Greece Offers Condolence To Ministry Of Marine Over Regrettable Accident Which Was Long Unreported

PARIS, Oct. 12. (INS)—A message of condolence for the loss of the French submarine Ondine, which is believed to have been rammed by the Greek steamship Platerini Goulandris off Portugal, was received by the Ministry of Marine today from the Greek cabinet. There were 43 officers and men on the submarine and it is feared that all perished. The Greek Legation at London is proceeding to Rotterdam to interview the captain of the Greek steamer and obtain the details of the disaster. The ministry of marine learned tonight that the tragedy occurred about midnight Oct. 3, when the submarine was rammed off Oporto by the Greek cargo carrier, Alkaterini M. Goulandris. The advice came in brief dispatches from the French consul at Rotterdam. The ministry was totally at a loss to explain why the captain of the Greek steamer waited until today to report the accident. They were dumbfounded, too, by the fact that he abandoned a search for survivors or wreckage within two hours after his steamer hit the Ondine.

THE FARMER'S ADVICE

By Alafia Smith
 It is no strange that 90 per cent of the people in this world want money and yet know so little about it. They hold onto a dollar until it fairly squeaks from being held so tight.

I imagine other dollar bills and five dollar bills will be looking on and saying to themselves "I'm going to be away from that fellow if he treats money that way."

To such a person I will say: "Don't hold on to the money so tight. For getting money is not found in that way."

Money and the possession of it I might say, wealth depends upon the attitude of your mind. If you think wealth will come to you and spend your penny with a smile, but if you think poverty, as the old proverb says, "poor people do then you will know what poverty is."

If you are really of what you do not get the money.

If you are nothing to think so.

Complete Home Furnishers

SANFORD FLORIDA, OCTOBER 12TH 1928

DEAR FRIENDS:

We wish there was some way to convince you of the tremendous values being offered in this close-out of the former Smith Bros. high quality furniture stock. It is not a cut price sale, but it is a close-out of every single piece of furniture in our store which we purchased from a receiver in bankruptcy for less than half of the original wholesale cost and the former Smith Bros. stock was highest quality furniture!

By necessity we have not the floor space that the former Smith Bros. Furniture Store had—and we have in transit our new fall stock and it is highly imperative that we move the furniture on our floor within a very few days. This situation caused drastic reductions throughout the entire store and it is positively your last opportunity to share in almost unbelievable furniture values.

This event is a great money-saving treat in home furnishings. We have listed only a few of the rare values as we much prefer your passing judgment on quality and price in the store where you can inspect our offerings at your leisure.

The quality of the former Smith Bros. stock is unquestioned—everyone knows that it was the best and now we are trying to impress upon you the fact that without question the prices now prevailing are an inducement to everyone to buy.

We are fully aware of the fact that money is scarce—yet when such a stupendous opportunity to save on unusually high quality furniture is offered, your common sense will dictate your purchase. Nothing is more appreciated than a beautiful and comfortable home—you will be delighted with this opportunity to save.

We have no way of making you come to inspect these values—we can only assure each and every one that you will not be disappointed.

Yours Sincerely, The Sanford Furniture Co.

The Florida Of Aviation

As this is being written, and probably throughout the rest of today and tonight, the giant Graf Zeppelin, largest airship ever built, first passenger carrying dirigible constructed for trans-Atlantic service, will be somewhere over the broad ocean, out of reach of hungry waves, carrying its human cargo of forty workers and twenty passengers.

Weather conditions in the North Atlantic are usually unfavorable for dirigible flights. One has only to recall the many days of waiting before Lindbergh's take-off, or Commander Byrd's, or even Levine's. They were waiting for favorable weather conditions. It took these airships scarcely more than thirty hours to fly across; airships cannot possibly make it in so short a time. The weather must be even more auspicious for them than for the swifter airplanes, else they must, as Dr. Ekener does now, fly around the storm areas.

The obvious result of such conditions is that aerial trans-Atlantic service will be confined in large measure to the south Atlantic. Here the dirigible commander will never be troubled with sleet and hail, with freezing propellers or weighty snow. Storms and high winds, common in the north Atlantic throughout the entire year, are almost unknown farther to the south except for two or three months during the summer when occasional hurricanes stir up the atmosphere. These however, are easily located, plotted, and avoided by any skillful navigator.

Some enterprising Florida city may well expect to be within the next decade or two the thriving port of entry and exit for aeronautical transportation. Cities are built where there is a demand for cities, and it may safely be said that geographical location has more to do with this demand than any other one thing. New York City was founded and grew into its present enormous size because of its harbor and its situation at the mouth of the rich Hudson valley. Those were days when practically all transportation was by means of ships.

Florida is already beginning to feel the effects of aviation development. Several large companies have established bases in Miami and Key West preparatory to the inauguration of service to the Bahama Islands, Cuba, and South America. Since American Marines have been stationed in Nicaragua, the possibilities of Florida as an aviation center have been even more forcefully impressed upon our minds. We find that the air route to Central America is shorter through Florida than through Arizona and Mexico. For that matter Washington and New York planes can fly across the Yucatan channel and be in Mexico much sooner than by taking the route which the trains take to the west.

It is hardly a matter of conjecture that in the American nation of the future, Florida will take the position which New York now holds as the center of international trade. Jacksonville, Miami, Key West or perhaps some other Florida city will be to aviation what New York City has been to water transportation and Florida will be a state of commerce as well as tourist resorts.

The Cost Of A Campaign

"If the truth be known," and it is to be seriously doubted if it ever is, it would be interesting to gather facts regarding campaign expenses. Every candidate is required to file on certain specified dates a report of his expenses, including them all, but after watching some candidates spend several thousand, it is not infrequent to find them filing reports for only a few hundred.

Not so an Ohio candidate who took the law seriously and made his report include everything. He was not thinking so much of the money involved in the cost of running for sheriff as he was of the other expenses incurred. His report was as follows:

- Lost 1,249 hours of sleep thinking about the election.
- Lost two front teeth and a lot of hair in a personal encounter with an opponent.
- Donated one beef, four shoats and five sheep to country barbeques. Gave away two pairs of suspenders, four calico dresses, $5 in cash and 15 baby rattles.
- Kissed 126 babies. Put up four stoves. Kindled 14 fires. Walked 4,076 miles. Shook hands with 9,508 people. Told 10,101 lies and talked enough to make in print 1,000 volumes.
- Attended 16 revivals and was baptized four times by immersion and twice by other ways. Contributed $50 to foreign missions and made love to nine widows—five grass and four sod.
- Hugged 40 old maids. Got dog-bit 39 times and was elected by 353 majority.

POLL SHOWS DEMOCRATIC GAINS

Several significant "straws" appear in the latest returns of the Literary Digest's presidential poll, made public yesterday.

One of them is the showing that Smith, in the week, reduced Hoover's percentage of the total vote from 58 to 62. In this connection, a scrutiny of the ground covered by the poll shows that it has not yet reached the more conservative Democratic territory.

Perhaps the most important trend shown by the poll is the fact that, in the week, the Democratic vote went from 35 to 43 percent of the total vote. In the week ending Oct. 4, the Democratic vote was 35 percent, and in the week ending Oct. 11, it was 43 percent.

THE BATTLE LINES

ST. AUGUSTINE RECORD

Four weeks before the election finds the State Democratic Executive Committee, organized for more than a month, a campaign headquarters for Florida opened in Jacksonville, nearly thirty days in charge of work among the women as national committeewoman of Florida, Democratic clubs and county committees well organized and functioning throughout the state, and George Whitfield McCoy as secretary of the state committee, directing a mass of details with the judgment of a seasoned general, routing the seventy-five or more prominent Floridians and non-resident citizens by their speaking engagements from Pensacola to Key West.

Ninety per cent of the daily and weekly newspapers of Florida, as in Georgia, are supporting the national and state ticket enthusiastically. But he is said to their credit, their support is confined to the editorial pages, the news columns being reserved for a fair and impartial statement of the facts concerning the daily movements and utterances of the candidates and their supporters. The public should bear in mind that the newspaper is a business, and that its editorial page is for the public interest and for the benefit of the community. It is not a platform for the candidates and their supporters.

The newspapers of Florida are notable for their advocacy of what is best for the state. They are not organs of any party or sect. They are organs of the people. They are organs of the public. They are organs of the future. They are organs of the present. They are organs of the past. They are organs of the whole.

Our hat is off to Senator Fletcher, Harry Wells, George McGary, Mrs. Tanager, Jim Hodges, C. J. Hardee and all the other good boys who are directing the destinies of the state campaign. We are grateful to them, as the loyal Democrats of St. Johns County are everlastingly indebted to George Bassett, Frank Upchurch, I. A. Bassett, Frank Upchurch, K. Atkinson, Harry Jackson, Paul Bearer, J. D. Puller and all the rest who have taken hold of the situation in this country with the kind of will that is certain to win with an overwhelming majority for the national and state ticket on November 6th.

Particularly sacrificing and splendid is the part Senator Fletcher is playing. That such a citizen at his age should make so noble an effort is indeed significant. Only a profound conviction of duty to his state and his party would have persuaded him to take up a work into which he must put so much and from which he will derive nothing save the consciousness of having served his people. But assuredly, that consciousness and their gratitude in years to come are worth the pains and the cost of the work.

The Digest shows that 30 percent of those voting for Smith in that city voted Republicans in 1921, while Hoover gained less than 10 per cent from the Democratic vote of four years ago.

Inasmuch as New York City is overwhelmingly Democratic normally, this indicates a still larger majority for Smith this year than the city usually gives a Democratic nominee. At the same time, the poll reveals that Hoover is not receiving the expected proportion of the vote in New York state outside of the city, his lead so far being only 24,000. If this poll is a reliable index, Smith will carry New York state by a tremendous majority.

When the Digest poll reaches the other Southern states and penetrates other Democratic territory, including urban centers, this trend of the national vote will become more pronounced. As it stands now, Hoover is in every sense a rebel.

COMFORTS OF HOME

with adult mankind, much less with adolescent youth. It is a training post punishment which teaches youth the difference between right and wrong and the beneficial juvenile courts are those which lead little boys and girls in the right direction and not into resentment and forced association with seasoned criminals.

The great problem is distribution. Think of legs like that being wasted on a kangaroo, far from street crossings. Hagers, town Herald.

All that remains to be decided is the relative numerical strength of Smith Republicans and Hoover Democrats—New Bedford Times.

CRIME AND YOUTH

Growing up in the city is a precarious business for our youth, according to police statistics of the United States. Police of several of the larger cities estimate that 75 per cent of the nation's crime is committed by young boys and that the hardest criminal conditions to correct by the customary court and prison methods of redemption are those created by erring youth.

The prevalence of crime among the juvenile element of the cities is attributed to improper home conditions, poverty, lack of restraint, many temptations and in many instances to the absence of understanding and sympathetic police and courts. Boys will listen to reason and will respond to kind treatment, but they rebel against mistreatment and undeserved punishment. There is a certain adult criminal class which is undesirable, but there are few juvenile wrongdoers who cannot be salvaged.

Most of the so-called juvenile crime is the larger crime known in the smaller town and rural districts as larcenous mischief. The city boys with an appetite for petty larceny and on the first second offense are committed to reformatories. In the country "mischief" apples, watermelons and corn is a part of a boy's education. He does it with no criticism at all. It is the belief that it is his privilege to raid the farmer's fields, and that it is the farmer's privilege to chase him from those fields.

Thousands of boys are being placed in reformatories in our cities every year for acts of petty larceny, although the public, the police and the courts are often oblivious to the fact that these boys are the same boys who were once in the country, raiding the farmer's fields.

Miss Newman Honors Friends With Party

Miss Olyve Newman entertained last night with a lovely bridge party honoring Miss Mary Elizabeth Puleston, who leaves today for Boston where she will resume her work at the Massachusetts General Hospital. Sharing honors with Miss Puleston were Miss May Holly, who also leaves today for Boston to resume her training at the same institution. Only a few of the honor guests' closest friends are present.
After six interesting progresses of bridge, scores were added and prizes awarded. The honor guests were each presented with a pair of chiffon boxes, while a charming evening handkerchief went to Miss Margaret Peters for high score among the ladies and a handsome tie was given to James Wright for high score among the men. Those lucky in cutting were Miss Mildred Simmons of Orlando, who received a jar of bath salts and Sam Plestator, who was the recipient of a pair of socks.

Helpful Hints For Local Gardeners

BY MRS. HENRY WIGHT

October is a good month in which to take stock in the garden and make plans for the coming year. Very often in setting out shrubbery without the expert guidance of a nursery man or architect mistakes will be made which do not appear until the shrubs attain considerable size; as for instance, the planting of a tall growing subject in front of a dwarf, and the crowding of plantings, especially around foundations, until nothing has a fair chance.
While almost anything may be moved in the summer time, by root pruning and heavy watering some weeks previous, at this time the operation is much simpler. Quite large shrubs may be placed so that the effect will be obtained at once, and with assurance of their living if they are sufficiently cut back, set in well prepared soil, and well watered.
Such changes should be confined to the hardy evergreens. Among these are the well known pittosporum, both plain green and variegated, ligustrum in several varieties, rhodomyrtus, or downy myrtle, Ficus, of the pineapple guava, severina, nandina, the callistemon, and viburnum. These are all very substantial as a framework to be filled in with the graceful palmettos, and acacias.
Cautleya guavas are particularly useful for hedges, as well as for handsome clumps, and withstand the cold of the average winter as well as anything in Florida, every garden should have a few hardy palms, as these are far north as introduced for tropical effect. Cocos Thunbergii, once established is hardy, as are the Washingtonias, certain varieties of Phoenix and Cocos Australis.

There is one palm, quite as beautiful as Cocos Plumosa, and entirely hardy as far north as Gainesville, that should be seen more often. This is the Accroemia totala, of a similar growth to the Plumosa, but more compact, of a blue green and protected by very spiny stems. A delightful adventuring in planting may be made by combining tall and dwarf varieties of palms in a clump, or in a corner.
Those enjoying the occasion were Mrs. A. T. Rossiter, Mrs. H. H. Fakhall, Mrs. W. M. Thigpen, Mrs. S. Puleston, Mrs. David Caldwell, Mrs. J. N. Whittier, Mrs. A. M. DeForest, Mrs. E. S. Dutton, Mrs. W. T. Field, Mrs. R. H. Berg, Mrs. E. M. Davidson, Mrs. W. E. Watson, Mrs. Geo. Herring, Mrs. R. E. Tolar, Mrs. R. L. Dean, and Mrs. John Leonardy.

Wont rip! Wont tear! Wont sag! New, patented webbing belt in the Hanes $1 SAMSONBAK UNION SUIT

HANES

SEE that belt? See the specially limited panel at the center of the back? Good-bye ripping, tearing, sagging. That SAMSONBAK feature stops it. Go around to your dealer's. Have a tug-of-war with him on a HANES SAMSONBAK Summer Union Suit. Do a Zhyako. Rear back. Just try to tear that belt. Try to rip it away from the body of the union suit. Pull, yank, stretch it. You can't work it with your hands, as you won't be wearing or washing it. No rubber in it at all! No question about comfort, long service or happy fit. For that belt measure three-quarters of the way around your waist— everywhere there's any curve, lay pull, any bending. The whole idea is patented—found only in the HANES SAMSONBAK. It never before brought so much wear and comfort.

Look for the Hanes SAMSONBAK label before you buy. The center section of the back panel is in light blue to help identification. If your dealer hasn't it, write to Hanes. Other styles in Hanes fall-out fabrics, some only priced at from $2 to $12.50 the garment.

Convertible Cars, Sedan And Coupe. Are Added Recently To Chrysler '75

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 12.—(INS.)—The new custom convertible, sedan and coupe styles in its '75' class are announced by Chrysler as ready for display at many of its showrooms throughout the country. They are the convertible sedan and convertible coupe, the former of which has a rumble seat, golf compartment and other features.

Both bodies are by Locks, specially built to Chrysler specifications. The sedan, particularly, contains many innovations, and improvements in convertible construction. At the same time, it cuts out J. W. Frazer, Chrysler's manager, prices have been brought down to an exceptionally moderate figure. The sedan costs $2245 and the coupe at $1650 at Detroit.

In addition of these two new body styles, the '75' line offers a variety of color combinations, upholstery, trim and other finish. COMBINES SEDAN AND PHAETON.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 12.—(INS.)—DeSoto production today reaches a new high mark of 500 a day. This is the highest production rate in the history of the DeSoto plant.

The new DeSoto is a very popular car, and its production is being increased to meet the demand. The car is a very good one, and it is being sold in large quantities.

A GREAT ACHIEVEMENT

IMPROVED COLD WEATHER PERFORMANCE Resulting from the CROSS-FLOW RADIATOR

The cross-flow radiator of the cooling system of the Pontiac '25 and the Oakland All-American '25 reduces to a minimum the expansion of water and alcohol. An automatic thermostat prevents water circulation until the engine reaches correct operating temperature. As a consequence the engine warms up quickly and less choking is needed, reducing dilution of crankcase oil. Because of the protection the cross-flow radiator provides against loss of water and alcohol, the Pontiac '25 and the All-American '25 require less attention in winter than other cars. Also, through their thermostat control, they reveal far better performance than other cars in these fields when the temperature is low. The cross-flow radiator is available only on the Pontiac '25 and the All-American '25. Come in and see it. You'll learn while you're here of the many other advancements which only these two great General Motors '25s provide.

SMALL NATIONS OF EUROPE BEGIN BUILDING NAVIES

Finland With Expanding Trade Has Need For Sea Protection

LONDON, Oct. 13.—(INS)—Despite the talk of naval disarmament among the great powers of the world, the smaller ones, almost without exception, are planning to increase their fleets. Finland, with her expanding trade and unprotected coast, has the money in hand and is considering the best way to spend it on naval armaments. This is largely due to the recent activities of the Bolshevik Baltic fleet and the way the Polish Navy is forging ahead with the help of France.

Tennis Experts Of Britain Claim They Have Girl Prodigy

LONDON, Oct. 13.—(INS)—In Miss Catherine Smith, 17-year-old London schoolgirl, British lawn tennis experts claim to have discovered a coming Suzanne Lenglen and Helen Wills. Daughter of the world's great forehead biter—the famous Englishman, S. H. Smith—Miss Catherine is declared by the critics to have inherited her father's immensely powerful forehead drive. She is a pretty blond standing nearly 5 foot, 9 inches, and appears to be physically ideal for strenuous tennis. Her fast kicking forehead drive is likened to that of Helen Wills, while her spinning powers are compared favorably with those of Miss Lenglen. In her first appearance in any court she was defeated by Miss P. G. Brazer, the junior champion of the South of England, after a magnificent game. Her father plans to give her an intensive course of training with the ultimate objective of letting her compete at the Wimbledon Championships when she is older.

The Ephantothan Club provided its copy of the fourth edition, done in 1680 and there was the Nost-Doug facsimile of the first edition.

English Psychics Have Membership Of Big Proportion

LONDON, Oct. 13.—(INS)—With a membership of 500,000, British spiritualists feel that their movement has now reached a stage where it is sufficiently powerful numerically to demand "psychic freedom" for themselves and their mediums. With this object in view they are preparing to intervene as a party in the next general election. Lift Legal Ban—By psychic freedom they mean freedom from police attention for unproved mediums and the general lifting of any legal ban upon spiritualistic activities. There are approximately 100 spiritualist churches in Britain affiliated to the National Spiritualist Union, and an other 100 churches not yet affiliated. Freedom To Work—"We want mediums to be allowed to work with perfect freedom in our churches, not at their peril, subject to police visitations and possible prosecution. Our churches and scientific bodies must be given the right to grant certificates to honest mediums. "We who use them will judge of their capabilities honestly. There are a great many fine mediums in course of development in England, but they themselves are oppressed and their spiritual growth retarded by the law. "In the forthcoming general election we shall vote en bloc for the party that will promise to use its efforts to get us this freedom."

Radium Rays Prove Beneficial Cure Of Malignant Disease

BERLIN, Oct. 13.—(INS)—A new achievement of medical science which replaces the knife with radium rays in the treatment of Basedow's disease and certain malignant kinds of goitre was revealed by Professor Fritz Gudzen of the University of Berlin, at the recent Congress of Physicians and Scientists at Hamburg. Basedow's disease is a dangerous swelling of the thyroid gland which heretofore could be cured only by an operation that involved serious danger to the patient's life. A 24-hour application of radium rays proved sufficient in most cases, Professor Gudzen said. In advanced cases the application of the rays was repeated once, at the most twice, at intervals of a few months. The cure came then gradually. No harmful after-effects could be discovered in any case. Professor Gudzen is scheduled to visit the Mayo hospital at Rochester next spring as representative of German medical associations to study the Mayo cure of rheumatism through the extraction of teeth.

Mellon Declares G. O. P. Is Qualified To Keep Prosperity

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—(INS)—Secretary of the Treasury Mellon ranked today as a full fledged political speaker, having "gone on the air" last night to review the financial and business achievements of the Coolidge administration. A national hookup of radio stations broadcast the address, which was Mellon's first of the campaign and one of the longest speeches he has made since entering public life at the opening of the Harding administration. With one speech out of the way, Mellon has started preparation of another talk which will be delivered over the radio on Oct. 29 on behalf of the candidacy of Herbert Hoover. Mellon declared that there is but one issue in the campaign—"whether the leadership offered by the Republican or the Democratic party is better qualified to assume the burden of carrying on the government and of solving the problems which will arise in the next four years. Taxes have been reduced $1,000,000,000 by the Republican administration, Mellon said. He praised Hoover as "an able and experienced leader, of long and successful business' career, who will carry on the work of the present administration."

Not Like The Old Days Any More, Says Tom McArdle

By Herbie Jenkins Jr.

A letter came in the other day which stated that you have observed that you have observed on most every branch of the sporting world with one exception—the man behind the prize in the matchmaker's office. I should think the matchmaker would be interested in your readers. Perhaps the matchmaker would be interested in your readers. Perhaps the matchmaker would be interested in your readers.
