Whaling Appears To Be Losing Its Glamour

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—What probably is the most dangerous peacetime occupation—open-boats whaling in the Moby Dick style—practically has disappeared from the seven seas.

Soon it may depend for its survival entirely on the fertile imaginations of adventure story writers and movie makers.

This rather sad reflection on the growing security of modern life came from Dr. Robert Clarke, an Englishman who has tried his hand at open-boat whaling both in the movie studios and outside.

He stopped by at United Nations headquarters early this week on his way from Europe back to South America where he is now advising the governments of Chile, Peru and Ecuador, under the expanded technical assistance program, on how to develop their whaling industries.

Dr. Clarke was the technical adviser for the filming of Herman Melville's classic whaling epic, Moby Dick. He told a group of U.N. newsmen, to whom whaling was a pleasant interlude from discussion of the South African riots, how the scenes of Ahab's encounter with the white whale were skillfully shot in specially constructed ponds in London.

Moby Dick was constructed in three gigantic parts, Clarke explained, with a very real head just as Herman Melville described it. The only thing omitted from the movie model was Moby Dick's crooked jaw. "We didn't put one in because people might think it was a very badly constructed whale," Clarke said.

In real life, sperm whales with deformed, twisted lower jaws sometimes are encountered.

But do white whales really exist? Dr. Clarke has never seen one, and he has no hard evidence that anyone else has. The closest color to white is found in old sperm whales which get more gray-headed the older they become.

Dr. Clarke said he supposed that "in peacetime there is no more dangerous occupation than open-boats whaling." The only part of the world where it is still practiced is in the Azores and around Madeira Island, off the coast of Portugal. There whales are harpooned, chased, and lanced to death much as they were in the 19th Century and the open boats, Clarke said, "are smashed time and again."

One of the few precautions is that now, according to Portuguese whaling regulations, men must be able to swim before they are allowed out in the boats.

Dr. Clarke has eaten a lot of whale meat in his life and he described it as "very good indeed."

Dr. Clarke, who said he "always wanted to go and see whales" since he was a small boy, has already spent two years helping Chile and Peru set their whaling industry on a scientific basis.

Together these countries catch about 5,000 whales annually; Ecuador, which had no whaling industry, now wants to join the chase.

Macmillan Comes Perilously Close To Violating Prime Rules Of Club

By PHIL NEWSON
UPI Foreign Editor
Addressing a joint session of the South African Parliament early this year, British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan said: "In this shrinking world in which we live today, the internal policies of one nation may have effects outside it. I hope you won't mind my saying frankly that there are some aspects of your policies which make it impossible for us to support you without being false to our own deep convictions about the political destinies of free men."

Coming from the Queen's highest representative, Macmillan's words came perilously close to violating one of the cardinal rules which govern the exclusive Commonwealth club.

Commonwealth members decide their own internal policies, maintain their own diplomatic service and decide for themselves the issues of peace or war.

Macmillan's words roused deep resentment among South Africa's intensely Nationalist Afrikaners who are determined to enforce their white supremacy laws down to the last Negro, and jubilation elsewhere in Africa where Negro nations already have or are moving swiftly toward independence.

For the Union of South Africa's grim determination to maintain its apartheid policies places Britain squarely in the middle.

It is both a desire and a necessity for Britain to maintain close ties with its former African territories now achieving their own identities as free nations.

The task becomes the more difficult so long as Britain appears to ignore or support the policies of South Africa.

At the same time, both according to the rules of the Commonwealth and the United Nations, Britain is bound to the policy of non-interference in the internal affairs of other states.

This was the dilemma that Britain faced last week at the United Nations Security Council debated and finally approved a resolution which deplored "the policies and actions" of the South African government and called upon Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold to take steps to reduce the threat to South African situation posed to "international peace and security."

In the final voting which approved the resolution 9-4, Britain abstained.

Commonwealth prime ministers assembled in London on May 2. It is certain that Britain will try to out-pedal the apartheid issue at the meeting. But it is more than doubtful that she can still the voices of India, Ghana and others who are certain to speak out against it.

Jacksonville Girl's Letter Knocks 'Em Dead

LONDON (UPI)—Congratulations Corrine Sharrock of Jacksonville, Florida, U. S. A.

Your letter to the Times of London knocked 'em dead today. Miss Sharrock chastised the British for the furor caused in this country over a mammoth gold eagle the State Department intends to place atop the new U. S. embassy.

Many British, who take a dim view anyway of the modernistic embassy, think the presence of the 35-foot eagle would shatter the old-fashioned serenity of English surroundings.

"What a temper in a teapot," the American woman wrote, and went on to compare England's attitude to the states to that of an "aristocratic family whose son has run away from home."

"The poor boob (the errant son) pays and pays trying to buy his way back into the good graces of the family," she said. "Can't you accept us for what we are? We're young; we're brash. We run instead of walk and we love our flashy toys. We have all the vigor and all the imperfections of youth but we're growing."

"Won't you please let us have our oversized eagle? Youth must have its toys and that (the eagle) will be a lollipop!"

"Yours, with tongue in cheek." The Times carried no comment but the headline over the letter said: "Let The Eagle Soar."

Eggs are the most nearly perfect natural source of body building protein, reports the Florida Egg Commission.

The Lake Mary Chamber of Commerce has established a blood bank for the community and appointed an eight-member committee to administer the regulations.

A supply of blood will be started immediately and the bank hopes to have 50 pints contributed during the next month. The committee members are Paul Bissell, Rev. John W. Pilley, Harold Keen, James Avery, Mrs. Maria C. Lowe, Mrs. Jeanne Foulk, Mrs. R. W. Jackson and Mrs. Charles Krueger.

Rain Damage In City Small

Sanford escaped with little damage to its sewer lines from the recent heavy rains, City Manager W. E. Knowles said Thursday.

There was a small Seminole Blvd. street cave-in which has been temporarily repaired, and the few washouts on unimproved streets were fixed within 24 hours. Actually the sewer lines got a good flushing from the rains, Knowles said. The city has had trouble with leaves and debris plugging drainage pipes however. It's against the law to rake debris into the street, Knowles pointed out.

Breaking up drainage plugs is very expensive for the city since it takes a lot of time, he said.

HERE IS a picture of the wrecked truck in which Herman Yates of Sanford was trapped in fire more than an hour Thursday. Yates, driving the vehicle, hit a soft shoulder on the old Enterprise Road turning the truck over. He suffered a fractured hip in the accident.

Vernon Mize Seeks County Judge's Post

Vernon Mize Jr., Sanford attorney, today qualified for the office of county judge.

County Judge Wilson Alexander, who was unopposed in the May 3 Democratic primary, died Monday night.

The Secretary of state opened qualifying for the office until noon Tuesday.

Mize, a native Floridian and a graduate of the University of Florida law school has been associated with A. Edwin Shindler in the general practice of law.

Mize is a Korean war veteran. He is married and the father of a three-year-old daughter. Since coming to Sanford, he has been a director in the Sanford-Seminole Jaycees, president of the County Cancer Society and a member of the official board of the Grace Methodist Church.

He is a member of the Florida Bar Association and of the American Bar.

In announcing his candidacy, Mize stated, "I would consider it an honor and a privilege to be allowed to serve the people of Seminole County in the capacity of county judge. I believe my legal training and experience qualifies me for this very important position."

Money Problems Delay Extension

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Money problems have delayed plans to extend the Sunshine State Parkway to Orlando, Gov. LeRoy Collins said Thursday.

But he said he was not discouraged and believed the project could be started this year.

Collins said engineer consultants who six months ago advised against the extension now declared it feasible. But he said the financial plan on which their report was based was too expensive and has been dropped, hence the delay.

The plan was to finance the 50-mile dollar bond debt on the present Miami to Fort Pierce Turnpike, and to sell a new $10 million dollar issue covering both the present and the projected roads.

Collins said plans were underway for a new study based on financing the Fort Pierce to Orlando road independently of the present segment.

The Legislature has authorized the turnpike the full length of Florida, from Miami to the Georgia line. The extension from Fort Pierce to Orlando would cost about 45 to 50 million dollars. And Collins said the new plan calls for an independent bond issue of this amount.

Southerners Wage Last Ditch Battle To Stall Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Southern Democrats today waged a last-ditch effort to stall off final Senate action on a civil rights bill certain of passage when they stop talking.

Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.) led off the concluding southern assault with a speech denouncing the Negro voting rights measure as "repugnant and unacceptable" to a large section of the country.

Fulbright began talking shortly after the Senate met at 10 a. m. for what looked like another long, grueling day of debate. Leaders differed on whether the bill would come to a final vote tonight.

Several other senators were armed with long speeches against the modified House bill, although the Senate had closed the door on any further changes in the measure.

Citrus Output To Go Up In '60
Florida's 1960 citrus output is figured to run over 100 million boxes, a Florida Citrus Commission member told the Sanford Jaycees Thursday.

J. Danforth Wright said the current yearly produce has reached 93 million boxes and should someday reach the 130 million mark.

Wright, who is also vice-president of Sanford's Patrick Fruit Corporation, said that Florida is not faced with any crisis in the demand for its citrus, by a sound merchandising program "we can sell our fruit and not give it away," he said.

Wright said Florida has a fine prospective market in the United Kingdom. But British trade restrictions protecting their citrus interests in the Caribbean hold Florida from selling in the British Isles.

The Central European citrus market will expand very slowly for Florida because other citrus producing countries can sell their fruit at a lower price, according to Wright.

However, the state Citrus Commission has a representative in Scandinavia, and, in Wright's opinion, "frozen orange concentrate in Europe is just beginning."

Four County Candidates Discuss Taxes, Drainage At C of C Meet

Taxes and drainage were among the issues that got a going over from four county political candidates at the Lake Mary Chamber of Commerce meeting Thursday night.

Edward Zimmerman, running for county commissioner from District 5, said he is opposed to a drainage district for Lake Mary. He is against letting contracts to firms that aren't in Seminole County, and doesn't want to obligate county funds for bond issues.

Zimmerman said Seminole County needs the confidence of its citizens in county government and this has been lacking in recent years.

J. C. Hutchison, running for the District 1 commission post, said Seminole's drainage needs must be solved now. But future drainage plans should include other counties for better control and conservation.

Seminole must preserve its natural resources, its trees and clean lakes, Hutchison said. Industry coming here must be carefully selected, he added. Hutchison stressed tax equality and keeping taxes within the ability of county residents to pay them.

John Fitzpatrick said the county must have 100 percent property evaluation day by day and week by week. The District 5 commission post candidate said canals aren't the answer to Seminole's drainage problems. He advocated water control with dikes or some other method of keeping the water at a constant level, it's a problem for the geologists and the experts, Fitzpatrick said.

Fitzpatrick promised that if elected, he will see that the public is advised on affairs of government. County residents can expect taxes to go up, he said.

Tax Assessor Richard McCann, running for re-election, took a stand on full cash valuation of county property. There were 7,048 Seminole property owners who didn't pay any taxes last year, he said. Keep the $5,000 homestead exemption, but let full valuation go along with it, McCann said. The tax assessor endorsed a prepared treatise, "Platform 1960 for Seminole County Candidates."

This treatise stresses that "Good government cannot be achieved without adequate taxation. Our best approach then, is to see that we collect as much as is actually due from the broadest possible base of taxpayers and that we then set about spending this money wisely and economically."

District 1 candidate James Avery said that he couldn't speak on the campaign when there were any limitations other than time.

When the chamber invited the candidates, it stipulated that all discussion must stick to policy on the political offices and must omit personal references.

Flood Surrounds Georgia Town

By United Press International

Rising floodwaters surrounded a tiny Georgia town, chased 400 persons from their homes in Missouri and Illinois and stranded 300 island-dwellers in the middle of the Mississippi River today.

The Mississippi, rising at a foot-a-day clip along southern Illinois, flooded thousands of acres of farmland near Cairo, and forced evacuation of 200 persons from the Dogtooth Bend area near the Mississippi's confluence with the Ohio.

Another 200 persons were driven from their homes at Mound City, Mo., when the Missouri punched through levees there.

The Flint River wrapped itself around Newton, Ga., cut off the four highways out of the village and turned 300 Newtonians into islanders.

Longwood Council Okays Plat For Longdale Area

County help will save Longwood $8,000-$9,000 in paving Orange Ave., Mayor Lormann said.

The council accepted the resignation of John Farina as fire chief.

A Longwood woman said the town ought to pick up and dispose of hungry and homeless dogs wandering around town. She suggested the dogs be picked up and destroyed if not claimed within five days. The council did not take any action on her request.

R. C. Carlson said the cost to each resident living on the three streets to be paved has not been determined yet. An exact determination of the cost to each resident will have to wait for a while because the costs determined by engineers for the project may still vary slightly.

The streets to be paved are Grant St. from Wildmore to Georgia Ave., Palmolive St. from E. Lake Ave. to Grant Ave. and Wilma Ave. from Northern Rd. to Molnar Ave.

Merchants Plan Meet In Nashville

By United Press International
Merchants in Nashville, Tenn., and leaders of the Negro sit-down movement are scheduled to meet Saturday in an effort to work out an agreement on lunch counter seating.

Officials of a number of the stores hit by sit-downs agreed Thursday to a request by Negro leaders that the meeting be held. One of the principal topics expected to be discussed is the mayor's bi-racial committee recommendation for partial integration of lunch counters for a 90-day trial period.

Meanwhile, in Richmond, Va., four drug stores serving whites in a predominantly Negro neighborhood lowered the segregation barriers at their lunch counters.

However, downtown Richmond stores, where Negro students have staged sit-downs, have continued protesting segregated lunch counters, showed no signs of permitting whites and Negroes to sit together.

Merchants in downtown stores in Richmond, Norfolk and Petersburg, Va., have ignored ultimatums to desegregate or face the threat of boycotts by Negroes.

Happiness Through Health

What Makes Us Tick!

(By DR. F. LEO KERWIN)

A child is curious when he hears a watch tick. He pries open the cover, takes the watch apart, and tries to discover the cause of the tick. Few people stop to think how their own bodies function. The body is made up of sixteen elements such as carbon, hydrogen, sulphur, etc. About 70% of the body is water. The market price of all the elements found in the body is about 75 cents! If it were possible to combine all these elements in exact proportion as found in the body we still would find no trace of the "tick" or the activity we know as life.

Chiropractic is based on the principle that the body is controlled and coordinated from the brain. The brain delivers intelligent electrical energy found in a nerve impulse, which is 1/500,000 of a volt. This energy is life itself and is commonly spoken of as "nature." Interference with the transmission of this energy produces an area of lowered resistance and disease enters in.

One of a series of articles published in the public interest to explain and illustrate the practice of scientific Chiropractic, written by Dr. F. Leo Kerwin whose office is located at 201 S. French Ave. and his telephone number is FAirfax 2-7442.

MRS. WALKER

MRS. HUGHES

THANKS TO MRS. F. E. COOPER for calling to remind me that this is National Library Week and a good time to salute three women who are always so pleasant and efficient in our City Library.

SARA M. KING, head librarian, was born in Sanford and has been serving in the library for the past ten years. "Sacy," as she is known to friends, attended Seminole High School and Mississippi State College. She loves to read—anything but Westerns—but historical novels and biographies are her favorites. Sewing is among her hobbies, cooking too, when she gets the chance—and she even includes "baby-sitting with my precious grandchild" as a favorite pastime.

Grandchildren number two, and she has four children, Mrs. David Berrien, Al, Sally and Tommy.

MRS. LEON WALKER—nicknamed "Boots"—came to Sanford 35 years ago from Illinois where she received her AB degree from the University of Illinois Library School. As assistant librarian for the past five years, she is mother of three children—Patty, who works in a local bank, and two sons, Ted and Greg, away at college. She sings in the Presbyterian Church choir and names music, along with reading, as her special interests.

MRS. CURTIS HUGHES—BENEFICE, is another native of Sanford who has worked in the library for about four years.

She has two sons, Curtis, now living in Georgia, and Eddie, a high school student. She, too, is an avid reader—prefers historical and travel books and an outdoor hobby is working in her yard.

"Open Wonderful New Worlds—Wake up and Read!" is the words slogan in recognition of Library Week. We might also remember words that go like this—"Books are ways to wisdom's treasure; Books are gates to land of pleasure; Books are paths that upward lead; Books are friends; Come let us read."

CONGRATULATIONS to my neighbor, Mary Ann (Mrs. Robert J.) Graham, 1804 Melonville Ave., who has received the "Garden of the Month" award. Mary Ann, mother of two little girls, Debbie and Laurie, does her own gardening and has planted begonias to circle the magnificent oak tree on the front lawn—nasturtiums now add color, crotons too, and at the side of the house are a few Amaryllis left from a bumper crop of not too long ago.

HAVE YOU WONDERED who is in charge of the Garden of the Month sign? (As of this month, it is a new sign—white wrought iron with gold leaf lettering). It is a project of the Civic Beautification department of the Sanford Garden Club. Mrs. E. C. Dickerson is chairman and has appointed Mrs. Charlie Morrison, Mrs. Charles Wilkie and Mrs. Blanton Owens among others to select a garden each month and they look for neatness and care; color, balance and coordination.

There was an amusing little incident involved with the selection this month. When Mrs. Morrison made the choice she phoned to tell Mrs. Wilkie about "the pretty yard"—she gave a description but when she mentioned the address, Mrs. Wilkie started laughing. Although Mrs. Morrison wasn't aware of it, she had been talking about Mrs. Wilkie's daughter's yard!

SUE (Mrs. E. C. Jr.) HARPER has been standing on a vacant lot at the corner of 20th and Melonville this week trying to visualize how her contemporary style home is going to look there. Construction is beginning and four Harpers "just might" be moving the early part of the Summer.

Oviedo Students Hold Banquet At Cherry Plaza

The Egyptian room of the Cherry Plaza in Orlando was the scene of a very successful banquet, recently, when the members of the Oviedo High School met for their annual extravaganza.

The theme was "Stairway to the Stars" and it was carried out in all decorations, place cards and everywhere, in minute detail. Seated at the head table were Mike Kennedy, master of ceremonies, and his date, Miss Sandra Mays, Mike Duda, senior class president and Miss Sandra Bellhorn, Julia Gore, junior class president and Albert Myers.

Mike Kennedy, Mike Duda, Julia Gore and Albert Myers gave brief speeches. Bessie Fleming and Jerry Ulrey, members of the Junior class, presented a program called "Reverendous Gospel", giving the highlights of the career of each member of the senior class.

Other speakers included C. K. Buckner, class speaker, Walter Tague, former principal, W. H. DeSazo, the present principal and Miss Bellhorn. Following the banquet Mr. and Mrs. James Partin led the grand march and dancing was enjoyed by the guests. Music furnished by the Star Dusters' orchestra, until midnight.

ON A DESOLATE HILL

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	John	19	24-42
Monday	John	20	1-25
Tuesday	Psalm	102	1-12
Wednesday	Matthew	14	23-33
Thursday	Psalm	119	108-176
Friday	John	12	21-28
Saturday	Luke	24	13-43

It is not strange that someone chose this lonely spot to erect a reverent memorial. It was on a desolate hill that three crosses stood many centuries ago ... the Cross of the Saviour ... and of the penitent ... and of the scoffer.

Always these crosses have seemed to belong to the desolate hills of life. When a man feels the crushing burden of worldly care upon him, when he trudges the steep trail lost and alone - then, either he will claim the Love and Strength of Christ as did the penitent, or like the scoffer he will let his unbelief destroy his soul.

But no man should wait for a time of desolation to make life's most joyous decision. It can be made today ... and sealed with years of happy service in the church of one's choice.

Realtors Renew National Pledge

Seminole County Realtors have joined their contemporaries throughout the U. S. this week in observing 1960 Realtor Week, during which they reaffirmed their allegiance to the ethical standards of their local board and the National Assn. of Real Estate Board.

"The pledge obliges every realtor to continue to build his professional skills for the benefit of his clients and to render community service," Arthur F. Day, co-chairman of the local board's public relations committee, pointed out.

Among the services the local Board of Realtors is providing is acting as a clearing house for professional opinion on all aspects of the real estate business here. This opens up customers of these specialists, who proudly display their Realtor insignia.

Their pledge and their code is a good example, one for everybody to follow in business dealings. We salute them and their ideals.

WORRY CLINIC by Dr. G. W. Crane

Hundreds of university students file their complaints with me, hopeful that I will emphasize the dangers they face with cheating on exams as well as from angry professors. Here is one of the most dangerous types of cheating in America, for it sabotages leadership in all professions. It is rampant in professional schools as well as the Liberal Arts colleges. Discuss it at Sunday School.

CASE E-423: A delegation of professional students visited me recently.

"Dr. Crane," they began, "the cheating during examinations is so rampant that we honest students are furious."

"What this is one of those delicate situations where even the injured honorable men hesitate to report such cheating lest they be accused of 'snitching.'"

"However, we decided that we simply MUST report such crookedness for when professors grade on the 'curve,' the fellows in the lower 10 percent may get flunked out."

"So we selected a spokesman and he told the professor about the widespread cheating."

"But the prof simply shrugged his shoulders and asked: 'What can I do about it? You fellows just settle the matter after you leave class.'"

"That same answer didn't come from his grade book the higher marks obtained by the cheaters."

"Nor did it help raise our grades which were obtained by honest study and fair play."

"So why don't teachers realize that they are accessories to crime when they fail to police their examinations and thus permit cheaters to remain in school while honest students are flunked out?"

"What would taxpayers think after furnishing the salary to a policeman if he then ignored the crimes on his beat?"

"And if they finally pointed out to that policeman the actual crimes in progress, suppose he should shrug his shoulders and ask, 'What can I do about it? You just form a vigilance committee and settle the matter among yourselves!'"

"Dr. Crane, cheating is probably occurring on hundreds of other college campuses, too, but it is wrong and should be prevented."

"So will you please focus attention on this gross injustice, especially in the professional schools?"

When I was a student at Northwestern University, cheating was deemed almost the unforgivable sin.

And cheaters were not given a tolerant reproof nor a mild psychological slap on the wrist.

No, they were expelled! Furthermore, professors were instructed to police their exams rigidly.

Nowadays, many teachers have such a lackadaisical attitude, they read magazines or write personal letters during exams, without paying attention to obvious and flagrant cheating right in front of them.

Other lazy profs champion the so-called "honor system" whereby the students are placed on their honor.

But cheaters are thieves and there is a long time adage that there is no honor among thieves!

The honor system benefits two groups. The first is the cheaters who simply pass the courses they have cheated by copying right out of their texts or passing papers around among their little gang of crooks.

The second group that benefits is the lazy faculty members who refuse to keep alert and expend the energy necessary to proctor exams.

Police work involves alertness, plus energy and courage. Ask any policeman as well as any conscientious prof.

His report completed in January, "A Study of Voter Attitudes in West Virginia on Presidential Preferences," is a chart for the Kennedy strategy. Based on interviews with 1,060 West Virginians, including 698 in depth, it shows Kennedy running a better than two to one over Humphrey. In a check list of five potential Democratic candidates Adlai Stevenson leads with 20 percent, Kennedy second with 27 percent, and Humphrey fourth with nine percent.

"If the outcome in Wisconsin turns out to be a good victory for Senator Kennedy," the Harris report notes, observing that the situation in West Virginia is potentially more favorable, "Humphrey may have been literally finished at one stroke. In this case he probably wouldn't bother to campaign in West Virginia and it would therefore be unnecessary for Kennedy to make a major effort there. If the Wisconsin results are inconclusive then West Virginia seems like a good testing ground for Kennedy to win a conclusive and decisive victory over Humphrey. Finally, should Humphrey win Wisconsin, Kennedy will need West Virginia to re-establish himself."

Humphrey has insisted that no matter what happens in Wisconsin he will carry the challenge to West Virginia. He believes he has a better opportunity there because

WASHINGTON CALLING by Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — In politics a managerial revolution is occurring, comparable to the transformation that took place in industry when the managers replaced the owners as the center of power. The professional managers have a role today that would startle the politician of a simpler era. Their skills are employed in voter appeal, polling, voter preference, depth interviewing, television appearances, radio spot announcements, all the varied techniques of mass communication, and the advertising industry.

Long before the intensive phase of the Wisconsin primary Sen. John F. Kennedy's organization had begun the spade work for the next contest, which is West Virginia on May 10. One of the earliest steps was taken by Louis Harris and Associates, the polling and public opinion firm in New York with which Kennedy is said to have a $250,000 contract.

Whether that figure is high, as a Kennedy spokesman suggests, Harris is certainly providing valuable services.

His report completed in January, "A Study of Voter Attitudes in West Virginia on Presidential Preferences," is a chart for the Kennedy strategy. Based on interviews with 1,060 West Virginians, including 698 in depth, it shows Kennedy running a better than two to one over Humphrey. In a check list of five potential Democratic candidates Adlai Stevenson leads with 20 percent, Kennedy second with 27 percent, and Humphrey fourth with nine percent.

"If the outcome in Wisconsin turns out to be a good victory for Senator Kennedy," the Harris report notes, observing that the situation in West Virginia is potentially more favorable, "Humphrey may have been literally finished at one stroke. In this case he probably wouldn't bother to campaign in West Virginia and it would therefore be unnecessary for Kennedy to make a major effort there. If the Wisconsin results are inconclusive then West Virginia seems like a good testing ground for Kennedy to win a conclusive and decisive victory over Humphrey. Finally, should Humphrey win Wisconsin, Kennedy will need West Virginia to re-establish himself."

Humphrey has insisted that no matter what happens in Wisconsin he will carry the challenge to West Virginia. He believes he has a better opportunity there because Democrats and Republicans must each vote in the respective primary in which they are registered. But, as the Harris report points out, it is always harder to catch up with the front runner in a short space of time. And Humphrey, unlike Kennedy, will be under the necessity of finding new resources for the West Virginia campaign.

Pointing to variations in voter support at different economic levels, the Harris report recommends "A top assignment in the Kennedy campaign should be to reach the working people in the lower-income brackets just as soon as possible — certainly in advance of Humphrey." The report breaks down voter attitudes by congressional districts and finds that the "highest amount of anti-Catholic sentiment" is in the Fifth District. It is here that Kennedy must make a major effort to show that the factor of his religion will not hurt him.

"In fact," the report notes, "this is perhaps the only Congressional district in the thus-far-announced primaries where he can present himself as an all-out New Deal Democrat — a fighting liberal. He can take advantage of some of his recent votes. He can get mileage out of minimum wage and increased unemployment compensation."

One of the most interesting aspects of this scientific study of voter attitudes concerns the image presented by the various Democratic contenders. Only 30 percent of the Democratic voters knew who Humphrey was and the image was not very "presidential." In contrast 72 percent of the Democrats knew who Kennedy was and "with one exception it would be hard to find a flaw in the Kennedy image as a candidate for president." The principal negative, according to the Harris report, was that 12 percent of those queried said they did not want a Catholic for president.

Since the Harris firm is employed by Kennedy, the suspicion arises that the conclusions may have been biased in favor of the client. It is interesting, therefore, to compare the Harris survey with an independent poll, that taken by the Detroit News, which has been remarkable in the past for its accuracy. A tabulation published in February showed Kennedy leading the Democratic field by a wide margin, with 29.9 percent, his nearest contender being Michigan's own Governor G. Mennen Williams with 15.5 and Stevenson next with 14. A poll in March showed Kennedy leading the Republican candidate, Vice President Nixon, by 50.7 percent to 46.8, with only 2.5 percent not voting.

But the lead predicted by his experts to one side, Kennedy's political instincts tell him that West Virginia could be tricky. He talks frankly about the question of his religion and the fact that only about five percent of the voters in that state are Catholics, most of them concentrated in and around Wheeling.

He knows that he has the active opposition of West Virginia's Sen. Robert C. Byrd who favors Sen. Lyndon Johnson. The religious issue could flare up in more violent forms than in Wisconsin. So, despite the managers, the instinct and the understanding of the political practitioner are still vital.

ASSIGNMENT WASHINGTON by Ed Koterba

WASHINGTON — Miss Thursa Ford of Daytona Beach, Fla., sends a provocative letter. She wants the country to draw up a presidential ticket made up of women from both parties.

The articulate Miss Ford writes: "We need a woman's party—not simply a Republican or Democratic party. We want women with ability."

Then she makes this sensible point: "And not women who have achieved their positions because of wealthy husbands or fathers."

There was a time when suggesting women for president was the cue for a big belly laugh. Not so any more.

Not so when you realize that women today make up the majority of America. Right now, for instance, there are 3,300,000 more women voters than men.

Too, these strong-willed creatures of the opposition sex live longer. And they've had more experience than the minority sex in running things. Like schools, budgets, vacuum sweepers (the kind that cleans up messes), households—and men. So why should we not let them run the country?

Who would Miss Ford favor as head of the women's party ticket? Margaret Chase Smith, the lady of Maine, she says.

Mrs. Smith, Republican senator since 1945, has shown much wisdom in her appearances on the floor. Namely, she rarely talks out waste in all branches of government. We'd pass laws severe enough to put an end to juvenile delinquency and crime."

She continues: "We'd put women on federal and state supreme courts and put an end to mollycoddling. We'd make our country safe for women and children again, especially in the big cities in the North where it has not been safe for women out alone at night."

There should be other names added to Miss Ford's roster: Mrs. Richard Neuberger, widow of the Oregon senator, as Secretary of Interior, to perpetuate her husband's philosophy in preserving our natural resources.

Virginia Kellems, the business-lady from Connecticut who's again Uncle Sam using private enterprise for collecting federal taxes. She'd rid our country of bloated taxes and bring about that sound dollar.

For vice-president, my correspondent's choice is columnist Inez Robb. "She's traveled almost as much as Nixon and she would not change her mind to suit the occasion," writes Miss Ford. "With her beauty and brains she could hold her own with the Russians—or anyone else."

For Secretary of State: Gracie Allen. "She can be so charming," says the writer, "and at the same time confuse her adversaries into forgetting what they were complaining about in the first place."

Honest feminine Americans, says Miss Ford, could have this wonderful country from the fate of the Roman Empire. Like Nero who fiddled while Rome burned, she said, "The men are spending like mad while the country goes broke."

If the party of her choice were elected, Miss Ford writes, "we'd

A NEW MAN on the Sanford scene is this affable fellow, Bigelow, known in the building trade as Bigelow Buildit, "a bashful but brilliant builder." Bigelow is the focal interest in a big promotion campaign for Vulcan Materials Building Supply Center. (Herald Photo)

Bigelow Buildit To Promote Vulcan

Here is the story of Bigelow Buildit.

Several months ago, Vulcan Materials Building Supply bought the old Sherman Concrete Pipe Company and decided to revamp the store completely.

First, the building at McCracken Rd. and Persimmon was remodeled inside and out. New decorations were added, and the store was streamlined for maximum storage and display space. Vulcan had already decided to make its new store a one-stop supply house for "built-it-yourselfers" as well as professional builders, so it stocked a complete supply of quality building materials. Everything was carefully arranged to give customers plenty of "browsing" room.

Finally, all was ready. Vulcan's new store was bright and shiny, and chock-full of every type of building material on the market. But there was still a problem. How to tell folks about this new gold mine of building supplies. So Bigelow Buildit was born . . . or created.

Bigelow is featured in a weekly series of newspaper ads, in strategic billboards in and around the city, on directional signs guiding folks to the Building Supply Center and on the store site itself in signs and cut-out displays. He looks rather reserved . . . always shy and smiling, and wearing striped overalls and old-fashioned spectacles. But Bigelow is very positive when it comes to his trade. He announces to one and all that he is "a bashful but brilliant builder."

He also advises both builders and do-it-yourselfers to "breeze by Vulcan for the biggest bevy of better building buys 'a bargain anywhere!'"

The folks at Vulcan want the kids to drop by to see the cut-out Bigelow at the store. "Kids love him," says Vulcan's store manager, "and we hope the parents will grow fond of him, too."

Insurers Hold Sandspur Lead

Irving Pryor's Insurance team added three more to their total, this week, to keep the lead in The Sandspur Bowling League.

They now have 36½ games, in first followed by Foodmart with 33, Robson Sporting Goods 44, Wilson-Maier Furniture 43, The Pig N' Whistle 42½, and Roumilat & Anderson Drugs with 36.

Pryor's took all three games from The Pig, putting that team out of the third spot, and opening the way for Robson to take it over, as they won two from Foodmart. Wilson-Maier lost two to the Druggists, in the other match this week.

Sanford Women End 2nd In Play

Margaret Knight and Shirley Simas took second place honors in the Ft. Myers Bowling Tournament held earlier in the week. The two Sanford bowlers rolled a 1,263 in the doubles series.

Next to the United States, France has the most motor vehicles registered. At the beginning of 1959, there were 6,040,066 vehicles registered in France.

Two Ordained As Church Deacons

U. S. Steel Hour Presents Play With Traces Of Irony In It

BY FRED DANZIG NEW YORK (UPI) — It's all ways appropriate for "the U. S. Steel Hour" to present a play with traces of irony in it.

Wednesday night's offering on CBS-TV, "How to Make a Killing," was billed as a light mystery, set in 19th Century Paris. While it contained a fair share of the usual lightweight ores that go into such things, it also contained some lead in its fancies.

Alan Callow's story dealt with a police inspector's attempt to pin a series of murders on a lovely gold-digger, played by Eva Gabor. Circumstantial evidence wasn't enough for our inspector, affectionately played by the charming Claude Dauphin. He wanted proof positive.

The proof he needed—a letter written by the woman's husband, before his demise—turned up in the play's closing moments. But, in what we have come to accept as normal Gallic style, the triumph of justice would have to wait until one more romantic fling ran its course.

The play, you see, was intended as a pure diversion. The frothy spirit was there most of the time, but a number of scenes betrayed staid, heavy qualities which served to deflate the airy little story.

In brief, the play, directed by Boris Sagal, could have been more successful if its middle portions were as buoyant as its opening, and its closing scenes.

Portraying three roles, Robert Loggia scored best in one, where he played the part of an illegitimate member of a murder-ticketed family. His two other parts saw him wind up as corpse. He didn't handle those as broadly as he might. Dauphin caught the flavor, the broad and somewhat stylized cadences of the story, most successfully. Miss Gabor did a creditable job and Romney Brent, as an assistant inspector, was excellent. Finally, there was the bit part played by Elsa Freed. As Louise, a cook, she unleashed some remarkable sounds. There she was standing in the kitchen and I could have sworn her voice was down in the wide cellar.

Incidentally, author Callow had Inspector Dauphin quote a Latin phrase that meant, "Who benefits?" Frankly, it seemed that Dauphin's more effective approach to crime detection, in the great tradition of French detectives, was based on "cherchez la femme."

Dialing and Piling: If the Post Office Department shows a larger-than-usual deficit this fiscal year, blame it on NBC-TV's "Price Is Right." Bill Cullen announced Wednesday night that from now on only one guess is allowed for each "showcase" bidder.

Hair stylist Ernest Adler, whose name appears on the credits of many TV shows, made one of his rare TV appearances on "The Perry Como Show" Wednesday night. He was the fellow who did a fast job on Eve Arden's beehive hairdo while she sang.

The Channel Swim: "Peter Gunn" shifts to ABC-TV from NBC-TV in the fall... CBS-TV's "Be Our Guest" variety hour, which soon becomes "The Keyhole Brasserie Show," is undergoing major changes in its production staff.

Pat Boone's telecast from Paris on Thursday, April 14 will introduce his ABC-TV viewers to 18-year-old singer Jacqueline Boyer, daughter of the world-renowned Lucienne Boyer.

"76 Men and Peggy Lee" is the title of a 60-min. CBS-TV special for next Thursday. Mel Torme is one of the 76 men on the show... Miss Gabor has cancelled a scheduled appearance on NBC-TV's "Jerry Lewis Show" for Friday, April 15.

Elvis' Dad Plans Marriage

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — Vernon Presley, 44-year-old widower father of singer Elvis Presley, announced Thursday he will marry Mrs. Davada Elliott, prettiest blonde divorcee and mother of three.

Presley said Elvis will be best man at the wedding, which will be "in the very near future."

The 31-year-old Mrs. Elliott, nicknamed "Dad's" girl, met Presley in Germany in 1958. Mrs. Elliott was there with her ex-husband, an Army sergeant, and Presley moved to Germany when Elvis was stationed there by the Army.

Mrs. Elliott said her sons—Billy, Tom, Richard, and David, 4—are very happy having Elvis as a brother.

Actor's Strike May End Today

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — There was high hope formal settlement would be announced today of the 32-day actors' strike against film-and-television major motion picture studios.

Producer Jerry Wald said Thursday the strike was over and he called actors to be ready to report to work. Spokesmen for MGM and Paramount backed up Wald.

But nearly five hours of negotiations by the 14,000-member Screen Actors Guild (SAG) and the Association of Motion Picture Producers (AMPP) ended Thursday night without formal announcement of a strike settlement.

"We can all be very hopeful," negotiators said after the meeting.

Another negotiating session was scheduled for today with the explanation:

"There are some small details to be worked out."

Charles Heston, a C. A. de M. Award-winning actor who is member of the SAG negotiating team, said when asked if Wald's premature announcement impeded Thursday's session:

"It didn't help anything."

Yanks Starting To Roll Again

United Press International
All of a sudden it's time for the rest of the American League start worrying — the Yankees starting to play like the Yankees again.
Now it's three straight victories for the former rulers of the American League, the latest a triumph over Detroit behind combined three-hit pitching of Bob Turley and Ryne Duren.

That sounds more like the Yankee world champs of 1958 than the third-place flops of 1959.
Even Casey Stengel will admit that Grapefruit League victories aren't worth a dime in October, but this was the second straight fine performance by Turley—who has been labeled the key to the Yankee pennant hopes.
Turley, who has abandoned the no-windup style and is firing that rock again, ran his string of scoreless innings to 12 before retiring in the seventh inning of Thursday's game and allowing a run on Neil Chrissy's double and Steve Bilko's single. When he walked the next batter, Duren got the call.

That produced more bad news for Yankee foes, because Duren-like Turley—was in 1958 rather than 1959 form. He finished the game without allowing a hit and blasted a third strike past three batters.
The Yankees scored once in the first inning when Bobby Richardson's drive over the left fielder's head rolled 450 feet for an inside-the-park homer, and another in the fourth on hits by Hector Lopez and Elton Howard and a sacrifice fly by Tony Kubek.

In other exhibition games, the Milwaukee Braves ran their winning streak to six games by whipping Cincinnati, 7-5; the Washington Senators flexed their new muscles in a 10-5 rout of Kansas City; the Baltimore Orioles battered Pittsburgh's opening game pitcher, Bob Friend, 9-8; Matty Alou's slugging led San Francisco to a 4-2 win over Boston; Los Angeles outcrunched the Chicago Cubs, 14-12; St. Louis downed Cleveland, 10-7; and Philadelphia beat its Miami farm club, 5-2.

Three Teams Tied in Bowlerette Loop

The Jet Bowlerette League race for first place is becoming tighter every week.

Sweeney's, Nell's Hair Salon and Trim-ette are all tied for the top spot with nine wins and three losses each.

Ro-Jay's, Yowell's and Duke & Duches follow in second place with a 6-8 mark.

Trim-ette won the first game Wednesday, but their opponent, Sweeney's, added the extra spark missing in the first game to take the next two games by large scores. Arlene Dederling rolled high for the stationary store with her 4-7 scratch.

Nell's Hair Salon made a nice comeback to put them on top by taking four points from House of Bahija Portraits. Betty Dedman of the Beauty Shop turned in high series for her team, while Lucy Mayers topped the most pins for the Portrait Studio.

Duke & Duches took the first game from Ro-Jay's with Lucy King, Bobbie Hackett and Ruby Carlson all rolling high games. However, Ann Conklin's 199 score took the second and only game for Ro-Jay's, for the dress shop came back strong for the third and fourth point.

Mary Esther's never got off the ground this week as they dropped all three games, plus total pins to Yowell's. This winning streak gave Yowell's a 1985 to take over high series honors in the league. Joan Peterson sparked this team with a 524 scratch series.

Palmer Conquers Jinx; Paces Masters Play

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI)—Arnold Palmer conquered his jinx hole, so he figured today that he was well on the road to his second Masters golf championship.

He held a two stroke lead over the field going into the second round and it looked like there would be no stopping him — especially if he can keep out of "Palmer's pond."

He did Thursday to shoot a brilliant five under par 67 — two strokes better than his greatest first round putters — the veteran Claude Harmon, former PGA champion Dow Finsterwald, Jay

Hebert and Fred Hawkins. And while that par three 155-yard water hole turned out to be a major factor in Palmer's round, it turned out to be a nightmare for Ken Venturi.

The 29-year-old Californian had burned up the front line in 31-five under par, equalling the course record — and looked like a good bet to overhaul Palmer until he came to that vital 12th.

Where Palmer got a good break on the hole, Venturi got a bad one, and it so unnerved him that he soared to a six over par 42 on the back nine to wind up with a total of 73.

That duplicated his performance of 1958, when as an amateur, it looked like he had the championship in the bag, but went to pieces on the back nine, wound up with that busaboo 42 and lost out by one stroke to Jackie Burke.

Palmer, the 1958 winner, lost his chance to win last year when he put his tee shot in the water on that 12th hole and wound up with a double bogey, Thursday, his tee shot imbedded in the lip of a sand trap. The officials ruled he was entitled to a free lift.

Seminole High Swimmers Tie Eustis In Meet; Girls Lose

Seminole High's mermen couldn't quite make the grade as they tied with a Eustis high school boys' swimming team Wednesday.

Eustis' Spencer won the 100 yard breast stroke with a one minute, 28.4 second time. He was followed by Furnas of Eustis and Ray of Sanford.

of Sanford was second and Phillips of Eustis was third. Ransick of Eustis was first in the 100 yard butterfly with a 1:33.6 time. Woodward of Sanford was second.

The Seminole mermen went down to defeat before a strong girls swim squad from Eustis.

The 100 yard free style again found Eustis taking first and third spots with Sanford's Lindsey in the middle. Hudson and Dieter were the scorers for Eustis.

Sanford's Bruce won the 200 yard freestyle swim in 3:03.5. Brett and Tippins of Eustis followed. Ferran of Eustis set the pace in the 100 yard back stroke, coming in first with a 1:27.6 time. Shoemaker of Eustis and McKinney of Sanford were second and third.

The final score in the boys' meet was 47-47 as Sanford took first place in the medley relay, butterfly stroke and diving contests.

Sanford's boys really showed their mettle in the diving contest where Ivey and Ray took both top spots. Ivey was first and Ray second.

The Eustis team won again as Johnson came in first with a 1:45 mark in the 100 yard breast stroke. Wilson of Sanford was second and Hiltz of Eustis third.

Lennox of Eustis won the 400 yard race with a time of five minutes, 28 seconds. Middleton of Sanford was second and Shay of Eustis was third.

Morgan of Eustis took the 50 yard swim win with a 22.1 second time. Van Pelt and Lankford of Sanford were second and third.

Richards of Sanford won the 100 yard free stroke in 1:23.5 seconds. Cox and Campbell of Eustis were second and third.

Sanford's Weber was first in the 100 yard butterfly stroke. Weber swam the distance in a 1:18.1 time. He was followed by Taylor and Bennett of Eustis.

Sanford really piled up points in the 133-1/3 yard medley relay in the free relay. The Seminole swimmers won both, the first in a 1:30.2 time and the second in 1:04.6.

Richards of Sanford won the 100 yard free stroke in 1:23.5 seconds. Cox and Campbell of Eustis were second and third.

In the 200 yard freestyle, Hudson of Eustis reached the finish line first with a 2:32.3 time. Ownby of Sanford and Coddling of Eustis followed.

The Seminole mermen won first place in three events but this wasn't enough to keep a stronger Eustis team from a 64-36 win.

Eustis' Hill won the girls diving event. Brett of Eustis came in first in the individual medley with a 2:16.3 time. Shoemaker of Eustis was second and Wilson of Sanford was third.

Sanford's Ivey gave the local swimmers second place in the 100 yard back stroke. Herdgen of Eustis was first with a 1:06.9 time and Brett of Eustis was third. The Seminole boys took second place in six of 11 events.

Bruce of Sanford was first in the 400 yard exhauster with a 6:42.6 time. Hughes and Hill of Eustis followed.

Eustis' girls copied Sanford's boys in the medley and free relay by winning both events. Winning time was 1:33.6 in the medley and 1:30 in the free relay.

The bass fishermen are beginning to get the spring jitters now as reports come in that bass are being taken in several spots and this is the main spawning month for them.

Jim Crowe predicted today that bass action will be getting real exciting "about the 25th of this month." He said some bass are being landed in grassy areas along the St. Johns with the Hawaiian Wiggler type underwater lures.

Billed as the second annual Central Florida Boat Show, the affair has everything, boats and more boats, a crack water ski show, a boat fashion parade and a boat show queen contest.

The bass are beginning to school around the Osteen bridge and fishing should be good in the river in a week or two. Scattered reports from the lakes indicate about the same.

Boats will be on display just north of Orlando on Rt. 441, just across Lee Rd. from famed Ben White Raceway.

Bream are being caught in the flats along the river and shad are "doing fairly well" since the commercial nets have finished their season, Crowe said. With the full moon, there should be another short period of good shad catches for this year, he said.

There will be more boats in the water, giving demonstrations and free spins around the large lake for visitors. The ski show, featuring the 30-member troupe of Tampa Ski Bees, will take place twice each day through Sunday.

Waters which have been the highest since 1953 are receding now and conditions should work out well shortly. The first decline in the river level was about three inches last Saturday and it has gone down slowly but steadily since.

Visitors will register for a bevy of valuable free prizes. These include a 14 ft. boat, motor and trailer; a 24 ft. circular swimming pool; a 20 ft. metal boat part; a pair of Cypress Gardens water skis (a pair each day) and every hour on the hour, a person passing through the gates will receive a Mystic Minnow fishing lure. There will be other prizes as well.

The largest outdoor boat show in Central Florida opened Thursday for a four day run at Big Lake Fairview in Orlando.

EVINRUDE POWERED BOAT sets new world's outboard speed record... 114.65 mph but...

as any Evinrude owner will tell you—
world-record speed is the least of the wonderful things about an EVINRUDE

If you have a yen to go FAST, and don't mind doing it alone, on your knees in a pitching, bouncing racing shell—then almost anybody's big outboard will drive you a whole lot faster than it's safe or sensible to go.

BUT if you're looking for speed AND comfort AND company, too—then the place to find what you're looking for is at your Evinrude Dealer. Because an Evinrude is designed to do ALL of the things boating people like to do—and to do them easier, smoother, quieter, and more economically than they have ever been done before!

Variable Full Range Power—Big bore, short stroke Evinrude motors are designed for a versatile "range" of performance. No need to choose between speed OR power; Evinrude gives you speed AND power. The world record Evinrude V-4 went 114.65 miles an hour while turning up a leisurely 4900 revolutions per minute!

Generous RPM Safety Factor—Evinrude engines are rated for horsepower at a moderate 4500 revolutions per minute—the mid-point of the full-speed operating range of from 4000-5000 r.p.m. At wide-open throttle, an Evinrude is scarcely "breathing hard." This built-in reliability reserve—equivalent to thousands of extra miles of carefree, trouble-free boating—explains why Evinrudes cost less to own than other motors.

Automatic-Type Gearshift—All Evinrude motors (except the 3 hp Lightwin) are equipped with forward-neutral-reverse gearshift. You start and warm up in NEUTRAL—you shift and maneuver with POWER ON. No dead-stick landings, no unexpected jack-rabbit starts with gearshift Evinrude.

High-Speed Fuel Economy—Evinrude motors are designed to deliver outstanding fuel efficiency in the all-important high speed range where most people do most of their boating. The Evinrude Cruise-Throttle produces a further 20% fuel saving for economical cruising.

Smoothness and Quiet—Evinrude pioneered the QUIET, vibration-free outboard motor—and still sets the pace. Today's sound-sealed Evinrudes are smoother than the smoothest inboards—so quiet that at wide open throttle you hear the rush of wind above the hush of the motor. Evinrude gives you speed and quiet, too!

Automatic Choke—With it, anyone can start an electric starting Starflite II or Lark II, without danger of flooding, in any weather from 0° to 110° F. Just turn the key—start, and GO!

Thermostat Temperature Control—Until the thermostat, outboards almost never reached efficient temperature—even in the warmest waters. Today's thermostat-controlled Evinrudes last longer; fuel burns better and goes farther; spark plugs last longer, the engine warms up faster, runs smoother, and trolls better—regardless of water or air temperatures.

Warranty Service Anywhere—If you need warranty service, you may need it far from home, with precious vacation time at stake. Evinrude's liberal warranty service policy is good at any Evinrude dealer—anywhere. And, wherever there's water, you'll find expert Evinrude service.

*At Havasu Lake, Arizona, on March 29th, world record holder Hagl. Strang drove his three-point hydro, powered by "Doc" Jones' modified Evinrude Starflite, at 114.65 m.p.h.—faster than man has ever driven in an outboard before. Amazing as his performance was—even more amazing to racing fans was the fact that he did it on the standard fuel mix of 80/20 regular gasoline! To further confound the experts, his standard-displacement, standard-compression Starflite powered through the official N.O.A. electronic timing traps while turning up a leisurely 4900 revolutions per minute!

According to "Doc" who conceived the idea and sponsored the world record try, "This should prove for all time that you don't need high engine speed or special racing fuels to get high boat speed if you have the right kind of power! We figured that an engine capable of driving a loaded cruiser at 30 m.p.h. could easily handle a propelling hydro at 100. Provided, of course, we could get high torque to hold and drive it!"

Without the contribution of Strang's advanced three-point design and superior driving skill, the world record would still be held where it was before he set it the last time in 1958!

In fact—we suspect that Hagl has done so good a job of redefining outboard speed to unobtainable levels that the whole question of "Who's Fastest?" has now become so completely academic as it is in the subjective field.

Estimates Show 40 Percent Of GOP Voters Cast Ballots In Demo Race

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Private GOP estimates indicated today that close to 40 per cent of the Republicans who voted in the Wisconsin presidential primary crossed over to cast ballots in the Democratic race.

The effect of this crossover voting already is being debated by Sen. John F. Kennedy, who won the Democratic primary, and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, the loser. Humphrey and one of his campaign managers, Gov. Orville L. Freeman of Minnesota, said Thursday Humphrey polled a majority of the Democratic vote and that GOP votes provided Kennedy's margin of victory.

Kennedy released his own set of figures Wednesday with the conclusion that the Wisconsin result would have been the same if only Democrats were allowed to vote in the Democratic primary.

Unlike other states, Wisconsin does not register voters by party and permits them to vote in either the Republican or Democratic primary.

Republicans had been braced for a heavy crossover because Vice President Richard M. Nixon was unopposed in the GOP primary and was unwilling to campaign in the state.

However, they had not expected that as many as 40 per cent of the Republicans voting Tuesday would mark ballots in the Democratic contest.

The 40 per cent estimate was based on a comparison of Nixon's vote and the Republican share of the statewide vote in the 1954 and 1956 elections for governor.

Plumbing Is Important Yardstick In Census

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Why is Uncle Sam so curious about the kind of plumbing used by his millions of nieces and nephews?

Many city dwellers who are being asked by census takers if they enjoy hot and cold running water, a private flush toilet and bathtub are probably wondering about that.

Census officials say the answer is simple. There is no better single yardstick for measuring the quality of a house than checking on its plumbing facilities, or lack of same.

Federal state and local governments, real estate men, and the construction industry all are waiting with keen interest for America's answers.

The 10 questions concerning housing now being asked at every one of the nation's 60 million households include three dealing with hot and cold water, toilets and bathtubs or showers.

At every fourth home, additional details will be sought about TV and radio sets, clothes dryers, automobiles and other furnishings.

Even though the United States is a rich nation, Census Bureau experts anticipate a significant percentage of homes will report they lack indoor plumbing.

In the 1950 census, for example, nearly one out of every four dwelling units did not have a flush toilet. This was true of more than 11 million of the almost 42 million units counted at that time.

The same census showed more than 12 million households did not have either a bathtub or shower.

There is no question but that improvement in housing has been made since 1950, but the Census Bureau believes this is all the more reason for finding out exactly what the situation is now.

Perhaps by 1970, or 1980, officials said it won't be necessary to ask such questions any more.

Labor Racketeer Convicted Of Conspiracy

NEW YORK (UPI) — Labor racketeer John Dioguardi (Johnny Dio) and his alleged bodyguard Theodore Ray were convicted by a federal judge Thursday of conspiracy and income tax evasion.

Dio, 46, faces a possible maximum sentence of 20 years in prison and $40,000 in fines. Ray, also 46, faces a possible 10 years and $20,000 fine.

Federal Judge Edward Weinfeld, who heard the 13-day trial without a jury on the request of the defendants, set April 28 for sentencing. He continued bail for Dio and Ray.

The government called about 50 witnesses to prove its contention that Dio failed to report large sums paid him by clothing firms to avoid union organizing. Dio was charged with three counts of income tax evasion and one count of conspiracy. Ray was charged with one tax evasion count and with conspiring with Dio to hide income.

Lawyers Ask Governor Name Interim Judge

The Seminole County Bar Assn. has requested Governor LeRoy Collins to name an interim appointment to the vacant county judge's office and recommended Attorney Vernon Mize Jr. for the appointment.

Mize qualified as a candidate for the office Friday after the secretary of state earlier had opened qualifications until noon Tuesday after the death of Judge Wilson Alexander.

A telegram from the county bar said "we respectfully request that an appointment be made at the earliest practical date."

Judge Alexander had handled both the county and juvenile court duties so the vacancy leaves two judicial functions on what amounts to an emergency basis for other jurists to fill in.

The interim appointment would be until the end of the current term in January, 1961. The upcoming election will be for a four-year term.

Boating Accident Hospitalizes Four

Four persons were hospitalized Sunday after a boat crashed into the shore north of the Lake Monroe bridge.

Richard Whitman of Orlando said he was looking at the boat's motor when someone yelled "Look out!" Whitman turned sharply to the right and crashed into a wooded area on the edge of the river.

Whitman, 1785 Powers Dr., Orlando; his mother, Mrs. Mary Ann Whitman; his wife, Ruth and his 14-year-old daughter, Karen, were all taken to Seminole Memorial Hospital for treatment. The sheriff's office reported.

Damage to the boat was slight. The accident happened about two miles north of the bridge.

Ray Wilson was the investigating sheriff's deputy. Green brought the Whitmans to the hospital.

Illinois Primary Vote To Be Heavy

CHICAGO (UPI)—Two million voters are expected to turn out Tuesday in an Illinois primary election, the feature of a two-day election in the state.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon is alone on the Republican ballot and the Democrats are without an entry in the presidential popularity contest. Convention delegates in Illinois are not bound by the national election and did not appeal to the Democratic candidates.

However, Republicans urged a heavy turnout to register approval for Nixon and counteract adverse reaction to his vote total in last week's Wisconsin primary.

The primary has spotlighted rifts in both parties. Six men are running for the Republican senatorial nomination and a chance for a November match with Sen. Paul H. Douglas, who is supported by the Democratic ticket.

West Not Fooled By Soviet Plan

GENEVA (UPI)—The West warned Russia today it will not be fooled by the alleged new Soviet disarmament plan because "it's the same old world" dressed in new sheep's clothing.

"Please don't try to smuggle the old Russian plan in through the back door," British Minister of State David Ormsby-Gore told the Communist delegates to the 10-nation disarmament conference.

"No matter how elegant is the sheep's clothing, it's the same old world."

Chief American Delegate Frederick M. Eaton asked why the Soviets had attempted to reintroduce their own plan in the guise of "new principles" for disarmament when they had been told repeatedly it was unacceptable.

Boosters To Discuss Sports Banquet

The Seminole High Boosters' Club will decide whether it will arrange the school's All Sport Banquet at the club meeting tonight.

THE DRIVER SURVIVED THIS WRECK, in which the automobile rolled, skidded and bounced more than 1,000 feet about midnight Saturday near Oviedo. James Hayes told the Highway Patrol and sheriff's deputies that he was blinded by the lights of an approaching car and lost control of his vehicle. The engine, seats, and other parts of the car were strewn along the road and a palmtoe patch. Hayes crawled out of the wreckage with a single scratch on his forehead. (Herald Photo)

Warmer Weather Aids Flood Victims

By United Press International

Soft breezes and fair skies sent temperatures rising through the Midwest today and aided workers cleaning up the remnants of one of the worst spring floods in history.

The swollen Mississippi and Missouri rivers ran above flood stage between southern Illinois and central Missouri. But high levees thwarted the likelihood of more floods like those which struck central Illinois last week.

Rivers were reported falling toward their banks in Nebraska, Iowa, Wisconsin and Kansas and officials said the disastrous floods there appeared to be over.

Temperatures rose 10 to 30 degrees early today over the central plains, northern Mississippi Valley and the upper Great Lakes.

The Southeast and the Montana-Utah area was 10 to 20 degrees cooler today.

Jaycee Prexy Stresses Community Leadership

State Jaycee President Dr. Herbert Stevens told the fourth Jaycee caucus here Sunday that future leads in any community "must come from the ranks of the Jaycees."

Stevens, of Ft. Lauderdale, said there is a "crying need" for leadership in Florida and the majority of that leadership should come from the rank and file members of Jaycee organizations.

"Leadership training is the main job of all Jaycees," Stephens said.

Approximately 130 members of Jaycee groups from the Fourth District attended the caucus at the American Legion building.

Clubs represented included Sanford, Apopka, Eustis, Lakeland, Lake Wales, Leesburg, Longwood, Mt. Dora, Orlando, Umatilla and Winter Haven.

Jaycees heard candidates for Jaycee offices in the state campaign and held an election for the vice president of the district. Roy Walker of Eustis was elected vice president to represent this district.

After the caucus the Jaycees were treated to a dinner prepared by the Jaycee wives under the direction of Mrs. Tom Lergen.

Get Out And Vote, Residents Urged

Seminole County residents were urged again Saturday not to let a minority elect county officials in the forthcoming election.

Sen. Douglas Stenstrom made his second talk about voter apathy at the Seminole County Sportsmen's Assn. rally at Camp Seminole and the two candidates for the Senate seat he is vacating also were on the program.

Urging residents to get out and vote May 3, Stenstrom said that one fifth of Seminole County's eligible voters may decide this year's county elections.

Stenstrom said a reliable statistician has estimated that only 7,600 of Seminole County's 14,000 registered voters will cast their ballots May 3. He said this would let a majority of 4,000 voters decide the elections. There are more than 52,000 people in the county.

If May 3 is a cloudy day, it is figured that 1,500 voters will stay home who might otherwise come to the polls, the senator said. If it rains, even more voters are expected to stay home. Seventy percent of the eligible voters go to the polls in other democracies, he said.

The crowd attending the sportsmen's fish fry and rally heard a talk by S. Gary Bennett Jr. of Cocoa and Bernard Parrish of Titusville said he just wanted to introduce some sportsmen who came along from Brevard County for the fish fry. Parrish was politicking in the county today.

Bennett declared himself against the state inventory tax and against any increase in the sales tax. He said he had defended the Brevard County conservation program and would support reapportionment.

Talks also were made by most of the candidates for other county offices.

Space Cooperation By U. S. Is Urged

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Space Agency Director T. Keith Glennan says he would like for the United States and Russia to work together on manned flight to the moon and other space projects.

Glennan, head of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said Sunday night the United States had made no such proposal to Russia but added, "I would like to see this happen."

He said he thought that "in the space business we have perhaps a new mechanism for international cooperation which we ought to push just as hard as we can."

Glennan said he did not feel America would be in mortal danger even if the Soviet Union gained control of outer space.

"I don't feel that the space business is the only business with which this country must keep pace with the Russians," he said. "... unless we get on with the business of developing science and technology we could fall behind in a variety of fields."

The NASA director said the "strong nation on earth is undoubtedly the nation that will be first in outer space." If the United States lost out entirely in this field, he added, "it would mean we really had given up."

Premier Invited To Resign Post

ROME (UPI)—Premier Fernando Tambroni's Christian Democratic Party doomed his new government today by "inviting" him to resign.

He was expected to quit within hours.

Tambroni was scheduled to go before the Senate late today for a second vote of confidence—having survived his first in the Chamber of Deputies last Friday by a mere three votes, thanks to the unaided aid of the Neo-Fascist Party.

Even before he appeared before the Senate, Tambroni's newly-formed Cabinet was disintegrating on the issue of the Neo-Fascist support.

African Premier's Assailant Still Not Charged

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI)—Police officials conferred today on possible charges to be made against wealthy farmer David Pratt in connection with his attempt to kill Premier Hendrik Verwoerd last Saturday.

But by the close of the day, Pratt had not been brought into magistrate's court for arraignment as expected.

This suggested that authorities regarded his arrest as being under terms of South Africa's emergency regulations which replaced normal habeas corpus procedures.

The 34-year-old Verwoerd lay in Pretoria hospital with two bullets still in his skull. Doctors said his condition was satisfactory, but medical experts feared he may have suffered some permanent damage to his speech, balance and hearing—although his secretary said such was not the case.

Pratt continued their crackdown against Negroes, agitating against the country's South African racial laws.

Vote Spending Continues Rise

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—It appeared today that Florida's 12 candidates for governor would spend about $1,500,000 before the elections are over.

With three weeks remaining until the first primary — and the strong probability of a second primary — the candidates had spent $730,000 through last Monday. Spending for the past week was to be reported today. This was expected to add another $100,000 to the total.

The $730,000 was more than the cost of either of the entire campaigns in 1952 and 1956. In 1952, only five candidates in the field. $510,000 was spent. Six candidates spent $673,000 in 1956, when there was no second primary.

In 1954, with only three candidates, the cost for both primaries totaled $853,721.

According to reports through last Monday, Doyle Carlton spent $213,000; Farris Bryant, $205,000; Hayden Burns, $94,000; John McCarthy, $78,119; Ted David, $58,000, and Fred O. Dickinson, $54,000.
