 4, transported by private vehicle.
 03:26 p.m. — 1215 W. First St., medical call, man, 37, transported to Central Florida Regional Hospital.

FRIDAY
 01:09 p.m. — Polina Street and Myrtle Avenue, trauma call, man, 16, and man, 25, not transported.
 09:17 p.m. — 510 W. Fourth St., power line in tree arcing, cited by Florida Power & Light.
 09:41 p.m. — Seminole High School, medical call, boy, 14, transported by AMT.
 01:07 p.m. — No. 8 Seminole Gardens, trauma call, woman, 32, transported by AMT.
 01:15 a.m. — No. 44 William Clark Court, bad fuse in outside service box arcing and smoking. No fire. Sued by for maintenance man to replace fuse.

Cabinet acts to protect manatees

United Press International

TALLAHASSEE — The Florida Cabinet approved an emergency measure Thursday restricting boating speeds on Brevard County waters, one of the most dangerous and most desirable spots for manatees in Florida.

The Cabinet also approved $200,000 in overtime pay for Florida Marine Patrol officers enforcing boating safety laws, but postponed until next month a proposal to post speed limits on other inland waterways in Florida.

"Just putting a speed limit up isn't going to have any effect," said Skip Hudson, chairman of the Citrus County Commission. "The Cabinet needs to put its money where its mouth is," he said, adding that more taxing resources and increased registration fees for boaters are needed to hire additional marine patrol officers to enforce speed limits.

The emergency rule establishes a temporary 90-day slow-speed zone for the Banana River and adjacent waters in Brevard County, and sets a 25-mph maximum speed on the portion of the river known as the "100" channel. The rule goes into effect upon its filing with the Secretary of State, which will probably occur Friday, said officials from the Department of Natural Resources.

Commercial fishermen will be exempted from the slow-speed rule if they can demonstrate extreme hardship, that the exemption will not pose a serious threat to manatees, and they agree to operate at speeds of 20 mph or less.

DNR requested the emergency ruling when it discovered the high number of manatee deaths caused by collisions with boats or barges in the Banana River system.

The grassy bottoms of the Banana River system provide an excellent food source, potable drinking water and resting areas for manatees.

all athletes, not just the football team. The high school band and the Marionettes dance team performed.

"We've never done anything like that before," Tombras said.

At Seminole high this afternoon, the last half hour before the final bell rings to dismiss classes for the weekend, hundreds of students will gather in the newly-remodeled gym to stomp their feet and shout.

A spirit contest pits class against class in a battle to see who can make the most noise in support of the "Fighting Seminoles".

"The freshmen are always quiet and reserved at the first pep rally of the year," Principal Epps said with a chuckle. "They think they're too cool to cheer."

The other classes come prepared with posters, banners, pennants, horns and tin cans filled with pebbles.

"It gets real noisy," Epps said. Added to the noise of the cheering throng is the band, blasting out fight songs, popular pieces and the alma mater.

Cheerleaders, both varsity and junior varsity, show off some of their more acrobatic moves.

"It's not just cheers," said Epps, who added that the cheerleaders lead the student body in their support during the spirit contest.

He said that attendance at the weekly pep rally is not mandatory, but he thinks one would be hard-pressed to find a student who wasn't in the gym for the afternoon festivities.

"They all want to be out there screaming and making noise for the team," he said.

Lake Mary Principal Don Reynolds said if it doesn't rain tonight, "it will be the largest crowd we've ever had" to see the Rams battle it out with the Lake Brantley team.

He said the school already has sold 800 tickets at $2.50 for their game and he projects the rest of those tickets (200) would be sold by noon. Reynolds said it's the largest pre-ticket sale ever.

Ten "spirit" buses will be shuttling students over from Lake Mary High to Lake Brantley for 50 cents. Another seven buses will carry the band and team.

"Our own cheering section is leaving from the parking lot," Reynolds said. The school is providing the shuttle service because of a lack of parking space at Lake Brantley.

He said the bus shuttle has received a "tremendous response" with about 440 tickets being sold. Ten "spirit" buses will transport students from the Lake Mary parking to Lake Brantley High. Buses will meet at 6:30 p.m. in the parking lot.

Meale said.

The five-acre site's land use was first established for commercial development in 1987. The county denied a request by the current owner, Miller Enterprises Inc., in 1983 to allow a convenience store to be built on the site. Miller withdrew a similar request in 1984 while the county considered land uses in the area.

County planning and zoning commissioners approved a third request for a rezoning to allow a convenience store on the site in Dec. 1988. County commissioners have delayed their consideration of the rezoning four times while the state has challenged the site's land use.

DCA officials challenged the two-year-old commercial land use designation earlier this year under authority of the Wekiva River Protection Act, passed by the state late last year. DCA said the site is across SR 46 from the entrance to the Lower Wekiva River State Reserve.

The state is also concerned about the high mortality rate of black bear, a species threatened with extinction, on SR 46. A female black bear was killed near the store site by a car last October.

During Thursday's public comments, Erwin said if Seminole County allowed a commercial development at the intersection, Lake County commissioners might follow suit and allow commercial development in the rural eastern areas of Lake County near the Wekiva River.

Erwin said she and her neighbors would not use the convenience store. "We really don't see who's convenience it's for," Erwin said.

Philip Wick, a vice president of the Friends of Wekiva, said the site is on a hill crest that leads to the Wekiva River.

"The Wekiva River is simply too precious to allow even the most (inoffensive) commercial use within 4,000 feet of the Wekiva River," Wick said.

Fred Harden, president of the Friends of Wekiva, said once one commercial site is allowed, more will follow adjacent to it. "We oppose all commercial development because it's like an amoeba. It spreads," Harden said.

Growth

shrink in the early 1980s — Indiana, Michigan and Ohio — added more residents between 1986 and 1988 than in the preceding five years.

The Commerce Department agency also noted that Iowa added 11,000 people last year after losing population in each of the seven previous years.

However, in a report on estimated state populations, the bureau said growth remained sluggish for a fifth straight year in energy-producing states: Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, West Virginia, Wyoming and Alaska all saw declines in 1988.

"For the nation as a whole, the population has increased very uniformly since 1970, with average annual percent growth of 1.1 percent from 1970 to 1975 and 1975 to 1980, declining slightly to 1 percent from 1980 to 1985 and 1985 to 1988," the report said. U.S. population July 1, 1988, was set at 245,807,000.

In contrast, the bureau said, regional and state population changes have been anything but uniform.

California is still the most populous state — 28.3 million people in 1988 — with the largest amount of growth among all states since 1980, up 4.6 million, including 2.5 million people who moved in from elsewhere.

Next among the largest numerical increases since 1980 are Texas, 2.6 million; Florida, 2.5 million; Georgia, 879,000; Arizona, 771,000; Virginia, 688,000; North Carolina, 607,000; Washington, 518,000; Colorado, 411,000; and Maryland, 405,000.

But Nevada, with a 31.7 percent increase in its population since 1980, had the largest percentage rise. It was followed by Alaska, 30.5 percent; Arizona, 28.4 percent; Florida, 26.6 percent; California, 19.6 percent; Texas, 18.4 percent; New Hampshire, 17.9 percent; Georgia, 16.1 percent; Utah, 15.7 percent; and New Mexico, 15.6 percent.

As California goes, so goes much of the West, which grew at a consistently higher rate than the nation as a whole, the bureau said, with the South the second-fastest growing region since 1970.

In the Northeast, population declined during the 1975-80 period but since has recovered with a growth rate of 0.5 percent between 1985 and 1988. Population growth in the Midwest slumped during 1980-85 but rebounded to 1970's level of 0.4 percent between 1985 and 1988, the bureau said.

Looking at specifically agricultural states, the bureau found that Iowa, which lost population each year between 1981 and 1987, seems to have reversed the slide, showing slightly more people moving in than moving out and an overall growth of 11,000.

NOTICE OF CHANGE OF LAND USE

The City of Sanford proposes to change the use of the land within the area shown in the map of this advertisement.

A public hearing on the proposal will be held on Thursday, September 21, 1989 at 7:00 P.M. or as soon thereafter as possible, by the Planning and Zoning Commission of Sanford, Florida, in the City Commission Room, City Hall, Sanford, Florida. The Planning and Zoning Commission, acting as the City of Sanford's designated Local Planning Agency, will consider an amendment to the Future Land Use Plan Element of the Comprehensive Plan.

Interested parties may appear at the meeting and be heard regarding the transmittal of the proposed plan amendment to the City Commission.

Copies of the proposed amendment to the Future Land Use Plan Element of the Comprehensive Plan are available at the Department of Engineering and Planning and at the City Clerk's Office at City Hall, Sanford, Florida and may be inspected by the public. For further inquiries contact Jay Marder, City Planner at (407) 330-5670.

ADVICE TO THE PUBLIC: If a person decides to appeal a decision made with respect to any matter considered at the above meeting or hearing, he may need a verbatim record of the proceedings, include the testimony and evidence, which record is not provided by the City of Sanford. (FS 286.0105)

We all count

Since the first nationwide count in 1790, the U.S. Census Bureau has tallied the entire population of the United States, as the Constitution specifies, without regard to individuals' residency status. But there is now a move on Capitol Hill to disregard illegal immigrants in the 1990 tally.

The intent of this effort, led by a number of Southern senators and representatives, is to dilute the congressional representation of states such as Florida, California, Arizona, New Mexico, Texas, and Illinois, whose populations include large numbers of undocumented aliens.

The head count is required by the Constitution every 10 years to apportion seats in the House of Representatives. Because the total number of House seats remains constant at 435, states with fast-growing populations pick up additional seats at the expense of states where the growth rate is below average. California, for example, stands to add five or possibly six seats to its 45-seat delegation in the House. Michigan, on the other hand, will lose several seats because it is actually losing population.

Not surprisingly, the impetus to change the rules comes from states that stand to lose seats as a result of the 1990 count. Supporters of the change contend that including all person in the count deprives legal residents of full representation. This facile contention has already been rejected by the courts.

As it is, states with large numbers of immigrants already suffer from the undercounting of their residents. In 1980, for example, an estimated 3 percent of persons living in California were not counted because they sought, as illegal aliens to be invisible from the census-takers.

Consequently, California lost billions of dollars in federal assistance to which it should have been entitled. Inasmuch as federal court decisions require the states to provide education for the children of illegal immigrants, the federal government would be following a double standard to exclude them from the census.

Legal issues aside, requiring census-takers to verify a person's residency status would be nearly impossible. It is difficult at present to get an accurate count because many persons simply distrust the process even though it is confidential. They are fearful of being reported to the housing authority for having too many occupants in a dwelling. Or they expect to be turned over to the Immigration and Naturalization Service for deportation. Persons from poor and minority neighborhoods are already under-represented in the tally. Turning census-takers into investigators to determine a person's legal status would compound these inequities.

Before adjourning for the summer recess, the Senate approved a measure by Richard Shelby, D-Ala., directing the Census Bureau to exclude illegal immigrants from the count. Although a similar proposal failed in the House earlier this month, the issue will be revived when Congress reconvenes next week. In fact, Sen. Shelby plans to attach his measure to an appropriations bill that both the House and the Senate must pass before Oct. 1.

When they reconvene, lawmakers should read the Constitution, including the 14th Amendment, which uses the word "persons" as opposed to "citizens" in determining electoral apportionment. Every census in the last 200 years has counted all persons. To do otherwise would pretend that literally millions of residents in our midst simply don't count.

Muppets in Disneyland

Marriages may be made in heaven, but one sensational mating recently was created right down here in our corporate board rooms.

Mickey Mouse, America's favorite rodent, will be teaming up with the lovable frog, Kermit. Why? The Walt Disney Co. bought Jim Henson's Muppets.

Imagine, Mickey and Minnie strolling side by side along Disney's Main Street with Kermit and Miss Piggy. Think of it, Miss Piggy batting her long eyelashes at Goofy and the Seven Dwarfs. It's scary, isn't it, to think of all the cartoon-character power that's going to be concentrated in Disney theme parks.

If mergermania has invaded the pre-teen market, what next?

At least, it's reassuring to know that some of Henson's best-loved critters — Big Bird, Cookie Monster, Ernie and Bert, among others — won't be moving to Disneyland. They're going to stay put on Sesame Street. Keep an eye on 'em.

Seeing past immigration myopia

"Professor Einstein, I understand that you have a background in science. But we don't have enough officials at our consulate to process your request to come to America."

"I'm sorry Mr. Iacocca. I'm sure you would work hard in America, and so would your children. But we have this budget deficit, and it costs $7,000 per immigrant. Too bad."

"Heinz Kistienger? Hello there young fellow! Sorry, you can't come in. If we put more consular officials in Europe, the Europeans would put more in America — and some of them might be spies."

"You say you're a tailor, Mr. Muskie? Nice. But if we let too many people in, some of the immigrants might be spies. Can't do it."

"Sorry, Dr. Teller, we're turning you down because New Zealand would accept you."

Such are some of the bizarre sorts of reasons offered today by the U.S. State Department as they craft policies that would have the effect of keeping Soviet Jews and evangelical Christians, Poles, Hungarians and other Europeans out of America.

Spies? Consular officials? Is this serious? Is $7,000 too high a cost for Toscanini, a John F. Kennedy, a DiMaggio, a Salik or a Cuomo?

If you like an America without Michael Dukakis, Anthony Fauci, Martina Navratilova, Mikhail Baryshnikov and Ted Kennedy, you'll love recent government immigration philosophy.

Democrats, finally sensing an issue that is both good policy and good politics, are responding. After years of losing votes of ethnic East Europeans, they may have found a good cause.

The proximate cause of the current maximum myopia is the Russian Jewish situation. But it is only the latest symptom of an on-going government mentality — in the White House and Congress — devoid of imagination, not thinking about what makes nations great, viewing immigration as a problem not a promise.

Like the Poles and the Hungarians, the Soviets are now easing up on emigration, at least for Jews and evangelical Christians. The Israelis want the Jews to come to Israel, but most Soviet Jews want to come to America. The State Department, and a few American Jewish organizations, agree with the Israelis that many Russian Jews should not be granted U.S. refugee status — in effect pushing them to Israel.

Is this in the American interest? No. Nor is our current policy of denying refugee status to Poles and Hungarians. Immigrants, particularly skilled immigrants from Europe, are an asset to America.

In the 1950s, more than 70 percent of American immigrants were from Europe — it's now 16 percent. Today, it is much harder for Europeans to get in to America than it is for Asians, Hispanics and Moslems.

Non-European immigration has been good for America, but many Americans are nervous about the changing complexion of the nation. That can poison the climate for immigration — from everywhere. An America with low immigration will stop growing. A no-growth America in a growing world will not be the dominant superpower of the next century.

Despite appearances, we're also too stingy on non-Europeans.

Non-European immigration has been good for America.

"Some government people are here to extradite you, Señor. Shall I have them wait in the torture chamber?"

ELLEN GOODMAN

War wrong anti-drug metaphor

BOSTON — War-talk again. This time it's the war on drugs, inanimate chemicals that have acquired the human characteristics of an insidious enemy. Fighting words now fill the air now like bugle sounds.

The President calls for an "assault on every front." A Democratic critic, Joe Biden, says we need "another D-Day, not another Vietnam." A Republican supporter, Bob Dole, says: "It's a war on drugs, not a war on the American taxpayer."

The great massing of the metaphors has begun anew. We hear about attacks and weapons, front lines and battle plans. Even the media "mobilizes" its "arsenal" of war rhetoric to fill the headlines and leads.

What was it last time? The War on Poverty. The War on Waste. The moral equivalent of war. We leap to this language. Nothing but war seems to have the same power to mobilize, to engage people in some communal effort against a perceived enemy, a named threat. Only a declaration of war stirs the juices enough to call us to sacrifice, to get civilians to join up.

The power of the military image remains so enormous in our minds that even pacifists are trapped by its vocabulary. Martin Luther King, Jr., used to talk about the army of nonviolence. Gandhi about his soldiers. Religious leaders talk about holy crusades as if the model had been a moral mission and not a bloody mess.

To the American ear, surely to the veteran-President, the war on drugs is meant to conjure up that good war, World War II. A war that we were forced into by tyranny, a war that we won while remaining good guys. In our image-making we have expunged the firestorms and atom bombs and nuclear internment, so we also have a war as cleansed of moral ambiguity as it is of mud.

What would happen to the power of the metaphor if we were to accept the message of someone like Paul Fussell whose new book on World War II, "Wartime," opens with the hard thought that ultimately, at the daily troops' eye level, even the "just" war "was a war and nothing else and thus stupid and sadistic." Would we so easily adopt the war cry?

If the martial sounds of this past week sounded false to my ear, it was not just a matter of linguistics. War is just the wrong metaphor for the drug problems of this country and this hemisphere.

War simplifies the complex. It draws sides, us and them, good and evil. War demands a human enemy, people that in time become dehumanized. It eventually wipes out the differences between the coca farmer and the drug baron, the street dealer and the user. The pregnant woman and the pusher can lose their distinction in the process of becoming simply enemies.

War has only one set of responses to a myriad number of situations: violence. It has only one approved pattern of behavior: power. Once begun it can only respond with more.

And, of course, war, especially a "just war", demands sacrifice, even of our liberties. The one end it can see or accept without humiliation is total victory — zero tolerance — or abject surrender.

Where imagery leads, policy follows. And the way we label things, talk and think about them, inevitably has an effect on how we behave.

So the military cast to this declared War on Drugs easily becomes a disastrous way of thinking and planning. A variation of the old oxymoron of Military Intelligence. A one-dimensional fight.

This is the likely outcome of this military strategy, not only because an overwhelming proportion of the money goes to making prisoners of war. Not only because "ultimate victory," a Victory Over Drugs Day, is an impossible goal. But because this war, like most, offers the least to the poor. It emphasizes enemies and not allies, combatants and not civilians, aggression and not protection, destruction over building.

The creatures of the drug culture — drug lords, entrepreneurs, addicts — have indeed taken over great hunks of the inner cities. If there were a military term to describe this reality, it wouldn't be war, but what Arizona political scientist Peter Gouginoff calls an "insurgency."

We don't know how to solve the many problems that collect under the label "drugs." Problems of crime, despair, self-destruction. We do know something about the vulnerability of the poor and hopeless who join this insurgency. We know that hope, a sense of life's possibilities, is the best protection.

What is needed is less of an assault mentality and more of a healing one. But metaphor makes the mind-set, and so it appears that, once again, it's off to war we go. Too bad that this time we didn't skip the war and go directly to the Marshall Plan.

War simplifies the complex.

JACK ANDERSON

Nuclear opponents could be silenced

WASHINGTON — Opponents of nuclear power may feel cocky after stalling plants in California, New Hampshire and Long Island. But a potential meltdown looms for them in Congress. A bill goes to the House floor soon that would curtail chances for the public to speak out against nuclear plants before they are operational.

Now, more than ever, the public is using the formal hearing process to pressure the weakened Nuclear Regulatory Commission to enforce safety measures at the plants. But the House bill would eliminate the public hearings that are now held before a new plant gets a license to go to full power.

Why would Congress even consider cutting off that public input? If you guessed campaign donations, you're warm.

The operators and builders of nuclear power plants have been buying access to Congress for decades. In just the past eight years, the industry has pumped more than $25 million into the campaigns of senators and representatives, according to a campaign finance study by the U.S. Public Interest Research Group.

"Many of the nuclear corporations that use [campaign donations] to buy access to members of Congress are asking those same members to deny the public access to important decisions," PIRG attorney Bill McGovern told our associate Stewart Harris.

"It appears the real reason for these contributions is to buy votes," said PIRG's Executive Director Gene Karpinsky.

It should come as no surprise that on the average, representatives who voted in committee to endorse the House bill received a good chunk of nuclear money. In fact, since 1981, they have collected almost twice as much from the industry as those who voted against the limitation on public hearings, according to campaign records.

The measure passed by a 13-10 vote in subcommittee and then was narrowly defeated 22-20 in the House Energy and Commerce Committee. But its tireless sponsor, Rep. William Dannemeyer, R-Calif., vows to bring it to the floor for a vote of the full House this fall. Dannemeyer has been a nuclear power advocate for years and the industry has rewarded him handsomely. He received $45,945 in campaign contributions between 1981 and 1988 from companies with a direct interest in nuclear power.

Other beneficiaries to vote for the bill in committee, and their contributions between 1981-88, were Jack Fields, R-Texas, ($99,550); Joe Barton, R-Texas, ($94,550); Don Ritter, R-Pa., ($94,466); Norman Lent, R-N.Y., ($93,480); and Thomas Bliley, R-Va., ($78,107). One exception to the pattern was Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich., who has received $121,950 in industry contributions since 1981 but voted against Dannemeyer's bill.

Under the current procedure, public hearings are held before a plant gets a construction permit and again before it gets a permit to go to full power. Dannemeyer wants to eliminate the second hearing. He says his bill is intended to send a clear signal to the industry that the country is interested in "nuclear power as an American energy option."

The people whom Dannemeyer represents may not share his optimism, and at the very least they deserve the right to be heard on safety issues. Under Dannemeyer's amendment, they would have to appeal their concerns to the NRC, which has not exactly distinguished itself as the champion of the people.

The real reason for these contributions is to buy votes.

Astronauts confident about launch

United Press International

CAPE CANAVERAL — The crew of the shuttle Atlantis reviewed emergency escape procedures Thursday during a final dress-rehearsal countdown before blasting off Oct. 12 on a high-priority flight to fire the nuclear-powered Galileo probe to Jupiter.

Fearful of a radiation release in the event of a launch catastrophe, anti-nuclear activists have vowed to trespass at the Kennedy Space Center to delay the long-awaited flight, but the shuttle astronauts said Thursday they were confident the mission will get off the ground on time.

"We're in a free country and that's what America's all about," astronaut Franklin Chang-Dias said. "From my personal perspective as a scientist, I think the Galileo spacecraft is a wonderful piece of engineering, a wonderful machine that is going to return to us a tremendous wealth of scientific data."

Crewmate Elen Baker said the Kennedy Space Center "has real good security folks and they're working very hard to protect the vehicle and protect the premises. I expect that's the way it will be and so I don't anticipate any delays because of that."

"I certainly hope we don't have anybody out here breaking the law or committing any criminal acts," Baker said. "I think that would be terrible."

The astronauts inspected the Galileo probe at the launch pad Thursday and reviewed emergency escape procedures. They planned to climb aboard the orbiter early Friday for the final hours of the mock countdown.

All five crew members were expected to fly to Washington later in the day Friday for a meeting with Vice President Dan Quayle, chairman of the National Space Council.

Because the Galileo probe is powered by plutonium generators, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration must receive formal approval from the White House before launching Atlantis.

The Bush administration is expected to approve the mission, based on the results of an exhaustive safety analysis, and the official go-ahead could be announced by Quayle or other administration officials as early as this weekend.

Atlantis skipper Donald Williams said he could not comment on when the flight might win formal approval, but he said: "We'll be back down here on or about three days before the 12th of October and ready to go."

Williams, 47, co-pilot Michael McCulley, 46, flight engineer Chang-Dias, 39, Shannon Lucid, 46, and Baker, 36, are scheduled to blast off at 1:29 p.m. EDT Oct. 12. It will be the 31st shuttle flight since 1981 and the sixth since the Jan. 28, 1986, Challenger disaster.

The goal of the flight, the fourth of 1989, is the deployment of the Galileo probe, a sophisticated robot craft named after the 17th-century Italian astronomer that was built to explore Jupiter and its many moons during a two-year orbital tour.

Because the spacecraft is equipped with a pair of atomic power packs called radioisotope thermoelectric generators — RTGs — anti-nuclear activists have vowed to seek an injunction in federal court in Washington to block the launch.

They argue that in the event of a launch disaster, or if Galileo accidentally re-enters the atmosphere, deadly plutonium fuel could be released into the environment.

NASA says the RTGs would easily survive a Challenger-class disaster intact and that while there is a roughly 1-in-2,700 chance of releasing plutonium in a launch accident, only trace amounts would be pulverized into a form that could be easily inhaled.

The activists have vowed to infiltrate the Kennedy Space Center and "sit on the launch pad" to block the flight.

Gunman kills co-workers

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — A gunman who killed seven co-workers and wounded 14 others before committing suicide warned over a period of 30 years he was contemplating the bloody rampage but was not taken seriously, police said.

Joseph T. Wesbecker, 47, of Louisville, fired on his colleagues with an AK-47 semiautomatic rifle Thursday at the printing plant where he had been employed, then shot himself to death with one of his other four guns.

"Over a period of 30 years at the company he made statements that he was going to do what he did. But no one took him seriously," said homicide Detective Mark Handy. "People we talked to at the company said it was not uncommon for him to talk like that."

Police said Wesbecker ranged up and down three floors of the downtown Standard Gravers printing plant, firing an undetermined number of shots during a 30-minute rampage, said Police Chief Richard Dotson.

The gunman appeared to choose his targets deliberately as he emptied at least one clip during the shooting spree, said chief of detectives Maj. Edward L. Mercer. "It was not random," he said. "There were no holes in the ceiling."

Tax cut faces fight

WASHINGTON — House Democratic leaders, furious that the House Ways and Means Committee passed a capital gains tax cut they say helps only the rich, are predicting a "painful" fight on the House floor to kill the measure.

On a 19-17 vote Thursday, the tax-writing panel approved cutting the tax rate on profits from the sale of assets such as stocks, bonds and real estate from the current 28 percent to 19.6 percent through Dec. 31, 1991. After that, the tax rate would go back to 28 percent but would be indexed so profits eroded by higher inflation would not be taxed.

Ways and Means Chairman Dan Rostenkowski, D-Ill., a capital gains tax cut opponent, issued a statement after the vote condemning it as a potential "financial disaster for this country" that could also help unravel the delicately balanced Tax Reform Act of 1986.

Bush increases food aid to Poland

WASHINGTON — President Bush, pressed by Congress and the new Polish leadership, is providing an additional $60 million in food aid to Poland to feed the hungry and bolster democracy in the Eastern European nation.

"We expect that the shipments ... will arrive in time for the difficult winter months," Bush said Thursday in a prepared statement announcing the aid, which includes meat, corn, butter and sunflower oil.

The assistance, prompted by acute shortages threatening support for economic change, will augment $58.4 million in previously authorized food aid.

Bush said the additional food aid, to be drawn from government stocks of surplus commodities, reflects the intent of the United States and its allies "to support the process of change that is under way in Poland."

"It underscores our continuing commitment to assist the Polish government and people in their efforts to introduce market principles and to build a private sector that will enable Poland to invigorate its economy," Bush said.

Trash mountain too high at Dade County landfill

United Press International

MIAMI — The trash is piled 15 feet too high at the Dade County landfill, and waste managers said that if the heap doesn't settle enough on its own to avoid a $50,000 state fine, they'll scrape it down a little.

The landfill is supposed to be only 150 feet high under the permit issued by the state Department of Environmental Regulation. It is 15 feet too high, or at least it was the last time the state checked in June.

The oversize heap is no big deal, said Bill Worrell, assistant director of the Metro-Dade Department of Solid Waste Management, which runs the landfill.

Settling and decomposition of the garbage will bring the trash pile, the highest point of "land" in the county, down to legal height, Worrell said if that doesn't happen soon enough to suit the state, the county will be glad to "scrape" it a little.

"There's no question that we violated the permit," Worrell said. "We are above 150 feet."

"What we're saying is that there's no harm in that. The ultimate height of the landfill will be 150 feet."

Residents may pay to clean Everglades

United Press International

WEST PALM BEACH — South Florida residents would be asked to pay a portion of the costs for cleaning up the environmentally sensitive Everglades, under a plan proposed by regional water managers.

The proposal, unveiled Wednesday at a meeting of the South Florida Water Management District board, is expected to prove controversial.

The Everglades cleanup plan is expected to cost about $68 million over the first three years. The money is needed largely to purchase land and equipment.

The plan, which has yet to win approval of the district board, calls for the establishment of buffer zones between the Everglades and farm land to filter nutrient-rich water that flows off those farms.

The staff of the water management district suggested that $18.5 million of the money should come from farmers who produce the pollution.

Under the proposal, Florida

Power & Light Co. would pay $27.5 million of the cleanup cost, in exchange for the right to construct huge power lines within the Everglades Water Conservation Areas.

The remainder of the money would come from government sources, as well as a storm water utility tax that, if approved, could add a surcharge on south Florida water bills.

The size of that surcharge has yet to be determined for residential bills.

However, farmers could be taxed as much as $5 to $10 an acre of land to generate $16.8 million.

Colombia's traffickers feel the heat

BOGOTA, Colombia — Colombia's nearly month-old anti-drug crackdown has forced many cocaine traffickers into neighboring countries, where they face increasingly hostile governments, the nation's police commander said.

Gen. Miguel Gomez, commander of the National Police, said Thursday his country's war on the cocaine cartels is beginning to bite deep, noting that Brazil has moved a portable radar installation near its border with Colombia.

Other surrounding countries have increased border patrols as cocaine producers flee Colombia for what they believe are safer havens, he said.

"We are detecting that many (cocaine) laboratories are abandoning our territory," Gomez said.

The crackdown has netted two more Colombians wanted on cocaine trafficking charges in the United States, bringing to four the number of suspects awaiting extradition, police said.

Nicaraguan coalition not certain

MANAGUA, Nicaragua — Nicaragua's main opposition group would not seek a coalition with the ruling Sandinista Front if it won next year's national elections, opposition candidates said.

Violeta Chamorro and Virgilio Godoy, the presidential and vice-presidential candidates of the 14-party United National Opposition, met with foreign reporters in Managua Thursday and denied reports that, regardless of who wins the election, Nicaragua's next government would be some sort of coalition between the Sandinistas and UNO.

"When we speak of national reconciliation, we don't necessarily mean involving the Sandinista Front in the new government," Godoy said as Chamorro nodded in agreement. "The idea ... is not to leave Tomas Borge in the Interior Ministry."

It was the first news conference given by Chamorro and Godoy since their nomination earlier this month.

Salvadorans agree to monthly talks

MEXICO CITY — Leftist rebels and El Salvador's right-wing government agreed to hold monthly talks toward ending their decade-old war, the result of what a key Salvadoran official called the rebels' "more realistic attitude."

Government and rebel negotiators in Mexico City continued negotiating past the scheduled 7 p.m. Thursday ending time and well past midnight, apparently working out details of the dialogue.

There was discussion of extending the talks through today, when the sides could take up substantive issues, said Gregorio Rosa Chavez, an assistant Roman Catholic archbishop of El Salvador who was observing the talks.

"At this moment, the delegates are elaborating the final details on the document," Rosa Chavez told reporters during a break in the late-night sessions.

Beirut calm as Arab League talks end

BEIRUT, Lebanon — Beirut fell easily silent for a second day as an Arab League team in Saudi Arabia concluded talks on a plan to end the 7-month-old round of fighting that has claimed more than 700 lives.

The Thursday calm was marred only by occasional bursts of gunfire and small rockets in and around Beirut as warring Moslem and Christian factions appeared to exercise restraint, giving the Arab League negotiators a chance.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Jeffcoat handcuffs Royals

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Mike Jeffcoat allowed seven hits over eight innings and eight Texas players drove in runs Thursday night boosting the Rangers to a 10-4 rout of the Kansas City Royals.

The loss snapped Kansas City's three-game winning streak and dropped the Royals to 3 1/2 games behind AL West-leading Oakland.

Jeffcoat, 8-5, retired 16 of the first 18 batters — with one double play — he faced and was ahead 10-0 before walking Kevin Settler in the sixth. Kurt Stillwell doubled to score pinch-runner Rey Palacios to break the shutout.

Kansas City added two runs in the seventh off Jeffcoat, who walked one and struck out four, with Pat Tabler singling in Matt Winters who had led off the inning with a double and Gary Thurman scoring on a Mike Macfarlane ground out.

The Royals' Danny Tartabull belted his 17th home run, a solo shot in the ninth, to complete the scoring.

In other action Minnesota blanked Toronto 2-0 and Cleveland shutout Detroit 4-0.

Rams' offense drills DeLand

LAKE MARY — Lake Mary's junior varsity football team unleashed a powerful offensive attack to rip DeLand 27-0 Thursday night in the season opener for both teams.

The Rams, 1-0, will return to action next Wednesday against Lyman. DeLand, 0-1, will return to action next Wednesday against Spruce Creek.

Anuah Collins led a strong running game with 86 yards on four carries and one touchdown. Jeremiah Sims added 67 yards on eight carries and scored a touchdown. Matt Greene added 28 yards on four carries and found the endzone on a five-yard run.

Quarterback Cody Stuart was 7-13 through the air and finished with 120 yards, hooking up with Grant Seibold on an 11-yard TD play in the third quarter.

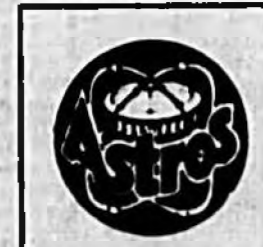

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Biggio has huge day for Astros

LOS ANGELES — Craig Biggio made it easy for Mike Scott to become the season's first 20-game winner Thursday, belting a grand slam and two-run homer to key a 17-hit attack that powered the Houston Astros to an 11-3 rout of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Biggio's first career blast with the bases filled climaxed a six-run second inning. The catcher's 11th homer of the season came in the fourth and gave him six RBI, his most productive day in the majors.

Scott, who allowed just five hits over seven innings, won 20 games for the first time in his career to become the first Astro since Joe Niekro in 1980 to accomplish the feat.

Scott, 20-8, walked two and struck out four in boosting his season record against the Dodgers to 5-2. Juan Agosto and Dave Smith each pitched an inning for the Astros.

Rafael Ramirez added four hits and two RBI for Houston.

In other National League action Pittsburgh nipped St. Louis 4-3; San Francisco trimmed Cincinnati 4-3 in 12 innings; and Atlanta ripped San Diego 13-4.

Everybody plays tonight

'Noles travel to DeLand

By TOMY BOGGS
 Herald Sports Editor

Tonight at DeLand's Spec Martin Stadium, Seminole High School will finally take the wraps off their 1989 football season in a Seminole Athletic Conference clash against the long-time rival DeLand Bulldogs.

Kickoff is scheduled for 8 p.m. The 'Noles enter the 1989-90 campaign as one of the more intriguing teams in the county. Coach Emory Blake, in his second year, has installed an intricate offense that uses eight different sets and has over 30 plays. Running the attack is junior quarterback Kerry Wiggins.

Generally, young talented players and a technically demanding attack are an explosive combination. The potential for great success and thorough disaster are about equal.

Patriots host Lake Mary

By MARK BLYTHE
 Herald sports writer

If the Lake Mary-Lake Brantley football game wasn't already a hotly contested affair, a little more will be on the line tonight when the teams take the field as both are trying to prove some things to themselves.

Lake Brantley, 0-1, will try to prove it is a better team than it showed in its opener against Apopka last week and Lake Mary will look to prove that it again will be a contender in 5A-District 4.

Lake Mary is under the guidance of first-year coach Doug Peters, who feels the game will give his team exactly what it needs.

"I think this is the perfect game for us," Peters said. "It will give our team some experience and I think Lake Brantley is a team we can play with."

Brantley is coming off a 55-14 □ See Rams, Page 5B

5A-District 4 action heats up

By DEAN SMITH
 Herald correspondent

It's a big night in 5A-District 4 as Oviedo tries to win its second straight. Lyman and Lake Howell play their first games, and Lake Weir fights to remain in the race as the high school football season moves into its second week.

At 8:00 p.m. in Longwood, the Lyman Greyhounds will play host to the Oviedo Lions. It is Lyman's opening game in District IV after defeating Orlando-Boone 28-18 last week, while the Lions won their first game in Class 5A with a 29-25 victory over Lake Weir.

Meanwhile, at Candler, the Hurricanes of Lake Weir will play host to the No. 7-ranked Silver Hawks of Lake Howell at 8:00 p.m. It will be Lake Howell's first district game

Lion girls, Ram boys impressive in victory

From staff reports

OVIEDO — Oviedo's girls and Lake Mary's boys each took impressive wins Thursday night in Seminole Athletic Conference volleyball action at Oviedo High School.

Oviedo's girls downed Lake Mary 15-9, 15-8 to improve to 7-2 overall and 3-0 in the SAC. They will return to action next Tuesday at Lake Brantley. Lake Mary, now 7-4 and 2-1, travels to Satellite Beach next Tuesday.

"These kids are really surprising me," Oviedo coach Anita Carlson said. "I'm really pleased. After losing eight players, we have a new team. And they're playing real well together so far."

The Lions were led by the serving and defense of sophomore Mimi Tran and the all-around play of senior leader Betsy Hughes. Heidi Steiner also put together a strong match.

Lealle Thomas and Carrie McCloud, who were key members of Oviedo's junior varsity team a year ago, both played well at the net for the Lions on Thursday night.

"McCloud's only a sophomore and she's shining so far," Carlson said. "I'm just real happy with the way things are going right now."

The boys match lived up to its billing as Lake Mary took a hard fought 15-11, 4-15, 16-14 victory to remain undefeated.

The Rams, 6-0 overall and 3-0 in the SAC, will return to action Tuesday at West Orange. Oviedo fell to 4-1 overall and 1-1 in the conference and will return to action Tuesday at Lake Brantley.

"It was a hell of a match," Lake Mary coach Bill Whalen said. "It was the kind of match that the team that got the breaks late in the game would win and we were fortunate to get the breaks."

Chris Davidson led Lake Mary with a match-high 13 service points, a match-high 12 kills and five blocks. Mike Stuart and Matt MacDonald each had six kills and three blocks. Jeff Draughon added four kills with Jon Brown adding four kills and two blocks as Keylor Chan connected for three kills and two blocks.

"Oviedo was definitely prepared for the match," Whalen said. "We've been down in our last two matches in the third set and kept our composure to come back and win."

Chris Davidson (No. 25) again led Lake Mary to victory, serving a match-high 13 points and putting down a match-high 12 kills in the Rams' three-game win over Oviedo Thursday night.

Seminoles split with Lake Howell

From staff reports

SANFORD — Lake Howell bounced back after dropping the opening game to down Seminole 11-15, 15-11, 15-4 Thursday night in Seminole Athletic Conference girls volleyball action at Seminole High School.

Lake Howell improved to 5-2 overall and 2-1 in the SAC and will return to action Monday at home against Lyman. Seminole fell to 1-4 overall and 0-2 in the conference and will return to action Tuesday against DeLand.

"We progressively got better as the match went on," Lake Howell coach Jo Luciano said. "Seminole was very scrappy in the first game and everything we sent over the net they sent right back at us."

Lake Howell turned things around in the second game behind the play of Heather Braan, Michelle Harris and Wendi Van Horn. Dana Boyson then came alive in the final game for the Silver Hawks to guide them to the victory.

"The score of the last game wasn't as bad as it indicates," Seminole coach Beth Corso said. "We can play better than we have recently, but it hasn't been too bad considering we've had to replace seven seniors."

Seminole was in the second game and nearly put the tribe away in straight games. The Tribe led 11-9 but let it get away on the service of Missy Martinez.

Kricket Snow did a nice job setting for Seminole and was backed by Deann Rathbyn. Snow added seven service points with Charlene Guy registering eight. Yolanda Baker had 13 service returns, six service points and three □ See Volleyball, Page 5B

County runners set for Edgewater Invitational

By MARK BLYTHE
 Herald sports writer

Seminole County high school cross country runners will put their state rankings on the line this Saturday in the annual Edgewater Invitational to be run at the University of Central Florida.

The 4A boys race will kick off the competition at 8 a.m., followed by the 4A girls at 8:30, the 3A-2A-1A boys at 9, the 3A-2A-1A girls at 9:30, the boys' junior varsity at 10, and the junior varsity girls at 10:30.

"This will be the first time we'll be running against teams in our own classification," Lake Mary girls coach Mike Gibson said. "We'll get to see how we matchup against those teams head to head."

Seminole County has three teams that will be gunning to finish at the top of the race as Lake Howell, Lake Brantley and Lake Mary all have talented teams.

Lake Howell and Lake Brantley are currently ranked in the top 10 while Lake Mary is a team capable of cracking into the top 10. All three have been impressive in the early going of the season.

"We'll be pleased to finish in the top three," Gibson said. "Lake Howell is obviously the team to beat. But you never know who will have a good day and who will have an off day. You just have to go out and run your best."

Lake Brantley's Amy Ginnette is the state's top ranked individual and will look to make that stand up another week. Lyman's Janet Greenberg is ranked eighth in the state and she will look to improve on that on the faster UCF course.

The boys race will have several of the state's top teams with Lyman and Lake Brantley being the top county teams in the event.

Lyman was ranked second on the preseason poll and looked good in the Astronaut Invitational. Lyman is led by the state leader Teddy Mitchell, the defending 4A state champion, and junior Kevin Padgett.

Lake Brantley looked very good at Astronaut while edging Lyman and is looking to improve on Saturday. Matt Jewell is also ranked in the top 10 and is looking to close the gap between himself and the leaders.

Tissue swelling from falls not hazardous

DEAR DR. GOTT: Can you provide information on lymphedema caused by a fall? I believe your opinion can help me find a physician who deals with such conditions.

free copy of my Health Report "Medical Specialists." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91586, Cleveland, OH 44101-3586. Be sure to mention the title.

(C)1989 NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.

DEAR READER: In addition to blood circulation, each of us has a secondary system of fluid circulation called the lymphatic system. Lymph fluid is the colorless watery liquid that fills blisters. Small amounts of it are normally present in all tissues. Lymph circulates back to the heart (and into the bloodstream) through a series of lymph channels, thin-walled tubes that are periodically interrupted by lymph nodes, balls of tissue acting as filters.

If the lymph channels are injured or the lymph nodes damaged (or removed during surgery), the lymph fluid accumulates in the part of the body supplied by these structures. Tissue swelling (edema) ensues.

I assume you had a serious fall, which damaged the lymph channels, and now the lymph is pooling in a part of your body—probably an arm or a leg, the most common locations for this to occur. This affliction is not hazardous.

However, if you are bothered by the edema—if it is painful or quite pronounced, for instance—you should be examined by a doctor, such as a vascular surgeon, who specializes in circulatory problems. Using a sophisticated type of X-ray examination, called a lymphangiogram, the specialist may be able to pinpoint the lymph blockage and repair it surgically. Or the specialist may suggest non-surgical therapy, such as diuretic medicine and pressurized sleeves, to relieve your edema. To give you more information, I am sending you a

WIN A

By James Jacoby
The modern trend is to bid aggressively when the vulnerability is favorable. But there are drawbacks to this approach, and today's result for East-West is an example. As a passed hand, East thought he could risk a distributional cue-bid showing a two-suiter. His idea was either to find a good sacrifice against the opponents' potential game, or to force them to play at such a high level that they would be set. Instead West made a speculative double of four hearts, and declarer South, armed with the knowledge that East held long spades and diamonds, played the hand as though he were looking at all 52 cards. Declarer won dummy's ace of diamonds, ruffed a diamond and led a low heart to the queen in dummy. He ruffed another diamond, and played ace of clubs and then the 10 of clubs, finessing. He played another club to dummy's jack and cashed the king of clubs, throwing a spade. Next came the A-K of spades. If West ruffed, he would have the choice of playing A-J of hearts or of playing another club, allowing declarer to make 10 tricks in either event. If West discarded on the king of spades, it would be worse. Now he would have to ruff the next spade and lead away from the ace of hearts. Much better for guide declarer, bidding and making a game becomes an ify proposition.

HOROSCOPE

By Bernice Bode Oost
YOUR BIRTHDAY
Sept. 16, 1989
Happy times are in the offing for you in the year ahead, because it looks like you will switch your emphasis from your material interests to life's more ethereal values. Friendships will become more important than things.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
What's in it for me should not be your motto today. People you'll be dealing with aren't apt to be in a giving mood and they'll be even less so if they feel you're too self-serving. Virgo, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead by mailing $1 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
Tactfully back off if you are confronted today by an individual who has more authority or rank than you do in the contested development. Chances are you'll come in second.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
Pace yourself wisely today where your work is concerned or you could get very careless in your haste to get things done as quickly as possible. It's better to be slow than sorry.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
This is not a particularly good day for you to go shopping in expensive stores. You could be a bit more extravagant than usual and buy things you don't need or may never use.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
You're a pretty good promoter today, but you might lack talent as a closer and let a sure sale slip through your fingers. Know when to stop talking and get your prospect on the dotted line.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
Today you could be so captivated by the big picture that you'll overlook significant details. Keep your eyes upon both the forest and the trees.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
If something you've been involved in for awhile still has a poor chance of yielding a return, it might be wise to cut your losses and look for another venture that has better prospects.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
There are indications that you might be a trifle too headstrong and unyielding today. If this is your attitude, you'll only end up hurting yourself as well as others.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
If you have too little faith in your own thinking today, it could open the way for domination from a stronger personality. It won't help your ego to play second fiddle to another.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
In order to get proper control out of your budget at this time, it may be necessary for you to trim some non-essential expenses. Start with the mostly costly ones first.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
In a critical career situation today everyone, including yourself, could be at odds as to how this matter should be handled. It's not likely an effective resolution will be achieved.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
What you think is a clever maneuver expressly devised to further your personal aim might backfire today if it is not in accord with your highest standards.

IN BRIEF

Ministerial Association to meet

SANFORD — The Sanford Ministerial Association will be meeting Tuesday, Sept. 19, in the Central Florida Regional Hospital Education room. Lunch will be at 11:30 a.m. to be followed by a business meeting. All area ministers are welcome.

Women's group holds meeting

SANFORD — The Lutheran Women's Missionary League of Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, 2525 Oak Ave., will conduct its first fall meeting at 1:30 p.m., Thursday, Sept. 21 in the educational building of the church. Members are asked to bring canned goods for a "Share Box" to be donated to the Sanford Christian Sharing Center later this year. Also, the church plans a Sunday School Teacher's Appreciation dinner, Sunday, Sept. 24 following the 10:30 a.m. worship service. A special gift will be presented to the Sunday School honoring the past and present teachers.

Runnige and bake sale scheduled

SANFORD — Congressional Christian Church, 2401 S. Park Ave., will conduct a rummage and bake sale from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Saturday, Sept. 16, to benefit the church. Donated goods will be accepted until today. The sale is hosted by Ethel Root Circle of the Church.

First Presbyterian holds supper

SANFORD — First Presbyterian Church, 301 Oak Ave., at 6 p.m. Sunday will hold a family night supper and a youth program. The following Sunday there will be a congregational meeting at 10 a.m. to elect church officers.

All Souls summer craft show set

SANFORD — An Indian Summer Arts and Crafts show will be held from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Saturday, Sept. 16, at All Souls Catholic Church, 9th Street and Oak Avenue. Professional and amateur artists from statewide will be displaying their artwork. To reserve spaces, or for more information, contact Beth Dawson, 323-9486, Mary Myers, 321-2437 or Joan Hoening, 574-0736.

Witness Co. presents drama

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — The Witness Company will present "The Witness," a musical drama about the life of Jesus Christ as seen through the eyes of Peter and others who knew Him. The show is sponsored by St. Mary Magdalen Church, 861 Maitland Ave., at 8 p.m., Thursday, Sept. 21. A love offering will be taken to support the Witness Company lighting equipment fund. For more information call 339-0644.

Children enrolled for program

MAITLAND — The First Baptist Church of Maitland, 1950 Mohican Trail, is currently enrolling children between three and five years of age for the Mother's Day Out program to be held on Tuesday and Thursday from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Classes for children from three months to two years are also available. For more information, call Shelley Colter at 628-5130 or 331-3537.

Divorce workshop scheduled

ORLANDO — Single Christians United of First United Methodist Church, 142 E. Jackson St., will sponsor a divorce recovery workshop from 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. on six Tuesday evenings: Sept. 26, Oct. 3, 10, 24 and Nov. 7 and 14. It will be held at the church in the Wesley Building at Jackson and Rosalind streets in downtown Orlando. Cost is $30 per person.

Grandmother's kitchen was ideal room for counseling

The American kitchen may soon be only a whiff of nostalgia. About the only home cookin' (complete with the aroma from the kitchen) that we can get today is at the neighborhood diner — or at the truck stop on the interstate.

Admittedly, there are risks in eating at such places. It may be wise to pass up the roadside restaurant that advertises "Eat Here — Get Gas" unless a gas pump is in plain sight. Still, it may be the closest your nostrils will get to old-fashioned kitchen smells nowadays.

A British food writer says, "In America, kitchens are getting smaller or even disappearing. People are changing their kitchens into gyms, video rooms and Jacuzzis. Less and less do women cook on an everyday basis in the United States. With the modern young couple, whoever comes home first just puts whatever is available into the microwave."

While "nothin' means lovin' like somethin' from the oven," it isn't only grandmother's apple pie and meat loaf that we miss today. It is grandmother herself. Nobody admits this more readily than today's professional counselors.

"There was nothing more effective than the old-time 'kitchen counseling,'" says a counselor I know. "My mother had no training in counseling, but the number of troubled and anxious people who trekked into her kitchen to talk to her and went away feeling better is legion."

If we miss grandmother as much as her food, we also miss her kitchen.

"A kitchen, particularly the big, old-fashioned kind, is a reassuring place," says another professional counselor as he sits in his office. "A waiting room and an office like this are clinical and cold. You can't beat a good friend and the smell of coffee brewing on the kitchen stove for helping somebody in trouble."

He asks, "Can you imagine Jesus setting up an appointment for someone who needed help? He would have taken him by the arm and together they would have strolled by the seashore or sat and talked on the hillside. It would have been something warm and human. Kitchens are warm and human."

Or they were.

Kitchen counseling may belong to a bygone day. But metaphorically speaking, we all do more kitchen counseling than we are aware of and it is important to know what to say and not to say to those who unload their troubles on our shoulders. Should we give advice or just listen?

Listening sympathetically may be the best method for most of us. Our advice to others is often based on what we would do in a similar situation. It could be all wrong for somebody else.

Three other hints:

• Offer your hand. When someone feels grief, pain or fear, the warm touch of another person can be more reassuring than cheerful words.

• Avoid platitudes like "Don't worry" or "Try to look on the bright side."

• Don't be like Agnes. When Elsie felt low and called Agnes, Agnes listened and said, "I'm sure it would work out, dear. I'd like to talk with you longer but Bob is taking me out to dinner tonight and then we're going to the theater. Call me again, honey. Promise?" With that, she hung up.

If Agnes had really wanted to help, she would have said, "Why don't you come over for dinner tomorrow night, Elsie? I've just bought a roast. Bob and I would love to see you. We won't take no for an answer."

That is an example of REAL sympathy — the kind that heals

St. Peter's celebrates fifth year

By SANDRA BOGARDUS
Herald staff writer

LAKE MARY — For St. Peter's Episcopal Church this Sunday is cause for celebration. It marks the church's fifth anniversary and the event will be celebrated with a family picnic on church grounds, at 700 Rinehart Road, following the main service at 10 a.m.

The anniversary is not the only thing to be celebrated. Newly-completed Sunday School rooms on the east wing of the education building to the north of the church will be dedicated by the Rev. Ronald G. Brokaw, interim rector.

The new classrooms were actually occupied for the first time last Sunday. Temporary quarters near the church will no longer be used.

According to Brokaw, the west wing is halfway completed.

Construction on the east wing, which includes three classrooms for children ages two through third grade, started this year and costs were kept way below the contracted price of $73,000, according to Church Administrator Alice Moughton.

The project was made possible through the work of dedicated members and the donated services of professional workers.

Professionals donated drywall labor and electrical services while church members laid floor and ceiling tiles, according to Moughton.

St. Peter's was founded five years ago with 25 members who met in Lake Mary Elementary School.

Later, church members held services at the Community Improvement Association building on North Country Club Road when the school was involved with its expansion and renovation program. Today, the church is about 300 members strong.

On Easter Day, 1988, the church moved to its present Rinehart Road location.

Future plans include a sanctuary and a memorial chapel, according to Moughton.

All present and former church members are invited to attend the anniversary activities. For more information, call the church at 333-5474.

Lawsuit against Catholics dropped, but church is still political machine

United Press International

In early September, officials at the National Conference of Catholic Bishops' new headquarters in Washington had cause to celebrate — a U.S. Court of Appeals had tossed out a 9-year-old suit threatening the church's tax-exempt status.

The suit, filed by the Abortion Rights Mobilization and a host of others, had charged that the bishops, in their efforts to overturn the 1973 Supreme Court ruling making most abortions legal, had overstepped the line laid down by the Internal Revenue Service determining proper political behavior by religious groups.

In dismissing the suit, the appeals court said the issue "is more appropriately dealt with by Congress and the political process."

Mark Chopko, the bishops' top lawyer, hailed the ruling, and said all tax-exempt groups "should take comfort in the fact that their political opponents may not challenge their tax exemption as a device to discourage them from engaging in the public debate of controversial issues."

But while the dismissal of the ARM suit lifts a small cloud that has been hanging over the bishops in their sustained struggle to end legal abortion, it doesn't end the controversy that continues to swirl around that involvement.

And much of that controversy involves the relation between the bishops and other Catholics — especially politicians who hold public office — who may disagree with them.

It is not a new problem.

In 1984, a number of prominent prelates publicly criticized both New York Gov. Mario Cuomo and Democratic vice presidential candidate Geraldine Ferraro for their abortion stands.

Now, Archbishop Roger Mahony of Los Angeles stirred up a similar dispute with a letter he has written to Catholic elected officials in which he told the officials they have "a positive moral obligation to work for an America in which the abortion liberty has been repealed."

Left unanswered in Mahony's statement is the implicit question of what happens if the officials reject that moral obligation. Are they subject to church-imposed sanctions?

Oral Roberts' school closing

United Press International

TULSA, Okla. — Television evangelist Oral Roberts announced that because of a financial crisis he will close his huge City of Faith Hospital, his university medical school and sell off some ministry assets, including his mansion.

At a student assembly and later at a news conference, Roberts and his son, Richard Roberts, announced the Oral Roberts University School of Medicine will close at the end of the academic year. The hospital is to close at the end of this year, they said.

The moves are expected to put 600 people out of work.

"I hurt because this is my calling, but I'm encouraged because we're going to make it," the emotional evangelist told reporters.

Oral Roberts said the ministry also would sell his home and that of his son, plus three other ministry-owned homes and the university's graduate housing in an attempt to wipe out $25 million in debt against the school.

The medical school has operated under the strain of growing financial problems in recent years.

In 1987, Oral Roberts announced that God would call him home — insinuating he would die — unless $8 million was raised by the end of March to fund scholarships for students enrolled in his medical school.

Later that year, Roberts accepted a $1.3 million donation from a Florida greyhound race track owner, Jerry Collins, that fulfilled the $8 million goal.

The history of the Tulsa complex goes back to 1961 when Roberts announced plans for his own university. Less than a year later, groundbreaking ceremonies were held on the 500-acre tract. The first classes at the fully accredited $30 million university were held on March 31, 1971.

In a September 1980 fundraising letter, Roberts reported seeing a 900-foot image of Jesus standing over his three-building hospital complex in Tulsa.

Man in shorts irks priest

UPI Report

DAYTON, Ohio — For the second week in a row, a Roman Catholic priest has refused to give Holy Communion to a man who attended Mass in shorts in violation of a longtime ban on clothing deemed immodest.

On Sept. 3 and 10, Jim Garvey arrived for Mass at Sacred Heart Church in shorts. The first time the Rev. Roger Griese simply refused to give Garvey communion, but the second time the man appeared in shorts, the priest delivered a 35-minute speech to his congregation before Mass.

The speech was met with sustained applause, and Griese responded, "I love you."

As Garvey was leaving church following Mass, he said to Griese, "Father, I hope God forgives you."

Garvey said he will consult a lawyer about his rights in the face of the 21-year-old ban at Sacred Heart against attending Mass in shorts, miniskirts, halters, tank-tops and other allegedly immodest clothing.
