ITALY BEGINS WAR IN ETHIOPIA

Detroit Evens Up Score With Chicago Cubs

Tigers Get Big Lead In First Inning As They Chalk Up 4 Runs—Score 8 To 3

NAVIN FIELD, Detroit, Oct. 3.—Little Tommy Bridges, 150 pounds of dynamite, weaved a magic spell over the terrible Chicago Cubs before a shivering crowd here this afternoon, holding the Grimm-men to six hits to be returned up 8 to 3 victor as his mates took advantage of a first inning attack on the veteran Charley Root, and the wildness of Roy Henshaw and Fabian Koussik in followed Root.

The fans had hardly settled themselves in their seats with the wind whistling a frigid blast around their ears when the Tigers blasted old Charley off the mound with four straight hits, climaxed by Hank Greenberg's home run with Gehring aloft.

Four runs over and not a man out, Roy Henshaw came in and retired the side with the aid of a double play.

However, he had no sooner pitched himself through two innings before the Tigers went to work again taking advantage of his sudden wildness with two in the fourth.

Henshaw hit Owen on the leg with a ball, and an infield hit, and then walked White, filling the bases. On a second pitch to Cochrane, the ball went wild as Owea scored. Cochrane finally walked, again filling the bases, and Gehring singled to center, scoring two men. Fabian Koussik came in and retired the side.

A walk, fielders' choice, hit batsman and Fox's single scored the final Tiger run in the seventh. Bridges didn't allow a hit until the fourth when Hattott wasted one with two out. In the fifth Bridges error permitted Cavaretta to reach first from which base he scored on an infield out and Jorges' single.

With one out in the seventh, Jorges walked, went to second on Koussik's single, to third on Giam's infield out, and both runners scored on Hermann's single.

A storm which brought a heavy rain and sent the thermometer down to 29 preceded the game, with the sun shining only intermittently during the dismal afternoon.

Play by play description of the second game of the 1935 World Series at Detroit this afternoon.

Chicago: Galan drew a walk on five pitched balls, hamper cold weather, apparently, hampering Bridges in his attempt at "getting hot" for the task before him. Hermann, however, hit into a double.

Vegetable Diet For Fish Is Necessary

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 3.—(AP)—Even the poor fish must have his spinach if he wants to have plenty of lip and go in battling strong currents.

"A fish gains weight by eating meat, but to have plenty of energy must have a diet which is 75 per cent vegetable matter," Perry Vicks Jr., New Orleans biologist, said at the annual convention of the American Fisheries Society here.

A diet restricted to vegetables would be equally hard on a fish, Vicks declared. For example, a blunthead bass could live for 12 years on a straight vegetable diet and still be a minnow, while another bass that had eaten meat along with its vegetables would weigh 12 pounds.

Il Duce Was Not Bluffing

Before 20,000,000 cheering, determined Italians mobilized throughout Italy yesterday, Premier Mussolini explained to the world his intentions in East Africa.

We dare say that the Italian dictator does not relish the position in which he has found himself during the past few months.

But evidently Mussolini reckoned without England and the League of Nations. He had seen the League back down in the Bolivia-Paraguay controversy.

The Bitter End

John Crempa and his wife, Sophie, owned a little truck farm in New Jersey. One day representatives of the Public Service Gas & Electric Company called and told Crempa that an extension wire to furnish electric service to a large number of country folks who had hitherto been unable to obtain service, had been planned and that it would be necessary to run the line across his property.

Crempa immediately renewed the fight, throwing wires across the company's lines short-circuiting them and causing no end of trouble.

The other day sheriff's deputies approached his home with another writ for contempt of court.

The point of all this is whether it is worth it. Of course, everyone loves a fighter. Everyone likes to see a man defend his property and protect his rights against all comers.

Washington Daybook

WASHINGTON—The faculty of a state dictatorship such as that of the late Huey Long in Louisiana is one of the principal topics of conversation among politicians and political observers around Washington.

The death of the Louisiana "king fish" at the height of an assassin's career and his one-man rule left his lieutenants in confusion as to which, if any individual, could carry on.

Such has happened. "After all is said and done," one of Long's closest friends said when the end came, "I believe every man in the Long organization will put his love and devotion to Long above personal ambition and that the organization will show a united front in support of candidates endorsed by the organization."

It was through state political factionalism that Long was enabled to climb to dictatorship. Shortly after he took office as governor in 1928, he began to build his organization by playing faction against faction.

Gradually he merged with his group of submerged major political factions, his final victory coming in New Orleans where he split wide open during the past year the "old regular" organization which had dominated the politics of Louisiana's principal city for years.

In his early years as governor he kept a black-covered book listing the political register of the state. In it was classified friend and foe. As the years passed the list of foes decreased to a group that was determined never to deal with him or his organization.

His first state legislature, which impeached him, was a marked political contrast to the last which, with hardly a voice of opposition, enacted all legislation he dictated.

The first words the "king fish" uttered in his early years as governor were "I wonder why he shot me?"

Hall Butler of Deland presented the Stinson Trio composed of Mrs. Moran, Miss Deeth, and Miss Patterson who rendered two selections from Grieg's composition.

Douglas J. Scott of Chicago, past international trustee and father of Kiwanian D. G. Scott of Sanford, also spoke briefly expressing pleasure at being in Sanford if only for a short vacation.

The Club unanimously voted appreciation to Mrs. Walter Coleman for her cooperation in making the picnic at Sandalwood Springs last week a success.

Schools Are Not Responsible For Increase In Tax

Saturday's session opens at 9:00 o'clock, with a lecture by Dr. E. P. Dudgeon of Tampa at the morning feature.

Lamb The Only Meat That Is Yet Cheap

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—(AP)—Lamb seems to have remained the good little child of the meat family, considered from the viewpoint of the housewife who watches the budget closely.

Prices for lamb still are farther below the 1930 prices than any of the other meats, although they are up from a year ago.

Pork chops and sliced bacon, on the other hand, not only have equalled their 1930 prices, but passed them.

The most marked increases the last year, say the bureau of Labor Statistics, came in the prices of eggs, meats, fats and oils. At the same time the prices were slipping downward for cereals, dairy products, fruits and vegetables.

Housewives are afforded a guide to economical buying by the indices issued by the bureau. They show that all meats are higher priced than they were a year ago, but that some prices have increased much less than others.

Big University Band If It Had Uniforms

GAINESVILLE, Oct. 2.—The plight of having 110 first class musicians qualified for places in the University of Florida Band, and possessing only 72 uniforms, was bared here today by Director J. DeWitt Brown, and Band Manager Clarence Reinhardt, Pensacola.

Never in the history of the University has such first class band material been in evidence in such large numbers. At least 40 members of the new freshman class were described as exceptionally good musicians.

"It has long been my ambition to have a 100-piece band here at the University," Director Brown said today. "There is no question about our possessing the material, but the problem is uniforming them."

Manager Reinhardt said that a band uniform, complete, costs about $45.

Analyze the instrument's which make up the 110-piece band Reinhardt listed 27 trumpets, 14 clarinets, 2 alto clarinets, 1 bass clarinet, 13 trombones, 10 saxophones, 9 snare drums, 3 bass drums, 9 tuba, 8 French horns, 4 alto horns, 3 piccolo, 2 bassoon, and 2 oboe.

Chattanooga Baseball Club Is Considering Sanford As Spring Training Camp Site

Baseball games between professional clubs in both major and minor leagues in Sanford the coming winter appears more probable as negotiations with the Chattanooga club of the Southern League progresses, it was learned at a called committee meeting at the Chamber of Commerce yesterday afternoon.

Chattanooga made tentative overtures several weeks ago, and it is still considering Sanford as the site for next season's training camp, a member of the committee stated. No definite action, however, has been taken at this end of the line, either as to the posting of a guarantee or of hotel accommodations. All aspects of the situation are being looked into by committees of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce and the Sanford Junior Chamber of Commerce, and a report of the combined committee is expected to be made to the directors of the county chamber when they meet on Tuesday evening of next week.

Should Chattanooga decide to train in Sanford next winter it will be possible to schedule a number of exhibition games with other professional clubs training in nearby towns.

The Washington American League club, the Brooklyn National League team and the Montreal International club are expected to train in Orlando again; the Minneapolis Association club will be in DeLand; and the Baltimore Internationals will be in Kissimmee. The expected training schedule of other clubs is as follows: New York Giants, Pensacola; St. Louis Cardinals, Bradenton; Cincinnati Reds, Tampa; Boston Braves, St. Petersburg; Pittsburgh Pirates, Winter Haven; Philadelphia Athletics, Fort Myers; St. Louis Browns, West Palm Beach; Detroit Tigers, Lakeland; Boston Red Sox, Sarasota; Nashville, Southern League, Panama City; Albany Internationals, Winter Garden; Rochester Internationals, Bartow.

Graves Again Puts Veto On Dominick Sterilization Bill

Alabama Governor Says He Doesn't Approve Of Act

MONTGOMERY, Oct. 2.—Declaring that the Dominick sterilization bill would result in death to many women "who have committed no offense against God or man save that in the opinion of experts they should never have been born," Governor Bibb Graves today vetoed the measure, revised to meet what were considered his objections.

The sponsor of the bill then asked the House of Representatives to sustain the veto, thus disposing of the matter for this session. The Catholic, W. E. C. O'Connell, of the state and other organizations throughout the state and numerous Protestant and other organizations opposed the measure.

After declaring that the revised measure still violated the "due process of law" provision of the Constitution, Governor Graves said:

"We know that the enforcement of the provisions of this bill as to girls and young women will entail major operations upon many thousands. We know that an operation within the abdomen upon the sexual organs is one of the most serious of all major operations and that of necessity there will be a great number of deaths. Those who will die are innocent and pure, have committed no offense against God or man, save that in the opinion of experts they should never have been born. In our state, society is now, and can continue to be, simply protected in this respect. We are now, in our feeble-minded institutions and other institutions, confining these unfortunate where they are kept safe and harmless, both as to themselves and as to society. We can continue to protect society in this way if we so elect an can continue to segregate these unfortunate in these institutions. What particular individuals will be called upon to make the vicarious sacrifice, but we do know that some individuals will be, and I cannot find it possible for me, in the exercise of the power placed in my hand by the people of Alabama, to cause the death of these innocent unfortunates simply as the easiest way, in the opinion of experts, to protect society.

"I, therefore, veto this bill and, pursuant to the provisions of our constitution, return it to you for such action as you may see fit to take."

Bathtubs More Than 4,000 Years Old Found By Scientists Digging In Syria

PARIS, Oct. 2.—Excavations in Syria by a French archaeological expedition reveal that the ancient Hittite people had bigger and better bathtubs 4,000 years ago than the people of New York have today.

A detailed report received here from Andre Pierrot, eminent French scientist, who heads the expedition, states that among the remains uncovered at Telherri, near Abu-Kemal, in Syria, were luxurious bathtubs equipped with countless gadgets and comforts. He described the tubs, made of baked earth, as veritable swimming pools in which the temperature of the water could be regulated at will.

Cuneiform inscriptions also were found and indicated that various colored bath salts were used to give the water a pleasant scent and an attractive color. Slabs whereon Hittites could be massaged, after their baths, by hunky slaves were dug up in the ruins.

Dr. Pierrot, who has dedicated his life to the study of the Hittites, vague references to whom are made in the Old Testament, said the excavations of his party proved that their civilization was at least equal to that of Egypt and Babylonia when those two nations were at their greatest height of development. He added that they enjoyed comforts unknown to Europe during the Middle Ages.

In connection with the importance that the Hittites attached to the bath, the French archaeologist said he had found remains of a well-engineered sewage system from their cities and carried it miles away.

These excavations under the direction of Dr. Pierrot, which have been in progress for several years, center around the palace of Telherri, an enormous structure rambling with gardens and dependencies over an area of several square miles. It is estimated that this palace was constructed by the Hittites more than 2,000 years B. C.

Despite the sturdy walls surrounding the palace and its apparently impregnable position, members of the expedition are convinced that the King of Babylonia and the great warrior-chief, Hattushilma, were able to capture Hattushilma and burn much of the palace. Valuable relics still remain, however, including several thousand cuneiform tablets which may enable students to decipher much of the Hittite language with its weird hieroglyphs and ideographs. A broken statue, the pieces of which are being pieced together, is considered one of the most important relics brought to light. It is believed to represent the Hittite king who built the palace.

Earthquake "Expert" Says He Will Not Let People Die

Brooklyn Youth Remains In Seclusion As He Studies Possible Upheavals In Earth

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Lives will not be lost nor babies left homeless and starving because of earthquakes. No, not if I can help it.

So saying, Reuben Greenspan, amateur seismologist who has rocketed high into the glare of the public gaze during the last four months by predicting earthquakes in all parts of the world with uncanny accuracy, went into temporary retirement.

Greenspan now is a cloistered student of the whimsies of seismic disturbances and planetary pull. For "a few weeks" the 30-year-old Greenwich village scientist will dedicate himself to the perfection of his method of computing the exact day and location of future earthquakes so that every human being can be quickly removed from the quake area before they occur.

His June bride, Mrs. Miriam Greenspan, assured reporters that "you won't hear from Reuben for the next few weeks, but when you do what he'll have to say will be important."

Greenspan's accuracy in predicting earthquakes has gone beyond the lucky stage. He has received scientific recognition from a host of eastern seismologists including Dr. Clyde Fisher, curator of the American Museum of Natural History, and Captain N. N. Heck, chief of the seismology division of the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey. In the following catastrophes—only a partial list—loss of life might have been averted had inhabitants heeded Greenspan's forecasts:

1. The May 17 earthquake in Persia in which 1000 were estimated dead.

2. On May 31 and June 1 the terrible quake in Quetta, India, in which more than 56,000 died.

3. June 29 and 30 more tremors in Quetta causing large loss of property.

4. June 30 slight disturbances in Mexico City and Turkey in which 15 died.

5. From July 11 to the 14 the beginning of a series of quakes in the region of the volcano Krakatoa in the Dutch East Indies, Shizouka, Japan, and the island of Anakratau in which more than 50 died and hundreds were injured.

6. The Tokyo earthquakes on July 31.

7. The quake that on Aug. 1 cracked the Rock of Gibraltar and sent 600 tons of rock into the sea. Greenspan's theory, he said, is a hook-up of geology with astronomy and the laws of gravity. He has not as yet been willing to disclose his methods of computing mathematically the exact location of future quakes. He was only willing to say:

"Basically, my theory depends upon the nearness of other planets to our moon or sun. Their combined pull then is enough to cause the most disastrous earth disturbances that can be imagined."

"The future of this earth? Can it be destroyed by the combined effects of these planets? No, I think not."

"The volcano is the safety-valve of the earth. As long as they are active the earth will continue as it is. When a volcano gives off steam in an effort to prevent cracks which might form when other planets' combined pull becomes too great.

Beginning his career as a navigating officer in the merchant marine, Greenspan then went to the Seaman's Institute here as an instructor of navigation and geodesics.

"Reuben is an unsung genius," Mrs. Greenspan said. "Of course, I'm sorry for those poor people that are dead, but if they will only listen to Reuben in the future they may save a great many lives. When I think of the great dollar laboratories, while I see a toll-away with only a few cents and instruments, almost junk in comparison, it just burns me up!"

Hundred Million For Belgium Unemployed

BRUSSELS, Oct. 3.—(AP)—Belgium will spend $100,000,000 within three years to combat unemployment through a program of public works, working camps and credit assistance to young married couples.

The funds represent the loan fit derived by the National Bank of Belgium from revaluation of its gold stock in terms of the depreciated Belgium franc.

The money has been held for emergency use in supporting the market in Belgian francs and state debentures, but now is considered available for direct relief.

Working camps for unemployed youths will resemble those of America's CCC. Several camps already operating under supervision of the Catholic Church and the socialist party will be taken over by the government.

To stimulate marriage it is planned to arrange long term credits for furniture.

Girl Reaffirms Love For Father's Slayer

MIAMI, Oct. 3.—(AP)—The fatal wounding of Mahana Zahra, 51, last Sunday by his daughter's lover on their intended wedding day was declared justifiable homicide by a coroner's jury.

The jury, after hearing witness call Zahra "a father who did not understand," found he died of bullet wounds inflicted by John Burkett, 21, who had planned to marry 17-year-old Areida Zahra, last Sunday.

The girl reaffirmed her love for Burkett, from the witness stand and swore she still intended to marry him.

MAGIC CHEF
Several Models

The well known nationally advertised Magic Chef Ranges are also included in this special sale—some on payments as low as 34c per week.

Advanced features of the Magic Chef include non-clog top burners, automatic top burner lighter, sanitary high burner tray, red wheel Lorraine oven regulator, fully insulated oven, grid-pan broiler, some models with automatic time control clock. So worky place this range in your kitchen. Its gas saving features should make the actual net amount only about 41c.

Designed in the New Trend

Gasco ranges are not of the "ready-made" type. Engineers of the Florida Public Service Company and several other large gas companies pooled their efforts and the combined knowledge attained through many months of experimentation to produce these truly "tailor-made" kitchen ranges. The results leave little to be desired. Efficiency and trouble-proof operation at low cost are yours. Perfect performance and economical operation are twin features of both Gasco and Magic Chef ranges.

By actual American Gas Association tests the "EFFLEX" top burners are shown to be 25% more efficient than old type burners—an enormous saving in gas that will go far toward paying for your range. "EFFLEX" burners provide a continuous ribbon of flame which adjusts itself readily to stenosis of various sizes. The burners are made in one piece, hence there are no joints to leak, no "flame-spreaders" to warp. Gasco and Magic Chef Ranges are highest quality products made to sell at lowest possible prices.
