County Judge Refuses To Detain Mentally Ill Woman In Jail

'Couldn't Put Her In That Pig Pen,' Alexander Says

What to do with the mentally ill in Seminole County is becoming a worse problem every day. This issue came to a head yesterday afternoon when the County Commission received a letter from County Judge Wilson Alexander telling them he had refused to send a "mentally sick" person to the County Jail to be detained.

Alexander told the board he had sent a 33-year-old woman to Andrews Nursing Home because "there was nowhere else to send the sick woman."

He asked the board to foot the bill of $225 for the care of the woman.

In his letter to the board, Judge Alexander said his conscience would not let him send the woman to the local jail because of the poor facilities there.

Judge Alexander said today that Seminole Memorial Hospital had refused to accept the woman for treatment saying the hospital was overcrowded and had no room for the mentally ill.

"I am not criticizing the hospital but there is something lacking when we have a fine hospital but no facility in the county to care for the mentally ill," Judge Alexander said.

"I could not send that woman to the jail," Alexander said, "my conscience would not let me put her in that pig pen."

"There was just no other place to send her but the nursing home."

At yesterday's board meeting, the commissioners held off paying the bill for the woman until they could confer further with Judge Alexander.

Commissioner David Gatchel said "it is about time Judge Alexander realized we are trying to do our best to get a new jail here."

"He must realize our financial problem. We have scheduled a public hearing Dec. 1 on the need for a new jail. Now I wish he would get off our backs and stop making us look bad in the public eye," Gatchel said.

The board hopes to confer with Judge Alexander this week to seek a solution to the problem and have the courts and the commission work together to show the need for a new jail. Chairman John Krider pointed out.

Government Asks Court To Set Steel Appeal Deadline Tomorrow

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government asked the Supreme Court today to set a deadline of noon Thursday for the union to appeal the injunction order sending the striking steelworkers back to work for 80 days.

An appeals court ruling upholding the injunction Tuesday gave the United Steelworkers six days to file the appeal to the Supreme Court. The Justice Department filed a brief today asking that the action be speeded up.

The government "respectfully" suggested that the justices consider the matter on Friday and if they wish to hear oral arguments, that they do so next Monday.

The Justice Department pointed out that under this procedure "the courts will be in a position to render a ruling on the merits later the same day."

Oldest Vet Rallies

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI) — Walter Williams, 116-year-old lone surviving veteran of the Civil War, was rallying today from a pneumonia attack. For three days during his most recent illness, the feeble, bedridden soldier was fed with an eyedropper. His physician, Dr. Russell Wolfe, said the old man was placed under an oxygen tent last Thursday soon after he became sick. The tent was removed Monday when the danger period was considered past. If the old Confederate does live through the latest attack, it will be the second time in recent months he has won a life or death battle with pneumonia. He will celebrate his 117th birthday Nov. 14.

Castro Rejects U.S. Protests

HAVANA (UPI) — Premier Fidel Castro's government flatly rejected Tuesday night official Washington protests that his anti-American statements before a massive rally Monday were untruthful and a threat to U. S.-Cuban friendship. The rejection was announced following a meeting of the cabinet at which the ministers endorsed a constitutional amendment to revise firing squad justice for traitors to the revolution. Ratification is scheduled for today, making it the law of the land.

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI) — Police said today an investigation has shown that George Krausert, a 68-year-old shoemaker and religious fanatic, hanged himself and friends crucified his body. RUTLAND, Vt. (UPI) — Two Vermont mayors who were described in a national magazine as being staggering drunk while on an Air Force junket said today the article was an attempt to belittle their criticism of the Air Force. Man Can Live In Outer Space, NASA Officer Says
ROME (UPI) U. S. Air Force Col. Stanley C. White, of the National Aeronautics and Space Agency, told world scientists today he thought man could live in outer space. White, who is assigned to the space task force at Langley Research Center, Va., spoke before the second World Congress of Aviation and Space Medicine. He said man probably could fly anything from a one-shot rocket to an earth-orbiting satellite and live to tell about it. Most of the delegates to the 25-nation meeting here dealt with medical problems in conventional aviation, but the United States and Soviet Union were concentrating on space health. Prof. Andrei Kuznetsov of the U. S. S. R. promised to disclose "new" Soviet progress in research with rocket-borne animals but declined to say in advance what areas he would cover.

The operating budget was $682,000 and approximately $680,000 was spent. Looking over the fiscal year, Knowles pointed out that the city had met all its debt schedules and did not go over the budget. One of the projects that Knowles pointed to with pride

Travel Ban In Cuba Possible

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Sen. George Smathers said today that a ban on travel to Cuba is entirely possible if Fidel Castro continues to whip up anti-American feelings in his country. Smathers said Castro also might be fast talking his country out of its favorable sugar quota deal with the United States. The Florida senator said Castro is "making it tough" on those in this country friendly to Cuba and the very favorable sugar quota which comes up for extension this year. He described Castro as a colorful leader who considers himself something of a Messiah. "But he has totally failed to give any evidence that he knows what the job of setting up a democratic government is all about."

"He is a victim of his own emotions and bad advice," Smathers held a brief news conference here prior to a joint civic club speech in connection with the North Florida Fair. He referred to the incident in which a Chicago newspaperman's life was threatened in Cuba and said if these things continue, the State Department will have to ban tourist travel there as unsafe. This and loss of the sugar quota would "really hurt" Cuba's economy, Smathers said.

Light Snows Hit New England Area
United Press International Light snows heralded approaching winter through upper New York and New England today, but the weather bureau said a warm front would take the chill off the Midwest's cold snap. The light snows were scattered through Maine, Vermont and New Hampshire Tuesday night but were expected to be restricted to the New England mountain areas during the day. The weatherman said the Midwest's unseasonal sub-freezing temperatures would be erased as warmer air flowed through the Great Lakes region, the Ohio Valley and the upper Mississippi Valley. The mercury rose by some 25 degrees through the west-central plains with Chandross, Neb., reporting a 26-degree rise in 24 hours. This temperature spurt was balanced off by a 25-degree drop from south central Texas through the Gulf states. Readings at Brownsville, Tex., fell 28 degrees in the 24-hour period. Light showers, most of them barely measurable, drenched the Gulf Coast from northern Florida to the Delta.

Concert Group To Open Office

Association members will sell the subscriptions from 10 a. m. until 5 p. m. each week day from Nov. 2 to 15. concert co-chairman Chester Reierick said yesterday. Civic Center performances, which include Jose Greco and the Florida Symphony Orchestra, will start Nov. 19 with the Stetson Choral Group. Subscriptions are $5 for the season. Sales workers will meet at 10 a. m. Friday in Rm. 317 of the Sanford Atlantic National Bank to discuss plans for the subscription campaign, Reierick said.

Rocket Work Held Back By Strike
MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Space Chief T. Keith Glennan said today that the steel strike has set back work on a rocket with which the United States hopes to match some of Russia's early space feats. He referred to the Vega, a three-stage rocket based on the Atlas missile which he said will be able to put 4,800 pounds into orbit or send 1,000 pounds deep into space beyond the moon. "This program, unfortunately, is now being set back by the shortages resulting from the steel strike," Glennan said. "As the situation stands now," he said, "it is reasonably certain that in early 1961 the Vega will be the first of our space-vehicle systems capable of matching the performance demonstrated by the Russians more than a year ago."

Air Force Fires Bomarc Missile
CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — The Air Force today fired one of its new longer-range Bomarc intercepter missiles in a preliminary test flight. The "B" model of the Bomarc has about twice the range of the earlier models. It is powered by a solid propellant rather than a liquid-fueled engine.

LT. CDR. BRAHEEM J. BACCASH, left, Sanford Naval Air Station Communications officer, receives his orders for retirement from Cdr. Lewis D. Tamny, SNAS executive officer, in ceremonies last week.

Quite A Week For Retiring Navy Commander

Two important events happened within 24 hours of each other last week to Lt. Cdr. Braheem J. (Buck) Baccash, Communications officer of the Sanford Naval Air Station.

On Wednesday, October 14, his wife Kald presented him with a baby girl, and the next morning he retired from the Navy after having served his country for approximately 28 years.

He was presented his retirement orders by Cdr. Lewis D. Tamny and wished the best of luck in his new position with the Industrial Engineering Department of Pan American Airlines at Patrick Air Force Base, Cape Canaveral, Fla.

Since reporting here in March, 1957, he served as maintenance officer of Fleet Aircraft Squadron-51 and NAS Communications officer.

Lt. Cdr. Baccash entered the Navy in June, 1931, as a seaman recruit, and advanced to Aviation Machinist's Mate first class in two years.

In November, 1949, he was ordered to the Pensacola, Fla. Naval Air Station for flight training, which led to a commission as Naval Reserve Ensign in 1951.

The Baccashes reside at 100 Shannon Drive, Sanford, with their four children, Tracy 17, Judith 11, Laurie 6, and newborn baby girl.

Sportsmen Told Tighter Law Enforcement Needed

Seminole County legislators told the Sportsmen's Club last night that the only way to stop illegal fishing is a more stringent code of law and enforcement, including better equipment and more manpower.

Mark Cleveland Jr. and Gordon Frederick addressed the club after accepting an invitation from President Jack Wilber to speak on the club's desire to stop illegal fishing in the county.

Farmers May Use Germ Warfare

MIAMI (UPI)—Florida farmers may one day use "germ warfare" on crop pests.

The germs would cause fatal diseases to troublesome insects and have no harmful effects on man or animals, a research scientist reported Tuesday.

Dr. E. G. Kelsheimer of the Gulf Coast Experiment Station at Bradenton disclosed he has used microbes successfully to control caterpillars on cabbage and cauliflower.

Kelsheimer told the 12nd annual convention of the Florida Horticultural Society that germ warfare shows great promise against other agricultural pests. He said germs might replace chemical insecticides in the control of insects.

in the area and proper heating equipment to catch "professional hoodlums who are running wild on county waters."

County Judge Wilson Alexander told the group that he had not realized the problems local game wardens have until he toured the Wekiva River with two of them.

"How do you expect the warden to catch an illegal fisherman with only an 18 horsepower motor while these monkey fishermen have the latest in high powered equipment?"

Various members of the club urged the representatives to present their case to the legislature since Seminole County as a "sportsman's paradise is in jeopardy."

Cleveland and Fredericks ruled out the possibility of making monkey fishing a felony because of too many loopholes in the law and hardship cases.

Judge Alexander said he is conducting a study of the problem and reported he will start clamping down on illegal fishermen who continue to break the law.

The group also discussed having the Florida Game Commission elected instead of appointed and ways to outlaw illegal hunting in the area.

New Independent Nation Celebrates Anniversary

By PHIL NEWSON
Another new nation born of strife and delivered by compromise celebrated an anniversary on Oct. 26.

It is the Republic of Viet Nam, one-time part of the three Indo-Chinese associated states of Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia tied to France and after World War II one of the numberless targets of Communist conquest.

A parade of weapons, most of them U. S.-supplied, marked the event in Saigon where on Oct. 26, 1956, interim premier Ngo Dinh Diem proclaimed the republic and became its first president.

Up to the end of 1954, the United States had poured nearly one billion dollars into the republic of Viet Nam. It is primarily responsible for training its army and through the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO), is responsible for its defense.

It is a neighbor of Communist-ruled Laos and Cambodia, is the strategic key to Southeast Asia, under Communist domination, it could threaten Burma, Thailand, Singapore, Malaya and all the nations beyond, including the Philippines and Indonesia.

The republic of Viet Nam, long on history but with only a brief background of independence, emerged from the Geneva conference of 1954 which ended a nine-year fight by the French against Communist forces led by Ho Chi Minh, a revolutionary who once lived in Paris and received his basic training in Moscow.

The 1954 conference carved Viet Nam into two zones at the 17th parallel. The northern half went to Communist control and the southern half, with a population of some 10 million, to forces friendly to the West.

By the war's end, it had cost five billion dollars, including two billions in U. S. aid and more than 253,000 casualties.

One year after Geneva, Ngo proclaimed the southern zone's independence.

The war is over now but few Vietnamese care to venture out at night because of the terror which still stalks the little nation.

Communist Viet Nam guerrillas still roam parts of the countryside. Diehard remnants of warlike religious sects still refuse to recognize the new government. Bandits are plentiful.

The republic of Viet Nam's problems closely paralleled those of Korea, also divided between Communists and non-Communists.

The Communists in the north control mines, raw materials and industries, but are short on rich farm land. The anti-Communist control a rich agricultural area but have little in the way of resources and power.

From the beginning the south faced an enormous problem of reconstruction and resettlement of one million refugees from the north.

In the slowly emerging order from chaos, President Ngo has run into frequent criticism. He has kept the country in a virtual constant state of emergency and has kept a stern grip on the press and public opinion.

Unfortunately also, his relations with his neighbors have not always been the best. Like President Syngman Rhee of the Republic of Korea, his actions frequently are high handed. But as a staunch friend of the West, he is a valuable ally.

Permits Topple $1 Million Mark For Fiscal Year

Building permits for $1,000,000 worth of new structures were issued in Sanford during the 1958-59 fiscal year, the Sanford City Commission was notified Monday.

A report from City Manager Warren Knowles showed that the total value of the 602 building permits issued between Oct. 31, 1958 and Sept. 31, 1959 was $1,040,192. The 106 new structures included 78 single family homes, three duplexes, 13 store buildings, four service stations and 11 other commercial buildings.

The city collected 12,821 tons of garbage and trash during the fiscal year at a cost of $54,294.18. Collections brought in $59,178.95 in revenue. Cost and revenue figures for the 1957-1958 year were $48,764 and $57,320.

In Country Club Manor, San Sem Knolls, Sanford, Sunland Estates and the Sanford Housing Authority, sewer connections were made to 5,002 family units. The city now has 94.9 miles of sewer and 81.8 miles of water lines. Water line extensions for the year totaled 10,350 feet.

Singer Stands Up Governor

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Temperamental prima donna Maria Callas stood up the governor of Missouri and 700 leading citizens of Kansas Tuesday night when she failed to appear at an elaborate reception held in her honor.

A string quartet played Strauss waltzes as the formally attired guests sipped champagne and waited.

Newsmen and photographers, herded into a special room and ordered to stay there, also waited in vain.

Finally, a telephone call from Miss Callas' manager informed Gov. James T. Blair Jr. and the apprehensive group that the singer would be unable to appear.

Miss Callas arrived Tuesday after a flight from Milan.

David Sticksider, who negotiated with her for last night's scheduled concert, said Miss Callas was exhausted and suffering from an ear ache and throat trouble.

Cool Air Is Aid To Orange Growers

LAKELAND (UPI)—Cool air, more of which was scheduled to hit the citrus belt today, is doing great things for orange growers.

General Manager Robert W. Rutledge of Florida Citrus Mutual said Tuesday the cooler temperatures have tended to retard orange splitting and are increasing the development of sugar-solids in fruit.

"The cool air will dry out many water-saturated groves caused by heavy rains through the summer and fall," he said. "Wet weather conditions have delayed fall cultivation in many groves."

Rutledge added that "color will now begin to break on oranges in particular with fruit toughening up somewhat due to cooler weather. It will be most welcomed by tangerine growers, who have fruit passing maturity but no color break."

Out But Not Down

LAFAYETTE, La. (UPI)—Pro-Bill Webb of Kansas City, knocked unconscious when struck on the head by a tee shot hit by another golfer in last year's Lafayette Open, revived and birdied the next five holes. He finished ninth in the tournament and won $650, his best showing of the year on the pro circuit.

Anti-Semitism Costly

AACHEN, Germany (UPI)—A court Monday convicted tax official Erich Tasche, 42, of insulting West German Socialist Leader Erich Ollenhauer and making anti-Semitic statements. He was sentenced to four months in prison.

HAPPINESS THROUGH HEALTH BY DR. F. LEO KERWIN

Run Down:
We often unconsciously compare our own body mechanics to that of a watch. You'll hear people say: "I'm run down." Why not carry the analogy one step further?
When a watch is run down and doesn't work right we have it adjusted. We can do the same for the body through Chiropractic treatment.
The result in both cases is the same. The watch and the body are both made up of hundreds of tiny parts, all of which must be meshed together in perfect co-ordination and balance, and with nothing to impede the flow of vital energy. The main spring of the watch is its "brain." With human beings the brain is the main spring of all our actions conscious and unconscious. Our system of interlocking gears, to transmit vital impulses from the brain is our spinal cord. Shock, fatigue, a fall any one of a hundred causes can throw the spine of balance, interfere with proper channeling of nerve impulses from the brain to the other organs of the body. When we're "run down" it is a symptom that, like a cog watch, we need adjusting. The Chiropractor corrects the distortion that has altered or obstructed the proper channeling of nervous impulses restores the body to the desired equilibrium. Are you a Chiropractic case?
One of a series of articles published in the public interest to explain and illustrate the practice of scientific Chiropractic, written by Dr. F. Leo Kerwin whose office is located at 301 S. French Ave. and his telephone number is FAirfax 2-7442.

Fralei's Grid Picks

By OSCAR FRALEY
NEW YORK (UPI) — Fraley's Picks and the weekend football "winners" — along with some other non-essential information.

Army over Air Force — The battle of the carbon copies: good paper, weak middle line and steady end. Air Force has the inspirational edge but here's a vote for the Cadets.

Washington over Pitt — It dunks that road, however they disappear the day the season opens? Penn over Harvard — I get sick when I put too much water in the bathtub.

Wake over Dartmouth — The boy who invented the alarm clock should've stood in bed.

Also: Penn State over West Virginia — Princeton over Brown, Holy Cross over Colgate, Cornell over Columbia, Bucknell over Lehigh, Rutgers over Delaware, Lafayette over Gettysburg, B. U. over Massachusetts, Dayton over Villanova, Seton Hall over Juniata, Notre Dame over Navy — All later wrestling is not conducive to growing old gracefully.

Purdue over Illinois — Only 49 men sleeping days 'til Xmas.

Northwestern over Indiana — The McClelland saddle killed off more horsebackers than the atom.

Also: Ohio State over Michigan — Iowa over Kansas State, Kansas over Iowa State, Minnesota over Vanderbilt, Missouri over Colorado, Oklahoma over Nebraska, Oklahoma State over Marquette, Boston College over Detroit, Bowling Green over Miami, Baldwin Wallace over Akron and Cincinnati over Xavier.

U.S.C. over California — Knock 'em, but even if I was young I'd like the golf buggy.

Washington State over Oregon State — Why don't they make a gold ball that goes straight?

Washington over UCLA — I'd like to see 'em bring back plus over.

Also: Oregon over Idaho, Stanford over San Jose State, Utah over Arizona, Brigham Young over Utah State, Colorado State over Montana, New Mexico over Denver and Fresno State over San Diego State.

Auburn over Florida — Centers would wind up psychiatric cases.

LSU over Mississippi — They have an upside down view of the world.

Georgia Tech over Duke — Imagine playing center for John Hopkins.

Also: Alabama over Mississippi State, Georgia over Florida State, Kentucky over Miami, Tulane over Texas Tech, Maryland over South Carolina, Tennessee over North Carolina, North Carolina State over Wyoming, VPI over Richmond, VMI over George Washington and Wake Forest over Virginia.

Texas over SMU — The "Ayes" of Texas.

Arkansas over Texas A&M — Shooting pieces in a keg.

TCU over Baylor — I never see a man get a bear by the tail!

Also: Clemson over Rice, Arizona State over New Mexico State, Hardia Simmons over Texas Western, Houston over Tulsa, North Texas State over Wichita and West Texas State over Drake.

City Basketball Leagues Are Set
Plans for the Sanford Recreation and Parks Department 1958-59 basketball season have been started with three leagues ready to start play.

The three leagues are a city league, open to all boys 17 years or older; Biddy League, open to any youngster under 13-years of age and a church league open to any church group whose members are 17 years of age or older.

The two adult leagues will play twice a week on Monday and Thursday evening at Seminole High School. The Biddy League will play on Saturday mornings.

All three leagues are slated to get underway the week of Dec. 7. Anyone wishing to enter any of the leagues are asked to contact the recreation department.

Lane Favored Over Ex-Champ
WASHINGTON (UPI) — South-paw Kenny Lane launched his campaign for a welterweight title shot tonight in a TV fight with ex-champion Virgil Alins at the New Capital Arena.

Blondish Lane of Munksgon, Mich. — former lightweight-challenger — is favored at 3-1 because of his speed, skill and stamina.

Sluggish Alins of St. Louis is a very dangerous puncher at close quarters.

Their 10-rounder will be televised nationally by ABC at 10 p. m. e.s.t.

Player Limit
DETROIT (UPI) — The Detroit Red Wings reached the 19-player limit Tuesday by sending forward Stu McNeill to an immediate recall basis. McNeill failed to score in Detroit's first seven games this season.

Covington

Covers Sports

By JERRY COVINGTON
With the thick of the football wars raging, a follower of team sports could overlook one of the most anticipated opening days of any season.

If you live in an outlying area somewhere don't be surprised if a whole pack of Tennessee Walker hounds rip across your front porch in hot pursuit of a poor little red fox. Now is the time that all modern day Daniel Boones are giving the dogs a nightly run in an effort to have them in top condition for the fast approaching deer season.

I had the privilege of going on several of these nightly warmups and, believe me, just the conversation you hear is enough to make you want to come back for more. My buddy, Walt Holmes took me, last year, out to Oviedo to meet Roy Alford and Dee Varner, who turned loose one tremendous load of hounds.

It is really something to hear those fellows pick out different dogs by their bark when there are about 20 or so running. Ole Doc, as he sat on the fender of his jeep in the edge of an orange grove listening intently said, "Sounds like Big Red just fell in a well, Roy." Big Red happened to be Roy's best dog and this was Doc's way of saying that he had lost the little fox.

By the way, the fox got smart and went to town. The chase ended up with fox, dogs, and all tearing down the main street in Oviedo.

Last week, the national sports writers voted that the flop of the ones world champion New York Yankees was the sports story of the year. Well, it might have been in the majors, but in the minors it happened right here in Sanford.

The night of August 2 the Sanford Greyhounds were playing the Palatka Reds and Cuban right hander Ed Oliva (Ed is short for Edilio) was pitching. Third baseman Antonio Gonsales became more irritated with Oliva as the Reds dug out base hit after base hit. In the seventh inning they finally squared off in the dugout and Gonsales picked up a Louisville Slugger (Babe Ruth style, at that) and shattered Oliva's arm.

Well, Oliva was taken to the hospital and patched up and Ward Goodrich and Joe Abernethy put a tag around Tony's neck and sent him on his way to Cuba. Tony hasn't been heard from since, but there is no doubt that Castro has signed him up. His type might be good for fighting in revolutions but is no good for baseball.

Colts, Giants Favored In NFL Tilts

United Press International
The Baltimore Colts are 7½ point favorites to whip the Cleveland Browns and the New York Giants are favored over the Green Bay Packers by seven in Sunday's key National Football League games.

The San Francisco Forty-Niners, who share the Western Division lead with the Colts, are seven-point favorites to defeat the Detroit Lions.

In the other games, the Philadelphia Eagles are favored over the Washington Redskins by seven points, the Pittsburgh Steelers are favored over the Chicago Cardinals by 3½ and the Los Angeles Rams are 7½ point picks to beat the Chicago Bears.

The Colo-Browns clash at Baltimore will afford both divisions and offers many intriguing angles for pro football followers.

It matches Baltimore, the current league champion, against pro football's most successful team. It matches two coaches who should not be invited to the same party. Webber Eberhart, Baltimore's coach, was an assistant for five years with the Browns under Paul Brown. They did not part on the best of terms.

The Colts, tied with the Forty-Niners at 4-1, don't get many cracks at the Browns because the clubs are in different divisions. They knocked the Browns out of the Eastern race, 21-7, at Cleveland in 1956 and aim to hand them another blow Sunday before a capacity crowd of 57,507.

Baltimore also wants to win because it plays four of its next six games on the road. The Browns (3-2) need a victory to keep within range of the Giants (4-1) in the Eastern race. They trail New York by a game and would fall two behind if they lose and the Giants defeat the Packers (2-2).

Both the Browns and Colts are in fairly good physical condition but the Giants will be minus one of their top stars when they meet the Packers before more than 20,000 at Yankee Stadium. Frank Gifford, New York's talented left halfback, suffered a torn rib cartilage in last week's game at Pittsburgh and figures to miss at least two games. Jim Taylor, Green Bay fullback who has been sidelined, may be able to play Sunday.

San Francisco, which scored in the final seconds to edge the Bears last Sunday, entertains a Detroit club that scored its first 1958 victory last week when it defeated the Rams, (17-7).

The Eagles (3-2) are tied with the Browns for second in the Eastern Division. They erased a 24-point deficit last week during a 28-24 victory over the Cardinals and play host to a crippled Washington team. The Redskins (2-3) asked waivers on end John Carson and halfback Bill Stites after taking a 24-7 whipping at Cleveland last Sunday.

Pittsburgh suffered at 21-16 loss to New York last Sunday and plays the Cardinals (1-4) at Chicago. Quarterbacks King Hill and M. C. Reynolds of the Cardinals were unable to play against the Eagles because of injuries but may be ready for the Steelers.

League Leaders Have Bad Night

League leading GCA/Tower lost their first scratch game as the Communicators split the four points by taking the last game by one pin. The Comm Boys rolled their lowest set for the year, as the GCA/Tower gang fell flat on their face. High for both teams was Bill Grimes with a 443.

Bob Webb took the honors for the Communicators.

Herb Seven took over the lead from GCA due to their four wins over the FASRON Chiefs. Hitting for the first 2,400 points as Layberger got a 209-508 and John Uhr hit for a 204-509 to lead the Alfa team. O'Hearn was top man for the Chiefs.

Operations advanced into a tie for third by a 3 point victory over the Heavy Seven Bravo outfit. Neri picked up the 2-7 split to lead his team as high man. Stetler took top dog for the Operations with a 511 as he picked up the 3-10 and 3-7-10. John Ogden put his little bit with a 3-10 pickup. Heavy Three Alfa split with Heavy Three Charlie despite the Charlie Gang hitting for high game of the year with an 888. Du-mond was high series for the night with a 518 for the Alfa gang.

Heavy Three Alfa shares the third place spot with the NAS Operations team. Heavy Three Bravo, tied for fifth place with NAS Communications, took a big four points from the FASRON White Hats to continue the White Hats swoop toward the cellar.

Team Captain George Brister picked up the 2-7 split and was high for the winners. Picking up the 3-10 were Wall and Fertig as Robinette was high for the losers. Two weeks ago the White Hats were tied for first, after Monday night they dropped to seventh. In the remaining game of the night, the slugging Leathernecks squeaked out a split with Com Hatwing One, by taking the last game by two pins. Grant and Danyluck shared honors for the Wing, as Ladd continued to make headlines by picking up the 8-10 and the 4-5-7 coupled with a 503.

Holiday Bowl
NEW YORK (UPI) — The third annual Holiday Bowl football game, pitting the two top teams of the National Association of Inter-Collegiate Athletics (NAIA) will be televised (CBS) from St. Petersburg, Fla. Dec. 19.

LSU At Full Strength For Mississippi Clash

United Press International
Louisiana State Coach Paul Dietzel will have his national champions at full strength against third-ranked Mississippi Saturday for the first time since the start of the season.

The top-ranked Bengals held a long workout Tuesday afternoon to prepare for Ole Miss. Dietzel had the "white team" running offensive plays against a Mississippi-type defense, while the "Chickens Bandits" defended against Ole Miss offensive plays.

Meanwhile, Mississippi ran through a tough scrimmage in preparation for the struggle Saturday which may determine the Southeastern Conference title and the national crown. Varsity teams drilled for nearly two hours, testing first the passing and then the running game.

Auburn lost the fastest man in his backfield Tuesday during a scrimmage session when halfback Jimmy Morrow broke his collarbone. The Carrollton, Ga., sprinter was injured in a contact session with the freshmen and will be out for the rest of the season.

Elsewhere in the SEC: The Georgia Tech Yellow Jackets, who have scored five of their 12 touchdowns this season via the air lanes, continued to concentrate on their passing attack. The Jackets met Duke's Blue Devils in Atlanta Saturday.

Georgia's Bulldogs also put emphasis on their passing game as they scrimmaged hard in preparation for Florida State University.

Tennessee worked on defense

Garcia, Rhodes Get The Bad News
United Press International
Mike Garcia and Dusty Rhodes, major league stars only five years ago, got the bad news Tuesday.

Garcia, a 19-game winner in 1954, received his unconditional release from the Cleveland Indians while Rhodes, the Giants' pinch hitter deluxe five seasons ago, was returned to the minors by San Francisco.

The Nashville Vols of the Southern Association announced, meanwhile, that they have signed Jim Turner, ex-pitching coach of the New York Yankee, as their manager.

Sanders Leads Play; Hebert 2nd

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Doug Sanders led a field of top amateurs and pros into the second round of the Sahara Hotel's pro-amateur tournament today, leading the field by one stroke.

Sanders put together rounds of 32-34 for a six-under-par 66 in this second annual affair.

Right behind him in the run for $1000 first place money were Jay Hebert, Sanford, Fla.; Ed (Porky) Oliver, Denver, Colo.; and Don Whit, Borrego Springs, Calif., all with 67s.

NCAA Council Raps 2 Schools
BOSTON (UPI) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association's all-powerful 18-man council Tuesday night rapped the knuckles of two member colleges and hinted that other reprimands may be issued today.

Executive Director Walter Byars, acting as spokesman for the group, Tuesday night announced that the Arizona State University at Tempe and the University of Mississippi, one of the nation's leading eleven, were penalized for violating football recruiting practices sanctioned by the NCAA.

Training Begins
NEW YORK (UPI) — Sugar Ray Robinson, recovered from his bout with the flu, begins training Monday for defense of his middleweight title against Paul Pender at Boston, Dec. 14. Robinson, whose title was vacated by the NBA last May for failure to defend in a reasonable time, still is recognized as the 160-pound champion in New York state and Massachusetts.

Mrs. W. C. Hutchinson Toured Europe Found People Friendly, Cooperative

By JEANNE WARNKE

Mrs. W. C. Hutchinson lived the life of a nomad this past summer traveling to some of the most scenic and historic places of France, Italy, Switzerland, Germany, Belgium, Holland, England and Scotland.

She sailed to Europe on the Queen Mary and enroute made the happy discovery that a friend, Mrs. Karl Gebhard of Winter Park, was aboard and was scheduled to accompany her on the tour.

The Queen Mary arrived at Cherbourg, France, and from there Mrs. Hutchinson joined her tour guide and fellow travelers for a train trip to Paris. It was an exciting arrival as it was Bastille Day and gay Parisians were marching in parades and waving flags. Later in England and Scotland she was amid a great mass of people in holiday spirit as there all industrial workers take their vacation at the same time in August. It is called a bank holiday.

Mrs. Hutchinson said that in every country she found the people to be friendly and cooperative. Although the language barrier was of little hindrance to this Sanford traveler, she believes that it is advantageous for the American tourist to know a foreign language on the continent. Had she not found the people of other lands so willing to be of service, it would have been difficult for her to travel alone as she did after the scheduled tour ended in England. She wanted to meet relatives in Scotland so with "slight hesitation" and a great thrill of anticipation she set forth as a lone traveler.

And it was in Scotland that she recalls some of the most memorable scenery. A three day visit on the island of Skye, on the northwest coast of Scotland, was one of the highlights of her trip. She places it in top category with the tour of the French and Italian Riviera, and the boat trip down the Rhine where she delighted in seeing old castles that looked as if they came straight from a childhood fairy tale.

The island of Skye, with its extraordinary beauty and legends of Scottish history, measures some six hundred and fifty square miles. But at no point can one stand more than four miles from the sea; and it is said that the coastline, including every minute bay and creek, may extend to eight hundred miles. The island panorama is a sequence of treeless mountains with rushing streams and moors covered with heather. On a day of exceptional clarity one can see the Outer Hebrides or the peak of St. Kilda seventy miles away.

The McDonalds and the McCleods were the ruling clans of the island and their picturesque castles are open to the public. Sheep farming is the chief occupation although winters are so severe that the sheep have to be taken off the island at the season. Mrs. Hutchinson found a lovely selection of hand loomed sweaters and tweed material there.

In Edinburgh she investigated "every cranny" of the Edinburgh castle and was accompanied there by her cousin's two young sons who wore their kilts. She also attended the Edinburgh Tattoo which is a part of the famous Edinburgh Festival.

She received a liberal education in English travel when she returned to London by train. She declared "they are many, many years behind us!" Air conditioning is unheard of and an open window brings in cinders since the trains are still of the steam variety. She asked for a second class ticket but quickly changed to first class when she discovered that both women and men may share a four berth compartment.

In London Mrs. Hutchinson again was met by relatives who showed her many of the out of the way places as well as the most historic spots. One of the latter was the Tower of London where she viewed with interest the ravenous ravens which have their wings clipped and are officially "on the Queen's payroll." Ravens have been kept at the Tower since the time of Charles II and superstition is that if none are in residence the British Empire will collapse. "My, but the English are superstitious!" she overheard a fellow tourist say to which the guide with a cockney accent retorted, "No, we are just raven mad!"

Mrs. Hutchinson will remember always the beauty of the famous stained glass windows in the Chartres cathedral near Paris (during the war years they were stored underground); the "La Lisa and other great works of art in the Louvres; and the amazing restoration of Leonardo Da Vinci's Last Supper which is in the city of Milan.

Florence and Venice were her favorite cities in Italy. Rome was too crowded with tourists. Lucerne, Switzerland, was described as a city of "beautiful perfection" and Nice, France, will be remembered for its luxurious accommodations and excellent cuisine. It was there that she had the pleasure of dining on her hotel room balcony overlooking the blue Mediterranean.

The Monte Carlo in Monaco created the impression of an abundance of money, jewels and exquisitely dressed women. "It's a fabulous place but the faces of the gamblers are too strained and serious" said Mrs. Hutchinson.

Her methods of travel were well diversified. Trains, buses and boats provided transportation while touring. And instead of returning home on the Queen Mary she made the trip by plane. However, Mrs. Hutchinson advises future travelers to reverse this since more can be carried home via liner.

MRS. LLOYD O. SWAIN

Valentine Girl Of Zeta Xi Chapter

The Zeta Xi chapter of Beta Sigma Phi has selected its president, Mrs. Lloyd O. Swain, to represent them in the Valentine Girl Contest, which is an international contest. The winner will appear on the February cover of The Torch, monthly magazine of Beta Sigma Phi.

Mrs. Swain will be remembered as the former Denise Stevens, daughter of Mrs. A. B. Stevens, and the late Mr. Stevens of this city. She attended Sanford schools and Florida Southern College in Lakeland.

She resides at 407 San Carlos Ave., with her husband, Lloyd and two daughters, Susan five and Judy, two. Mr. Swain is in the insurance business in Lakeland.

Playhouse Casting For Play

Playhouse Navy is casting for "Bell, Book and Candle," tonight and tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. in the conference room of building 3 at the Naval Air Station.

All service personnel, their dependents and civil service employees are eligible to compete. Those who are not interested in reading for a part in the play but are interested in other phases of little theater work are invited to attend.

Rehearsals will begin Nov. 2 and the play will be presented at the NAS theater Dec. 3, 4 and 5.

Shower Honors Bride-Elect

Miss Genie Stokes, bride-elect of Warren Haynes, was honored at a miscellaneous shower Saturday night, at the home of Mrs. Lucile Abrams.

The party rooms were decorated with arrangements of fall flowers and bronze and yellow pom-poms. The bride's table was overlaid with a lace cloth and held a cake, nuts, mints and punch.

Games were played under the direction of Shirley Stone and Inell Stokes. Other guests included, Mrs. Jackie Goodman, Joyce Fortson, J. L. Von Herbules, Carolyn Michels, Nancy Michels, Lucile Abrams, Edith Ellis, Hazel Stokes and Myra Michels.

The wedding will be an event of Nov. 24.

Carnival Adds Haunted House

One of the main features of the Southside School Carnival Saturday night will be a haunted house in the traditional Halloween spirit. A concealed story follows will narrate terror-filled tales of the supernatural. There also will be many other surprises for those who like to experience that prickly feeling.

Trophies will be awarded for the most frightening and most original costumes among those attending. Starting time is 7:30 p. m.

Chairman, Mrs. C. A. Guerry, announced that a secret panel of judges will make the selections for the prizes, and winners will be announced during the evening.

You can bring variety and zest to your meals with oysters. They are good raw, broiled, baked, fried, stewed, creamed and barbecued.

One of the characteristics of American walnut which perpetuates its beauty is that, as the years go by, its surface develops a lustrous patina. Furniture pieces made of walnut have been handed down from generation to generation and are prized as heirlooms.

Singer Shirley Jones Gets A New Type Of Role

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Sweet-faced Shirley Jones' professional life was being saved this week by actor Bert Lancaster and director Richard Brooks.

Both men virtually are saving the blonde beauty from movie oblivion.

Up to now Shirley has been a beseeching milk-maid who pranced through four pictures in starring roles—singing a great deal and acting almost not at all.

As star of "Oklahoma!", "Carousel," "April Love" and "Never So Good About You" Shirley was an ineffective innocent little cutie in typical Hollywood froth.

Miami Road Block Decision Upheld

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—A decision by the State Supreme Court apparently means the city of Miami will continue to set up road blocks to check driver's licenses. The high court refused rehearing of Tuesday a suit upholding the city's power to set up the blocks. The case was brought by former Mayor Abe Aronovitz, who claimed the road blocks were an invasion of his right to use the public street.

In a ruling Sept. 16, the court had held road blocks were legal.

Nobel Scientist Calls Moon Photos 'Outstanding' Job

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Nobel Prize scientist Dr. Harold C. Urey says the Soviet photograph of the moon's far side is "an outstanding technical achievement" which should spur this country to greater efforts in space.

Urey agreed with other scientists here that the Russian photo was not detailed enough to warrant conclusions about the nature of the moon's other side.

But he said it was impossible to exaggerate the technical skill which enabled the Russians to get the picture at all. "It is time," Urey said Tuesday "that we get up out of our chairs and begin to compete with them in space. It is not good for us to kid ourselves that we are up with them. We are not. I think it will be years before we are."

Some astronomers, who did not want to be quoted by name, also stressed what one called the "marvelous technical accomplishment" manifested by the photograph. One scientist said the technique used by the Russians could have tremendous military significance.

Rangers Get Price

NEW YORK (UPI)—Noel Price, a 23-year-old defenseman, was acquired by the New York Rangers Monday from the Toronto Maple Leafs. To get him, the Rangers gave up center, Hank Cesa, amateur Billy Kennedy and another player to be named next spring.

A Lot Of Loot

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sold for $18,180,000!

The auctioneer's final cry echoed in New York real estate circles today. It was the winning bid for real estate tycoon William Zeckendorf for the 71-story 40 Wall St. Building which is the fourth tallest skyscraper in the world.

The skyscraper went on the auction block Tuesday with a required starting bid of 17 million dollars.

Only two prospective buyers stepped forward to deposit $500,000 to enable them to enter the bidding. Zeckendorf, president of Webb & Knapp, Inc., and Sidney R. Nussenzweig, an attorney representing a syndicate of real estate investors, began the bidding briskly with $25,000 jumps.

But at $17,175,000 the offerings began to drop to $1,000 and $5,000 bids and both men cautiously felt their way into the higher brackets.

Zeckendorf began to put the pressure on at $17,850,000 with jumps of $49,000. Nussenzweig kept at $18,180,000. Nussenzweig said his group would have no other bid and the building was sold to Zeckendorf for that price.

Zeckendorf also owns the 77-story Chrysler Building, second tallest skyscraper in the world. The Empire State Building, which has 102 stories, is the tallest in the world.

"I think we bought a marvelous property and paid a fair price for it," Zeckendorf said, but added that the bid was "higher than I was cheerful about going."

"That was the last $3,000 I would have paid," he said.

The 40 Wall St. Building, constructed in 1929 for twenty-four million dollars, is fully rented and brings in an annual rental of about five million dollars.

NAACP Urges Investigation Of Chattahoochee

TAMPA (UPI) — The NAACP pressed for an investigation of the state mental hospital at Chattahoochee today with a written request of Gov. LeRoy Collins containing new charges of Negro abuse.

State NAACP President A. Lewis Lowry of Tampa disclosed the text of a letter mailed to Collins late Tuesday. It included excerpts from letters by a Negro patient and a white woman from Jacksonville supporting the NAACP's charges.

Lowry asked that Collins appoint a bi-racial committee to look into the allegations.

The letter from the unidentified Negro patient, "Patient Y," called the hospital a "slave camp" for Negroes.

The letter from the unidentified white woman was attached to a copy of a letter the woman said she mailed Collins earlier, urging him to take action in the matter.

Lowry said the woman had promised to testify under oath, if asked, that Negroes at Chattahoochee were improperly treated.

Paper Opposes Reapportionment

MIAMI (UPI) — The Miami News today came out editorially in opposition to the reapportionment amendment.

The News described the amendment as only a "crumb" thrown the populous counties in legislative representation and warned its adoption may ruin chances of fair re-districting for at least a decade.

The editorial urged all candidates for governor and other state offices to take a stand on fair reapportionment and try next year to bring out a fair law. It also urged the voters to have a long memory about how their representatives voted on the issue.

Bomb Threats Becoming A Menace

DAYTON, Ohio (UPI) — A telephone rings in a school and a secretary answers. A curt voice says, "A bomb is going to explode in your school soon. We mean business." The caller hangs up.

If you are a school superintendent, responsible for the well-being of five thousand youngsters, what do you do?

Dismiss school for the day and encourage a prankster who wanted you to do exactly that?

Or assemble sheriff's deputies and school custodians to conduct a hasty search of your five sprawling schools while the pupils remain in their classes and you pray the caller didn't "mean business?"

This problem today faced Vaughn Lewis, superintendent of schools in prosperous, rapidly growing Beaver Creek Township, just outside the southwestern Ohio city of Dayton.

The 4,700 students under Lewis' jurisdiction lost a day of schooling this week because of a telephone bomb threat, the latest in a series in the five-county area which includes the Dayton and Cincinnati metropolitan centers.

The first scare occurred in North College Hill, a suburb of Cincinnati, in September. Officials closed the schools for a day but reopened them the following Saturday and made attendance mandatory. The school received no more threats.

A woman telephoned police in Carlisle, a small town 10 miles south of Dayton, Monday and said a bomb had been planted in a school. About 1,400 students were sent home. Police searched all schools in the town but found no bomb.

Tuesday, a caller telephoned the Sugar Creek School in Bellbrook, near Beaver Creek Township, at 12:15 p. m. He said a bomb would go off within 45 minutes. School was dismissed for the day.

Lewis said he thought the call his school system received was just the beginning of another rash. One threat inspires another somewhere else, he said.

City Condemns 11 Structures

Eleven Sanford buildings have been condemned by order of the City Commission.

The buildings are fire damaged and stand in violation of the city building code, said city manager Warren Knowles in a report to the commission. Condemnation signs will be put on the structures making their use or entry illegal.

The buildings condemned include a two-story structure with a grocery store on the first floor and an apartment on the second floor at 1016 Orange Ave. A permit has been obtained to rebuild it.

A one-story dwelling at 618 E. 10th St. was also marked for condemnation, along with a one-story building at 620 E. 10th St., one-story buildings at 906, 908, 910 Hickory Ave., and a dwelling at 408 Pine Ave. A large two-story frame building with stores on the first floor and rooms on the second floor at 803 and 803 1/2 W. Ninth St., is condemned with one-story dwellings at 1408 W. 14th St., and 1807 W. 16th St., and a small tool shed on the rear of property at 1501 W. 16th St.

Guinea President Touring South

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Sekou Toure of Guinea flies to North Carolina today for an interracial dinner after a final round of ceremonial events here.

The African leader, in the United States for a 16-day visit, was to visit the Lincoln Memorial, lay a wreath at the Tomb of the Unknowns in Arlington National Cemetery, drop in at AFL-CIO headquarters, and give a lunch-time reception for President and Mrs. Eisenhower.

While Toure made his final stops in the capital, his wife visited headquarters of the National Council of Negro Women.

The 37-year-old president of newly-independent Guinea and his wife will takeoff in mid-afternoon for Raleigh-Durham Airport. After a tour of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, they will be the guests of Gov. Luther Hodges at a reception and dinner attended by white and Negro leaders.

Toure was the guest Tuesday night at a dinner given by Secretary of State Christian A. Herter. In his formal toast, the African expressed conviction that increased

U. S. Guinea cooperation "will become a reality in the near future." He said he had "felt the deep sympathy of the American people" for Africa's struggle toward progress.

Herter responded by praising the efforts of Guinea to attain status among the freedom-loving great nations of the world.

"This historic visit of President Toure," Herter said, "is in a sense a renewal of America's lasting association which has contributed immeasurably to the vitality and spiritual depth of our culture."

Eyes Have It

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—Ohio wildlife researchers are weighing the lenses of the eyes of rabbits to determine their ages. They are testing a technique developed by Dr. Rexford Lord of the Illinois Natural History Survey, who discovered he could determine the age of a rabbit by this method because the lens of an animal's eye continues to grow throughout its life.

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI)—Fish are just as sensitive as humans to stimulants and sedatives, according to a report issued by a team of Stanford Medical School researchers.

Tests on guppies, goldfish and blind fish from Mexico showed that sedatives caused the fish to become so sluggish they could easily be scooped out of the water by hand. Stimulants sent them racing about in erratic patterns.

LOWESTOFF, England (UPI)—Geoffrey Small, 14, president of the Middle School Insurance Society, reported today he is doing a "whacking good business" in insuring his schoolmates against spankings and other schooltime accidents.

Small and his board of 12-year-old directors operate at Lowestoft Grammar School. They charge their clients three cents a week and pay up to four shillings (56 cents) for a major disaster such as a coming by a teacher.

Directives after school pays 42 cents, but some minor happenstance as having to write 100 lines of poetry on the blackboard brings the client only 14 cents.

"We started it as a joke, but it has worked out rather well. Luckily, the chaps haven't got up to too many pranks or we would have been crippled by now," President Small said.

Terry Wilton, 12, said, "I joined and made one shilling (14 cents) out of it in five weeks. I laughed at the start but 80 lines of blackboard poetry brought me in eight pence.

"Then the boys found out how easy it was to get lines and make money. That, of course, the insurance organization don't like."

President Small stopped that racket. He punched out new policies on his father typewriter, inserting a clause excluding payments for "accidents" engineered by policy holders.

"I had to make honest pay," he said.

Curiosity Seekers

MOSCOW (UPI)—Museumiers lined up in freezing pre-dawn temperatures Tuesday to snatch up special editions of newspapers showing the Lunik III photograph of the never-before-seen back side of the moon. The official newspapers Izvestia and Pravda were increased from four to six pages to take care of special articles and predictions by scientists that the photographs, radioed back to earth, opened up means of taking closeup pictures of Mars and Venus.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Give your cat a treat instead of a treatment. Tests conducted by American Can Co. definitely show that felines turn first to tuna, then to mackerel.

Trick Or Treat Project Planned By Church Group

A project called "Trick or Treat for UNICEF" will be sponsored by the First Methodist Church Friday night when Juniors of the church will cover Sanford to ask for donations on behalf of youngsters in the undeveloped areas of the world.

They will carry milk cartons decorated with black and orange labels and will be wearing black and orange identification tags. Every penny that is dropped in the containers will provide a needy child with five glasses of milk, or contribute in his fight for a healthy, normal life in some other way.

Before going out to "Trick or Treat," these junior citizens will meet at the church at 7 p.m. Friday to receive the UNICEF labeled cartons and identification tags. They will cover the town in small groups, then return to the church for a Halloween Party.

Cattlemen Named To Attend Meet

The Seminole County Cattlemen's Association planned pasture tours and an educational program and announced members scheduled to attend the Florida Cattlemen's Convention at their Monday night meeting.

W. G. Kilbee, Ed Yarborough, R. P. Lamont and Cecil Tucker were scheduled to attend the Silver Springs convention, which started yesterday and will continue until tomorrow.

"Bearable tax burdens on Florida rangelands" were discussed by Florida State University Agricultural Economist Dr. W. K. McPherson at the S.C.C.A. Saturday night meeting. A "bearable tax level is determined by the services that you receive in return for your taxes. If you receive no service, then a one cent tax is too much," McPherson said.

The Seminole County Farm Bureau study committee report indicates "quite clearly that farmers are willing to carry their fair share of the tax burden" here, the economist said.

New Cattlemen's Association officers installed were President Robert Lee of Oviedo, Vice President E. J. Cameron Jr. of Oviedo, Secretary Cecil Tucker of Sanford, Treasurer A. B. Peterson of Sanford, and directors Ed Yarborough, W. G. Kilbee of Geneva, and James Heiler of Longwood.

Collins To Talk On Russian Tour

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Gov. LeRoy Collins will discuss his Russian tour here today at a meeting of the Gopher Club.

It will be Collins' second speaking appearance here in 24 hours. Tuesday night he called for voter approval of the reapportionment plan in a speech over television.

Marine Faces Jail Sentence For Bomb Threat

TAMPA (UPI) — A young Marine recruit found himself involved with "bombs" today even before entering boot camp—all because of a woman.

Ronald Terrill Pla, 18, faced a six-month jail sentence after pleading guilty Tuesday to making a "bomb scare" telephone call which forced the evacuation of Hillsborough High School last week.

Pla was the first person to be sentenced under a recent city ordinance making it mandatory that the crime carry a six-month sentence.

Pla said he made the call on a "date" from his teen-aged girl friend.

But worst of all for Pla, it was the same girl friend who reported him to school authorities Saturday.

Pla already had been sworn into the Marine Corps and was scheduled to leave for camp this coming Friday.

With his Marine enlistment in mind, defense attorney Fred Barkdale asked the city council Tuesday afternoon to drop charges. The council referred the matter to the Police Crime Prevention Bureau for a recommendation.

Meanwhile, Pla's father, Oscar Pla, collapsed in city hall with a nervous breakdown.

Officers To Attend FBI Classes Here

Twenty-two law enforcement officers from Seminole County will attend a special FBI school to be held at City Hall from Nov. 18 to 20.

Sheriff J. L. Hobby said four deputies from his office will attend the school and 18 policemen will attend from the Sanford department.

The school will feature modern methods of crime detection.

Jane Russell Is Mother To 7,000 Through WAIF

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Beneath the sex goddess veneer of her movies, luxurion Jane Russell is something of a mother to 7,000 youngsters.

As resident of WAIF, an international organization for homeless children, Jane has placed some 7,000 orphans with adoptive parents.

This week the brunette screen siren put the finishing touches to the biggest project of her life, the fifth annual WAIF ball to raise more than $50,000 for the organization.

Jane began the WAIF nine years ago when she encountered difficulties adopting a child of her own. She went to England and brought home a wiggy little guy named Tom. Soon, M things work out, she hopes to bring home a fourth.

"I just put two and two together," Jane said. "There were thousands of couples in this country who wanted children, and thousands of children in Europe who needed parents. It was that simple."

Working through International Social Services, Inc., Jane and WAIF have invaded 72 countries finding orphans for adoption.

"Countries fall in one of two categories—those with too many orphans, and those with too few for the number of people who want to adopt," she said. "England and Scandinavia now have a shortage of adoptable kids."

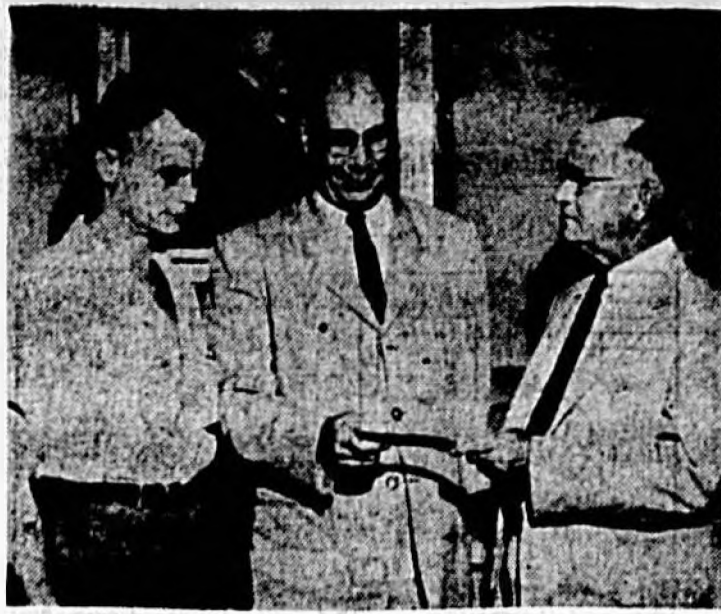

"This year most of our children are coming from Germany, Greece, Italy, Korea and Japan. It changes from year to year."

"Two things we always do: place children with people of their own religion, and keep brothers and sisters together. Several times we've placed families of four youngsters with new parents."

Jane went on to say her organization has more parents lined up in this country than it can supply with children.

"We don't need more parents," she said. "We need money to bring the youngsters over here. And that's why we're putting on the Imperial Ball—at $100 per person."

"The Chrysler Corp. helps us raise the money to finance our adoptions, and this year to keep the international flavor we've invited Princess Marie Cecile of Prussia to be the royal guest of honor. Last year Queen Frederika of Greece was present and helped bring in $55,000."

DR. J. OLLIE EDMUNDS, center, president of Stetson University, receives a pledge for $15,000 in the fund campaign for a Greater Stetson University, from F. M. Ford, right, DeLand, as Sidney Taylor looks on. Taylor, a volunteer worker and contributor in the DeLand organization, obtained the Ford Pledge. Sanford and Seminole County are in the DeLand campaign area and J. Bralley Odham and O. Douglas Stenstrom are co-chairmen.

Six New Polio Cases Reported

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — Six new polio cases, four of them paralytic, were reported Tuesday by the Florida State Board of Health.

One of the paralytic cases was a 43-year-old Dade County man. Board officials said it was the oldest paralytic case reported this year.

The state has recorded 171 cases, 114 of them paralytic, so far in 1959. At this time last year 215 cases had been reported, 77 of them paralytic.

U.N. Warned: Watch Those Martians

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UPI) — Don't give up all your armaments, the Portuguese delegate warned the United Nations Tuesday. It may be just what the Martians are waiting for.

Dr. Vasco Viera Garin told the General Assembly Political Committee about the danger from outer space during a debate on the Soviet plan for "general and complete disarmament."

"It is certainly far-fetched, but perhaps not at all absurd, the way things are moving nowadays on this planet, to imagine a sudden invasion of our earth by aggressive warriors from another celestial body," he said.

"In such an emergency the security forces of our world, including the Soviet detachment, would cut a poor figure against Martians . . . If we had, figuratively speaking, only kitchen knives and pocket slings to defend ourselves."

Scene Of Crime

PENSACOLA, Fla. (UPI) — While city attorney F. Churchill Mellen was parking his car in the City Hall lot, he noticed another automobile being driven away. It wasn't until later that he learned the vehicle belonged to another city employee and was being stolen before his very eyes.

Jaycee Polio Shot Program Important

There is a large number of projects underway all the time by various civic, church, school and social organizations, but we don't believe any can claim more importance than the Jaycee polio inoculation campaign.

Nurses administered 661 shots last Saturday in the initial day of the drive to get countywide protection from polio. The shots are given under this program for only $1 and are available to all who need them. The doctor and nurses put in a long day at the Jaycee Information Center to give the different groups of people an opportunity to get the vaccine.

Next date for these shots is Dec. 5 and nobody who needs polio immunization should neglect taking advantage of the Jaycee program.

The Jaycees deserve more applause for the vaccine program than usually is accorded their civic works. Committee Chairman Garnett White and those working with him are doing a vital service this time.

This is not merely a Jaycee civic project, it is a chance for our people to get the vaccine that can save their lives.

Washington See-Saw

By WIN PENDLETON

It was a big day in court—for Florida. The nine justices of the United States Supreme Court were assembled to hear arguments in the "Submerged Lands Case." The question to be decided: Does the true boundary of Florida—the Gulf of Mexico side—extend for three miles or three leagues?

The Supreme Court is probably the most dignified and awe inspiring judicial body in the world. The atmosphere in the courtroom is one of reverence. The rules are strict. The decorum is formal. And on this day, the usual tensions were intensified. The occasion was unique. A United States Senator was appearing before the Court to argue a case. Senator Spessard Holland, author of the Submerged Lands Bill (better known as the Tidelands Oil Bill) had been invited by Florida's Attorney General, Richard Ervin, to assist in presenting the case before the Court. Those on hand were Senator Holland with his legal assistant, attorney James Golden; Attorney General Ervin and two of his assistants, Robert McClure and Fred Burns.

WASHINGTON — A friend said, "On some rainy day when things are slow, look into the ghosts at the Octagon."

"You mean Pentagon?" I corrected. And, "You mean ghost writers?"

"Ghosts at the Octagon," persisted the friend. I found the Octagon three blocks from the White House. It is the headquarters for the American Institute of Architects.

But, already, the ghosts must have carried away two of the sides, because I counted only six.

Maybe the tales about the six-sided Octagon's spooks stem from the mysterious tunnels that reach out from the mansion's cellars.

The place was built about 150 years ago, and, as the story goes, somebody buried a slave alive in its walls.

To this day, on certain nights, so goes the story, a wall can be heard from somewhere within the Octagon House.

But I found no ghosts. However, I came across another legend. The story is that long ago a beautiful British lady, on the eve of her wedding to an embassy attache, hurled herself over the marble stairway and ended it all. It is, perhaps, her ghost?

Historians claim that her blood is still stained on the marble floor at the foot of the stairs. I saw no blood.

Another name that entered my ghost research was Dolly Madison. But her only connection with Octagon House was that she and President Madison dwelled there after the British burned the White House in the War of 1812.

But why the tunnels? The principal passageway is tall enough for a man of Abe Lincoln's build, and then some. It leads south, but has been blocked off by a brick wall.

Perhaps it was an escape route — an underground railroad — for slaves moving north. Somebody said it had been blocked off during construction of the elegant house because that's where the Potomac flowed. However, surveying records show that the river was further uptown around 1800.

Although the ghosts I heard made no noise and the tunnels I saw led nowhere, the Octagon still is rich in history.

It was designed as a town house for a wealthy Virginia gentleman, Col. John Tayloe. Here, Washington's elite of old history were hosted in elegant style—Jefferson, Lafayette, Jackson, Webster, Clay. And their ladies.

In 1908, Octagon was made the cloak-and-dagger setting in the novel, "The Wife of the Secretary of State," by Ella Middleton Tybault.

The book tells how, in this mansion, a plot was cooked up to overthrow the United States Government. Military secrets were exchanged in the old dining room and spies lurked in the guest rooms.

No one seems to know why they named it the Octagon. If you have any ideas, please send them to me ghost-basis.

'Winterset' Gets Faithful Reading In TV Version

By FRED DANZIG

NEW YORK (UPI)—The poetic melodrama of Maxwell Anderson's "Winterset" received a surprisingly faithful reading Monday night as the season premiere of NBC-TV Hallmark Hall of Fame series.

To find the fire and blood of this 24-year-old drama bouncing along in a TV drama sponsored by greeting cards — where fluffier stories were presented in past seasons — was noteworthy in itself.

Anderson's allegorical "Winterset," of course, is a showcase for the bitter dialogue and cynicism born of a spiritual and economic depression but it ends in a triumphant bath of newly-discovered love. The going gets sticky at times, but the message is worth it.

Robert Hartung's adaptation remained true to the original, although references to radicals, overtones of political corruption and a sharp discourse of judicial expediency were missing. Still, Hartung was extremely skillful in his editing and his script was given a mighty assist by the gloomy setting of a New York City bridge-producer and the delicate touches of producer-director George Schaefer.

Since Anderson's characters are highly-charged types who synthesized many of the attitudes of their times, I think some of the acting went overboard, especially for the TV tube's intimacy.

Dan Murray, as Mio, the revenge-seeking son of an executed man, was generally convincing, but he had trouble pacing his anger in the second act.

As Miriamne, who brings love to Mio, Piper Laurie was sensitive and sensitive, except for an awkward final scene. Charles Bickford was an excellent Judge Gaunt. Martin Balsam and Anatol Vinogradoff handled their assignments as the Messrs. Esdras, son and father, with skill. George C. Scott, the perennial TV villain, was as evil as ever, although he managed to work in a smile now and then. It was most becoming.

The Hall of Fame and its new producer for 1959-60 gave us something different Monday night. And the nice thing about this was — it came off in fine style.

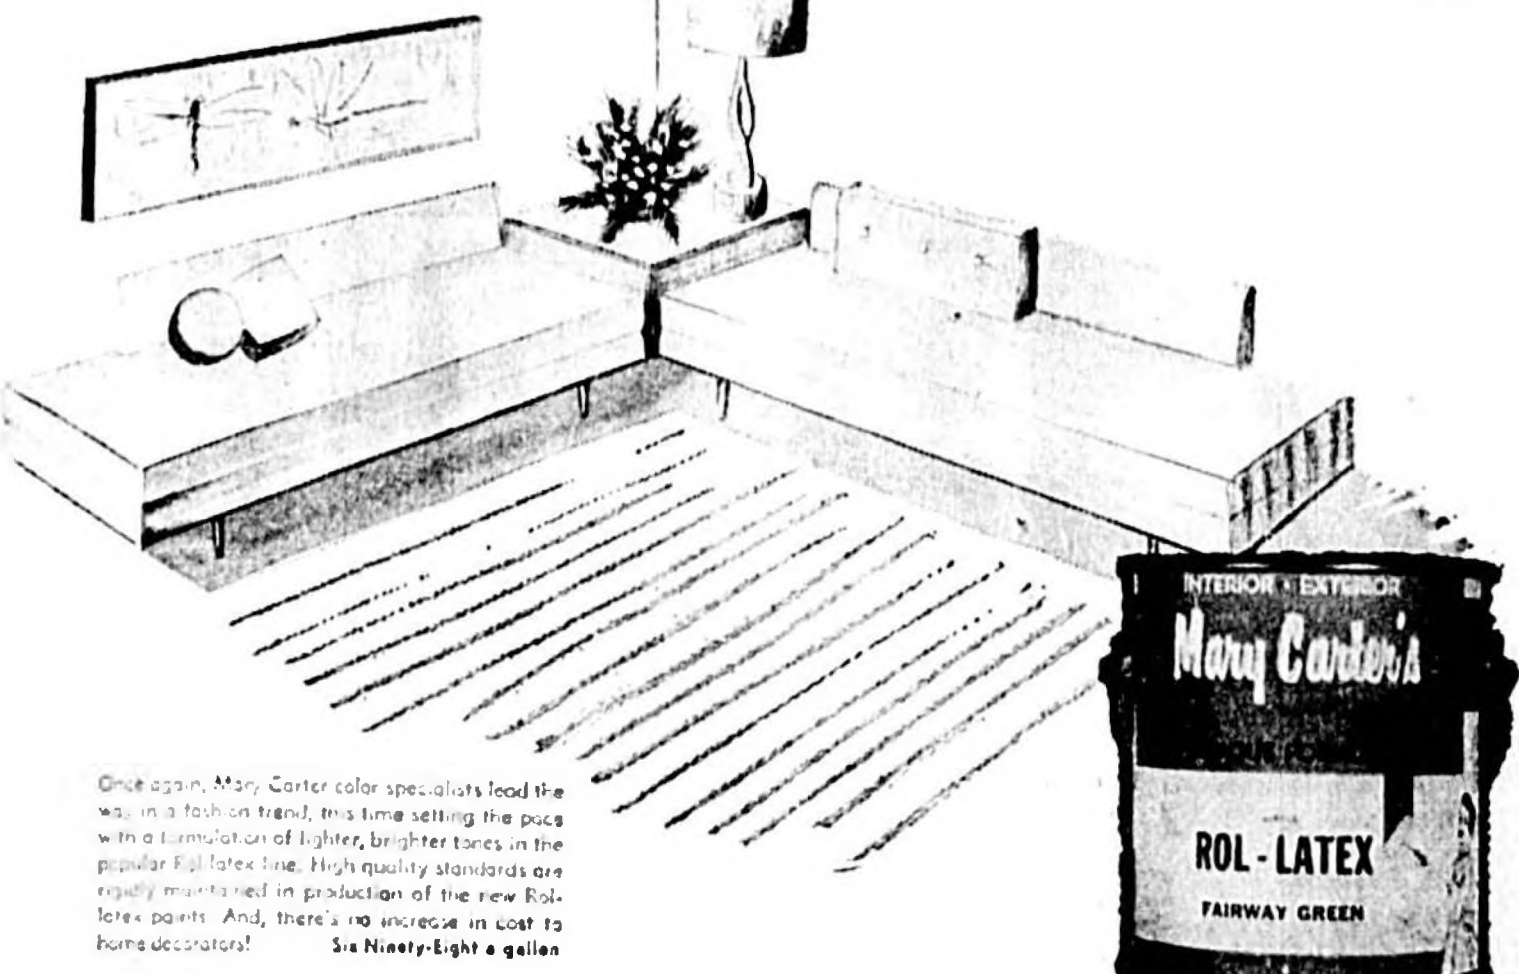

The Channel Swim: Comedienne Carol Burnett, who made her network TV debut on Garry Moore's daytime show back in 1955, became a permanent member of Moore's Tuesday night cast starting Nov. 3. "George Burns In The Big Time," a nostalgic salute to vaudeville, is an NBC-TV special slated for Tuesday, Nov. 17. George's act will include three newcomers: Jack Benny, Eddie Cantor and George Jessel.

ABC-TV reports that its Friday night detective series starring Robert Taylor scored a 25.7 Tindex, better than the combined ratings of CBS-TV's Twilight Zone and NBC-TV's fight.

Three Firms Get City Gas Business

Bids for 60,700 gallons of gasoline to be used by the city for a year starting Nov. 1 were awarded to three oil companies by the city commission last night.

Sanford will buy 11,700 gallons of premium 98 octane gas from Orange State Oil Co. at 22.6 cents per gallon. The Police Department will use 9,300 gallons and the Fire Department 2,400 gallons. A total of 41,000 gallons of regular gasoline for the city shop will be bought from Sinclair Oil Co., which submitted a low bid of 20.3 cents per gallon. Texaco was low on the diesel fuel bid. The city will buy 8,000 gallons of diesel fuel at 11.84 cents per gallon.

Napkins Contain Phonetic Guide

PARIS (UPI) — Everyone else seems to have tried it, and now Paris' Cafe de la Paix has tried it too: Preparing a handy phonetic guide for non-Frenchmen who want to speak a few words of the native language.

The Cafe de la Paix people have gone further than most, however. Their table napkins are over-printed with phonetic guides not only for those whose native language is English, but also for Germans and Italians.

California's climate ranges from subtropical to frigid and its annual rainfall varies from less than two inches a year in the southeast desert to more than 100 inches on the northwest coast.

Girl Scout Diary

TROOP 106

Brownie Troop 106 enjoyed a trip through the plant of the Sanford Herald. The girls were disappointed that it was too late to see the paper go to press but were consoled by an invitation to return when their double sessions at school will permit them to arrive earlier.

They each received a piece of type and as they left were seen clutching the souvenirs of an interesting tour. Accompanying the troop were Mrs. Olan Bouwell, leader and Mrs. Milton Sorokowski, assistant leader.

Two members could hardly wait to get a copy of a paper next day to read an ad for sale of a home that they had seen employees preparing during their tour.

Navy Bean Soup By The Numbers

MEMPHIS (UPI)—Navy messes around the world will be cooking navy bean soup "a la Norfolk" whether they like it or not. Ship's cook first class Edwin Y. Busbee of the Norfolk Naval Air station won first place in the bean soup contest at the Memphis Navy Station Sunday with his recipe.

It was only fitting that Busbee and the chefs of the destroyer escort USS Philip, which operates out of Pearl Harbor and San Francisco, nosed out an Army entry.

In third place was Johnny Webster, galley master on the Army Engineers' riverboat steamer Mississippi.

The winning recipe is honored by being sent to Navy messes around the world.

This recipe serves eight:
Two cups Michigan navy beans
1½ pounds ham butt end
3 quarts of water
½ teaspoon celery salt
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon Accent
1 minced onion medium
Diced parsley flakes
Soak beans in water to cover overnight. Prepare soup stock by simmering ham in 3 quarts of water for about 2 hours. Add beans, celery salt, salt, pepper and Accent. Add minced onion and simmer until soup begins to thicken. Add ground ham, sprinkle each portion with parsley flakes and serve with parmesan cheese croutons cut in diamond shape.

Commies Losing Iraqi Support

BAGHDAD, Iraq (UPI) — The Communist Party now appears to have suffered a serious loss of popular support in Iraq although it still retains its hold on most government functions.

Nationalism was on the rise, and political observers said a decisive battle could be expected momentarily for control of this politically-divided nation.

Premier Abdel Karim Kassem, still recuperating from bullet wounds inflicted last month by a band of assassins, undoubtedly has lost both popularity and prestige in Iraq and in the rest of the Arab world.

Hughes Planning Research Center

MIAMI (UPI) — Multi-millionaire Howard Hughes is financing a major research center under construction here which will open early next year staffed with an international team of scientists.

The research center, directed by Yale University, will be dedicated primarily to cancer research.

The center will attempt to find a cancer vaccine.

Dr. Nelson, who has worked on Hughes-financed projects for the past six years, said preparations for the new project have been under way at Yale. "The work will be expanded considerably in Miami," he said.

"We'll be working at first on 12 specific projects, all of which are in the field of immunology.

Two of the projects involve cancer, and another in which we hope to find ways of improving diagnosis," Dr. Nelson said.

Reds Attempted To Spy On Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Soviet officials insisted on redecorating the Moscow residence of Vice President Richard M. Nixon prior to his visit last July in an apparent effort to plant eavesdropping devices.

The Russian tactics were disclosed today after Russell Langlell, ousted U. S. security officer in Moscow, told a news conference that the Soviets tried to spy on Nixon. Langlell said Monday he thwarted the Red espionage effort.

Worry Clinic

Notice what Philip says about the fascinating sermon technique of Rev. Garrison at Bloomington, Indiana. Christ releases suffering clergymen employ careful psychological strategy, for Jesus was the World's Greatest Applied Psychologist. And young folks are attracted to religion when it is "packaged" properly.

BY — GEORGE W. CRANE, U.S. M. D.

CASE C — 478: Philip, aged almost 29, is a graduate student in history at Indiana University.

On Sunday he attends church where Rev. R. B. Garrison occupies the pulpit.

"Dad, you ought to hear Rev. R. B. Garrison," Philip remarked recently when he was home for a couple of days.

"He is the kind of preacher you recommend. For he uses the narrative style and employs cases to illustrate his sermon."

"He holds the attention of teenagers, too, instead of slanting his remarks solely to the old folks."

"And when he finishes with his sermon, he does another thing I have never seen any other clergyman perform."

"He gives a brief preview of his next week's sermon. And he includes enough to capture the interest of the congregation."

"In fact, I have been so fascinated at times by his terse preview of the following Sunday's sermon that I resolved not to miss for I wanted to find out how he would develop the interesting topic."

PSYCHOLOGY GOES TO CHURCH

In the new edition of my college textbook, "Psychology Applied", I included a chapter called "Psychology Goes to Church".

College students have voted it by far the most vital chapter in the entire textbook, which shows that 18-year-olds are still very much concerned with idealism and religion, despite lurid stories of ten-age delinquency which we often find on Page One of our newspapers.

So I was doubly interested in Philip's comments. Philip recognizes topnotch oratory when he hears it, for he has heard many

Society Protests New Toy Rocket

LONDON (UPI) — The Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has protested against the sale of a toy rocket with a plastic dog riding in the nose cone.

It wrote nine members of Parliament to complain that the toy rockets "could give youngsters horrid thoughts and a cruel streak."

Boy Floats Loan

NEW YORK (UPI) — An 11-year-old who wanted a football jersey but didn't have the money to buy it decided Tuesday to try a bank.

William Sicari went to the Manufacturers Trust Co., pledged his bicycle and his electric train as security and floated a $5 loan. He will pay $1.02 each month for five months.

Old French Province Described By Writer

(Editor's Note: This is the eighth of a series of articles by A. M. and E. M. Haskell who are now in Europe.)

Perigord. . . The Perigord is that section of France which lies south of the Gironde Valley, west of Bordeaux, north of the Pyrenees, and east of Vichy. Laced with rivers, it is a country of low hills, verdant valleys, and deep gorges cut by the rivers, where fruit, tobacco, truffles, and grapes for the stringent local wine are grown.

It has been inhabited since prehistoric times. In 1940, four young men wandering through some woods on the banks of the Dordogne, lost their small dog down a hole. In trying to rescue him, they themselves slid down into a vast subterranean hall, painted with amazing animal frescoes. Scientists, after a great deal of careful study, have decided that these miraculously preserved drawings belong to the Paleolithic age which make them some 150,000 years old.

Scientific consensus is that these caves were used for religious rites, not dwellings. The paintings were a type of hunting magic to bring luck to people who depended on killing wild beasts for food. These drawings, in their eerie underground setting, were not done by one man or one group, but by generations of people, as manifested by the different techniques and the fact that some of the drawings are superimposed on others.

Executed in black, ochre, and red, the bulls, cows, ponies and bison, some running, some pierced with arrows, others about to be caught in traps, have remarkable verve and freshness. Historically they are of great interest, but they have esthetic appeal, also. These primitive artists were careful observers and good technicians. They used the contours of the cave wall to advantage in depicting the animals and drew them as they saw them. They are much more exciting artistically than many of the non-objective daubs exhibited in the bi-annual young artists' show currently in Paris.

Perigord is also rich in relics of the middle ages, the most notable of these is Roc-Amadour. In Medieval time there were four places to which the "great" pilgrimages were made: Rome, Jerusalem, Santiago de Compostella in Spain, and Roc-Amadour, sanctuary of the famous black virgin, a wood carving which dates back to the ninth century, believed to work miracles.

Remote and austere, the town is built on the side of a cliff. There are 216 stone steps which lead up to the 13th century church. The pilgrims, including St. Louis, Henry II of England, Blanche of Castille, and countless others climbed these steps on their knees. It is not much easier to walk up them but the view of the great valley, of the Dordogne from the stone terrace in front of the church is worth it.

Only 804 people live in Roc-Amadour today in houses dating from the 11th to the 16th century. It is a strange little place, its atmosphere of medieval asceticism spoiled a little by the numerous souvenir shops and bars, not really beautiful, but impressive and somehow a little sad.

In the Perigord, every turn in the road brings a surprise. Long vistas of green fields, and vineyards broken by straight poplars and feathery chestnut trees, an elegant Renaissance chateau built on a cliff with a sheer drop to the river some 50 feet below, a ruined medieval round tower overgrown with ivy, seem to appear like magic out of nowhere. Though it is somewhat off the beaten track for tourists, it is no wonder it is a popular vacation place for the French.

Design For Fun

This is the completed artist's conception of the design for Circusland. It has been approved by C. V. Wood, head of Marco Engineering Co., as the final general design for the 200-acre attraction, Maurice Marshall, head of the Circusland organization, said. At left is the main entrance which leads into the scaled-down county seat town of the 1920s. The adjacent area is the amusement and rides section, which also contains the circus arena. At right is Magoo Island and in the center background is a cattle and citrus area including a small concentrate plant. Marshall said the engineering firm thinks it will be able to start building on the target date around the end of January or in February.

Collins, Smathers Disagree On Dixie Demo Nominee

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Gov. LeRoy Collins disagreed today with Sen. George Smathers that a Southerner doesn't stand a chance of getting the Democratic presidential nomination. Smathers said Wednesday he didn't think a Southerner could get the nomination and made it clear he considers Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas in this category. Bu Collins told his weekly news conference he thought Smathers was "a little too fast" in writing off a Southern candidate. Collins said Smathers might feel the influence of pressure groups in Washington more than the governor does here, and he deplored regionalism in the national political picture. The governor said he knew there were groups that would try to prevent a man from getting the nomination because of where he lives. Collins said Southerners shouldn't be so quick to withdraw into a "shell of regional isolationism."

When we don't, he said, prejudice against us will quickly disappear. The governor said when he recently talked to a group of New England weekly newspapermen he found they didn't "back up" the idea a man can not be nominated because he is from the South. Smathers indicated he feels Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri has the inside track for the party's nomination.

Chase, News Men Coffee Club Guests

The Chamber of Commerce Coffee Club's special guests this morning were representatives of Chase & Co. and Sanford's newspaper and radio station staff members. Chase & Co. Vice Pres. Richard Deas introduced W. A. LeStrake, William Ray and Donald Jones of the firm's staff of officials. Joe Orstein, head of the firm which has acquired Station WIOD and Bud Corrigan, Garry Fox and Frank Jones were introduced as were Myron Reck and Nick Pfeiffer of Station WTRR. Van Doren Given Questions, Answers On Quiz Show "21", Reports Claim

NEW YORK (UPI) — Charles Van Doren was given questions and answers to run up his winnings to $129,000 on the quiz show "Twenty-One" in an authoritative source said today. The source said Van Doren, who earlier denied he had received any help in answering questions on the NBC program, was fed questions and answers to help him over rough spots on the show. The New York Times said it had learned from an authoritative source in the Criminal Courts Building that both Van Doren and Hank Bloomgarden, another "Twenty-One" winner, had admitted to Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan that they had received both questions and answers on the show. Big prize winners of the program — with few exceptions — received pre-broadcast aid, a source who has been questioned by authorities about rigged TV

MIAMI (UPI) — The Miami City Commission Wednesday unanimously reversed City Manager Ira F. Willard's order integrating the city's parks and pools. Willard's order lowering the color bar at all city recreational facilities was in effect for only about 24 hours. The commission overruled him and restored segregation at a special 15-minute meeting. City leaders on both sides of the issue watched while the action was decided with a minimum of discussion. Willard had given his order Tuesday after a conference with the local head of the NAACP. City Atty. William Pollot had advised him that public recreational facilities were the same as other public-owned facilities ordered integrated by the U.S. Supreme Court.

shows told United Press International. Neither Van Doren nor Bloomgarden would comment. Van Doren, 33-year-old English instructor at Columbia University, appeared Monday in Washington before a congressional committee investigating quiz show rigging. It was reported his attorney had asked for a closed hearing under a house rule that any testimony which might tend to "defame, degrade or incriminate" may be taken in secret. Both Bloomgarden, who won $68,500, and Van Doren had appeared at Hogan's office last Friday to make "substantial changes" in earlier statements they had given the district attorney. They had refused to discuss the changes with newsmen. Van Doren had been given a $50,000 a year contract as a commentator on NBC following his appearance on "Twenty-One," but the network suspended him after the quiz show investigation began. He still teaches his three English classes a week and his students back him loyally. The UPI source, who asked that his name not be used, said the pressure on Van Doren "was terrific."

Steel Shortages May Force Close Of GM Plants

DETROIT (UPI) — A spokesman for the giant General Motors auto-building empire said today most of the corporation may be shut down by next week because of steel shortages. Approximately 140,000 auto workers will be laid off by this weekend, most of them in GM. The world's largest corporation employs about 300,000 hourly workers. GM's Pontiac division halted production of 1960 model cars Wednesday and only four of Chevrolet's 13 assembly plants were still operating today. S. E. Knutson, Pontiac boss, said new-car production stopped at midnight because of materials shortages. He said 5,000 workers were furloughed at that time. Others had been sent home earlier. Chrysler has already laid off about 2,300 workers, but expects to continue limited production until the end of this month.

Women's Club To Conduct Volunteer Cancer Survey

Members of the Sanford Women's Club, under the auspices of the local cancer chapter, have undertaken the job of conducting the Cancer Prevention survey in Seminole County. This massive statistical research program, to be run in 27 states, seeks out the cancer-causing factors in environment, occupations, social classes, religious sects, and dietary habits. "Almost everything known about the causes of cancer in human beings has come from studies of groups of people with particular exposure or particular habits. For example, by such studies it has been found that cancer of the skin can be caused by many years of heavy exposure to X-rays, arsenic or certain types of tars, oils and chemicals. There is a suspicion that there are many other factors in our environment which can cause cancer among people who are sufficiently exposed for a number of years. The plan of this study is to learn as much as possible about the exposures and habits of a very large number of people. These people will be followed for six years to determine when of them develop cancer. It is the hope that this will yield important clues as to a number of possible causes of cancer. The final goal is to prevent cancer insofar as possible by reducing exposure to the responsible factors. In addition to this, it will be possible to learn more about the earliest signs and symptoms of cancer. The chances of cure are very much greater when cancer is treated before it has become large

U. S. Flying Saucer Test Slated Soon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — America is about to test fly its first flying saucer. But the hush-hush project is about four months behind schedule according to a timetable made available to United Press International earlier this year. Even so, this country is hoping to beat the Russians to the punch in developing the radical new aircraft, which the Soviets also are assumed to be working on. The latest word on the saucer came from Toronto Wednesday after a free lance photographer flew over his hangar and took a picture of the shining craft parked outside. The incident caused red faces but prompted Sir Roy Holtson, board chairman of Avco Aircraft Co., which is developing the saucer for the United States, to disclose that the first outside test flight will be made soon. Reliable sources said the saucer will provide the U. S. Army with a modern airborne cavalry. "The likes of which have never been seen in warfare."

"The place to start a child off on the right road is in the home; if the parents fail to do that, the child is in trouble," Hobby said.

Weir said that Seminole Memorial Hospital can take in the mentally ill only if they suffer from other physical disorders or are admitted with their own special attendants on 24-hour service.

Weir said that the mentally ill have special problems of their own and need specially trained personnel in psychiatric methods.

"Many things have to be considered when admitting a patient mentally sick," Weir said, adding, "there is not only the safety of the mentally ill themselves but the safety of all the other patients in the hospital."

Weir also pointed out that at the present time Seminole Memorial Hospital does not have the staff and enough isolated facilities to handle the mentally ill.

He said that it also would be much more economical to utilize the other existing facilities in the area on a temporary basis until they are cured or admitted to a state hospital.

Weir made these statements today after County Judge Wilson Alexander sent a letter to the County Commission Tuesday asking them to pay a bill for a mentally ill person he had committed to a nursing home. Judge Alexander reported that he had refused to detain the ill person at the county jail because of the poor facilities there and said that the hospital had no room for the woman.
