Magnetic Marguerite Clark
Marguerite Clark in "The Valentine Girl" at the Star tonight.

Imagine a little girl who has never seen her father—at least since babyhood—coming to his home at last only to find him so deeply engrossed in a gambling game with some confederates that no attention is paid to the little figure waiting by the door. This is the situation faced by Marguerite Clark in the role of Marian Morgan in "The Valentine Girl," a Paramount Picture produced by Famous Players and showing at the Star tonight. Which of you gentlemen is my father? at length comes from the patient little girl! Stunned, all the men rise to their feet but no one answers. Then: "Which one of us would you like to be your father?" replies one, an elderly man with a more kindly face than the others. For her reply, and the unexpected developments which follow see "The Valentine Girl" tonight at the Star. Matinee 5 and 10 cents, Evening 5 and 15 cents.

A number of the outdoor scenes in "Forget-Me-Not" were filmed in Cuba and are notable for their beauty. "We had considerable difficulty in securing the proper locations for the outdoor scenes," said Emile Chautard, who directed the picture, but when we finally did secure what we wanted, we found they were really ideal for the purpose." Lyric Tonight.

Did You Ever Want to Be a Pirate?

Nearly everybody, sometime or other has wanted to be a pirate. Gladys Hulette, the charming little star of the Thanhouser Company and Agnes C. Johnson, the scenario writer are two of those who have. Miss Johnston has written for Miss Hulette a story called "Prudence the Pirate." It has been produced under the direction of William Parke and is to be shown at the Lyric Theatre here.

You remember that delightful Pathe Gold Rooster play, "The Shine Girl." Here is the same combination that made "The Shine Girl" a hit.

Gladys Hulette is the star, William Parke is the director and Agnes C. Johnston is the author. In addition to this, the cast supporting Miss Hulette includes Flora Finch, well remembered for her work with the late John Bunny—Rildy Chamberlain and Barnett Parker.

Prudence, full of fun and fresh from boarding school is inspired by the wild yarns spun by Meeks, the butler, of his life on the ocean wave. With the aid of her summer's spending money, she secretly rents a racy schooner—rechristens it "The Bucket of Blood," recruits a motley crew of tramps and hoists the black flag. Her many adventures and the near tragedy resulting from the lark in a thrilling story mingled with a delightful sense of comedy.

A dash of Treasure Island, mixed with equal parts love and romantic adventure combine to make this Pathe Gold Rooster play produced by Thanhouser, an exceptional five reeler. Lyric Tuesday.

Marguerite Clark at Star Tonight

Since her production of "Miss George Washington" for the Famous Players, Marguerite Clark has come to the conclusion that the whole truth and nothing but the truth is entirely advisable under any conditions. She wove a web of fibs in "Miss George Washington" from which she was able to extricate herself with the greatest difficulty—and in her newest picture "The Valentine Girl" she nearly loses her fiancé through the same trouble. Come to the Star tonight and see how she keeps him.

Matinee 5 and 10c, Evening 5 and 15c.

"I remember seeing 'Forget-Me-Not' when it was played on the stage by Rose Coghlan," said Kitty Gordon, when told this drama was to be the vehicle in which she would be first seen under her new contract with the World Film. It was a very thrilling drama and I know that with the added possibilities of the screen, it will be much more thrilling as a motion picture."

"I play a number of characters in 'Forget-Me-Not' and I thoroughly enjoyed stepping from one role to another," said Mortimer Love, who is the feature player with Kitty Gordon, in this new World production. Lyric Tonight.

"The Girl at Home"

Vivian Martin and Jack Pickford in "The Girl at Home" at the Star Monday.

Vivian Martin, the dainty little actress who made such a pronounced success in "The Wax Model," and "The Spirit of Romance" will be seen at the Star on Monday, supported by Jack Pickford in the Las-

Paramount production of "The Girl at Home."

Vivian Martin, by her wonderful dramatic ability has established herself as one of the most popular photo-dramatic stars. Jack Pickford, brother of the wonderful Mary is also a star and scored a great hit in "The Dummy." In their present production, they are both given an opportunity to show their splendid dramatic training.

"The Girl at Home" is a typical boy and girl story. It reminds the older persons in the audience of experiences in their own youthful career and it brings surprising revelations to many of the younger generation. No two stars in the country are better equipped to appear in photo dramas of this nature than the young couple whose names are seen at the head of the program. The story of "The Girl at Home" has to do with Jean Hilton, the wealthy ward of Squire Padgate who lives with the mother of Jimmie Dexter. The boy and girl are in love and Jimmie is preparing for college when his mother learns that her small in come is wiped out. Jean is permitted to defray Jimmie's expenses without his knowledge.

Lyric Thursday

A scientific dream reincarnated in "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea."

If by any chance that master scientist, Jules Verne, could return could return to earth and behold the reincarnation of his dream in the most amazing film of the age, "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea," and if he could know that within the last decade his visions of under sea craft had materialized into a powerful and subtle weapon, he would exclaim, "Oh, for ten more years on earth that I might live in the midst of the generation I was dreaming of half a century ago!"

The world is indebted to the film art for visualizing the dreams of the French scientist long since dead, for the picture shows with minute and faithful accuracy the details of that amazing story that has thrilled thousands. Little did the eager readers of this story dream that such a vessel as the Nautilus was possible, nor did they comprehend the significance of that wonderful venture on the sea bottom. But when Jules Verne wrote his story it was not a mere web of the imagination; he was a scientist, he followed every scrap of information regarding under sea life. He traced the sponge from the bathroom back to the bottom of the sea, and followed the ship from the surface of the waters, down to where it sank after a wreck, and figured out how it must look after decades or centuries. He listened to sailors' yarns of reefs and octopi reduced to reality, made scientific calculations about ships being able to sink below the surface and ascend by aid of the same science that made it possible for thousands of tons of steel to swim on the surface—and after he collected all the marvels and yarns and information and calculations, he wove them into a story, the scenes for which laid over a stretch of territory measuring twenty thousand leagues.

And now the story has found expression in the most remarkable picturization of the age—the thrilling and stupendous production—"Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea" which comes to the Lyric Theatre Thursday.

"The Barricade"

In "The Barricade," the Metro wonderplay which will be seen at the Star Theatre on Tuesday, Mabel Taliaferro, for the first time in her life will be seen in the part of a girl whose one idea is revenge.

Heretofore Miss Taliaferro has played sweet, ingenious roles such as Frue in "The Sunbeam." Previous to her motion picture work, Miss Taliaferro was admired by thousands in "Polly of the Circus," "Springtime" and similar sympathetic roles. But being an actress of great versatility, she welcomes the opportunity to play Hope Merrill in "The Barricade," the girl who deliberately goes to work to ruin the fortunes of her husband, a Wall Street millionaire, in the mistaken belief that she has driven her father to the wall.

With singleness of purpose Hope plants every mote in her campaign and thus puts her scheme into execution. Knowing that Cook is already much interested in her, she leads him on by every feminine wile until he proposes marriage, and then accepts him. After the wedding, she tells him she does not love him. From that moment she informs herself in regard to his interests, with the sole purpose of blocking him in Wall Street and crushing him, which she does with the aid of a business rival. Her triumph complete, she learns the truth and realizes his nobility of character.

"No, I haven't counted up the number of gorgeous gowns I wear i-

"Forget-Me-Not," said Kitty Gordon at the studio one day in response to a question, "but I know that it is a large number. The gowns, I think, are the most elaborate I have ever worn on the stage or in motion pictures." Lyric Tonight.

Flora Finch Returns

Flora Finch, well remembered for her work with the late John Bunny, returns to the screen in "Prudence, the Pirate," a Pathe Gold Rooster play produced by Thanhouser, featuring Gladys Hulette, which will be shown at the Lyric Theatre on Tuesday.

COUNTY HAPPENINGS

A BUNCH OF INTERESTING ITEMS FROM CORRESPONDENTS—EVENTS OF SEMINOLE COUNTY—EFFICIENT REPORTERS FOR THE HERALD

EAST SANFORD
Dr. Bouehelle, Mrs. Wight's father was an all day guest Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Morris.

Mrs. William Walter and Mrs. C. C. Morris left on Monday for a week's stay at Ingram's Landing on Lake Okechobee.

Mr. and Mrs. Lowell of Waterbury, Conn., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Martin at their Lake Gold home.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Tyler are remaining in Jacksonville another week for the automobile show.

B. A. Howard, T. W. Bryden and H. S. Ismon left on Tuesday for a sight seeing trip to Lake Okechobee by train and boat.

Mrs. Futch and five children and Mrs. Futch's brother of Cameron city are all ill at once with the measles. Ruth Grier has also been sick with measles.

G. W. Spencer has bought the land and house known as the G. W. Kinnehan 10 acre improved place.

Richard Hickson has bought the Sammis brother's farm and house on Celery avenue recently vacated by Robert Thrasher.

Dave and Jack Hickson have bought the farm and house known as the Woodcock place.

Mr. Raulerson has bought the J. O. Mitchell house and 3 acres.

J. F. Hickson and J. F. McClellan have bought 60 fine Dufoe Jersey hogs of F. F. Dutton and moved them to their place in Geneva, the old Prevatt farm purchased by them last year.

J. O. Mitchell and family have moved to the house at Geneva ferry.

UPSALA AND GRAPEVILLE
Mrs. J. E. Lundquist, who has been rather poorly of late called at the home of her daughter Friday afternoon.

T. J. Tyner took a short trip to Lakeland and Tampa, going on Saturday and returning the next day on a visit to his brother and relatives.

Walfred and Carl Pierson took Mr. and Mrs. Hodgins and their little daughter, Alice, for a ride around Sanford and vicinity, out as far as Geneva bridge, also to call on Mr. and Mrs. Norman Swanson last Sunday.

T. J. Miller is putting part of his place here in good shape for corn. These who have planted Irish potatoes are well pleased with the yield of them.

Rain is badly needed and we trust we shall soon have it.

Little Alice Hodgins, Gilbert Ericson and Woodard Bertelson have the measles now.

Johnnie Robinson, wife and baby, who have been living on his brother, Will's place for awhile have removed this week to Mr. Gillfillan's tenant house here.

Next Sunday is Parents' Day in the Presbyterian Sunday school. Let us honor both by attending and wearing two white flowers. Both are responsible for the upbringing of their children and should share in our love and respect.

Elmer Bergquist, who has been employed for some time at the Capt. Rantoul place left Wednesday for a short visit to his parents at Ft. Meade, after which he expects to obtain work in Illinois. We are sorry to have him leave and wish him success, wherever he goes. He is a faithful boy and has been a regular attendant at our church services.

We notice a number of the boys busy with their hoes, trying to help solve the food problem. The man or boy with the plow or hoe is needed just now as well as the man behind the gun.

The boy or girl who can whistle and hoe when he longs for a plunge in the lake or a bank and a shady nook can be a hero, as well as they who shoulder the gun for our country's defense. The loafers will not be found in either camp. Would it not be a good idea to stick a small flag in the top of the hoe handle as well as on the plow and then keep it moving. Loafers on the streets in Atlanta are put to work or made to enlist. Let the marshal in Sanford take notice and clear our streets.

CANNING CLUB NOTES

County Agent Gives Saliest Facts For People of Seminole

There has been such an enormous call for Government Bulletins along food lines of late that it is impossible to secure an adequate supply at the present time. However, through the patriotic generosity of The Herald I am enabled to reach the people of Seminole county at least twice a week with timely recipes for canning and preserving foods and other messages from the federal and state departments under which I am working relative to Food Production and Conservation. Do not destroy these copies of The Herald but pass them on to others when you have finished with them.

I am making up my fourth club order for Home Canning Outfits at $5.75 each. Send me your check if you wish one of these outfits. I will also have a supply of cans from this time on for distribution at factory cost price, which is at present 4c each for 2 lb cans and 5c each for 3 lb cans, through the patriotic cooperation of the Sanford banks and board of county commissioners, who have advanced the money to buy these cans in sufficient quantity to secure the lowest prices.

C. M. Berry, County Agent.

Recipe for Canning Beets

From Farmers' Bulletin No. 359— "It is very desirable to can beets while they are young and tender, as the mature beet is apt to be stringy and lacking in flavor. Wash the young beets, cut off the tops, and put them in boiling water for about an hour and a half, or until they are thoroughly cooked. Take of the skins, cut in thin slices and pack into jars. Cover with water and sterilize in the manner previously described. If a mild pickle is desired, make a mixture of equal parts of water and good vinegar, sweeten to taste and cover the beets with this mixture instead of water." "There is no reason why young tender beets should not be canned whole. Follow directions for canning given for canning beans and corn quoted from this same bulletin, given in the Sanford Herald of April 20th. These directions should also be followed in the recipe for canning squash given below.

Recipe for Canning Summer Squash
Cut the vegetable into small blocks, pack in the jars and cover with water. Add a teaspoonful salt to each quart and sterilize. It is sometimes preferable with this vegetable, however, to pare off the skin, boil or steam until thoroughly done, mash them and then pack in the jars and sterilize. If canned in the latter way it is advisable to steam them for an hour and a half, instead of for an hour, on each of three days, as the heat penetrates the jar very slowly. It is absolutely necessary that the interior of the jar should reach the temperature of boiling water. A jar will usually hold about twice as much of the cooked vegetable as it will of the uncooked."

Housekeepers wishing to preserve eggs should refer to the Sanford Herald of April 20th in which directions quoted from a government bulletin are given. Circular letter No. 5 sent out by the State Poultry club agent additionally recommends that wherever possible infertile eggs should be used. C. M. Berry, County Agent.

Americans Saved

Liverpool, England, May 2.—The fate of Captain Harris, five gunners and the third mate and boatswain of the American tank steamship Vacuum, all of whom have been given up for lost, was made known by the captain himself in a telegram received here today by the American consul, H. L. Washington. The telegram reduces the loss of life to 23, about 13 being Americans. It increases to 3 the number of gunners saved. It also places the loss from the crew at 18 and the saved at 13. The captain's meager telegram gave the first definite news of the loss of Lieut. Thomas, United States navy and the death from exposure of F. H. Lorce, but did not tell how the survivors reached land. Five gunners arrived safely with Captain Harris. They were James O. Williams, John Williams, George W. Parker, O. H. Luke and H. J. Musshorn. The others in the captain's boat who were landed were E. Husted and O. Nelson. Captain Harris will arrange for the burial of Lorce and then will proceed to join the survivors who already have reached Liverpool. The Americans who were rescued appeared before the United States consul today and made affidavits.

Fireweed's Good Work.

Fireweed, otherwise known as the "great willow-herb," seems to have been created as an antidote for one of the ugliest sights a landscape may offer—buried-over ground. The fireweed is a genuine cosmopolitan, for it sends its consoling shaft above the ashes of burnt forests not only throughout America but in Europe and Asia.

Canvas Tubing.

More or less inconvenience always has accompanied the use of the tin duct, in supplying ventilation to miners and other underground workers. Because of these facts, a manufacturer of canvas bags has set about making canvas tubing, which is made with favor where it has been tested. The canvas tube is easily mended, when punctured, and is also easily moved.

Garden Crops to Plant

With a realization that food is scarce and garden crops are to bring high prices, many Florida persons are taking note of the fact that they have room in their back yards or vacant lots to raise a crop of summer vegetables.

Pole beans, Lima—of these the small kinds should be planted; running varieties are to be preferred to the bunch type as they bear longer, though the bunch varieties may be successfully grown.

The blackeye cowpea is particularly valuable. This variety is often known as the California black-eyed pea. It is white except for the eye and is, therefore more attractive on the table than are the colored varieties. It may be planted through May and June.

Okra is a warm weather plant and, if properly cared for will continue to fruit all summer.

The small pie pumpkin is fairly well suited to Florida and will grow well during the warm weather.

It is rather late in the season for starting tomatoes, eggplant and peppers from seed, but plants may be secured and planted at this time.

Peanuts and sweet potatoes, while not usually considered garden crops, may well be given a place in the garden if there is room for them. They will prove valuable food producers.

For Tampa and southward, it would be well to plant pole and bush beans from the foregoing list. It is also nearly too late to plant plant tomatoes, eggplant and peppers. The other crops named could be grown successfully.

Keeping Down Meat Costs

With the price of meat upward bound, it might seem poor economy to include it in the daily menu of the average family. But careful planning, using of poorer cuts, and cooking properly will enable the average family to afford meat more frequently than if the best cuts were purchased, says Miss Agnes Ellen Harris of the University of Florida extension division.

The poorer cuts—the round, neck, shoulder clod and brisket—contain as much nourishment as the sirloin, but they cannot be cooked in a short time nor in a haphazard way. The fibers are tougher and must be broken down either by artificial means or by continued heat. Here the fireless cooker works wonders. The meat may be pot roasted, made into a stew with vegetables, cooked in a casserole, pounded with flour and cooked slowly sealed and made into meat balls or loaf. Always these cheaper cuts of meat are best when cooked at a temperature below boiling—just simmering.

A small amount of meat, may be combined with other foods and so furnish a whole meal. The time-honored Irish stew, New England boiled dinner and Hungarian goulash are combinations of meat and vegetables which will form a whole meal and a well-balanced ration. The meat flavor is demanded by the American people as a whole, which makes it difficult to serve an entirely meatless meal in a satisfactory manner.

Often the water from the table will offset the economy used in the purchase of meat. The tiniest scraps may be used. If a small portion of meat is left it may be used in hash, or be creamed with vegetables and served on toast, or be made into a meat pie with either pastry or potato crust.

Care must be taken in the combination of meats and vegetables that they appeal to the sight and tickle the palate. Ham may be combined with cabbage, turnips or other strong vegetables while beef is better with potatoes, rice, grits, macaroni, onions and celery. Fish should be used with rice, potatoes, cucumbers and peas. Mutton and lamb go well with potatoes, peas or string beans. The individual taste will suggest other pleasing combinations that will go a long way in keeping down the high cost of meats in the diet.

Can Store Peas and Beans

Farm families that would like to make liberal plantings of peas and beans and then store the dried seed for future purposes, should go right ahead and make the plantings before it is too late. The weevils can be killed easily and cheaply by the use of carbon bisulphide, says the University of Florida extension division.

The planting of peas and beans will not be a profitable proposition in Florida's program of fooding herself this year and the next. The crops will yield well and the seed can be kept after harvest for food. The one precaution necessary to be taken is to kill the weevils in the seeds before storing.

Put the seeds in some air tight container such as a box or a barrel. Put water in the barrel at the rate of two or three pounds to the bushel and equal parts of space occupied by the seed. Pour the material into an open dish placed on top of the seed. This material will evaporate and the fumes, being heavier than air will sink and penetrate the seed. If the container is not tight, more of the carbon bisulphide will need to be allowed for the treatment. Keep the container closed for twenty-four hours and the weevils will all be dead. The gas is exceedingly explosive; allow no fire or light of any kind around the building or container until it has been well aired.

There is some objection to this method of treating seed intended for food as there is likely to be a slight odor remaining after the treatment. If a pure solution is used, this will be reduced to a minimum. In no case will it be injurious to the health.

Use Food Economically

It is up to the housekeepers of Florida to conserve the food supply in the state, says Miss Harriet B. Layton of the University of Florida extension division. This may be done by using less meat daily, by using milk and eggs where they will give the most nourishment, by using two starchy foods at a meal instead of three or more, by exercising daily economy in the kind and quantity of food served to see that there will be no waste, nothing thrown away.

"The war obligations of the women and girls in the home are to conserve and preserve food stuffs," continued Miss Layton. "We must not only feed our own families, but our neighbors and those of our foreign allies. We have a serious and difficult problem before us. We must begin to save food and eliminate food waste now—today."

And how well the women and girls of the state are responding to this call may be seen in the increased activity stated in the reports of the women home demonstration agents.

Putnam county: More interest in canning is shown among people not connected with the canning clubs than ever before. Farmers over the country have called to learn how to can corn, beans, etc.

Calhoun County: About twenty-five children in this county have promised to plant plots of peas to dry. Others will follow their lead.

Walton County: Many of the club girls are planting more than the usual tenth acre. Inquiries are coming in from persons who have not heretofore shown interest in the canning club work; they are asking about cans, canners, and methods of canning. All surplus fruit and vegetables will go into cans this year.

Escambia County: A Pensacola physician has offered a cash prize to the girl growing the most vegetables on her plot, and another to the girl doing the most successful work in drying vegetables.

Plant Sweet Potatoes

Washington, D. C., May 2.—Bigger sweet potato acreage in the southern states was urged today by the agricultural department, which explained that by using vine cuttings from early set plants the cost of planting an acre would be only $4 for sweet potatoes compared with $10 for Irish potatoes. Sweet potatoes, says the statement, are the south's chief instrument for the quick and adequate relief of the food supply. Seed is plentiful; last year's crop is the second largest ever produced. By means of vine cuttings it is possible to plant almost unlimited areas of this crop and at the same time conserve the present supply.

"That is, a farmer who wishes to plant ten acres will need seed enough—say 8 to 10 bushels—to get slips for one acre. Vine cuttings from the acre would plant many more acres, plantings being possible until the first of August in the lower south. This system enables the utilization of land from which early potatoes, cabbage and other truck crops have been taken.

"Sweet potatoes are not expensive to grow. The yield per acre is usually greater than that of Irish potatoes, and as a food they are as nutritious."

Livestock Farming at Chuluota

Long noted for its beautiful hill country and as a producer of the finest citrus fruits, the Chuluota section in Seminole county is becoming a section of diversified farming. In the past visitors to Chuluota have admired its orange and grape fruit groves, its citrus and its numerous beautiful lakes, but from now on they can see such substantial evidence of prosperity as well bred hogs, fine dairy cows and calves, catfish and snails. All this may be noted on the farms of Charles D. Bramley, of Chuluota and of Sidney Harrison who lives in St. Augustine but spends as much time at his Chuluota farm as his business will permit.

Mr. Bramley makes a large credit for the successful management of his farm. He insists that Mrs. Bramley is responsible for the fine lot of livestock that is now on their farm which includes dairy cows, a herd of Jersey and Holstein calves and a lot of pure bred Duroc hogs. Mrs. Bramley arranged with a Florida dairy farm to take all of their calves at a specified price. Up to date she has had 25 calves which are now doing fine on pasture and corn stlage.

Mr. Bramley states that they have raised a quantity of velvet beans with good success under the pine trees, which they have ground and mixed with corn and other stock feed, making an excellent feed for both hogs and cattle. They began raising hogs two years ago and started with the Duroc of the Lincoln and Defender strain. At the present time they have 70 Durocs, mostly sows, on hand and two native sows. They are planting for feed corn, Japanese cane, cassava, dasheens, artichokes, kafir corn and sweet potatoes as well as a pasture of Bermuda grass. Besides this they have ten acres in velvet beans among the pines for the stock and dairy cattle. They are also preparing some ground for Natal hay. The accompanying photographs show some of their healthy looking Durocs and a bunch of the dairy calves, together with the silo which we understand is located on Mr. Harrison's farm adjoining.

Mr. Bramley announces that he has recently sold to western farmers 145 acres of land for diversified farming and that he expects that this land will be placed under cultivation in the fall. Messrs. Harrison and Bramley are strong advocates of diversified farming and from the foregoing it will be seen that they are proving by example with the assistance of Mrs. Bramley, that livestock farming and dairying are well suited to Chuluota and vicinity, as well as raising citrus fruits and vegetables.

Mr. and Mrs. Bramley conduct the handsome and modern Chuluota Inn situated on the shores of Lake Catherine at Chuluota. The Inn is known as one of the most complete and finest little hotels in the interior of Florida. Throughout the Chuluota section is both attractive and healthful and Mr. Bramley insists that it is bound to be a heavy producer of fine beef, pork, dairy and poultry products in the near future, as well as one of the most delightful spots in Florida for a home.—Fla. Prof. Ezell Resigns The many friends here of Prof. Ezell will be sorry to learn that he has decided to resign from the position of principal of the public school here. The following letter is self-explanatory: Mr. R. J. Holly, Editor Sanford Herald, Dear Sir:

Please announce through your columns that I shall not return as superintendent of the school in Sanford, Florida.

For several months I have felt that in all probability I should discontinue my services in the school after the present session, and two months ago I offered my resignation to the board and stated then my reason for so doing.

I shall make no application for re-appointment to the position, and according to previous policy pursued by the board in the appointment of teachers my resignation and the schools will automatically expire.

I shall leave the schools with the kindest interest in their future welfare and success. I appreciate deeply the many courtesies and kindnesses shown me by friends in Sanford during my stay here, and Mrs. Ezell and I regret that circumstances are such as to make it necessary to leave Sanford at the close of the school term.
