County Officials Reviewing Model Traffic Ordinance

By LEE DANCY
Herald Staff Writer

A bicyclist convicted of riding without at least one hand gripping the handlebars could see his or her two-wheeler impounded by police for up to 90 days.

This law and the corresponding penalty is part of a comprehensive model traffic-control ordinance currently under review by the Seminole County Commission and Traffic Engineer Garry Lester.

In 1977, Tipton & Associates Inc., an Orlando-based traffic-control consulting firm, conducted a countywide evaluation of Seminole County's roads and traffic problems. Part of the report included a recommendation for establishing a uniform traffic-control ordinance, Lester said.

The ordinance would help establish a uniform approach to solving traffic control problems throughout the county. Rather than taking each individual traffic problem and approaching it without any specific guidelines, the ordinance would provide set guidelines to use in developing solutions to traffic snarls without necessarily requiring consideration by the County Commission, Lester said.

The ordinance would take the burden of individual decisions off the back of the commission and delegate the responsibility to the traffic engineer.

With this routing of decision-making capacity in mind, the County Commission reviewed the model traffic-control ordinance at a recent work session.

Aspects of bicycle safety incorporated into the ordinance include a stipulation that every person riding one be granted all the rights given the operator of a motor vehicle.

With these rights come responsibilities, however. For example, anyone riding a bicycle on a roadway is expected to travel in the same direction as the traffic flow, as far to the right side of the roadway as possible, according to the model ordinance.

Bicyclists must be on the seat while riding. The seat should be mounted on the centerpost of the bicycle frame to be legal, according to the ordinance.

Also corresponding to that stipulation, no bicycle should carry more people than it is designed to accommodate. A bicycle built for two should carry only that many persons.

Skateboards, rollerskates, go-karts and other similar kinds of transportation must move under the rider's own power or be pushed. "Catching rides" on bicycles or the back of motorized vehicles is illegal, according to the ordinance.

More than two bicycles riding side by side is illegal. Exceptions to this rule can be made only when bicyclists are traveling on a pathway or road exclusively designed for them.

If a bicycle path is provided adjacent to the roadway, riders are expected to travel on the path, not the road.

Bicycle travel after dark requires a headlight. Headlights should have a white bulb and be visible from at least 500 feet. A red light should be mounted on the rear of the bicycle, also visible from at least 500 feet.

Skateboarders, roller skaters and those riding in similar coasting toys like wagons and go-karts are prohibited from being on public roadways. The only exception involves people in such coasters who are trying to cross a street when they deserve the same rights as pedestrians, according to the ordinance.

Children under 15 years old cannot operate a moped on public streets, according to the ordinance.

Adults convicted of violating one of these laws can have their bicycles impounded only for a maximum of 90 days. Juveniles, however, may find their bicycles impounded for whatever

Employment Office May Shut Down

By JANE CASSELLBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

Federal budget cuts may force the closing of the Florida State Employment Service Office in Sanford, according to office manager Tim McCauley.

"The economic ramifications are mind boggling," he said. Although the Sanford office escaped the latest cut, it now faces another hearing in March. Located at 300 S. French Avenue, the office has been in Sanford for more than 20 years.

Since the Casselberry branch was forced to close last September, the Sanford office is the only state employment office in Seminole County.

McCauley said his staff has been slashed from 18 last September to the present 13. Even so, "we're doing the job. This office has placed 2,400 workers in jobs at a cost of only $81 per person and that is really saying something."

Word that 50 of the state's 90 employment offices will have to close down unless the state provides $3 million to make up for federal cutbacks is also causing concern in the Legislature.

Rep. John Lewis, D-Jacksonville, asked the governor to provide the money from the special Employment Security Administration Trust Fund, made up of fines paid by employers for late payment of jobless compensation taxes.

At a time of high prices and increased unemployment, Lewis said, it is absurd to be cutting back services to help keep people working.

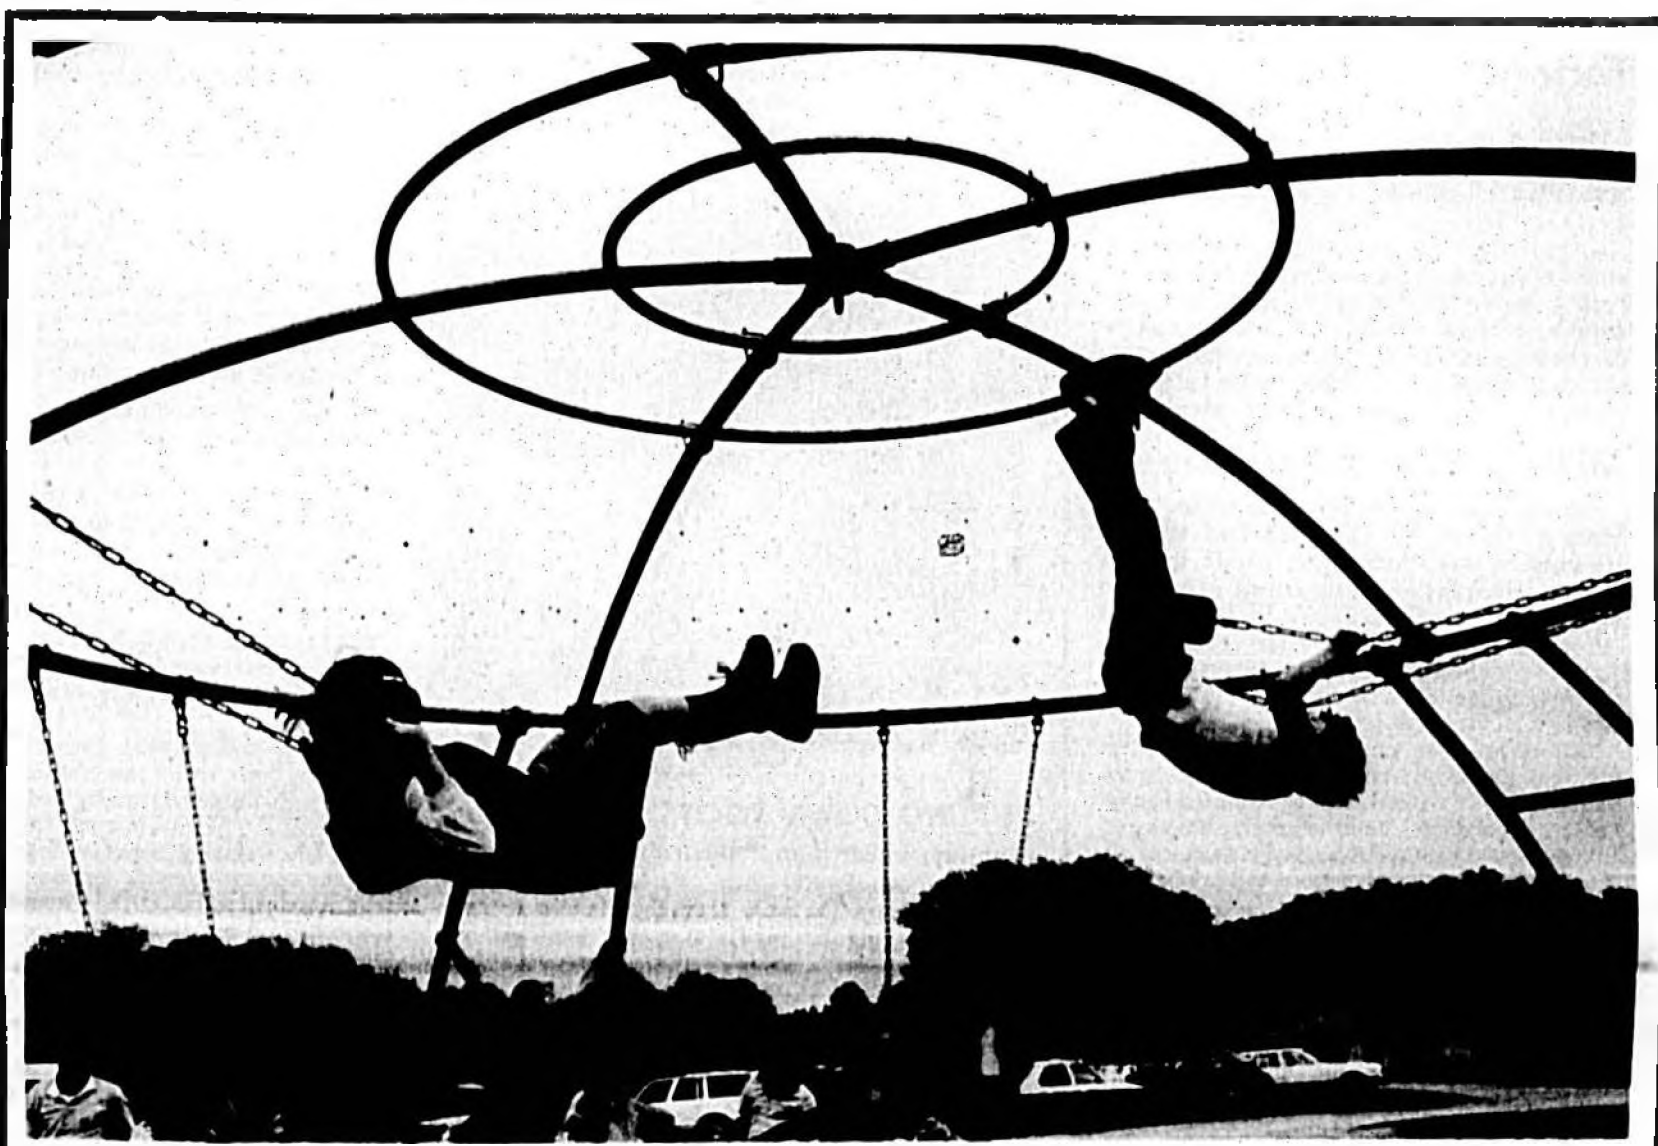

The employment office serves a dual role by finding workers with the proper skills to fill the needs of area employers and by placing applicants in jobs, McCauley said.

"This is an agricultural area and there is no place to go unless they go to private agencies and they don't provide the same services," he added. Should the Sanford office be closed, local job seekers would have to go out of the county to apply at a Florida State Employment Service Office.

Many people in Sanford don't have transportation to get to another office and those that do will be at a disadvantage as the people already in process there will get the jobs first, McCauley said. The offices that remain will be hard pressed to handle the additional load.

"The Florida State Employment Service is federally funded under the U.S. Department of Labor and Employment Security, but the funding comes from taxes paid by employers," McCauley said. "For every tax dollar

Seminole County Ducks Fight With FP&L

Seminole County officially opposes a proposed Florida Power & Light Co. high-voltage power line which will cut through undeveloped land near Geneva. The county commission has heeded advice from its attorney and administrator, however, and has chosen not to get actively involved in determining an alternate location for the line.

During a late night session Tuesday, the commission voted unanimously to align itself with the East Central Florida Regional Planning Council and support running the power line not through Seminole County, but along an already-established corridor bordering Interstate 95 in Brevard County.

In the same motion, however, the board, acting on advice of County Administrator Roger Neiswender, recalled County Attorney Nikki Clayton from Daytona Beach where she was representing Seminole at state hearings on the proposed power line route.

Power company executives, attorneys for various governmental agencies and property owners have been in Daytona hashing out the pros and cons of various routes for the power line since Monday morning.

Although FP&L agreed Friday to re-routing the line passing through Orange, Volusia and Clay counties, a decision is still pending on the future of the route through Seminole and Flagler counties.

The Daytona hearings are expected to continue through next week.

A group of concerned property owners in the Geneva area known as Owners of Seminole is fighting the proposed route out of fear the high-voltage cable will depress their property values and become an eyesore.

The group has hired Sanford attorney Thomas A. Speer to do what many counties have designated their own lawyers to do — get that power line out of their county.

The Volusia County Commission, for example, recently appropriated $10,000 to fight FP&L on the proposed route, according to Owners of Seminole president Margaret Cannuck.

Seminole County, on the other hand, sees the fight as essentially the responsibility of affected property owners, according to Mrs. Clayton.

In order for the alternates to become the actual route, Chris Bentley, the state hearing examiner, must recommend accepting the alternates and Gov. Bob Graham and the Cabinet must agree with the recommendation.

The proposed lines are part of a $450 million system FP&L is building from Georgia to Martin County in south Florida. The system would bring less-expensive power from coal-burning plants in Georgia to connect eventually with a grid that would serve south Florida.

Education Breakdown: Blame Parents, Says Teacher

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

The better teachers are fleeing the classrooms in droves, causing the deterioration of public education, according to recent national studies and surveys.

But "one wife, mother, city commissioner and former school teacher—in that order" argues that the breakdown of public education cannot be blamed on educators, but instead, the responsibility lies primarily with the parents.

"In the school system we probably have some of the finest teachers going," says Cheney Colardo, Altamonte Springs commissioner. "The teachers people complain about are definitely in the minority, and I get upset with general statements about teachers, because it takes away from the ones doing an excellent job.

"A teacher is not always able to teach the three R's because a child in the class may have emotional problems or disciplinary problems," she says. "The parental responsibility for a child's conduct, and parental encouragement for that child's progress, I'm afraid, have been unjustly shifted to the teachers."

Ms. Colardo, who taught physical education and health courses at Orlando's Evans High School from 1968 to 1974, says she "chose to leave the teaching profession to have a child," and that "even now I would not go back to teaching in the public schools—private, perhaps, but never public.

"I'm a strong believer in education—don't get me wrong," she says. "Education is what makes the society go. An educated society benefits everyone in that society, and everyone should have an equal opportunity for receiving that education."

However, the 1965 Florida State University graduate says she is disenchanted with the school system and lists several reasons for her feelings about the system today.

"I'm concerned with statistics about teachers entering our schools who don't even meet the standards set for them," she says. "That's a frightening thought. But I'm also concerned with things like automatic social promotion of students from one grade to another before they learn basic concepts."

The former high school teacher and tennis coach cites an example of "social promotion" with a 17-year-old boy she taught at Evans High School.

"The boy was making terrible grades," she recalls. He had been held back (was not promoted to the next higher grade along with his peers) before, and I couldn't make out things he would write, or even test answers. Well, the class was told to do a project, and he chose to have a speaker from the Red Cross come talk about water safety. After the speaker arrived and during the presentation, he asked the boy to write the word "hope" on the blackboard. The boy wrote "hop." He also asked him to write the word "faith." The boy didn't even know what (letter) the word began with. He had been socially promoted since day one. He never should have been allowed to continue through the system until he had gained the basic knowledge. That knowledge should have come in elementary school."

Ms. Colardo says parents of children who are not making progress that a parent thinks they should be making "must recognize the problem and do something about it."

She adds, "If a child isn't making progress, parents should contact that child's teacher and demand a conference. We used to hold PTA meetings and open houses, but the parents who attended were not usually the ones I needed to see. It was the parents of the other children who needed help that I wish I could have met with.

"Parents should get involved with their children's education," she says. "Know the curriculum—and that's another issue—school curriculums are filled with a variety of courses nowadays. Maybe it's time we got back to the basics again. I looked at a curriculum for high school the other day and it looked like my college curriculum guide."

Ms. Colardo, the mother of two daughters, says she now has a daughter attending school at the Altamonte Elementary School and "so far, I like what I see."

She says that while she may not always agree with what the teachers at her daughter's school do, she can always ask for a teacher conference, "and I do.

"I'm one of those moms who still put the drawings and papers my child draws up on the refrigerator with little banana magnets," she laughs. "But I think it's important to take an active interest in their learning process. I love watching her learn. It's important for her, and it's important to me and her father."

Another area that Ms. Colardo feels goes "hand in hand with parental interest" is discipline in the schools.

"I do not, under any circumstance, want my child spanked by a teacher," she says. "If that is to be done, I will decide, and if it is necessary I will administer the punishment. I don't support it, and I don't feel teachers should have to do it. It's a parent's responsibility."

The bottom line, she says, is parental interest and active involvement in the education system if the system is going to work.

"I don't approach a problem in the schools as a city official but as a parent—a concerned parent. Maybe that's what the system needs," she says hurriedly. Today's her day to drive the car pool to pick the neighborhood children up after school.

All Systems 'Go' For March Shuttle Launch

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — Space technicians report they have isolated the cause of a fuel cell malfunction which shortened the space shuttle Columbia's second mission in November and are optimistic the third launch will take off on schedule in March.

"We're going for the week of the 22nd," James Harrington, chief of orbiter operations, said Friday. "We've got a good shot at it, although we have a lot of testing to do." He said a firm target date will be announced "in a week or two."

Branch Campuses Studied

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The Board of Regents has voted to take another look at the policy of making a higher education more accessible to Floridians by establishing branch campuses of existing state universities.

Regents said it was time for a new study to determine if branches are financially affordable and compatible with the goal of making the state university system one of the best in the country.

Cuban Refugee Deported

MIAMI (UPI) — A young refugee who stowed away on a small Panamanian freighter to reach the United States was flown to Havana Friday and is believed to be the first Cuban deported to his homeland since Fidel Castro took power, the Immigration and Naturalization Service said.

INS rejected a request for asylum made by Andres Rodriguez Hernandez, 20, because he couldn't prove his need for it. He was flown to Cuba shortly after 2 p.m. Friday aboard an American Airways tourist charter which already had been scheduled.

Air Safety Blasted

FORT LAUDERDALE (UPI) — A survival specialist says the Air Florida jetliner crash at Washington, D.C., Wednesday underscores his claim that the airlines have poor safety equipment.

"Even if the plane had hit differently and floated with all 79 people still alive when they went into the water, many would have drowned," Wayne Williams said.

Williams, a frequent critic of airline safety measures, is director of Nova University's Institute for Survival Techniques.

"The rescuers had trouble just getting to five or six people. Within 10 minutes, hypothermia (loss of body heat) would have made it impossible for most of the survivors to even hold onto the seat cushions the airlines use as flotation devices," he said.

Williams is a former Air Force fighter pilot who turned survival specialist. He developed survival courses used by the U.S. Armed forces and headed the Air Force Sea Survival School.

Williams was also an engineer with Eastern Airlines where he designed safety gear still used by most U.S. airlines. He has said that airlines are ill-equipped to prevent drownings.

Seat bottom cushions used as flotation devices are difficult to hold and become water logged, he said. The cushions also keep users' heads in the water, allowing hypothermia, a prime cause of death in the water.

Williams said Nova University has just completed a study that will be presented to a Federal Aviation Administration safety meeting in March. Tests were conducted in Boston where the conditions were similar to those in Washington, where the water temperature was 37 degrees when the plane crashed.

Mint's Mistake

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Bank tellers try to think of the money they handle as just slips of paper. Fortunately, Keith Andreason noticed something peculiar about one crisp $5 bill as he balanced returns from a 24-hour teller machine.

"Both the seals and the serial number on the bill were printed on the back and not on the front," Andreason said Thursday. "If the money had been completely used overnight, a customer would have gotten it. I just happened to be lucky and noticed it."

The 27-year-old teller told his supervisor, who said he could keep the "funny money" by exchanging it for a normal $5 bill.

Opinions vary on the worth of the oddball bill.

Crowning Of Queen To Highlight Beta Sigma Phi Charity Ball

By LOU CHILDERS
Herald Correspondent

"Mirror, mirror on the wall, who will be Queen of the Valentine Charity Ball?"

The answer to that question will be revealed the evening of Feb. 13 at the Knights of Columbus Hall — site of this year's Annual Beta Sigma Phi Valentine Charity Ball.

Each of the eight local chapters of the sorority in addition to the Sanford City Council has selected a member to represent them as Valentine Girl and chapter representative for the year, and each one is hoping their Valentine Girl will be Queen.

SUSAN BYRD

Preceptor Beta Lambda's candidate, Susan Byrd, has been actively involved in sorority for 14 years. During this time, Susan has been president, corresponding secretary, and recording secretary of her chapter, and has held many chairmanships.

Susan is head technician in Pharmacy at Seminole Memorial Hospital, and is married to Rex Byrd, a supervisor at Sunniland Corp. The couple have four children, Melanie, 22, Richard, 21, Catherine, 20, and Jeff, 14.

Outside of her family activities and job in Pharmacy, Susan enjoys sewing, handcrafts, gardening and collecting glass hats.

She says, "I am very fond of Beta Sigma Phi for the growing, learning experiences and the many very special friendships made over the years I have been a member."

BECKY MOLENAAR

Becky Molenaar, Xi Theta Epsilon chapter's Valentine Girl, is corresponding secretary of her sorority this year, and has been an active member for two years.

Becky and her husband, Jim, a mechanic, live in Winter Springs with their daughters, Paula, 14, and Yvonne, 11.

When she's not working on the convention or scrapbook committees for the sorority, Becky enjoys camping and reading.

She adds, "I work closely with my daughters on their projects, and I enjoy getting together with my sisters in Beta Sigma Phi. Sorority is something I do for me."

PAULA THOMAS

The Valentine Girl representative for Sanford City Council is Paula Thomas.

Paula says, "Beta Sigma Phi has been a significant part of my life for nearly seven years," and she explains that she joined in Virginia before coming back to her home state of Florida. She is currently holding the office of president for her chapter.

While in Virginia, Paula was honored as her sorority's Girl of the Year in 1976 and Valentine Queen in 1980.

Her husband, Chuck, is an employee of the Dictaphone Company, and Paula takes care of six children during the day in her home, including her own, Martha Ellen, 3, and Sara Elizabeth, 6 months.

She enjoys needlecraft, macrame, collecting cookbooks and unusual recipes, and cooking. Of sorority, Paula says, "In addition to establishing life long friendships, sorority has helped me gain confidence in myself, and a capacity in which I can personally serve others. I am proud to be a part of such a super organization."

DARCY BONO

Darcy Jean Bono, chapter representative for Gamma Lambda in the Valentine Girl competition, has been active as chairman for many committees during her three years in sorority. She has also held the offices of treasurer, vice president, and president.

Darcy and her husband, John, a comptroller, enjoy boating, fishing and camping together. Darcy's private hobbies are sewing, ceramics and gardening.

"Sorority has been a rewarding learning experience," she says, and "I enjoy getting together with my sisters."

NORMA LOEPP

Norma E. Loopp, a member of Zeta Xi and their Valentine Girl, has been actively involved in BSP for five years, having served as chapter president and chairman for many committees.

Norma, her husband James, an electrical contractor, and their sons, Scott, 25, Mark, 21, and David, 16, are all absorbed in her business of collecting and restoring antiques.

Her independent hobbies include baking, sewing, reading and cooking classes.

Norma's philosophy of life centers around sorority, and she says, "Beta Sigma Phi is the key to the secret of life: growth. One function of this key is to unlock the door of opportunity for learning and service. A second purpose for this magical key is to open treasure chests of golden friendships. The most unique feature of this key is that it opens numerous new doors, but never locks anyone out!"

KATHY WALLACE

Kathy Wallace, Xi Beta Eta's Valentine Girl, has enjoyed 12 wonderful years in sorority. She has served as vice president, recording and corresponding secretary, treasurer and extension officer, as well as chairing several committees.

Kathy and her husband, Brad, a salesman with Sunniland Corp., live in Sanford with their three children, David, 10, Jonathan, 6, and Rebecca, 11 months.

Kathy's special interests include craft projects, ceramics, reading and taking care of the children.

GINGER BRUMLEY

Xi Epsilon Sigma's Valentine Girl, Ginger Brumley, finds that after 3 years in the sorority, she really enjoys being a part of it. "Through sorority, I have made many new and close friends," she says.

Ginger is employed by Hopper Elementary School and enjoys bowling, cooking and hand crafts in her free time. She has served as vice president of her chapter and has chaired numerous committees.

NANCY HACK

Theta Epsilon Chapter's Valentine Girl, Nancy Hack, joined sorority in 1969. Since that time, she has held the offices of corresponding secretary and treasurer and has been the head of several committees.

Nancy and her husband, Greg, are both teachers — he at Rock Lake Middle School, she at Crocus High School. They live in Sanford with their children, Jennifer, 6, and Brian, 3.

Nancy's hobbies are collecting dolls, holiday jewelry, nicknacks, small antique bottles, and her favorite pastimes are all kinds of arts and crafts as well as embroidery and sewing, and of course, family life activities.

NANCY NEWKIRK

Upsilon Omicron's Valentine Girl, Nancy Newkirk, a production secretary with Petra Florida Construction, has been in sorority for two years thanks to the encouragement of her best friend, Paula Thomas.

Nancy became actively involved in the leadership of her chapter, having held the offices of treasurer and corresponding secretary, as well as the chairmanship of several committees.

Along with her husband, Wally, a nurse with the VA

Clinic, Nancy stays busy caring for their three children, Scott, 13, Amy, 9, and Rory, 4.

Nancy's relaxation hours are spent sewing, doing macrame, arranging dry flowers and reading.

Beta Sigma Phi is very special to Nancy, and she says, "A good example of the strong friendships that seem to develop in the sorority came into my life recently when a close member of my family became seriously ill. I received phone calls and encouragement from sisters in several chapters of the sorority who knew of the illness."

CIA Sponsors Grand Prix Go-Kart Race

The Lake Mary Community Improvement Association (CIA) is sponsoring a Grand Prix Go-Kart Race, Saturday and Sunday, Jan. 23 and 24, at the NCR parking lot. The first race will start at 11:15 a.m.

At least 220 entries are anticipated from members of the Central Florida Association of Go-Kart Racers. There will be no charge for spectators. Persons wanting to view from the pit will be charged $5.

Five trophies per class will be awarded. Classes with 22 or more karts will be awarded eight trophies.

Volunteers are needed to police the pit area and to help with concession stands. There will be a meeting Jan. 19 at 7:30 p.m. at city hall. Anyone wanting to help, should attend this meeting or contact Cindy Brown.

The CIA formed in December 1980 to work toward the construction of a community civic building. The proposed site is at Crystal Lake Beach on Country Club Road. The CIA has had several fund raising projects throughout the year including two pizza nights, the 4th of July picnic and the October Fest.

The Modern Woodmen of America Insurance Co. sponsored a flea market, matching funds netted by the flea market. Donations were also made to the CIA by the Chamber of Commerce and the Rotary Club.

Officers are president, Dick Fess; first vice president, John Norden; second vice president, Bob Stoddard; secretary, Cindy Brown; and treasurer, Carol Hoffman.

Elected directors are Alice Moughton, Harry Terry, Al Guthrie and Phil Kulbes.

The CIA hopes to start the foundation of the civic building in the very near future. Members anticipate netting more in the Go-Kart races than the two pizza nights together, they sponsored. Fund raising projects will continue until the Civic building is completed.

Many residents of Lake Mary share birthdays in the month of January. They are John Edwards, Wade Muse, Jim Ortoles, Pat Thompson, Edith Scott, Becky Russell, Bertie Rall, Dorris

Norden, Kay McLeod, John Ulmer, C.J. Behrens, Eddie Muse, Pat Donaldson, Ethel Munroe, Bill Sheaffer, Kevin Ripp, Mike Isom, Nancy Crapps, Isabel Cannon, Debby Johnson, Lori Anderson, and Chris Ritchey. Best Wishes for a happy birthday to all.

The Gospel Team "Son Love" will present a program of testimonies and music at the Calvary Baptist Church, Tuesday, at 7:30 p.m.

"Son Love" is comprised of nine young people from the Miami Christian College. Pastor Joe Webb extends a special welcome to the public. The Calvary

Baptist Church is located on Country Club Road.

The Lake Mary Volunteer Firemen have a new addition to the department. It is a Championship fire Dalmation puppy, donated to the department by Caroline Webb.

The fire department responded New Year's Day to a fire at the Webb home. Because of the promptness and efficiency of the department, little damage was done to the home. This was their way of thanking the department for a job well done.

Recipient Of Navy Medal

Engineman Fireman Frances Lottie Boyd, right photo, receives the Navy Commendation Medal from the captain of her assigned ship, USS Pontiac based in Rota, Spain.

ENFN Boyd, 22, is the daughter of Harriett and Arthur Boyd of Lake Mary. She is a member of the 1979 class of Seminole High School where she received the Best All-round Athlete award and was inducted into the school's Hall of Fame.

The Navy Commendation Medal, presented by Ronald G. Hays, Commander in Chief, United States Naval Forces, Europe, was accompanied by a citation reading: "Fireman Boyd displayed exceptional courage and skill while taking emergency action to prevent the sinking of an LCM harbor craft.

"While operating in the Rota Harbor, the craft suffered a material casualty placing it in immediate danger of sinking. In spite of the significant electric shock hazard and fire danger, Fireman Boyd, without hesitation and disregarding her own personal safety, jumped into the craft's partially flooded engine room and took emergency action to control the flooding.

"Her action not only prevented the stricken craft from sinking but also prevented injury to other crewmembers of the craft.

"Fireman Boyd's professionalism, initiative and courage were in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Naval Service."

STYLING SALON Sanford 1911 French Ave.

The R. B. Boykins Observe Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Raleigh B. Boykin Sr. celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Jan. 1, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marulce Parks, hosts of the event.

Raleigh and his wife, Neda Mae, were married Jan. 1, 1932, in Sanford by the late Rev. Castle Brewer. They grew up and attended elementary and high school at Crooms Academy, leading a lifelong reunion.

The Boykins have one son, Raleigh B. Jr., Philadelphia, Penn.; a daughter-in-law, Ann Boykin, and granddaughter, Deborah Lynn, of Philadelphia.

The Boykins are members of New Mt. Calvary Missionary Baptist Church, Sanford. After 50 years the Boykins repeated their vows, with the Rev. Tommie L. Jenkins performing the ceremony. He is a retired brakeman for the Amtrak Railroad where he worked for 45 years.

Mrs. Boykin sold insurance for Afro-American Life for 24 years and Atlanta Life for three years. She is now retired.

Mr. Boykin can still be seen following up on his favorite sport, baseball. In his off time he has umpired many a game in Sanford and surrounding communities. Neda Mae is kept busy sewing and keeping the home beautiful.

Friends helping the Boykins celebrate were: Mr. and Mrs. Rice Roberts, Henry G. Matthews and family, Norfolk, Va.; Dr. Gean Hunter, Virginia; Mr. and Mrs. Moease Singletary, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Frazer and Mrs. Margaret Oliver.

Also Mrs. Altemases Dixon, Mrs. Sylvia Stallworth, Mrs. Katie Sandifer, Mrs. Pearl Henderson, Miss Juanita Papino, Mrs. Helen Williams, Martin Faggart, Washington, D.C., Mrs. Violet Crawford and Samuel Fulton.

Mrs. Claudette Hutcherson, Mrs. Amanda Tucker, Mrs. Cordia Faison, William Jefferson, Mrs. Thelma Franklin, Mrs. Bernice Fulmore, Lonnie Slappy, Miss Lillie Chaves, Kenneth Freeman, Denice Dyson, Virginia, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kirkland, Jacksonville.

A tribute to honor Mrs. Eva Lou Holt, former Sanfordite and retired educator, 1937-1981, was held at Errol Estate Country Club, Apopka, Friday.

Over 200 family members, co-workers and friends gathered to honor this well-known educator who has served in Central Florida many years. Dr. Robert Williams presided. Guest soloist was Mrs. Patricia Merritt Hickman, soprano, Sanford, who sang, "Lift Every Voice and Sing" at the opening of this grand evening with Earl E. Minott at the organ.

For Mrs. Hickman's dedication to the honoree she sang "My Tribute."

Other special music was presented by the Wilson Ensemble, sponsored by Miss Eunice L. Wilson, Sanford. Speaker for the occasion was the friend of the honoree, Mrs. June Glover, educator, from Tampa.

Presentation of the honoree was made by Marvin C. Zanders, sponsor of the evening. Words of praise were made by Mrs. Juanita Masey, former co-worker of Mrs. Holt. Expressions of love and happiness were given by the honoree who introduced her mother, Mrs. Mary Lee Hall, and her sister, Mrs. Mary Lee Gennertt.

The "Star Spangled Banner," although written in 1814, did not become the national anthem until 1931.

A pretty, trimmer look in total comfort.

"Pretty Secret's" European design combines the pretty, natural look you want with all the support your average to full figure needs. The secret's in the silky smooth seamless cups designed to give you a trimmer fit. While the elastic underband and stretch sides give you support in total comfort.

We're so sure you're going to love "Pretty Secret's" its pretty look, silky feel and perfect fit, we're backing it with a money back comfort guarantee.

Author Talks On Gourmet Foods Of All Nations

The Woman's Club of Sanford ushered in the New Year with a program on "Gourmet Foods From All Nations," presented by author and lecturer, Elizabeth (Liz) Paulucci Helfrich of Sanford.

The vivacious speaker was introduced by Mrs. William (Jerr) Kirk, chairman of the club's International Affairs Committee.

Mrs. Helfrich took the members back to her childhood days on the Iron Range, Hibbing, Minn., the iron ore capitol of the world when the population was 50,000 inhabitants made of 25 nationalities.

Author of a cookbook, "Cooking From A Melting Pot," published in 1981, Mrs. Helfrich talked about the favorite foods of the world, beginning with the American Indian.

A connoisseur of fine foods, Mrs. Helfrich moved to Sanford 25 years ago. She was introduced to Sanford when she came here to purchase celery for Chun King food products, she said.

During the meeting, Mrs. Emy Bill, chairman of the club's Social Department, presented the club with a Certificate of Appreciation from the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce for sponsoring the Golden Age Games card games.

Toward the social angle, the club is sponsoring a spaghetti dinner, open to the public, Feb. 19, at the clubhouse.

from 5 to 8 p.m. Ann Brisson is chairman.

Bob Daehn is already plugging the Downtown Kiwanis Club of Sanford's Pancake Day, scheduled March 13, from 8:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m., at the Sanford Civic Center.

Bob says there will be "pancakes, auction, baked goods, junk..."

Last year this event netted over $11,000, according to Bob, which helped Boy Scouts, the Central Florida Zoo, the Salvation Army, surgery for underprivileged children and other deserving causes.

Sara K. Myers is excited over the Depression Era Glass Show coming up Jan. 30 and 31 at the Sanford Civic Center.

Sara recalls the first show, held 10 years ago. The Sanford show, which has grown from 25 booths to 33 booths, has been named "one of the best in the country" by national magazine "Harettes."

The show is open to the public. The grand door prize is a 15-piece cake set in Monax "American Sweetheart," for which the drawing will be held at 4 p.m. on Jan. 31.

Hoby Blake Sawyers is among the outstanding scholars at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, studying this year under the prestigious James M. Johnston Scholarship program.

Hoby is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Blake Swayers, 4030 Chickasaw Drive.

The James M. Johnston Scholarship program has 363 students enrolled in the three participating campuses. It provides over $500,000 annually for students in special programs.

Marian Ann Ray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Troy Ray Jr., 111 Briarwood Drive, has been chosen for membership in the Esquires of Evangel College, Springfield, Mo. for the 1981-82 academic year.

Marian Ann, a senior at Evangel, is majoring in mental health. She is a 1978 graduate of Seminole High School.

The Esquires are an honor association of Evangel college students. To become a member, a student must be recommended by the chairman of the department in which he is majoring, and must maintain a grade point average of 3.0 out of a possible 4.0.

If There's A Will, There's A Way

DEAR READERS: If you want to do something nice for your family, get your affairs in order.

I came across this gem in The Survivors, a splendid magazine for widowed people. I obtained permission from the author, Judge Sam Harrod III of Eureka, Ill., to reprint it: IF YOU DON'T HAVE A WILL, YOUR STATE HAS ONE FOR YOU.

The Statutory "Will" of John Doe

1. John Doe, make this my "will," by failing to have a will of my own choice prepared by my attorney.

1. I give one-half of all my property, both personal and real estate, to my CHILDREN, and the remaining one-half to my WIFE.

2. I appoint my WIFE as Guardian of my children, if she survives me; but as a safeguard, I require that:

a. my WIFE make written account every year to Probate Court, explaining how and why she spent money necessary for proper care of our children;

b. my WIFE file a performance BOND, with sureties, to be approved by Probate Court, to guarantee she will properly handle our children's money;

c. when our children become adults, my WIFE must file a complete, itemized, written account of everything she has done with our children's money;

d. when our son and daughter become age 18, they can do whatever they please with their share of my estate;

e. no one, including my WIFE, shall have the right to question how our children spend their shares.

3. If my WIFE does not survive me, or dies while any of our children are minors, I do not nominate a Guardian of our children, but hope relatives and friends may mutually agree on the one, and if they cannot agree, the Probate Court can appoint any Guardian it likes, including a stranger.

4. I do not appoint an Executor of my estate, and hope the Probate Court appoints someone I would approve.

5. If my WIFE remarries, the next husband:

a. shall receive one-third of all my WIFE's property;

b. need not spend any of his share on our children, even if they need support; and

c. can give his share to anyone he chooses, without giving a penny to our children.

6. I do not care to learn whether there are ways to lower my death taxes, and know as much as possible will go to the government, instead of my WIFE and our CHILDREN.

In witness whereof, I have completely failed to make a

A Horseshoe Pitching Contest will be held at the Florida State Fair, Feb. 6 and 7, in Orlando. The contest is co-sponsored by the Florida Cowbells and Florida Beef Council.

Dear Abby

different will of my own choice with the advice of my attorney, because I really did not care to go to all that bother, and I adopt this, by default, as my "will." — (no signature required) John Doe

DEAR ABBY: I think "Big D." is a big "A." I love your reruns. Most of them are worth reading more than once. Many times I was glad to see an item repeated because I had intended to clip it, but didn't. Or I'd clipped it and misplaced it. Keep those golden oldies comin'.

MIKE IN MODESTO

DEAR MIKE: Thanks, pal. My mail is running about 10-to-1 in favor of the reruns. And the votes from Alaska and Hawaii aren't counted yet!

DEAR ABBY: I'm all for sharing, but how about this? Recently I was asked if I would lend my wedding gown to a girl I have never met. (Her mother is a friend of my aunt.) It seems the bride's parents are putting on a big, formal wedding with all the trimmings, and believe me, they can afford it, but they want to "cut a few corners."

My wedding gown was expensive and exceptionally beautiful, and I hope that someday one of my daughters will wear it. I had it cleaned and boxed professionally in order to preserve it properly.

Abby, I don't want to appear selfish, but I just don't want to let a stranger wear my wedding gown. I'm concerned about careless people with food and drinks, or someone with a cigarette accidentally bumping into it. Also, it might require a few alterations that the bride might consider "minor," but I might consider major.

When I was approached about letting this girl wear my wedding dress, I reacted negatively and mentioned all the advantages of renting bridal wear — a wide selection, no worrying about alterations or damages — but they didn't take the hint.

Am I being selfish to refuse? And what should I say? SELFISH OR NOT?

DEAR OR NOT: Selfish? No way. Be honest. Say, "Sorry. It's boxed and put away until one of my daughters wears it."

Everybody needs friends. For some practical tips on how to be popular, get Abby's Popularity booklet. Send $1 plus a long, self-addressed stamped (37 cents) envelope to Abby, Popularity, 12000 Hawthorne Blvd., Suite 1000, Hawthorne, Calif. 90230.
