FAA takes over airport tower

SANFORD - The Federal Aviation Administration officially took over operation of the air traffic control tower at the Central Florida Regional Airport yesterday morning.

Airport Authority Director Steve Cooke said. "It was a smooth transition, and I know it will certainly be beneficial to all concerned. The biggest advantage." he added. "is the extended operation.

The tower has been manned from 7:30 a.m. until 9 p.m. The FAA, with a total of 13 air traffic controllers and two supervisors, will operate from 6:30 a.m. until 10 p.m. each day.

FAA administrator for the Southern Region. Garland P. Castleberry said, "FAA has responded to the need for a federally operated tower as a result of increased aviation activity in Central Florida. We are excited about the opportunity to provide air traffic control services to the Sanford Airport."

The aviation authority has operated a nonfederal tower at the airport, which has 240,000 take offs and landings annually. FAA air traffic operations are in a temporary tower. A permanent structure is to be built sometime in 1994.

Alachua offers Hughes job; he'll accept

By VICKI DeSORMIER Herald Staff Writer

Bob Hughes said he's excited, but he still has his feet on the ground. Last evening, the Alachua County School board voted unanimously to offer him the job as superintendent of their district. 'It's still subject to negotiations." Hughes said shortly after getting word from Gainesville.

Hughes will not turn in his resignation to the governor until he has come to agreement with the Alachua board on a contract. though he does not see any stumbling blocks in the way of agreement.

His name will remain in contention for the Seminole County job until he officially accepts the Alachua job.

Hughes, who has been the superintendent of Seminole County schools for 11 years still has one year remaining on his current elected term. He said he does not know. if he accepts the Alachua job. when he would begin work in

"They had said they wanted the new superintendent to begin in January, but that was when they wanted to have a decision by early October. so I don't know how that effects the starting date." he said.

Dr. James Longstreth. chairman of the Alachua school board, said Hughes can start as soon as he wants. "We're ready for him tomorrow."

he joked late last night after the vote.

Hughes has a meeting with the Florida Superintendents Association in Bartow today, but he and Longstreth will meet before the end of the week to discuss a contract.

Hughes said he is hoping to be able to negotiate a three to four year contract with some renewal options. The salary range Alachua County has offered is between $90,000 and $105,000 annually.

He earns $94.500 a year. The Alachua board is expected to vote on the contract that Hughes and Longstreth negotiate on Nov. 19.

Efforts renewed for incinerator By J. MARK BARFIELD Herald Staff Writer LAKE MONROE - Sanford developer Sid Vihlen has renewed his efforts to have a medical waste incinerator built/ in this quiet community west of Sanford. In March, Seminole County commissioners voted 4-1 to oppose Vihlen's proposal for a 50-ton-per-day incinerator, which would burn infectious wastes from hospitals, veterinarians and laboratories. Only . commissioner Bob Sturm favored the facility, saying it would bring jobs to the area and increase the county taxbase. More than 100 people attended the meeting to protest the proposal, saying it would pollute the air. But commissioners left the application door open a crack for Vihlen, himself a former county commissioner. They allowed Vihlen to resubmit plans for a medical waste incinerator but with only substantially more information about the incineration process and the operations of the facility. Vihlen's proposed incinerator would be built on a five-acre portion of his 30-acre Rands Yard Industrial Center located along the CSX lines west of Sanford north of Iowa Avenue and Church Street.

Vihlen could not be reached Tuesday, but in his application letter, he wrote "The proposed Seminole County medical waste incineration facility will provide an excellent. light clean industry for Seminole County and Sanford. It can and will operate safely and will be compatible with the Rand Yard neighborhood.'

Richard Rans, who has lived on School Street less than a quarter mile from the site for 44 years, said he still opposes the incinerator.

EDITORIALS Loan injustice

Do lending institutions routinely discriminate against minority applicants for home mortgages? A new Federal Reserve Board study provides worrisome data showing that Black and Hispanic borrowers are turned down at much higher rates than whites or Asians. But it is unclear whether racial discrimination is the only explanation for this troubling discrepancy. The federal study, ordered by Congress, was impressive in scope. It examined the lending practices of 9.300 banks, savings and loan associations and credit unions, reviewing more than 6.4 million home mortgage applications. The findings are ample cause for concern:

As a national average, the rejection rates for conventional home mortgages were 12.9 percent for Asians: 14.4 percent for whites. 21.4 percent for Hispanics: 22.4 percent for American Indians: and 33.9 percent for Blacks. In other words, the percentage of Black applicants who were rejected was more than twice that of Asians or whites.

One partial explanation for the lending gap may lie in the fact that minority applicants as a group have lower incomes and fewer assets. thus making it more difficult for them to qualify for loans. Yet even at the top income levels, minority borrowers were turned down in significantly higher percentages. Roughly the same racial disparity existed in all categories when the applications were grouped together according to income. This suggests that subtle if not overt institutional discrimination by banks may be a factor in the high rejection rates experienced by minorities.

The second statement of the # President and quotas strike out

Along with most Americans, I believe that bend-over-backward preference by race, ethnicity and gender is a bad idea. Only the neutral standard of merit can keep the disparate parts of our ever-more variegated society living in some harmony

A great contest has been going on about it. Now. following President: Bush's confusing compromise on the civil rights bill — call it Bush-mush — it is certain that the struggle will continue. But contests end. Often the outcome is apparent before the conclusion. How does the scorecard look in the recent fight against quotas?

We're in about the sixth inning. Team "A" (pro-merit) has scored a few runs. Team "B" (pro-preference) has accored a run or so. There was a chance for the Team "A" captain to hit a game-deciding grand-slam home run. But George Bush took a called third strike. Still, the pro-merit squad has their best hitters coming up in the next innings. They will win.

To see this, go back a few years and watch the flow:

The once-liberal majority of the Supreme Court was replaced by Reagan-Bush conservatives or moderate conservatives. In the 1989 "Ward's Cove" case, and some others, that new court did away with the "Griggs" (1971) racial preference consequences in cases of "unintentional" dis-crimination. Those were advances in the antiquota fight. The Democrats in Congress tried to revene Ward's Cove. They were defeated by a Bush veto in 1980. A temporary stand-off.

Clarence Thomas was appointed to the Supreme Court, a big plus. David Duke is riding high. That's ugly, but it lets poli-ticians know that quotas carry both a constituency and a

The state of the s sting. And now comes the civil rights bill. It's probably less uota-pushing than Griggs, and surely less than the 1990

Democratic version. It's not nearly as merit-oriented as Ward's Cove, which might have been able to stand if Bush had held firm from the constituency

and a sting

And on balance? By siding with a Congress that is petrified of interest groups rather than with the public as a whole, the president guaranteed years of unnecessary further turmoil. However, in fairness to Bush, the field of play will more than ever be tilted toward the merit side. Not only is the Supreme Court changed, but so are the lower federal courts: well more than half of the federal judges have now been appointed by Ronald Reagan or George Bush. There's a lot left for these judges to decide. Thus: The meaning of "business necessity." the key phrase in the compromise bill, has been left purposefully vague. Important cases involving racial set-asides will also likely be coming up. Moreover, the climate has changed. "Quotas" have been publicly stigmatized. Accordingly, the compromise bill outlawed "race-norming" (which, of course, gave the lie to the liberal

(which, of course, gave the lie to the liberal which, of course, gave the ne to the interal slogan that "there were no quotas prior to Ward's Cove.") Many thoughtful blacks are now going public against proportionalism. The new bill also makes it tougher for the those who intentionally discriminate. That's good. The rule of "merit" can't work if those who break the rule aren't punished severely.

The politics of the new bill are convoluted.

JACK ANDERSON Deng pushed his way to the top

BELJING - The reclusive ruler of China. Deng Xisoping. may be 87 but he is still as tough as a walnut, unstinting in his belief that the Chinese Communist Party will not give an inch to democracy.

The diminutive Deng, whose 4-foot, 11-inch frame does not allow him to sit in many chairs with his feet on the floor, is China's ultimate survivor. He has been purged three different times in his political career, suffer ing imprisonment. internal exile and hardships for his family. In his mind. he didn't go through all that to see the party toppled by upstart pro-democracy

This may be due in part to the aversion of some banks to provide financing for homes in moderate mebme "neighborhoods," where Black and Hispanic borrowers are more apt to live. Another potential reason inay be the reluctance of many financial institutions to lend to borrowers who want to purchase. homes at the low end of the price scale. That practice squeezes out a disproportionate number of minority applicants. But neither of these factors explains the high rejection rate for minority applicants with higher incomes.

Federal laws prohibit discrimination against loan applicants based on race. But the Federal Reserve study clearly illustrates a nationwide lending pattern that favors whites and Asians over Blacks and Hispanics.

A more detailed probe by federal regulators is needed to determine whether racial discrimination is, in fact, a major influence on the loan policies of American financial institutions.

Crime story has pros and cons

I would like to thank the Sanford Herald for the informative stories on the problems in old Sanford. Also, I would like to thank Liz Williams for her involvement in getting the Neighborhood Watch reactivated and getting citizens involved. The neighborhood mobile watch will become a large part of our citizens involvement: this will only be an extra set of eyes and ears for the law enforcement community.

How many times do you see a news story where someone next door sees a crime and the citizen doesn't get involved. It is our responsibility as citizens to get involved.

The paper has failed to address in their articles: are our police officers on the streets everyday? The one thing we as citizens don't read about is the harassment and verbal abuse these officers put up with everyday. The verbal abuse these officers have to put up with is incredible. These officers put their lives on the line each and every day. How many times do you read about a shooting, a motorist stopped for a minor traffic violation who turns out to be armed, or a fight that our police officers respond to?

I want to thank Chief Harriett and all the officers on the Sanford Police Force for the manner in which they professionally perform their duties. We know that you can't be everywhere at all times, so keep up the good work.

Lon K. Howell City Commissioner District 1

P.S. This is the same police department that arrested the Jackson family for dealing crack cocaine: three or four of the family members got life sentences. I wonder why this wasn't a headline story?

ELLEN GOODMAN Washington to vote on death

SEATTLE - The way they talk of "slippery slopes" here, you would think it was winter in Colorado, not autumn in Washington. But on Nov. 5. the citizens of this state are going to decide whether to cut a new path on an ethical mountainside. And it has many voters checking their footing.

What is at stake is Initiative 119 or, as it is labeled, Death With Dignity. It would allow doctors, for the first time anywhere, to legally assist in the suicide of patients who have been diagnosed with less than six months to live and have written requests to die.

To some this elicits the humane image of Dr. Timothy Quill, the family doctor who prescribed pills to a dying patient and wrote about it eloquently in the New England Journal of Medicine. To others it conjures up Dr. Jack Kevorkian, the maverick pathologist who provided two more women with the means to die just last week. If, as Kevorkian says, he wants to provoke discussion on "the right of people to decide their own destinies," that discussion is well underway here.

There is little mystery about how the "right to die" got on the public agenda or on the ballot. As Ralph Mero, Unitarian minister and director of the Northwest Hemlock Society describes it. "We've reached a critical mass. There are enough families who have been touched by the prolonged, painful process of dying. It's resulted in the sense that, damn it. this is not right."

Many Americans have come to see doctors as the handmaidens of a merciless modern technology. It is fear - fear of dying, not fear of death - that has made "Final Exit." the "how-to-die" book, a national best-seller. It is this fearful search for an escape route that has led others here to ask that doctors provide the terminally ill a humane escort.

The ethical case for doctor-assisted suicide or aid-in-dying rests on a belief in both autonomy and mercy - that people should be allowed to make their own decisions, and that we should expect mercy from others, especially doctors. These two ideas are merged in one of the television ads in the words of a cancer patient: "I have terminal cancer. At the end, I want the choice to accept treatment, to refuse treatment, to die on my own terms.'

But the case against aid-in-dying is also presented simply. What the pro-119 groups calls aid-in-dying, the antis call "killing," In their ads it isn't a patient who speaks in the name of humanity but a nurse: "I am a hospice nurse. Initiative 119 would let doctors kill my patients."

Doctors themselves are about evenly divided on 119, a plan which after all gives the patients the power of medical decision-making. Many who oppose 119 believe that doctors can's serve as ethical double-agents: one day for life. the next for death. Indeed, at an evening meeting of doctors here, an oncologist said with obvious dismay. "We are about to create a public policy that says physicians are to be the agents of death."

Medical ethicists are likely to make more subtle arguments. Some, like Tom McCormick at the University of Washington question the American passion to control everything. even death. They worry that the individual right to die will undercut the community responsibility to care for the sick.

But essentially, the opponents of 119 base their case on forecasts of icy conditions ahead. and slopes that are all slippery. What about Jack Kevorkian, they ask? None of his patients was "terminal." nor would his action be legal under 119. Would, should mercy killing extend to them? What about Alzheimer's patients who present such tragic hard cases? Can voluntary euthanasia slip into involuntary? Will we put the dying under social pressure to choose an easy - for us death?

I see those patches of trouble too, but it seems to me that we are already in motion. When we put people on respiratory machines we step onto one potentially slippery slope. and when we take them off, we step onto another.

We often find our footing shaky. When we allow people to get off kidney dialysis treatment. when doctors use morphine to cut pain but also cut life, when family physicians provide pills in private and aid death in secret. when patients learn how to do "it" themselves it is slippery all around.

If the people of Washington vote for 119 it will be because sometime they might want aid-in-dying for themselves.

Deng is a complex character who has refused to write his own memoirs. Information about his early life is sketchy. We have pieced together a profile using Chinese and American sources and several topsecret Central Intelligence Agency documents on Deng. In its classified reports, the CIA paints Deng as a man with a hunger for power, a single-minded man who is "often abrasive" in his dealings with others. "Deng has a well-deserved reputation as an efficient administrator, but he does not seem to possess (the late) Zhou Enlai's talents for conciliation and compromise." says one CIA report.

According to the CIA. Deng "still bears the political scars" of being purged and reviled during the Cultural Revolution of Mao Zedong

His father was a prosperous landlord who had four wives in succession and 13 children. At 16, Deng went with a select group of boys on a scholarship to study in France. There he befriended Zhou Enlai, who was the editor of a Chinese communist periodical. "Red Light."

Deng went on to study in Moscow before returning to China in 1927 to fight with the communists in a civil war that continued for 22 years until the communists under Mao took over China in 1949. Mao had mixed feelings about Deng. He told Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev that Deng was the only one of his comrades worth anything. One CIA report says Mao often called Deng "a man of extraordinary political insight." But Deng had ideas of his own and tried to push Mao to decentralize the economy. Mao didn't like the rhetoric, but he mostly didn't like being treated poorly by Deng. Mao complained to friends that Deng treated him like a "dead ancestor" and would sit far away from him during meetings (Deng was hard of hearing) so he could not hear Mao's instructions.

During Mao's insane decade. Deng was removed from party leadership and paraded around Beijing in a jeep with a dunce cap pulled over his ears while the radical Red Guards jeered. He was imprisoned in solitary confinement for two years and then banished with his family to a southern province where. at 65, he was assigned manual labor in a tractor factory and served meals in a school mess hall.

Deng might have accepted that as the price one pays for being temporarily out of favor if his family had not been hurt too. One brother was purged from his job as deputy mayor of Chungking. Another brother was so hounded by the Red Guards that he killed himself, Deng's son. Pufang, was either forced to jump or pushed by the Red Guards from his fourth-floor dorm window and paralyzed for life because he was refused medical treatment.

Mao brought Deng back from exile in 1973. and since 1977, Deng has been China's "paramount leader.".

charter Morris explained, "In the past decade, the City has only had 3 bonds to decide upon, and who knows when the next one may come up. It could be years." The three bond issues were described by the Mayor as "The Utility Water Plant, the new City Hall, and the Parks and Parkway bond." The latter, the most recently approved, includes not only the city's parks system, but beautification and power line burial on Lake Mary Boulevard. According to City Clerk Carol Edwards, "The next step is to add the wording of the referen-dum into the city charter. Then we'll send the revised charter to the Department of State in Tallahassee. Once they put it on file, it is declared officially a law for the city." She expected the re-written charter to be sent out by the end of this week.

This was the voters way of telling our elected officials they have got to start cutting back on spending at the local level." Sawyer said.

She had been the leader of the group that gathered signatures for the referendum. Yesterday. she spent the entire 12 hour day promoting passage of the refer-endum in the parking lot and. surrounding areas of the old City Hall where the voting was taking place. "We had all kinds of people come out to help get this measure passed," she said.

The referendum was originated by a petition signed by 475 residents. It basically called for no city spending agreements that could not be paid for within that fiscal year. without bringing the matter up for a vote of the people.

Sawyer admitted, "Doc and 1 may not agree on some things. but I have asked that he always be able to listen to the voice of the people, and he assured me he would."

One of the big decisions made recently by the Lake Mary City Commission was approval of the undergrounding of power lines and massive beautification of Lake Mary Boulevard. Sawyer, who spent the entire, election day at the city's polling place, said, "You would be surprised how many people are upset over the cost of burying those lines. They might be for the concept, but they are against spending all that money." She added, "I believe that issue is the one that caused Commissioner Mahoney's defeat.' In his campaign, Jore had stressed the need for road and drainage plans within the city. while Mahoney promoted the improvement of Lake Mary Boulevard as a draw for new business, to increase the tax base. In yesterday's election, Duryea accumulated 761 votes or 57.3 percent against his challenger John McMenamy with 568. while Jore, with 759 votes or 57.1 percent, beat incumbent Mahoney, who gleaned 570 Lake Mary had the largest municipal election voter turnout in Seminole County yesterday. with 48.5 percent of the 2.765 registered voters casting their ballots.

The question of whether or not to place it on yesterday's ballot had been argued for months. One of the problems centered on a decision by City Attorney Ned Julian that the wording in what the citizens had presented, was

He espouses exercise benefits

by J. MARK BARPIELD Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - 77-year-old Martin Peterson says seniors get a "paycheck" from sports.

"Everybody should do the maximum their health will allow them to do." said Ocala's Peterson. "I'm getting paid. I feel better, sure, but that's not the main thing. I'm getting something more. My cholesterol is lower than it ever has been and my blood pressure is good. People should do more. What you don't use, you lose."

Peterson said he stretches his legs for a few minutes before hitting a two-mile course near his home and throws a leg over his head to demonstrate. He cautions seniors that long warm-ups before exercise or competition isn't a good idea.

"When you're older, you can't do a lot of exercises." Peterson explained. "Your muscles aren't as limber as they were when you were younger. They don't last as long. You need to save them."

Peterson may prove to be one of the shining stars of the senior athletic world.

Tuesday, he took first place in the Golden Age Games race walking event for men between the ages of 75 and 79. In June, he won the bronze medal at the U.S. National Senior Games Classic in Syracuse, N.Y., third place out of 300 men and women contestants. He ranked fourth in the 1,500-meter race walk.

He metaled in two Florida events last year, which qualified him for the senior olympics.

All that within a year.

"I heard about the Sun Games in Ocala and I decided that I'd try it." Peterson said.

He was disqualified in his first Ocala race walk in October 1990 for improper style, but won a gold metal for the 50-yard dash and silver metal for the 100-yard run. In November, he won the gold metal for the 1.500-meter race walk and another gold metal in December at competitions in Bradenton.

Peterson, who spent the first five years of his life on his father's barge in the Hudson River spent much of his youth in Teaneck. N.J. He and several friends began the schools wrestling team which won him state honors. But after high school, his interest in sports waned although he spent 32 years in his own weather-stripping business which he said required a lot of physical labor.

In 1964, following a bout with chest pains his doctor said was due to boredom stress, he bought a dairy farm in Williamsburg. Mass. which he developed for three years before'a catastrophic fire killed his 103 cows and destroyed the barn and equipment. He worked the hay fields and kept busy for 10 years before returning to work for the state as a wage and safety inspector.

He retired to Florida in 1962.

Peterson advises seniors to cat smart and enjoy the benefits of good health.

"I'm not on a special diet or anything." he said. "I cat smart at home, but if I went to your house and you had hamburgers. I'd have a hamburger. I don't have much of a doctor. I don't really need one. I've even improved my bowling score. It used to be 140, 145. Now this year, I've been bowling 184. I bowled 201 Monday."

SANFORD - Hugh Banks fears checkers is a dying game. He wants to try to save it.

The 82-year-old player challenges young people to "do something with their minds" and play his game.

"People don't want to play." he said. "They think it's a children's game. Well.' it is in that you learn it as a kid, but you keep playing and it's more than that."

Banks said he is "no professional," but he likes opponents who challenge him.

"That's what I like about (the Golden Age Games)," he noted. "There are just a few of us left who play, but there's always a challenge. You either get encouraged to keep trying to beat someone or get discouraged when you beat everyone all the John Eklund, 76, of Wauchula said he'd like to encourage his perennial challenger to keep at the game.

"I'd like to beat him." he said. "I'm here to encourage that."

Banks and Eklund have met in the checkers portion of the Golden Age Games for at least a half decade. Banks has more often than not won the gold. they said.

"But it sure is fun." Eklund said.

The pair recall that when they were youngsters and learned to play the game, checkers was the only thing to do in small towns like Wauchula, where Eklund has spent his whole life and in Douglasville. Georgia where Banks spent his young years.

"Outside the grocery store you'd sit on nail barrels and have a board on another barrel." Banks said. He recalled that tops from Coca Cola bottles turned either up or down served as checkers.

"We improvised a lot in those days because there wasn't much to be had." Eklund said.

"There wasn't much else to do," Baks noted with a laugh. 'We couldn't get a car until we were in our 20s or so, so we couldn't even go anywhere else."

Eklund said that checkers used to be the main activity of firefighters waiting for the call to duty.

"They play cards now." he said.

The two said the group that plays checkers at the Golden Age Games remains constant.

"It's the same men every year." Banks said. "The group is just getting smaller. In a few years there won't be anyone playing checkers."

Banks and Eklund settle down to play their game. Heads bowed, they look intently at the board, plotting strategies, saying little.

Plastic checkers click across the cardboard board. The rest of the room is silent.

Stamps, 29 cents and holding

WASHINGTON — The price of stamps will be holding steady at 29 cents for the next couple of years.

But Tuesday's decision not to add a penny to that rate means the next increase can be expected in 1994, a year earlier than originally planned, according to Postmaster General Anthony Frank. The postal governing board was unable to muster a unanimous vote to raise prices, leaving the rate at the current level.

"The decision ... is a victory for everyone who mails a letter." said Richard M. Nelson of the American Bankers Association.

"Any further increase in the first-class mail rate would have been a severe setback to the already fragile United States economy." said Richard M. Kessell, head of the New York State Consumer Protection Board.

Sen. David Pryor, D-Ark., who heads the Senate subcommittee that oversees the post office, said he was glad the price would remain unchanged.

Stormy political races

Sen. Harris Wolford scored a Democratic upset in a Pennsylvania race that rehearsed White House campaign issues, while Republican businessman Kirk Fordice ousted Gov. Ray Mabus in Mississippi, in odd-year elections that raised storm warnings for incumbents, now and in 1992.

Democrat Brereton Jones was elected governor of Kentucky, casily defeating a veteran GOP congressman caught up in the House check-bouncing episode.

In New Jersey, voters angered by hefty tax hikes ended Democratic control of their legislature and elected Republican majorities in both Senate and Assembly, a turnaround so total that the GOP will have majority margins wide enough to override vetoes.

While voters rejected some of the biggest names on the ballots in the scattered elections of 1991, in Washington state they took the advice of Speaker of the House Thomas S. Folcy and voted against a term limit measure that would have been the nation's toughest.

Off-year elections may be sobering

WASHINGTON — Establishment political leaders may find a sobering omen in the off-year elections, one that seems already to have jolted the nation's No. 1 incumbent. The returns have sent President Bush unpacking.

Criticized by Democrats for not paying enough attention to domestic policy. Bush on Tuesday night abruptly postponed a 10-day trip to Asia and Australia that had been scheduled for later this month and early December.

Tuesday's defeat of former Attorney General Dick Thornburgh in Pennsylvania's closely watched U.S. Senate race suggested in the most dramatic fashion that even commanding leads can be erased when the economy falters and voters are uneasy.

Thornburgh, a former popular governor of his state and a close ally of Bush, saw his 40-point lead in the public opinion polls evaporate against a challenge from appointed Democratic Sen, Harris Wofford, who began as a relative unknown.

LOS ANGELES – Fred MacMurray, who dispensed fatherly wisdom between puffs of his pipe on television's "My Three Sons" and played lovable kooks in a string of Disney movies, has died at 83.

MacMurray died of pneumonia Tuesday at St. John's Hospital and Health Center in Santa Monica, a day after being admitted for cancer treatment.

Food labeling

New rules intended to help consumers

By DIANE DUSTON Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON – The Food and Drug Administration for the first time is proposing strict food labeling regulations that should allow consumers to tell at a glance the level of fat, sodium, calories, cholesterol and fiber in the product.

The labeling rules, being released today, are a recognition of the demands by consumers to know more about the health effects of the food they cat. The government and nutrition experts have said overconsumption of fat and cholesterol can lead to heart disease and cancer and that high-fiber diets may be helpful in countering such problems. Sodium also has been connected to hypertension.

Under the new rules, when the front of a package says "low-cholesterol," for example, it would mean no more than 20 milligrams of cholesterol and 2 grams of saturated fat per 100 grams of food, according to a summary of the regulations obtained Tuesday by The Associated Press.

"Low-fat" would be another way of saying no more than 3 grams of fat per 100 grams of food — 3 percent. "Low-calorie" would mean 40 calories or less.

The FDA says only nine terms should be allowed to describe nutritional qualities of foods: free, low, high, source of, reduced, light (or lite), less, more and fresh. Each has a specific meaning.

The proposals are the FDA's answer to the requirement that it find a way to enforce the Nutrition Labeling and Education Act passed by Congress last year.

Industry and consumer groups reacted positively, although both sides said they'll use the next 90 days to try to persuade the FDA to make a few changes before the final rules are issued a year from now.

By May 1993, nearly every food in the supermarket will have to wear the new labels.

The new law doesn't cover meat and poultry products, which are regulated by the Agriculture Department, but USDA was going along by issuing its own label proposals today.

USDA says there will be 23 meat and 22 poultry categories.

The FDA suys any package that contains less than two servings would be considered a single serving and nutrients must be calculated as such. As an example, the proposals say one soft drink serving would be eight ounces, so a 12-ounce can of beverage must be considered a single serving.

The FDA will allow foods to say they may help case problems such as the bone disease osteoporosis. hypertension, cardiovascular disease and cancer.

The FDA says it is still considering two other claims — fiber and heart disease, and fiber and cancer.

It says it will not allow claims linking folic acid with neural tube defects, antioxidant vitamins with cancer, zinc with immune function in the elderly or omega-3 fatty acids with heart disease.

The proposals explain the way FDA wants to enforce the Nutrition Labeling and Education Act passed by Congress last year. They will be open for comment for 90 days and finalized at this time next year.

The Agriculture Department will be proposing labels for meat and poultry.

Terms defined

Free: Less than five calories; less than 0.5 grams of sugar; less than 5 milligrams of sodium; less than 0.5 grams of fat; less than 2 milligrams of cholesterol and 2 grams of saturated fat - each per serving.

Low: Less than 140 milligrams of sodium; less than 40 calories; 3 grams or less of fat; 1 gram or less of saturated fat and not more than 15 percent of calories from saturated fat; 20 milligrams or less of cholesterol and 2 grams or less of saturated fat – each per 100 grams of food..

High: Benefits the consumer by providing more than 20 percent of the amount recommended for daily eating. Source of: Beneficial because it provides 10 percent to 19 percent of the amount of the nutrient recommended to be eaten each day.

Reduced: One-third the calories; half or less the sodium, fat, saturated fat or cholesterol.

Less: 25 percent or less the sodium, calories, fat, saturated fat or cholesterol.

Light: One-third fewer calories.

More: At least 10 percent more of the nutrient, as in "more fiber."

Fresh: Raw food. Never frozen, processed or preserved.

The Agriculture Department would use the same definitions for meat and poultry products, but it plans to add two other descriptive terms:

Lean: Cooked meat or poultry with less than 10.5 grams of fat (of which less than 3.5 grams would be saturated fat) and less than 94.5 milligrams of cholesterol per 100 grams.

Extra Lean: Cooked meat or poultry with less than 4.9 grams of fat (of which less than 1.8 grams wold be saturated fat) and less than 94.5 milligrams cholesterol per 100g.

Although light comedy was his strength. MacMurray played almost any film role with success, including Western hero, high-society figure and double-dealers of various stripes.

MacMurrray played against type in 1944 when he started opposite Barbara Stanwyck as a crooked insurance salesman recruited for murder in Billy Wilder's moody 'Double Indemnity,'

Gates plans to redirect, slim down CIA

WASHINGTON — Robert M. Gates is becoming director of the CIA with the task to redirect and slim down the spy agency into a new. post-Cold War mold.

The Senate's 64-31 vote Tuesday to confirm Gates ended a six-month ordeal for the first careerist ever from the CIA's analytical branch to rise to the top of the 44-year-old agency.

With support from a solid phalanx of Republicans, Gates benefited from a split among Democrats to roll up his easy margin of approval.

The brash, rotund 68-year-old publisher, who died Tuesday, had skipped an appearance a day earlier because he reportedly took ill.

An autopsy was expected today in Tenerife, off the Moroccan coast. Authorities questioned the crew of the yacht and Angel Delgado, the island's civil governor, was personally coordinating the investigation.

Spanish national radio said Maxwell's body was found unclothed and showed no signs of violence. Maxwell was last seen before dawn Tuesday on the yacht. 14 hours before a rescue helicopter pulled his body out of the sca.

Bucs release Chandler, Haddix

TAMPA — Vinny Testaverde finally got the vote of confidence he'd been seeking.

The Buccaneers' muddled quarterback situation was resolved Tuesday when Chris Chandler was waived and coach Richard Williamson officially handed the starting Job back to Testaverde for the rest of the season.

Before the move, the first-year coach had refused to commit to either Testaverde or Chandler, who could wind up costing Tampa Bay the top pick in the 1992 draft.

"Obviously a great deal of thought has gone into this decision," said Williamson, who also released cornerback Wayne Haddix — the Bucs' only Pro Bowl selection last season.

CORAL GABLES — The Miami Hurricanes. sore that they slipped in the Top 25 poll, hope to make West Virginia pay for the insult.

The Hurricanes, who had a bye Saturday, fell into a tie with Washington for the No. 2 ranking after the Huskies beat Arizona State, 44-16. Washington (8-0) had been third behind Miami (7-0) the previous week.

"When that happens, it's like people don't respect you." Hurricanes quarterback Gino Torretta said Tuesday. "That's offensive for me, occause I think we're one of the best teams in the country, and I don't see how, just because we didn't play, we can drop in the polls."

Where will 'Noles go bowling?

TALLAHASSEE — With bowl-pick-em day just 11 days off, Florida State coach Bobby Bowden skirted questions Tuesday about where his team would go if the choice is up to them.

But other Florida State officials have handicapped the Orange Bowl as the most likely choice if the Seminoles beat South Carolina this Saturday and Miami the next weekend.

"We're confident that the FSU-Miami winner will come to the Orange Bowl, but that's a decision they have to make," Orange Bowl President Harper Davidson told the Sun-Sentinel of Fort Lauderdale, "When you're No. 1, you can play who you want to."

FHSAA stirs up 5A-4 race Ruling puts Rams in tie for first, drops Patriots to third

From staff, wire reports

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Because of a ruling by the Florida High School Activities Association. the Lake Mary High School football team finds itself leading the 5A-District 4 race.

The twist of fate came about when the FHSAA executive committe upheld the decision by Commissioner Ron Davis that the Lake Brantley Patriots had used an ineligible player in games against University and Lake Mary earlier this season and, as a result, the Patriots would have to forfeit those games.

Lake Brantley, which had been 7-1 and 5-1 in the district, is now 5-3 and 4-2. Lake Mary's record changes from 4-3 and 3-2 to 5-2 and 4-1. University, which plays in 4A-District 7, is now 2-5.

Tribe hopes to serve up a surprise

BUNNELL - Numbers never tell the full story.

The Seminole High School girls varsity volleyball team enters the start of the 3A-District 5 tournament Wednesday at 6 p.m. against tournament host Flagler Palm Coast High School with a 2-12 record and this sixth seed in the seven-team field.

Based upon those numbers alone. Seminole's chances of beating third-seeded Flagler Palm Coast and succeeding in the tournament wouldn't appear to be very good.

But the Seminoles have played 10 of its 14 matches against the five Class 4A schools in the Seminole Athletic Conference. The Tribe's two wins came late in the season against 3A-District 5 opponents Leesburg and Daytona Beach-Seabreeze.

"It's real nice to play schools your same size," said Semineter head coach Beth Corso. "All of the teams first-place tie with the Mainland Buccancers (5-2 and 4-1) while Lake Brantley drops into a three-way tie for third with Lake Howell and Oviedo (both of whom are also 5-3 and 3-2).

If Lake Mary wins its remaining district games against DeLand and Lyman while Mainland closes its district schedule with wins over Lake Howell and Oviedo, the Rams would win the district tille because of their 10-9 win over the Bues last Friday.

The Patriots had appealed a ruling by Davis and the FHSAA that an emotionally handicapped student who dressed out and sat on the bench for two games was ineligible to be on the team because he lived in the wrong school district.

Lake Brantley principal Darvin Boothe believes the organization misinterpreted its bylaws, but the school's appeal was rejected by the executive committee which upheld the decision to order Lake Brantley to forfeit the games.

"It's totally ridiculous." said coach Fred Almon. "I got him out there to help him emotionally. He has never played a down."

The student, whose name is being withheld to protect his privacy, has been enrolled at Lake Brantley since his sophomore year and is now a senior. His family moved into the Lyman district last spring, but he was able to remain at Lake Brantley because he's enrolled in the Emotionally Handicapped Resource program, which is not offered at Lyman.

Boothe said he reported the situation to the FHSAA in late September because he wanted to make sure it was all right to let the student play football. Davis responded four days later with a declaration of the student's ineligibility.

4A-Dist. 9 has unusual possibilities

By TONY DeSORMIER Herald Sports Editor

OVIEDO – As district tournaments go, this one could be a doozy.

Among the several possibilities that may be played out in the 4A-District 9 girls' volleyball tournament are Lake Mary winning its first district title after three consecutive second-place finishes; Oviedo winning its 11th straight district title; and Lake Howell coach Jo Luciano winning her 200th match.

The tournament opened last night with eighth-seeded Lake Brantley beating ninth-seed DeLand 15-4. 5-15, 15-7.

Play continues this afternoon at Ovtedo High School when topseeded Lake Mary plays Lake Brantley at 4 p.m. Fifth-seed Mainland faces No. 4 Deltona at 5:15 p.m. before No. 3 Lake Howell takes on sixth-seed Lyman at 6:30 p.m. Tournament host and seeond-seed Ovledo plays No. 7 Sprace Creek at 8 p.m. The semifinals are scheduled for 4:30 p.m. and 6 p.m. Thursday with the championship match set for 7:30 p.m. Lake Mary, in its quest to shake its bridesmaid image, brings in a 29-1 record that includes at least one victory over every district team except Spruce Creek. But as far as Coach Cindy Henry is concerned. the Rams' record may be more to their disadvantage than that of their opponents. "They've got nothing to lose," said Henry. "We're supposed to

Celtics hold off Miami

MIAMI — Free throws kept Miami in the game, then beat the Heat as the Boston Celtics made six straight in the final 63 seconds for a 93-89 vietory Tuesday night.

Rick Fox hit two free throws to put the Celtics ahead for good at 89-87. Robert Parish added two with 10 seconds left for a 91-88 lead, and Larry Bird clinched the vietory by making two with 3 seconds to go.

Miami's Bimbo Coles had a career-high 16 points, including 14 in the final 15 minutes. Rony Seikaly added 16 points and 15 rebounds.

coach Beth Corso. "All of the teams in our conference are 4A schools." I'm glad we're not seeded last. They're a 3A school and we've been playing 4A schools, so hopefully our ability is better since we've faced tougher competition."

If Seminole does defeat Flagler Palm Coast, it would face the winner of the match between second-seeded New Smyrna * sach twho Seminole beat on Oct. 2 and No. 7-seed Jones on Thursda at 6 p.m.

The Tribe split two matches with the New Smyrna Beach Barraeudas and did not play either Flagler Palm Coast or Jones during the season.

Throughout the season. Seminole showed occasional glimpses of potential before slipping back down. The challenge has been to harness that potential consistently.

"We've been very inconsistent the whole season," said Corso. "We've been trying to become consistent the last few weeks. We need to play well. We beat New Smyrna Beach 15-9. 15-11 and Smyrna beat Flagler twice, so that has to be a weighing factor. Should we beat Flagler, it doesn't matter whether we play New Smyrna Beach or Jones."

Raiders open with seven-point win

By DEAN SMITH Herald Sports Writer

NEW PORT RICHEY — Before Tuesday night's game with Pasco-Hernando Community College coach Bill Payne told his Seminole Community College team that they needed to put the distractions of the past week behind them for 40 minutes.

And the young Raiders did just that, five players scoring in double figures as SCC opened the 1991-92 season with an 87-80 triumph over the Conquistadors at New Port Richey.

Sophomores Brian Nason and Darnell Robinson tossed in 21 and 16 points for the Raiders while freshmen Troy Bruening, Deon Gavin and Lake Mary's Jason Hamelin added 17, 15 and 12, respectively, in their first collegiate games.

"The kids did a good job." said Payne, "They were able to put the problems behind them and beat a very good basketball team. They (Pasco) have an excellent coach (ex-USF assistant Bobby Bowman) and outstanding talent. They could be a factor in their league."

Payne was concerned that his small lineup, with no starter over 6-foot, 5-inches, would be over-matched on the boards by Pasco's towering front line of 6-foot, 5-inch leaper Anthony Sanford, 6-foot, 7-inch Jason Possehl and 6-foot, 10-inch Keith Chaney.

But the first two times down the court. Chancy pulled up and nailed 3-point bombs and guard SEMINGLE COMMUNITY COLLEGE (17)

Reggie Eiliott hit another three to give the Conquistadors a 9-5 advantage.

The Raiders rallied and, when Nason hit his second 3-pointer SCC went ahead for good 14-13. "When they made those three-pointers, 1 thought we might be in trouble," said Payne, "But our offense and defense got going and shut them down. It was a good team effort."

The Raiders took leads of as many as 15 points in the first half, but Chaney got hot inside as Pasco came back to cut the lead to seven late in the half.

SCC took a 10-point lead (44-34) into the lockerroom when Lake Mary's Mike Merthie penetrated and dished off a beautiful pass to Bruening, who canned a three at the buzzer. See SCC, Page 2B

Gill holds off Orr in 27th Governor's Cup Late Model state title run

Special to the Herold

NEW SMYRNA BEACH - After eight lead changes, defending champion Bobby Gill - with runner-up Pete Orr glued to his rear deck - won the FASCAR-sanctioned 27th annual Florida Governor's Cup 200-lap Late Model state championship in front of a full house Saturday night at New Smyrna Speedway.

Pete gave me a real run for my money." said Gill, who pocketed $7,660, which included the $5,000 winner's prize, fast-time bonus, lap money for 141 laps and several hundred dollars in contingency from Kendall Oil.

"I wanted this race real bad," said Orr, who win the 1991 Piorida Triple Crown. "But I came up a bit short at the end."

Finishing third through fifth were David Rogers, Brad Heath and Daniel Keene. All the top five finishers completed the 200-lap distance while Rob Underwood, who came in sixth, was lapped once in the closing circuits.

Rogers and Keene, who both led the race at different times, remained in contention until the very end. Heath. a nine-year veteran, is still recovering from severe hurns sustained in a racing accident.

At the start, pole-sitter Jack Cook led the tightly-bunched 31-car field as he edged front-row starter Keene by a bumper in the early laps. But Orr, who started on the second row in the Horsen' Around Fams team car. was extremely strong right from the start and, on the sixth lap, moved up on the point and pulled away by three car lengthes.

By the 10th lap; a fierce duel for second was raging between Rogers and Cook while Gill had moved up to third from his eighth-place starting position. Cook soon dropped out with mechanical ORLANDO - Pete Orr sped to victory in the 50-lap FASCAR-sanctioned Florida Governor's Cup Tune-up for Late Models as Orlando SpeedWorld opened the 1991-92 racing season last Friday night.

After setting the fast time. Orr gridded on the inside of the second row and needed only three laps to dispose of early leader Scott Bramlett. Orr then sped to an easy victory despite some late-race caution periods that bunched up the Neld.

Ed Meridith drove his usual steady race to claim second over James Wilkins and Bramlett. A lap down in fifth and sixth were Bob Ackerbloom and John Powers Jr. Rounding out the top 10 were Rick Lokey. Ray Hester, Bruce Everett and New York state invader Tom Slattery.

Claiming an easy victory in the Limited Late Model final was Michael Williams, who outdistanced Mike Todd. John Willis. Randy Grief and Curtis Narmore.

Veterana Wayne Heckle and Butch Yoakam put on a crowd-pleasing battle in the Florida Modified feature before Heckle finally pulled out the victory. Ricky Wood. Glen Carter and George Rhone trailed the lead pair.

FASCAR Mini Stock champ Robby Sears picked up where he left off (40 wins during the 1990-91 season) with a victory in the 15-lapper for four-bangers.

The best race of the night was the Sportsman feature as John Hodges led all the way to claim his first-ever FASCAR win. Rick Johns and his father Jimmy took very close "place and show" money. They were followed by defending Bomber champion Barbara Pierce (making her Sportaman debut) and Bill Loomis.

While rules prohibit a student assigned to a school outside the district in which he lives to play sports without special permission, the FHSAA also has a by-law that allows participation if a school board 'establishes a new hus route which the student is required to patronize."

The Seminole County School Board assigned the student to a specific bus route to accommodate his participation in the emotionally handicapped resource program.

At 81, he cooks up a tasty storm

By JOAN KING Heraid Correspondent

SANFORD - At 81, Cook of the Week Hubert Pearce is a healthy-looking, active busineseman who cooks up a storm and is a church-going Baptist. Pearce has been married to his lovely wife Crill, also 81, for 63 years come next March. They have been residents of Sanford since 1934.

The Pearces have raised two children, lost two in the 30's. and have grandchildren and great grandchildren. Their son. Hubert M. Pearce, is the chief custodian at Lake Mary High School, and their daughter. Barbara Rayburn is with United Communications.

Pearce said that his grandchildren and great grandchildren "visit about once a week. However, those who live farther away come on holidays."

Our cook chuckles as he relates a statement from one of his great granddaughters who says. "My momma can't make cornbread like you, pawpaw."

As with every cook. Pearce was not always as proficient in the kitchen as he is today.

Let's go back to yesteryear when he was a sophomore in CORNISH GAME HENS AND high school in Lake City in 1926. After school and weekends found young Pearce on the golf course as a caddy, where he earned very little money, he said. He said he could see that being a caddy wouldn't get him where he wanted to be.

"I didn't want to be a caddy for so little money. If the money had been better. I probably would have continued with it." Pearce said earnestly.

That year, 1926, Pearce opened a short order restaurant. Even though he was a sophomore in high school, he kept it going until 1929.

Pearce, the young phenomenal teenage entrepreneur, realized a business fact. A fact that food was here to stay and it would be his life's work. For 48 years he stayed in food service as a grocer, manager and president of a corporation. Pearce evolved

Simple, hearty fare warming in cooler weather

When fall and cooler weather, busy pre-holiday time calls for simple, hearty main dishes. With the help of the microwave these dishes go together easily. Bread, rice or potatoes, and a salad will complete your meal. The meals are easy on the budget too.

Here's an easy way to dress up ground beef. POOR MAN'S PILET MIGNON

4 slices bacon

1 lb. ground beef 1 cup cooked rice 1 Tbsp. instant onion 1 Tbsp. Worcestershire sauce 1 Tbsp. catsup 1/2 tsp. salt

14 tsp. pepper 1 can (6 oz. mushroom steak sauce

1 Tbsp. red wine, optional 1 Tbsp. catsup

Place bacon between paper towels in simple layer in 9-inch glass pie plate. Microwave on 100 percent power 3-31/2 minutes or until almost cooked. yet soft. Set aside.

Combine beef, rice, onion. Worcestershire sauce, one tablespoon catsup, sait and pepper. Form into four patties, about 1-inch thick. Wrap a bacon slice around each patty: secure with toothpick. Place in ple plate or on meat rack. Cover with waxed paper. Microwave on 100 percent power 6-7 minutes or until no longer pink. Transfer to serving platter.

No news can be bad news hen cancer is concerned

DEAR ABBY: I read a letter in your column in the Oregonian that shook me up. It was from a woman who said that her husband had had a physical every year since 1971, checked out 100 percent - then out of the blue he was diagnosed as having inoperable prostate cancer! No one had told him that if his father or a brother had had prostate cancer, he should take a P.S.A. blood test. After I read this in your column. I wrote "GET THIS" on the column and handed it to my husband. because his brother has had prostate cancer. So with no symptoms, my husband took the P.S.A. test and was found to have early prostate cancer!

Thank God for that letter and thank you. Abby. for publishing it. I had copies made and sent them to all my male relatives. I even posted one on the bulletin board at our club. You may use my name.

BOBBI (MRS. FRED) ACKSON, SOUTH BEACH, ORE. DEAR BOBBI: Thank you for permitting me to use your name.

went camping with my family and a friend. I met a really special guy who I fell for right away. The problem is, I told him I was 17 (1 am 15).

He is 17. Now I am worried that he will be mad at me for lying and think I am too young. The reason I told him I was older is because a lot of guys think I'm too young even before they get to know me. I look 17 and am very mature. I don't think age should matter if two people really like each other. How do I convince him that I like him so much, and that I'm sorry for lying?

SORRYILIED IN YUBA CITY. CALIF. DEAR SORRY: Age does matter during the teen years, and so lorgotten, indirectly responsible for the pollination of two-thirds of all the food we eat. Alfalfa and many grains that feed our livestock are immensely dependent on bee pollination. The beekeeping industry is already suffering from below-profit honey prices and the overuse of pesticides. In the next few years, the Africanized (killer) bees will reach our temperate climate. causing even greater mass hysteria among our citizens. OLIVER D. FRANK SAN MATEO, CALIF. DEAR ABBY: I can sympathize with the reader whose puppy was stung. It happened to our puppy a second time, and I thought she would die! She's 9 years old now and has learned not to snap at anything that buzzes.

Did that woman see the insect that stung her dog? Was it a wasp, bumblebee, hornet or yellow jacket? And if she could identify the insect as a honeybee, can she prove it came from the hive next door?

ant to know the name of the blood test is "Prostatic-Specific Antigen." And for those who need a nudge in the right direction - read on:

DEAR ABBY: This is a story about two men. One of them is my friend who went to his doctor for his regular physical examination. An elevated blood count indicated that he needed further testing and, as suspected, it was found he had two cancerous polyps on his prostate. They were removed by a simple surgical procedure. Prognosis: He will probably live a normal life.

The other one is my brother. who had ample warning of the same problem for a year, but who kept putting off a visit to the doctor until it became absolutely necessary. By then, the cancer had spread through his system and he required radical and painful surgery. Prognosis: We buried him last week, and it was so unnecessary! Please excuse the tear stains. I miss my brother.

DEAR ABBY: Last weekend I does the degree of maturity, Some 17-year-old "boys" are men - and much depends upon his degree of maturity at age 17. Liking iiim so much that you lied about your age is not much of a defense, but my advice is just to be straightforward and tell him what you've told me. Lying about one's age is, in itself, immature. But if he likes you enough, perhaps he'll be forgiving.

DEAR ABBY: Please don't steer any more business to those bleepity-bleepin' lawyers. The lady whose dog got multiple bee stings should have had her dog fenced in - or on a leash. He was obviously in bee territory not vice versa.

TREVA ANDREA. POQUOSON, VA. DEAR TREVA: Since that

letter appeared in my column. I learned more about bees than I bargained for. Read on:

Anti-fungal creams treat yeast infection

DEAR DR. GOTT: What is the ause of vaginal yeast infection? Will it disappear without medication, and what is the possibility of it returning?

DEAR READER: Vaginal yeast infection is caused by an overgrowth of certain fungi, such as candida, that are normally present in the vagina. Yeast infections often follow treatment with antibiotics. which destroy the bacteria but leave yeasts unaffected; thus, the normal counterbalancing effect is upset. Also, vaginal yeast infection frequently occurs in women with diabetes. Diabetics are more prone to infections, including those caused by fungi. These infections typically cause a malodorous, white discharge that is extremely irritating to the tissues at the vaginal opening: pain and swelling cnsuc.

Vaginal yeast can be diagnosed by microscopic exar .ination (or fungus culture) of the discharge. Women who suffer recurrent vaginitis do not need repeated medical examinations for diagnosis; they know when they've got if from the appear-ance of the discharge.

In past years, white vinegar douching (two tablespoons per quart of water) was a popular method to relieve symptoms and reduce infection. Subsequently, anti-fungus vaginal creams became available. These pro-ducts, such as Monistat and Mycostatin, were extremely effective but could be purchased by prescription only.

In recent years, most of these creams have become available over the counter. Therefore. women who recognize the symptoms of vaginal yeast infection can now purchase medicine to cure it, without having to see a doctor.

Although vaginal infections will, over time, improve without therapy, treatment is inexpensive and easy; women no longer have to suffer discomfort as they once did. Women with recurring yeast infections should be under the care of
