Here Come The Hopeful Judges

Candidates To Compete In Court

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

Battle for a newly-created judgeship spanning Seminole and Brevard counties stepped up Thursday with one candidate filing suit against the other charging his opponent has not resigned to run as required by law.

Lake Mary lawyer Joe Rosier made the charge in a suit filed in Tallahassee against Brevard County Judge Lawrence Johnston, the Division of Elections and Secretary of State, George Firestone.

The attorney who filed the suit for Rosier, Charles M. Rieders, of Cocoa, was defeated by Johnston in 1980 for county judge in Brevard County, according to records.

While Gov. Bob Graham and the Division of Elections office have accepted Johnston's resignation, Rosier said he wants the court to examine it because he feels the court to run law needs clarification, not because he feels it will help his campaign. He said he thinks he will win if the court declines to intervene.

The effective date of Johnston's resignation is Jan. 5, 1987, the day before the newly elected judge is to take office. He was to remain in office as a county judge until 1989.

Johnston said not only has he resigned but that candidates are running for his position in Brevard County. Johnston also told the Evening Herald at the time of his announcement that as of Jan. 6 he would either be the new circuit judge or a practicing attorney, but no longer a county judge.

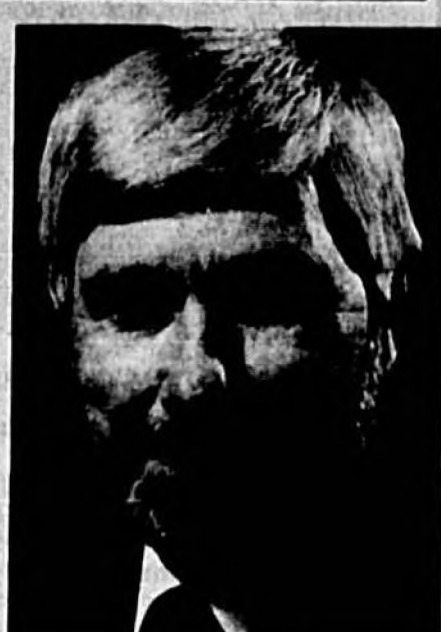

"I am shocked by a tactic such as this being used in a race for judicial office," said Johnston.

"I have resigned. The governor has accepted my resignation and three can-

County Firm On Well Size

4-Inch Minimum Stays

The minimum size for water wells drilled in Seminole County should be held at the required four inches in diameter, and the county well drilling licensing board does not want to consider any more variances allowing 2-inch wells.

The county's well drilling board voted to ask the commission to hear requests for variances after a debate during a Thursday afternoon meeting.

The board also voted to ask the building department to consider raising well permit fees from their present level of $13.20, to pay for a full time well installation inspector. It also recommended that well drillers file a completion report on each well drilled before a certificate of occupancy is issued, to insure a well drilling permit has been completed, and that only licensed drillers completed the work.

The debate between a board member and a well drilling contractor over the increased minimum size of well diameters was heated.

"As of today, my recommendation would be that we're not going to approve anything smaller than 4-inch wells in Seminole County," said board member Bob French. He said he favored allowing only the county commissioners to receive requests for variances to the minimum requirement.

French said because of increased demand from appliances in modern homes, the minimum well diameter should be hiked.

Board member Billy Joe Young added that larger wells don't mean increased water consumption. "If they don't want more water, they don't have to use it," he said of

King Celebration Planning Begins

By Karen Talley

The ideal Martin Luther King observance would promote that man's ideals through a combination of celebration, education and religion during the week of Jan. 17, according to the steering committee members who began planning Sanford's King tribute Thursday.

"This must be a city-wide project, for all the people in Sanford, because Martin Luther King, Jr. didn't belong to anybody, he was a man for all,"

according to Lurleen Sweeting.

Dr. Sweeting is chairman of the Sanford Human Relations Advisory board, which is spearheading Sanford's tribute through the newly formed Martin Luther King Day Steering Committee.

The King steering committee is itself reflective of the "Peace and Growth Through Brotherhood" message it will promote. Black and white citizens, with various affiliations,

DER Says Seaboard Polluting

Railroad States That Someone Else Did It

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

Diesel fuel floating atop groundwater just below a former Seaboard System Railroad fueling station may be polluting Lake Monroe, Department of Environmental Regulation officials said today.

The DER filed suit Thursday against the railroad claiming seven years of unsuccessful efforts to get the company to clean up the fuel.

The suit is to force the railroad to determine the extent of the contamination, restore the environment and prevent further problems. The DER also wants $20,000 it has spent investigating the site and a hefty fine. If the DER is successful in the suit, the company could be fined up to $10,000 a day for each day the reported contamination occurred.

According to court papers, Seaboard officials believe the fuel is coming from another business nearby.

The contamination was uncovered in 1979 but the DER did not know how extensive the problem was until this year when it set monitoring wells.

According to a DER report, there are no drinking wells near the site. But, the report also states the amount of fuel and related chemicals in the area and groundwater is toxic to people and wildlife.

DER inspectors, at the site in April, saw a pool of diesel fuel near the tank and dead vegetation in the area, according to a report.

Bill Darling, supervisor of the DER's Orlando office, said the fuel is seeping into Lake Monroe via Mills Creek. The contaminated area covers 64 acres along Perimmon Avenue, south of State Road 46.

It is not known if the fuel has damaged the lake, "but it's a likelihood," Darling said. He did not know what date the DER will select as the start of contamination and possible fine assessment.

According to DER records, the railroad used the area as a refueling site from the mid-1950s to 1982. The contamination is believed to be coming from a 500,000 gallon storage tank, according to court records. In 1980, the company built a ditch around the tank and installed oil absorbing materials after being contacted by the DER.

DER officials say the ditch built by Seaboard did little to stop the problem and likened it to an inadequate bandage on a bad wound.

To monitor the site, the DER placed 30 shallow ground wells in the area last year and from that data determined the extent of the contamination. It also found four other contaminating sites, mostly from underground pipes.

Jail Guard Applicant Gets First-Hand Look At The Job

A Sanford man who applied for a job as a Seminole County jail guard got a first-hand look at corrections guard duties when he was arrested as he drove away from the Seminole County Sheriff's Department following a job interview.

Sheriff's department officials, who at about 10 a.m. Thursday interviewed Steven Evans Smith, 26, of 2308 Lisa Court West, had in their hands all of his background data, including his driving record. That record shows he has 18 convictions for traffic offenses and his driver's license has been suspended 11 times. The latest suspension was on Tuesday, just three days ago, for failure to pay traffic fines, a sheriff's report shows.

Things seemed to go well for Smith in the interview, but he ran into trouble when he drove away from the sheriff's de-

Lake Mary Approves 7-Eleven Site Plan

By Angela Woodhull
Herald Staff Writer

Lake Mary city commissioners narrowly approved the site plan for a controversial 7-Eleven store Thursday, with commissioners Buzz Petros and Paul Tremel citing traffic congestion and likely elimination of "too many trees" as their reasons for voting 'no.'

Commissioners Charlie Webster and Russ Megonegal voted to approve the site plan for the convenience store, to be built on the northwest corner of Lake Mary Blvd. and Rinehart Rd. To break the tie, Mayor Dick Fess also voted in favor of the plan. Commissioner Ken King was absent.

About a dozen concerned citizens from a nearby subdivision were present. A few expressed concern that too many trees would be destroyed unnecessarily. According to Rich Hall, construction coordinator for the 7-Eleven parent company, Southland Corporation, 49 trees will be saved on the proposed 7-Eleven site.

Mayor Dick Fess suggested that the Forestry Department be called upon to give recommendations. Hall responded, "I'll have dialogue with them but I don't want to go by any rules. We're not trying to kill any

School Negotiators Agree On Non-Instructional Pact

A nine-percent pay raise for Seminole County school non-instructional employees was agreed to early Thursday morning, after a marathon 12-hour bargaining session by negotiators for the Seminole Educational Association and the Seminole County School Board.

The non-instructional employees are the first of four union groups to settle on a contract with the Seminole County school board for the 1986-87 school year.

The agreement must now be ratified by the Non-Instructional Personnel of Seminole County (NIPSCO), and the school board.

The agreement may be an indicator for the three contracts still being negotiated for school employees, a school official said.

Still at the bargaining table are the county's 2,300 teachers, 275 bus drivers, and 600 clerical workers. Teacher negotiations with a mediator begin Monday.

The teachers union, Seminole Education Association, and the school board have been unable to reach terms for the 1986-87 school year after two months of negotiations.

"Historically, the first settlement is a preview of

Board Makes Recommendations On Requested Land Use Changes

By Paul Schaefer
 Herald Staff Writer

Fourteen requests for land use changes in the county's growth managing Comprehensive Plan were considered during a Wednesday evening public hearing. The Seminole County Planning and Zoning Board, acting as the Local Planning Agency, made recommendations which will be passed onto the Board of County Commissioners for official action.

In addition to approving the requests for a land use designation change from residential to professional office from 12 homeowners on Lake Howell Road the board:

- Recommended denial unanimously for an amendment changing land use from general rural (1 dwelling unit per 5 acres) to low density residential (4 dwelling units per acre) requested by Lake Pickett Downs in the southeast Chuluota area. Project general partner Michael Jones said he wanted to put 150 dwelling units on 89 acres of half acre lots. Several area residents protested homes on half-acre lots, near their homes on five-acre parcels.
- Recommended denial unanimously for an amendment changing land use from general rural to industrial for 10 acres of land on the south side of Rustic Pines Trail west of County Road 426. The planning staff recommended against the change because the area is surrounded by general rural designated land, and lack of planned road improvements in the area. Pat Anderson is the applicant.
- Recommended denial on a 5-1 vote for an amendment changing land use from general rural to industrial and change of zoning from agricultural to very light industrial use for 13.7 acres of land west of County Road 426 north of Mikler Road. The planning staff recommended against the change because the property is surrounded by general rural and preservation designated land, and lack of planned road improvements in the area. Board member Dot Meadors voted for the changes. Jane Adriatico is the applicant.
- Recommended denial on a 5-1 vote for an amendment changing the land use from general rural to industrial and change of zoning from agricultural to industrial use for 1.5 acres of land located on the south side of State Road 426 east of Sixth Street. The planning staff recommended against the change because the area is not slated for increases in sewer and roadway capacity.

Board member Alda Rowe voted for the changes. William F. Hayman is the applicant.

- Recommended denial unanimously for an amendment changing land use from low density residential (4 dwelling units per acre) to high density residential (10 or more dwelling units per acre), for about five acres of land along Marshall Road, east of Lake Howell Road, north of Howell Branch Road. The planning staff recommended denial because the requested use is incompatible with surrounding land uses, and lack of planned sewer service and roadway capacity. Pat Anderson is the applicant.
- Recommended approval unanimously for an amendment changing the land use from general rural to low density residential and change of zoning from agricultural to single family dwelling district for 20 acres of land on the west side of State Road 434 south of Chapman Road and north of Iron Bridge. The planning staff had no objections to the land use change. Wayne Harrod is the applicant.
- Recommended approval unanimously for an amendment changing the land use from low intensity urban (1 dwelling unit per acre) to low density residential (4 dwelling units per acre), and change of zoning from agricultural to single family dwelling district for 6 acres of land located south of Lake Hayes, west of State Road 434. The planning staff had no objections to the land use change. Lake Hayes Properties is the applicant.
- Recommended approval on a 4-1 vote for an amendment changing the land use from general rural to planned unit development for 140 acres of land on the north side of McCulloch Road one mile east of State Road 434. The planning staff recommended against the change because of incompatibility with surrounding land uses and lack of planned transportation facilities. Board member Alda Rowe voted against approval. Board chairman Sue Lewis abstained. John Martin is the applicant.
- Recommended approval on a 4-1 vote for an amendment changing the land use from general rural to low density residential planned unit development for 135 acres of land on the west side of Lockwood Road, a quarter-mile north of McCulloch Road. The planning staff recommended against the change due to lack of planned transportation facilities. Board member Alda Rowe voted against approval. Board chairman Sue Lewis abstained. John Martin is the applicant.

- Recommended approval on a 4-1 vote for an amendment changing the land use from general rural to low density residential planned unit development for 160 acres of land on the east side of Lockwood Road, one mile north of McCulloch Road. The planning staff recommended against the change due to a lack of planned transportation facilities. Board member Alda Rowe voted against approval. Board chairman Sue Lewis abstained. John Martin is the applicant.
- Recommended approval unanimously for an amendment changing the land use from low density residential to medium density residential and change of zoning from agricultural to one and two family dwelling district for 1.7 acres of land on the east side of Lake Howell Road north of Howell Branch Road. The planning staff recommended against the land use change because of lack of sewer service and planned roadway improvements. Gregory Samona and Gary Massey are the applicants.
- Recommended approval unanimously for a change of zoning from one and two family dwelling district to residential professional (office) for 1.5 acres of land on the east side of Howell Branch Road, 700 feet south of Lake Howell Lane. A comprehensive plan amendment was not required. The planning staff recommended against the zoning change because sewer capacity is not available. Gregory Samona and Gary Massey are the applicants.
- Split 3-3 on a vote for an amendment changing the land use from low intensity commercial to commercial for 3.5 acres of land southeast of the corner of Tuskawilla Road and State Road 434. The planning staff recommended against the change because of lack of planned water and sewer service and poor response time for fire protection. Ken McIntosh is the applicant.

Withdrawn from consideration were requests for land use amendments by Richland Properties, Inc. for two 20 acre parcels near the intersection of State Road 434 and Chapman Road.

All recommendations will be passed on to the county commission for official action.

Public hearings for comprehensive plan land use change amendments in other sections of the county will be held on Aug. 13 and 20.

Recipients Of Blood With AIDS Virus Sought By Hospitals

BOSTON (UPI) — Hospital officials in Massachusetts and Maine are trying to trace as many as 300 blood transfusions that may have been contaminated with the AIDS virus, the Boston Globe reported.

Blood used in the transfusions was given before 1985 by people who have since been found to have the deadly disease, the Globe said.

American Red Cross officials said they have identified 40 repeat blood donors who have been infected with AIDS, an acquired deficiency in the body's immune system that leaves patients vulnerable to illness.

The donations yielded an estimated 300 transfusions.

"We don't know how many of these products were actually infectious," Red Cross spokeswoman Blanche Lansky said.

Some 47 contaminated transfusions were traced to 29 hospitals in Maine and Massachusetts, but only 15 recipients have been identified. All of the recipients have since died of causes not related to AIDS, the Globe said.

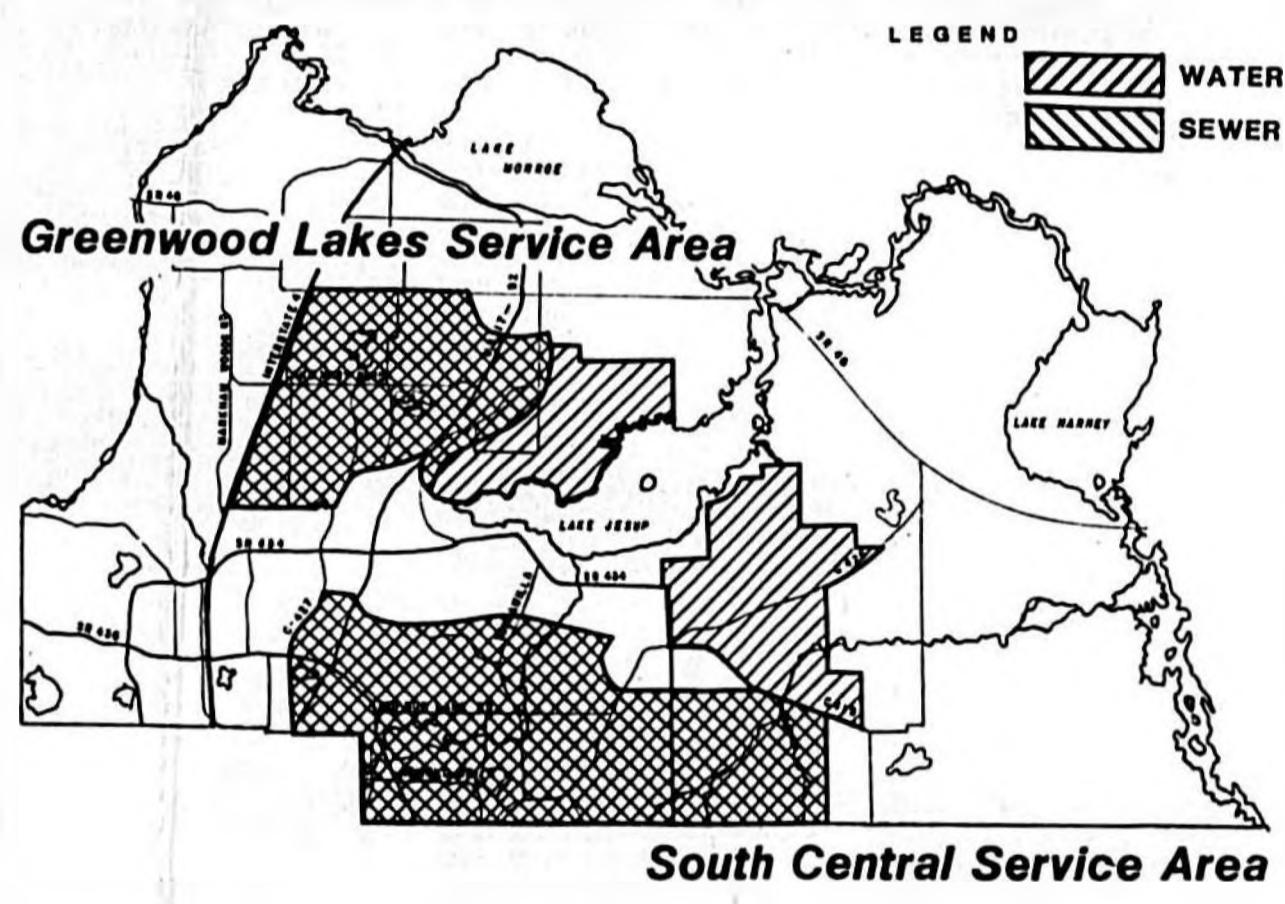

Officials say the present supply of blood is safe thanks to new testing to screen donors. All blood donated before 1985 has been either used or destroyed, the Globe reported.

Texas Sweeps Florida Big League District 14 Nationals Come Up One Win Short Of World Series Berth

By Scott Bender
Herald Sports Writer

PEMBROKE PINES — The Florida Big League baseball team may have packed its bags for Fort Lauderdale and the Big League World Series a little too early.

All Florida needed to do Thursday was defeat Texas one out of two times in order to earn a berth in this week's World Series. But a trip to the series wasn't in the making for Florida as Texas swept it by the scores of 5-3 and 4-3 Thursday night in the Big League Southern Regional Tournament before 500 fans at Perry Park.

Texas advances to the World Series where it will take on the North (Chicago) at 3 p.m. Sunday.

"I still can't believe we lost," Florida manager Howard Mable said. "We shouldn't have lost twice to that team."

Florida, the District 14 National All-Stars, had ample opportunities to win both games.

"We choked," third baseman Mike Pinckes said. "We could have won both of those games easily."

Florida, which did not hit the ball particularly well in the tournament, must of forgot to bring their bats to the park as they had a total of 12 hits for both games.

"We didn't hit the ball well enough to win," left fielder Mike Hinde said. "I still say we were the best team in the tournament."

After Florida dropped the first game, 5-3, they came back to play the championship contest and lost when Chris Fackler hit a home run in the bottom of the seventh off Steve Shakar to break a 3-3 tie and give Texas a trip to the series.

Texas broke out on top with a run in the bottom of the first. After two singles and a wild pitch put runners on second and third, an error by Pinckes enabled the first run of the game to score.

Florida tied the score in the top of the fourth when Kevin Bass hit a towering home run over the left field fence off Texas starter Royal Thomas. "I hit it really well," Bass said. "I was in a slump and it felt good to get out of it."

Florida took the lead in the top of the fifth. Shakar helped himself as he led off with a single to right and Mark Merchant then walked. Shakar scored when Letterio hit a ground ball to Texas shortstop Steve Ferguson who bobbled the ball for a 2-1 Florida lead.

Texas tied it in the bottom of the fifth when a single and an error put runners on first and third and Ferguson singled to left. Texas came back to take the lead in the bottom of the sixth when Thomas golfed a homer to left on a pitch in the dirt.

Florida showed it had some character as it came back to tie it at 3-3 in the top of the seventh. Tim Bruehl was hit to start off the inning, took second on a wild pitch and third on a passed ball. He scored when Texas catcher Tree Rigaby tried to throw him out at third and threw it into left field.

Florida had a chance to take the lead. After two singles and a walk loaded the bases with two outs, pinch hitter Ron Engleman, hitting for Mark Coffey, struck out to end the threat.

In the bottom of the seventh, Fackler hit Shakar's second pitch, a hanging curve, over the left field fence for a lead off homer and the Texas win.

Shakar was forced to pitch his second game in as many days with the injury to number one starter Dave Westgate. "We played like garbage," Letterio said. "We didn't deserve to win."

In the 5-3 loss in the first game, the usually potent hitting Florida team was limited to just four hits by Texas' T. Megas who struck out seven and walked seven.

Craig Duncan pitched three innings for Florida and was tagged for three runs on five hits. Jay Carter pitched the rest of the game, giving up two solo home runs.

"We looked like we were asleep (in the first game)," Mable said. "We didn't play well at all."

With the score, 1-0 Texas in the top of the second, Letterio drilled a homer to left to tie it. Texas scored two runs in the third off Duncan to forge a 3-1 lead, then scored two more runs in the fourth when Thomas and Todd McKinly hit back to back homers off of Carter for a 5-1 cushion.

Florida pulled within 5-3 in the sixth when one run score on a balk and another on Tim Bruehl's double.

In the top of the seventh, Pinckes had a two-out single but Florida couldn't get a rally going.

"We blew so many chances," Pinckes said. "I still can't believe we lost."

Florida Regroups, Eliminates Texas

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Collecting aluminum and turning it in for money is pretty big these days. Since Azalea Park didn't have much use for its bats in Thursday night's first game, the coaches could have gathered them up and turned them in for a pretty hefty sum.

The Florida state champions were held to just three hits in a 5-3 loss to unbeaten West Virginia.

However, Azalea Park's aluminum was recycled in game two as it banged out eight hits, six in a key four-run second inning rally, en route to a 7-4 victory over Texas in the losers' bracket final of the Junior Little League Southern Region Tournament before 401 fans at Eastmonte Recreation Complex.

Azalea Park advances to the tournament finals where it must take two from West Virginia for the region crown and a trip to the Junior World Series next week in Taylor, Mich. West Virginia needs just one win for the World Series berth.

Azalea Park and West Virginia square off tonight at 7:35 with a second and winner-take-all final, if necessary, Saturday morning at 10:15.

The Florida champs built up a 7-0 lead after two innings in Thursday's nightcap and rode the solid pitching of Paul Wilson the rest of the way.

Azalea Park scored three runs on just one hit in the bottom of the first. Kevin Jenny and Tino Valerio both walked to lead off the frame and, with one out, Edju Ewasko singled to right to load the bases.

Tommy Kobylarczyk then coaxed a walk out of Texas starter Gavin Forbis to force in Jenny with the first run. Valerio then scored when Wilson reached on an error and Ewasko scored the third run on Chris Jackson's sacrifice fly to left field.

Texas came back with a pair of runs in the top of the second to pull within 3-2. Forbis reached on a fielder's choice and both

Baseball

Mark Wood and Brent Baker walked to load the bases. David Rogers then slapped a double down the left field line to chase home Forbis and Wood but Baker was cut down at the plate on a nice throw from left fielder Jackson to shortstop Valerio who relayed to catcher Greg Propst for the third out of the frame.

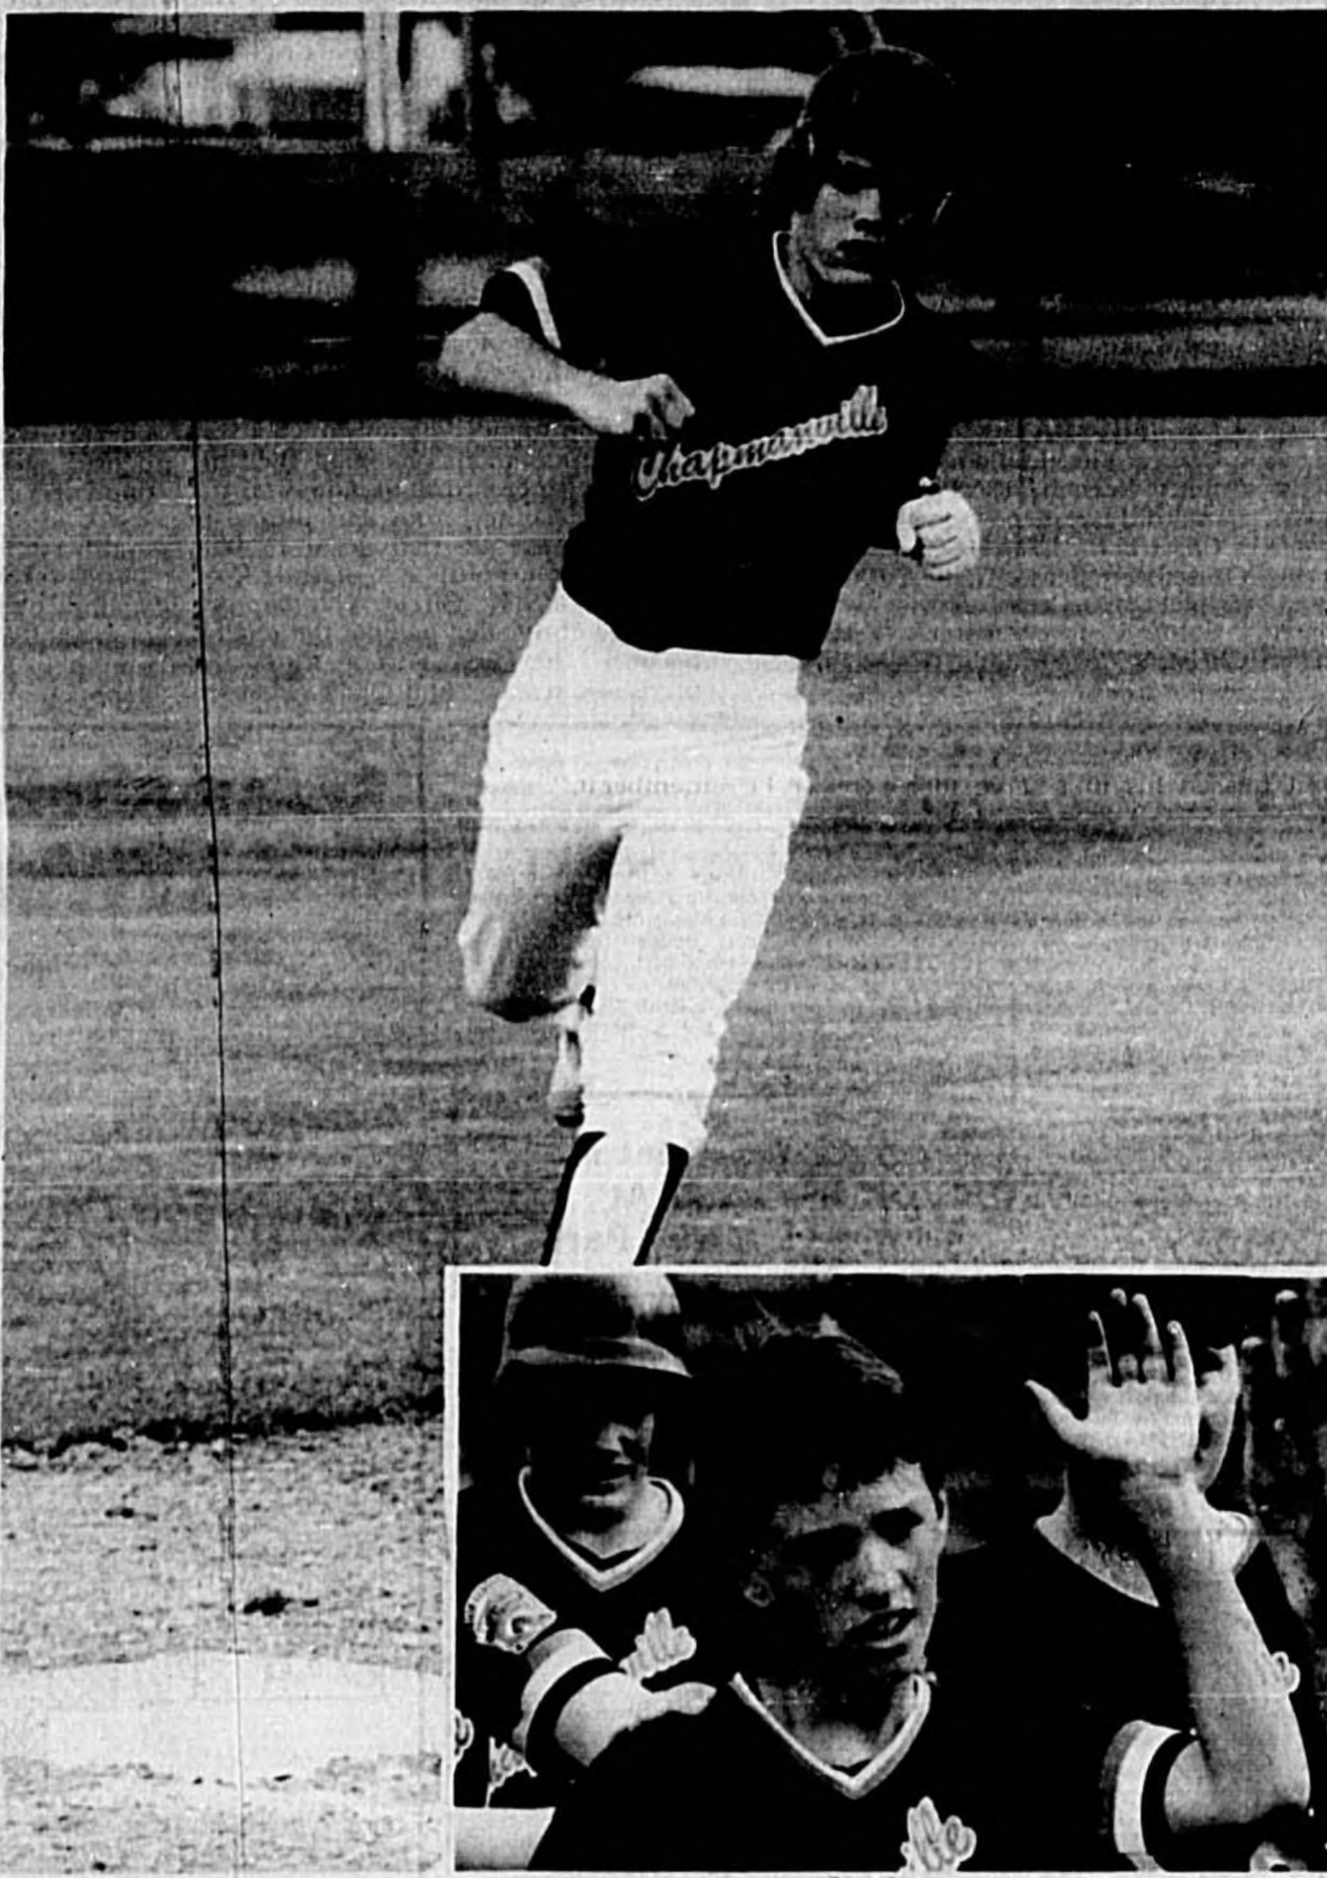

Azalea Park then got the aluminum hot as it erupted for four runs on six hits in the bottom of the second for a 7-2 lead. Nacho Ruiz drilled a double down the left field line to lead off the inning but Forbis then struck out Jenny for the first out. Texas looked like it might get out of the inning when Ruiz was cut down trying to steal third for the second out, but Azalea Park then put together a nifty two-out rally.

Valerio blooped a single to right to start the rally, stole second and Propst then drew a walk on a 3-2 count. Ewasko followed with a single to right to drive in Valerio with Propst taking third. After Ewasko stole second, Propst scored on Kobylarczyk's infield single and Ewasko also scored on the play on a Texas error. Consecutive singles by Wilson and Jackson brought pinch runner Terry Surrency home with the fourth run of the inning.

Mark Shields then came on in relief for Texas and he went on to pitch brilliantly the rest of the way, allowing no runs on just one hit, striking out seven and walking three.

Texas pulled within 7-4 with two runs in the top of the fifth, both unearned runs. Wilson then came back to close the door on Texas in the sixth and seventh frames helped by outstanding defensive plays by third baseman Ewasko and shortstop Valerio.

Walker To Become A Cowboy

NEW YORK (UPI) — The only problem Herschel Walker and Tony Dorsett foresee about playing in the same backfield is that somebody has to block.

Walker Thursday said he has asked to be released from his USFL contract, paving the way for him to join the NFL and fellow Heisman Trophy winner Dorsett in Dallas. Both Walker and the Cowboys would like to take care of business soon enough to have Walker wearing No. 34 when Dallas opens at home against the New York Giants Monday night, Sept. 8.

"My decision to play in the NFL is based on my continuing desire to compete with the very best," Walker said at a news conference. "I'm a football player and I'm a competitor. Whatever opportunity I have, I try to take advantage of."

"I learned to block a little bit, Tony blocks and it would be an honor to play with him."

Dorsett finds it funny that either he or Walker will have to block.

"Why should I be called on to do the blocking?" he said, laughing, at the Cowboys' Thousand Oaks, Calif., training camp. "If this happens, if anybody should do the blocking, it should be the bigger guy. Neither one of us was drafted because of our blocking ability. We can run."

Dorsett, 32, has gained over 1,000 yards in eight of his nine NFL seasons, missing only in the 1982 strike season. Walker gained 5,562 yards in three USFL seasons. Walker won the Heisman Trophy at Georgia in 1982; Dorsett won the award at Pittsburgh in 1976.

Walker and Dorsett each have played with Heisman Trophy winners before, but they were quarterbacks. Walker teamed with Doug Flutie in the New Jersey Generals' backfield and Dorsett played with Roger Staubach in Dallas.

"The more you think about this becoming a reality, it could be a pretty awesome backfield," Dorsett said. "It would put pressure on the defense. You can't key on one guy when you have two guys who are equal threats. For sure, it would draw a lot of attention."

"It's a 60-minute game, and these legs are getting old."

The Cowboys drafted Walker in the fifth round of the 1985 draft, although he was under contract to Generals' owner Donald Trump through 1989. That move looks like a steal now.

"I've always looked forward to having Herschel play for the Cowboys," Dallas coach Tom Landry said.

Walker and his agent, Peter Johnson, plan to visit the Cowboys next week to talk contract. All sides agree, the sooner the better.

"He's been out of football for a year and it's very important that he get back into football shape, which is different than jogging and lifting weights," Cowboys general manager Tex Schramm said. "You've got to take part in contact drills and get the football instincts back."

530 USFL Players Eligible To Join NFL

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The 530 players under contract with USFL teams are free to join NFL clubs immediately under an agreement hammered out between USFL management and Players Association representatives.

A grueling 12-hour negotiating session yielded an agreement late Thursday night releasing the players from their contracts with the USFL, which suspended its 1986 season Monday. The agreement took effect immediately.

The pact, reached in principal as an amendment to the collective bargaining agreement between players and management, also calls for each of the eight active USFL teams to re-signing enough players to maintain a roster of at least 10 players for the 1987 season.

The player re-signings are set to be completed by Sept. 15.

"The union and the league have shown that both parties are committed to the future," Commissioner Harry Usher said in a statement. "We will not give up in the face of the NFL's illegal monopoly. We are sitting down immediately to rebuild rosters for next year."

Football

Thursday's deal was hammered between officials of the USFL Players Association and an ownership team headed by Larry Csonka, general manager of the Jacksonville Bulls.

"I think it denotes a great deal of cooperation between the union and the management, which is absolutely necessary for this league to progress and go forward," Doug Allen, union executive director, said of the agreement. "What could have become chaos out of the league announcement Monday was handled in an orderly fashion."

Csonka added: "I think we reached an agreement that will be good for the owners and the players in the USFL."

The USFL was awarded only $1 in damages from a six-person jury last week in its $1.69 billion antitrust suit against the NFL. The jury found the NFL guilty of one antitrust violation and cleared the older league of eight others.

Allen said under the agreement, the estimated 30 players with guaranteed clauses in their contracts will be given by next Wednesday the "unrestricted right" to sign contracts with NFL clubs or Canadian Football League clubs if they are willing to relinquish the "unearned guaranteed" compensation under the contracts.

Allen added that a player under a guaranteed contract may elect to remain with the USFL and collect on the contract or negotiate a separate "mutually agreeable termination of their contracts."

Under the agreement, USFL clubs will retain rights to players under contract if those players return to the USFL for any future season.

NFL teams currently own draft rights to nearly 50 players under contract with USFL clubs. Included in the list are running backs Herschel Walker (Dallas Cowboys) and Kelvin Bryant (Washington Redskins) and quarterback Jim Kelly (Buffalo Bills).

Players whose rights are not owned by an NFL team now are free to negotiate with any NFL club.

The USFL has not played since its July 1985 championship game, won by the Baltimore Stars. To retain its top players clubs paid approximately 100 of them 30 percent of their 1986 salaries earlier this year and paid about 200 more $10,000 each.

The management team reportedly entered into negotiations demanding players reimburse the teams for the amount of money they had been paid in order to gain release.

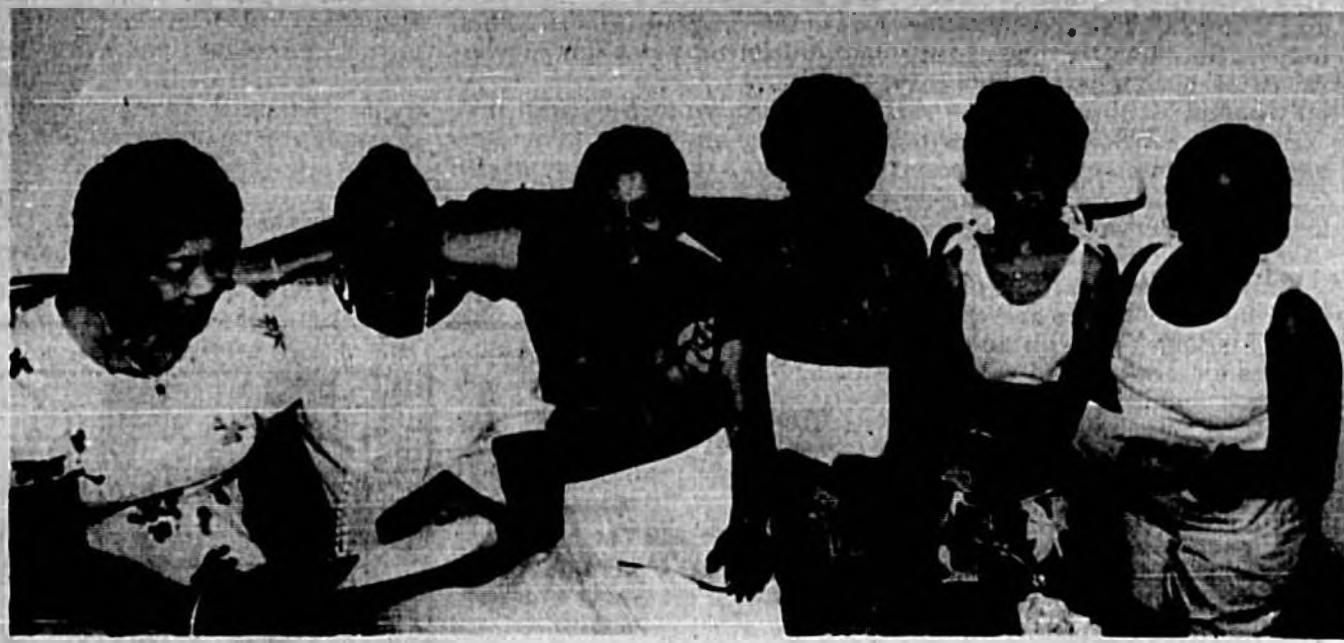

Neither Csonka nor Allen would comment on the demand. That stipulation was not included in the agreement.

"The essence of today's agreement is that all USFL players will be given an immediate opportunity to pursue professional football and other careers elsewhere, while all USFL clubs will maintain through re-signings a nucleus roster of no fewer than 10 players for the 1987 season," the two sides said in a statement.

"In addition to the minimum roster, USFL players with guaranteed contracts will have the option to elect to remain with their current clubs."

Kappa Sigma Omega Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, adopts an African Village Project.

AKA has committed its support to the African Village Development. This program will link each AKA chapter to a specific African village. Africa will give opportunities for health care, economic development, and education. Even recreation must improve at the village level if African countries are to achieve food self-sufficiency. Farmers in the villages grow the food they eat.

The most effective type of aid is to help to acquire the tools to provide their own needs, rather than continuing aimless giving. This project is designed to promote their health care, food production, water, child nutrition, self-support training and cultural needs to improve their living habits.

All AKA's around the country will adopt a village. The local chapter invites the Greater San-

Gardening Fungus Can Be Controlled In Time

Experienced gardeners know that fungus diseases are a common problem in the garden. Unfortunately, controlling these diseases can be difficult. There are so many variables, such as weather conditions, cultural practices, selection of fungicides, and your spray application techniques. The one thing that will have the most influence is the time at which you begin your spray program. The earlier you begin, the more successful you'll be.

Fungicides work by preventing plant diseases. They are shields against infection, not cures. Once a plant is infected, it may be too late to save it. Fungicides can only limit the spread of a disease to healthy plants. So, it's very important to begin a fungicidal spray program at the first sign of attack. Or, better yet, even before you notice any symptoms at all.

Probably the most confusing thing about using fungicides is selecting the right one to do the job. Some fungicides are "specific," and will control only certain diseases on certain plants. Others are known as "broad spectrum," and will control a lot of different fungus problems on a variety of plant types. And, many times, you'll find a number of different fungicides recommended for control of the same disease. How do you know which one to use?

If the disease is severe, either because you waited too long to do anything about it, or because it's one that spreads rapidly, use the most effective fungicide you can find. You may have to go to a specialty shop for a fungicide of this type as they are not always available at garden centers.

If you catch the disease before it becomes severe, a less effective fungicide may do just as well in clearing up the problem. In your garden, you can usually apply a less effective fungicide if you've used good cultural practices, such as crop rotation and planting resistant varieties. Still, the choice of which fungicide to use can be confusing. My best advice is to check with your favorite garden supplier or contact the Agricultural Center in Sanford and follow their advice.

Remember, fungicides work by preventing plant disease — not cures. When you first notice a problem, usually leaf spots or blight, you can be fairly sure that the plants have been infected for at least three days — maybe as long as two weeks. Symptoms of leaf spots and downy mildews usually appear three to ten days after infection. Other leaf diseases have incubation periods of from seven to ten days — maybe as long as 10 to 14 days. Greasy spot disease on citrus can take several months

Alfred Bossen
Urban Horticulturist
323-2500
Ext. 181

to show up.

Generally, the longer the incubation period, the slower the disease spreads, and the more easily it can be controlled. Disease that have short incubation periods are the most difficult to control.

Inspect your plants carefully and frequently. Begin spraying at the first sign of infection. It may appear that extensive disease symptoms develop overnight. However, a few spots always appear on the leaves before a sudden explosion of symptoms. You must be alert for these early warnings. If disease symptoms that have appeared seem to get worse after you've sprayed, don't get discouraged. Remember that fungicides can only prevent — not cure — an infection. A disease may continue to produce symptoms for some time after spraying. You should notice a slowdown in symptom development within about ten days following application of a fungicide.

When spraying fungicide, use the rates listed on the product label. More is not necessarily better! Sometimes rates are listed in "ranges," such as "four to six ounces per thousand feet." Generally, the lower rate is the amount to use early in the season, or when the plants are small. The higher rate is used when the plants are full-grown, or the disease has become severe. Sometimes, it's a good idea to use the higher rate early in the season. This will reduce the chance of disease early in the plant's life, and make any disease control that is necessary later in the season much more effective. Unless the product label specifically states otherwise, it's usually safe to use the higher rate — right from the start.

Remember, good cultural practices, such as sanitation in the garden or landscape, will go a long way in preventing disease buildup in the first place. Removing diseased plant parts and picking up fallen leaves is what we mean by sanitation. Limiting fertilizer applications and using proper watering practices are other things you can do in helping reduce disease infections.

Remember, treat your fungus problems as early as possible. A fungicide can't get rid of an existing disease. It can only keep the disease from spreading. A disease that's already present will remain on the plant until the plant dies, or is removed from the garden.

Happy gardening!

Hormones Trigger Migraine Attacks

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT — After having hot flashes for several years, I started to take Premarin and Provera. This combination helps, but has activated my migraine headaches. Is this my only option?

DEAR READER — Unfortunately, postmenopausal hormone treatment can trigger migraine in susceptible women. I believe that you have three options: First, you can ask your doctor to stop the Premarin-Provera combination. You will have hot flashes for a while and will tend to lose calcium from your bones. However, the hot flashes eventually will disappear; you can overcome the calcium loss by taking calcium supplements and getting regular exercise.

Second, you and your doctor can work at reducing the level of your hormone supplement in the hope of finding the least amount that will control your menopausal symptoms and, at the same time, minimize your tendency to develop migraine headaches. Third, you can continue your present hormone regimen and get treatment for the migraines. In many people, migraine headaches can be prevented by the use of beta-blockers; small daily doses of the medicine can keep migraines from occurring.

In either case, meet with your gynecologist to discuss options and find the compromise that best fits your needs. DEAR DR. GOTT — I sometimes develop penicillin-allergy reactions just from touching penicillin. For example, when I have to give one of my children oral penicillin, my hands and arms break out, even if I immediately wash them. Should I be concerned about the reaction if I have to take the drug myself? Should I avoid relations with my husband while he is taking it? Is there a danger that I could get ill if I accidentally touch or eat moldy bread (since penicillin mold grows on moldy bread)?

DEAR READER — You seem to have an unusually sensitive type of penicillin allergy. This appears to indicate that you would be at great risk were you to be given the drug or any related medicine (penicillin derivatives). I have the following suggestions:

- Use rubber gloves when administering penicillin to your children.
- Have your husband take alternative antibiotics. If he is on penicillin, I think he should use condoms during intercourse.
- Avoid moldy bread; it's not too appetizing anyway.
- See an allergist. This specialist can determine the degree of penicillin sensitivity (no surprises here, I'll bet) and might consider giving you desensitization shots to reduce or block your extreme sensitivity.

Send your questions to Dr. Gott at P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, Ohio, 44101.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

The double by North was the negative double, a method used by tournament competitors against low-level overcalls. The negative double says to partner: "Our side can bid and make something, but I'm not sure what. You make another bid, and I will then clarify the strength of my hand." After two no-trump by South, North's bid of three spades simply offered South a choice of game contracts, and South reasonably elected to play in the 5-3 major fit. That decision was more reasonable than the way he played the hand.

The opening lead was the heart 10. Declarer played dummy's queen. East won the king and returned the six of clubs.

South played the nine and West won the 10. Now another heart was played. Declarer won the ace, and since he needed to bring in the spade suit to make his contract, he took the finesse. That lost to West's queen, and the ace of clubs was now the setting trick for the defenders. Why was all this unreasonable?

Declarer must assume that the defenders are doing their best. Why, then, did not West continue with the ace and another club when his partner played back that six? The answer is that defender West must have been afraid that East could not overruff dummy's 10 of spades and that declarer would then have no choice but to play A-K of spades, hoping that West's queen was a singleton or doubleton.

Car Bomb Kills Ten, Wounds Twenty-Five In Beirut Blast

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — A car bomb exploded on a crowded west Beirut street today, killing 10 people, wounding 25 and triggering fire. Voice of the Nation radio station said.

The Sunni Moslem radio said the car bomb exploded at 11:50 a.m. on a street in west Beirut's southern suburbs, killing 10 people and wounding 25 as it cut down shoppers, workers and pedestrians at the rush hour.

The explosion badly damaged and burned several buildings and set ablaze dozens of cars in the area, the radio said.

"The explosion triggered fires in the area. Firemen and civil defense workers have rushed to the scene to rescue the victims and extinguish the fires," the Sunni Moslem Voice of the Nation radio said.

Civil defense workers have blocked all roads leading to the area near West Beirut's Arab University to facilitate rescue work, the radio said.

Kasparov And Karpov: Tied

LONDON (UPI) — With five games of their grueling battle for the world chess championship played in 11 days, either champion Gary Kasparov or Anatoly Karpov is likely to call for a time-out soon. The question is, which one?

Each player is entitled to three postponements over the 24-game span of the $915,000 competition. Three days ago, it seemed Karpov would be the first to call for a rest to shore up the defenses that let him down so badly in losing the fourth round.

Then came Thursday's game No. 5 and a masterful display of centerboard chess by the challenger for a victory that left the two Soviets even on points at 2½ each. Now it was the 23-year-old titleholder who was reeling.

But for the sixth game, scheduled to begin today at London's Park Lane Hotel, the marginal edge of playing the white pieces reverts to Kasparov. His forte is attack, and grandmasters considered it unlikely he would go for a time-out at this stage.

Six Nations Calls For Test End

IXTAPA, Mexico (UPI) — The leaders of six nations have appealed to the United States to join the Soviet Union in its moratorium on nuclear weapons testing and offered to provide monitoring facilities for both superpowers.

"We cannot accept that a few countries should alone decide the fate of the whole world," the leaders said in the Declaration of Mexico, issued Thursday at the end of a two-day summit in Ixtapa, 190 miles southwest of Mexico City.

Demanding an end to the "nuclear nightmare" that has loomed since the United States dropped the first nuclear bomb on Hiroshima on Aug. 6, 1945, they urged the superpowers to sign an agreement outlawing "every use of nuclear weapons."

The so-called Group of Six — which includes President Miguel de la Madrid, Argentine President Raul Alfonsin, former Tanzanian President Julius Nyerere and Prime Ministers Andreas Papandreu of Greece, Rajiv Gandhi of India and Ingvar Carlsson of Sweden — was formed in 1984.

Black Schools May Be Closed

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — Authorities threatened to close as many as 20 black schools around the southern city of Port Elizabeth if pupils continue a 10-day-old boycott today to protest state-of-emergency restrictions.

Local residents said the move could leave the south coastal region with no operating black high schools.

In Johannesburg, foreign exchange dealers said the rand hovered at its lowest level Thursday amid growing concern about the stability of the economy under proposed Western anti-apartheid sanctions.

A spokesman for the Department of Education, which runs 7,000 black schools teaching about 1.4 million pupils, said Thursday schools around Port Elizabeth would be closed if pupils did not return today.

He declined to say how many schools or pupils would be affected, but township residents in Port Elizabeth and neighboring Uitenhage said as many as 20 higher primary and senior schools had been empty since July 25.

have combined to demonstrate, as well as plan, tribute to King's concepts.

A community gathering at the Sanford Civic Center on Saturday evening, Jan. 17, will culminate Sanford's King tribute, while earlier in the day, a parade and oratory contest for young people are planned. The contest winners will be awarded certificates of merit or possibly even scholarships in King's name during the evening civic center ceremony, committee members said.

Being planned for the week preceding that Saturday's events, are individual church's celebration of King's ideals on Sunday, Jan. 11; collective all-faith participation in a community observance; and a King "Social Responsibility Awards" luncheon or breakfast, probably at the civic center.

The breakfast or luncheon would serve to raise funds for the city's other planned tributes and offer recognition to civic, governmental and corporate leaders who have demonstrated promotion of King's ideals of brotherhood, committee members said.

Mayor Betty Smith, who attended Thursday's meeting, said if necessary she is willing to ask city commissioners to provide additional funding for the various events. Already available to the committee are city hall staff and services, Mayor Smith said.

The steering committee plans to invite one or more special guests, with possibilities being Coretta Scott King, one of King's children, and sports figures, including Sanford native and professional baseball player Tim Lincecum and basketball celebrity Julius Irving.

The steering committee has also formed four King tribute sub-committees through which all bases of the planning process will be covered and whose members will be soliciting community input as their preparations progress.

Among the sub-committees'

Independent responsibilities are gathering 100 residents to form an interfaith choir to participate in both the religious observance and the civic center tribute. This sub-committee's members are Mary Whitehurst, Ture Larson and Sara Jacobson.

Working in concert with the choir sub-committee, the religious observance sub-committee, made up of three local clergy members, will seek the assistance of representatives from all faiths for overall community participation and to help form the collective choir.

Religious observance sub-committee members are the Rev. Richard Danielak, of the First Presbyterian Church, Sanford; the Rev. Paul Murphy, of the First Baptist Church, Sanford; and the Rev. James Hagin, of the Providence Baptist Church, Lake Monroe.

Education sub-committee members are Seminole School Board member Joseph Williams, Seminole Schools spokesman Karen Coleman and Seminole High School teacher Herbert "Whitey" Eckstein.

Their efforts will target Sanford youth involvement in the classroom, through educational activities and guest speakers, and in the city's streets, through school band and choir parade and Jan. 17 tribute participation.

Education sub-committee members have targeted Dr. J or Raines, or both, to come into Seminole classrooms, as well as out into the community to participate in the city-wide celebration.

One of the social responsibility awards committee's first tasks will be to decide whether it will recognize local promoters of King's ideals with a breakfast or luncheon. This committee's members are Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce board chairman Shirley Schilke, Altermese Bentley, Turner Clayton Jr., Willie Graham and Storm Richards.

The four sub-committees will meet independently during this month and come in for a collective committee session at Sanford City Hall, Sept. 16, at 7 p.m. didates are campaigning to fill my job as county judge. They would not have been permitted to campaign if the governor and I had not acted according to law," Johnston said.

Rosier, however, questions the wording of Johnston's resignation letter, which reads: "Effective January 5, 1987, I intend to resign as county judge in order to seek election as Circuit Judge for the Eighteenth Judicial Circuit."

Johnston also states in the letter that "if ... this letter is not timely and it or my qualifying for the upcoming election would result in immediate termination, then this letter shall be of no force and effect and deemed withdrawn."

Gov. Graham signed and accepted the resignation Jan. 5.

The law requires a candidate resign at least 10 days before qualifying for office. Qualifying for the office ended July 18.

"I think it's unclear. I think he has not resigned," said Rosier. "Does the word intend to resign' actually denote a resignation? If the letter said 'I resign' there would be no problem," Rosier said.

He said he is not sure Johnston's resignation is irrevocable as required by law.

Rosier has asked the court to determine if the letter meets the resign to run law's requirements, and if it does not, remove him from the ballot and declare him (Rosier) the winner.

Rosier also asks that if the court decides in his favor but too late to remove Johnston from that ballot that the state not tabulate votes in Johnston's favor.

Says Bare Facts Wrong

A libel suit by a Lake Mary woman against a city directory publisher was kept alive by a circuit judge who refused to dismiss the case against the company.

Eloise Ledingham, 67, is suing R.L. Polk and Co. for damages in excess of $5,000.

She states in her suit that the company published her name in the Sanford City Directory and erroneously listed her place of employment as a tleless bar, the Doll House in Orlando.

Circuit Judge S. Joseph Davis Jr. refused to dismiss the case against Polk.

Mrs. Ledingham, states in the suit that she has never worked for a tleless bar and says she has been humiliated and degraded by the information.

The company asked that the suit be dismissed saying that a disclaimer in the directory tells people to contact the company should a error appear and a corrected entry will be sent to subscribers.

The company states Mrs. Ledingham did not tell the company of the error.

No trial date has been set.

homeowners. "But someone who buys a house may want more water than the previous owner," he said.

Lake Monroe well driller Robert Mann saw the issue from a different side.

"Four inch wells will supply three times more water and cost three times as much," he responded.

"You are taking away the people's right of choice," Mann argued. Mann estimated the cost of a 2-inch well to be between $1,200 and $1,300, and the cost of a 4-inch well to be between $1,600 and $2,300.

He added that reputable drillers wouldn't install 2-inch wells where they would be inadequate.

French said, "Our concern is to guarantee that people who buy a house have enough water to supply their needs," and added that Mann's cost estimates for a 4-inch well were high.

Young, French, and Goodall voted to approve the recommendation on the increased well size to the county commission for consideration. Miller abstained from the vote, saying he needed more time to weigh the issue.

The board agreed unanimously to ask county building director Joel Dean to investigate the cost of hiring a well inspector and develop a new well permit fee to pay the inspector's wages.

They also agreed to ask the commission to consider requiring a well completion report before the building department issues a certificate of occupancy, to assure a permit for the well drilling was issued, and that the job was done by a licensed driller.

rees."

According to Hall, only two or three trees six inches in diameter or larger would be removed from the site. Shaving and trimming of the remaining trees was discussed, with commissioners recommending that trimming be limited to one-third the height of the tree, not to exceed 10 feet.

Sidewalk construction at the site was debated fully.

"We are seeking relief of building sidewalks on Lake Mary Blvd. and Rinehart Rd. because we would have to be responsible for drainage," Hall said. Commissioners concurred.

"I'm not trying to be overly cute with my words any more than normal," said Hall, "but my impression is that the sidewalks on Lake Mary and Rinehart Rd. would logically be put in when substantial remodeling has been done. I do not wish to get involved in the engineering."

Petsoe expressed concern with potential traffic back up. Tremel suggested that the pavement on Sun Drive be widened so that cars not stopping at the convenience store could go around without blocking the street. Hall said his company already had agreed to add 36 feet of pavement, adding "Mr. Tipton (of Tipton Associates, a traffic study firm) can come forward and kick me if I'm saying something that's not right."

Contesting further costs to Southland Corporation, Hall said "Let other entrepreneurs pay their fair share for future expenses. We want to participate but we don't want to be the co-funder."

In response, Megonegal said, "But it's your responsibility if your company creates traffic congestion by having this business."

Megonegal suggested that the number of cars be counted. Megonegal then moved to approve the plan with the contingency that if a traffic problem exists, based upon technical information, responsibility will fall upon the developer. Southland's attorney asked for tighter language, after which the measure was approved.

In other business, commissioners approved a change of zoning from A-1 agriculture to Rural Country Estates (RCE), for 280 W. Washington Street, which will allow more homes to be constructed per acre. Requests for the construction of a commercial building and a drive-in banking facility in the C-1 area were also approved.

Commissioner Megonegal moved for the adoption of the amended Impact Fee. Cheryl Lynch of the Home Builders Association commented, "We would like to express our appreciation for the help and cooperation we received from the City of Lake Mary in this matter. As drafted, we feel the proposal is fair, negotiable, and legally sound."

Commissioners voted to allow D & K Development, Inc. to proceed with the paving of Evansdale Road.

Permission was granted to allow Stromberg-Carlson Corp. to bring the Clyde Beatty-Cole Brothers circus to Rinehart Road in early April, 1987.

And commissioners recommended, by a 3-2 vote that Richland Properties of Florida, Inc. be allowed to proceed with their application to amend the Comprehensive (land use) Plan.

The Beauty Of Ancestral Art

The Craft Has Persisted Two Millennia

Article And Photos
By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

Colorful, handpainted Ukrainian eggs in pagan days were kept in homes through out the year to ward away evil spirits and to bring good fortune.

Two-thousand years later, the beauty of the Ukrainian eggs lives on, but the pagan association has been abandoned. The eggs have taken on Christian symbolism and are mainly seen at Easter time.

Apopka's Rosalie Kowalchuk Hand keeps this folk art of her ancestors alive in Central Florida, with demonstrations and classes in the techniques and traditional designs of Ukrainian eggwork.

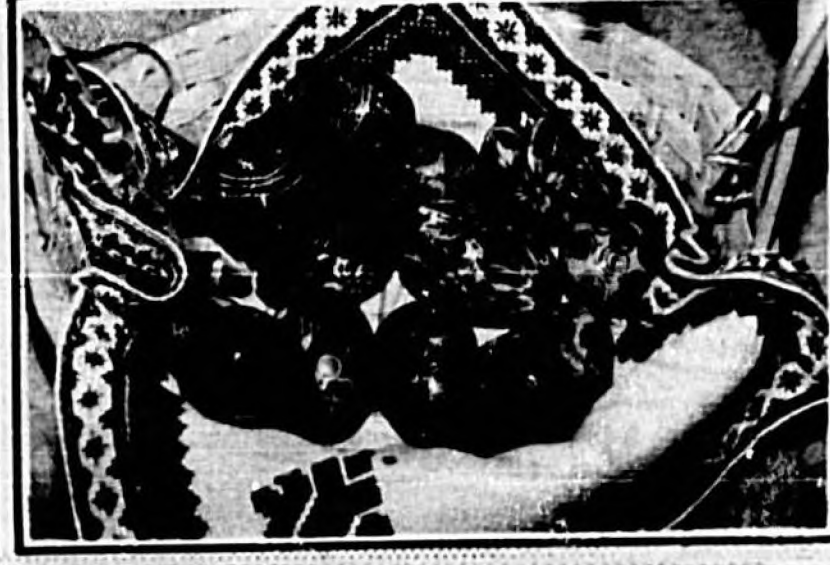

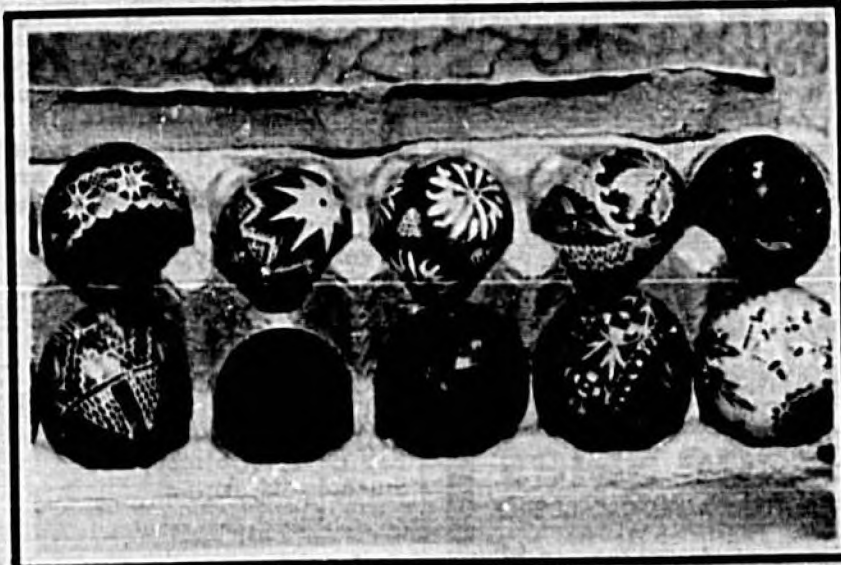

Mrs. Hand said she was very Americanized until she moved to Apopka and a friend of her mother's introduced her to Ukrainian egg making. Now she sees herself in her traditional Ukrainian costuming showing her handcrafted eggs, a representative of Ukrainians in the United States, Central Florida and the world.

And her mission to pass on the technique of egg art is fairly simple because, she said, most who try can find success as in this batiking craft.

All that is needed is an wax-holding etching tool — a kistka —, beeswax, a candle, special non-edible dyes and a smooth, white raw egg. It can be from a chicken, goose or duck.

Rosalie Kowalchuk Hand

As the design, composed of symbol, is drawn on to the egg with the kistka the eggs are dipped into the dye, starting with the lighter colors and progressing to the dark colors, Mrs. Hand said.

Once the wax and dye process is completed, the dark coating on the egg is melted away with the egg being held over a candle. That's when the artist is rewarded with a first look at the design, which resembles stained glass art.

Traditionally completed eggs, Mrs. Hand said, were coated with butter. But today varnish is used as a preservative.

The completed eggs are delicate and shouldn't be handled, she said. If a raw egg has been used the inside will dry out and the egg, as it ages, will become lighter.

Etched into the colorful patterns are traditional symbols, which blend to make the eggs message carriers, Mrs. Hand said.

The triangle represents the Christian trinity; the fish, Christ; wheat, a bountiful harvest; the cross, suffering death, resurrection; the eight pointed star was once the sign of the sun god, but now is a symbol of Christ; dots depict Mary's tears of the stars; waves or ribbons circling an egg suggest eternity. And the designs go on and on.

In the Ukraine, the eggs were very much a part of family life, with mothers passing the secrets of their designs, techniques, and dyes to their daughters, while shielding them from their neighbors, Mrs. Hand said.

"They wanted their design to be the most outstanding at Easter-time at the church. Easter was also a time a single girl would want to give the most beautiful egg she had done to the boy of her dreams. Someone she was really interested in.

"Sometimes it would lead to an engagement. So, even the young men were waiting with anticipation to see if they were getting an egg from the local person they seemed to like," Mrs.

Hand said.

Other countries have varying forms of egg art and many Slavic nations use the same bathing process as the Ukrainians, Mrs. Hand said, but the designs are different.

"I would say the Ukrainian designs are the most intricate and complex. It takes on seriousness as an art form. It's very complex and the color has sort of a stained glass effect. People know about Ukrainian eggs throughout the world and people prize owning a Ukrainian egg," she said.

Mrs. Hand tries to keep her designs traditional, as do most Ukrainian egg artists, she said.

"It's up to them if they feel they want to experiment," she said.

Mrs. Hand occasionally appears at schools or community functions to demonstrate her craft.

It takes about three hours, she said, to learn the basics of the craft and to produce your first egg.

Typically, Mrs. Hand said, it takes about three hours to produce a Ukrainian egg, but some more complex designs require about 10 hours of work. And it's all backed by 2,000 years of tradition.

They Make Movies On A Shoestring

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Sylvester Stallone was paid $15 million for his new movie, "Over The Top."

For that kind of money producers Mark Deimel and Bob Torrance could make 16 or 17 movies, but of course not with Stallone in the starring role.

Deimel, 30, and Torrance, 31, are producing "Perfect Match," a contemporary love story involving the singles scene. Its eye-bulging budget of $800,000 is less than Stallone spills on a shopping spree along Rodeo Drive.

The filmmaking partners have become expert at cutting corners, shaving costs, eliminating waste and getting the most for their bucks.

In addition to producing "Perfect Match," Deimel also directed the film. Co-producer Torrance was the cinematographer. As producers they took no salary.

Their credo is that good motion pictures can be made for less than a million dollars.

Star Trek Grounded

By Mark Schwed
 UPI TV Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Plans to beam a new "Star Trek" series to television screens this fall have been grounded and for the time being Trekkies will have to make do with reruns of the 20-year-old show.

Fox Broadcasting Co., busy with plans to launch a fourth network, was close to signing a deal with Paramount Television to revive the popular science-fiction series for a March debut. But Paramount, which owns the rights to the show, backed out of the deal.

Ironically, what killed the idea for a new series was the popularity of the original series.

Set 200 years in the future, "Star Trek" followed the adventures of the starship USS Enterprise, whose mission was to "seek out new worlds and boldly go where no man has gone before."

The crew was headed by Captain James T. Kirk (William Shatner), a half-breed totally logical and partly green Vulcan named Spock (Leonard Nimoy), and Dr. Leonard "Bones" McCoy (DeForest Kelley). Between fighting the Klingons and Romulans, the Federation ship kept busy shuttling supplies to Earth colonies in space and encountering strange forms of alien life.

What made "Star Trek" so unique was its many well-written compelling stories on current social issues, but with a space-age setting.

The first voyage of the Enterprise was Sept. 8, 1966. Three years later the voyage ended.

NBC deemed the show a failure because it never did attract a mass audience, although it did attract an avid cultist following. Another reason for cancellation: it was one of the most expensive programs on television at the time.

While it was a network failure, it was a syndicator's dream. Ten years after it was dropped by NBC, "Star Trek" reruns were airing in 48 countries — 140 television stations in America.

Fans, dubbed "trekkies," organized themselves, lobbied NBC to bring back the program and held annual conventions in the U.S. and overseas.

The program earned millions of dollars for Paramount and sparked four "Star Trek" movies (Star Trek IV premieres in December).

Probably no other program on network television enjoyed such a life after death as "Star Trek."

Paramount was concerned that the new "Star Trek," even without Mr. Spock and Capt. Kirk, would hurt the box office for the "Star Trek" movies as well as syndicated reruns of the TV show.

Paramount is still interested in a new "Star Trek" series based on the original premise but not using the existing characters. Fox has proposed introducing new and younger characters for a possible spin-off series.

So there may still be afterlife for "Star Trek."

Bite and pieces

"NBC Nightly News" anchor Tom Brokaw is sporting a cast on his right hand. The anchorman known to colleagues as "Duncan the Wonderhorse" for his stamina shattered his knuckle and another joint on his right ring finger while playing softball last Sunday near his summer home in Lakeville, Conn. He spent the night at New York Hospital after a 2 1/2 hour operation. The bad break forced Brokaw to cancel a month-long mountain-climbing and fishing trip to Montana.

Jack Parr will return to NBC and host a show for the first time in 20 years this fall. From 1957 to 1965, Parr gave viewers a healthy diet of hilarity and havoc as host of NBC's "Tonight Show" and "The Jack Parr Program," where he interviewed such guests as John and Robert Kennedy, Richard Nixon, Fidel Castro, The Beatles, Judy Garland, Richard Burton and Fred Astaire. The one-hour fall special, "Jack Parr Comes Home," hopes to recreate some of that old magic. The program will be taped before a live audience next month at NBC's Rockefeller Center studios in New York where Parr hosted both shows.

The city of Cleveland, Ohio has been getting a bad rap for far too long and ABC's "Good Morning America" plans to do something about it on Aug. 22. "We're going to originate from Cleveland in a two-hour special," said ABC's John Goodman. "The Cleveland story is a great story because it's been the butt of jokes for a long long time. But Cleveland is in the midst of a renaissance. We're going to show America how one city has changed." Also on that great day, GMA will get a new weatherman, Spencer Christian, from WABC in New York.

G. Gordon Liddy, the ex-Watergate felon, will return to "Miami Vice" this fall as, what else, a bad guy. Liddy guested last season as slimy Col. Maynard ... The producers of the "New Monkees" syndicated show have announced the first open auditions for four new madcaps. A casting call is scheduled Tuesday in New York at Studio Instrument Rentals. Wanted: singers and musicians. "Acting ability is a plus," the producers say.

Hooked On Cable

By Guy MacMillin

When the subject of cable TV channels comes up, most people think of HBO, the first one distributed by satellite and the most successful. Not me, though. I've worked out a deal with HBO. They don't answer my letters; I don't watch their programs.

But there are lots of other channels out there carried on only a fraction of cable systems. If you're hooked up to cable, you might soon be able to watch some of them.

That's because a federal court has struck down the FCC "must carry" rule, which was designed to take the risk out of broadcasting by requiring cable companies to carry every over-the-air signal for miles around. Cable customers often got three NBC channels, five CBS channels, half a dozen ABC channels. Because cable systems have limited capacity, there was often little room for anything else.

A cable channel would advertise "20 crystal-clear channels," but failed to mention that at a given time of day half of those channels were showing David Hartman.

If the FCC comes up with a new "must carry" rule, it'll be much less restrictive, so cable companies will have room for more services. Here are some thoughts about a few:

The Nostalgia Channel. Really old movies are good even when they're awful. The clothes, street scenes, interior designs, manners and mores. This channel dusts off some crackerjacks: comedy shorts, serials, cowboy movies, mysteries, musical "soundies" and the old series films about Dr. Kildare, Dr. Christian, Andy Hardy and various detectives. It's a kick.

American Movie Classics. This is upscale nostalgia: mostly high-class B movies from RKO accompanied by the literate commentary of Bob Dorian, who introduces them. You won't see these anywhere else.

Bravo. This is about the only place on American TV you can see subtitled foreign films, rather than awkward dubbed versions. There are also English-language films, jazz and classical music performances and an occasional documentary. Bravo fulfills cable's promise of specialized, high-quality programming for a limited audience.

VH-1. This channel was designed as an adult companion to MTV. But VH-1's idea of adult music is dippy ballads where people complain about things being wrong but feeling right, and about not being able to make it through the night. If Billy Ocean got laryngitis, VH-1 would probably have to shut down.

Question: What about Nick Mancuso?

Dear Debra — Could you tell me if the extremely handsome man who plays "Stingray" on NBC also played an Indian in the movie "The Legend of Walks Far Woman"? I would really appreciate it! — T.J., Houston.

Dear Debra — I would like to know more about Nick Mancuso, who plays "Stingray." What other shows did he appear in? — G.R., West Palm Beach, Fla.

Nick Mancuso, born in Italy and raised in Toronto, has starred in productions in both Canada and America. He appeared in the TV movies "The Legend of Walks Far Woman," "Desperate Intruder" and "The House on Garibaldi Street" and in the TV miniseries "Scrupes." On HBO, he played in "The Crowd" and more recently, "Half a Lifetime." Mancuso's feature films include "Ticket to Heaven," "Nightwing," "Death Ship," "Mother Lode," "Love Song," "Heartbreakers," "Tell Me That You Love Me," "Blame It on the Night" and "Night Magic."

Dear Debra — I enjoy "Moonlighting" every Tuesday night and would like to know if Cybill Shepherd is the young girl who played Cindy on "The Brady Bunch." There's a $5 bet on this. I hope she was! Thank you. — M.D., Needville, Texas.

So sorry, M.D., but Cybill Shepherd never played on "The Brady Bunch." The actress who played

Celebrity Corner
Debra Katz

Cindy Brady was Susan Olsen.

Dear Debra — I think I read somewhere that Tyne Daly of "Cagney & Lacey" played on "General Hospital." Could you please tell me when she was on it and what role she played? — L.H., Saginaw, Mich.

Where'd you read that? A complete cast list for "General Hospital" going back nearly 25 years gives no mention of Tyne Daly. "GH" does boast a lot of other famous "graduates" though: Richard Dean Anderson ("MacGyver"), Douglas Sheehan ("Knots Landing"), Demi Moore ("About Last Night"), Daniel J. Travanti ("Hill Street Blues") and singer Rick Springfield.

Dear Debra — Someone told me that Jim Morrison, who was the lead singer of The Doors, was really alive and living somewhere in Africa. Is this true? — M.D., Houston.

According to the reference books, the late Jim Morrison died in 1971 of heart failure.

Dear Debra — Where can I write to get some information concerning the movies that Paramount has made in the past 60 years or so? How much would such information cost to get? I thought you would be able to expedite the matter somewhat. — T.B., New Albany, Ind.

While I can't expedite the matter for you, I did call Paramount for you. A spokeswoman in the publicity department said they would certainly try to help you; and provided it didn't turn out to be too expensive a job for them, it would probably cost nothing. Write to the Publicity Department, Paramount Pictures Corporation, 1 Gulf & Western Plaza, New York, N.Y. 10023. If the matter has to be taken care of at the California address, they'll refer it there, she said. Good luck!

DEAR READERS: Back in April a reader asked about the cast of "Leave It to Beaver." We said we'd keep you posted on the developments concerning revivals of the show, after The Disney Channel recently cancelled one such program, "Still the Beaver." Here's the news: "The New Leave It to Beaver" will grace television screens this fall on WTBS, Ted Turner's cable station, most probably on Sunday evening. Tony Dow playing Wally, Jerry Mathers playing Beaver, Barbara Billingsley playing June Cleaver, Frank Bank playing Lumpy Rutherford and Ken Osmond playing Eddie Haskell will all be there. Start checking your cable guides, come September!
