Silly Season Just Around Corner

By DOC QUIGO United Press Staff Correspondent NEW YORK UP—An ominous note in some dispatches from abroad should warn us that crochets just around a corner of the calendar, ready to pounce, is that annual hot weather news bug bear the silly season.

In Nantes, France, recently a camel was found munching grass near the Place Royale Fountain in the center of the city. This is getting close. But to be a truly silly season item, the camel would have to be sitting in the fountain, which has just gone dusty dry for the first time ever.

In Killarney, Ireland, the other day, the season almost arrived. A golfer there sliced his tee shot into a lake. The ball stunned a rising trout. A bystander jumped in, grabbed the fish, and brought back the ball, too.

Could Be Worse This was alright. But if the season had fully arrived, the fish when opened would have had in its stomach a clipping with the headline: "Golf Dangerous For Spectators."

For your convenience in getting an early start on the silly season, here are a few items that are certain to be reported when the weather begins to bake and days get parchy-dry: WHIFFENPOOF, Me.—A year ago, fisherman Pete Obermergau lost his pocket watch overboard in the ocean. Today, while skin diving, Joe Smith was startled by a ringing noise. Turning, he found a big octopus about to seize him. He killed it with his spear. Hooked by its chain to one tenacle was Obermergau's watch, which is waterproof, self-winding, and has a tiny alarm. Apparently the octopus flipped the alarm switch while reaching for Smith. The alarm was set for 4 o'clock. "Lucky I didn't wait till 5 to go diving," Smith said.

A Flying Plane

NUTRIMENT, N.J.—Mrs. Rachel Lilliput reported to police that she saw a large, luminous object resembling a grand piano, with flashing lights where the keys should be, in the sky last night. It descended to a field of her truck farm, and little green men emerged holding torches resembling candelabra. She fled, she said.

Gem-In-Rock, Pa. Chased by a police who had caught him thieving, Alph Omega, a side-show midget, ran headlong into a bowling emporium, tripped, rolled down an alley, and knocked over eight pins. "If I'd been normal size I'd got a strike," he said as he was led away.

NEW YORK—Thirty monkeys and a huge tropical bird mysteriously escaped late today from Trefflich's Animal Shop. On the sidewalk, the bird seized two monkeys. Obviously overloaded, and groaning to gain altitude on a take-off down Broadway, it crashed into Richard Empathy, a broker, as he emerged from a bar. The ASPCA charged Empathy with blocking traffic.

House Passes Seminole Raceway Bill Today; Now Goes To Senate

'Skipper's Corner' Expresses Thanks To Three Citizens

The "Skipper's Corner" in the plan of the day of the Sanford Naval Air Station, carried the following news item:

Three public spirited local citizens have helped us out in the following manner: Ross D. Hunter and Bradley Odham have agreed to allow trees on their property just west of our main runway to be cut down. The job is being done as a training maneuver by our local SeaBee personnel, and will provide less hazard and greater safety for our jet-flying hotshot pilots, bombardiers, and crewmen.

Also, Thomas Vaughn of Sherman Concrete Pipe Company, has provided us with five additional concrete tables and ten benches for our Lake Golden Recreation Area. On a personal inspection of the area with me, Mr. Vaughn noticed that our walkways around the dance pavilion and in the vicinity of the new scullbutt could be improved. Yesterday, a large truck load of concrete mix arrived, and you may now see the improvements for yourself in the recreation area. I have extended your personal thanks to these three gentlemen who have gone out of their way to look out for your personal welfare.

The "Skipper's Corner" in the plan of the day is written by Captain Robert W. Jackson, Commanding Officer of the Sanford Naval Air Station.

Nutria Investor Urged To Study Economic Aspects

Prospective investors in the country's latest fur farming business, raising nutria, were cautioned today by the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce to investigate the economic aspects of such a venture before investing.

John Krider, Manager of the Chamber, stated that although the honest element in the nutria raising business undoubtedly is striving to put it on a sound basis through the sale of quality pelts in the raw fur market, some high pressure promoters are interested only in fast profits through the sale of breeding stock at exorbitant prices. In a bulletin just released by the National Better Business Bureau entitled "Raising Nutria in Captivity," it is emphasized that the primary purpose of raising fur animals in pens is for the fur produced and the sale of breeding stock is a secondary consideration. Promotion of the sale of breeding stock as the sole objective, the bulletin states, is in the nature of a "get-rich-quick" scheme.

Some promoters have charged as much as $1,000 or more for a (Continued On Page 10)

Miss Mallett said that the students will play numbers from the old and the modern classics, also various of popular airs.

4 Duda Children Are Graduates

SLAVIA — Mr. and Mrs. John Duda Sr. of this community have the "distinct privilege" and honor this week of attending the graduation exercises of four of their children.

On Monday, two of their sons, Edward and Walter received Bachelor of Science Degrees from the College of Agriculture, University of Florida, Gainesville.

Thursday evening, another son, Luther, received his diploma from Oviedo High School and on Friday evening, June 7, their daughter, Katherine, will be graduated from the eighth grade of St. Luke's Christian Day School.

An apparent move to stalemate the Seminole Park Raceway bill in the Florida Legislature was defeated today in the Senate.

The Senate today upheld Gov. LeRoy Collins' veto of a Volusia County horse track bill which the House of Representatives had overruled.

The Volusia horse track bill had overruled the Governor yesterday when Representative James Sweeney of Volusia mustered strength to ramrod the bill through the House. Seminole County Representatives Mack N. Cleveland Jr. and Gordon Frederick voted for the controversial horse track bill.

Today, Sen. E. W. Gautier of New Smyrna Beach, said the people of Volusia County should be given the chance to vote on whether they want to activate a horse track that was authorized in 1910 but never built.

But the Senate went along with Collins' contention that the bill would extend legalized gambling which the Governor called "immoral." The Senate voted to override 22-13 but 26 votes, or a two-thirds majority, are needed to pass bills over a veto.

The Seminole County House delegation today revised a bill to validate a harness track permit in Seminole despite a ruling in Leon Circuit Court that the track would be illegal.

Rep. Mack Cleveland won a voice vote to put the bill back on the calendar, but Rep. Robert Hann of Hillsborough said he would object to any attempt to bring it up for passage out its regular order.

The bill had been "indefinitely postponed" several weeks ago. Leon Circuit Judge Hugh Taylor ruled recently that the harness track, which had been approved by a referendum of Seminole voters, was illegal since it was located near the Sanford Orlando dog track. Taylor said the law stipulates that racing plants must be at least 100 miles apart.

Shortly after noon today the bill was passed by the House. It now goes to the Senate where, W. R. Kemp, president of the Seminole Park Raceway group, said "it is hoped that some disposition may be made of the bill today."

Kemp, in Tallahassee to support the measure to authorize the harness horse track, said that the delegation this morning has been "aggressive and highly cooperative and doing everything in their power to accomplish this bill."

Also in Tallahassee to support the harness horse track bill are Hibbard Casselberry, the Mayor of Casselberry, Don Wilson, and City Commissioner Earl Higginbotham.

The Seminole Park Raceway was approved by the voters of Seminole County in an election last Nov. 6 by a margin of 3 to 1. The approval of the harness horse track by the State Racing Commission was accomplished earlier.

Th Attorney General approved the issuance of the permit following the election.

Reports Are Heard Today At Florida Methodist Confab

LAKELAND, Fla. — The 113th annual Florida Methodist Conference, with some 1,000 delegates attending, staged its main business session this morning.

The delegates, assembling on the campus of Florida Southern College, heard a series of reports as the conference entered its second day.

Reports were presented by members of the board of ministerial training and qualification, the Methodist publishing house, the board of pension, the preachers relief board and the committee on higher education.

The conference was scheduled to hear an address by Dr. John O. Gross, member of the Methodist Board of Nashville, Tenn.

Former Resident A. B. Alford Jr. Dies Wednesday

Mr. A. B. Alford Jr. of Jacksonville, died Wednesday at 6 a. m. He was formerly the Agriculture and Livestock Agent for the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad in Sanford for number of years.

Mr. Alford's death was sudden. He made his home in Jacksonville at 6236 Pine Buff Road.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Patricia Scholly Alford, formerly of Sanford; mother, Mrs. A. B. Alford of Ellington; and a sister, Mrs. Charles Siefert of West Palm Beach.

Flood Threat Seen As Red River Rises

DALLAS, Tex. — Tons of water pouring from giant Lake Texoma, above the flood basin, on a steady rise through Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana today.

The Shreveport, La., weather Bureau said crests along the Red were expected to be three feet higher than a major flood which poured from the winding river and its tributaries over central Louisiana last month.

It said the rise now are due almost wholly to water discharge from Lake Texoma, the world's largest man-made lake.

17 Directors Are Named In Local Co/C Election

A total of 17 directors were named in an election held by the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce for representatives to the countywide Board of Directors.

The Elections Committee of the local Chamber of Commerce tabulated ballots yesterday to determine those elected to the important offices. A. L. Wilson, was chairman of the committee, with members F. D. Scott, George Morgan, James R. Gut, and Merle Warner.

From Districts 1, 2 and 3 there were 13 members of the Board of Directors named to serve during the 1957-58 year. Those elected by the membership were: R. J. Hauman, Mack N. Cleveland Jr., H. H. Coleman, Jack Hall, Harold Kastner, Clifford McKibbin Jr., J. Brailley Odham, W. A. Patrick, B. L. Perkins Jr., George Andrew Spewer, Douglas Slemmons, George Touhy, and T. E. Tucker.

Those elected to the Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors from District 4 were R. B. Crumley and Rayburn T. Milwee.

From District 4, George Means and Frank Wheeler Jr. were named.

The new directors will meet Tuesday night in the commissioner's room of the Sanford City Hall along with the old directorate. A short meeting of the new directorate will be held immediately following the regular meeting to elect officers for the year 1957-58.

G. W. Chapman Is Tulane Graduate

NEW ORLEANS — (Special) George W. Chapman of Sanford received the master of social work degree here today during the graduation exercises at Tulane University.

Dr. Rufus C. Harris, president of Tulane, awarded the degrees. Dr. Victor L. Butterfield, president of Wesleyan University, Middle-town, Conn., was the principal speaker.

Deaths From Heart Disease Go Up

Deaths from heart disease are going up, especially for the men of the white race. So state the monthly statistical report of the Bureau of Vital Statistics of the Florida State Board of Health.

In Seminole County, during the first quarter of the year, there were 34 deaths from heart disease, according to the report.

This figure is in contrast to 18 deaths from cancer, 13 deaths recorded from cerebral vascular disease, 7 deaths from influenza and pneumonia, 4 deaths from various types of accidents, 4 deaths from motor vehicle accidents, 3 deaths from chronic nephritis, 1 death from diabetes, and 1 death from cardio-vascular renal disease.

Some solace, stated the report from the Florida State Board of Health, can of course be found in the fact that with the ever increasing control of deaths from the great killers like tuberculosis and pneumonia, more men — and women — of both races are living into the later years when heart disease might be expected to take its toll. And, too, Florida has recently been the mecca of the elderly. These deaths are recorded here, though their lives may have been spent elsewhere. And even with those facts considered, Florida stands well below the national average in heart disease deaths.

Last year the Florida rate from all forms of heart disease was closely estimated at 329.1 per hundred thousand population, while the national rate was 349. Florida rates increased 58.9 per cent since 1930, while the nation was going up to 68 per cent. Heart disease deaths were considerably more prevalent among white than non-white. The comparative rates were 343.1 as against 268.5.

Capt. Arthur Will Arrive This Month

Captain Lionel A. Arthur, USN, will report aboard the Sanford Naval Air Station shortly before the 15th of this month. He will relieve Captain Robert W. Jackson as Commanding Officer during formal change of command ceremonies to be held aboard the station on June 10.

A veteran of more than 25 years naval service, Capt. Arthur comes to NAS Sanford from Commander Naval Forces Northern Europe, where he served as Deputy Chief of Staff to Vice Admiral Gladstone, R. N.

He is a graduate of the United States Academy, Class of 1932.

While there he played varsity football, water polo and was on the boxing team. After graduation he served ten years at sea before reporting to the Naval Air Station, Pensacola, for flight training in August 1934. He received his wings as a 1LT (1st) in December of 1934 and was assigned to Fighter Bomber Squadron FIVE aboard the USS LEXINGTON until 1937.

From 1937 until 1939 Capt. Arthur was with Patrol Squadron NINE and Patrol Wing ONE. In 1939 he reported to the U. S. Naval Academy where he served in the capacity of instructor in the Seamanship and Navigation Department. In Sept. 1941 he was sent to the USS YORKTOWN to serve as the Flight Deck Officer until June 1942. His next assignment was as Air Officer on the USS CORE from 1942 until 1944.

Capt. Arthur received his first command position when he served as the Commanding Officer of NAAS Basin Field, Foley, Ala. from March 1944 to July 1945. Following this he was the Air and Operations Officer aboard the USS TARAWA until 1947.

His next duty was at the U. S. Naval Mission, Chile, South America as Air Officer until 1949 when he assumed his second command position as Commanding Officer at NATTC, Philadelphia, Pa. until 1951.

ABOARD USS SARATOGA — President Eisenhower put to sea today aboard the pride of the Navy, the new 60,000-ton super-carrier Saratoga, for a concentrated 24-hour study of guided missiles, jet operations, anti-submarine warfare and defense against atom bombs, in which aircraft of the Sanford Naval Air Station are participating.

The chief executive flew from Washington with most of the National Security Council and other top federal officials and boarded this angledeck "floating air base" at Mayport, Fla.

The President arrived at this St. John's River base from Washington aboard his personal plane, the Columbine III. The landing strip was only a few yards from the huge carrier, which was all set to sail the moment the chief executive arrived.

Eisenhower was welcomed aboard by the screams of two Skyray jet fighters which were catapulted from the massive deck of the carrier while she stood at dockside.

Once the planes were launched, the President marched up the gangway to the cavernous hangar deck of the "Big Sara" where he was tended honors by the ship's company under the command of Capt. Robert B. Moore.

Also on hand here on this bright, sunny morning were Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, chief of naval operations; Adm. Jerauld Wright, commander in chief of the Atlantic Fleet; and Rear Adm. Robert B. Pirie, commander of Carrier Division Six.

The purpose of launching the two high speed jet fighters as the President arrived was to demonstrate that the use of steam catapults, a carrier can put her planes in the air without being under way.

Top Men Aboard — Accompanying the chief executive on his overnight cruise aboard the Saratoga are Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, Secretary of Treasury George M. Humphrey, Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson and Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission.

The party, which filled two planes, also includes ranking members of the White House staff plus Budget Director Percival Brundage; Arthur Larson, director of the United States Information Agency; Gordon Gray, head of the Office of Defense Mobilization; Secretary of Navy Thomas G. Blair; and the President's son, Maj. John Eisenhower, now on temporary duty with the White House staff.

The Saratoga, the 350 million dollar carrier that can catapult four planes a minute into the air, was scheduled to commence training exercises this afternoon in the company of the tactical command cruiser USS Northampton, the USS Boston, one of the Navy's two guided missile cruisers, and accompanying destroyers.

This afternoon and tonight the President planned to watch off defense training operations, Friday (Continued on Page 10)

VAH-7 To Leave This Weekend For Med Cruise

This weekend marks the departure from Sanford of VAH-7, Detachment 36 for Norfolk, Va., where it will embark on the USS Randolph for a cruise to the Mediterranean Sea. Over 100 officers and men together with five AJ-2 airplanes will comprise the detachment. They will replace a similar group from VAH-7 that has been aboard the USS Champlain since January.

Primarily designated as an in-flight refueling tanker group, the detachment nevertheless retained the capability as delivery aircraft for all-weather nuclear strikes should they become necessary. LCDR. H. M. Cummins will serve as Officer in Charge.

For the past few weeks the squadron has been engaged in an all out effort to get both the men and the planes ready for their deployment. This included qualifying pilots aboard the carrier, refresher training in bombing and navigation, getting passports, packing equipment and above all over-hauling the airplanes. This latter task in particular has required many long hours of work by the Maintenance Department.

Prior to its departure from the States, the group will participate in the International Naval Review which is being held in conjunction with the Jamestown Festival Over 100 ships, many from foreign nations, will also take part in the review which is scheduled to run from June 6-17.

Two Quick 'Phone Calls Thwart Man's Suicide Attempt

PALO ALTO, Calif. — Two quick telephone calls from Pittsburgh were credited today with thwarting the suicide attempt of a young Lockheed aircraft worker separated from his wife.

Howard Beatty, 23, telephoned his friend Byron Painter, 30, of Pittsburgh Wednesday to talk to him for the "last time."

Just before he hung up Beatty said he was going to commit suicide by slashing his wrists.

Painter immediately called Beatty's wife, Janice, in Los Angeles and learned that Beatty was staying at the Holiday Inn, about 50 miles south of San Francisco.

A second quick call to Mountain View police sent an emergency squad rushing to the inn.

There police found Beatty with his wrists slashed and they rushed him to Palo Alto Hospital.

Dr. Aice R. MacKenzie said Beatty was "unset and needs psychiatric care."

"I think he cut his wrists to attract attention and sympathy from his estranged wife," MacKenzie said.

The doctor said Beatty had slashed his wrists the previous night "but didn't do much damage."

Miss Harshbarger Dies In Sanford

Miss M. Irene Harshbarger died at the home of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Moulie, 2429 Myrtle Ave. following an illness of about three months.

She had been in Sanford for about six days but had been a visitor here for a number of years.

Miss Harshbarger was born in Plymouth and had made her residence in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., where she was an active member of the Presbyterian Church.

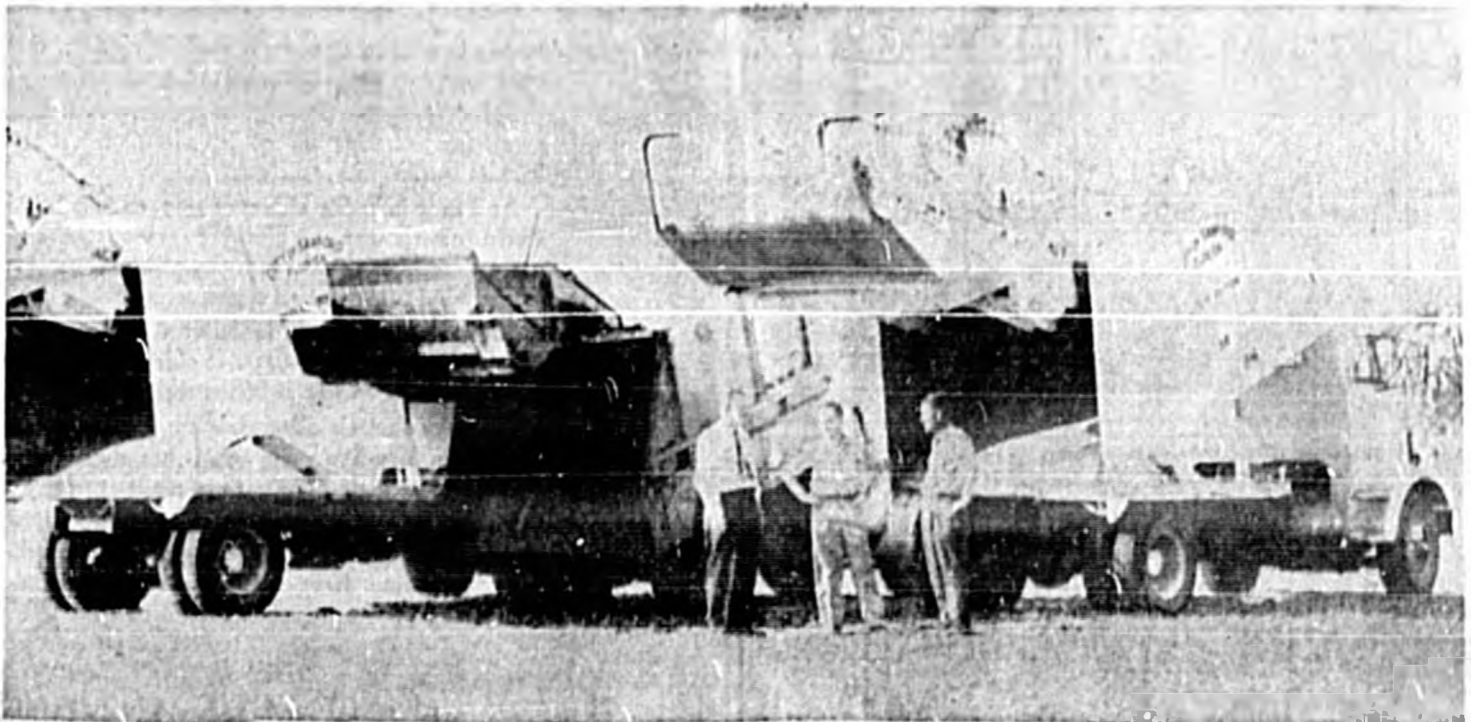

She was a retired school teacher.

Survivors include: one brother, W. L. Harshbarger of Oakland, Calif.; one sister, Mrs. R. F. Moulie of Sanford, and two nephews, Julian and John Phelps of Poulton, Ga.

Remains will be taken to Poughkeepsie, N. Y., for funeral and interment. Burial will be in the Poughkeepsie Cemetery. Burial will be in charge.

Weather

Partly cloudy through Friday scattered mostly afternoon thundershowers; low tonight 61 to 74.

3 Of France's Top Models In New York

By GAY FAULEY
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK — Three of France's top models including one from the house of Christian Dior are in town to work, play and shop — for blue jeans.

French manufacturers make the jeans all right, "but only copies of the American ones," explained Gisele Stern, the red-haired member of a triumvirate which apparently likes originals, whether by Lanvin or Levi.

Gisele acted as spokesman for the three because her English is adequate, my French is inadequate and the other two — Lucky pronounced Lou-Lou Janichewski and Olivia (Loulou) speak only French.

The three came to Manhattan for a "Heart of Fashion Heart of Paris" fashion show co-sponsored by Sabina Athline and Come Mills textile manufacturers. They are staying on for a few days to sight-see, take on any other modeling jobs they can find, and shop not only for blue jeans but for luggage, summer cottons and nylon lingerie.

The three are shorties compared with American fashion models, who usually are five feet seven inches and taller. And all have minute waists — none measuring over 19 inches. Lucky, a divorcee and mother of a 13-year-old girl, is the veteran of the group, once modeled for Hermes who gave her the nickname, and has been with Dior for eight years.

She recently opened a school for mannequins. "What you would call here a charm school," said Gisele, who was one of her pupils.

"U. S. Modeling More Difficult
The three said modeling in the United States is harder work than in Paris. "Where we do nothing for ourselves, except put on our makeup."
"We do not fret with snags and zippers... someone dresses us," said Gisele. "Even our collures are done for us," but they added the pay rate is lower back home.

The three decided they have not had time to reach any conclusions about American men, and only a few about American women.

"Here, every woman is wearing mink," said Gisele, "and big hats in the morning, like a garden party."

"American women's legs are very beautiful," said Olivia. "Formidable!" said Lucky.

Greatness Is Never Achieved Suddenly!

It has long been true, in the affairs of men, that only time can confirm the gift of greatness. Artist, statesman, writer, craftsman—each must await the years for the maturity of his talent and for the verdict of his judges.

And as it is in the affairs of men, so it is in the world of commerce. Nothing great was ever created suddenly—whether the product be that of an individual or of an organization.

Here, most certainly, is the very genesis of the unique position which Cadillac currently occupies in the hearts and minds of the world's motorists.

Since the first Cadillac car made its appearance more than fifty-five years ago, it has always been created to a single objective: to make it as fine a motor car as it is possible to produce.

And, without question, the mission and the accomplishment have been one and the same.

The goodness of Cadillac has, in fact, been so apparent over that lengthy span that the Cadillac name stands today as an accepted synonym for quality wherever highways exist.

The pretenders have come—and they have gone. For time is an exacting taskmaster—and only the principles that have created the great Cadillac car and only the devotion that has given it being have been equal to the challenge.

Never has this fact been more deeply etched in the public consciousness than it is during the present automotive year.

If you have yet to take the wheel of a 1937 Cadillac, you should hesitate no longer to visit your authorized Cadillac dealer.

Waiting for you in his showroom is proof beyond doubt that Cadillac is—in fact as in reputation—the Standard of the World!

Many of M. Twain's Works Unpublished

By DON THAKREY
United Press Staff Correspondent
BERKELEY, Calif., June 5 — A million and a half words from the prolific pen of Mark Twain lie unpublished and untapped in 11 filing cabinets held by the author's estate.

But if the plans of Prof. Henry Nash Smith materialize, Twain fans will have to build new shelves for their libraries. There is even a bit more Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn to come. Smith, fourth literary editor of the Twain estate, wants to publish six volumes of the unpublished material.

Work has already started on an other volume containing documents related to the composition of the Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn books. Edited by Walter Blair of the University of Chicago, it will include two unfinished "Among the Indians" and "Tom Sawyer's Conspiracy."

Letters Also Coming
In addition, the Harvard University Press will soon publish a book of the 10-year correspondence between Twain and novelist editor William Dean Howells.

All this, despite the fact that Smith and his three predecessors as literary editor of the estate—Alfred H. Howland, Bernard DeVoto and Dixon Weston—have already published 18 volumes since Twain's death in 1910.

At that time Twain left all his unpublished writings to be administered as the state, with the profits of publication to go to his daughter Clara, who lives in San Diego, Calif.

"It is possible that there is little of commercial value left," says Smith, "but there is much that should be made available for historians, scholars and others interested in the life and works of the great American author."

Smith is professor of English at the University of California, whose press recently published his "Mark Twain of the Enterprise," a volume taken from Twain's writings for the Virginia City, Nev., territorial enterprise.

Extent of Scholarly Phase
Smith thinks the "scholarly phase" could include these volumes:

—Additional notebooks to those already published, including the Mississippi River notebook of 1842.

—Unpublished literary manuscripts, including sketches and stories, many incomplete.

—Documents bearing on the "Mypterous Stranger," the book Twain dissected withheld until after his death due to its pessimistic philosophy.

—Twain's business letters dealing with such enterprises as the typesetting inventing and the publishing house he backed.

Conning The News

By VIRGINIA CONN
Mary and Blaine Libbey's wedding anniversary was the occasion for a dinner party given Friday night by Fran and Doris Francisco, in their beautiful Grove Manor home. The buffet table was laden with turkey, ham and other goodies. Especially memorable were the shrimp with chile sauce and a variety of chile salads. Attending were Mary and Blaine Libbey and Dick Bauer, Katie and Horah Cummins, Rusty and Monty Lilliboe, and their house guests from Brunswick, Georgia: Theima and Bob McMurray, Dot and Dick Mann and Si and Lou Johnson.

Ruth and Joe Tully, Bill and Betty Hazlett, Rita and Dick Bauer, and Si and Lou Johnson waited collectively at the railroad station Sunday afternoon to see Mary Libbey and the four girls off on their quest to Annapolis. They will stay with Mary's family until Blaine is squared away in his new job as executive officer of the carrier Midway.

Meanwhile Blaine is residing at the BQQ until his departure, which is at an unknown time. Back to my story. The train rolled into the station, but the Libbeyes were not to be seen. With two minutes to go before departure, the Libbey car was seen pulling up to the curb. The men sprang into action and eased Mary and the four girls were deposited on the train before any one could keep a teary "farewell." Perhaps this is the best way after all. Saddest sight to me though, is the rear of the train as it gains speed and quick to disappear from sight, leaving those behind with much to be said. I never remember the important things until the train has gone. And most of the time this follows an embarrassing hour of good-bye cliches and shifting of feet.

A square dance was held at the Armory Saturday night by HATU, the lighthearted masters of the Virginia Reel. Harry Giffen called, of course. The band was canned or perhaps taped would be a better word. Eason and the station were special guests but evidently the word did not get around. No concert HATU will have another one though, and next time we will all mob the place. Hope they hold off until cooler weather though. It's a bit warm to be so active.

Especially in the Armory. Dancing and having fun were Mae and Bill Edwards, Anita and Bob Hadden, Rosemary and Cliff Duncan, Forrest and Ruth Norvell.

Betty and Vern Mountcastle

John and Billy Norden (and their guests), and Virginia and Jim Shaffer.

Hear that Don Miller was down for a flying visit and they will be moving to Washington, D.C. within the next few weeks. Don and Diana have been living in Norfolk while he attended the War College.

Bill and Betty Leung have taken a cottage at New Smyrna Beach for a couple of weeks. In case you have any idea about visiting them you are on your own. I cannot reveal the address, because I don't know it myself. Clever people have marked this summer visiting down to a science. When several people from their home town rent places on the beach, they pack up Ma, the kids, Rover and maybe some lunch and wait they go in the family buggy. The odds are pretty good. If the ones you do know are not home, are asked to over-look or have quarantine signs on the door, do not be discouraged. Drive up and clean the beach a few times. Perhaps you will see a familiar car parked before a very modest, if all else fails, simply find a car with a lawn plate on it and hope that you may have met the folks before. Any way, if I did know where the Leungs are going I'd let you know.

Bill and O. B. Gray will be departing by the time this comes out. The packers have been there 30 days.

Betty and Vern Mountcastle are leaving for Washington, D.C. the fifteenth of June. Hear Monty has a wonderful job and their future sounds very bright. He is getting out of the Navy.

Now Hear This!

by JUKY FENWICK

Those who had the "git up and go" necessary to get them as far as Monday's night's meeting of the Enlisted Men's, Women's Club enjoyed a very interesting meeting. Elections were held to find a new secretary, (we're bringing our old one) and for a permanent "sergeant-at-arms". Millie Meyers is the new treasurer, and Pat Hoppe is the new "sergeant-at-arms". The girls also voted to act as one of the sponsors of the Bicycle Safety Club. Following the business meeting the crowd was entertained with a ceramics display and demonstration by Mrs. E. D. Rinehart. Along with the demonstration, Mrs. Rinehart gave a very interesting talk about her work, and I'm sure, inspired many of the girls to seek into ceramics as a hobby. I was sorry to have missed it this time, but poor Scott is "battling" the measles with every conceivable complication in the book. I'm sure the next meeting it'll be well attended though as it will be at 10:00 P. M. Tuesday morning, June 18, at the home pool. If you plan to eat there, bring your own "snacks" and the girls will provide the coffee.

Talked with a good friend of Don Birkmeyer who has been in touch with him since the unfortunate accident they had en route home to visit Lou Birkmeyer's family. Don is still in the Army Hospital at Fort Chaparral, Oklahoma, and his doctor, a Colonel, has said that it will be from two to four weeks until Don can take to a wheelchair, and after that, he can figure on about six months on crutches. In the meantime, Lois will be visiting with her parents whom they were on their way to see for the first time in nearly seven years. If you'll recall, the accident happened some 80 miles BEFORE they reached their destination. Since the car was a total loss, and Don was so badly hurt, about the only good thing that can be said about this is that it could have been worse! Lois was only slightly injured and the children were only shaken up, a fact that they're very grateful about.

This only goes to prove what they're always telling you on radio and television! That you can never be sure what the other fellow is going to do. I'm not sure what the legal outcome of this has been, but since the other car came around a curve in the wrong lane, I'm sure Don will not be held to blame in any way.

How could he be??? Doesn't seem at all possible, especially if you know her, but Pat Foster has a son who will be entering high school next fall. So in honor of Billy's graduation from Pinecrest Junior High, Pat and Bill Foster entertained some of his friends on Tuesday evening at their home. Present were: Pam Jordan, Judy Hall, Cindy May, Mary Watson, Gertrude Stafford, Kay Creel, Bobby Tillman, Guy Creel, Joe Thorp, and Lamar Gamble, and of course, Billy Foster! Pat served hot dogs, candy, nuts, etc., and those ever present cookies, as no teenage party could be complete without them.

Want to get a reminder to do VME? Wives about this coming Monday's meeting at the U. S. Since they do not have a complete roster of all VME wives, and cannot contact them, I hope this will serve as an invitation to all those who have not as yet attended one of these meetings to do so. It doesn't matter whether your husband is enlisted, chief or an officer. It's for ALL the wives. Pat McGuire leads this group, and in my opinion that they couldn't have picked a nicer person!

Well, it has to happen! Yes, today was the last day of school, and I am now the proud mother of a second grader and a fourth grader. I couldn't be more pleased with the final report cards, as I'm sure their father will be when he gets home, and if it weren't for my youngest's lamenting at having to give up his "second mother", things would be fine! I don't think there is any higher praise for a teacher than the love and respect of their pupils, and though I would have to give due credit to ALL the teachers for inspiring the same feelings in their pupils! And follow that with what my older son thinks of his teacher! Since this is just about impossible, I hope she reads this, as she will know who I mean!

All in all, it was a real "blue" day for me! In addition to being the last day of school, (discouraging in itself) I had it brought home to me doubly hard that time is flying. Had to face the fact that the "kids" are getting older, and a birthday proving that I am too! (All this with out a sympathetic husband to comfort me with. Yes, about how young I look!!! Or would he?

What Is Expected Of Expectant Pop?

By MIRIAM N. BUNDELMAN, M.D.

MOST everyone makes a big when she goes to see her obstetrician about an expectant mother. This will help. There is plenty of advice available to you to understand the emotional side on what she should do, what changes she may undergo and she should read—even what she should wear.

But the poor expectant father to her change in disposition and goes wandering about in a daze, to rather abrupt reversal of her completely unaware that he has attitudes toward domestic habits should wear.

You have got to learn to adjust now, the day before we pay tribute to Pop.

Follow Doctor's Orders
If your wife is reticent about consulting the doctor and carrying out his directions concerning diet, activity, exercises and medications, you can encourage her to follow his orders.

You can also help quiet any fears which might develop. And you can keep her happy during this period. Show more than normal interest in her and bring her small gifts every once in a while. This will help her a great deal, believe me.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
Q: I had a coronary heart attack about six months ago. Are there any known cures for this disease?

ANSWER: You should have adequate rest and eliminate possible contributing factors such as over-pregnancy, weight, high blood pressure or stress which might have led to the should accompany your wife your having an attack.

Additional Responsibility
The father as well as the mother should be prepared for the additional responsibilities a baby will bring.

Many hospitals today have programs instructing the father-to-be on how to bathe the baby and help in his care. If such instruction is available to you, I advise that you take advantage of it.

Yet, the father has another important role to play as he and his wife get ready to welcome the baby. I think it would be extremely helpful if he fully understood just what changes are taking place in the mother's body.

Should Help Wife
A husband can and should help quite rest and eliminate possible contributing factors such as over-pregnancy, weight, high blood pressure or stress which might have led to the should accompany your wife your having an attack.

Our Young People Of Today Need, Deserve Best Education Possible

A certain boy who has just concluded his last year of junior high school in America will continue his education next fall in Scotland, where his family is going to live for a year. The thing that makes this of general interest is that the boy is going to have to study intensively this summer in order to be abreast of his classmates to be in Scotland.

While other children are enjoying the carefree days of vacation this summer, he will be studying elementary chemistry and physics, Euclidian geometry and French. He has had none of these studies in the course of his schooling thus far, but will have to have basic information in these fields in order to keep up with his fellow pupils in Scotland.

One need not leap to the conclusion that American public schools—and it happens that this boy has been trained in one of the country's better school systems—are inferior to those in Scotland or other European countries. The incident does serve to remind us once again that in many schools the pupils work harder and advance more rapidly than is the case in the average American school.

Many educators are coming around to the belief that we should beef up the public school curriculum with more intensive work on the part of the pupils or curtailment of subjects that are less fundamental in importance.

We owe our young people the best education it is possible to provide for them so they can cope with the problems of an increasingly complex world. Earlier grounding in some of the basic subject matter might help.

Strong Hi-Way Safety Plan Needed

Reams and reams of material are received in the mail calling attention to the necessity of a stronger program for highway safety.

Not a day passes by in which some of this material is not received—each item backed with a request that more and more of it be used to acquaint the public with the drastic methods which should be put in effect to curb the reckless use of the highways.

However, we believe that the person closest to the traffic and safety problems of our city are those who are employed by the tax payers money to patrol the streets and highways. These law enforcement officers are daily in contact with the problems of the reckless driver, the speeder, the stop sign jumper and all other forms of traffic violations.

Yet, it is from these officers that the least cooperation is received in an effort to tell the public exactly what is happening on the streets and highways of our community. The only way to advise the motoring public of the dangers existing is to place the story before them through pictures and news reports.

Realizing this, the opportunity to place this type of information before the public is denied to those who would report the incidents from the scene of the accident.

As a matter of fact, the patrolmen who are assigned to Seminole County make no effort to make themselves acquainted with the news sources of the city and offer their help in curbing the climbing accident, injury and death toll on the highway.

At one time the public relations program of the law enforcement departments of the county and city was at an all time high and today it is at an all time low. There has been a time in the community when an accident occurred there would be one, two or three newsmen at the scene to carry the details to the citizens of the community.

There is no way for a newsmen to "guess" where accidents are going to happen and be there at the exact time and moment it occurs. He must have the cooperation of those who are called to the scene to investigate the incident.

Some citizens who have realized the importance of reporting an accident through the news columns of their local paper have notified newsmen of accidents. Those have been reported.

We would like to see the accident, injury and death toll down again in Seminole and Duval counties but until such time that those who are responsible for the arrest of violators and responsible for the control of the traffic safety program become interested in advising the citizens and residents of the community of "what is taking place" on the highways the toll will continue to climb.

Fighting Futile

During a hot day in May two robins were fighting at a bird bath, thus preventing each other from bathing. Then something happened. They quit fighting and bathed side by side.

Free men living in a union of friendly states have learned that more is gained by working together, but in many parts of the world men are still fighting.

In two minutes the robins discovered fighting is futile—men take longer to learn.

The plan for having the federal government provide $2 billion in federal aid to the nation's schools over a four-year period drew this comment from Senator Knowland: "My practical knowledge of Washington leads me to the conclusion that nothing terminates in four years. And I have never seen the Federal Government contribute money without wanting to exercise control."

Foreign News Commentary

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent
Great Britain's decision to relax trade restrictions against Communist China is clearly a development of world importance.

Reaction to the decision in the United States and other Western countries indicates that the Red government is being given a chance to work for general diplomatic recognition.

The relaxation, and the reaction to it, seem likely to bring closer the day when the Peiping government is admitted to the United Nations.

Whether, as some experts believe, the ties between Communist China and Soviet Russia will be loosened remains to be seen. At present Red China must depend on Russia for most of the goods it needs.

Nobody disputes the fact that the British decision is a big victory for the Peiping government. Britain's lead already is being followed by other European countries which joined in the United Nations embargo against trade with the Chinese Reds after they entered the Korean War.

Relaxation Was Certain
The relaxation was sure to come sooner or later. To Britain and other countries—including Japan—which desperately need foreign trade, Red China with its 600 million people is a potentially unlimited market. Not right now, of course. China's buying capacity is limited. Britain itself calculates that its present trade with Red China, amounting to about $8 million dollars a year, will increase only to $6 million dollars. The big development is the re-assessment of diplomatic relations—or lack of them—between the Peiping government and other countries—that the trade decision is certain to bring.

Just how far, and how soon, the trade relaxation develops into a relaxation of the diplomatic boycott of the Peiping government depends on the Red Chinese leaders themselves.

If Mao Tse-tung and Chou En-lai, the two big leaders of Communist China, play their cards smartly it seems certain that they can capitalize on their present victory.

First, and most important, they will have to convince the United States especially, that they have no aggressive aims.

Must Show Evidence
This means that they will have to give evidence that they will not foment a new war in Korea and that they will not encourage any aggression by Communist North Viet Nam against American-supported South Viet Nam. They will have to renounce any ambition to attack the Chinese Nationalist stronghold of Formosa.

The Chinese Reds also can help themselves by showing their political independence of Soviet Russia. Actually, they have shown this fairly plainly. They supported Poland in its successful revolt against Russian domination. Arguments of a speech which Mao Tse-tung made in Peiping in February in which he criticized Rus-

Herlong Reports

A couple of weeks ago, I had as my guest on my weekly television report, Congressman Ed Willis of Louisiana who is a distinguished lawyer and a member of the Judiciary Committee of the House. We discussed objectively and without emotion the proposed so-called civil rights legislation which is being considered in the House at this time.

During the course of our discussion, it was developed that this bill would deny to an individual the right to a jury trial if he were cited for contempt for having violated an injunction taken out to prevent him from depriving someone of his so-called civil rights.

A number of people and an editorial in one of our very fine newspapers expressed shock and surprise that the Congress would be about to pass a bill which would deny such an important right to any individual in the United States.

These people are no more shocked or surprised than I am, and of course we are going to do everything we can to see that this right of jury trial is put into the bill.

The way the bill is worded—there is actually no reference to jury trial in it—means that the Federal statutes to grasp the whole significance of what was done by the majority of the Judiciary Committee.

Incidentally, the amendment to deny the jury trial passed the committee by only two votes, and we feel sure that we can get it knocked out on the floor of the House.

The bill simply authorized the Attorney General to bring actions or injunctions in the name of the United States against any individual who allegedly threatens to violate another's so-called civil rights. The action can be brought without even the knowledge or consent of the complaining party. That's about all there is in the bill about this. But let's pursue this thought just a little further.

If an injunction is gotten out against me and I abused the injunction, the proper procedure then is for the court to cite me for contempt for having violated its order. The court could take the contempt statement of any individual to the effect that the injunction had not been observed.

The present law says further that in such cases where an individual is cited for contempt, the individual may upon demand receive a jury trial before he can be convicted and punished for that contempt EXCEPT in instances where the original cause is brought in the name of the United States Government.

In such cases, no jury trial is allowable. Previously, the so-called civil rights bill was drawn so that the action was made by the individual whose rights were alleged to have been violated. The committee changed it to read that such action shall be brought in the name of the United States for the sole purpose of depriving the individual who may be cited for contempt of the right

Washington SAW

WIN PENDLETON
STAR PERFORMERS — The Mainland High School Glee Club of Daytona Beach is coming to Washington. And according to their schedule, the 85 members will make their presence felt—and creditably. Congressman Syd Herlong was in charge of arrangements here. This is their program: entertain the Richmond, Va., Kiwanis Club at luncheon, June 10th (will be met there by Herlong and conducted back to Washington); morning of 11th will entertain patients at Walter Reed Hospital; afternoon at White House (will present pair of gold "Florida" cuff links to President Eisenhower for Governor Collins); that night will open the famous Watergate open air concert series with the U.S. Army Band. (This will be a 45 minute presentation from the beautiful floating stage on the Potomac River). Next day a full eight-day trip around Washington, personally escorted through the Capital by Herlong on 13th, going home, stop off in Winston-Salem, N. C., where they will entertain Kiwanis Club. Glee Club director is J. Edward Langley. Trip arrangements and money raising for trip—well known Florida entrepreneur, G. W. "Biff" Carr, Daytona Beach.

PRESENTED AT COURT — A great day in the life of any lawyer is he occasion when he is accepted to practice before the Supreme Court of the United States. The individual must meet the highest standards and must be sponsored by a lawyer who has himself been accepted by the Court. Last week, Congressman Charlie Bennett presented two Florida men, Wallace Jopling, of Lake City and Jack Bryan, administrative assistant to Congressman Billy Matthews. At the same time, Thomas E. Dewey, former governor of New York was sworn in. Interesting sidelight: the oath was personally administered by Chief Justice Earl Warren who was Dewey's running mate when Dewey tried to unseat Truman for the Presidency in 1948.

HIGH MAN — A Florida young man made the highest score in the United States among a group applying for entrance to the Air Force Academy as sons of deceased veterans. He is Jerry Dean Craig, son of Mrs. Mildred I. Roach, 214 N. E. 17th St., North Miami. Only six young men were chosen nationally to enter the Academy under this little known plan of the Air Force Academy at Denver, Colo., on July 1, 1957.

CHANGE OF STATION — Florida will get a new District Engineer on June 18th. Taking over the Jacksonville office of the Corps of Engineers will be Colonel Paul D. Trostler, presently assigned in Washington as assistant chief of Military Construction. He is a native of Richmond, Va., and a graduate of Virginia Military Institute. Present engineer, Colonel Elmer E. Kirkpatrick, Jr., will be assigned to the Mediterranean Division of the Corps of Engineers, Leghorn, Italy.

OVERHEARD IN THE GALLERY — The scene was the Chamber of the House of Representatives. Florida's Bob Sites was speaking on the military appropriations bill. Two ladies in the gallery seemed extremely interested in what he was saying. Said one: "Who is that at the microphone?" "That's Congressman Bob Sites of Florida," her friend said. "Well," said the first lady, "from the way he talks he ought to be the President—or at least Vice-president."

ADD ONE REPUBLICAN — It will be some years before this one can vote for "pappy" but Congressman and Mrs. Cramer are expecting a new addition to the family sometime in September. Their two boys, Billy, 4's, and Mark, 2's say they want a baby sister.

Smathers Says Job As Senator Enough

WASHINGTON — Mentioned frequently as the leading candidate to replace Paul Butler as chairman of the Democratic National Committee, Senator George A. Smathers (Fla. D) today said he is "not seeking any job other than that of Senator from Florida which I feel is certainly big enough for me."

"If I could be helpful in reorganization work in any capacity to the Democratic National Committee, I would be available for a limited time. I would not wish to stay on so matter what the job was—for more than a year or 18 months. My primary responsibility is that of United States Senator from Florida and I must at all times give first priority to that job," Smathers added. "I would like to emphasize

How Tranquilizer Works

By HERMAN H. BUNDESEN, M.D.
SINCE the introduction of the various tranquilizer drugs, doctors have found innumerable uses for them. No longer are they used solely to relieve tension states or anxiety neurosis. Although this still remains their prime purpose, they now are employed to treat a variety of disorders. Let's look at just one of these tranquilizers, meprobamate, or Miltown, as it is more popularly known. Clinical Studies As with similar drugs, countless clinical studies of Miltown have been made and reactions of hundreds of patients have been checked thoroughly. Acting in its tranquilizing capacity, it calms the nervous patient suffering from anxiety, restlessness, hyperemotionalism and irritability. It relaxes the muscular tensions associated with these symptoms. Sobering-Up Phase Miltown helps to control withdrawal symptoms during the sobering-up phase of alcoholism. It is also used to help the alcoholic stay off liquor by cutting down his symptoms of anxiety, tension and insomnia. It often makes him more willing to cooperate with the doctor's trying to help him break the booze habit. It is well to remember, however, that medicines should not be taken without first consulting your doctor for advice.

Mrs. Edwin Clark Tison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Randolph Carr of Hampton, was married June 1 in Twenty-Fourth Street Church of Christ, Newport News, Virginia.

Nancy Lee Carr, Edwin C. Tison Wed In Newport News, Virginia

The Twenty-Fourth Street Church of Christ, Newport News, Virginia, was the setting June 1 at 4 in the afternoon, for the marriage of Miss Nancy Lee Carr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Randolph Carr of Hampton to Edwin Clark Tison, son of Mrs. William Charles Tison of Jacksonville and the late Mr. Tison.

Carl A. Matthews, minister officiated at the double ring ceremony which was performed before a background of palms, baskets, of white flowers and lighted tapers.

Valry W. Early Jr. of Newport News was organist and accompanied Roland A. Ralph of Hampton who sang "Be-ause," "I Love Thee," "The Sweetest Story Ever Told" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white silk organza which featured a fitted bodice of lace with iridescents and seed pearls. The gown was fashioned with long sleeves which came to wedding peaks over the hands. The bouffant skirt was caught in the back with a band of Chantilly lace ending in a bow and swept into a chapel-length train. Her veil of imported illusion was arranged with a Juliet cap trimmed with iridescents and seed pearls. She carried a white Bible topped with a white, purple-throated orchid and showered with white sweet-heart roses and lily of the valley. Her jewelry was a strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Barbara Anne Synthom of Warwick was maid of honor and wore a floor-length gown of aqua nylon chiffon. The torso bodice was fashioned with a scoop neck and ruffled sleeves. A panel was caught in the back that flowed over the bouffant skirt. Her headpiece was a scalloped half pillbox in aqua trimmed with small pink flowers. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink daisies and white baby breath.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. William Charles Tison Jr., Miss Nancy Smith, and Miss Shirley Tatem, all of Hampton. They wore dresses made identical to the maid of honor in pink and their headpieces were a half pill box in pink trimmed in aqua flowers. They carried cascade bouquets of aqua daisies and white baby breath.

Betty Lee Powell of Hampton was flower girl and wore a dress of white organza over an underskirt of aqua polished cotton. She carried a basket of pink rose petals.

Richard Tison of Newport served his brother as best man and the groomsmen were James Linwood Carr of Hampton, James Highsmith and Hubert Manning of Newport News.

Miss Virginia Fox of Hampton was mistress of ceremonies.

A reception was held in the Palm Room, Hotel Warwick, Newport News. Mrs. James L. Carr was in charge of the bride's book.

Mrs. Carr, mother of the bride wore a street-length dress of mauve silk organza and Chantilly lace with mauve accessories and a purple orchid. Mrs. Tison, mother of the bridegroom, wore a street-length dress of pastel blue lace with blue accessories and a purple orchid.

On a trip to the Pocono Mountain in Pennsylvania, the bride traveled in a sheath dress of white and aqua dupioni silk with an aqua duster. Her accessories were white and she wore a white orchid.

Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Tison will make their home, 1184-16th Street, Stuart Gardens, Newport News, Virginia.

Mrs. Tison Graduated from the Hampton High School and is now employed at the Veteran's Hospital.

Mr. Tison is a graduate of '33 Seminole High School and will graduate in November from the Apprentice School of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock Company, Newport News, Va., 907 West 20th St. All members

Shooting Preserves In South Providing Income For Farmers

Shooting preserves in the South are not only providing six months of hunting for sportsmen but they are providing a new income for farmers.

Most sportsmen have always wanted to be in the enviable position of running a hunting or fishing camp. That way, they believe they could get all the shooting and fishing they have dreamed about. But it doesn't quite work out that way, according to the Sportsmen's Service Bureau, a trade association of arms and ammunition manufacturers. Actually most preserve operators do less hunting than the average sportsman.

Besides raising game, planting cover, training dogs, and managing hunts, the operators have a thousand other things to do and seldom get time to go hunting themselves. That is, unless they are as fortunate as one Pennsylvania operator who takes a week off for deer hunting every fall. It seems that his wife can run the preserve more efficiently than he does.

Because so many people want to do something in the "hood" field that will earn them at least a modest living, many farmers in the East and Midwest operate preserves for the public and have cut down on their farming.

To help farmers who are interested in opening preserves, the Sportsmen's Service Bureau, 250 E. 43rd Street, New York 17, New York, has prepared a manual which they furnish free on request. It discusses such topics as proper cover for preserves, problems of game bird raising, developing shooting dogs, public relations, charges to the hunters, and shooting safety.

The Sportsmen's Service Bureau advises no one to even think about opening a preserve unless they like people. There is no doubt that an operator entering to the general public runs square into almost every conceivable problem in public relations. Patience seems to be one of the prime requisites for a preserve operator.

The Bureau has found that the first question a prospective operator asks is, "How much money can I make by operating a preserve?" The blunt truth is that he will likely not make anything the first year, he might get in the black the second year but should probably count on this for his third year.

According to a survey made by the Sportsmen's Service Bureau, there have been almost no business failures by preserves open to the public. But much of this can undoubtedly be accredited to the fact that an operator gets in so deep the first year he just can't get out.

Although there have been outstanding examples of first-year operators starting on a large scale, the Bureau warns farmers to open on a small basis and expand as the hunters create the demand. To buy incubation equipment, build pens, plant cover, provide kennels, and develop dogs the first year requires quite an investment. The easiest way for an operator to get started is to buy mature or almost mature birds in the fall from an established game breeder. That way he needs no incubation or brooding facilities the first year. The only pens required are long, conditioning pens to hold the birds before they are released in the hunting season.

No one should get into the preserve business unless he can train several good dogs, says the Sportsmen's Service Bureau. The average city hunter no longer keeps a dog and if the operator doesn't provide dogs he will be catering to a small percentage of the potential hunters.

Planting for feed and cover on a shooting preserve is different from normal wildlife planting. Cover is the prime need with feed secondary. If the operator runs out of feed in the fields, he can always scatter feed or use grain feeders in the winter.

But if the cover goes down through constant trampling and weather, there is little that can be done until the next planting season. The critical cover for pheasants, chukar partridge and quail is from 18 inches high to the ground. Even in the South, with its long growing season, it is difficult to get ground cover that will last for a six-month hunting season.

Preserve operators have found that dwarf grain sorghums provide the best annual cover. Secondly, the grain sorghums supply large amounts of feed. Other cover crops which are developed are sericea lespedeza, and tall fescue, timothy, reed canarygrass, cereal stubble, weeds, clumps of multi-flora rose, and many others.

Although the methods of artificially producing game birds have greatly improved in the past 20 years, raising game is no easy job and many operators never get into incubation and brooding, preferring to buy started game about six-weeks old.

According to the Sportsmen's Service Bureau, there are a surprisingly large number of game breeders in the South and preserve operators should have no difficulty in buying the type of game birds they need. Most state game commissions have lists of licensed game breeders which they furnish free on request.

What is the future of preserves in the South? The Sportsmen's Service Bureau says, "We don't feel there will be a rapid growth but we believe that they will gradually become more important to city hunters. As the cattle industry, pine plantings, modern agriculture and posted land close off more areas to the general public, we believe the commercial preserves will fill a definite need for sportsmen looking for places to hunt."

Semi-Pro Team Plays Clermont Nine Here Sunday Afternoon

The Sanford Semi-Pros, second place in the Central Florida Baseball League, hopes to draw a capacity crowd Sunday afternoon when they finish the first half of the season with an all-important game with Clermont.

With a wide wealth of pitching material the Sanford club has played what has been termed the most exciting baseball games since Buddy Lake pitched 19 innings and then won his own ball game with a home run in the Florida State Class D League.

Only one of the regular season games has been decided by more than one run, and that was two runs—a 7-5 victory over Ocala. All the rest of the games have been decided by only one run. Game time is 2:30 Sunday afternoon in Memorial Stadium.

Challenge For Dr. Mays

A new novel by ELIZABETH SEIFERT.

CHAPTER 31
WHITTING, as gaily unconcerned as a mud-splattered boy on a creek bank on a summer afternoon, Dr. Chadburn Mays walked into the handsome Board room, closed the door behind him and stood against it as he looked at the men seated about the table. He glanced at his watch; he was exactly on time. His eyes picked out the newcomers. The room was filled now, almost crowded. Dr. Wilkins-Smith was there, his eyes apprehensive, a dead cigar in his hand. He was flanked by a couple of men who were probably lawyers. And there was still another addition, a handsome man, sixtyish, in a Palm Beach suit, who held himself aloof, his face stern.

"Dr. Mays," began the Chairman, speaking warily. "Just a minute, Doctor," said Chad, pleasantly courteous. He fished in his trousers pocket, brought out a comb and a pair of dark-rimmed glasses. He put the glasses on, and with a comb in his hand he smoothed his rumpled hair, parted primly. Then, his manner delicate, he walked around the table, slowly past Dr. Wilkins-Smith, who blew out his cheeks, and gobbled for words.

There were a few smiles around the table. John Blandin made choking sounds, and when Chad sat down he solicitously poured his friend a glass of water. Chad's expression still was the gravely anxious one of C. Maquetost—or Charles Nolen. Dr. Gaskins rapped sharply for attention, but no sooner had the Chairman begun to relax in the thought that he had things well in hand than Dr. Mays was on his feet. "Mr. Chairman," he said loudly.

"Please, Dr. Mays..." Chad swept his hand across his face, gathering the glasses away from his eyes. "Oh, look, Gaskins!" he cried. "Why don't you let this meeting get down to cases, and at once? You know good and well you called it to see what chance the clinic has of getting rid of that lawsuit. If you'll let me talk I'll tell you what those cases are." He turned and smiled at Dr. Wilkins-Smith, who still sat like a punctured fighter, his lawyers as solicitous as any seconds or handlers.

"They work where an adequate staff is maintained, complete with tissue committee, and so on. Which brings me to another situation that needs looking into. The matter of the tissue audit at County Hospital. I can produce testimony, if necessary, to back my charge that their pathological records are not as honest and as truthful as they should be. But in the matter of paying alone, the County Medical Society should not endorse such practices."

"You are sure of your facts, Doctor?" asked the small dark man at Wilkins-Smith's side. "Yes," said Chad pleasantly. "The facts about paying the hospital superintendent can be found out by an examination of the County Treasurer's books. They have an itemized record of what they pay to every person employed, garbage collectors, Chief Doctors, dog catchers—everybody. That was no trick to determine. And, as I say, a lot of term-practice hospitals pay their staff men according to the cases handled. My problem was not to determine the method of pay so much as to decide if the County Hospital Chief was making phony diagnoses in order to get more money. As that he would up his take. If he was doing that, he wouldn't want his racket either detected or stopped."

"To get my information, I had no choice but to get a trap. I remembered Stelia's dermatitis. I had already suggested to her that she come to our clinic for a check-up. She did come and our routine clinical examination disclosed a severe dermatitis, with a microscopic examination indicated. This was noted on our short-form report.

"In this single and particular case, we went on to make that tissue examination ourselves, and determined that the condition was pemphigus, benign (fatal). This circumstance you know, and we knew could be allied by Roentgen therapy, as our own dermatin regimen—the sooner, the better, naturally—and may I say that it is already responding to that care? The diagnosis of pemphigus was noted on our long-form report, but not the histology that preceded it. But I want Stelia to tell you herself what happened when she took our short-form report of severe dermatitis and our recommendation for further tests to the County Hospital."

He walked down the room to the door, opened it, and called, "Stelia, will you and Newell come in, please?" (To Be Continued)

FSL Attendance Up Over 10 Pct.

ORLANDO — State League attendance is up over 10 percent over 1956 on a league-wide basis, and is gaining daily, according to Executive Secretary Peter Schaal and based on data gathered at the request of National Association President George M. Trautman.

Palatka (19)	11,958	10,611
Orlando (17)	77,375	7,333
Gainesville (18)	8,721	8,278
West Palm Beach (21)	15,608
Tampa (21)	13,319
Totals	79,906	88,454

The figure covers only paid attendance, Schaal said, and do not include ladies' night, special children's nights, and so on. Consensus is that attendance everywhere will increase because the league is now enjoying the "finest" first half pennant race in history, he added. Palatka, St. Petersburg, Daytona Beach, and Cocoa are especially strong this year, he pointed out, with clubs which draw larger and larger crowds every time they make a road trip.

Collegiate Baseball Championship Play June 8 In Omaha

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—The eight team field which will scrap for the national collegiate baseball championship in the double elimination tournament opening here Saturday has been completed with the addition of Texas and California.

The Longhorns, the only team to win the college world series twice, earned a chance Tuesday to try for their third title by smacking Arizona, 7-1, at Austin, Texas. California Golden Bears qualified by rebounding from a first-game defeat in a double-header with Pepperdine by dumping the Waves, 10-3, in the showdown of the best of three series at Berkeley, Calif., Tuesday.

Texas will play Connecticut and Penn State will meet Florida State in the afternoon game of the opening round program Saturday. California will face Colorado State College and Iowa State will play Notre Dame.

INSURANCE MAN GIVEN PLAQUE—Shown above is P. L. Rudd (left) of Sanford, Gulf Life Insurance Co. agent working out of the Leesburg District office, being presented with a plaque by George Radford of Jacksonville, Gulf agency supervisor. Rudd was given the citation for being the company's "agent of the year." On the right is Ed Huff, manager of the Leesburg office which employs 32 persons. Radford was in Leesburg to explain a new Gulf family policy. The group held a luncheon meeting at the Community building. (Photo by Universal)

WHEN THE FOURTEENTH CHILD of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Graham of Dalton, a suburb of Chicago, was ready to be taken home from the Lewis Memorial Hospital, all 13 of his brothers and sisters were on hand to greet him. The newcomer, Joseph Mario, is held by his mother, while the father looks on. The welcoming committee—all born at the same hospital—consists of (left to right): Roberta Louise, 17, holding Louis Walter, 1; Henrietta, 14; Winifred, 11; Arthur William, 8; John Joseph, 6; James Michael, 4; Robert Lee, 3; Antoinette Marie, 3; Anthony Nicholas, 7; Bernadette, 10; Catherine Marie, 13, and Mary Josephine, 18. The new addition even up the family at 7 boys and 7 girls.

A. O. Wright Gets Rank Promotion At Military School

MILLEDGEVILLE, GA. — Cadet Alvin O. Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe E. Wright of 117 West 1st. Street, was promoted to the rank of Sergeant First Class in the ROTC Battalion at Georgia Military College for the 1957-58 school year. Announcement of the promotions of cadets were made at the close of the final Cadet Dress Parade on Sunday, June 2.

Methodist Observe Conference Sunday Here On June 9

Sunday, June 9, is Conference Sunday for Methodists throughout Florida. In the absence of the Reverend Milton H. Wyatt, pastor of the First Methodist Church Sanford, the Reverend W. E. Timms will fill the pulpit both morning and evening.

Capt.

(Continued from Page 1) Fleet Training Unit, Guantanamo Bay, Cuba in May 1951 as Air Officer, he was shortly thereafter promoted to Captain as of July 1, 1951. His next assignment was as Chief of Staff Commander Naval Air Technical Training with Headquarters at Memphis, Tenn. From there he went to Europe as Deputy Chief of Staff to Vice Admiral Gladstone, R. N., Commander Naval Forces Northern Europe, with Headquarters in Oslo, Norway where he served until ordered to Sanford for duty.

Ike

Quotes From News

By UNITED PRESS OTTAWA, Ill. — Mrs. Dorothy Girard on the government's decision to let her son, Army Specialist 3c William S. Girard, be tried on a manslaughter charge by a Japanese court. "It doesn't seem fair. The boys enlist and then they treat them like dogs. My boy was acting in the line of duty." ROME — Premier Adone Zolli in an attack on Italian Communists and Socialists: "If Communism comes to Italy there would be the same regime of terror in Rome as in Hungary." BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — Nine-year-old Larry Cherry, who survived a plane crash which killed four members of his family. "I was asleep. I didn't know what happened except the plane got all tore up."

A NURSE watches over Suzanne Payotte, 16, of Long Beach, Calif., as she begins her second year in a deep coma. A year ago she layed into unconsciousness during a routine tonsillectomy operation. Her heart stopped and doctors massaged it until they brought her back to life. The brain was damaged by lack of oxygen and coma began.

According to the National Better Business Bureau, with which the Seminole County Chamber is affiliated, pen-raised nutria pelts are in competition with pelts imported from South America, and with an abundant and rapidly increasing supply of wild nutria from the Gulf Coast marshes of the United States.

Referring to economic conditions as they affect nutria raising, Krider stated: "The finest South American pelts sell approximately $7.00 in the raw state there, whereas trappers in Louisiana and Texas receive from $0.50 to about $2.00 each for raw pelts. Instead of being in unlimited demand, as claimed by the unethical promoters, the demand for nutria fur garments today is slight. A recent survey conducted by the National Better Business Bureau in cooperation with local Better Business Bureaus throughout the country, showed that the large majority of retail establishments selling furs carried on nutria fur garments because of the slight demand.

Even though nutria furs from the wild are plentiful, high processing and manufacturing costs have caused the price of nutria garments to reach the luxury class, and few women are buying nutria at the luxury price. 65% to 70% of the skins coming into the raw state there, whereas trappers in Louisiana and Texas receive from $0.50 to about $2.00 each for raw pelts. ## Seminole Raceway Bill Is Apparently Dead In 1957 Legislature

Top News In Brief

WASHINGTON — Southern senators claimed today that a majority of House members favor attaching the controversial "gray trial" amendment to the road rights bill. However, opponents said they were making headway to keep the bill free of it.

VIENNA, Austria — Communist Hungary today released 20-year-old American students who crossed the Iron Curtain frontier from Austria May 28 and were seized by Red secret police. It was announced officially by the Reds that they were being expelled from Hungary.

WASHINGTON — The Veterans Administration said today that some 40 pack-a-day smokers are helping VA researchers study the relation between cigarette smoking and lung cancer. This is going on in the VA hospital at Dallas, Tex. In the course of their normal five-year life span pack-a-day smokers will smoke more than 1,500,000 cigarettes, the VA said.

Farmers' Market Bids Open Today

WINTER HAVEN — Bids from three construction firms were opened today for building a new farmers' market at Sanford to replace the structure which burned down earlier this year.

L. H. Lewis, director of state farmers' markets, said at headquarters here that the bids were so close they will have to be examined carefully before it is determined which will be accepted.

The bids came from the Arnold Construction Co. of Fort Pierce, Gregg, Gibson and Greig of Leesburg, and the Mann Construction Co. of Orlando. They ranged from a low of $209,887 from the Leesburg firm to a high of $215,975 from Mann.

The bids were for construction of a steel and concrete type building 60 by 450 feet. There were also alternate bids for a "triple-A" type building.

TALLAHASSEE — The Senate refused today to pass a bill which would have permitted a harness track in Seminole County.

Funeral Services For Frank Hobson Saturday In Capitol

Funeral services will be held tomorrow in Washington D. C. for Frank M. Hobson, 67, who indirectly saved the lives of many sailors by his work on the 1928 invention of the Monson Submarine Escape Lung.

Mr. Hobson died of cancer Wednesday in Washington's Garfield Hospital, leaving a Sanford sister, Mrs. Elsie Mae Leonard.

Mr. Hobson, who had served with the Navy Department 23 years, retired in 1932, after a heart attack, as head engineer of the Damage Control and Personnel Protection Branch of the Ship Technical Branch, Bureau of Ships.

The Navy escape appliance was a joint invention by Mr. Hobson, Lt. now Vice Admiral, and retired Charles B. Monson and the late Lt. C. L. Tibbals, USN. It was tested at the Naval Gun Factory in 1928 and at Key West in 1929 and 1930 by Admiral Monson and Lt. Tibbals.

Mr. Hobson developed the component parts of the invention which weighs two pounds and which is called by Naval experts "the most practical idea of bringing man to the water surface from depths of 225 feet and less." The device consisting mainly of a multipiece attachable oxygen tank is used by submariners. (Continued on Page 14)

Pompano Beach in Broward County. The Seminole harness track bill was killed by the Senate Finance Committee last week and indefinitely postponed in the House. However, the Seminole delegation revived it and passed it through the House 60-18.

When it reached the Senate this morning, President W. A. Shands immediately assigned it to two committees, including Finance and Taxation. Sen. Douglas Stenstrom of Sanford called for a two-thirds vote to put it on the calendar without reference to any committee.

The Senate rejected Stenstrom's motion by a vote of 20-16 and the bill apparently is dead for the session.

Sen. Ted Cabot of Fort Lauderdale immediately attempted to get the necessary two-thirds support to override the finance committee's rejection of his Pompano Beach harness bill. This move failed 14-17.

The Senate Thursday upheld Gov. LeRoy Collins' veto of a bill that would have authorized a vote to re-activate a horse track in Volusia County.

W. B. Muse, 27, Dies In Michigan

President Greet Crew

Two aircraft from Heavy Attack Squadron Nine yesterday gave President Eisenhower a dramatic view of the navy's capability to deliver unescorted attacks against enemy installations in any part of the world.

The Sanford based A3D Skywarriors were launched from the aircraft carrier USS Bonhomme Richard cruising in the Pacific off the coast of California at 12:30 p. m. eastern standard time. Four hours and one minute later they landed aboard the aircraft carrier USS Saratoga in the Atlantic ocean off the coast of Florida, with the President and members of his cabinet viewing from the ship's bridge. Moments later Lt. C. C. McBratnie, USN, landed the second A3D Skywarrior aboard.

President Eisenhower personally greeted crew members of the two aircraft and discussed with them their history-making flight. This was the first flight in which jet aircraft have spanned the continent from an aircraft carrier in the Pacific to an aircraft carrier in the Atlantic without refueling. The feat vividly demonstrated that with heavy attack all weather squadrons and the great maneuverability of a fast carrier task force the U. S. Navy has a potent weapon team unexcelled in the world.

Other crew members making the flight were bombardier navigators Ensign A. Fennel, and S. Piskorski AT1. Third Crewman was W. J. Dulek AT2 and R. A. McNally AEB.

Members of the two flight crews reside with their families in Sanford with the exception of McNally who makes his home in Orlando.

Public Showing Of Resuscitator Scheduled Tonight

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — The Altamonte Springs Civic Club, under the direction of its service committee, has arranged for a public demonstration in the operation of a Resuscitator for the welfare of the general public.

The meeting will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the Altamonte Springs Community House, 7. Horne, representative of Florida Oxygen Service, Orlando, will give the demonstration in the life-saving equipment. He will answer any questions regarding the use of the equipment and all persons in the Altamonte Springs, Longwood, Fern Park-Casselberry areas are urged to be present in order to familiarize themselves with its operation, that in the event of an emergency a life might be saved with this knowledge.

The Civic Club, oldest of all civic organizations in Altamonte Springs, whose objective is to assist in the use of those who are physically ill, proposes to purchase equipment of this type to add to its list of sick-room appliances, but to make the equipment beneficial the public must avail themselves in the proper method of its usage.

Following the demonstration, there will be a discussion on the proposed expressway route which will also be of interest to all persons in this area.

Chase To Preside At League Banquet

Observing 34 years of service to the state's agricultural interests, the Growers and Shippers League of Florida will hold a business meeting, banquet and annual election of officers at the San Juan Hotel, on June 11, according to announcement by Gordon C. Stedman, Executive Vice-President.

Sidney O. Chase Jr., of Sanford, League President, will preside at the banquet and deliver the President's address. An annual report on League activities will be made by Stedman. The "speaker of the evening" is Harry Cooke, of Philadelphia, who is Chairman of the Private Carrier Conference of American Trucking Associations. (Continued on Page 10)

Johnny Jones, 19, Accidentally Shot

A 19-year-old Sanford boy was accidentally shot early this morning at his home, 2620 South Magnolia Ave., according to local sheriff's office records.

Johnny Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Jones, was injured superficially in the thigh and is being confined to the local hospital because of the injury.

The young man was hanging his clothes in a bedroom closet when a 22 automatic rifle was accidentally knocked over. The rifle fired with the bullet striking him in the thigh.

Search For Two Pilots Cancels Navy Display

ABOARD USS SARATOGA — A giant air-sea search for two downed pilots canceled today much of the impressive naval training exercises being staged for President Eisenhower and three cabinet officers.

State of the 13 warships assigned to the huge supercarrier and presidential flagship pulled out of the task force to scour Atlantic coastal waters in the rescue mission.

One of the pilots was spotted shortly after dawn floating on a life raft off the Georgia coast. He was picked up almost immediately by a helicopter dispatched by the aircraft carrier Valley Forge.

Ships and planes of the rescue fleet continued their intensive search in hope the other pilot also had bailed out of his 400-pound plane and managed to inflate his life raft.

"Washout" Washed that with most of its ships engaged in this operation, the Navy canceled a good part of its demonstration of the latest jet planes, guided missiles and naval techniques.

Washed out was "Operation Washout"—a new technique for enveloping a fighting ship in water mist to ward off radioactive fall out after a nuclear bomb blast.

Also canceled was a surface-to-air launching of Terrier guided missiles. (Continued on Page 10)

7,000 To Gather At Forest City For Convention

The campus of a 120-student local high school 12 miles south of here has been converted to a convention site for 7,000 people.

Opening tonight at 7:30 o'clock on the campus of Forest Lake Academy at Forest City in Seminole County will be the annual Seventh-day Adventist camp meeting, a state-wide meeting scheduled to run 15 hours a day for the next nine days.

Thousands of devout Adventists have been arriving since Thursday afternoon to occupy hundreds of dwelling tents, trailer sites and dormitory rooms. Many others have registered at nearby hotels and motels.

They will be joined by congregations within easy driving distance of Forest City for the opening address by Pastor Harold H. Schmidt, president of the Florida Adventists.

Three permanent auditoriums and several circus-size tents will be utilized for various groups from (Continued on Page 10)

Truck Collision Death Toll Is 19

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C. — The death toll from a truck collision near here reached 19 today to tie the record for the nation's worst truck accident in history.

Several of the 18 seriously injured when a truck loaded with migratory farm workers pulled into the path of a tractor-trailer near here Thursday remained in critical condition.

Doctors said the death toll could "easily" reach 20, surpassing the previous worst truck collision in American history which killed 19 in Texas in 1947.

The latest victim identified only as "Gary," died early today in Highsmith hospital here. He was between 25-30 years of age.

Twelve of the dead, all Negroes, were pitched along the highway and into the roadside weeds. Two others were hurled to death in the flaming wreckage of the beer-packer's truck and five died later in hospitals.

The white driver of the potato laden tractor-trailer, Gilbert Robert Peters, 25, of Wapaloona, Pa., escaped with stock and minor injuries.

Identification Slow

Many of the dead were burned and mutilated and identification of the victims was a slow process. Many of the victims who followed the truck in a single file were known only by first names or nicknames.

Four of the dead were women and one was a 16-month-old child. The Frank Charles Lee Freeman, died in a hospital. His mother, Daisy Mae Freeman, 21, and his grandmother, Betha Freeman, 48, both of Ft. Pierce, Fla., died in the wreck.

Three Negroes, riding in the cab of the jammed truck, were killed, including the driver, Tom Junior Mackey of Pahokee, Fla., and Henderson, N. C. Mackey and Lewis Wesley, boss of the crew of workers, were thrown from the wreckage. Harrison Head Jr., 21, Ft. Valley, Ga., was pinned in the cab and cremated.

The truck, its passengers packed into a space 8 by 15 feet, had left a work camp near Mt. Olive, N. C., at daybreak and was only four miles from its destination at Dunn, N. C., when the accident occurred.

No Charges To Stop

Peters' local highway patrolman the truckload of workers pulled directly into his path from a side road and he had no chance to stop or slow his huge vehicle.

Cumberland County Sheriff L. L. Guy, one of the first to reach the scene, said the truck, carrying 41 persons, was "definitely overloaded."

He said Mackey apparently wanted to make a right turn into the highway but misjudged the

Manufacturing Co. To Hold Open House Sunday

Doors of the Sanford Manufacturing Company at 918 West First Street will be thrown open to the public Sunday afternoon between 2 and 5 o'clock.

The recently completed building has 11,000 square feet of floor space devoted to the manufacture of shirts and pajamas which are shipped from Sanford to dealers all over the United States and exported to foreign countries.

The general public will be given an opportunity to see the 100-foot long cutting tables in operation where hundreds of sheets of cloth are cut from patterns at one time.

On hand will be machine operators to demonstrate the use of 12 different types of automatic sewing machines used in the manufacture of garments.

Between 65 and 70 employees are currently on the staff of Sanford Manufacturing Company and officials of the company say their plans include the eventual employment of more personnel as their business expands.

The entire concrete and steel building is air conditioned in which offices, cutting room, sewing room, pressing department and the packing and shipping departments are located.

Overhead fluorescent lighting is featured throughout the huge manufacturing plant with wiring for all machines overhead.

Officials of the company will be on hand to greet local citizens when they visit the Sanford Manufacturing company plant Sunday afternoon. Hyman Melitz, president of the firm will be in Sanford for the even, his daughter, Mrs.

Milton Rafter, whose husband is secretary of the union will be here to see how the big open house, Marvin Melitz, vice president and plant superintendent will also be on hand to show visitors through the plant.

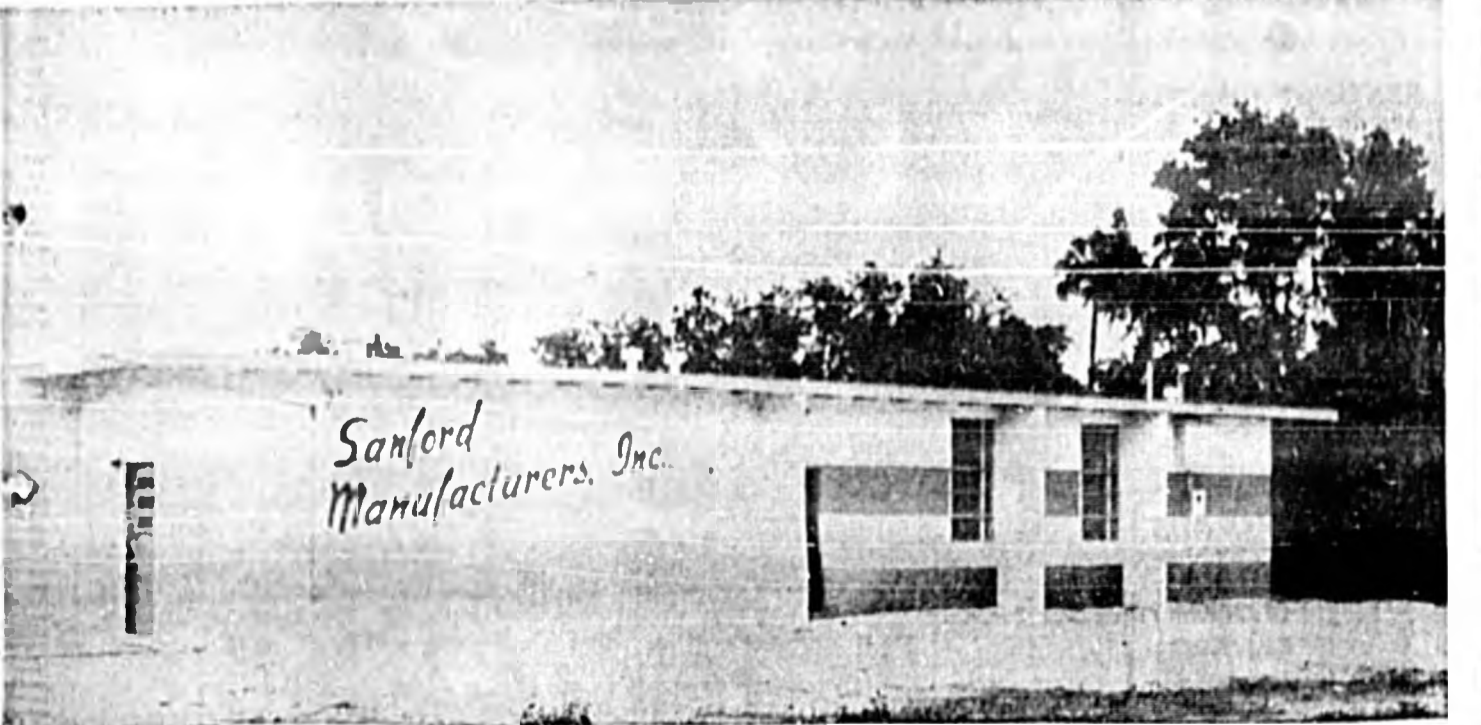

Mrs. Anna Melitz, treasurer of the company will be here for the Sunday afternoon occasion. Mrs. Bebe Goldstein, sister of the president of the firm is coming to Sanford from New York to be on hand at the open house.

Gifts on hand to greet visitors will be Morris Stolsky, floor manager and Mrs. Emma Provens, production manager.

Hyman Melitz, president of Sanford Manufacturing Co. said yesterday that 2400 garments are turned out each day in the huge operation here. This, he said is in comparison with the 700 a day that were being turned out when the company first started operation here on July 1, three years ago.

The plant was formerly located on Sanford Ave. where soon after (Continued on Page Ten)
