LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI)—They called their police chief a man "who had the guts to face anything and anybody." Today they wondered.

Police Chief Eugene Smith had stood before an angry crowd while segregationists during Little Rock's integration crises. He had arrested several Negroes during the current sit-down demonstrations.

He stood for law and order through more than two years of racial tension. The question today was: Did the pressure finally become too great, or was there one thing he could not face?

Friday afternoon, Police Chief Eugene Smith listened as his son, Raymond Eugene, 20, pleaded guilty to a burglary charge and was given a $250 fine and a two-year suspended sentence.

Friday night, Police Chief Smith shot his wife to death, then killed himself.

Authorities said Smith and his wife sat talking in the kitchen of their white frame house for hours before four pistol shots ended their lives.

Smith had been closely associated with every phase of the integration problem.

An assistant chief on Sept. 23, 1957, he stood at barricades blocking streets leading to Central High School.

Several hundred angry segregationists stood outside. When they learned that nine Negro students had entered the school, they surged across police lines.

One man grabbed Smith by the collar.

"I don't want to hurt somebody," Smith shouted.

The segregationists rushed the police lines. Smith swung his right stick and knocked a man to the ground. There were a number of arrests, and shortly after noon Smith ordered the Negro children taken home for their safety.

The incident rocketed him into national prominence.

Representative Proposes Easier Way To Get To Work In Morning

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The shaggy sky was about to start shedding snow when I arrived at National Airport. But it was not just the weather that had me trembling in my trench coat.

I was on a business and adventurous assignment, which was enough to set anyone's nerves aflutter. The case in point: "Randall's Ride."

As I made my way across the terminal, I could sense an undercurrent of suppressed excitement among my colleagues. It was so suppressed that some of them had fallen asleep.

Our leader, Rep. Randall S. Harmon, had called us, a group of reporters and photographers, together in the interests of science, legislation and publicity.

He was out to prove that a helicopter can get from the airport to the Capitol, and vice versa, faster than an automobile.

Some of his fellow lawmakers had scoffed when Harmon introduced a bill to build a heliport on the roof of the newest House of Representatives building. They said it couldn't, or at least shouldn't, be done.

Perhaps they forgot, they were dealing with the man who had invented a system of collecting government rent for his front porch. Or maybe they didn't forget. Maybe that is why they have started calling it the "heliport" bill.

At any rate, it's hard to abash Harmon. Resident in a pearl

CBS Report On Latin Dictator Turns Out Unconvincing Fare

By FRED DANZIG
NEW YORK (UPI)—There must be something about TV that causes dictators to do the hat bit when they go on it.

Last year, when we met Soviet dictator Khrushchev on our TV tubes, we saw him fiddle around with a white panama-style hat. He would take it off and put it on while talking.

Thursday night, "CBS Reports" presented a one-hour study called "Trujillo: Portrait of a Dictator." Again, we saw a dictator fidget with a panama-style hat. While talking, too. I mention this purely as a footnote to history. I think

Gray Overcoat Whose Lapels Framed a Blue String Tie, the Intrepid Indiana Democrat exuded confidence as he briefed us on our mission.

"What kind of coat is that, Congressman?" someone asked.

"That's a vicuna," Harmon replied, and we all knew then that he would bring us through somehow.

Whipping out a stopwatch, Harmon led us out to the ramp where he boarded a small fuchsia-colored helicopter owned by a private company and the rest of us climbed into two big olive drab Army models.

In a trice, we were whirling across the broad Potomac, over the Washington Monument and down the mall to the Capitol. The view was spectacular but it was so cold I couldn't work up much enthusiasm for sight-seeing.

After what seemed to me like a full 18 minutes, we were back at the airport. Harmon consulted his stopwatch and announced that the trip had indeed taken 18 minutes. No automobile could match that. He had made his point!

Delighted over the outcome of his first helicopter ride, Harmon said he would buy one of the machines for himself if he could afford it. I suggested that he raise the funds by building and renting another front porch.

"You know," he said thoughtfully, "you've got something there."

He is a member of the Baptist Church, the Masons, Bahá Shrine, Elks Lodge No. 1079, the Winter Park University Club, The Florida Bar, and the Committee on Legal Services to the Armed Forces.

He pledged in his announcement to "minimize uncertainty in the law by carefully reasoned decisions based upon sound principles of established law." Murrell also said that, if elected, he would "promote equal justice upon application of the law for the public interest."

Rhyme For A Reason

LONDON (UPI)—Britain's Government Postoffice has adopted a stamp-cancelling everprint which reads:

"Correct addressing
"What a blessing
"Save us guessing."

It proves that good guys don't fidget with hats.

Seriously, the CBS study, with Bill Leonard serving as reporter-narrator-producer, certainly had good intentions. It sought to arouse us to oppressive conditions in the Dominican Republic, where Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo has ruled for 30 years, apparently paying more attention to the country's physical appearance than its political freedom. Much as I might sympathize with the editorial purpose of the program, Leonard put together, I found the TV production to be disorganized, repetitious, unconvincing and superficial. Those last two conditions, of course, are understandable. Leonard had his problems down there, it seems.

The narrative kept jumping from travelogue to editorial comment and back. A recent Sunday report by NBC-TV's Chet Huntley covered the same ground in half the time, made the same points and even included some of the film footage.

As a portrait of a dictator, this "CBS Report" was much too sketchy. As a portrait of Trujillo's island republic, it failed to depict the day-to-day life of the place. About all I can say for it is that it was good try.

Dialing and filling: "To Tell The Truth," on CBS-TV, tried to pawn off strip-leaser Georgia Sothorn as a female lion tamer Thursday night. The fact that the show's usual celebrities indicates the careful attention to clever camouflage that once distinguished this program is beginning to unravel. . . . "The Betty Hutton Show," also on CBS-TV Thursday night, solved the juvenile delinquency problem in short order. This particular episode was probably as bad as anything I've ever seen on TV. I think if the program wasn't going off TV anyhow, it could create a greater problem of adult delinquency.

Pat Boone got carried away by his comedy impulses Thursday night. Boone's brief aside as he greeted guest Carmel Quinn, who made her entrance in a pony-drawn cart, was unkind and certainly ungentlemanly.

Bob Horton, guest on NBC-TV's "Krisia Ford" show, demonstrated a pleasing comedy style. It was light, quiet and pointed.

Most Candidates Disagree With Speech By Collins

By United Press International
 Florida's candidates for governor had comments Monday—most of them unfavorable—about Gov. LeRoy Collins' televised talk on the state's racial troubles.

Collins said Sunday it is morally wrong for department store management to bar Negroes from lunch counters while soliciting their business in other departments.

Only one candidate, Ted David of Hollywood, gave outright support to Collins' statement. "If they (department stores) open their doors to Negroes, they should open them in every regard," David said.

Other candidates either wholly disagreed or commented on other parts of Collins' remarks.

Mayor Haydon Burns of Jacksonville said he did not think Collins' remarks were "commensurate with the feeling of the people or made any contribution toward solving the problem."

John McCarty, campaigning in Tampa, disagreed with Collins. "The recent sit-down demonstrations at lunch counters should not and cannot be condoned," McCarty said.

Fred Dickinson of West Palm Beach said about the same thing. "From what I have heard, the governor correctly stated the law to the effect that a merchant can serve or refuse whomever he desires."

"This is a social issue," Dickinson said. "What is morally right or wrong is up to every individual."

C. Farris Bryant of Ocala said his own position on segregation is well established.

But a candidate for governor, Bryant said, should not make statements on the issue "unless he is willing to risk fanning the flames which threaten to engulf Florida with great danger to our citizens and economic loss to our state."

Another leading candidate, Doyle E. Carlton Jr. of Wauchula, said a businessman has a right "to serve the clientele of his choice."

How Owner Runs Store Is His Business, Smathers Tells Sanford Rotarians

Sen. George Smathers agreed to being put "on the spot" before Sanford Rotarians Monday and gave his opinion of Gov. LeRoy Collins Sunday TV remarks about the integration problem.

Talking by phone from his Washington office, Smathers told the Rotarians that it seems to him the federal government shouldn't tell people how to run their stores. The senator said a store was a man's private property and the owner ought to be able to say how it would be run.

Smathers said he agrees with former President Truman's statement that if someone turns into Truman's store and the Missouri didn't like him, Truman would reserve the right to throw that person out.

When applause greeted the senator's comments, Smathers asked whether the noise he heard was people clapping or throwing things. Rotarian George Touhy, who was on the Sanford end of the line, assured Smathers that it was applause.

Before the comments on integration, Smathers gave the Cuban government a stiff verbal going-over.

He referred to Cuban leader Fidel Castro as "little dictator who doesn't want our friendship."

Smathers said he had been to Miami to visit his sick father early Monday morning but rushed back to the Senate floor to talk about Castro.

Smathers credited the Cuban National Bank head, Ernesto Guevara, with saying that Cuba's best friend is Soviet Russia and that Cuba has declared economic war on the United States.

Smathers said he told Secretary of State Christian Herter that the United States was losing its self-respect by sending Ambassador Philip W. Bonsal back to Cuba.

"The U.S. is supporting a semi-Communist dictatorship by this action and is disappointing people who want to overthrow Castro," the senator said.

When Rotarian George Touhy said he thought Sanford's Rotarians agreed with Smathers, the senator said "I wish we could get through to those high people in the State Dept."

The whole discussion, which an amplifier broadcast to the club members, was part of a direct distance dialing demonstration by Robert Shelden, manager of Sanford's Southern Bell Telephone Co. branch.

Before the Smathers conversation, Shelden dialed direct to Hawaii and got the time there, 8:05-4 a. m. It was almost 1:05 p. m. here. Shelden also dialed a Chicago weather forecast which mentioned a high of 30.

The group manager said that Sanford can expect direct dialing within the next two years. The United States is divided into more than 100 phone districts. Right now, under the system, when you want to dial a long distance call direct, you dial the number of the phone district of your destination, and then the phone number of the party you're calling.

STANLEY WILLINK, a junior at Seminole High School, has been appointed a page in the U. S. House of Representatives, Rep. Syd Herlong advised his mother, Mrs. Alice W. Willink, yesterday. Willink, 17, will report to Washington June 1 to begin learning the page's duties.

Garner To Retire From City Board

One of Sanford's oldest public servants will retire March 31. N. O. Garner, who has served on the Sanford Civil Service Board for the past 17 years, will retire for a well-earned rest at the end of this month.

Garner, 71, has lived in Sanford since 1902. He was a fingerprinter and desk clerk for the Sanford police from 1914 to 1916 and was also in the produce shipping business. He lives with his wife, Ruth, at 506 Palmello Ave.

Collins Says Talk Reaction Good

Collins said Monday reaction to his Sunday television talk on Florida's race problems was "overwhelmingly favorable."

Hundreds of telegrams, messages and telephone calls poured into the governor's office, commenting on Collins' suggestion that if department stores did not serve both Negroes and whites at their lunch counters, the counters should be shut down.

By late Monday, Collins had received 273 favorable and 12 unfavorable comments, three of the latter from out of the state.

"We think" read a wire from Miami, "you are a traitor to all the South here."

Another, from Delray Beach, said "Thank you for your splendid American speech."

Rights Backers Push For Final House Vote

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Civil rights backers pushed for a final House vote today on the much-debated administration proposal for court-appointed referees to protect Negro voting rights.

Southern strategists conceded that they had little chance of stopping the drive. But they were still trying to soften the proposal through amendments.

One spokesman said the Southern forces had "quite a few" more amendments to present.

Rep. Emanuel Celler (N. Y.), Democratic floor leader on civil rights, said he would move to shut off debate and bar additional amendments if he saw evidence of stalling tactics.

One Southern amendment was pending as the House moved into its seventh day of debate on the referee plan. Offered by Rep. Robert W. Hemphill (D-S. C.), it would require the referee to show federal judges who appoint them that they are familiar with state and local election laws and voter qualifications.

Civil rights forces have succeeded in beating down every Southern Democratic or conservative Republican attempt in the House to weaken the referee proposal.

Loch Arbor Drains Approved

The County Commission today authorized County Engineer Robert Davis to start work immediately on a $3,000 Loch Arbor drainage program to relieve property owners in that area.

Davis told the board that once the project is completed it should eliminate dangerous flooding in the Loch Arbor area from Country Club Road to Lake Emory.

The first step in the program will be the moving of fences and other obstructions on the easement and the building of trenches to hold pipes from Lake Drive north.

The final step will be cutting small ditches into the easement.

Loch Arbor was one of the hardest hit during the rains last week. Commissioner Homer Little reported that in many places water stood next to homes.

Davis had reported at the height of the rainfall "Loch Arbor was just one big puddle of water."

Davis also gave a brief report on the damage to county roads just last week during the abnormal rains. He said the worst damage was to Lake Mary Road.

The engineer stressed that the rains have delayed all county work projects at least one month. Davis said most dirt and clay roads were made impassable by the heavy rains.

County Commission Chairman John Krider said the rain alerted the board to the tremendous need for a long range drainage plan.

He said that it was the consensus of the County Drainage Committee that the only solution is the setting up of drainage districts where the need arises.

The board also agreed to have Clerk David Gatchal write a letter of appreciation to the Red Cross, sheriff's office and National Guard for their assistance during the flooding.

Davis said his crews also are working full time in cleaning up road washouts in the southwest end of the county and in the Temple Terrace and Tanglewood area. He said he hopes to have these sections back to normal within the next month.

Van Hoy 'Observer' At Board Meeting

J. H. Van Hoy, who was appointed county commissioner from District 2 by Gov. LeRoy Collins March 11, sat in at the board meeting today as an "observer."

Van Hoy cannot officially take office until his bond is approved and filed with the Secretary of State.

Van Hoy told board members that he is considering attending a state wide county commission meeting scheduled in Miami Sunday, Monday and Tuesday of next week.

The board has postponed next week's meeting in order to attend the state session.

Now It's Spring Snow In East, North Carolina

By United Press International
 A surprise springtime storm dumped as much as 10 inches of snow in the East today.

Up to four inches of snow was forecast for New York City before the storm moves out to sea.

In Pennsylvania the snow was accompanied by winds of 35 m.p.h. and weathermen warned the gusts might increase to 60 m.p.h. Four-mile traffic jams developed on highways at Harrisburg, and near Lewistown three men were killed when their station wagon skidded into a tree.

The snow set a record for Pittsburgh. The March snowfall there now totals 21.7 inches, an inch and a half more than a record that stood 34 years. The new snow ranged from two inches in eastern Pennsylvania to 10 inches in the western part of the state.

In western Michigan a spring storm closed roads and caused widespread damage.

Hurricane force winds of 76 miles an hour blew down trees and utility wires in Muskegon and Grand Haven along the 170-mile Michigan shoreline.

What some witnesses described as a small tornado flattened a 60 by 40 foot cement block building at Grand Haven.

Another late-season storm staggered parts of North Carolina and Virginia Monday.

Up to 24 inches of snow fell in parts of North Carolina, already hard hit by a succession of winter storms. Schools which reopened Friday for the first time in two weeks closed again.

Ten inches of snow accumulated at Mt. Pleasant near Asheville, N. C., and a six-inch fall was measured on Mount Mitchell. Hardest hit was the Maple Springs Gap area near the Great Smoky Mountains National Park which got up to two feet of snow.

Five inches of new snow clogged roads and closed schools in southwest Virginia.

A new blast of cold air blew into the country from Canada. Readings near zero were common in the Dakota and Minnesota. The mercury dropped below freezing in much of Dixie.

Firebug Has City Asking For Help

INDIO, Calif. (UPI) — This city of 10,000 persons declared a state of emergency and appealed for outside aid today because of a firebug.

The arsonist, officials said has set three major fires in the last five days, causing about $1 million damage.

Merchants have started sleeping in their stores. Police patrols have been doubled. The town's 11 paid firemen and 10 volunteers were on special alert.

The city asked the Twenty-Nine Palms Marine Base to supply special military police patrols. Gov. Edmund G. Brown has been asked to support the city's declaration of a state of emergency with one of his own.

Special guards kept an eye on the city's schools.

There have been no signs of hysteria and no wild fear, but a steady uneasy apprehension has given the southern California desert community a grim joke: "Where are you going tonight?" one man asks.

"To the fire, where else?" is the answer.

Fire Chief Charles Y. Adams said the three fires definitely were the work of a firebug. The most recent fire burned down the city's only theater Sunday night.

The County Commission today rejected all bids by outside construction firms on paving three county roads.

The board agreed that there isn't enough money for all of the projects at this time and authorized County Engineer Robert Davis to sit on the projects until this year's road program.

The three roads are Wylie, Rose and South Park Aves.

Chairman John Krider said the board that the Wylie Ave. project was of prime importance because it will set as a new entrance way to the Sanford Naval Air Station.

Krider said the other two projects may have to wait until "we have the necessary funds."

The three bids were announced to the board at last meeting last week. The apparent low bid was that of the L. L. Construction Co. of Orange Park at $7,000.

Around The Clock

Mrs. Gary Wilsey of San Francisco, who said she liked the food at Mrs. Appleby's Restaurant, also has found an extra consideration there to her liking. When her family stopped for a meal here, she left her baby's personal spoon on the table and didn't miss it until she was many miles away from Sanford. Back in San Francisco, she wrote Mrs. Appleby and asked if it had been found. "It has great sentimental value," she wrote. Baby's spoon had been found and safely put away — now it's on its way to California—gift wrapped by Mrs. Appleby.

A bear bit a man on the left index finger at the Sanford Zoo Sunday, a Florida Sanitarium nurse told Sanford police. Lillian Young of the Orlando hospital said that Gerry Lee Pepper, 25, of Orlando was bitten by a bear Sunday afternoon and had come to the Florida Sanitarium for treatment.

Repairs have started on five Sanford streets that received washout damage during last week's rains. Sections of Palmto, Celery, Persimmon, Magnolia, and Oak Avenues, 23th St. and Wrenwood Dr. are getting patchwork with asphalt, City Supt. of Public Works Syd Richard said Monday.

Expert Claims Battle Of Sexes Ends In A Draw

NEW YORK (UPI) — Female brains are neither superior nor inferior to masculine brains, said Dr. Gardner Murphy, director of research at the Menninger Foundation in Topeka, Kan.

He said it at a recent seminar on "Why women are better than men — and vice versa."

Dr. Murphy said there is a difference between glandular secretions present in the blood of men and women, and consequently a difference in the "body fluids" of incredible complexity, bathing the brain's ten billion cells.

"Every interest, taste, attitude, or value is governed to some extent by these body fluids, and behind these fluids lies the bodily structure as a whole, with its instinctual, temperamental, and other attributes," Dr. Murphy said.

Two Men Hurt In Auto Mishap

Two Sanford men were injured and a car overturned in an accident at 15th St. and Elm Ave. Sunday.

Sheldon Theodore Lutz suffered a cut on his forehead and body bruises, and Arnold Cline received a forehead cut in the collision, Sanford police said. Lutz lives at 1907 French Ave. and Cline lives at 106 Anderson Circle.

Police said Cline was driving north on Elm Ave. and had just entered the W. 15th St. intersection when the car driven by Lutz ran a stop sign on 15th St. Cline's car hit the Lutz auto in the right side.

Cline was charged with careless and negligent driving and having an improper driver's license. Lutz was charged with failure to yield the right of way.

Italy Will Build 120-Inch Scope, Europe's Largest

ROME (UPI) — Italy has announced plans to build the largest telescope in Europe at a cost of $3,300,000.

The telescope, which will take three years to build, will measure about 120 inches in diameter. Italian Education Minister Giuseppe Medici, who approved the plans, said the telescope will be available for use by both Italian and foreign scientists. Medici has named a committee to select a site for an observatory to house the new telescope.

At present, the largest telescope in Europe is 80 inches in diameter. While the new one will dwarf this one, it still will be smaller than the largest telescopes now in use in Great Britain and the United States.

Mayor Apologizes For Anti-Kennedy Demonstration

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — The mayor of Indianapolis has apologized to Sen. John F. Kennedy for the anti-Catholic demonstration that blighted the Massachusetts senator's entry into the Indiana primary.

"The city was disgraced by this act of bigotry," Mayor Charles Boswell said Monday after demonstrators heckled Kennedy, a Catholic, as he filed to enter the presidential preference primary April 5.

But a spokesman for the hecklers said they would stage similar sign-waving demonstrations along Kennedy's midwestern campaign route.

"As mayor of Indianapolis and as a Protestant Methodist, I was embarrassed by their disgraceful action," Boswell said. "I was appalled by it."

"It was the kind of bigotry I thought this city was rid of when the Ku Klux Klan was destroyed." The demonstrators, whose leaders identified themselves as members of the "Baptist Evangelization Society," massed in the Indiana statehouse lobby as Kennedy arrived.

They challenged Kennedy to debate on the subject, "resolved, that a Roman Catholic president cannot impartially defend the Constitution and advance the true welfare of the United States while remaining true to his religion."

The senator ignored the demonstrators, but they showed up again at a news conference and repeated their challenge. "Why didn't you issue this challenge when I joined the United States Navy?" Kennedy retorted while a crowd of several hundred persons applauded.

"These demonstrators are tied to their views," Kennedy said.

"I believe in the United States Constitution and in freedom of speech. I also believe in the First Amendment which provides for the separation of the church and the state."

"I also believe in Article Six, which says there shall be no religious test for qualification for public office."

The Rev. George Dixon, pastor of the Indianapolis Baptist Temple, said the hecklers were part of the 25,000 members of the "Indiana Bible Baptist Fellowship," which is not affiliated with either the American Baptist Convention or the South Baptist Convention.

Friends Form Lansing Fund

Porter Lansing has made a lot of good friends during the many years he has lived in Sanford and they were shocked when an automobile accident put him in the hospital near death.

The tough old sportsman has weathered the injuries for about two months and a considerable amount of medical care still will be required in the future, even after he gets out of the hospital.

The many friends he has and organizations in which he has been active have decided to do something for him. They have established a fund to help defray the thousands of dollars of hospital bills he has had and to ease the burden of future costs on his family.

Ranford Elks Lodge 1241 has agreed to be the central agency for collection of funds for the Porter Lansing Fund. The Elks, Moose and Seminole County Sportsmen's Assn. have started the fund raising by sponsoring a barbecue April 30 and a contest with an outboard motor as a prize.

Contributions from individuals and organizations will be accepted by the fund. These may be sent to Porter Lansing Fund, Sanford Elks Lodge, or to P. O. Box 1259.

Expenses are great in caring for cases such as Mr. Lansing's requiring long periods of medication, and attendance by doctors and nurses. Mr. Lansing's friends say that they feel the financial burden should be lightened and they ask anyone who feels the same way to send in a contribution.

Non-Candidates For President Have Campaign Headquarters Too

By DUKE WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In the past month or so I have visited the campaign headquarters of all the people here who are running for President.

New I have started making the rounds of headquarters of people who are not running for President. Thus far, it's pretty hard to tell one type from the other.

The first stop on my list of non-candidates was the Symington-for-President club which has just moved into new quarters overlooking Farragut Park.

The park is named for a naval hero, Adm. David Farragut, who said "Damn the torpedoes! Go ahead!" The club is named for a former Air Force secretary, Ben Stuart Symington, who feels that way about Russian missiles.

Symington, as you know, is currently viewed as a dark horse in the race for the Democratic nomination. But I wouldn't be surprised if he soon became a horse of another color.

I mean the Symington club doesn't look or act like it intended to be a token gesture. It has more office space and a bigger staff than the headquarters of some of the running candidates.

The club occupies what was once a three-story residence in the heart of downtown Washington. On the day I called there, the heart had clogged arteries, caused by a heavy snowfall.

Earlier in the presidential season, the club house at 921 17th St. was rented by a group backing Gov. Nelson Rockefeller for the Republican nomination.

Two days after the Rockefeller group moved in, it moved out again, having suddenly found itself without a candidate. The Symington club, eager to expand, was happy to fill the vacancy.

Upon my arrival, I was escorted to the office of William H. Perkins Jr. who has taken leave from his Chicago insurance business to run the headquarters.

Since Symington isn't a candidate as yet, you might say that Perkins at the moment is sort of a horseless head man. But I gathered he doesn't think this will be permanent.

On Symington's most recent speaking tour, he said, the Missouri senator drew record-breaking crowds—in Republican territory—in two weeks.

"He's not actively seeking delegates but he's everybody's second choice," Perkins continued, warming to the subject. "Nobody can find anything wrong with Stuart Symington."

While waiting for Symington to commit himself, the club is operating a full blown campaign, sending out literature, lining up volunteer workers across the country and arranging speaking schedules.

Furthermore, its lease on the building runs until next November.

ASSIGNMENT WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON — It was as he had left it six weeks before.

It was a private office desk laden with impediments that told much of his character—the tiny statue of Thomas Jefferson, the 4-H emblem fused into a glass paperweight, the little felt donkey, the loaded desk calendar with speaking dates into April — and the books he had read or left unread.

This man of 47 years had no reason to believe he wouldn't return from Portland to his senatorial office soon, despite the words in the eulogy by Oregon's other senator that "Dick Neuberger knew death was not long away."

The heavy leather desk chair of Richard L. Neuberger was symbolically turned toward his typewriter, a machine rarely found in the private office of a United States senator.

He was a prodigious writer. After his cancer operation his staff knew he must rest. They rolled in a long black leather couch and set it in his room behind the desk.

And now Mary Jane Cox, his receptionist, was saying: "He never used it. Instead of resting, he'd be at the typewriter."

Under the glass top, the senator had slipped a solitary entry, a billfold-size picture of an attractive woman, with her name typed in capital letters in the bottom margin: Maurine.

Along the wall there were the customary celebrities with personal notes, but the prominent spots went to his family. There was a picture of two of his nieces and one of the family cat, Muffet, a Maxx.

Even for those who simply passed by Room 118 there was a strong display of his personality, his philosophy. He had fought to save the vast resources of the Northwest's great outdoors, and viewed for the New York Times. Strangely enough, what Senator Neuberger would not have been able to do in life he was able to accomplish in death. He had stayed — at least temporarily — the harangue and anger of a chamber lora against itself.

For three and a half hours, the men and a lady of the Senate laid aside the bickering on civil rights to praise, as one, the works of the colleague who had now gone on to other things. And then they adjourned.

The sudden passing of Sen. Neuberger also brought to an end the personal and painful assault against him by the colleague of his own state.

Now, Sen. Wayne Morse stood on in eulogy for 15 minutes. Before closing, however, Morse observed that when Dick Neuberger left Washington for a rest in Portland, the young senator must have felt he would never return, that he was going to die soon.

But even in death, Senator Neuberger disagreed with the senior senator from Oregon.

For, on the senator's date calendar stands this entry: "Talk on cancer, luncheon, Friday, April 1, Philadelphia."

THE WORRY CLINIC By Dr. George Crane

Della's case is duplicated in millions of homes as study is very carefully. No child likes either music or spinach at the outset. Liking develops by the indirect method of "conditioning" shown below. However, of children's operators who talk about a child's native "love of music" and "art for art's sake" malarkey.

CASE E-409: Della G., aged nine, is a nervous type of child.

"Dr. Crane," her mother inquired, "I simply can't get Della to sit at the piano and practice her music lessons for 30 minutes. Indeed, she rebels at 15 minutes."

"Yes! I want her to be a concert pianist and she simply MUST do her practicing."

"What do you modern psychologists recommend?"

We urge a return to good-old-fashioned "horse sense."

That's all psychology really is anyway, except the "horse sense" is often paraded in 5-syllable words to add scientific ritz.

First of all, 30 minutes is too long for continual attention by a nine-year-old at a monotonous task.

One of the editors of a magazine for parents criticized me violently for recommending paying a child for music practice.

"Why, that's barbaric," she exclaimed. "A child should learn to practice the piano just from her sheer love of music."

That's malarkey and probably the ramblings of an "old maid" theorist.

There is no innate "love" of music or spinach or codliver oil in ANY youngster, so such sentimental females better get hep to science.

The only "natural" hunger a child seems to have is for sugar (candy, ice cream cones, etc.).

In order to motivate Della, therefore, it is smarter to tie her boreome piano finger drills with a reward she really craves.

At the age of nine, a child can be motivated by immediate, visible rewards so place an alarm clock on the piano.

Then lay three nickels beside it, with the understanding that Della gets one nickel for every five minutes of piano practice.

And don't try to hold her to any one sitting that will exceed 15 minutes.

If she wishes to come back later for another 15-minute session, well and good.

But 15 minutes in a lump sum is plenty for a child of her age.

Let her spend her own money as she wishes. And keep a good supply of nickels on the piano.

"But isn't that too mercenary?" some poetical parents may protest.

No, it is just plain "horse sense."

Later, when Della can play well enough to perform in a "Recital" program, the applause of the spectators will likewise serve as an intangible reward.

And you parents can meanwhile praise her, for your compliments will also help serve as psychic rewards.

It makes little difference what rewards you use, just as long as they get results!

Ultimately, Della will become favorably "conditioned" to the piano as an indirect source of many satisfactions of her stomach and ego, so she may finally "love" music in its own right.

But that is NOT true at the start! And you overly ambitious mamma should quit pushing your kids awfully. No wonder you make 'em neurotic. Don't try to gain fame via making a stage personality out of your child!

Send for my 200-point "Tests for Good Parents" enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20c (non-profit). Rate yourselves thereon every month.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long 4c stamped, addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

"Worst roads in the world, but this new Chevy takes all the roughness out!"

Out near Wadena, Kansas, farmer Milt Ramsey made 800 acres with only one helper—his 1959 Chevrolet pickup. The truck almost never runs on Kansas's fine state highways—indeed it covers about 1,200 miles a month on unimproved back-country trails or on back into the fields, off the road. "In my book, these are the worst roads in the world," Mr. Ramsey says. "But this new Chevy takes all the roughness out. It doesn't fidget or whip around like other trucks. I can steer it with one finger!"

They're speaking right up, these owners of '59 Chevies. Everywhere you go, they're giving out glowing reports on a revolutionary new truck that looks to a bigger day's work of low expenses, paying truck taxes that amount to the best there's coming money.

It's Chevy's total answer. They're talking about. And you'll be talking, once you've seen a new Chevrolet. Come on your way now. You'll make me get you started, right away!

The Sanford Seminole Archers captured four awards at the invitational shoot held in Sarasota Sunday.

Local award winners were: Joe Coulombe, class 175; Dave Brandt, class 175; Bob Hope, Class 100 and Roger Frick, junior class.

This was the second shoot in a row that the Seminole archers grabbed off most of the awards. Earlier in the month they captured seven at Tampa.

The club is now conducting a membership drive. Anyone interested in archery and who wants to join the club is asked to contact Coulombe at FA 2-7410 or Bob Orwig at FA 2-2867.

Several night games are planned in the stadium when the Greyhounds are out of town.

A straight sixty game schedule will be played between the two divisions. Two all-star teams will represent Sanford in state tournament play. Teams in the national division will be Rotary Club, Shrine Club, Elks Club. The American division consists of Lake Mary, Kiwanis Club, C.P.O. Club and Civitan Club.

Oldsters Grabbing Spring Headlines

United Press International Rookies are the traditional heroes of spring training but it's the "old folks" who are monopolizing the headlines this year.

One reason is that rainy weather early in the training program deprived many rookies of a real chance to strut their stuff and another is that veterans already are tuning up to make fast starts in the pennant races.

Take Monday when 39-year-old Stan Musial, 38-year-old Warren Spahn and 37-year-old Hank Bauer displayed mid-season form in pacing the St. Louis Cardinals, Milwaukee Braves and Kansas City Athletics to victories.

Musial, working like the most unheralded rookie in camp to make up for a .254 campaign in 1959, hammered out a homer and a bases-filled double as the Cardinals pounded out a 12-8 win over the Cincinnati Reds. Larry Jackson pitched no-hit ball for the Cardinals for five innings but then Jerry Lynch connected for a grand slam homer in the sixth.

Musial, who took special workouts during the winter, is enjoying one of the best springs of his career, and is more confident than ever that he'll make a comeback.

Spahn, 21-15 last season but fighting to prove to Manager Charlie Dressen that he can work on a four-day rotation, held the world champion Los Angeles Dodgers to unearned runs in six innings as the Braves scored a 6-4 victory. Spahn's stint matched the previous longest stint turned in by a Milwaukee pitcher, by Carlton Willey, and he now has allowed only two runs in 11 innings this spring.

The Braves scored the decisive runs off World Series hero Larry Sherry in the seventh on a walk, Joe Adcock's triple and Lee Maye's single.

Bauer, starting a new career in Kansas City after being with the Yankees since 1947, blasted out five hits, including two doubles, against his ex-teammates to lead the Athletics to a 10-1 triumph. Norm Siebern, hitting .440 for the spring, contributed a double to the Kansas City offense.

Roger Maris stretched his batting streak to nine straight games when he doubled off Ned Garver in the first inning.

The Pittsburgh Pirates scored an 8-5 win over the American League champion Chicago White Sox, the Reds' B team edged out the Philadelphia Phillies, 4-3, and the Phillies' B team downed the Cardinals' B team, 3-1, in Monday's only games. Most teams took the day off.

Little League Fund Drive Set To Start Saturday

Seminole County's Little Leaguers will hold their annual fund drive Saturday.

This year's drive will be a "cakeless" bake sale. Instead of asking for cakes to sell, the boys have decided that it's easier on the cooks to ask for a donation equal to value of the cake or pie the generous resident would have given.

The drive will be put on in Lake Mary, Sunland Estates, Longwood, Casselberry and Altamonte Springs. All contributions will be used to buy equipment for local teams. Persons interested in finding out more about the drive should contact John R. McCullough at FA 2-4070.

Celtics Hopes Rise In Playoffs

By United Press International Given the added impetus of ridding themselves of Wilt Chamberlain for the remainder of the season, the Boston Celtics hope to capture the Eastern Division play-off title on their home court tonight against Philadelphia.

Leading the Warriors 3-1 in the best-of-seven series, the Celtics will try to capitalize on Chamberlain's hand injury and earn the right to meet the winner of the Western Division battle between St. Louis and Minneapolis.

Six-Time Racing Winners Set To Compete At Kennel Club

A pair of six-time winners, one rated the nation's best young greyhound, will spice tonight's featured ninth affair at Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club.

The Grade-A headliner is part of a fast 10-event schedule starting at 8:10 p. m. Only 11 more racing days remain on the local part - mutual calendar. April 4 competition will close what seems certain to be the track's most successful season of its history.

Greyhound writers across the nation voted Wealthy the most outstanding in the country last month, and the youngster returns to the local scene tonight after competing in the $50,000 Futurity in Phoenix, Ariz.

In Central Florida running, the 33-pound female stepper nabbed six wins, a place and a show in 11 trips to the starting gates. She's a 5-10-2 favorite from the four-box in the hot ninth.

The other six-time winner, also a young greyhound, is El Camino Shadow, a hulking 69-pound black male who has also placed three times and shown twice in 17 trips. Owned by Charles Reinhardt, El Camino will march from the seventh post position with second-best early odds of 4-to-1.

Rounding out the feature lineup tonight are Remember That,

O. B.'s Title, Duce Black, Roxanna Mink, Do Gooder and Turnaround.

Covington Covers Sports

By JERRY COVINGTON

The recent successful basketball season is a fine example of what fan support means to a team. Basketball had long been in the doghouse in Sanford, but this year the sports fans around the city came out in masses and the results were amazing. They soon found themselves enjoying the game and they stuck it out throughout the season. The school had a fine ball team and would have won plenty of ball games anyway, but I am sure that having good fan support helped them win many more that they would have lost.

The baseball season gets underway at 7:30 p. m. at Memorial Stadium and the same problem exists here that existed in basketball. Baseball is a very costly sport, especially when played under the lights and up until now SHS has never drawn enough people to pay for the electricity to operate the popcorn machine, much less for the cost of balls, bats, etc.

As far as professional sports are concerned, baseball is by far the best field for a young high school athlete and we should make every effort to support them and build a sound baseball program. If the youngsters receive encouragement from good fan support, it will make them work much harder, and, in turn, it might give some of them a chance to sign a nice pro contract some day.

In discussing the poor attendance with Coach Dave Laude, he said that Guy Garrett, coach at Avon Park, had told him that during an average season they always net from $2,000 to $3,000 and when they have a tournament they have taken in as much as $5,000 in a season. So, we see that it can be done.

We have the finest playing facilities of any baseball team in Central Florida and there is no reason that the fine group of Seminole supporters who followed football and basketball so faithfully can't continue to come out and watch these youngsters play.

Coach Laude and his youngsters have worked very hard in pre-season drills and they are hopeful of having a fine season so let's not let them down. Plan now to come out for every home game and see a fine ball club in action.

Junior first baseman James Markham has been looking very sharp at the plate and he will be shooting for his third batting crown in as many years. As a freshman, James led the Seminoles in hitting and has hit over .300 both seasons. He is bigger and stronger than ever and he could develop into a real power hitter this season.

Two Forest Lake Academy Officers Are Re-Elected

Forest Lake Academy's principal and treasurer were re-elected as members of the academy administrative board and a resolution was passed supporting church and state separation at the Florida Conference of Seventh Day Adventists in Orlando Sunday.

J. C. Strickland, principal of Forest Lake Academy, and Henry Wooten, academy treasurer, were re-elected to the board which includes 14 other members from various parts of the state. The academy is run by the Florida Conference of Seventh Day Adventists.

The session's 850 delegates unanimously voted adherence to the principal of church and state, passing a resolution which denounces current efforts to bring a return of blue law enforcement to Florida. The resolution brands Sunday closing laws such as one passed by the last session of the Florida legislature banning Sunday sales of automobiles in the state as religious in nature and on that basis challenges its constitutionality.

Pastor H. H. Schmidt president of the conference, explained that this position is taken not merely because Adventists observe Saturday as the Sabbath, but because of alarm on this tendency to use coercion in matters of public affairs, Adventist official Charles R. Beeler reported.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev has an American pen pal.

Khrushchev's reply arrived Monday. The message started: "Dear American schoolchildren . . . In his 5-paragraph cable, the Soviet premier said, "I wish that you, and the whole rising generation of America as well, would learn what war is like from history books only without ever seeing it with your own eyes."

Seminole High Math Teacher Plays Bit Part In Movie During Summer

Teachers are finding new things to do with their summers. John H. Higgins, a Seminole High math teacher, was visiting his home in Tennessee. The local television and newspapers had several stories on the fact that Disney Studios were filming a picture in the vicinity. The picture, "A Light in the Forest," was on location in Tennessee, because of three mountains that touched the river there. The location is about 30 miles west of Chattanooga. The only way in and out is by boat, Higgins said. Being an amateur photographer, Higgins was greatly interested when he saw an ad for extras in the local paper.

"It's like the army . . . Hurry up and wait!" Higgins explained. They spend hours setting up one scene that takes two minutes to shoot, he said. About the stars, Fess Parker is really as down to earth as the characters he plays. Higgins doesn't care to become a professional actor. "I guess I'm just a teacher at heart. The best things are the slides I took."

61 Nominated For Hall Of Fame

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. (UPI) — Sixty-one former college football stars and eight former coaches, including Clyde (Bull dog) Turner, Sid Luckman, John Lujack, Kyle Rote and Earle (Greasy) Neale, have been nominated for the 1960 football Hall of Fame election. Turner, Luckman, Lujack and Rote went on to star as professional players in the National League and Neale, nominated for the Hall of Fame both as a player and as a coach, also coached in the NFL. Rote, 32, one of the youngest men nominated currently is offensive captain for the New York Giants.

Art Federation Has Three Exhibits On Display At DeBary Galleries

The Florida Federation of Art has announced that three exhibits are being shown in the galleries of the headquarters building in DeBary. Visitors are invited to follow the signs from the highway to the building. An exhibit of 15 paintings by a group of professional women artists who winter in Sarasota, the "Petticoat Painters," will hang until April 6. Artists in this group are Shirley Clement, Dorothy Leach, Beth Arthur, Helen Sawyer, Judy Aze, Elaineore Budd, Jane Ziegler, Helen Auchterlone, Stella Coler, Dorothy MacDonald, Martha Hartman, Margaret Sturgis, Helen Probas, Eva Best, and Florence Eiter. Another group of 15 paintings are by the late Miss Edith Fairfax Davenport, past president of the FFA. Miss Davenport's honors are worldwide. While most people knew her for her traditional watercolor works, the exhibit consists of modern representational art which she painted in her last years. All were painted when she was past 70 years of age. This exhibit also will be shown until April 6. The FFA has announced that it will continue to devote the Hall Gallery to the works of professional and amateur artists of the DeBary area. Ten pen, ink and wash drawings of New England scenes will be shown until March 28. They are by Melville C. Bosch, an amateur from White Plains, N. Y., who spends his winters visiting Mr. and Mrs. Harry F. Brown of DeBary. Bosch, who took up drawings as a hobby, and who never had any formal art training, has produced a group of drawings which will bring fond memories to residents who came from New England. Mrs. L. W. Richcreek of the Art Club of St. Petersburg gave a demonstration Monday of paintings in water color for the Amer-

Lauderdale Bars Scream About Joe

FORT LAUDERDALE (UPI)—They call him Joe the Pippick and his specialty is guzzling beer. They think he's a vacationing college student ahead of the pack of a predicted 30,000 who will jam this South Florida coastal town during the Easter holidays. Whoever he is, the Pippick is working a system on bars in which he quaffs 10 beers, orders an 11th, then leaves without paying. Bartenders who have been hit by the Pippick's forays all report the following chain of events: A man will telephone a bar and request a page for "Joe the Pippick." The caller has hung up when the bartender returns to the telephone after making the unsuccessful page. Moments later, a man enters the bar and asks if anyone has called for Joe the Pippick. He drinks the second series and asks for "just one for myself this time." He heads for the washroom but enroute veers out the front door. There are varied descriptions of the Pippick. One bartender reported him as "a little guy with Bermuda and hairy legs." Another said he was "tall and skinny looking with horned rimmed glasses." A third said, "he looked like a little professor-type guy to me." Whoever he is, the Pippick's only crime is entering a bar and leaving with as much beer as he can carry away inside him. If a child finds the recognition and love he needs in the home, he won't have to adopt anti-social behavior patterns to gain attention.

Anti-Smoking Education Urged

NEW YORK (UPI)—A teacher of preventive medicine concedes the public is not willing to give up cigarette smoking for health reasons although, in his opinion, it should. Dr. Ernest L. Wynder said anti-smoking "education" should be pushed by physicians and public health agencies, but meanwhile there are "practical measures" by which smokers can smoke and reduce the risks. Wynder is associate professor of preventive medicine, Sloan-Kettering Division, Cornell University Medical College, and head of the epidemiology section of the Sloan-Kettering Institute, New York. His modified views of what should be done were published in the New England Journal of Medicine and were aimed at fellow physicians for relay to the general public. He said men who simply can't give up smoking cigarettes, should do the following: 1. Cut down on the smoking to the lowest number of cigarettes possible; 2. Smoke filter cigarettes, and of the brand with the lowest yields of tars and nicotine; 3. Never smoke more than half a cigarette because the last half has much more nicotine and tars than the first half; 4. Puff slowly—the more time between puffs, the better; 5. Avoid inhaling deeply.

Need For More Exceptional Child Teachers Cited

The need for teachers of exceptional children was explored at a coordinators of exceptional children conference in Tallahassee last week, Seminole County Coordinator W. W. Wharton said Monday. The coordinator for teaching exceptional children in Seminole County said there is a shortage of these teachers all over the state. The number of teacher units for this type work was frozen in the 1958 legislative session. But the number of youngsters in need of exceptional instruction is increasing with Florida's population growth, Wharton pointed out. Teachers are needed to instruct children handicapped with speech, hearing and nervous disorders, to instruct the mentally retarded as well as the mentally gifted, he said.

Aussie Animals At Winter Park

Woolly kealas, the famous Australian "teddy bears" will romp and tumble, red kangaroos will bound across the "out-back" country, and birds will share the spotlight with the duck-billed platypus and the spiny echidna in the final program of the Screen Tours presented by the Florida Audubon Society Saturday in the Winter Park High School Auditorium. Two programs will be given, one at 10:30 a. m. and one at 7:30 p. m. The speaker will be Patricia Bailey, Wilderpool of Denver, Colo., who has explored the fascinating continent of Australia with her naturalist father, Dr. Alfred M. Bailey, director of the Colorado Museum of Natural History.

10 NAS Men Win Ensign Gold

The commissioning of the ten new Ensigns will take place in the near future and will increase the year total of Heavy Attack Wing One enlisted personnel gaining officer status to 21.

Search Continues For Missing Four

MIAMI (UPI)—Sixteen airplanes and a boat resumed the search today for four men missing on a fishing trip in a 20-foot boat since Sunday. The four are boat owner Mickey Clark, William Clark, and Dan Hood, all of Miami; and Sgt. Bobby Calvert of Homestead Air Force Base. Search is concentrated in the Atlantic from Miami east to the Bahamas and north to Daytona Beach. The dogwood is Missouri's official tree.

New U. S. Space Probe Fails

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — An attempt to fire a satellite into an orbit around earth failed today.

The rocket was launched here at 8:35 a. m. Fifty minutes later the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced in Washington that the 25.3 pound satellite had not gone into orbit.

NASA said officials "suspect one of the upper stages of the Juno II failed to ignite."

The space agency said it received no confirmation that either the third or fourth stage rockets ignited. It said tracking reports were being checked and a further report will be available shortly.

The firing of the four-stage Juno II rocket had been planned as the crucial step of a test of radiation belts around earth and what perils they hold for manned space flight.

The launching appeared to be perfect but Dr. Werner von Braun told newsmen 25 minutes later that no indication had been received that the third stage had fired.

"It doesn't look so good," he said.

The rocket had been proposed to carry the satellite, Explorer VIII, to a cigar-shaped orbit taking it as far away from earth as 30,000 miles and as close as 200 miles.

But something apparently went wrong and the success rocket scientists enjoyed Tuesday with a smooth launch of a Titan intercontinental ballistic missile went sour.

The mysteries of the Van Allen radiation belts must be explored before man dares to try riding a rocket into space. One of the belts ranges from 400 to 2,200 miles above earth. The other is in the 5,000 to 25,000-mile range.

Explorer VIII was designed to measure energies of very low to very high voltages with the detectors, most complex ever flown. The data was to be relayed to ground stations via a small radio transmitter on 108.03 megacycles. The transmitter was designed to be shut off automatically one year from today, to open the frequency to other space uses.

The belts were named for Dr. James Van Allen of the State University of Iowa, who designed the instruments for America's first earth satellite, Explorer I, which discovered the belts. Van Allen devised the experiments for today's shot.

Several satellites have studied the belts, but this was the first devoted almost exclusively to the job. Van Allen hoped to determine energies of electrons and protons in the zones over an extended time.

Explorer VIII also was designed to work with Pioneer V, the U. S. sun satellite launched 12 days ago. Scientists believe that flares on the sun, which Pioneer V is studying, directly affect the intensity of the Van Allen belts.

House Nears End Of Rights Debate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House was expected to wind up two weeks of civil rights debate today by passing a five-point bill and sending it to the waiting Senate.

Rep. Emanuel Celler (N. Y.), Democratic civil rights leader, said the bill would be passed before sundown "with-out fail" and with little, if any, change.

Nikita Arrives In Paris For Talks

PARIS (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, bearing warm words of friendship for President Charles de Gaulle and France, arrived today in a Paris that was guarded like an armed camp.

de Gaulle, towering over the stocky Soviet leader, gave him a hearty personal greeting at the airport and said France was "ready to listen to us and to make you listen to us."

The most stringent security measures in modern France history turned the city into a near fortress for the arrival. Nearly the whole Paris police force plus security guards took up stations on rooftops, at the airport and every 30 yards along the route Khrushchev and de Gaulle took into the city.

The welcome from the French people was sporadic. At some points there were few people but the Porte d'Orleans entrance to the city 10,000 Frenchmen raised a cheer.

The turnout at the airport and along the route to the city was an estimated 60,000—far short of the crowds that welcomed President Eisenhower last September.

Air Force Moves To End 'Dishpan' Hands Hazard

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Air Force has moved to end an occupational hazard that has harassed fighting men almost as much as bombs and bullets—dishpan hands.

The Air Force issued Tuesday what it considered a historic proclamation. The service said it would tell commanders shortly they could eliminate kitchen potholes, better known as KP, from their bases.

But there was a big apron string attached. The commanders must find enough money in their budgets to hire civil replacements and demonstrate that this is a more economical way of doing the dirty work.

The announcement touched off a new inter-service squabble. The argument is over which service is head in the KP race.

The Army said the Air Force is just following in its footsteps. A spokesman said the Army already authorized elimination of KP last Dec. 28 but with the same

This was a radical pro-government newspaper La Calle called Burke a "Fascist" Tuesday in an article describing his purported meeting with anti-Castro Cuban leader Jose E. Pedraza. It said the admiral offered to send submarines to aid a Pedraza-led invasion of Cuba.

Headlines in La Calle also assailed the United States as an "accomplice of pirate fleets," charging that "anyone who wants to run an airplane in Florida to attack Cuba."

Lake Monroe At Four Year High

Lake Monroe is at its highest water level in four years.

The lake level rose three and one-half feet between March 14 and March 22 and is now 23 inches below the top of the bulkheads, Sanford City Manager Warren E. Knowles said today. Knowles said water is still coming here from the Kissimmee watershed and the lake should hit its high point Friday or Saturday. The level will probably be just below the top of the bulkhead then, he said.

The water reading made today showed the lake 3.6 feet above sea level, a height it has not reached since Oct. 24, 1956. Knowles pointed out that in the 1953 Sanford flood, the water went to 8.15 feet above sea level, on Oct. 27.

Lake Monroe has been rising about four and a half to five inches per day during the last eight days.

Voters League Hears Talks By 21 Candidates

Among the candidates for county offices who spoke at Tuesday night's meeting of the Voters League of District 5 were two seeking the tax assessor's job, which turned into a controversial position during 1959.

Mrs. Mary Earle Walker told the audience that if elected she would use the present level of assessment of property for taxation.

Mrs. Walker was suspended as Tax Assessor last year by Gov. LeRoy Collins because she refused to approve a proposed reappraisal.

Assessor Richard McCanna, seeking election for a full term, cited the need for maintaining a high level of assessment "even though it is not good politics."

Mrs. Walker and McCanna agreed on the need for equalizing taxes.

Twenty-one candidates spoke briefly to approximately 110 persons at the meeting. Each one gave a brief summary of his qualifications and background.

After the candidates spoke a brief question and answer period followed, with most of the questions directed at McCanna and Mrs. Walker. They were both queried on the duties of the tax assessor's office.

Other candidates who spoke, mainly outlining their backgrounds, were David Gatech and Arthur Beckwith Jr., both running for clerk of the Circuit Court; T. V. Brown and J. C. Hutchinson, opponents to the District 1 county commissioner race; J. D. Cordell, J. H. Van Hoy and Ted Williams, all seeking the District 2 commission seat; and James P. Avery, Otis Fouracre, Lawrence Swofford and Edward L. Zimmerman, opponents to the District 1 county commissioner post.

Incumbent Swofford told the group that he had been "shocked" by what was going on in the county five years ago.

"There was an zoning, no plat laws and school children were forced into double sessions," Swofford said. He added that the present commission has sought ways to solve these problems with new plat and zoning laws and is working to provide a long range program to eliminate flooding and drainage problems.

Avery and Fouracre stressed that they are against getting the county into debt.

District 2 commission candidates Herbert Behrens, George W. Bell, John Fitzpatrick and incumbent Homer Little also spoke briefly, as did Sheriff J. L. Hobby and his opponent, J. Q. Galloway, and School board candidate Roy Mann.

McCanna also reported that he will be in Oviedo Thursday and Friday to take homebased exemption applications. They will be at city hall from 9:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m.

Home Exemption Filing Time Short

Seminole County homeowners have just nine days left to file for homebased exemption for 1960. Tax Assessor Richard McCanna said today.

The deadline for filing applications is April 2.

McCanna said approximately 8,500 renewal applications were sent out at the beginning of the year. If renewals are not made each year, homeowners lose the benefit of the $5,000 assessment exemption.

Over 100 new applications have been filed this year on new homes. Also due by April 1 are returns on tangible and intangible personal properties.

McCanna also reported that he will be in Oviedo Thursday and Friday to take homebased exemption applications. They will be at city hall from 9:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m.

Schools Spending Less Per Child Here

Seminole County's school system set one record for the state last year and came near to setting a second mark, Supt. R. T. Milwee told the Southside P-T-O Tuesday night.

One of the marks was not pointed out with special pride, however, Milwee said.

This was the record of spending less per child in school than any other county in Florida, he said.

The $230 spent per child has even lower than the amount allotted for each pupil in little Jackson and Union counties. These small counties raise a very small amount of their school monies themselves, however. One of them barely raises enough to cover bus transportation costs. Their federal and state aid is proportionally larger than Seminole's, Milwee explained.

On the other side of the picture, Seminole County had the second largest percentage increase of

Ike Asked To Aid Area

TAMPA (UPI) — The possibility of federal aid was one of two bright spots today for thousands of Central Florida flood victims.
