

League Future Looks Cloudy As Leesburg Threatens To Falter

Hard on the failure of Sanford to finish the season comes a report from Leesburg that Wilbur Cobb's charges may "fold their tents and silently creep away" if Angler fans do not show an interest in a meeting to be held there tonight.

Club directors at Leesburg have declared that if sufficient fan interest failed to develop it was planned to return the franchise to league officials next Tuesday. At the meeting tonight it has been planned to dump the problem into the laps of the fans.

Two weeks ago Sanford directors decided to place the local problem into the laps of fans only to have it tossed right back at them as the few fans present said they would take no responsibility for keeping or abandoning the franchise. Two days later Sanford went under.

Ocala is having financial trouble and had to release Manager Allen Mobley because it was impossible to retain a bench manager. Tommie Smith was placed in charge as a pitcher-manager.

Daytona directors are now breathing easily again after a scare that they might have to drop from the league due to lack of money. An appeal to the city government was met with success and the Islanders are assured backing to keep them in the league for the remainder of the season.

Wet weather and small crowds are dogging the directors of almost every club in the league. Leesburg, Ocala and Gainesville have already given indication that their positions were shaky but denied it all when a chance came to get Palatka into the league. Each wired Palatka a statement that they would remain in the league through the season.

Daytona drew a little over 150 fans at each of the last two home games they played. Wednesday night the turnout was typical of the crowds at this stage of the season.

Nova Pipes Up With The Usual 'Til KO The Guy'

NEW YORK, June 27.—(AP)—Lou Nova says his September heavyweight championship fight with Joe Louis won't go more than two or three rounds.

"We'll get together pretty quickly and start punching," he says. "Then someone's got to fall. I think it's gonna be Joe."

"I'm sure Joe'll go down," says Ray Cavill, Louis' manager. "Gosh, I'm as sure of Lou winning now as I am that the sun will rise tomorrow."

"I had a few little doubts before the Conn bout but no more. Goodness that powder-puff puncher had Louis groggy. Think what Lou will do to him. Boy, Lou would have knocked him stiff if he had had him that night," Ray said.

"All those other boys cover before Joe when he's hit. Lou won't cover. He comes back gugging and carries the fight to you."

"Anyone will tell you that Max Baer is a harder one-punch hitter than Louis. He isn't as good a finisher and he won't hit you as many times but blow for blow he hits harder than Joe. And Lou took his best shots, didn't he? He not only took them but he pounded Max heavily, cut him up and scored technical knockouts over him."

"If I can take Baer's punches, he can take Joe's Sunday pitch."

"And what about Joe? Well he won't be able to take Lou's blows. He has shown that he doesn't take a blow any Joe will. But those who have hit and hurt him after didn't follow up or like Conn, didn't have quite enough power to knock him out," Ray said.

"Yeah, it shouldn't go more than three rounds, Nova agrees. 'I've said for three years that I would become a heavyweight champion. Nothing has ever made me change my mind. I'm more sure of it now than ever before."

"Fella say that I've got poor footwork and that I can be hit easily with a right hand. They're right—but who has ever knocked me out? And don't forget Louis is also easy to hit with a right. I can take his right better than he can take mine."

Golf Pro Fixes It For Cobb And Ruth To Look Good

NEW YORK, June 27.—They are going to give Babe Ruth and Ty Cobb a break when the two earnest but inept old baseball immortals renew their charity golfing feud today out at Fresh Meadow Country Club.

Considering the care that is being taken, in fact, it would not be surprising to see both of them break into the seventies.

At Club, the club pro, had a force out with measuring tapes late Thursday planting the flags in the exact center of the greens, so that two putts should suffice from almost any point, and he also had them dusting off the ladies' tees.

Ordinarily Fresh Meadow is a very tough proposition, streets are nearly 1000 yards from the clubhouse and 18 holes. The Babe assigned no reason for this bit of strategy. He's deep, the Babe.

An added attraction will be Arthur Donovan, the famous fight referee, trading along and umpiring the match in a vague sort of way. Arthur's ability to now and then, as the count to 1 should come in handy Meadow traps are deep.

U. S. Embassy In England To Get 60 Marines

Detachment Is Sent To Help Communications Between American Offices

Three Officers Included In Unit

Group To Serve Also As Fire Watchers To Assist Staff

WASHINGTON, June 28.—(AP)—The Navy Department announced today a small detachment of Marines had been sent to London to facilitate communications between the various United States offices located there.

The Navy said the Marines—three officers and 60 men—also would assist as fire watchers and thus "serve to relieve the already overburdened embassy staff."

The War Department yesterday asked Congress to authorize a far-reaching purge of unfit officers whose retention Acting Secretary of War Patterson warned would constitute a danger to national security.

Almost immediately after the request was received Senator Thomas, Democrat, Utah, introduced a bill on behalf of Chairman Reynolds of the Senate Military Affairs Committee, to carry it out.

Thomas said the bill calls for investigation of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps by a special committee which would be headed by General Marshall, chief of staff, that the Army is making every effort to improve its quality, vigor and efficiency and that the Navy and Marine Corps are doing the same.

Thomas said the bill calls for investigation of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps by a special committee which would be headed by General Marshall, chief of staff, that the Army is making every effort to improve its quality, vigor and efficiency and that the Navy and Marine Corps are doing the same.

He said the proposed purge would not hit more than 2 percent of the officers in each grade. These men, he invited, must be removed if they are "unable to stand up under the strain to which they must be subjected if we are to build up a modern Army capable of meeting the present demands of modern combat."

Victory Denies Rumors Of Gamelin's Escape

VICTORY, June 28.—(AP)—Rumors that General Maurice Gamelin had escaped from his place of confinement were officially denied today.

Previously the German radio had reported in a Victory dispatch that Gamelin, former generalissimo of the allied forces has escaped from a prison at Bourdeaux and was the object of a search by police.

Gamelin has been under arrest since Sept. 16, 1940, by order of the Marshal Pétain government, and was held with other senior high-ranking Frenchmen for trial over their responsibility for the French Declaration of war and the collapse of France.

Midshipman Hunt Goes Into Finals

HAVESFORD, Pa. June 28.—(AP)—Midshipman Joe Hunt had to bring out his heaviest guns yesterday to down Little Joe Davis, of Vanderbilt University and win his way into the finals of the national intercollegiate tennis tournament for the second straight year.

The top-seeded Naval Academy student, fourth ranking player in the nation, won in straight sets, 6-2, 6-4, 6-4, at the Merion Cricket Club.

Production Credit Directors Report Year Of Progress

Another year of progress was reported by directors of nine production credit associations who gathered at Jacksonville last week for a group conference, according to Ralph B. Chapman, president of the Sanford Production Credit Association, which serves Seminole, Orange, Lake, Volusia, Brevard, and Osceola counties.

Associations represented were Bradenton, Florida Citrus, Gainesville, Jacksonville, Lakeland, Miami, Merriana, Sanford and Monticello. The secretaries of the associations also attended the conference as did several representatives of the Production Credit Corporation of Columbia and of other units of the Farm Credit Administration of Columbia.

Plans for further improving the service which these farmers' cooperative short-term credit organizations offer to their members were discussed. Attending from the Production Credit Corporation of Columbia were W. A. Minor, Jr., president; Glenn R. Miller, secretary; and Jack Frost, assistant secretary. The roundtable discussions were participated in by all of the directors.

Reports submitted at the meeting revealed that all of the associations represented had a good year in 1940 and that all of them are doing what they were created for—furnishing their members with short-term credit service at the lowest cost possible.

Attending from the Sanford association in addition to Mr. Chapman were C. E. Clonis, John Malachuk, Jr., director, and J. R. Davidson, secretary-treasurer. The Sanford association has to date made 82 loans this year totaling $233,538.01.

Over Million Marked For Blanding Health

WASHINGTON, June 28.—(AP)—Representative Green of Florida said the government probably would spend $1,055,000 for sanitary and health facilities in the Camp Blanding area under the Lanham community facilities bill.

These expenditures were listed as "first priority" projects in estimates submitted by Security Administrator Paul V. McNutt. The Lanham bill has been passed by both the House and Senate and a conference committee has adjusted differences between the two branches. It is expected to go to the White House soon.

Jan Investigated For Taking Photos

MIAMI, June 28.—(AP)—Detectives Harry Fouts and D. E. Fouts said yesterday they were holding for investigation a Japanese they found taking motion pictures.

The detectives said they seized on the man's hotel room additional rolls of film which the Japanese possessed was largely of Miami waterfront warehouses and dock areas.

They identified the man as one Mitsuru Ito, who said he was a representative of one of Japan's largest exporting firms. He will be held for examination by immigration authorities.

Senate Votes Extension Of Dollar Power

Roosevelt Also May Operate Stabilization Fund For Two Additional Years

WASHINGTON, June 28.—(AP)—By a vote of 40-20 the Senate passed and sent to the white house today legislation continuing for two years President Roosevelt's power to revalue the dollar and operate a $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund.

The dollar already has been cut to about 59 percent of its old gold content. Approved legislation would permit an additional reduction to 50 percent.

Meanwhile, a $1,250,000,000 increase in funds for price-pegging crop loans was approved by the Senate Banking Committee along with a four-year extension in the life of the commodity credit corporation, government agency that makes these loans.

The committee struck out a House approved provision directing the Secretary of Agriculture to maintain prices at 85 percent of parity for foods or crops, production of which was expanded to meet aid-defense demands.

Britain Uses Decoy Planes Of Rubber

AKRON, Ohio, June 28.—(AP)—An Akron manufacturer disclosed Friday that Britain is using decoy planes of rubber, inflated like balloons, to lure enemy raiders into wasting bombs.

Cliff Slusser, vice president in charge of production, said Goodrich Tire & Rubber Company had built life-sized planes, with exteriors exactly duplicating those of fighting ships, out of rubber. From overhead, and even close on the ground, the deception is so complete it baffles experienced pilots.

The rubber planes already built by Goodrich include English Spitfires—now is used in Britain and other types which have been sent overseas, Slusser said.

Sanford Resident Has Unusual Phone Call

Malcolm MacNeill, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. MacNeill, 823 Park Avenue, is eating supper the other night when the telephone rang. When he answered it, he found it was his father, calling from some where in the Bahamas via a long-distance telephone.

Across several hundred miles of land and water, father and son had a nice chat about what each had been doing. Mr. MacNeill, who returned last night reported good luck fishing.

Column Which Penetrated Into Polish Buffer Zone Sailed Turned Back

Moscow Reveals Other Victories

Hitler Says He Will Announce Big Successes On Sunday

LONDON, June 28.—(AP)—Hitler "all beyond control" were still racing in the important German port of Bremen and its shipyards after an unusually heavy night attack by British bombers.

The announcement was made as new waves of day-bomber attacks were roaring out again over the North-Sea French coast, indicating the ferocity of last night's assault. The British acknowledged the loss of 12 bombers—a number in excess of previous acknowledged losses on such raids.

The Red Army, now standing on the old Russian frontier to bar the road to Moscow, reported today its tanks, planes and artillery in blitzkrieg style has routed a German column which had cut deep into the Polish buffer zone.

The smashing of this column, the Russian said, took place somewhere west of Minsk, a scant 20 miles inside the proper and about 400 miles southwest of Moscow.

Moscow claimed two other important victories—a million-man Soviet regiment in the Belorussian sector and "large" units of Panzer troops in the tank sector of Poland.

The hour of payment for the cost of wild imperialism and the most impudently violent nations has been asserted Moscow.

From Berlin came word that Adolf Hitler's field headquarters had announced that "our successes in the eastern theater of the war will be made known by a special announcement Sunday."

Model Airplane Meet Expected To Attract 50 Enthusiasts From All Parts Of Florida To Gather Sunday

Half a hundred model airplane fliers from all parts of Florida are expected here to meet to compete in the second annual meet sponsored by the Sanford Rotary Club in conjunction with the Sanford Model Plane Club.

The meet will be held at the old municipal airport. Classes which will be represented are Palm Beach, Daytona and St. Petersburg.

The planes will be in three classes, rated according to motor placement and wing area. A fourth group, planes powered by rubber bands, will also be entered. Model plane parts and accessories worth over $100 will be offered as prizes.

First prize for Class C will be an Ohlson motor. For Class B, it is the next group. Class A is an Ohlson 21, and another Ohlson motor will be given as the first prize in Class A. In addition, the Hofmann Electric Service trophy will be given to the Sanford flier who keeps his plane in the air the longest.

Spectators are invited to watch the meet, and no admission will be charged. "We want as many Sanford people as possible to come out and see what the boys are doing," said W. D. Hofmann, one of the fliers.

Sandwiches and cold drinks will be available. Model plane registration will take place at 8:30 o'clock.

Among the Sanford boys who are expected to enter the competition are W. E. Holleyhead, Bill Hollenhead, W. D. Hofmann, Dale Hofmann, Wade Singletary, Sam Thurmond, Charlie Park, Jimmie Ingley, Alfred Doudney, Francis Armstrong, James Trawick and Ernest Brotherson.

Turtle Race At Fort Mellon Park Won By Randall Goff, David Bach

Randall Goff and David Bach, both of Sanford, won the turtle derby held yesterday at Ft. Mellon Park as the most turned turtle in the swimming contest.

Despite the weather, the men were ready to take their little four-legged, long-necked turtles in the water.

The turtles were divided into five-dollar first prize and ten-dollar prize classes. At the start of the race, the turtles were in a line, but the box was lifted and the turtles were in a line.

Scrambles, which the turtles made, were not unusual. The turtles were in a line, but the box was lifted and the turtles were in a line.

Others hurried to the water, but seemed to stick out of the water to win by a nose. A turtle, which had been in the water, but had not been in the water, was the lucky five for the day.

The winners of the turtle race were Randall Goff, Nelson D. Goff, George D. Goff, and George D. Goff.

In the final race, the turtles were still when the box was lifted to conserve their energy for a headlong dash for the water.

Encouragement of the turtles was given by the crowd, and the turtles were in a line.

Suddenly three of the turtles broke from the pack and headed for the outside of the crowd. At three o'clock, the turtles were in a line.

Sanford Children Will Be On Radio

Two Sanford children will appear on the March of Dimes program tomorrow at 12:30 o'clock over the National Broadcasting Company's network, though neither of them knows the other will appear.

The two are Lydia Wieboldt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Wieboldt, and Audrey Bach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip R. Bach. Lydia has been visiting her aunt in Philadelphia and will go to New York from there. Audrey is spending the summer with her grandparents in New York; the program will be heard over station WJHO, Orlando.

J. B. Ray, 55, Dies After Six Weeks' Illness

J. B. Ray, 55, died in Baltimore, Md., at 6:10 P. M. Friday after an illness of six weeks.

Born at Harwell, S. C., he came to Sanford in 1913 as train dispatcher for the Atlantic Coast Line railroad. He entered the service of the railway in 1902 and formerly was employed at Waycross, Ga.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Maude Ray of Sanford, a daughter, Mrs. Byron S. Stephens, Tampa; a son, Troy Ray, Sanford; a grandson, Troy Ray, Jr., also of Sanford, and four brothers and three sisters.

The body is being sent from Baltimore. Funeral arrangements under the direction of the Erickson Funeral Home, will be made later.

National Guards May Be Retained

CAMP BLANDING, June 28.—(Special)—The 10,385 National Guardsmen from Florida, Alabama, Louisiana and Mississippi, who have served with the 31st Division here since induction last Nov. 25 learned officially that steps have been taken to retain them in the service for longer than a year, as originally planned.

"For some time," an official announcement said Friday, "the War Department has been flooded with queries from the field as to whether or not the National Guard is to be allowed to return home after 12 months of service. There are many adjustments which, however, the decision, the citizen-soldier must make in his affairs."

Penacola Said Only City With Paralysis

TALLAHASSEE, June 28.—(AP)—The State Board of Health reported today that Penacola is the only Florida city that has any infantile paralysis at the present time.

Dr. Harry B. Smith, director of epidemiology, said 21 cases had been reported from Penacola, in extreme southern Florida.

Miami, in extreme southern Florida, had 42 cases earlier this year, but no case has been reported there for three weeks, Dr. Smith said.

Summer resort areas have no cases, Dr. Smith said, and "we can see no reason why visitors should not come to Florida as contemplated."

County Health Unit

Of the utmost importance in building up the health of the people in the various communities in Seminole County is the establishment here of a County Health Unit as outlined yesterday by Dr. J. N. Patterson of the State Board of Health.

This County Health Unit if established here would consist of a qualified doctor, nurse, sanitary officer and assistants who would devote their entire time to ferreting out cases of contagious disease and preventing its spread, both by isolating the patient from the rest of the community and by curing the disease.

If the work of the unit were confined to venereal disease alone it would be well worth the cost. The number of cases of this disease in Seminole County is increasing and up to now it is still possible for persons having it to go without proper treatment so necessary for a cure, to avoid isolation so as not to endanger the health of others, and in fact to carry the disease right into homes or places of business where everyone may be more or less exposed.

The County Health Unit would make this sort of thing impossible. It would have the power to make infected persons continue treatment until they are cured. It would also have the facilities for tracing cases to their origin where a source which may be infecting large segments of the community could be eliminated.

This is but a small part of the work of the County Health Unit but it serves to show the extent to which it goes in protecting the health of the community. The same sort of thoroughness is carried out with respect to tuberculosis and other infectious diseases. Seminars are held for instruction in pre-natal care, and the result is greatly reducing the hazards of motherhood and increasing the chances for health among the new-born.

As for the expense of the unit, that must be born equally by the taxpayers of the county and of the state. For every dollar which Seminole County puts up toward defraying its expenses the State contributes another dollar. As an indication of the importance with which the County Health Unit is viewed in other quarters is the first question asked by many possible new residents or winter visitors, "Do you have a County Health Unit?"

Nowadays anyone hesitates to locate in any community that is remiss about this or antiquated in its methods of dealing with public health problems.

Uncle Sam's Budget

About a generation ago one of the most famous stories in America was "Brewster's Millions." It was the story of the difficulties which a man encountered in trying to spend a million dollars in one year.

It is gratifying to learn that the federal revenue is far above estimates, and will establish a new record. The extra billion dollars for the 1941 fiscal year, ending July 1, will come in handy and there will be no trouble in spending it. In fact it is already spent and a few billions in addition.

Total collections for the year are estimated at $3,900,000,000, exceeding the 1920 mark by nearly $2,000,000,000. The huge receipts are attributed to the new tax bills and to the rapid increase in the national income to $30,000,000,000.

"America has reason to be pleased with the income, and its wide distribution, although much may come directly or indirectly through defense activities. According to the figures, about 10 percent of the total income is now going to the government in the form of various taxes. That may not be so delightful, but the percentage will be larger next year.

"It is also gratifying, and even more surprising, to have the treasury announce that the spending is below estimates, being about $12,000,000,000. This is a billion below the expectations, just as revenue is a billion above. If this trend would only continue, America might yet see the two meet and the budget balanced. That would be cause for national celebration."

Seven Homeless Regimes Want Work For Reunion With Their People

LONDON, June 23. —(AP)—"Through long years of practice, we establish certain routines of conspiracy that are standing us in good stead now."

An official of the Polish government in exile was revealing how he and his countrymen were profiting by the lesson they learned 25 years ago, when they were planning how to reclaim their land from Germany and Russia, who now have occupied it again.

Today's exiled government is in almost the same binds as that of World War times. It is one of seven homeless regimes beset by problems of finance, communication and language, which attempt remote control of their nations from London. The others are the governments of Norway, Belgium, Czechoslovakia, Greece, Yugoslavia and the Netherlands.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, who has been a vocal champion of the exiled governments, said today:

"The Polish government in exile is one of the best examples of a government in exile. It has been a constant champion of the cause of the exiled governments."

Russians Claim To Have Pushed Back Nazi Army

(Continued From Page One) The Soviets claimed today that they had pushed back the invaders in savage rearguard fighting, and still were holding fast in the south.

A great German-Soviet tank battle took place in the Lubec area of central Poland, and on the Bessarabia-Rumanian frontier counter-attacking Red troops crossed the Danube by night and seized 500 prisoners and much booty, a Soviet communique said.

The Red Army acknowledged the great German advance in the north on a 250-mile front extending from the area of Silesia to the Baltic coast, down to Vilna and Bessarabia in northern Poland. This indicated a general German gain of 120 miles or more.

But the Soviets said in the intermittent counter-attacks they destroyed 40 more German tanks, seized prisoners and equipment, and overwhelmed a Nazi field headquarters. A German general was killed in this action, they said.

Berlin again was vague and general. The German news service declared Nazi troops had made a deep penetration in the Russian defense line at an undisclosed point — the reference might have been to the Russian center — and that an entire Red division of perhaps 15,000 men, complete with tanks had been annihilated.

This agency and the radio put out other and similarly undeciphered reports of German successes. The Red Army's field headquarters simply reported his troops "victorious on all fronts" and promised for the third consecutive day that great news for the German "people" would be "made known shortly."

Moscow's acknowledgment that the Red Army had fallen back in Lithuania and old Poland before two German armored columns seeking to cut off Minsk, the White Russian capital, implied an aggregate German penetration 120 miles deep in Russian territory in that area.

Powering, round-headed Timoshenko's military career began when, as a peasant youth, he was mobilized into the czar's army in the World War. His cavalry division was one of the first to go Bolshevik.

His most satisfying personal triumph probably came when he led his army into Bessarabia, led by Rumania last year. Timoshenko was born in Bessarabia 46 years ago and had seen his home-land fall to Rumanians after the World War. Campaigns were present for his reunion with his family after 20 years, and much was made of it in Russian papers.

Soviet Russian Army Head Won Finnish Conflict

(Associated Press) Finnish ski troops and the coldest winter in half a century were stalling the gigantic Russian army in its tracks in January, 1940. Military experts were concluding that perhaps Moscow's military might was a fable.

Then Marshal Semion Timoshenko was called in. Slowly, ponderously the army pulled itself together. Finally the Mannerheim Line was smashed, and Timoshenko was a Russian hero.

Stalin named him defense commander over Kliment Voroshilov, who became chairman of the defense committee, a backseat job.

Immediately Timoshenko started rehabilitating the politics-infested army. He reduced the political commissars, installed in the early days when the Soviet was sure of some of its officers, to the status of assistants. He revived officers ranks, which had been abolished in favor of comradeships of various grades, tightened discipline and created decorations of merit.

He sent officers out for more field work, staged war games that emphasized more unified defenses and more flexible defenses. Russian military journals said Timoshenko had ordered Timoshenko to undertake reforms "based on the experience of recent wars," presumably the Russo-Finnish campaign and the European war.

Sanford Visitor Describes Flight Before Germans

(Continued from Page One) Paris May 22 for Biarritz, on the southern coast. This was the day that King Leopold of the Belgians capitulated to the Germans.

Miss Benson said she found Biarritz "quite normal" despite the terrific battle that was being waged in northern France. Many Paris shopkeepers had moved to the resort city and were doing a lively business. Hotels were jammed, and it was common sight to see people sleeping on lobby floors.

Because of the rigid censorship which blanketed authentic news reports, people in Biarritz had only a hazy idea of how the war was going, Miss Benson said. They waited confidentially and patiently for a "grande offensive" or a counter-attack.

Miss Benson was still in Biarritz on June 14 when Paris fell. She remembered how the French people cried in the streets when Marshal Petain informed them that their capital had been taken by German conquerors.

During her stay in the coast resort Miss Benson had been making arrangements to leave for Lisbon, in order to return to the United States. Americans were not allowed to go to Bordeaux to see their consul, so she came to them. There were 450 other Americans seeking passage in addition to Miss Benson and the German consular agent, "convoyed" them, to St. Jean de Luz. It was this port that the survivors of the torpedoed Zamzam were taken to later.

From St. Jean de Luz the refugees group were taken to Hendaye, the last French city before entering Spain. There was a bridge there which it was necessary to cross to enter Spain. Though the bridge was only about 300 feet long, it took Miss Benson 12 hours to get across it because of the border formalities and the intense traffic congestion.

After crossing the bridge into Spain, the group was in Irún, and they remained here while an American consul arranged for a bus to take them to Bilbao. After a night ride which she remembers as pleasant despite the fact that she was sitting on a piece of luggage all the way, Miss Benson and the others reached Bilbao, where they took a train across the Spanish border into Portugal.

Because of an epidemic of influenza, the airport was closed and the group had to wait several days before they could be taken to Lisbon. Miss Benson and the others were taken to Lisbon on July 16, and the next afternoon they were taken to the United States.

Now that Miss Benson has settled down in the large apartment house where she is staying, she has had time to reflect on the hurried days and strange events which occurred just before she left Paris.

"You in American don't know what war is like," she said, "I was in Paris, and I saw the Germans, and I saw the French people. It was a terrible experience."

"Everyone in Paris, no matter who he was, was required to wear an identification card with him at all times, because of the fifth columnist and spies. News was scarce, for the same reason."

Paris was gay, however, during the winter of 1934-40. The streets, because of the nightly blackouts, were pitch dark, but cafes were open and girls, who were in high spirits, were asked to light it only when crossing streets. Automobiles did not use headlights, but accidents were very few because they moved so slowly," she said.

Benson told how strict the blackout restrictions were. "When I came home at night, I had to wear a mask and a hood to keep my face from being seen. If I was caught without a mask, I was fined 100 francs."

After the restrictions of Paris, Hamilton, Ohio and its sisters and brothers in Virginia.

Miss Eve Grogan of Martinsville, Va., is the guest of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Clark.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward Cochran and sons, Ward and Eugene, of Jacksonville, formerly of Sanford, are spending a few days here visiting with relatives and friends.

Among those returning yesterday from Camp St. Mary, Trout Lake, Ariz. Park, were Sunday School, Betty Rose Ball, Mrs. Ann Galloway, Katherine Ball, and others.

$14,000,000 In Homes Invested By FHA Agency

JACKSONVILLE, June 22.—(AP) Special.—Marking the seventh anniversary of the Federal Housing Administration, nearly $14,000,000 in private capital has been invested in homes and home Florida under the FHA program in that time. H. M. Parrish, FHA state director, said today in reviewing accomplishments of that agency. The establishment of the Federal Housing Administration was authorized in the National Housing Act which became a law on June 24, 1934, after enactment by Congress.

Parrish said that more than $75,000,000 of the 114 million total represents mortgages on nearly 20,000 homes which have been insured by FHA about $25,000,000 in loans for home modernization and repairs were made under the FHA property improvement credit plan, in excess of $1,100,000 in mortgages on rental housing projects were insured, and the remaining $12,500,000 is approximately the amount of equity required of those families who have acquired homes under the FHA Better Housing Program.

In all, nearly 78,500 Florida families have improved their housing standards under the FHA program in the seven years of operation. Of these, nearly 20,000 acquired homes of which more than eight out of ten were newly constructed under FHA guidance; of the remaining number, more than 58,000 improved their living standards through repairing, remodeling, modernizing or otherwise improving their homes under the FHA property improvement credit plan.

Providing channels for investment of private capital and the improvement of housing conditions are only two of the major accomplishments of the Federal Housing Administration during its seven years of operation in Florida, Parrish pointed out. It also has succeeded in raising housing standards generally in the state's urban areas through its minimum construction requirements and property standards which have, to a large extent, eliminated many of the perils of "flaky-building," which were so prevalent during the 20's.

"CHRISTIAN SCIENCE" is the subject of the lesson sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world on Sunday, June 23. The Golden Text is: "The Lord hath made bare his holy arm in the nations, and all the ends of the earth shall see the salvation of our God." (Isaiah 42:1).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson Sermon is the following from B. H. H. "And they shall teach no more every man his neighbor, and every man his brother, saying, Know the Lord; for they shall all know me from the least of them unto the greatest of them, saith the Lord." (Isaiah 54:13).

The Lesson Sermon also includes the following quotation from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Science is an accumulation of divine ideas which, when rightly used, will not only a material world, but a divine life, and a new world, which leads into all truth." (p. 127:26-29).

WORDS FOR YOUR SCRIPBOOK WORDS: THEIR POWER AND BEAUTY. He sent his word and healed them, and delivered them from their destruction. (Isaiah 60:1, 2).

Without knowing the Law of words, we can do nothing. We know that words are the power of God, and that they are the key to the kingdom of heaven. We can do nothing without them. We can do nothing without them. We can do nothing without them.

Words are the power of God. They are the key to the kingdom of heaven. We can do nothing without them. We can do nothing without them. We can do nothing without them.

Co-operation Pledged In Aluminum Drive

TALLAHASSEE, June 22.—(AP) Florida's cooperation in a campaign to collect scrap aluminum for defense was pledged Friday night to Mayor L. G. Ord, U. S. director of civilian defense.

Governor Holland, as chairman of the Florida Defense Council, will direct the campaign. County defense councils and civic organizations will cooperate. The statewide drive will start July 21. It already has begun in several larger cities.

The Indian tribal name Assiniboine means "stone boiler," from the practice of cooking by dropping hot stones into vessels of water.

Mr. Isador Gerson, of New York City, looks at a picture of his son, Nathan, 18, who was a member of the crew of the submarine O-9 when it went down in 402 feet of water off Portsmouth, N. H. With Mr. Gerson is another son, Sol, 16, who, when Nathan was assigned to the O-9, received a letter from him stating how lucky he was to be placed on the undersea craft.

The U. S. Submarine O-7, classmate of the ill-fated O-9, is with a displacement of 480 tons, was making a test dive off the coast of Maine in the area known as the Isles of Shoals. Approximately 80 men were reported aboard.

Mrs. Elizabeth Livermore Forbes, of Boston, is shown with two of her three children as she was graduated from Radcliffe College for Women, Cambridge, Mass. She received a bachelor of arts degree. Her youngest child is only a year-and-a-half old. Her husband, a prominent attorney, is now with the naval reserve in Washington.

Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox tosses a floral wreath upon the waters of Portsmouth, N. H., 400 feet above the resting place of the submarine O-9, as the navy holds final services for the 29 men aboard the ill-fated craft. Speaking from the deck of the submarine Triton, Knox saluted the disaster victims for heroism in the line of duty.

The Glenn Martin Company in Baltimore, Md., unveils the latest American-built weepen for the R.A.F. The plane was built exclusively for the R.A.F. It is powered by two 1,600 horsepower motors and carries a power-driven gun turret.

Polish tanks and Nazi motorized troops are shown taking part in a huge parade of mechanized forces in Bresl-Litovsk, Poland, shortly after both armies had divided Poland. Bresl-Litovsk is on the triangular border which divided Poland between the two invaders. Now, Moscow has admitted advancing German forces have captured the town for their own.

Lieut. Howard J. Abbott (left) of Oskola, Iowa, was commanding officer of the 23-year-old submarine O-9, lost when she submerged in a test dive off the New Hampshire coast. Ensign Mark P. Waugance (center) from San Diego, Cal., was second in command of the sub, and Rear Admiral J. D. Walwright (right) commandant of the Portsmouth, N. H., Navy yard, was in charge of the rescue work.

Sydney B. Redecker (Among the American consuls ordered by the Nazis to close their offices is Sydney B. Redecker, consul at Frankfurt. He is charged with having "delivered addresses in support of propaganda unfriendly to Germany." All consulates in Germany and in most occupied territory were ordered closed.)

Mrs. William Phillips (Wife of the United States ambassador to Italy, Mrs. William Phillips is pictured as she arrived in Jersey City, N. J., aboard the liner Exeter after a voyage across the perilous Atlantic from Lisbon. She said she saw no signs of anti-American feeling in Rome despite official tensions between Italy and the U. S.)

Robert Lyle Ames (First American accepted for service in Britain's civilian technical corps City, N. J., aboard the liner Exeter after a voyage across the perilous Atlantic from Lisbon. She said she saw no signs of anti-American feeling in Rome despite official tensions between Italy and the U. S.)

This shoulder insignia has been adopted for Uncle Sam's new armored force. The gun superimposed on the tank symbolizes the fire power of the force while the lightning bolt suggests its speed. Divisions are indicated by the appropriate numeral in the apex of the triangle.

Maj. Gen. William F. Donovan (President Roosevelt's special representative James William J. (Wild Bill) Donovan of New York will be a Special Counsel to coordinate American military intelligence and to help in the United States' war effort. He is a member of the War Relocation Authority.)
