

LAKE FRONT FINISHED AT LAST

SANFORD CAN BE PROUD OF THIS FINISHED BULK-HEAD

One of the greatest improvements ever contemplated in Sanford has been finished. This is the work of building a concrete bulkhead on the shore of Lake Monroe and filling in the same for a distance of 2000 feet, reclaiming a great part of the lake front in new land, eliminating the objectionable and dilapidated buildings and docks, the weeds and water hyacinths and making a beautiful boulevard of the entire distance of the water front of Sanford.

There is probably no lake front in Florida that commands such a view, no lake front that is seen by more people and no lake front that will be more beautiful when all the improvements are made.

Contemplated for the past thirty years, boosted by the Sanford Herald for the past ten years and finally adopted by the city council and pushed to completion, this improvement can now be viewed by the citizens of Sanford with pardonable pride.

The work was begun about two years ago with the dredge Clovis chartered by the Seminole Dredging company, composed of Messrs. F. W. Mahoney and C. R. Walker and Mr. Ogram. Messrs. Walker and Mahoney are Sanford men who have the best interest of the city at heart and were willing to take a chance on finishing this great work for Sanford. The dredge worked intermittently and accomplished but little and Walker and Mahoney had many heart breaking trials and tribulations. Mr. Ogram was an experienced concrete builder and gave the city one of the best jobs of concrete bulkheading that could be made but his experience as a dredge man was limited and the Clovis accomplished but little until Mr. Ogram sold out his interests and a new captain was installed who made good from the start and the work was almost completed when on a fateful night the dredge boat caught fire and was burned to the water's edge with the loss of one of the crew.

Mahoney and Walker, however, were made of the proper stuff and immediately started another dredge at work, although they were losing money all the time. This dredge could not do the work and was sent back to Jacksonville. Another one, the Standard, was then brought here and this dredge has finished the work in fine shape, making a record for good work in a short space of time. The dredge finished last Wednesday and Capt. Hanson and the crew left on the Standard. The bulkhead now only needs a few touches here and there in the way of leveling off and then the brick streets will be finished to the water's edge and many other improvements will be made in the way of trees and ornamentals and boulevards and walks and the Sanford lake front will be one of the show places of Florida.

It seems to be the consensus of opinion that the city and county should control the greater part of this land at least in front of the hotel property, where a park could be planted and maintained and perhaps the court house, a community building and many other public buildings erected at some future date. This great work should not stop and this lake front should never be given over to warehouses, fish houses or buildings of any kind that would in any manner tend to mar the natural beauty. All the old pilings and buildings and piers should be taken away and this 2000 feet of bulkhead made the most beautiful spot in the city, a place where citizens and tourist could congregate, where meetings could be held, where our people could walk and rest and at all times admire the lake that should be the principal asset to this city, but in the past has been sadly neglected.

Thus at the thanksgiving time we can all give thanks for the completion of this work and give praise where praise is due to all those who have made it possible.

Some day our people will awaken to the great possibilities of the lake front.

Wheat Goes Down

Chicago, Nov. 27.—Wheat prices came down today with a crash, breaking in some cases as much as 9 3/8 cents a bushel. Big sales by some of the leading houses started a general movement to unload holdings and gave an opening for aggressive selling by bears.

Oh, You Little Liar, at the Star Tonight

Because she was reputed never to have told a lie in all her life, Berenice Somers was presented with a truth medal. As a matter of fact she was one of the worst fibbers that ever joined the Ananias Club.

The funny part of it was that she had such a pious and innocent expression on her pretty face that she completely fooled everybody except her immediate friends who ironically called her "Miss George Washington"—because she was so different. Dainty little Marguerite Clark is "Miss George Washington" in the photoplay of that name which is the Famous Players Paramount attraction at the Star Tonight. It is the first production under the new contract which Miss Clark made with the Famous Players and was directed by J. Searle Dawley, who staged the little star's most recent successes, such as "Little Lady Ellen," "Molly-Make Believe" and "Silks and Satins."

Saturday's Program at the Star

"The Destroying Angel," an Edison five reel photodrama released through Kleine Edison Feature Service will be offered at the Star Theatre Saturday. As its title would indicate there is tragedy in this story, but so thoroughly is it blended with romance that its gruesomeness is lost, and only fleeting impressions of it remain. Love is the predominating keynote in this strong photoplay. True, love invited tragedy in "The Destroying Angel" but the sensational strain throughout the five reels of film is so marked that a spectator loses sight of tragedy until it is brought to the fore. The climax, too, does much to efface memory of the misery and human blood trail that mark the life of beautiful of beautiful Mary Ladislas, heroine in this photoplay.

The Yellow Pawn

The cruel, merciless methods of the "third degree" for criminals have been raised to the ninth power by the modern detective and police heads. The amount of labor they will go through to entrap, ensnare and bring forth a confession of the person they believe guilty is shown in the most graphic manner in the Jesse L. Lasky production of "The Yellow Pawn" which will be seen at the Star Theatre on Monday with the two clever stars, Cleo Ridgley and Wallace Reid in the principal roles.

The play has to do with the intrigues of a district attorney, jealous of his wife's infatuation of a young artist and the method he employs in a vain endeavor to send an innocent man to the gallows, and how, while furthering his nefarious ends he loses his life just as he is about to take the life of another.

Margaret Deland's Novel "The Iron Woman" Picturized

Nance O'Neil, the celebrated stage and screen star will make her debut on the Metro program here at the Star Theatre on Tuesday in "The Iron Woman," a five part feature produced on an elaborate scale. This is a picturization of the novel of the same name written by Margaret Deland. Many of the scenes in and around the iron mills, which figure so prominently in the story were photographed at the famed steel plant at Bethlehem, Pa. The explosion where the "Iron Woman" is seriously injured is a thrilling and realistic feature in the production.

Mr. Harbaugh has caught the spirit of the authoress and has made one of the best picturizations of a popular novel ever presented upon the screen. The old fashioned home and the old fashioned clothes worn by the "Iron Woman" are among some of the artistic touches in the production and striking contrast are the lively scenes and situations wherein the son of a wealthy woman is concerned. Altogether it is a decided treat and promises to be one of the attractive offerings of the season.

BIG FAIR IS COMING SAYS MILLER

DIRECTORS WILL MEET TOMORROW AND START THE CAMPAIGN

The Seminole County Fair is coming.

Chairman Frank L. Miller is behind the project with both feet and he gives us the information that this county will have a fair this season that will be the pride of the country side. The directors will hold their first meeting tomorrow in the court house at ten o'clock at which meeting a director will probably be appointed and from this time until the bell rings on the morning of January 29th the opening day the committees and sub-committees will be busy as bees in every part of Seminole county, getting up the exhibits and the booths and the buildings, etc., and getting the grounds in shape for the big fair.

There will be at least one big gathering here of people from every part of Florida during the fair in a big convention, announcement of which will be made later, and it is the intention of the directors to hold special days during fair week that will bring the crowds. Sanford is one of the best located cities in Florida and is easy of access from every part of the state. We are looking for the lower peninsula folks to take in our fair and they are coming. We are expecting the dealers in farming machinery, the fertilizer men, the crate men and every one who sells goods of any kind to be here and make exhibits. They can have the space and they can show their goods here to advantage in the greatest trucking center of the world.

Let all the good people of Seminole county get ready for the big fair. Save all your choice canned fruits, jellies, jams, fruits, fancy work, etc. Get your big hogs, your fine cattle, your horses and the chickens ready and the premium lists will be ready in a few weeks to tell you all about it.

Mrs. M. M. Stewart and daughters, Misses Minnie, Marie and Edith and son, Max motored to Kissimmee Thursday morning to spend Thanksgiving day with their daughter and sister and her family.

GERMANY MUST STAND BY PLEDGE

OTHER NEWS FROM WAR TORN EUROPE BY WIRE

Washington, D. C., Nov. 30.—Ambassador Gerard conferred with the president late today to receive his final instructions as to the views to be presented to the German government regarding the deportation of the Belgians and as to submarine warfare.

No written communications were given to the ambassador.

The President is understood to have emphasized the unfavorable impression created here by Germany's treatment of the Belgians.

He said that the United States had said its last word on the subject of submarine warfare and now expected Germany to live up to her pledges.

Ambassador Gerard has left for New York and plans to sail for Berlin on December 5.

Washington, Nov. 30.—Germany's protest against Great Britain for the enforced departure of the Teutonic diplomats from Athens will be forwarded as requested.

Surprise is expressed here that the request was made to transmit the note to Great Britain only as the French Admiral, Dufournet, conducted all the negotiations with Greece.

Despite the intense Russian offensive in the Carpathian region, probably as a diversion, the advances of the Teutonic allies all along the line in Wallachia towards the Rumanian capital is meeting with but little impediment.

ELKS LODGE OF SORROW ON SUNDAY

EXCELLENT PROGRAM ARRANGED AND PUBLIC CORDIALLY INVITED

The Lodge of Sorrow or Elks Memorial Day will be fittingly observed next Sunday afternoon at three o'clock sharp at the Star Theatre. The annual memorial services of the Elks are largely attended and an excellent program has been arranged for Sunday afternoon. The services will be held in memory of the following departed brothers:

W. D. Holden, B. F. Higgins, W. W. Wadley, R. H. Marks, J. C. Higgins, W. H. Underwood, G. H. Fernald, E. W. Rowland, Jar. D. Roberts, D. G. Monroe and W. J. Hill.

The following program will be carried out:

- Voluntary: Elks' Orchestra
Ritualistic: Lodge
"Father in Heaven": Ladies Choir
Handel Warbursh
Ritualistic: Lodge
Prayer: Rev. A. S. Peck
"Cast Thy Bread Upon the Waters": Mrs. Jas. Taylor
Mrs. R. R. Deas Accompanist
"The Vacant Chair": Duet
Lymman Bros
"Why should the Spirit of Mortal Be Proud": Mrs. I. W. Barnes
"One Sweetly Solemn Thought": Ladies Choir
Oratio: Dr. Lincoln Holly
Selection: Elks' Orchestra
Eulogies: T. A. Neal, R. J. Holly
Ritualistic: Lodge
"America": Lodge, Audience Assisting Benediction.

The musical program this year will be exceptionally good and in the selection of Dr. Lincoln Holly as orator the committee has given to the program one of the best speakers in the state. The Sanford Lodge of Elks have a fine musical organization, consisting of a band and orchestra and the Elks orchestra is always a feature of the memorial exercises.

The public is cordially invited to attend the services next Sunday afternoon as the theatre has ample accommodations to seat 700 and ushers will take care of the visitors so that all can be assured of a seat if they come early.

The left flank of the central powers now have captured an important railroad junction 65 miles northwest of Bucharest.

In the center the Rumanians are reported as retreating in disorder.

The Petrograd war office admits the continuing retreat of the Rumanians and the advance of General Von Mackensen to a town only 20 miles south of Bucharest.

There is but little infantry fighting on the other fronts but some artillery duels in France and Belgium.

A German official communication says that quiet prevails on the Macedonian front.

Russia admits the further advance of the Turks south of Van in Turkish Armenia.

METHODISTS OF SANFORD

The Pastor Leaves for Conference Tuesday

Rev. F. E. Steinmeyer, pastor and W. W. Abernathy, lay delegate for the Miami District will leave for Ocala the seat of the Annual Conference next Tuesday morning. The conference convenes on Dec. 6th at 9 o'clock a. m.

This is a very important occasion as all the Methodist churches of the state east of the Apalachicola river will be represented and pastors will be assigned for another year.

Mr. Steinmeyer has served the Sanford church for the past three years. He will take one of the best reports that has ever been carried from this church to the Conference. One hundred and eighty members have been received during his pastorate, beside the building of the church which only lacks a few days before it is completed.

All members and friends are urged to be present in the services on Sunday at the usual hours. The pastor hopes to be present and officiate in the worship. The communion will be administered at the morning hour. The evening subject will be, "Giving Account to God."

The pastor heartily appreciates the courtesies extended by the people of Sanford since his residence here. He looks upon Sanford as one of the finest places on earth, with the greatest future of any of the smaller cities of the state.

Florida's Population

Washington, D. C., Nov. 27.—The federal bureau of the census announces that according to an estimate it has just completed the state of Florida on January 1, next, will have a population of 904,839. The bureau also estimates that on July 1 last Florida's population was 893,493.

In 1910 Florida had a population of 751,139, according to the census taken that year, and it seems likely from the bureau's estimate that by the time another decennial census is taken Florida's population will be rubbing the million mark.

Emperor Buried Thursday

Vienna, via London, Nov. 27.—The coffin of Emperor Francis Joseph has been finally closed, but the body will remain lying in state until Thursday, the day set for interment.

At the burial in the crypt of the Capuchin, a historic ceremony will be carried out which was anciently designed to impress the monarch's successor's that in spite of all pomp a sovereign is merely a mortal.

Boycotted Turkeys

New York, Nov. 30.—A panic of considerable moment among the dealers in the Thanksgiving turkey market as a result of the public's refusal to buy at the prices demanded, was announced by Joseph Hartigan, the commissioner of weights and measures.

A call for a concerted public uprising against the high cost of living has been issued by Mayor Cornelius F. Burns of Troy, N. Y., who also advocated the issuing of proclamations by the governors of all states and the mayors of all cities.

Hartigan said that the investigation showed that large quantities of poultry had been shipped from the state and that the egg boycott had reduced the buyers and the dealers have been compelled to reduce prices.

Death of Mrs. L. J. Laing

The many Sanford friends of Mrs. L. J. Laing will be grieved to learn of her death which occurred in Nashville last week. Mrs. Laing resided here about eight years ago her husband, L. J. Laing being an engineer on the A. C. L. After his death she moved to Tampa but came here on annual visits and had a large circle of friends here.

All the Way From Chicago

Messrs. Brandt and Magnuson of Chicago arrived in the city Tuesday making the entire trip by auto. Mr. Magnuson left yesterday for home but Mr. Brandt will spend the winter in Florida where he will study the fruit and vegetable situation in the interests of the commission firm of A. F. McClay & Co., of Chicago. They had a good trip all the way down but kicked on the bad roads through part of Tennessee where they were forced to pay toll for the privilege of using the poor roads. In Atlanta Mr. Brandt had his car stolen but recovered the same and will use the car in Florida this winter.

Officers Are Vigilant

C. B. Brandt of Chicago who arrived in the city a few days ago has a good opinion of the local police force. He had his car stolen in Atlanta but recovered it before leaving there. All the officials in the south were notified of the theft and the city police here had the description. As soon as Chief Tillis saw the Brandt car on the streets here Wednesday the officers swooped down on it and only the papers and receipts carried by Mr. Brandt, showing the car had been recovered saved him from getting in the county bastille.

Benjamin Whitner, Jr., is home from the University of Gainesville for the Thanksgiving holidays.

HIGH COST FOOD STUFF BOYCOTTED

AMERICAN WOMEN WILL REFUSE TO PURCHASE AT PRICE

High prices will tumble in the United States if the housewives will place an embargo or boycott on certain foods that have been boosted in order that certain individuals can become rich. Every state in the Union is on the deal and Florida will fall into line. Already Sanford people are sitting up and taking notice, and it is almost certain that packed eggs will be boycotted here if the price continues to soar. If the people will refuse to buy them it is certain that they will drop in price. In New York the movement was started and the following news from New York is important:

The attack on high food prices begun by the Housewives' league and city officials, spread throughout the state. Encouraged by news of sympathetic efforts in other states, the promoters declared the movement promised to become nationwide.

The local campaign centers upon eggs, and, beginning today, recommends a two weeks' boycott. Efforts of state and city officials were supplemented by Cornelius F. Burns, mayor of Troy and president of the State Mayors' Association.

Mayor Burns will send letters to the mayors of every city in New York, to President Wilson and to governors requesting them to issue proclamations, urging people to stop using eggs other than for the aged, sick, infirm and children, for two weeks.

The Housewives' league of St. Paul, Minn., and the City Club of Chicago yesterday adopted resolutions for a boycott on eggs.

Movies Will Help

The Motion Picture Exhibitors' Association has volunteered the use of every moving picture theater in the city to carry out the campaign. Slides will be shown telling the people what to do to break up the combination of those held responsible for the high prices.

Official state action under the direction of Governor Whitman was forecast in the announcement that the governor was in conference with George W. Perkins, regarding remedies the state could undertake. Mr. Perkins is chairman of the Mayors' Committee on Food Supplies. The governor plans to enlarge the commission of foods and markets through a legislative program now under preparation.

"I believe the question of the price of food stuffs to be a state matter," said Governor Whitman. "I intend to have a commission handle the thing in a big way with a big man at the head of it."

While efforts are being made to extend the boycott to turkeys and other foodstuffs now commanding fancy prices and subject to speculation, it is believed such action, if taken will await the result of the campaign against the high cost of eggs.

Headed by the Women's City Club and the Chicago Political Equality league, members of several civil organizations and women's clubs today are cooperating in an attempt to check soaring food prices.

The Women's City Club and the Chicago Political Equality league are centering their efforts on an egg boycott, members of the former having pledged themselves to refrain from the use of eggs while the present high prices continue and the latter having adopted a resolution to boycott eggs for two weeks and to appoint a committee to investigate the possibility of aggressive action.

In addition five measures designed to curb the advancing cost of living were introduced in the city council. Those adopted included one calling on the city health commissioner and the chief of police to enforce the city ordinance prohibiting regrading eggs.

Dr. Masters of Port Orange spent Wednesday in Sanford the guest of friends.

There are a good many towns in the country any one of which would be greatly benefitted by at least one big fire and a dozen or more first-class funerals.—Ocala Star.

All right, let's go.

A Minnesota woman has appropriated $3,000 for the building and maintaining a home for stray cats. The home will be operated at Riverside, California. Now, won't somebody send this woman to an insane asylum.—Apalachicola Times.

No, send her to Florida.

We hail with delight the effort to give Jacksonville a daily paper. If the Daily Free Press will cut out all liquor advertising, and will tell the truth, and will give the name of the liar when a community is lied about in its columns, and give us a clean paper—one fit to go into the homes of Florida.

Then, we are for it.—Lake City Index.

Man, it can't be done. No such animal.

The state papers are getting over the election all right and most of them are now writing editorials on the price of putty or how to eradicate the cattle tick. Even the Jacksonville Free Press, the most outspoken paper in the state for cattle has quit and in last week's issue had a large editorial on "How to Cleanse and Care for a Wound Without a Doctor." This is the true American spirit. We fight while the fighting is good and then forget about it. The newspapers especially should dwell together in peace and unity.

ALREADY SELECTED

Just now it is more essential that efforts should be made to have the government purchase and operate and keep in order some route of waterway all down the east coast than that there should be a scramble for precisely which route should be selected. Let there be a general expression of sentiment held by the people that it is very essential the government should take over the present canal system—such of mileage as does not already belong to it—and let a solid and concerted action of every resident along the eastern portion of the state be plain and discernible. In that way can there be secured results—and results are what are now required to make the business a success.

Following the sanction of the laudable proposition, and following the purchase of the waterway by government, there will be time in plenty to have any alteration of the present route discussed and pleaded in proper manner before the higher tribunal. If that higher authority shall see fit to carry the canal along any route other than the one now in present use then it will be up to the government.

Let there be a unanimity of intercession to have the government first secure in some manner the canal. The other matters may be settled at a later date.—Palm Beach Post.

Canal is already selected by the Government engineers and it is the St. Johns river.

DEMAND FOR CIRCUS

Florida editors seem to have developed a yearning for a real circus, and if the editors reflect the opinions of their subscribers an old-fashioned one—ing circus, with some animals, could "clean up" in this state this winter. It is a certainty that in St. Petersburg there is a longing for a genuine circus, and the carnivals that are coming here this winter are not the kind to satisfy the desire.

The Tampa Tribune started it off by expressing a desire to see a circus, and the Florida advocate backed up the view, the two comments being as follows:

"A circus is touring Georgia. The circus is one of the lost institutions of Florida, more's the pity.—Tampa Tribune.

A wise legislature passed a scale of license for tent shows that permit little degrading tent shows to visit Florida, but practically prohibits all big class attractions. It's a shame to raise a boy in a country where there is not at least one good circus a year, and we would like to see the coming legislature fix one license fee for tent shows, and make this license too high for the little old bum shows and yet low enough for a first class circus.

The Wauchula Advocate is also yelling for a circus and the Lakeland Telegram seconds the motion as follows:

The Wauchula Advocate voices our sentiments when it declares that "it is a shame to raise a boy in a country where there is not at least one good circus a year." The pleasant memories of our boyhood are those connected with the circus, and we're its friend. We hope the next legislature will fix the license laws so that Florida circuses can again come to Florida.

There are lots of children in St. Petersburg who have never seen a circus and many a grown person who has not seen one in several years. Even the grown persons here are willing to admit that they would like to have a chance to attend a circus.—St. Petersburg Independent.

NEWCASTLE FOR COALS

We citizens in Florida have been supplied by nature with everything needed for living, for building and for about all that is necessary in our business and yet this state probably sends out for more supplies than any state in the Union ignoring what is at our very doors. This thought came to us regarding the brick roads that are about to begin between the country-line and Robinson's Springs. In asking why the delay we were informed that the curbing contractor could not obtain sand for the concrete work. There is a concrete works along the road side near Altamonte and here there is sand in abundance—sand that seems good enough for the manufacture of all kinds of concrete and certainly good enough for curbing, but it seems not good enough for curbing according to the specifications or some other red tape arrangements.

This brings to mind the fact that we send north for brick for roads and the north sends to Florida for wooden blocks to pave their streets. The people on the coast with millions of shells want bricks and we want their shells. The western packing house wants Florida cattle and ships them back to us as western beef. The rug manufacturer and broom manufacturer want our switch grass and palmetto and we get them back in carpets, matting, rugs and brooms. The canning factory and tomato catsup manufacturer of the north is located in Florida to get our tomatoes, make them up in catsups and soups and ship them back. The vinegar manufacturer and fruit juice manufacturer takes our orange and grapefruit culls and makes them up in various concoctions and we get them back all at greatly inflated prices. We grow good corn in Sanford and ship it out of the state for meal and grits. The cotton grower makes a good crop and ships it to New England for the manufacture of cloth and thread and it comes back here and we pay the freight.

Florida is one of the few states in the Union that can absolutely live within herself and ask nothing from the manufacturers of other states with the possible exception of steel and coal and oil. Our resources are unlimited and seemingly untouched and if they are touched the other fellow makes the touch and the Florida gets touched.

Going to Newcastle for coals.

When, O when, will we wake up?

THANKSGIVING DAY

The gladsome holiday season approaches and the first of these is Thanksgiving, coming this year very late and less than one month from Christmas. Thanksgiving is of special significance this year, coming at a critical period not only in the history of the world but almost on the eve of the national election when those who gave the matter deep thought and historical research saw in a change of administration the dark shapes of war—war that has devastated Europe and war that even in this country is being felt in the high price of living. Thus after the election of Woodrow Wilson and the country on the threshold of a prosperous year in many respects we can give thanks with the feeling that for four years more America will be the land of the free and the home of the brave without going into the needless sacrifices of millions for a useless war. We can give thanks for more this year than any preceding year in history. The people of the United States can give thanks for the privilege of being citizens of a great and glorious and peaceful country and today recognized as the greatest country on the globe because we have kept out of the fight regardless of the criticisms of the jingoes and calamity howlers. The prosperity and contentment of every hand throughout the length and breadth of the land is emphasized in our own state of Florida and in the county of Seminole and as the new year is almost ready to unfold before us we can look ahead into the future and see countless full years—years filled with the blessings that come to a nation of peace and prosperity and progress.

In our own county and our own city we have much to be thankful for, and we should do so with grateful hearts and paeans of thanksgiving unto Him who is responsible for our well being and our rich gifts that make possible this great country that answers so readily to the touch of the husbandman. In this great country rich in all that makes a prosperous community.

Filled with health and happiness we should remember the Giver of All Things and next Thursday turn aside from the busy marts of trade and devote some time toward repaying him in a measure with our thanks and praise.

Sanford and Seminole county is entering upon an era of prosperity and her citizens should decide today to make a combined effort for greater things in the next year—greater things for the upbuilding and bettering of our city and county and looking toward a material and spiritual revival that will place our community upon the very pinnacle in the list of prosperous cities and communities of the state and the United States.

In this Thanksgiving The Herald will join for the many kind words of praise that have been showered upon us during the year, for the recognition of our services for good in the community and for the prosperity that has attended our efforts toward giving the people the best that was in us and we wish to give our best wishes to all our readers for a blessed Thanksgiving Day in this the year of our Lord, 1916.

BRYAN ON THE ELECTION

In the current issue of the Commoner, W. J. Bryan's paper, appears a signed editorial covering the presidential election so completely, and so fully from the viewpoint of a westerner that we reproduce it. Mr. Bryan very truly states that the west and the south are now united politically, hence this editorial has double interest for the people of the south:

The election of 1916 has passed into history—the nation has set the seal of its commendation upon the administration of President Wilson. He not only has a majority in the electoral college but, what is even more significant, he has a popular plurality of some four hundred thousand. A constitutional victory that is, a mere majority in the electoral college, without a popular plurality would have been very unsatisfactory. A President could not put much heart into his work if he KNEW that a plurality of the voters favored the election of another man.

The victory is more than party triumph—it is highly creditable to the country, and especially to that part of the country which is responsible for the result.

"The record endorsed was of unparalleled excellence—so complete that it left little to be hoped for during the next four years in the way of remedial legislation. Gratitude for favors done is not nearly so active a force in politics as expectation, and in this case expectation had been more than realized.

time and then the morrow—with all its after consequences.

This same housewife, who has not yet planned her Thanksgiving day dinner, has a shock and a disappointment in store if she has not already found it in the increased amount each week of her regular grocery and meat bill, and if that has been a sore spot in the weekly pay envelope, the Thanksgiving dinner this year will be a painful injury. For those who have plenty of God's great world, there is no worry, but the little fellow, it is he and his dear ones, who will have to suffice with the ordinary fare and thank God they can have that.

If you have actually got your mind set on a real Thanksgiving dinner, perhaps the cheapest thing you can do is to slip into a restaurant and buy one already cooked. This will cost fifty or seventy-five cents, with no more than a dollar or two for the finest that can be bought in Tampa. Buy it piecemeal and cook it yourself, that is the same amount of eatables which you would get in the restaurant, and the price will be possibly five times what the already cooked and served meal would cost—five times, that is, if your family is a big one. If it is small, the difference will run into several dollars, and you will have the dishes to wash besides, while fond husband snores on the divan.

Blame it on the war, on the high cost of living, on anything you wish to blame it on, because it is only natural that some one bear the wrath of a million of housewives who find that a nickel will buy about what one cent used to secure, and dollar bills shrink every time they are looked at. Every one will agree that it is a shame, and here is where the bachelor takes a glance up his sleeve and shouts hawhaw at the gink that has to pay the bills.

Yes, the Turkey feed this year is a greater problem than it was a year ago, when things were considered high at that time. If they were high they are something worse than that now and where the old time cook threw raisins in the plum pudding, a handful at a time, the modern housewife counts them out individually, places them accurately, almost laying off their position with a ruler so no one will get more than a dollar's worth in one bite. Raisins have gone up, not quite as bad as this may seem, but three cents a pound in the cheapest place.

Of course the price of food varies in different stores, and there is no standard. Some merchants charge more for the same thing than do others, some because they look for a higher profit and others because they bought when the wholesale market was higher. The honest merchant has a standard scale and prices his goods a certain percentage above the cost price. Other grocers are selling certain commodities at a retail price right here in Tampa which approximates the present wholesale price, and are able to do this because they bought when prices were lower.

Are you going to wind up your dinner this year with a good old bowl of nuts? If you do you will pay about a nickel more a pound for them than last year. Yes, there are plenty of nuts and probably the trees produce just as many this year as they did last, but they cost more. There's the war again, or whatever it is.

How about the canned and prepared pumpkin for your pie? Oh, yes, up two cents a small can. There were just as many pumpkins this year as there were last, so why is it? Can anybody answer, but Kaiser Wilhelm and King George? Cranberries cost ten cents for a small portion, and is a delicacy these days. Remember the good old times when you could almost buy a peck for a nickel. Yes, the world was at peace, then.

Potatoes? Probably you are no different from the rest of the poor people who are trying to economize this year by eating the skins. They were thirty cents a peck last year

THANKSGIVING AND LIVING

IN THE YEAR OF 1916 OLD HIGH COST OF LIVING IS AT THE BEST (Tampa Times)

With just a few more days to Thanksgiving day, it is high time the house wife started her plans for the big Turkey Day feed, which mere man always looks forward to with keen delight from the first relish to the last relish and clear Havana—then a good old time nap, full of snores, an afternoon of leisure or else the pleasure attendant to watching a football game, the cold turkey for a light supper before bed-and now they are sixty, and still some people suggest that bread be made out of potatoes. Nobody home. Flour has jumped from 90 cents to $1.45 and $1.50 for a 25 lb. sack—too expensive any more to put in gravy, and if all the bakers say is true, people will be frying it, one speck at a time within another year. Turkey, a necessary part of every Thanksgiving day feed was as low as twenty two cents last year and now you can pay as much as thirty-three. One "philanthropist" who runs a butcher shop don town, offered a small sized bird at thirty-one cents per pound—the first piece of charity he has been connected with since he started butchering.

Oysters, thanks to Tampa Bay are still "only" twenty-five cents a pint, and if you speak nicely to the clerk you are allowed to buy a quart for fifty cents.

Some people like ducks, and the cheapest way to get them is to shoot them on the bay. If you can't do this you can go to the butcher shop and purchase one for ninety-five cents that might weigh a pound and a half (including the bones) after it is dressed. Chickens, the butchers swear are the same price, but try dressing one once. They can be bought though from twenty-eight to thirty-five cents a pound. Eggs are sixty cents a dozen, and in the New York ghetto they are freezing them and selling them one-half an egg at a time.

You can buy a whole young pig to roast at twenty-five cents a pound, if you have it, and beef—shades of Moses—go down and buy twenty-five cents worth of steak and carry it home in your vest pocket. But steak is not a part of your Thanksgiving dinner, so poof, why worry? Some folks like dates. If they do they pay some little 20 per cent increase over last year's price. Candy is way up in the air over a year ago, due to the increased cost of sugar, which last year, at this time was selling for six cents a pound and the people thought they were being robbed. Now they pay ten cents a pound straight and feel fortunate in being able to buy it. It can be gotten in certain places three pounds for a quarter, but everybody don't know it. Canned peaches are up only 20 per cent over last year and figs are slated at a 5 per cent increase. Coffee, rice and salad dressing are the same, but go down and try to get a new tablecloth for the Thanksgiving dinner, and you will have to cough up good and proper. Anywhere from 10 to 50 per cent increase in tablecloths and napkins. And grease—the cooks call it shortening and they are right. The package is shortening and the price is lengthening. Fancy fruit peels pickled in sugar are up about 10 per cent, squash is ridiculously high and so is everything else.

If you eat at home and are accustomed to toothpicks, you will be able to go this last course either without anteing in again, for lumber has gone up, and if toothpicks get any higher it will soon be cheaper to go to the dentist after every meal and let him do the job. A half dozen grocers scratched their heads yesterday afternoon and tried in vain to make one commodity that had decreased in price from this time last year, and we haven't yet found the man who could think of anything in his store. People say, What's the use of kicking? and that's the truth, what's the use? It won't do any good, and while you and you and you have to stand it, Europe rolls in blood and the ammunition and steel "maggots" pocket the change and eat heavy.

Baptist Temple Regular services were resumed at the Baptist Temple Sunday, with Dr. Hyman in the pulpit.

The evening worship, being conducted by the pastor was a sermon of advice and the Doctor put some real emphasis on some of the advice that was given to the fathers and mothers of boys and girls who were at the age of sowing wild oats. A special warning was given these boys and girls and all people who persisted in sowing the wild oats, to ming that the harvest would, in a great many instances be chaff—a life and a hereafter of emptiness.

A special song by the choir and special violin solo by orchestra leader were features of the service of the evening.

Rev. J. A. Davidson, pastor of the Congregational church will deliver a Thanksgiving sermon in the Temple at ten o'clock Thanksgiving morning.

Notice

The Hill Hardware Company will be closed all day Thursday, Thanksgiving day.

Notice, Citizens of Seminole County

BUDGET OF OPINION "JUST BETWEEN YOU AND ME."

EVEN THE GATE POST NOT IN IT

A CHIEF IS AMONG YE TAKING NOTES AND FAITH, "HE'LL PRENT 'EM"—SO SAYS SAUNTERER.

One On The Larkin Man
When Susan joined the Larkin Club,
Some twenty years ago,
When dollars looked as big as plates
And were comin mighty slow,
She 'lowed the poor folks had a friend
In the Buffalo Larkin man,
Who was just a-givin things away
When you bought on the Larkin
plan.

She'll hie away to the Larkin club,
To figure on her needs.
Then look out fer—Roach Paste,
Olive Oil and Bromide.
And I'll be a-sporting a tombstone
Marked "Larkin" on the side.
And Susan she'll still be rootin,
Rootin for the Larkin man,
Who'll own your seat in Paradise,
If you fool with the Larkin plan.
—"Experienced," Oxford, Fla.

She 'lowed she'd cut our grocery bill
Exactly half in two,
And make one dollar do the work
That two Bucks uster do.
She'd 'low buy a bran new house
And quit a-payin rent,
And furnish it with Larkin things
'Thout costin us a cent.

There is considerable discussion about the building of a bridge at the Osteen ferry by the same parties that built the bridge at the Monroe ferry recently. There is much to be said for and against this proposition.
It is my opinion that the counties of Seminole and Volusia should build this bridge and make it a toll bridge until it is paid for or else
make it a free bridge at once all depending upon the financial condition of said counties. With the great system of good roads that Seminole and Volusia will soon have certainly they should have good bridges to go with them and the toll bridge, while better than a ferry is a handicap in a way; because it makes the local residents mad every time they are forced to pay. We all recognize the fact that a bridge is better than a ferry and much safer but the conditions at this Osteen ferry are different than at Monroe. At the latter place the ferry boat belonged to private parties and they charged the same toll that is now being charged by the bridge company, which gave rise to the feeling that a bridge was safer and better and the price being the same the bridge was the better proposition.

She talked the "Larkin plan" all day,
Had Larkin dreams at night,
She stirred the grits with a Larkin
spoon
Ans served with a Larkin light.
She told the time with a Larkin clock.
"Crowshayed" with Larkin floss,
And to keep up with her Larkin dues
I had to sell my hoss.

Next went the pigs and chickens,
Without causin' her alarm.
And next the Dad Green Critter
Had a mortgage on my farm.
My pants were frayed, my shirts
worn out.

My sox were full of holes,
I had no hat, no underwear—
And my shoes they had no soles.

But the club was still a-hummin',
And 'twas Sue for the Larkin man,
Who was still a-givin things away
When you bought on the Larkin
plan

When Susan draws my life insurance
And sheds her widdler's weeds,

toll over a crossing that has always been free is a horse of another color.
If both crossings on the St. Johns river are owned by private individuals it seems that we are bottled up for ten years at least. This question will be threshed out at the next meeting of the county commissioners in December and the people should be there and express themselves about the bridge.

We have a young professional man recently arrived in the city who is made of the proper stuff as a booster. Immediately after his arrival here and entering business he started several others from his home town to come here for the winter and has been instrumental in getting them located here for the winter. If every one of our citizens would write to the home folks back in other states and get at least one family to come here for the winter
Sanford would double in population in the next few months. I doff my chapeau to this young man and welcome him to our city.

I hear a noise that sounds like a county fair and wish to commend the boys who started it and have it in charge. There is no reason why the youngsters of today should not get busy and have a good fair here every year when we older birds had one of the biggest fairs in Florida here some twenty years ago when Florida was young and in the making. What has been done can certainly be done again and it is up to the business men of this city to push this fair and make it all that it should be. There is a tendency here on the part of many to let these things drift idly by our doors and the other live wire cities of Florida are getting what should be our share of the public patronage. If other towns in Florida and other counties can have these affairs certainly Seminole, one of the grandest little counties in the state can have a fair and have a good one. Now let every body get busy and get out of the measly habit of looking first to see where you come in before you shell out a few dimes.

MONARCHS OF STONE ISLAND.

Prominent Artists Have a Kingdom of Their Own

Tucked away on a beautiful island in the St. Johns river near this city resides Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Commons, the makers of the finest miniature scenes of Florida in the United States.

Mrs. Commons is an artist of rare attainments and formerly resided at Richmond, Indiana, where she is well known and was prominent in art circles. Coming to Florida about eight years ago and locating in Sanford Mr. and Mrs. Commons were eventually attracted by the beauties of Stone Island, which is situated about four miles from Sanford in Lake Monroe, and the possibilities of this spot struck the artistic note with Mrs. Commons, who at once realized the opportunities of miniature painting in the great natural surroundings of nature undorned and almost undefiled by the hand of man.

Here on Stone Island Mr. and Mrs. Commons have developed not only the land but they have built up a wonderful business in the painting of miniature Florida scenes
and making them up into brooches, lavaliers, stick pins, scarf holders,
cuff buttons, etc., and no two scenes are alike. The work is pronounced to be the best of the kind on the market and these Florida scenes in miniature are destined to make their creator famous.

The Herald Printing Co. recently printed a neat little booklet describing Stone Island and the painting of miniatures and any one interested should write A. B. and O.
W. Commons, Sanford, Florida, or get the miniatures at any leading dealers in Florida.

Technical Difficulty.

At one of the rehearsals of a play
the "supers" had to go up to an altar and kneel before it. After rehearsing five or six times the stage manager
lost his temper with them and shouted: "No, no! Where are your genu-flexions?" The chief "super" scratched his head with a puzzled expression on his face. "Well, sir," he said, apologetically, "we haven't had them from the property master!"

Wise Practice of the Incas.

The Incas, ancient rulers of Peru,
were one of the earliest authentic examples of the high eugenic development of the human race. Their system of choosing each year the finest physical specimens of young womanhood from all classes to become "brides of the sun," or wives of the ruler, having quite an opposite effect to that of the limited and unfortunate matrimonial customs of present day royalty.

Early Assault on Bachelors.

A man would have no pleasures in discovering all the beauties of the universe, even in heaven itself, unless he had a partner to whom he might communicate his joys.—Cicero.

Farmers and Fruit Growers

Items of Interest for the Man Behind the Plow

Provide Winter Feed for Livestock

The demand for better livestock is growing in Florida, and a great many farmers are discarding scrubs for pure bred and good grade animals. The production of such stock will emphasize more than ever the necessity for plenty of feed. Unless the common practice of feeding is improved, the importation of new blood will be neutralized. The necessity of plenty of winter feed for any animal is apparent, whether it is scrub or purebred.

John M. Scott, animal industrialist to the University of Florida Experiment Station urges winter feeding. If animals are turned on the range to shift for themselves they will be stunted and they will not recover readily from the lean months.

Many livestock producers are objecting to the high cost of feed. They forget that the price of animals has also increased in proportion, so that they can realize just as great profits from feeding now as they ever could.

Stored Sweet Potatoes Will bring Good Prices Next Spring

Sweet potatoes may be kept during winter if they are properly stored. Experience has taught that storing pays big returns since potatoes will bring from two to three times as much in spring as they will at digging time. It is frequently difficult to find a market at harvest time, while there is a good healthy demand for them later in winter or during early spring.

Sweet potatoes keep best in a house constructed especially for storage. This house need not be expensive where lumber is available, but farmers who do not expect to erect a storage house may bank their crop. C. K. McQuarrie, state agent for the University of Florida Extension Division, recommends that the potatoes be sunned about two days before they are placed in the bank. A desirable bank is one four feet wide at the base and five feet from the apex to the base. All diseased or injured potatoes should be eliminated.

The pile should be covered with fine hay or straw and then with about two inches of soil. A roof of boards or shingles should be placed over the whole to shed water. A ventilator may be placed by placing saddle boards supported by a pad of straw along the top of the ridge.
This will avoid heating.

Mr. McQuarrie urges farmers to save all the sweet potatoes possible.
Irish potatoes probably will be higher later than they are now, which will give better prices for stored sweet potatoes.

Cut Sweet Potato Vines After Frost

Sweet potato vines should be cut at the hill after the first killing frost
so that the rots which attack them will not descend into the roots. A sharp hoe should be used to clip
them at the surface of the ground.
It is not necessary to harvest the potatoes immediately, according to C. K. McQuarrie, state agent for the University of Florida Extension Division. However, if wet weather occurs it will be advisable to dig them as soon as possible.

It is necessary to avoid injury to the potatoes during harvest time since wounds admit decay organisms. Observance of the following recommendations sent out by the United States Department of Agriculture will lessen storage troubles.

"Care should be taken in plowing
out the potatoes to avoid all bruising
by contact between the implements used and the roots. The soil should then be scratched away from the potatoes and they should be left exposed for several hours to dry.
Picking should be in padded boxes, baskets or crates. The roots should be carefully placed, not thrown into the picking receptacles. Although sweet potatoes do not have the appearance of being easily injured, they require, in fact, as careful handling as oranges and apples.

"Handling should be minimized to as great an extent as possible. This makes desirable a rough sorting in the field by placing the largest potatoes in one picking container, the smallest in another, and the bruised roots in a third. In no case should sacks be used either as temporary containers or for marketing purposes. Diseased potatoes should be placed in none of the assortments.
Such roots should not be left permanently in the field, however, to contaminate the soil, but should be gathered and fed to pigs."

First Estimate of Citrus Fruits in Boxes Issued
The Bureau of Crop Estimates has issued the first forecast of the citrus fruit crop in boxes. C. C. Haro, field agent for Florida, calls attention to the report as follows:

The estimate for the United States in 1916 is 23,835,000 boxes; 1915, 21,200,000 boxes. The 1916
estimate for Florida is, oranges 6,335,000; grapefruit, 1,900,000. In 1915 the production was, oranges
6,148,000 boxes; grapefruit 2,000, 000.

Of the total number of citrus trees
of bearing age this year 70 per cent are oranges, 29.5 per cent are grapefruit, and 0.5 per cent are limes and lemons. Of the total citrus crop this year the percentage probably will be, oranges 76.7, grapefruit 23, limes and lemons, 0.3. The percentages last year were 74.6, 25 and 0.4 respectively. The boxes of oranges per tree this year are estimated at 1.64 grapefruit 1.5; per cent of normal yield, 71.6 and 70 respectively.
The average boxes of oranges last year was 1.56 per tree, grapefruit
1.63; per cent normal yield 68 and 76 respectively.

There is an increase of 5 per cent
in bearing orange trees, 8 per cent
in grapefruit trees, and 1 per cent limes and lemons over last year. Of the total number of orange trees the following percentages are of the age indicated: 5 per cent 1 year; 7.2, 2 years; 10.2, 4 years; 68 per cent, 5 years and over; grapefruit 5.5 per cent, 1 year; 6, 2 years; 10.8, 3 years; 63.2 per cent 5 years and over.

The quality of this year's fruit is rated at, oranges 92 per cent, and grapefruit 91 per cent of a normal crop. The percentages bright and russet of oranges are 68 and 42 respectively.

Farmers Will Receive Money at Five Per Cent

According to a lecture by Senator Duncan U. Fletcher at the University of Florida recently, the farmers of the country probably will receive money at 5 per cent under the Federal Farm Loan Act. He said that just before he left Washington the Farm Loan Board had received assurance that millions of capital would be available at 4 per cent.
This money will be invested in the bonds issued by the Farm Loan Banks. Under the provisions of the act the farmers cannot be charged more than 1 per cent above the interest paid on the bonds.

The bonds are highly desirable as investments, owing to their safety and the tax exemptions which they will enjoy. Investors will withdraw their money from less secure bonds

and place it in the farm loan bonds.
Four per cent is an attractive rate for large capital when the solidity of the bonds is considered, since there will be as safe as those of the government itself.

Meeting of Welfare Department

At the Woman's Club tomorrow afternoon the program will be in charge of the Junior Civic League and their chairman, Mrs. H. C. Gerrer. An interesting program has been arranged, which will include songs and recitations suggestive of bird life and sevens, charming dance numbers by the younger members of Miss Margaret Wight's dancing class. This will be one of the open meetings of the department to which the public and especially club members are invited. These Juniors have given some of the most delightful programs of the Welfare Department and this occasion promises to be the equal of any given heretofore.

The meeting will be opened by Mrs. W. E. Watson, chairman of the Department at 3 o'clock to dispose of any business that may come before the meeting, after which the president of the Juniors, Julia Laing will preside and present her annual address. In connection with this meeting there will be a "shower of goodies" for the Orphanage at Enterprise. Club members are earnestly requested to cooperate with the children and contribute liberally for the Thanksgiving box which will be sent over on Thursday morning.

Eastern Star Memorial Service

Seldom has there been a more beautiful and impressive memorial service than that which was held on Sunday afternoon at the Masonic hall by Seminoles Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star, in memory of their members whose death occurred within the year. The lodge room was appropriately decorated with white chrysanthemums and potted ferns suggestive of the sweetly solemn service of the day. A simple dignity characterized the work of the various officers, their white robes blending in harmony with the simple decorations, beneath the soft glow of the shrouded lights, four of which were in red, signifying the four deceased members. Rev. A. H. Cole delivered the memorial address, taking the place of Rev. F. E. Steinmeyer, whose illness prevented his attendance.

The music was inexpressibly sweet and tender that was rendered by Mrs. Geo. Hoy, Mrs. F. E. Steinmeyer and Mrs. Claude Herndon, with Mrs. Frank Adams presiding at the piano and Miss Jean-Etta Sheldon accompanying on the violin. "Nearer my God to Thee" was softly played throughout the ritualistic work of the order which was exemplified in fine form by the officers. A sympathetic hush fell upon the audience as the roll of the dead was called. These were Bro. Padgett, the First Worthy Patron of Seminoles Chapter; Mrs. May Shelton, member of Seminoles Chapter; Bro. A. Mills and Geo. R. Smith, state officers of the Grand Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star. Two ceremonies particularly interesting and beautiful were the placing of the emblems of obedience and law upon the altar, the gavel signifying obedience, the Bible and ritual, the laws of God and man and releasing the white dove of peace. Solemn and sweet was this ceremony, the dove winging its flight upward, signifying peace to the soul in its flight to the heavenly realms. The memorial address of Rev. Cole was a tribute of praise and eulogy to the departed members. The beautiful program of music included "Sweet Hour of Prayer," "Is My Name Written There," and "Only a Little While" by the trio. Following the flight of the dove Mrs. Geo. Hoy sang "Face to Face," after which the benediction was pronounced and the officers filed out. These were Mrs. Bertha Jenkins, Worthy Matron; Mrs. Loretta Brotherson, Associate Matron; Secretary, Mrs. E. K. Cox; Conductor, Mrs. R. L. Griffin; Associate Conductress, Mrs.

WHY THE BRONCHO JUMPED

Pony's Remarkable Performance Had Four Times in Night Saved Its Rider From Death.

A former herdsman relates a thrilling personal experience connected with a stampede of cattle. He was taking a herd of 400 steers to Leadville, and had camped for the night on Bear river, near its junction with the Little Snake. At midnight, when he went on guard, all was quiet, but in an hour or so, for some unexplained reason, the cattle were up and off like a flash; something had stampeded them.

He was riding an old blue-colored, line-backed California broncho, just the beast for the work. He had often ridden him a hundred miles a day. The night was dark and cloudy, and he had to rely on the animal's surefootedness as he strove to stay on the flanks of the steers and turn them until their scare should cease.

It was a wild race. Four or five times the broncho gave tremendous jumps, but landed right and went on in good shape. In the course of an hour or so the man had the heaves quieted.

When daylight came, being curious to learn what obstacles had occasioned those tremendous jumps of the broncho, the man set forth to look over the ground. Leaving the bottom land, the steers had ascended a gentle incline, and on the plateau at the top he had kept circling them.

The plateau was intersected by a canyon about four miles long and from 1,500 to 2,000 deep. Its walls inclined toward each other at the top, and the distance across was 15 or 20 feet.

During the chase the broncho had jumped that frightful chasm four times! His hoof-marks were plainly visible; and down in the debris, hundreds of feet below, were a dozen mangled steers that had been crowded off.

After They Got Going.

Hilda Jensen rushed up to Officer Cohen. "Officer, that man is following me!" "Faith, then I'll folley th' man an' see why he's folleyin' ye!" spoke Officer Cohen, who had been a member of the force for some time.

A crowd of small boys, seeing a policeman following a man, started in pursuit and followed the policeman. At that a crowd of men, seeing a crowd of boys, followed the crowd of boys.

The rest of the city, observing all these people following one another, took the procession for a parade and soon had the sidewalks roped off and themselves lined in dense banks behind the rope to enjoy the spectacle.

The board of education hearing of a parade, declared a holiday and thousands of children ran trooping out of the schools. Catching the infection, banks closed and general jubilation reigned.

When Officer Cohen caught up to the strange follower of Hilda Jensen, it developed that he had only been endeavoring to return her handkerchief, which she had dropped, but by that time it had once again been demonstrated that all an idea needs in this dear old country of ours is a good start.—Puck.

Did Not Look the Part.

The czar of Russia was recently visiting a field hospital, and, as is frequently the case, he had donned muffle, with a view to rendering himself less noticeable.

Stopping by a wounded soldier who was being attended to by the doctors, he gazed at him pityingly. One of the orderlies, seeing his majesty was interested in the man, thereupon asked the latter how he felt.

"Badly enough," replied the soldier. "But it is not my hurt I mind so much. It is rather that I was caught by this cursed bit of shell just half an hour before the emperor was due to pass our way, and I have always wanted to see him."

"Well," said the orderly, "why, then, do you not look at him now, my son? He is there by your side."

"Don't tell me lies!" cried the wounded man angrily, "eying the plainly-dressed and mud-stained Nicholas with a glance of profound contempt. "As if I did not know that emperors are not made like that!"

Sharks Scare Crabs Away.

The sharks have chased the succulent crab from their habitat and caused a scarcity of crustaceans. In other words they have "crabbed the game." For the first time since 1874 the crab seems to have quit its habitat along the coast, a New York correspondent of the Pittsburgh Dispatch writes. Crab fishermen who in former years made goodly profits selling their catches by the basketful, now find it a day's work to catch enough crabs to feed their own families. Actor colonels have found it necessary to substitute clam bakes for crab suppers, and, in a manner of speaking, that isn't a calamity because beer goes best with clams, while crabs require a champagne fluctuation. Anyhow, if the waiter hands you a bill for $1.50 for the cold boiled Brachyurus crustacean, or blue crab of American waters, don't commence to holler until he tells you that crabs are good at any price, and the sharks eat $1.50 worth at one gulp.

SAVED WIFE PAIN

SOLDIER'S TENDER CONSIDERATION OF LIFE PARTNER.

Facing Death Every Hour, He Had Sufficient Forethought to Make Preparations That Would Spare Her Shock.

The surgeon of the battalion, a broad-shouldered, gray-haired man, stood at the operating table, apparently tired and ready to drop, waiting for the next patient. His assistant noticed the chief's condition and called to a hospital attendant to bring a comfortable armchair, into which the weary surgeon sank.

"How many have we operated on this morning?" the chief asked of his assistant.

"Forty-two, and I am afraid at least a dozen of them will die, and another dozen will remain cripples," replied the assistant.

"I have lost confidence in God and myself," muttered the chief. "I cannot understand why these stupid fools try to kill each other. You ask me to rest; are you mad? Rest, indeed, to see these poor men bleed to death," and he jumped from his chair, ready to operate on another of the war's victims.

A soldier entered and addressed the chief surgeon, tears streaming down his face:

"Pardon, doctor, I have brought the captain, my master; save him if you can."

The captain was placed on the operating table. Little to be done here; part of a grenade had cut open the abdomen.

"Little to be done here," repeated the surgeon aloud.

"The wounded captain heard the verdict.

"You can't save me!" asked the wounded officer.

"Why not?" replied the surgeon. "I will do my best."

"Will you do me a favor, doctor, if the operation should not be successful? I have written some letters beforehand, they are in my servant's possession. I want you to mail one every four days. In the event that I should die, continue to send the letters; say nothing to indicate that I am dead. My wife expects to become a mother within three weeks' time. You will understand."

The doctor nodded his head.

The operation was performed, the captain removed and put into a hospital bed.

Two more hours at the operating table and the surgeon's strength was exhausted. He was relieved and went to sleep for a few hours. Awakening he thought of the captain and the letters and went to see how the patient was doing. He found him still alive.

The letters were handed to the surgeon by the captain's servant and he mailed them at intervals as he had promised, and received the replies from the captain's wife, for many days after the wounded captain had sunk into the peaceful slumbers of death.

In the last letter the countess wrote that the little boy was now ten days old. The surgeon resented and returned the letter with the superscription: "Died on the field of honor."—Fr. W. von Oosteren in Ueber Land and Meer.

Helping the Midget.

Mickey O'Doolan was a noble-minded lad, full of sympathy for the poor, always ready to succor the oppressed, keen to right the wrongs of the world. One day, passing a stonemason's yard he saw two men sawing through a huge block of stone with one of those large, double-handled saws. One of them was six-foot-two, the other a little chap of four-foot-one.

Leaning against the wall, Mickey watched them awaying back and forth for a few minutes; then he rushed forward and dealt the tall man a blow on the side of the head, knocking him senseless.

"Now," he exclaimed, as he stood over the prostrate form, "now will yez let the little chap have it, yez dirty, hulking bully!"—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

Photographs Eruption on Sun.

Astronomer Evershed at Svingar, Kashmir, has photographed an eruptive prominence of exceptional altitude on the disk of the sun. The photographs were obtained at intervals from near the beginning of the outburst until the final fragments had risen to a height of a little more than a semidiameter from the sun's limb. The velocity away from the sun was 190 kilometers per second and faint extensions could be traced at 18 minutes from the limb, representing a height of close upon a half million miles. Astronomers say this would appear to be the highest prominence which has yet been recorded as appearing on the surface of the sun.

A Man of Letters.

"Nearly everybody has some distinguishing designation that permits him to attach a series of letters to his name." "Yes," replied Farmer Cornstossel. "I must say I approve of it. I never got any regular degree, but it's a heap of satisfaction to me to see 'R. F. D.' on the mail sent to my address."

REPORT REVEALS GERMAN WEAKNESS

British Capture Document Prepared by Teutonic Corps Commander.

INFERIOR ON THE SOMME

Von Arnim Admits British Superiority in Air and Artillery—Short of Everything but Food—Draws Lessons From Battle.

War Correspondents' Headquarters in France.—Germany is short of guns, aeroplanes and war material of all sorts, but not of food, according to a most sensationally interesting document the British have captured, which is called "the experience of the Fourth German Corps in the Battle of the Somme."

The document was written as instructions to the troops. It was drawn from the lessons of the battle by Gen. Count Sixt von Arnim, the corps commander, who has been fighting opposite the British throughout the offensive. This long detailed revelation of the inner thoughts of the German staff discusses the methods and shortcomings of every branch of the German army in view of the unexpected power and organization the British have shown.

The document starts out by paying a tribute to the British infantry, "which undoubtedly has learned much since last autumn's offensive. It shows great dash in attack. The Englishman also has physique and training in his favor. One must acknowledge the skill of the English in rapidly consolidating captured positions and their great tenacity in the defense of them."

British Artillery Very Effective. Explicit instructions are given in the document to the artillery to change their methods of placing batteries in villages and behind steep slopes, because of the British method of distribution of their artillery fire, which prodigally searches all obvious shelters. Owing to the terrific concentration of the British artillery fire, says the document, front lines of trenches should be thinly held and dependence placed on small groups of machine gunners. Once the British lay a curtain of fire on a trench, it adds, the men no longer evacuate it and lay down in the open.

Most interesting to the officers, in view of the fact that the British have so consistently held ground they have taken against counter-attacks, is what Gen. von Arnim says on the subject.

"If the counter-attacks, which on account of the situation ought to be methodically prepared, are hurried, they cost much blood, because the troops lose their trust in the leaders if they fail, which nearly always happens," says Gen. von Arnim.

He then complains that the "existing telephone system has proved totally inadequate in consequence of the development of the fighting," and says the artillery signal system broke down. The commander asserts that he has discovered that British aeroplanes use sound signals to tell gunners where their shells are falling, and says the Fourth corps already has started an experiment on the same kind of method as a complement to the wireless, which is frequently interrupted.

Superiority of British Airmen.

"The numerical superiority of the British airmen and the fact that their machines were better made are disagreeably apparent to us," Gen. von Arnim says, and he speaks of the "surprisingly bold procedure of British airmen, who were often 'able to fire successfully on our troops with machine guns by descending to within a few hundred feet of the ground.'" He adds that the German antiaircraft guns could not continue firing at that height "without exposing their own troops to the serious danger of shell fragments." Before the battle of the Somme airmen kept at anywhere from 6,000 to 12,000 feet over the lines on account of antiaircraft gunfire.

Gen. von Arnim in the document warns his infantry to use their rifles against the daring British aviators. He says that the ammunition supply and the artillery are inadequate, and that maps were insufficient in quantity and bad as regard details. Also the supply of horses has reached the utmost limit. Of the food supply Gen. von Arnim says: "No special difficulties arose. The supply columns prove sufficient."

COUSINS WED BY TELEPHONE

Missouri Man Sidesteps the Law in Marriage to Girl in Alabama.

Fulton, Mo.—It became known that the Rev. Z. T. McCann, pastor of the Memorial Methodist church, St. Louis, was married to Miss Carrie McCann of Oxford, Ala., by long distance telephone. The bride is his first cousin. She was at her home in Alabama and he was in St. Louis when the ceremony was performed.

The marriage of first cousins is forbidden in Missouri, but there is no Alabama law against it. Lawyers assured McCann that a telephone marriage would be legal.

NOTES of SPORTDOM

Washington in 11 tries managed to win one game in Detroit this year.

No one ever is really so important as a football coach seems to be in autumn.

Rutgers has a new drop-kicker, Law, a Brooklyn boy, who has made a big hit with Coach Foster Stanford.

The winter league has been officially opened, but the league does not get into full swing until near the holidays.

Certain box-fight promoters oughta qualify for blue ribbons at the horse shows. They're rather spirited chargers, y'know.

The price of cheese is advancing. Which may or may not be the reason fight promoters are not watching heavyweights these days.

Mike Gibbons, the St. Paul phantom, can't see his way clear to performing in New York for the mazuma offered by the Gotham promoters.

Ad Wolgast lost the decision to an unknown in a four-round bout the other night. Maybe it was Willie Little disguised as a wop.

Kid Williams, bantamweight champion of the world, outclassed Benny Kaufman, Philadelphia bantamweight, in six rounds at Philadelphia.

As long as Coach Crowell has Weldon at Lafayette it will be mighty hard for opposing teams to break up the maroon and white's forward passes.

According to ringside reports, Freddie Welsh continues to take a beating in every bout as well as winning the decision and retaining the lightweight crown.

The William college football team was riddled of stars through graduation last spring. The team lost Plante, Garfield, Brown, Overton, Tompkins and Wright.

As an evidence of the size of the great growth of the Grand American handicap it might be noted 227,253 targets were thrown in the recent tournament.

Hellum in Mount Vesuvius.

Hellum, the "sun metal," thus named because it was found in the sun by spectroscopic observation, before it was known to exist on the earth, appears to exist in perceptible quantities in a number of minerals exuded from Vesuvius, and also in the air about Naples.

INTERNATIONAL TRUCK IN ACTION

Seminole County Convicts are Handled in Economical and Comfortable Manner

The picture above was snapped of the International Motor Truck recently purchased by the board of county commissioners of Seminole county. The truck is of the type made to fit the special requirements of the various counties as a method of transporting the labor on the roads and quick transportation is the keynote of the success of the International Truck and since the installation of the truck for the county convicts the county has saved greatly in time. It has been estimated that the cost of transportation is about the same as formerly when they were hauled in wagons and mule teams but the great saving is in time, the motor truck taking the men from the permanent camp on Mellonville avenue to their field of labor in other parts of the county in record time and bringing them home at night, giving them double the time to work. The truck has also saved time and money by eliminating the different camps that heretofore were established wherever the gang was working and the mule team transportation being too slow to take them and get them back from points in the county far removed from the county camp near this city. With the International Harvester truck the county gang can be moved to many points far distant and with no loss of time placed on the job and taken back to the home at night, where they cannot only get better lodging and food but be under the protection of the regular county prison farm and safeguards. The truck in operation here is an innovation and has not been in use long enough to get the actual figures under all conditions, but for the first thirty days has demonstrated its worth and economy. The ease with which it is handled makes it practical for the county superintendent of convicts and his men to handle, and all of them are satisfied that the International has solved the question for the county road work. With a capacity of 2,000 pounds, well constructed to stand all tests, with plenty of power and the ability to go anywhere and everywhere the International Truck can be recommended for any public work of this character and an inspection of the Seminole county truck in action will convince any county board that the International is all and more than the builders claim for it.

The B. & O. Motor Co. are the agents for the International here and Mr. James Stewart, the manager will take pleasure in demonstrating the truck to any one who is interested or they can see the county truck at the county farm or in operation on the various roads of the county.
