and everything going in and out from First Street the only no-traffic would be held up on the boardwalk would be when boats entered or left the lagoon. This property is entirely out of the residential district and business of various kind would soon build up on both sides of property bringing in more people and revenue to the city.

"This project would be started after the end of the war and would give work for a large number of men, and after completion permanent work for more."

"Now to a selected list of 200 or more manufacturers and jobbers of all classes of goods, write a letter, first outlining that Sanford really is the Center of Florida, proving it by enclosing a map of Florida, showing Sanford at the head of the John's River and circles drawn showing distances 20, 50, 75, 100 miles from Sanford. Secondly show by actual comparison the difference in freight rates on various commodities between water and rail; third, explain that freight could be loaded on a boat and carried on inland waterways from New York and states south direct to Sanford without rehandling. Fourth, boats can be docked at a warehouse, unloaded into trucks, railroad cars, or stored with one handling; fifth, a manager of the office in a warehouse could fill all orders quickly from stock as sent in by salesman covering the territory in Florida.

"Spaces 100 feet by 125 feet would be leased for terms of 10 or 15 years at a very nominal rent and the manufacturer or jobber need only build a warehouse to get a lease."

"All replies received that showed interest in the proposition should be answered quickly and with full information and a man should be sent to make a personal call on each one after a group of favorable replies had been received."

"The Federal Government would probably be induced to give us financial assistance as they seem to be anxious to spend money in giving work. Men, machines and material will be available after the war."

Perhaps this project is too big for Sanford but I believe with the men at the helm now, it can be put over and Sanford would become one of Florida's leading cities to the benefit of us all."

LABOR RECRUITING

Yanks Defeat Light Forces On Mindanao

300 Superforts Raid Aircraft City Of Nagoya Twice In Forty - Eight Hours

(By Associated Press)

Tank-led American invasion forces swept aside meager Japanese resistance in the southwestern corner of the Philippines today as 300 Superfortresses poured 25,000 tons of incendiaries on the aircraft city of Nagoya in the second midnight raid on Japan in 48 hours.

The veteran 41st Division captured an airstrip in a half hour, and overran four villages near Zamboanga in 1 1/2 hours Saturday morning on Mindanao island.

Tokyo reported the yanks had also invaded Basilan island, 111 miles to the south.

Five square miles of Nagoya were hit during a three-hour bombing, Tokyo admitting fires were raging 10 hours later. Singapore also was assaulted by Superforts.

The Marines hearing the final phase of the two battle went after Japanese trapped on the northern end of the island with tanks, flame throwers and demolition charges.

American troops have landed near Zamboanga on the southwestern tip of Mindanao island, most southerly of the Philippines, after heavy warship bombardment and aerial pounding, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced.

The first division units of Lieut. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger's Eighth Army quickly captured four villages and were advancing on Zamboanga city.

After landing, more against only light opposition was in the vicinity of Wolfe airport only 200 miles northeast of British North Borneo.

MacArthur said most of the (Continued on Page Two)

Sales At Market Capital Officials During February Deny That Break Are Up $100,000 In War Imminent

An increase of more than $100,000 over the corresponding period of last year is indicated in the report of sales of Florida produce during February at the Sanford State Farmers Market as just issued by H. J. Egan, market manager.

Also noticeable is the fact that the number of units sold (28,749) is very little more than the number of units sold during February, 1944, which totaled 28,309. This clearly indicates better prices received this year on most fruits and vegetables.

Oranges lead in value with 29,449 boxes bringing $109,071. The price held steady at $3.50 a bushel during February, 1944, and averaged $3.45 a crate and was of good quality, with 22,201 units bringing $76,393.

Cabbage led in number of units sold with 73,041 but with the eastern market flooded with combined Texas and Florida bumper crop, the price here averaged 79 cents a bushel. The sound sack which brought a total of $60,862 at the market. Present market quotations finds this lowly vegetable still in the doldrums and seeking buyers at 60 to 65 cents a sack.

Tomatoes formed the fourth item in value. Price of these held up to $4.61 a bushel and 5,116 bushels were sold for a return of $24,000.

Sales out of state products totaled $7,016 for 1,170 units making total sales for February $429,889.

Shipments by rail are on the increase as wartime shortage of materials and difficulties in securing repairs have sharply cut truck travel, Mr. Lehman said.

Mr. Lehman predicted that the new crop of beans coming on would receive a good price and there would be a good quantity providing there is no freeze.

Racial Bill Tickered For Public Hearing

WASHINGTON, Mar. 12 (AP)—An issue laden with political dynamite — whether Congress should outlaw racial and religious discrimination by employers — was ticketed Saturday for a public hearing by the influential House Rules Committee.

The bill to establish a permanent Fair Employment Practices Committee, is in for a stormy session, even though its principles have the endorsement of both major parties.

Racial and religious organizations rallied a host of witnesses to appear before the committee when it opens hearings on administration-backed measure Wednesday.

Some indication of the trouble that stretches ahead for the measure came from southerners on the rules committee this week when the bill got a brief preliminary hearing.

"I wonder," said Rep. Cox (D Ga.), "if this bill is an attempt to break down all social distinctions and make a melting pot out of the country. It's a thing that has to be gone into thoroughly."

Even Republicans shied away from definite commitments on the pending bill which emerged from the labor committee several weeks ago.

Republican Leader Martin of Massachusetts told a reporter he is in favor of the principles of a fair employment commission but he wouldn't say he will back the present bill.

Sic Billy Ravanel Jr. Awarded Air Wings

U. S. NAVAL AIR STATION, Jacksonville, Mar. 12 (Special)—Seaman First Class William Fishburne Ravanel, Jr., 107 E. Seventh Street, Sanford, was presented his wings as a U. S. naval aviator this week when he completed the final phase of training at this station, it was announced.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Ravanel, the 19-year-old aviator has undergone a year's rigid training in aerial gunnery, mechanics, flying and ground crew operations under simulated combat conditions. He is now ready for duty as a member of an aircraft carrier or at a naval air station.

Ravanel enlisted in the navy Feb. 10, 1944.

WARD WINS ROUND

WASHINGTON, Mar. 12 (AP)—The Supreme Court today refused to rule on the validity of the government's seizure of 16 Montgomery Ward properties. The refusal was based on the fact the review petition was filed prior to the judgment of the circuit court of appeals. The district court had ruled the seizure illegal.

Berlin Reports Rhine Bridgehead Is Widened With 25,000 Americans

Where U. S. First Army Crossed The Rhine

Page Deplores Spread Of Strikes And Absenteeism

Declaring that "I've got no fight with the laboring man, in fact, I'm one myself, but I don't think this country should be turned over to him," O. H. Page of Savannah, Ga., told the Rotary club today that it is the patriotic duty of everyone in America to work 12 to 14 hours a day if necessary to win this war and deplored the spread of strikes, walkouts, slow downs and absenteeism in this country.

"I'm afraid we've already got communism in this country," Mr. Page said, as he insisted that a colder status out of Congress, unwarred business and piled up a national debt of over 100 billion dollars.

"I could tell you men in my love of this country and my admiration for it," he insisted as he revealed that he has a son in the Army now serving in France and regularly receives $250 a month in War Bonds but he quoted from Woodrow Wilson to show that "The history of liberty is the history of the limitation of the power of government," and added that if the country has carried more strikes, less freight with fewer men and less equipment than in the past war, it has added that the railroad has been the main factor in the winning of the war.

Pointing out the part that railroads have played in this war, he revealed that the railroad has carried more freight with fewer men and less equipment than in the past war, and added that the railroad has been the main factor in the winning of the war.

Mr. Page was introduced by Calvin Blane, superintendent of the Atlantic Coastline Railroad. Today's luncheon included Wilson S. Adams, of Carlisle, N. C.; Alva S. Travers of Jacksonville, Rep. Reppard and O. L. Taylor of Orlando, Dr. C. J. Jones of Gainesville, and S. H. Satter of Sanford.

President Roy Hoffer announced that a joint meeting with the New Sanford High School will be held at the Mayfair Hotel, 200 N. Broadway at 2:30 o'clock in place of the usual Rotary luncheon.

High School Gridders Begin Spring Practice

The tele- Fed gridders of Seminole High School are taking no chances about being in good condition for the games next fall, and under direction Coach C. F. Kettles, started spring practice this week. Today they were scheduled to do some workouts in uniform. The Feds will display bewildering offensive tactics as indicated by a new formation in which they are being drilled, according to Coach Kettles. This will probably start in first gear with the old reliable T formation and then emerge in second gear as a double wing formation with an unbalanced line, all of which is a Bob Warner creation with special trimmings by Coach Jack McDowell of Rollins College.

Mrs. E. B. Taylor Hurt In Accident

Mrs. E. B. Taylor, 908 Myrtle Avenue, was taken to her home in an unconscious condition this morning as the result of a collision at about 9:30 o'clock between the Chevrolet sedan she was driving west on Ninth Street, and a Ford sedan being driven north on Park Avenue by Herbert Lampert of Lake Mary.

Mrs. Taylor was reported this afternoon to be resting comfortably at home in spite of bruises on the head and side. Extent of the injuries can not be determined until X-rays are taken, according to Mr. Taylor.

Police reported both cars damaged, the Chevrolet on the left side, fenders, running board and door, and the Ford on the right front fender, and headlight. No arrests were made.

Senator Taft Wants MacArthur's Advice

WASHINGTON, Mar. 12 (AP)—Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said today that General Douglas MacArthur should be brought to Washington to help determine the final strategy to defeat Japan. Noting that Fleet Admiral Chester Nimitz is visiting in Washington, Senator Taft said he regarded MacArthur's presence as "a significant factor" that MacArthur has not been summoned home since the war began.

Senator George (D-Ga.) said he thought MacArthur's experience ought to be utilized in selecting the supreme commander for the final drive on Tokyo.

Berlin Reports Rhine Bridgehead Widened By U. S.

 fensive westward from Upper Silesia, setting within 23 miles of Moravská-Ostrava protecting the Moravian gap.

Moscow, amid official silence on a new offensive, said Soviet command is shifting large forces to the Berlin front preparatory to another massive shove on the capital aimed at linking with the Allied armies in the Elbe valley in the heart of Germany. It also said Berlin might be bypassed.

Powerfully reinforced U.S. First Army troops lashed out more than a mile at several points Sunday from the Dutch bridgehead, which the Germans said stretched for 11 miles along the Rhine's east bank and was supplied by numerous pontoon bridges.

Surrendering Allied Headquarters partly stripping the security cloak from the bridgehead—possible evidence that the critical hours were past—said it was three miles Rhine and nine miles wide, with the Americans in possession of eight east bank towns, one of them unidentified.

As this push menacing Germany's inner citadel began to fan out, a new threat rose to the enemy's Rhine line on the north, where the Allies were massing men and guns for a possible new crossing behind a dense smoke screen rising for 40 miles along the river west of Wesel.

The Canadian First and U.S. Ninth Armies crushed the last Germans in the Wesel pocket. Now five Allied armies were linked solidly along 150 miles of the Rhine from the Dutch bridgehead to within a mile of Koblenz.

The U.S. Third Army on the south took a 15-mile grip on the Rhine and threatened the last enemy holdings west of the Rhine in the Saar and Palatinate by setting control of 48 miles of the Moselle River's north bank between Coblenz and Trier on the southwest.

22 Towns Overrun
 At least 22 more German towns were overrun by the Third Army. The U.S. First and Third Armies pressed northward 25,000 German troops in the Tiel Mountains north of the Moselle into a sack of probably 100 square miles less than a tenth of its size when the trap was sprung Friday.

Final liquidation seemed near for this pocket, along with the 17 miles the Germans still hold on the north bank of the Moselle. In 17 days since the Americans broke across the Roer, Allied armies had all but fulfilled General Eisenhower's orders to destroy every German unit on the Rhine in a triangular section of western Germany 65 miles wide at the base and 165 miles from north to south.

Now the Germans were battling fiercely to hold back an avalanche of thousands of First Army troops, bolstered by artillery.

tanks and guns already across the Rhine and threatening to break out for the Ruhr's arsenals or for Bonn.

Dalberg Captured
 Most southerly town reported captured in the bridgehead was Dalberg, three miles south of Remagen. The Germans said the Americans had sped 48 miles south of Remagen into the center of Hoenningen. They also reported loss of Leusdorf, a mile south of Remagen, but this was not mentioned in American field dispatches.

On the north, the Americans were fighting in Honnet, five miles north of Remagen. Among the towns captured was Linz, a shipping port with a population of 5,000 two miles south of Remagen.

The Germans almost two light counter-attacks at one bridgehead during the day, one supported by tanks, but artillery broke them up.

 enemy garrison or the second largest island of the Philippines was "caught off guard and has fled to the hills in disorder."

He declared that "we now control the entire length of the western shores of the Philippine Islands, from the northwestern tip of Luzon to the southwestern tip of Mindanao—a distance of approximately 800 miles."

The blockade of the South China Sea and the consequent cutting off of the Japanese coast to the south is intensifying.

American reconnaissance planes were already operating in the area MacArthur said. Mindanao was the twenty-first Philippine island invaded. The Japanese radio said earlier that the Americans landed on Friday and "fierce fighting" was in progress. The enemy spoke for five days of heavy naval shell-

Mindanao is 1,200 miles east of Singapore and 1,200 miles north of the Netherlands East Indies.

On Luzon the First Cavalry and Sixth Infantry divisions were continuing the systematic reduction of Japanese pillboxes and cave positions along the sub-borneo Shimbun line east of Manila. The Eleventh Airborne Division and the 14th Regimental Combat Team kept on their drive along the southern shore of Luzon clearing the north end of the Verde Island Passage between Luzon and American-held Mindoro.

Sink Jap Vessels
 Other American units on Luzon put a tighter squeeze on Baguio, Summer capital of the Philippines.

Heavy bombers dropped so many explosives on water-front facilities at Furness, encountered no interception. A patrol bomber attacking shipping off the northwest coast of Borneo sank or damaged a 1,000-ton freighter-transport, a coastal vessel, a schooner and two tugs.

Zamboanga was hit with 300 tons of bombs Thursday and Friday as Liberators joined warships in the pre-invasion pounding. Barracks and supply areas were set afire.

Zamboanga is a city of 132,000 on the extreme southwest tip of the "break" which appends to turkey-shaped Mindanao.

Mindanao has been one of the hotbeds of guerrilla resistance to the Japanese since shortly after the enemy overran Luzon last year.

In recent months the guerrillas, often led by American Army officers and supplied by submarines, have confined the Mindanao Japanese to the larger cities and garrison strongholds.

Nylon netting is used for Army sleeping hammocks in the South Pacific because it doesn't appeal to termites, and because it resists mold, dries quickly, is mildew-proof and weighs less than cotton, although it has nearly twice its tensile strength.

THIS IS ONE HILL on bloody Iwo—on a hill at the top of which (center, background) was a reinforced concrete pillbox, declared by the Japs to be "impregnable." Marines of the 6th Division can be seen digging foxholes as they struggle slowly upward over the volcanic sand. All about are signs of the bitterness of the struggle. Bodies of dead and wounded are scattered over the hillside; clothing, packs and many items of equipment are strewn about. The fighting is the toughest in Marine history. (International Soundphoto)

HE HAD A HUG COMING and Gen Douglas MacArthur got it, as the picture shows, from Mrs. Sergio Osmeña, wife of the President of the Philippines. It happened during the ceremonies in Manila when the civil administration of the Commonwealth was turned over to President Osmeña by the heroic liberator. (International Soundphoto)

Pompano reports hot and dry weather but movement remains heavy as crops under irrigation are still in good condition. Increase in volume of pepper and eggplant is making up for decrease in volume of beans. Prices for all vegetables showed a sharp decline last week due to heavy volume. Crops not irrigated are practically finished.

"Weather is hot and dry at Fort Pierce, with crops not under irrigation suffering. If rain does not fall on this section within the next few days, small growers will suffer considerable damage. Farmers having irrigation will start picking new crops between April 1 and 15. Tomato prices are still low, some sales being made for as little as 75 cents.

Plant City reports shipment of 241,596 pints of strawberries last week, a gain of 84,780 pints over the previous week. Daily average prices ranged from 20% cents to 27 1/8 cents per pint. Dry weather and continued heat will decrease the volume this week, and unless this section has a rain immediately, the strawberry deal will be over in ten days or two weeks.

"Sanford also needs rain badly, and cooler weather for the celery crop. A large acreage of improved Italian sweet corn has been planted and most of it is up and growing nicely. Squash and tomatoes are also being planted.

This market will have the usual supply of vegetables and citrus fruits this week.

"Palatka reports good volume of cabbage, with prices steady at from 50 to 60 cents per bag. 8000 sales of poorer quality were made for less Kraut cabbage, but several cars being loaded. Turnips and collards moved in small quantities from a small acreage. Rain is badly needed there," he said.

How Sober Hoskins Got His Name

Everybody kids Sober Hoskins about his name. Of course, they allow that it's appropriate. Sober never drinks anything stronger than a glass of beer. And a harder worker in the fields there never was.

"Shucks," says Sober's dad. "We named Sober 'Sober' just because he looked that way when he was born. Like we called his sister 'Prissy' because she had a little extra fat on her face. And it's had its effect on all of 'em," he adds with a smile. (Prissy is the old maid in the Hoskins family.)

From where I sit, there may be something in what Sober's dad says. Naming children after virtues is a fine old American custom. Look at the names of our pioneers and pilgrims: Faith, Pious, Charity, Hope, Ernest.

Maybe we should use such names more often. And one I'd like to add is "Tolerance." If we all had Tolerance for a middle name, we'd live up to it, we'd have a better, happier world.

Director Wilson Reports There Is Cabbage Surplus

 Squash brought up to $2.00, with poorer grades around $1.50.

"Bean shipments and demand at Pahokee continued moderate, with the market firm. Plantiffs brought $3.00 to $3.20, ordinary $2.25 to $2.75, with low grade $1.45. Blacks, Tendergreen, Wax, Roundheads, and Bells sold at $3.20, with a few lower. Pepper volume was moderate and demand fair, with market steady. Price range was from 75 cents to 22.00 for bushels and $1.50 to $1.75 for 1/2 bushel crates, depending upon type and grade. Celery shipments were moderate and demand slow. Market was dull. Price range was from $1.10 to $2.50 according to size. Cabbage sales were too few to quote. About 10 carloads per day are being bought by kraut factories at $15.00 per bulk loaded. Volume is expected to reach 25 carloads per day soon.

Negro Colleges To Seek Aid In 1945 Campaign

$1,550,000 Drive Mapped at Joint Meet of Business, Educators

NEW YORK CITY, Mar. 12 (Special)—A plan to expand the educational program of 32 of the nation's leading Negro colleges was outlined this week at a joint meeting of business leaders, college trustees and other officials in the Rainbow Room of the Radio Corporation of America Building in Radio City. All the schools are participating members of the United Negro College Fund, which will initiate a campaign on April 16 for $1,550,000.

Thomas A. Morgan, president of the Sperry Corporation, who has accepted the post of campaign chairman, explained that $650,000 is needed to bridge a void between school operating costs and war depleted income. He said repairs would require another $300,000 leaving a balance of $600,000 for student aid and for improving facilities and enlarging libraries.

The importance of Negro education to the future of race relations in this country was stressed by a number of speakers.

They were John D. Rockefeller Jr., Walter Hoising, president of Laid & Taylor, and Dr. Mordecai W. Johnson, president of Howard University. Washington, the nation's largest Negro institution of higher learning.

"The world," Mr. Rockefeller said, "is locked in mortal combat to decide once and for all whether liberty shall be preserved or destroyed." He said the United Negro College Fund seeks to promote "mutual sympathy, understanding, tolerance and good will" by affording Americans an opportunity to work, plan and give together.

Sees Decade of Opportunity

It was Mr. Hoising's view that the next ten years will bring countless opportunities for trained Negroes, but he expressed the fear that the number of qualified Negroes would be far short of demand. He said there was only 70,000 Negro college graduates in the country, with 85 per cent serving the race as teachers, doctors and ministers. The remaining 15 per cent, he said, was to be found in a group to aid substantially in the solution of the race problems.

Mr. Hoising believed that Negroes do not want white citizens to face this problem alone. He said the college members of the fund are graduating an average of 6,000 Negroes yearly, and that the fund would seek to step up this number to 200,000 every four years.

Dr. Johnson then posed the hypothesis that a "German rocket bomb, by destroying the building down to the fourth floor, would also have left 85 per cent of the American population without adequate educational facilities." He said he has always been confident that the race problem can be solved through the cooperation of resourceful white Americans from the North and the South, aided by Negro leadership.

Mr. Morgan also paid tribute to Mr. Morgan as a "deep-feeling Southerner."

50,000 New Donors in '44

Mr. Rockefeller disclosed that the United Negro College Fund received 70,000 individual contributions in its first campaign a year ago. The number, he said, included 50,000 gifts from persons who never before had donated to Negro schools. The total raised was $901,812.18, with Negroes contributing $100,000.

Mr. Morgan announced that Mr. Rockefeller is assuming the chairmanship of the advisory committee, a post which he held in last year's campaign. Mr. Hoising will head the executive committee. Winthrop W. Aldrich is serving as treasurer, with Frank M. Tolton, of Chase National Bank and president of the Young Men Christian Association, as chairman for New York City. William Dean Embree is head of the foundation committee.

Other chairmen are Henry Peery for Boston, Frank Gannett for Rochester, C. Arthur Bruce for Memphis, Nathan Adams for Dallas, and former Governor J. Melville Broughton, as Atlantic area commander.

Dr. F. D. Patterson, president of Tuskegee Institute, in Alabama, heads the committee of college presidents, and Dr. Thomas E. Jones, president of Fisk University, Nashville, Tenn., heads the committee of college trustees.

Biddle Opposes U. S. Overseas Air Monopoly

Justice Dept. Report Would Also Bar Ship Lines On Air Routes

WASHINGTON, Mar. 12 (AP)—The Justice Department today gave a preliminary report on a proposed U. S. monopoly over international air transportation.

The department said it is opposed also to surface carriers, such as steamship companies, competing with air transportation.

A Department report by Attorney General E. A. Tamm, in which the Justice Department believes that a monopoly over international air transportation is essential to the national defense.

1. That this country should have the right to control the air routes of international air transportation.

2. That it seek an understanding with other countries to define and limit the amount of government financial assistance to be given to international air lines.

3. That an international organization be set up to analyze information on an earlier operation of air transportation and to set up a system of government regulation, trade and safety rules, and to serve as a medium for solving world air problems.

4. That a sound legal and economic basis be established for the operation of international air lines.

5. That the government regulate the operation of air lines which are operated by citizens of other countries.

6. That the government regulate the operation of air lines which are operated by citizens of other countries.

Manila Faces 15-Year Period Of Rebuilding

2,000-Block Ruined Destruction To End Cherbourg, Naples

MANILA, Mar. 12 (AP)—Manila will require an estimated 15-year period to rebuild the 2,000 blocks of the city destroyed by the Japanese during the war.

George F. Koster, veteran building engineer, who constructed many of the city's famous structures, estimated the rebuilding cost at from ten to fifteen years, depending on how much building material can be brought in before the war ends.

He said about 2,000 blocks of Manila are utterly destroyed, and another 2,000 are damaged. The waterfront, power system and much of the street railway system were destroyed.

Koster, basing his figures on the extremely shabby wreckage, estimated the loss from fire, demolition and shelling at a billion and a half pesos, or $750,000,000. Some Army engineers have estimated the loss as high as two and a half billion pesos.

Koster said only six major buildings in the main business district north of the Pasig River are to be repaired, and that the rest will be replaced by new buildings.

Damage to the wall, which is to be replaced by a new one, is estimated to be $100,000,000.

Colonel F. E. Eberhart, of Norfolk, Va., American heavy construction man, now with the Army Engineers, said it is still impossible to estimate the cost of power, street car lines and water system.

Manila's two big transportation systems, the Manila Railway and the Manila Electric Co., are also damaged.

I am pleased to present for your information an annual statement which shows substantial progress in every department of your company. We welcomed into the Gulf Life family holders of more than one hundred thousand new policies during the year, to a total of nearly eight hundred thousand. The Company assets have increased proportionately while surplus and reserves for the protection of policyholders have been built up far in excess of legal requirements.

Two hundred and twenty Gulf Life employees are in military service, and it is our fervent hope that most will return to peaceful pursuits before many more months.

We have continued to invest heavily in United States War Bonds, and today more than one-fourth of our total assets are invested in this—the safest investment in the world. We look forward confidently to 1945 as a year of even greater increases than those achieved in 1944.

Yours very truly,
J. T. Phillips

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY
WE DO WELL TO THINK
THE SAME THOUGHTS: How
precious are thy thoughts unto

If all those who are too young to smoke, too old to smoke, or too sick to smoke, would quit smoking, there'd be no cigarette problem.

President Roosevelt has again
pointed out the need for stronger legislation to meet the manpower problem. The real test will come when Germany is defeated and all our efforts are needed to knock Japan out of the war, with many people wanting to call it quits and go home.

When General Patton was trying to get his men across the Sura River, under enemy gunfire and filled with floating ice, he plunged in and swam across leading the way. A more effective way, perhaps, that slapping any body's face, but we doubt if there was a doughboy following him who wouldn't have preferred
to have his face slapped.

The local Lions Club is planning a drive to collect and clothing for shipment to war refugees abroad. This does not necessarily mean worn out clothing or old rags, as there is little point in devoting limited shipping space to clothing which no one can wear. However, almost everyone has some clothes,
which they or their children have outgrown, or which for one reason or another, not including the worn out ones, they no longer need. These would be a most welcome contribution to our friends across the seas.

Sanford rents during the past year increased more than those in any other city in Florida, a survey conducted by the OPA indicates. Rents in Jacksonville
where there is an OPA rent ceiling,
showed no increase at all,
but in Sanford where rents are not controlled there was a 44.2 percent increase. This compares with about 27 percent in Perry, 11 percent in Clermont, 10 percent in Fort Myers, 8 percent in St. Augustine and Leesburg, and a little over 5 percent in Deland.
Sanford landlords are killing the goose that lays the golden egg
by inflating rent control.

Sanford would not have quite so acute a labor problem if it had better housing for its labor.
The war and the resulting manpower shortage with its widespread boom in income, caught Sanford short on housing after a disastrous 10 or 15 year period of hard times marked by virtually no new construction and few repairs. Consequently we went into this war with housing worse than the most wretched building restrictions, promptly clamped down, have kept enterprising men from doing anything much about it ever since. The federal government should take note of Sanford's housing shortage or accept the responsibility.

Roundly praised for their thrift and enterprise are a number of prominent Orlando citizens
—Mr. Joe Rutland, who Martin Andersen says ran a $10,000 investment into a $150,000 building and one of Orlando's best stores in ten years, Mr. Chester Fongate who was flat broke not so many years ago and is now worth several millions, and Mr.
H. H. Parrish who has made a success of a hardware store at a time when he couldn't get hardware. We agree that the more
there are with such industry, thrift and hardiness, the better it is for a community, not couldn't Sidney Hillman or Henry Wallace call it profiteering.

The State Tuberculosis Board is planning to erect a number of newly needed additional TB hospitals throughout Florida, one of them in Central Florida. Since the State has already located one tuberculosis hospital near Orlando, it strikes us as more than logical that it should locate its second for this area in or near Sanford. And we believe the community should make the Chamber of Commerce and other local leaders should promote. Besides helping to take care of our people who have tuberculosis,
many of whom have no place
to go, it would bring a substantial payroll to this county at a time when it may be badly needed.

Cars Are All Wrong

Wanted: better automobiles. Not merely better than the ones in use now, which have been getting more wear than is good for them, but really different cars that take full advantage of post-war opportunities.

The present automobile, according to Dr. George R.
Harrison, dean of science at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, is "a complex monument to scientific frustration." This is impressive, but might be misunderstood. Not in the least obscure in his further description of it as "a comfortably-stuffed wagon loaded down with gadgets designed to make other parts satisfactorily fulfill their function of correcting inadequacies of still more fundamental gadgets."

"The present gasoline engine will not start itself, so we must add an electric motor for a starter. This needs a source of power of its own, and we add a battery. This must be charged, so a generator is added. Since this generator at times delivers too much current, we provide it with a cut-out and so on."

If the whole car could be run with electric power, then we would not need radiators, thermostats, anti-freeze, an ignition system, the engine, muffler, clutch, transmission or differential. About all to remain would be the chassis and the wheels.

Next question: if somebody branched out with a really different kind of car, how many people would buy it? Some —but new ideas take time.

Another Adlai

An old party warhorse is recalled by the appointment of Adlai E. Stevenson as special assistant in the State Department. Stevenson was a Chicago lawyer, special adviser to Frank Knox, the late secretary of the navy. As a Democrat and as a Washington official, he is carrying on the tradition of his grandfather, whose name
he bears.

Curiously enough—the elder Adlai's chief fame did not come from his most important position, the vice-presidency. He is best known as assistant post master-general in Cleveland's first term, when he removed so many Republican postmasters that he was nicknamed "the ax-man."
The popularity this won him with party workers made him vice-president in Cleveland's second term. This office he filled inconspicuously.

His association with a winning campaign caused his renomination on the second ticket headed by William J.
Bryan, in 1900. Bryan's cause was hopeless then, and Stevenson could not help him much. His final political appearance was as the Democratic candidate for governor of Illinois in 1908. Then he ran far ahead of his ticket, and came near election.

The present bearer of this unusual name seems hard-working and talented. He may yet prove the most important Adlai of them all.

Long - Distance Belts

Conveyor belts, long useful in factories, are proving serviceable outside. Rubber conveyors are hauling coal in the Pittsburgh area, iron ore in Minnesota, and gravel in Western dam projects, up to a distance of ten miles and more. For loads that are not miscellaneous in character, they seem cheaper and more satisfactory than any other form of transportation.

Now a conveyor belt is suggested as a substitute for the canal, based on the Beaver and Mahoning river, which would run from Struthers, O., to the Ohio river. It would haul coal from Pennsylvania and West Virginia to the Mahoning Valley plants, and manufactured products in the other direction. Congress has not been very keen on appropriating money for the proposed canal, which, with the money that the plants would spend on works for handling the coal, would cost nearly $50,000,000.

A conveyor belt designed by an Akron, O., engineer for hauling coal 35 miles, practically the same length as the Beaver-Mahoning canal, would cost only $8,000,000.
With every conceivable allowance for unexpected expenditures, the belt looks like the better bargain.

Little Love Lost
Between Japanese
And Russian Army

By TRUDI McCULLOUGH
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Since the Russian-Japanese war of 1904
there has been less love lost between those two countries than perhaps any others except Russia and Germany.

Strained foreign relations for the first 25 years were supplanted
by a state of armed belligerence
for the next 15. Since 1931
Moscow and Tokyo have reported at least 2,500 border clashes. Most were tiny local forays, but a few utilizing tanks, planes, and artillery, were on battle scale.

But like the trials of marriage in a soap opera, the pattern of dispute, crisis and reconciliation has remained substantially the same. The chief diversion was that after 1935 Russia has strengthened herself to the point that she no longer had to make all the concessions, but began to demand and get some. Still the relationship culminated in the Russian-Japanese neutrality pact and trade treaty of 1941. This pact, unless renounced by April 25, will be renewed for five years from 1946 to 1951.

Japan by 1918 was ready to seize the Russian half of Sakhalin Island with its coal and oil. She took Vladivostok and tried to establish her armies in southern Siberia. But U.S. diplomatic pressure forced her to withdraw.

By 1931 when Japan assaulted Manchuria Russia was still reluctant to take forceful measures to protect her interests.

In December 1931, Russia proposed a non-aggression pact.
Japan said it was not necessary.
Russian withheld formal recognition of Manchoukuo but had to do business with the puppet state because of her Chinese Eastern Railway. By 1933, Russia was willing to sell the railroad.

But even before the railway problem had been finally settled

"KEEP THE HOME FIRES B-BURNING!"

General Patton Was
Winner At Track

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Writer

WEST POINT, N. Y. (AP)—
Gen. George Smith Patton achieved a new record in his hobby as a cadet when he broke two U. S. Military Academy track records in 1909, his senior year.

The commander of the U. S.
Third Army which stemmed Von Rundstedt's break-through force
along the Belgian-Luxembourg frontier starred as a sprinter and a hurdler. He won his "A" in track the only way possible, by breaking records, for in those days Army held only intramural meets.

Patton lowered the 220-yard hurdles record from 0:27 2/5 to 0:24 4/5 and dashed 120 yards on the flat in 22 seconds, shaving one-fifth of a second off the previous mark. He also won the 120-yard hurdles event in 0:16
4/5.

Patton also loved football. He was a pretty good varsity end until he broke his arm in 1907.
He gave the sport another try in 1908 and again broke the same arm.

In 1912 he finished third in the modern pentathlon of the Olympics in Sweden. The event comprised horsemanship, cross country, pistol shooting, swimming and running.

"Old blood-and-guts" was one of those rare all-around athletes.
He was tops in the broadsword,
heaviest of fencing weapons,
loved to play polo and squash
and was an expert rifleman.

The 59-year-old three-star general, who was raised in San Gabriel, Calif., Nov. 11, 1885, has been in two other wars. He took part in the Mexican campaign against Pancho Villa and in World War I as a member of the focus of hostilities shifted to border disputes. For 18 months clashes and parleys alternated along the Manchurian-Outer Mongolia frontier. They reached the explosive stage in early 1936.

Russians Stronger
But things had changed subtly.
Now, Russia had brought her independent Far Eastern Army up to strength in men and equipment
and had built fortifications.

When her clashes with Japan reached a peak at Lake Buir Nor she boldly revealed her partnership in a mutual assistance pact with Outer Mongolia. Japanese efforts to open Outer Mongolia promptly subsided.

The period of eased tension that followed was utilized in further settlement of the North Sea fisheries and North Sakhalin
oil disputes.

The oil concessions were renewed in October, 1936. But when Japan signed the anti-comintern pact in Berlin in November, Russia angrily refused an eight year fishery extension. She finally granted one year privileges.

In mid 1937 Soviet and Japanese troops clashed at the Amur river. A 100-s simultaneous Japan opened her war on China,
and it became known that China
and Russia had a non-aggression pact. Japan suspected Russia of aid to China. From there on disputes came thick and fast.

Difficulties Grow
There were difficulties over the workings of the oil concessions.
Japan did not meet final payment
on the Chinese Eastern Railway.
There was a constant exchange of diplomatic notes. Then came a border clash at Changkufeng.

After the customary reconciliation, there was a decided curtailment of trade between the two countries.

In 1939 when Russia signed a non-aggression pact with Germany, Japan was left isolated.
In May, 1939, Soviet and Japanese troops clashed at Nonomonhin in Manchuria. By September the Japanese had lost 18,000 men. In 1941 Japan signed the non-aggression pact Russia had been offering for the past decade.

General Pershing's staff. He led the 304th Tank Brigade in the first day of the offensive in the Mexican campaign.

He was wounded severely and left for dead Sept. 26, 1918, the first day of the offensive in the Mexican campaign.

Patton, an expert in tank warfare, often applied a spaghetti principle to tank operations with
"You can't push a piece of wet spaghetti. But take hold of the front end and pull it, and nothing comes easier."

The commander of American troops in Tunisia took command of the Third Army after D-day and led the victorious drive across France into Germany during the latter months of 1944.

When the Nazis launched a surprise counter-offensive that drove into Belgium and Luxembourg, Patton hurled his infantry
and tanks at the break through,
driving the enemy back.

He gave all the credit to his
men, saying:

Hospital Care

By W. V. Bitting

Hospitals have become really palaces of healing. Shimmering clean, extraordinarily efficient, miracles of order, the very atmosphere of comfort and often of beauty is a contributing factor to rapid recovery.

Often a patient spends a few days in the hospital for a certain ailment. The rest from care and worry, the jangle of radios, telephone, newspaper headlines, is in itself a great assistance to the diagnostician.

Blood pressure subsides, nervous strain disappears. The doctor is able to get to the true facts of the case, without disturbing factors which exist
in so many war nervous situations today.

The best medication is provided by a skilled druggist.

Chicken Is Cooked In Different Ways

BY CHARLOTTE ADAMS
Associated Press Food Editor
If you want to celebrate an anniversary, a service anniversary party seems about as good a reason for celebration as you could find.
You haven't a "party" suit of occasion, but that doesn't matter. Though we read many articles about those fine suits, the boys hope to have when they come home, I think we can be quite sure that eating dinner in a home, with full realization of the fact that coping with short ages is one of the few contributions we civilians can make to the war effort, means more to any service man or woman than a steak.
So why not plan what will be out to be as nearly as possible a "party" suit? A casserole with fine rich sauce is the obvious answer to this. And if it's to have meat in it that meat practically has to be chicken. Chicken is good, even if one does eat it frequently. The secret is to offer it in a different guise from the usual—and go to some trouble in making that guise.
4 1/2 pound chicken, 3 cups stewed cut up tomatoes, Seasoned flour 1 pint, Fat for saute 1 chopped, 3 tablespoons, 1/2 cup stewed green pepper, 1 teaspoon chopped, 1 medium onion, 1/2 teaspoon chopped chili powder, 1 clove garlic 2 whole peppercorns, 4 peppercorns.
Put flour, seasoned with salt and pepper, into a paper bag. Shake each piece of chicken in this, separately, until well coated. In a French pottery casserole, or Dutch oven, melt fat on top of the stove and saute chicken pieces over hot flames until golden brown. Add all other ingredients. Place in 350 degree oven and simmer, covered, for one hour.
With this dish serve hot biscuits and a big wooden bowl of mixed green salad, tossed at the last minute with your best French dressing.

End Of War To See Beginning Of Big Baseball Boom
By CHARLES DUNKLEY AP News-features
CHICAGO — The end of the war will launch baseball's biggest boom, Will Harridge, president of the American League, predicts. This mild-mannered man, who has directed the destinies of the $50,000,000 organization for 14 years, foresees tremendous increases in player talent, interest and attendance when the nation's fighting men come marching home. He outlines his views this way:
From the scores of letters we have received from overseas, and from Army and Navy bases in this country, I know that a lot of boys who never before paid much attention to the game, are now thinking and talking baseball. Since the start of the war, baseball has been given to the men of the armed forces in many ways through broadcast news, releases and our American League movie of the 'World's Series.'
"Consequently, I believe that baseball will get many new players and what is more, a tremendous increase in its number of fans when this war is over. I believe that this increase will be much greater than in 1919, when we doubled our attendance of the previous year. Then, of course, with that war over in a comparatively short time, there was no link between the game and the boys overseas such as we have maintained for the past three years."
"I believe that baseball can look ahead to an unusual post-war period. I believe that a majority of our players in the armed services will return to baseball. Their return, plus the many new players who will come on the scene, should give the fans a great show."
The handsome, trim, alert 59-year-old Harridge should know whereof he speaks.
After the deaths of Kenesaw Mountain Landis, commissioner of baseball, and Ban Johnson, founder and first president of the American League, Harridge— from the standpoint of service— became the dean of baseball's "big three"— the two major league presidents and Leslie M. O'Connor, secretary and treasurer of the baseball advisory commission, and secretary to Landis for 24 years.
Harridge has been connected with the American League for 34 years. He grew up in the sport. Johnson plucked him out of a railroad ticket office in Chicago and he rose successively from stenographer, to private secretary, to league secretary and to the presidency of the circuit.
Harridge gained experience under Johnson's hard schooling that made him the efficient, smooth-working executive that he is today. His hair is grey, but he is the same quiet, courteous, unflinching, easily approached gentleman that he was when he began his climb to the top.
When Harridge went to work for Johnson on a blustery December day in 1911, he and the president were the only persons in the office. Today the league occupies an elaborate suite of offices on the 22nd floor of a Michigan boulevard skyscraper with Harridge surrounded by half a dozen executive assistants and their staffs.
Harridge has no formula for success and no illusions as to his own.
Never Played The Game
"I just went to work in the American League offices and kept doing the things that needed to be done," he says.
That, plus his magnetic personality, tells the story of why Harridge is president of the American League, although he never played a game of baseball in his life.
Harridge was born in Chicago, Oct. 16, 1885. After graduating

General Arnold's Report On War In Air Is Vital
By JACK STINNETT
WASHINGTON — Government reports are so frequent around here you have to look sharp to keep from tripping over one. When you do, you generally find that it's something about "Daffodil Growing Since the War Between the States."
That's one thing that makes the report of Gen. H. H. "Happy" Arnold, commanding general of the Army Air Forces, to the secretary of war and hence to the people of the United States, a rather remarkable document. It's full of interesting and enlightening facts about what our Army air arm has done in this war.
But more important, I think, is the conclusions which General Arnold has reached. I'm not the only one who thinks so. Representatives of the aviation industry here say no one has stated more clearly the practical uses of aviation as a potential defense force than Gen. Arnold in this, his second report to the nation.
Using all his knowledge gained from the lessons of this global war, General Arnold starts with the premise that it's positive now that air power is the weapon with which future aggressors will strike first.
"In this field," he continues, "which the present war has shown to be subject to revolutionary advances, we can only dimly visualize the possibilities of such bold action in the future. Our first line of defense must be in the air."
The general points out that in the two great world wars, the enemy has attacked, hoping that the United States wouldn't interfere, and that in each instance, the United States has become the determining factor in the defense of civilizations.
The next aggressor, the general is positive, won't be dumb enough to overlook that lesson. The next time, he says, "The United States will be the first target." There

FLORIDA SAND OF REAL IMPORTANCE IN THE MANUFACTURE OF GLASS CONTAINERS

Florida's huge packing and canning business in itself offers a vast market for glass containers.
Florida's citrus — juiced, jellied or in the newly developed dehydrated form and Florida's vegetables — can be marketed in Florida made glass containers. This is a tremendous potential outlet for Florida glass producers. Here, already established, is a great market.
Glass for building, glass for furniture, glass for insulation, glass for decoration — will be used in great quantities in Florida's tremendous post war expansion. Glass made at the point of sale will have a real marketing advantage.

W.P.B. Sets Up New Plans For Reconversion

Labor, Plants Freed By Cutbacks Will Stay In War Work

WASHINGTON, Mar. 12 (Special)—Establishment of new reconversion machinery to govern cutbacks in war production currently and after the fall of Germany was announced this week by the War Production Board after James F. Byrnes, Director of War Mobilization and Reconversion, had approved the program. The machinery will supersede previous reconversion plans, including that for spot authorizations.

Major points in the new program, which will be administered by a production readjustment committee of the W.P.B., follow:

1. Until the fall of Germany major emphasis will be placed on channeling facilities and man power released by cutbacks into other war production. Released facilities and man power will be used for civilian production only if they are not needed or cannot be used on other war projects.

Pledge Week's Notice

2. After V-E Day, as plants and labor are permitted to return to civilian production, privately owned facilities will be released before government-owned plants and plants cutbacks will be attempted among prime war contractors.

3. A minimum of one week's notice of termination must be given to both management and labor by procurement agencies.
4. Regional production urgency committees will be set up to channel released facilities and man power into other war work or essential civilian production.

W.P.B. officials said they expected the plan both to guarantee uninterrupted delivery of weapons needed for the Pacific war and orderly transfer of facilities not needed for the defeat of Japan back to civilian production after V-E Day.

Guides for Committees

Mr. Byrnes, in his order setting up the plan, particularly stressed that its primary purpose was to shift facilities involved in cutbacks before the defeat of Germany to other war production.

"The paramount consideration at all times shall be the retention in war production, to such extent as may be necessary, facilities with a proven capacity to produce known and contingent future requirements," the order states.

The W.P.B. set up the following list to guide production urgency committees in determining what use will be made of facilities and man power released by cutbacks.

1. Transfer workers to other war work within the plant.
2. Put "must program" work in the plant.
3. Put other war work in the plant.
4. Released workers to be directed to other "must work."
5. Released workers to be directed to other war work.
6. Nonmilitary production in order of urgency.

Under the program, efforts will be made to channel new war work to released plants before production actually ceases as a result of cutbacks, the W.P.B. said.

The production readjustment committee will include representatives of the Army, Navy, War Relocation Authority and various agencies of the W.P.B., including the Office of Civilian Requirements.

Comdr. Harold Stassen Proposes World-Wide Code Of Human Rights

MINNEAPOLIS, Mar. 12 (AP)—A plan for a world-wide code of human rights, starting with a law that no country in time of peace, shall execute a citizen living without just trial, was proposed Wednesday by Commander Harold E. Stassen in a talk outlining seven cardinal points of future world policy.

The former Minnesota governor put his personal views on the problems of world peace on record in advance of the April San Francisco United Nations conference which he will attend as a delegate.

He said he looked upon the conference as "a golden opportunity to win a beneficial and lasting peace."

Joining with our Allies "to build a definite and continuing organization of the United Nations, based on justice and law, and insured by force," headed his seven-point program.

Stassen spoke at a public meeting at the University of Minnesota. The talk was broadcast nationally.

Against a background of nearly two years service in the Pacific area, Stassen said:

"Our fighting men want America to have a world policy for peace that is as big, as definite, and as successful as has been our strategy for war."

He called for gradual development of "a new and higher level of government, with legislative, judicial and executive functions, and with worldwide jurisdiction."

Expressing the hope that this world organization, whatever its final form, would include some method of developing basic world-wide law, he added:

"It should make possible the future enactment of a fundamental code of human rights, the beginning may be very small. But even if we started with the enactment of one law, a law that no country, in time of peace, shall execute a human being without just trial, it would be a significant step."

Stassen emphasized these other six points:

That "absolute nationalistic sovereignty is dead."

That we are citizens of the world and our happiness and welfare is tied up with that of all other peoples.

That productive capacities and resources of America be used for the advancement of all the peoples of the world.

That we recognize freedom of information is vital to the peace and progress of the world.

That we are and propose to remain a democracy with an open mind.

Stassen said that "the absolute nationalistic sovereignty is dead" and that we are citizens of the world. He emphasized that productive capacities and resources of America should be used for the advancement of all the peoples of the world.

The United States goes into the San Francisco conference, he said, "with the overwhelming support of the people of the country and the United States Senate."

He credited with laying the groundwork for this situation the Atlantic Charter, the Moscow conference, Teheran, Dumbarton Oaks, Yalta, "the President's excellent message to Congress last week, and the never ending whole-some study and discussion throughout America."

"Freedom of information to the citizens of these (aggressor) countries," he said, "must be fundamental."

"When to the children of Germany and Japan and Italy the full access to the radio and publications and books of the world, and if we are right in our basic concepts in America, and I believe we are, in a generation or two we will have a different Germany and a different Japan."

"We ourselves should... strong," he declared, "amplifying his suggestion for stripping aggressor nations of war-making tools. "We should make it plain that much as we want peace, we will fight again, and will fight anyone who basically violates world justice and seeks to flout our policies and tries to make might right."

Avon Park Chamber of Commerce, seeking aid from throughout the State to have the 1945 Legislature approve Avon Park as site for a branch of Florida State Hospital for Insane, presents this aerial view of the 300 acres Avon Park has offered to donate for the purpose. White lines outline the tract.

Legislative Session Is Expected To Approve Avon Park as Site for Hospital

AVON PARK, March 11.—With additional state hospital facilities operating in the great emergency that exists throughout the State of Florida relative to the deplorable lack of hospitalization for the State's mentally ill, it is expected that the 1945 Legislature will take definite action toward the establishment of a branch hospital in south Florida.

Frederick E. Folsom, Avon Park Chamber of Commerce, offered a 300-acre site, and received an additional 100 acres to make a total of 400 acres for all the property, known as Avon Park, being one of the most beautiful tracts in the highlands section.

More than a mile from the main business section of the thriving city of Avon Park, and set back between two large deep lakes, this 400-acre tract is situated on an elevated site, and is a most desirable location for such an institution. It can be found anywhere in the State.

With the city sewerage system being strung through the property and the Electric Corporation less than a half mile away, these features offer added advantages.

Several excellent types of soil suitable for growing a variety of products, including citrus and vegetables, are found on the site. The surrounding area of highly fertile farms and groves of fruit and nut trees is abundant.

From the standpoint of accessibility, Avon Park is in practically the center of the area between the Atlantic Coast Line and Seaboard railways and is on the Orange Blossom Trail bus routes. U. S. Highway 19 skirts the west boundary of the proposed site.

In strongly worded resolutions to the Governor and the Legislature, the following organizations endorse Avon Park as the most desirable and logical site for such an institution and urge that immediate steps be taken for its establishment: Tampa Chamber of Commerce, Haines Chamber of Commerce, Hillsborough County Commissioners, Volusia County Commissioners, Bushnell Boosters Club, Polk County Commissioners, Palm Beach Chamber of Commerce, Sumter County Commissioners and the Florida Medical Association.

While not specifically naming Avon Park, the Florida Association of County Commissioners in a resolution passed at their recent session, called upon the Governor and the Legislature to take immediate action toward the establishment of a branch of the Hospital for the Insane in Peninsular Florida.

Representative C. E. Lanier of Highlands County stated that a bill was introduced in the next legislature calling for the building of such a branch hospital.

Since no other site has been offered Avon Park in all probability will be selected and the site offered taken over by the State.

FOLSOM ENLISTS

Frederick E. Folsom, of Lake Helen was enlisted in the Navy on March 10 according to word received from Chief A. B. Chitty Jr. of the Navy Recruiting Station in Orlando. Frederick is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earle E. Folsom of the same community. He is on inactive duty, pending call to a Naval training station.

REEL PASSES TEST

Watson Raymond Reel of Sanford has passed the Entry test for Navy Radar training. It has been announced by Chief A. B. Chitty Jr. of the Recruiting Station in Orlando. Young Reel, who lives at 2015 Palmetto Avenue, has been issued a letter by his local board authorizing his assignment to Navy for this highly specialized program. He expects to report the latter part of the month to Naval Training Center, Great Lakes.

Most important fishery on the Atlantic coast is the blue crab industry centered in North Carolina from which more than a billion lbs. are taken annually and processed for their oil for animal feed and fertilizer.

America's New Industrial Frontier

THE SOUTH OFFERS INDUSTRIAL STABILITY

By Thurman Sensing
 Director of Research, Southern States Industrial Council, Nashville, Tenn.

We have made the statement a number of times during past weeks that the South offers the best opportunity for commercial and industrial development of any region of the land.

We have called attention to the fact that the South has always had all the natural assets necessary for sound prosperity and except for the ravages of war throughout the region some eighty years ago, the South would all along have been in the vanguard of the Nation's economic development.

We have shown that whereas the South is still below the national average in its economic development it is now gaining at a more rapid rate than the nation at large.

Perhaps there are still those who do not have this same faith in the economic future of the South.

These fifteen Southern states comprise one-third of the nation's land and contain one-third of the nation's people. On a per capita basis, therefore, these same states should contain one-third of the nation's business concerns, whereas it will be noted they contain only 24 per cent.

This is not the important point, however. The fact that stands out is that while the South contained 24 per cent of the nation's business concerns in 1942 it only suffered 12 per cent of the nation's industrial and commercial failures in 1942.

The conclusion to be drawn from these figures is that the average chance of success for business in the South is twice as good as the average for the nation.

The favorable comparison of business in the South as contrasted with the nation not only holds good for 1942, it was also true for the two previous years.

The greater stability of Southern business is quite evident from this record.

The businessman or the industrialist who wishes to go into business or develop an industrial plant, and the investor or banker wishing to finance such developments would, therefore, do well to realize that the South offers the best opportunity for the success of such enterprises and the safety of such investments.

Once this fact is fully realized by the people of this nation the trend of capital and industrial development Southward will occur with accelerated speed.
