ACQUITTAL OF BISHOP SCORED BY ACCUSERS

Outcome Of Cannon's Trial Called Blunder By Dr. Harrell, Opposition Leader

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Sanford Cannon Jr., yesterday stood cleared of charges brought against him by the members of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, but at least one of the accusing churchmen believes the result a "blunder."

As the militant prohibition leader prepared to resume his church activities in Sanford, he had no permit, Dr. Corbin J. Harrell, one of the four who filed the charges, said they were "doubtful" they were right after hearing the evidence.

Harrell, a Richmond, Va., pastor, said the evidence included "some very astonishing admissions by Bishop Cannon."

"The committee did not vote with us," he said, "but time will doubtless reveal their blunder."

Informed of the statement, Bishop Cannon, said he had no comment.

The militant prohibition leader spent yesterday in Sibley hospital contemplating the decision of 12 clergymen Saturday night that charges filed against him by the four ministers did not have sufficient weight to justify a trial before the 1934 general conference of the church.

1st Round In Golf Tourney For Local Title Begins Today

Competition in the first round of the local golf tournament began today, and 28 of the top players each will have their first round today. The tournament is being held at the 18-hole of match play.

The rules will not prevail in the first round, according to Allan J. Russell, club professional. A prize of $100 will be provided for the winner of the consolation flight in the first round matches. The winners of the first matches will meet in the second flight starting Friday morning, and their scores must be turned in by Monday night, Feb. 15. The semi-final and final matches will be staged during the latter part of the month, and will be 36-hole rounds.

Pairings for the women's division will be announced in a few days with the tournament play to begin before Friday. Mrs. W. R. Russell, the defending title holder, will appear in play this year, as will Leon Letoy, defending titleholder among the men.

The pairings for the men's division are as follows: Leon Letoy vs. John W. Watson; W. B. Russell vs. E. M. Watson; Jim Spencer vs. Roy Holler; H. W. Rucker vs. John G. Herbert; Joe Mackey vs. E. L. May; A. W. Spivey vs. C. J. Lee; S. D. Higginbotham vs. T. J. Ladd; G. Dean vs. J. White; J. W. Spencer vs. J. C. Hutchinson; Ben Cantwell vs. T. W. Jones; C. Chapman vs. E. N. Deas; Lee Johnson vs. Gen. G. Herring; Edward Faville vs. Dr. S. P. Lawrence; Lawrence Thurston; George Thurston; E. H. Gray vs. E. P. Housholder.

The general public is invited to witness any of the games in progress during the week.

Ships Steam Toward Tanker in Distress

MIAMI, Feb. 9.—(AP)—The naval station here received a message today from the tanker, British Challenger, stating the vessel was in distress near Guantanamo and was in need of immediate assistance. No details were included in the message.

All Hope Destroyed For India Home Rule

ALLAHABAD, India, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Deep gloom enveloped the thousands of the national congress members as they gathered for the annual session of the Indian National Congress today. The national congress, which has been in session since last year, is expected to meet in the city of Allahabad.

Three Men And Many Horses Die In Blaze

OAKLAND, Calif., Feb. 9.—(AP)—At least three men were burned to death and more than 50 prize horses were destroyed by fire which swept a horse show here today. The bodies of the men were burned beyond recognition. Several hostlers were sleeping in the temporary structure housing the show but whether there was additional loss of human life had not been determined. It was testified that the horses broke through their stalls and dashed outside. Some became galloping maniacs as flames as the fire caught their hair. Officers shot them to put them out of their misery. Firemen endeavored to save the horses.

FISHERMEN ARE REMOVED FROM ICE FLOE IN LAKE

Score Of Men Safe After 2 Days And One Night Of Exposure

BUFFALO, N. Y., Feb. 9.—(AP)—A score of fishermen were safe today after two days and a night of cold, exposure and hunger on a drifting ice floe in the wind-swept waters of Lake Erie.

For nearly 36 hours, these men faced death in the darkness of a storm-lashed lake, death from freezing, drowning, exhaustion—before an airplane circling 100 feet above the ice and open channels of the lake brought them their first message of hope. Later the plane guided coast guardmen to the marooned group and the rescue work began.

Scraping low, the airplane, chartered by the Courier-Express, a Buffalo newspaper, dropped notes to the men on its first trip over the ice. Kager hands spelled out huge words upon the surface of the ice using the notes, and bits of paper.

Half-starved men crowded around the steaming beverage and shoulders squared afresh as the fishermen settled down to face the long hours which must elapse before all could be brought ashore. The plane sped back to shore. More notes were dropped to coast guard patrols, and a boat put out to begin the long battle through (Continued On Page Six)

Funeral Service For Miss Johnson Is Held

Funeral services for Miss Edna V. Johnson, 22, formerly of this city, but a resident of Orlando for the past few years, were held Sunday afternoon at the Carey Home chapel in Orlando. The Rev. J. A. Sutton, of the First Baptist Church of Orlando, was the officiating clergyman. Interment was made at Anthony, Fla., beside the body of her mother.

Miss Johnson's death occurred Saturday morning after a short illness. She was born at Westminister, S. C., Apr. 12, 1908. She came to Sanford with her family in 1922, from Cedar Key. Following her graduation from Seminole High School in 1923, Miss Johnson entered nurse's training at the Orange General Hospital in Orlando, and was a graduate in the class of 1926.

She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Johnson, of Sanford, two brothers, Elmer Johnson, of Sanford, and Victor Johnson, of California, and two sisters, Miss Alice Johnson, of Sanford, and Miss Martha Johnson, a student at a hospital in Philadelphia.

LAWTON TELLS OF AFFAIRS IN LOCAL SCHOOLS

Superintendent Gives Speech At Chamber Luncheon Concerning Educational Life

Little-known details of one of the school systems were brought before the members of the Sanford Chamber of Commerce today by Superintendent of Schools T. W. Lawton, as to elicit from that body, through a member, County Judge James G. Sharon, a warm and sincere expression of thanks for the information disclosed and the efficient and business-like manner in which the schools of this county have been conducted.

The address proved a revelation to many of the members who appeared to enjoy the presentation of the fine financial and modern condition of Seminole county schools, and deplore the conditions which prevail in many sections of Florida, some of which will necessitate the closing of schools, according to Mr. Lawton. The speaker outlined the costs of educating the more than 4000 Seminole County pupils; the methods of instruction; the introduction and complete use of national standards in school administration, and the splendid results which are being obtained.

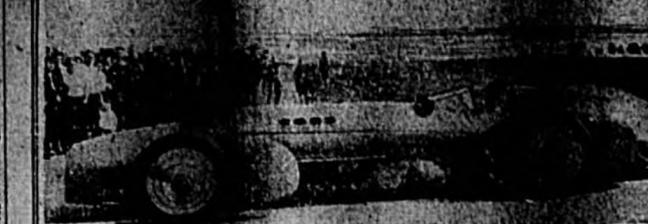

President Harry M. Papworth read several communications which were acted upon by the group. A. K. Rosetter, local florist, was publicly thanked for his generosity in furnishing several bouquets of flowers used at the last luncheon of the trade body. Edward Higgins and S. D. Higginbotham were thanked for their successful handling of the entertainment in behalf of the 50 or more Indiana farmers who visited here Saturday.

Mr. Lawton's address on "Seminole County Schools" is as follows: "It is a pleasure to accept the kind invitation of your president to speak to you on the subject of education. For I know that you who are doing such fine work for the advancement of Seminole county in a material way—her roads and boulevards, her buildings, homes, churches and public utility—cannot fail to be deeply interested in the children who will in the near future enjoy the benefits of your plans and achievements. Truly, 'Education moves forward on the feet of little children,' and we are building a county in which these children will have opportunities of development into men and women second to none in our state or nation. Your county board of public instruction and your several boards of school trustees have never called upon this chamber of commerce for support without receiving the most generous response.

As the late President Marion L. Burton, of the University of Michigan, defined education as "The application of the past to the present for the benefit of the future," so we today are only using and applying the past to our present, but are striving to build so that when the present shall have become the past, its application to the future will be a more serviceable citizenry.

Probably many of you gentlemen have children in school. For example, I know a boy in Freshman class at Orange, one girl in high school in Seminole, and one boy in the young for any class in Sanford and I am interested in the future as well as the present environment of our children. The kind of citizenry we may be creating is what I am interested in. I am interested in what our children will be doing in the future. I am interested in the part of police officers and judges in the law enforcement.

FASTEST LAND MONSTER AND PILOT

Captain Malcolm Campbell, ace of the British speedway artists, and his 1200 horse-power Sunbeam-powered Bluebird II, which set a world's record for automobiles at Daytona Beach last week, Captain Campbell drove this modern Juggernaut at a speed of more than 245 miles an hour.

FOSDICK CHURCH LID IS LIFTED IN SPAIN ON DRASTIC OPENED SUNDAY DICTATORIAL ACT

Expensive Edifice Is Place Of Worship Of J. D. Rockefeller

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—(AP)—The nonsectarian Riverside Church, pulpit of the Rev. Harry Emerson Fosdick and place of worship of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and his family, was dedicated yesterday with a warning by its pastor that civilization cannot be sustained without the message which the church of God is trying to convey.

A congregation of 2400 persons filled the auditorium and galleries of the $4,000,000 Gothic edifice high above the Hudson beside Grant's tomb, and hundreds more heard the services by amplifiers in other rooms of the church outside on snowy Riverside drive hoping in vain to enter.

Among the 2400 was Mr. Rockefeller, Jr., whose beneficence helped largely to build the church—the third which the congregation of Dr. Fosdick has occupied in the last nine years in an effort to obtain for his place of worship ample for the groups which seek to worship.

Woodmen's Auxiliary Planning Initiation

Elaborate plans are being made by members of the local Woodmen's Circle, the auxiliary of the Woodmen of the World, for a district initiation and social session which will be held at the City Hall Friday, Feb. 13, from 2:30 o'clock until after midnight.

All the state officers of the lodge will be present to aid in initiatory services, and a large attendance of members is anticipated from the various Circles in central Florida. The initiation will begin promptly at 2:30 o'clock and will be followed by a banquet at 6:30 o'clock, and from that hour on, the general public is invited to attend the installation of officers, and an entertainment and dance which follows. Castilian's Orchestra, of Casaca, will furnish the music.

Sanford Girls Finish Nurse's Training Term

Among the 85 student nurses representing 10 states, the Dominion of Canada, and Turkey, graduated from the Massachusetts General Hospital Training School for Nurses last Friday night, were two Sanford girls, the Misses Mae Holly and Mary Elizabeth Puleo. Only one other southern girl was represented in the class.

Having completed their general training, the two young women plan to remain in Boston for several weeks preparatory to taking examinations from the state board. It is understood that a certificate from the Massachusetts state board is recognized throughout the United States as the highest recommendation of a student's ability.

The young women will also begin at once taking a special course at Phillips House, one of the largest hospitals in the East. They do not expect to return to Sanford until late in the summer.

TAX COLLECTIONS IN CITY REPORTED FOR FIRST WEEK

City Commissioners In Regular Session

The City of Sanford received exactly $1700.97 in cash as its share of the total amount of tax money collected at the City Hall during the first week the 1930 tax roll has been open.

Tax Collector Ellen Hoy reported today that $7118.90 was paid in during last week. Of that sum, $4477.43 was in cash, and $2641.47 in bonds of various issues. Under the terms of the agreement between the City Commissioners and the Bondholders' Protective Committee, the City retains 40 per cent of the cash revenue, and the Committee receives 60 per cent, or $1700.97 for the City, and $2688.46 for the Committee. The bonds will be cancelled and the entire City debt reduced in like amounts.

It is anticipated that many residents will take advantage of the two per cent discount allowed tax-payers (Continued on page four)

Financial Trouble Causes Man To Kill His Wife And Self

CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Charles F. Shipman, 60, member of the Chicago board of trade, and for 30 years a prominent advertising manager for union stock yards firms, shot and killed his wife, Mercedes, 58, then ended his life yesterday.

Shipman was said by relatives to have been despondent: over financial difficulties. As Shipman fired the shots that ended two lives, Charles Meyerhols, Mrs. Shipman's brother, who was asleep in an adjoining room, was prevented just such a tragedy, was asleep in an adjoining room.

His brother, Fred and Frank Meyerhols, had just returned to their homes in Wapello, Iowa, after joining him in what all regarded as a successful effort to banish the idea of suicide from Shipman's mind.

Shipman evidently had planned the tragedy for some time. His wealth, friends said, was virtually swept away in unsuccessful wheat operations at the board of trade, of which he was a member. Further losses at the race track were said to have thrown him into the depths of despondency.

Cast Selected For Eastern Star Play

With nearly 150 Sanford amateur performers in the cast, rehearsals for the "Girl in Red," scheduled to be presented at the Junior High School auditorium Feb. 23 and 24, were begun this afternoon under the direction of T. H. Hild and G. T. Rye of New York City, play producers.

The chairman of committees on arrangements, selected by members of the Eastern Star, Seminole Chapter, who are sponsoring the play, are as follows: general chairman, Mrs. Sybil Routh; tickets, Mrs. Nava Haynes, cast, Mrs. G. E. McKay; advertising, Mrs. Elizabeth Scott; publicity, Mrs. Lucy Courrier; gifts, Miss Grace Gillon; ushers, J. Elden Jacobs; properties, John Gove, and chorus, Mrs. Pearl Babbitt.

Seminole High Five Victorious On Tour

Local basketball fans will learn with interest that Coach Leonard McLane's Seminole High quintet were completely successful in their two-game invasion of Jacksonville and St. Augustine. Friday night they defeated the Landon High School five by a score of 35 to 24, while Saturday night they whipped the St. Augustine five by a 35 to 11 score.

The local quintet has won seven out of 10 games, and with five wins and no losses, is leading the central Florida district. Several more games remain to be played before the district tournament, which will be held here during the latter part of the month, is under way, and every indication points to a continuation of the already fine record. The winner of the district meet will go to Gainesville for the state tournament.

Action Follows Apology Of Marine Officer Declaring That He Regrets Incident

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(AP)—At the request of State Department officials, the Navy Department furnished Ambassador Demareto of Italy a copy of the correspondence between Secretary Adams and Major General Smedley Butler relative to calling off of the marine officers court martial trial which was scheduled to start a week from today.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(AP)—The Navy Department yesterday called off the court martial of Maj. Smedley Butler and issued a formal reprimand instead.

This action was taken by Secretary Adams after receipt of a letter from the outspoken Marine officer explaining his remarks about Premier Mussolini in a recent speech at Philadelphia.

Butler said he understood the speech was to be confidential. He added he regretted the incident "and the fact that my indiscreet remarks have caused embarrassment to the government."

He was understood to have referred to Mussolini as a hit-and-run driver in the speech. The United States apologized to Mussolini.

Replying to this letter, Secretary Adams condemned the speech but added in view of Butler's letter (Continued On Page Six)

Man Confesses He Crashed Plane To Queer Taxi Service

CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—(AP)—"I see," said Edward Kennedy, "I was hired to crack up that airplane of yours so you could have any more airplane taxi business."

"I see," said Pierce O'Carroll, renouncing his former law and noting that all the front teeth were gone.

The colloquy took place at the detective station, and from it this developed.

O'Carroll had been a partner of Dewey B. Biggs in a flying taxi service, but when he had a chance to buy, cheap, a dual control plane he bought. It became "The O'Carroll Aerial Taxi and Aviation School."

One day a man named Casey wanted to learn how to fly. He took a few lessons, and then the O'Carroll plane slipped from the feet up and smashed into Littlebits. Casey unhurt, vanished. O'Carroll lost his front teeth. That set him slouching.

Yesterday, he had brought about the arrest of Kennedy as "Casey" and police obtained a confession. Likewise, Biggs and Christ Hedd, who works for Biggs, were in jail—all charged with malicious mischief.

"I got $50 from Hedd for the job," said Kennedy.

Manager Earl W. Brown moved his office to the new building on the corner and he and his executive staff are driving over their time to make this 100-page newspaper for many, shape and form, as for the number and amount of the papers.

Campbell Travels 95 Miles An Hour In 4-Cylinder Car

C. Cummins, Columbus, Ind., made four runs over the course in a Diesel-engined car to test its performance. Its highest speed was 97.905 miles an hour. There are no world records for such type of car but Cummins will be given a certificate of performance by the American Automobile Association. He plans to change his gear ratio and try again Saturday, to attain a speed of 100 miles an hour.

SPORT BRIEFS

JACKSONVILLE, Feb. 7.—The London High basketball team, defeated by the jinx which has plagued the Lions with grim exactness all season, went down in defeat again Friday night on the school court, bowing before the smooth play of Sanford High 35 to 24. It was the second victory of the year for the Sanford outfit over the Southsiders.

The South Jacksonville team made a close battle of it in the first half, trailing only 10-15 at the intermission. But in the concluding session the visitors completely outplayed the home eagles.

Davis was the leading scorer for the losers. No one player stood out for Sanford, all working together as a unit.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Feb. 7.—(AP)—Max Schmeling must check Savannah off the list of Southern cities in which he will give an exhibition.

The world's heavyweight champion yesterday was barred from participating in any match or exhibition here. The action was taken by the Savannah boxing commission upon receipt of word from the New York Commission with which it is affiliated, that sanction of Schmeling's appearance in Savannah would violate the working agreement between the two governing commissions.

The announcement was made by Thomas Manion, secretary of the Savannah body, who said an exhibition had been proposed here for February 20.

Schmeling is under ban by the N. Y. B. C., following his refusal to battle its choice as a contender for the heavyweight crown. The Teuton puncher still is recognized as king of the heavies by the National Boxing Association of America.

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 7.—(AP)—A disdainful gesture and the word "pooh" comprise the answer of Knute Rockne of Notre Dame to the annual post-season charge of football over-emphasis.

"When a football coach loses a few games everybody is after his job. When he wins them all, they harp on over-emphasis. There isn't any such thing."

The mentor of George Gipp, the Four Horsemen, Rockne and numerous others who have gambled so impressively on the "Nation's gridiron," said he was in firm for Spring practice, despite his recent illness.

Speaking of Rockne, who now is rehearsing his repertoire of head-locks, preparatory to a mat career, Rockne said, "Joe sometimes talks through his hat." The reference was to a recent statement credited to Rockne, that professional teams play more cleanly than college football teams.

"I don't think he knows what he is talking about," Rockne snapped. "He didn't play dirty for us did he, Moon?" the coach asked Mr. Mullins, another of his recent fullbacks.

"When they play dirty for us we demote them to the twelfth team," the great South Bend strategist announced. Asked if 12 teams were all Notre Dame mustered, Rockne replied:

"No, but that's as far as we ever feel like demoting anybody."

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—(AP)—Babe Ruth will call for Jacksonville, Fla., on his thirty-seventh birthday Saturday to start the most important campaign of his colorful baseball career—the grind to recapture home-run hitting honors from Hack Wilson and guarantee continuance of his own $80,000 a year salary.

He is sailing with Mrs. Ruth and his two daughters, Dorothy and Julia. After trying out the Jacksonville golf courses, he will head for the Yankee's training camp at St. Petersburg to play 20 holes of golf a day until the regular training season opens March 1.

The Babe is traveling south in the best condition of his career. He has been hunting, fishing and playing golf steadily through the winter season, striding the fairways at least twice a week no matter what the weather conditions.

In addition he spent six weeks in Artie McGovern's gymnasium taking off weight and strengthening muscles for the coming season, his eighteenth in the major leagues.

Ruth's weight today is 222 pounds, 11 lighter than when he started his indoor workouts. His waist line has shrunk from 43 1/2 inches to 36 and his hips from 41 1/2 to 37. He hopes to start the playing season weighing 215.

Give a Neighbor a Job

Look carefully about your own neighborhood and you will realize that for every person out of a job, there are eight or nine of your friends and neighbors working.

Now, if you eight or nine who are working will only get together and to the extent you can afford it, give that one out of work something to do, you will be contributing the most helpful, constructive service possible toward breaking up unemployment.

For instance, there are plenty of ways, right in your own home, of investing your money in labor and materials, putting in needed improvements, repairs, additions... and doing these things under most favorable circumstances. You are not wasting a penny. You are putting idle money to work profitably, productively, and patriotically—if it is promptly done.

Suppose you talk this over with your employed neighbors and arrange right away to divide between you the labor of a man or two, for however long you can.

Your duty as a citizen
Be active in all community work which is meeting present conditions. Let your Mayor know you are behind him in all organized action providing employment.

Your opportunity as an individual
Make all proper purchases possible. Give employment by starting repairs, painting, etc., which add to the value of your property.

Attorney General Mitchell had to submit to some rather tough results in his efforts to dictate federal judgeship appointments. President Hoover had failed to back Mitchell in some significant instances. The Attorney General's resignation has been rumored because of his pique over being thwarted by the state politicians.

It is doubtful if any of the previous clashes between Mr. Mitchell and Republicans seeking to dictate patronage has assumed the degree of personal bitterness which is developing in the Minnesota judgeship controversy. The implications of that controversy are being estimated at likely to extend into 1933 politics.

The issue has become so acute it does not seem that either side could back down with any degree of face-saving grace.

It has become such that President Hoover almost has to stand with the Attorney General or else find a new one. Should he support Mr. Mitchell he could expect to find the dominant political forces in Gopher State Affairs ready for active hostility to Hoover's re-election or else indifferent to it in such a fashion as to enable the Democrats to carry the state's twelve electoral votes.

The row began some months ago. E. A. Michel, a Minneapolis attorney, was recommended for appointment to a new judgeship created through a special act of Congress. Congestion in the federal court in Minnesota was bad enough then. It is a lot worse now.

Senators Henrik Shipstead, Farmer-Lehette and Thomas I. Schall, Republican; the anti-state delegation in the House of Representatives, Gov. Floyd Olson, the American Legion, the State Bar Association (and organized labor, notably the railroad brotherhoods, endorsed Michel's candidacy.

Attorney General Mitchell, who is a Minnesotan, was hostile from the outset. He let it be known he never would approve. Pretty soon the Minnesota boys of the Hoover secretariat—George Akers and Walter Newton—let it be known that any influence they might have with "The Chief" was against Michel. That was early last summer.

The warfare has proceeded under cover for many months. It has been growing hotter and hotter. Attorney General Mitchell has made such a personal issue of the Michel appointment it does not seem possible for him to remain in the Hoover cabinet should he be reversed in this matter.

From a start of the fight of a "Wilson Democrat to dictate Republican patronage in Minnesota" the contest has waged warm and acrimonious.

The Attorney General feels so deeply about the Minnesota judgeship he broke into print with a formal Department of Justice news release on the subject.

That removed any remaining doubt he would stake his cabinet position on the issue. That he issued his blast against Michel with the consent, if not the connivance, of the White House is not challenged seriously among the Gopher hierarchy of the administration.

Mr. Mitchell, reasserting his refusal to recommend Michel for the federal bench, declared he believed the candidate lacked the previous legal experience for the post.

Then Mr. Mitchell opened the doors for a torrent of rebuttal. He said some "right-minded lawyer" should be chosen.

They told me that Senator Schall was in a rage when his wife read that to him up in the Senate Office Building, where she works faithfully and so tirelessly as "a senator's eyes."

Senator Schall stated a statement for the Minnesota newspapers. "What does Mr. Mitchell mean by right-minded?" the blind senator demanded to know. "Does he mean right-minded from the standpoint of the corporations and public utility interests?"

From that innuendo, Senator Schall proceeds in leaps and bounds of expressive adjectives to the point of asserting his dislike to believe that the Attorney General accepted candidates for federal judgeship on the basis of their club affiliations, social connections, or their close water on the side of the bank accounts of their friends and next of kin.

Florida changed its antiquated law regarding speed a number of years ago making it possible for automobiles driven at a rate of forty-five miles an hour to do so legally. Not all states have been so progressive. Most states differ radically in their laws regarding proper speed limits. The information that England has recently exempted light automobiles from all speed limits whatsoever has given rise to considerable discussion in this country and some agitation for a more uniform system of speed laws among this country's various states.

"Beginning with the Massachusetts law, which permits whatever speed is reasonable and proper under the circumstances but declares anything above twenty miles an hour to be presumptive evidence of unreasonable speed," the Christian Science Monitor points out, "the range of established limits runs to Nevada's law, which says that speeds above fifty miles an hour shall be illegal. In between, there is Missouri with a specified limit of twenty-five miles an hour, also with a prima facie qualification which permits of higher speeds; two states with thirty-mile limits, New York and Utah; fifteen with limits of thirty-five miles; eight with limits of forty miles, and twelve with forty-five.

Eight states have abolished the maximum speed limit altogether. They are Connecticut, Michigan, Indiana, Kansas, Montana, Tennessee, Vermont and Wisconsin. In view of this wide range of speed laws, it is clear that of the prevalent ideas some are archaic and some may be too advanced. The general opinion seems to be that the lower limits are obsolete.

"The modern speed regulation recognizes that motor cars have been remarkably improved in performance and responsiveness. It is based upon an awareness that the modern automobile with four-wheel brakes can stop from almost any speed within one-half the distance required in the two-wheel brake performance of a new car as compared with the legal standard demand. The standard brake code, compiled back in the days of two-wheel brakes, requires a stopping distance of fifty feet from a speed of twenty miles an hour. There is no car manufactured now that cannot stop from this speed within twenty-five feet and many of them can do it within twenty feet.

"Owners of such cars are aware of this deceleration performance, and they know how carefully it has been matched to acceleration and high-speed capacities. Accordingly, they are driving at higher average speeds from year to year. In the face of this, motor-vehicle officials and legislators are constantly working to modify the archaic speed laws that they may catch up with the new standards of speed and safety in passenger car performance."

Times Have Changed

The name of Count Felix von Luckner, onetime hero of the German navy whose exploits as a sea raider during the World War won him much fame and honor, is being prominently mentioned in the social life of Miami Beach. The same people who now aspire and contrive to gain his favor would, a few years ago, have gone to all lengths to break his neck. But those were excited times when the public conscience was inflamed against the enemy. Today we are at peace and people are supposed to have a sane outlook on things, and besides, as the Ocala Star points out, the Count was not such a bad fellow after all.

"Count Felix von Luckner, famous German war time raider, has arrived in the state and at the present time is enjoying the sunshine at Miami aboard his four-masted schooner Morphella, the same ship he used to make his raids during the World War," says the Ocala paper. "Not many years ago, had the Count attempted to enter the Miami harbor his ship would have been blown to pieces. But they were war days. Now everything is forgotten and the Count is as welcome to this country as he would have been prior to the war.

"And one really can't help but admire Count von Luckner. When the propaganda was put out during the war telling of the horrors that passengers had to undergo, when their vessels were torpedoed and sunk, this did not include the Morphella, under the command of Count von Luckner. It is true that he did sink many vessels, in line of duty of course, but he made sure first that all passengers and crew were safely on his vessel before the fatal shot or torpedo was fired into the helpless ship.

"It is to be hoped that in the next war, if there ever is one, that there will be many more counts like this one and then war really wouldn't be so bad. Innocents would be spared, and non-combatants have no cause to be killed in war days, as many were during the World War."

Nothing Under $1,000
New York's contribution to the up-trend in business is a store where nothing will be sold under $1,000, to be opened this month. We are going to do all our window shopping there.

Up to now our greatest buying thrill was going to a department store, carefully selecting a 10-cent hair net and slipping to the salesgirl, "Charge and send." But wait till we stride into this new establishment.

We do not know exactly what items are going to be carried in a store that sells nothing for less than a thousand bucks. But it will presumably carry a full line of suspension bridges and railroad locomotives. Or maybe you can stroll in there some day after lunch and order a sixteen-passenger airplane to match your complexion.

It must be great to be a buyer for a store like that. When you're buying the wheelbarrow plowing up dirt, it will sound as if the United States Army was going to war again.

After a lifetime of shopping in red front stores where "Nothing over 10 cents" is the slogan, "We guarantee nothing" is the usual phrase. "Nothing" is the usual phrase. "Nothing" is the usual phrase.

A store that carries such a line of goods as this would surely be a success. It is in possession of the secret of success. It is in possession of the secret of success.

I hear it on my sturdy stair,
The sound of sturdy little feet;
Of three with dark and tousled hair,
Of one with curls like ripened wheat.
It hears, it hears, then beats retreat,
And silence encompasses me.
The dream is ended that was fair,
That never more than dream shall be.
I hear it from the corner where
My lawn and joyous garden meet;
The silver laughter ringing rare,
Of lads and ladies free and fleet.
It hears, it hears, then beats retreat,
And loneliness envelopes me.
The dream is ended that was fair,
That never more than dream shall be.
I hear it on the evening air,
The sound beyond all music sweet;
Of little ones at bed-time prayer
In faith and innocence complete.
It hears, it hears, then beats retreat,
And hopelessness descends on me;
The dream is ended that was fair,
That never more than dream shall be.
Belances, did you my dreaming
Of children born to you and me?
The dream is ended that was fair,
That never more than dream shall be.

TAX FACTS

Mr. Note—This is one of a series of short articles to be carried daily for the convenience of our readers who may be furnished with preparation of their income tax reports.

Certain items of income are specifically exempt from tax by the provisions of the revenue act. These items, therefore, need not be included in gross income. Among such items are the proceeds from life insurance policies; amounts received as gifts, bequests, devises or inheritances; interest on municipal bonds, State bonds, certain bonds issued by the United States Government, bonds issued by the possessions of the United States, and Federal Farm Loan bonds; amounts received through accident or health insurance or under workmen's compensation acts for personal injuries or sickness, and damages received on accounts of such injuries or sickness.

Amounts received as compensation, family allotments, and allowances under the provisions of the war-risk insurance act, the vocational rehabilitation act, or the World War veterans' act, 1924, or as pensions from the United States for services of the beneficiary for another in the military or naval forces of the United States in time of war, or as a State pension for services rendered by the beneficiary or another for which the State is paying a pension, also are exempt from tax. Interest or dividends not exceeding $500 from domestic building and loan associations, substantially all the business of which is confined to making loans to members; the rental value of a dwelling house and appurtenances thereof furnished to a minister of the gospel, as part of his compensation, also are excluded from gross income. Other items excluded are alimony, notary fees if the notary was commissioned by the State, and city jury fees.

LAWTON TELLS OF AFFAIRS IN LOCAL SCHOOLS

The English philosopher, John Locke, has said "Of all the men you meet, nine out of ten are what they are, good or evil, useful or not, by their education. It is this that makes the great difference between men." In this group here assembled, are lawyers, doctors, preachers, merchants, mechanics, farmers, transportation men, teachers, etc., and not one among you could function successfully except for your special education for your profession, vocation or occupation. It was not chance, whim, accidental choice, or fateful dream that made you what you are, but as the late Mr. Bryan said, "the combination of opportunity with the preparedness to meet the opportunity." And the preparedness is the part played by education.

H. G. Wells has said, "The school has professed to make citizens, but rather it has stimulated a few competitors for success and fitted to equip them for the struggle." Now, Mr. Wells, may be correct in some instances, but I am convinced that his criticism is unjust in many cases. In refutation of his accusation, let me read you a few excerpts from essays by candidates in this county for the Ruth Bryan Owen free trip to Washington. These essays were written to be used as a basis for determining the winners among the eight Seminole county candidates, one boy and one girl to be awarded the trip. These boys and girls not only did not know in advance the subject but did not even know that they would be expected to write anything until assembled in a room for this purpose. The subject given to all eight candidates was, MY IDEA OF A GOOD CITIZEN OF THE UNITED STATES.

One boy writes, "A leading citizen is always interested in the affairs of his local and national government. . . . A good citizen should have four qualities: interest, honesty, leadership and courage." Another boy wrote, "He should think for himself, should have a general idea of the laws of his country, and OBEY them, and try to get others to obey them. He is trustworthy, loyal, friendly, cheerful and brave. He should not take part in any business that is not entirely right, morally and legally." A girl wrote, "My idea of a good citizen is a person who is honest, who honors and upholds the government of the United States, who is clean in all things, and who has a true belief in God." Now these candidates for Mrs. Owen's Washington trip have gathered their ideas of good citizenship from instruction received in our public schools and from the example set by the principals and teachers of their schools. I contend that such teaching is making the finest citizenship, despite the criticism of Mr. H. G. Wells.

There are enrolled in Seminole county public schools approximately four thousand pupils, 1700 Negro and 2300 White. They are being taught in 21 schools, 14 white and 17 Negro, by 150 teachers and principals. The terms in length are nine months for the Seminole High School, eight months for all other white schools, and from six to eight months for the Negro schools. The average teacher's salary is $775.00 per year for both races, the white teacher's salary being $98.00 (this includes salaries of principals also).

Our schools are costing for current expenses about $100.00 per day, or 25 cents per pupil each day of the school term. The present year our receipts for public school current operation will be about $160,000.00, of which amount the state will pay about one third, the rest to be met by county taxation. Our county school millage is ten for general school purposes and ten for special school districts, both being the maximum allowed by the state constitution. The districts have not failed for several years to vote to levy the maximum of special taxes, which is an indication of the value placed by our voters on the education of their children.

Seminole county is bonded for school buildings in sum of $794,000.00 and about $88,000.00 is required for interest and sinking funds each year. Accumulating a bond millage of ten mills in the school districts saving the largest amount and five in 1936 with smaller bond school property is comparatively valueless. There are 24 school districts in the county.

to white schools, —some of the negro schools are small one-teacher schools). No discrimination is made against the smaller town schools, as the same grade of teachers receiving the same salaries are employed throughout the entire county. Truly, Seminole county is functioning in accordance with the state plan of the county unit system. This is not wholly true of many counties where special favors are shown to the larger city schools. Our county board feels that every boy and girl of Seminole county should have equal privileges and opportunities of public education.

By careful administration and most rigid economy, the county can boast of never having had to shorten a school term nor requiring any teacher to wait for a salary later than the time specified in the contract. In this respect we have been more fortunate than many Florida counties. No one can foresee what conditions may be another year, as much will depend on changes that may be made by the coming legislature in the matter of school financing.

As a member of a Committee of Sixteen, appointed last year to make a survey of the state school systems throughout the several counties, I found many things that should be corrected if our state is to offer equality of educational opportunities to all of its children. It was found that the criticism of many business men on the lack of wisdom on the part of school administrators was not well founded. We found that of all revenues received in the counties of the state 70 percent were expended for salaries of teachers, 6 percent for transportation to effect consolidation of schools, 12 percent for debt service, 10 percent for janitors, insurance, repairs and incidentals, and only 2 percent for administration. This does not sound like an unbusinesslike administration of funds. Yet glaring discrepancies were found in opportunities offered in some counties. Salaries vary from $400.00 to $1300.00 per year. Per pupil cost varies from $10.00 to $67.00 per year.—the average for the United States per pupil is something over $90.00, whereas the average teacher's salary in the United States is $600.00 more than in Florida.

There are forty counties unable to operate for more than five months without resorting to repudiation of debts or issuance of time warrants; twelve counties may be compelled to close their schools for a period of two years in order to catch up with their present indebtedness. As we well know these conditions are the result of economic changes in the past few years, lack of ability to pay taxes, even at reduced assessment valuations, heavy floating made during the "boom" for the indebtedness, heavy bondings or erection of new buildings, etc.

Now, the only solution found by our committee is for the state to assume a larger share of the financial obligations of the schools in the future. We are offering for consideration a program calling for a minimum term of eight months and a minimum salary of eight hundred dollars per year in every county of the state. This program will require an income of about $12,000,000, and we suggest that the state assume $9,000,000 of the obligation, and that the state's portion be appropriated on the basis of teacher unit throughout the counties of the state. If this plan can be effected, the counties will be relieved of nearly 50 percent of real estate taxation.

In other words, Seminole county could reduce its school tax levy from its present ten mills to not more than seven and the special districts could vote upon themselves a five mill tax instead of ten, as now obtains. As I see the problem, it is not so much a matter of increasing the revenues as a total, but so distributing the burden and the revenues that every county in the state may offer equal opportunities to its children. These boys and girls are not just citizens of cities and counties, but of the State of Florida.

Any crime committed by them is a crime against the dignity of the state and is so punishable, and the state should provide for a system boys and girls the best possible citizens, most trustworthy, serviceable and honorable.

Fortunately for us of the Committee of Sixteen, it was not within our province to recommend the sources from which the state's revenues would be derived. This matter is in the hands of a special committee on taxation appointed by the Governor, and it is the duty of the Committee of Sixteen to make the survey of the existing conditions and offer a plan by which the state may solve the problem.

Two or three large property owners have paid their 1930 taxes as well as delinquent taxes, and the bonds now held by the City were received from that source. Several smaller property owners whose taxes average about $25 each, have paid their taxes also.

Disorder To Force Down Bread Price

Quiet ruled the streets of the district, where Saturday night more than 500 persons milled and jostled police in a serious demonstration against the prevailing bread price.

Whether the fight was abandoned in the face of injunctions granted nine bakeries, or whether further demonstrations might be expected police were unable to guess. Threats made Saturday night of further violence yesterday failed to materialize, however, and there was no outward indication of further trouble.

Special police details were necessary Saturday night to quell the crowd which paraded through the district, bearing banners and shouting defiance in the bakeries.

Five arrests were made, two women, two men and a youth of 14 being taken in on charges of disorderly conduct. They were released on bond.

Naval Building Put Off To Help Economy

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Plans for passage this month of the administration's $74,000,000 naval construction program have been abandoned.

This decision has been reached by House leaders in the interests of economy and to obviate any possibility of a special session. The program was the first advanced since the London treaty was ratified.

An effort will be made, however, to bring to a close vote the Senate bill to authorize $30,000,000 for modernization of the battleships New Mexico, Mississippi and Idaho. The administration is represented as favoring this authorization to $3,000,000 to begin the work can be included in the second deficiency bill.

Boat Tower Tours Will Start Here Tuesday

Special one-day trips will be operated from Sanford to the Bok Tower and the Mountain Lake Sanctuary every Tuesday, Thursday, Saturday, and Sunday by Florida Motor Lines, according to C. G. Medlock, assistant traffic manager, who was in Sanford today making final arrangements for the first tour tomorrow.

Coches will leave from the bus terminal at the Valdes Hotel at 7:15 o'clock, making a turn at Orlando, and arriving at the Bok Tower at 9:00 o'clock in time for the concert. The return trip will start at 9:50 o'clock with buses scheduled to be in Sanford at 7:00 o'clock.

The trips will be conducted as sight-seeing tours of central Florida and the drivers will point out the different points of interest along the route.

People Stage Fight To Get Inside Church

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—(AP)—They literally fought to get into the St. Michael's Ukrainian Greek Catholic church at Uniondale, Long Island, yesterday, until police interfered.

One faction of the church, siding against the pastor, the Rev. William Pychyn, sought to prevent his supporters from entering the church. When police arrived the two factions, armed with axes, rakes, shovels, bricks and hand weapons were battling hand-to-hand.

The fight was ended before casualties resulted.
