

NON ESSENTIAL MEN CLASSIFIED IN FLORIDA WORK OR FIGHT RULE

STATE COUNCIL OF DEFENSE MAKES NEW RULING.

Tallahassee, Aug. 31.—The advisory committee of the state council of defense held an important meeting on the afternoon and evening of the 27th inst. in the executive offices of the state capitol. All of the members of this committee were present, including the chairman and vice chairman of the state council of defense, Gov. Sidney J. Catts and Justice James B. Whitfield of the supreme court, respectively.

At this meeting some very important matters were discussed, and especial attention was directed to the labor situation, and acting upon the basis of a telegram from the office of the provost marshal general, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Whereas, There is a shortage of labor in government plants that has become so acute that essential industries are forced to suspend activities; and

Whereas, A definite quota has been assigned to Florida, which quota is 5,930, which must be raised by October 1, 1918; therefore, be it Resolved by the advisory committee of the Florida state council of national defense, that the following industries are declared non-essential, to-wit:

Hotels and cafes, including waiters, bellboys and elevator attendants; automobile dealers; accessory establishments; chauffeurs and drivers of public and private conveyances, including pleasure cars, hacks and taxicabs and sightseeing cars; motor truck drivers; bath and barber shop attendants; bowling alleys; billiards and pool room employees and attendants; bottlers; dealers in bottling supplies; candy manufacturers; delicatessen establishments; builders and contractors; dancing academies; mercantile establishments, wholesale and retail florists; fruit stands, junk dealers; livery and sales stables; pawnbrokers and employees; peanut vendors; shoe shining establishments; window cleaners; soft drink establishments; soda fountain supplies; bank employees; moving picture operators; ushers in places of amusement; messenger service; painters and decorators, except when engaged in war work; keepers and employees of clubs; news dealers; saloon proprietors; and employees; carnival employees; fortune tellers; employees of law offices and clubs; janitors in public buildings and churches, and that all employees between the ages of 18 and 45 are hereby called upon to seek employment where their services will be utilized by the government in winning the war.

Resolved, further, That we call on the county council of defense, throughout the state to see that this resolution is enforced, and with co-operation of the United States employment service, through the community board, assistance in getting employment will be given to all those who come within the scope of this resolution.

Resolved, further, That the Florida state council of national defense shall make such changes in the above list from time to time as the needs of the government may require.

The executive secretary, H. S. Howard, was instructed to convey this resolution to the county councils of defense throughout the state, with the request that they enforce the order; and that after September 15 the order will be rigidly enforced, as the needs of the government may require.

W. C. T. U. Meeting
The W. C. T. U. will hold its regular meeting next Thursday afternoon at 3:30 in the Methodist church.

Plans for the erection of a glass factory between Tarpon Springs and Tampa, launched by Tampan, C. H. Funtner and L. M. Stahl, are progressing and it is proposed to organize a stock company. The factory is to be erected it is planned at silica deposits near Tarpon Springs.

JOY RIDERS CURTAILED ON SUNDAY

PEOPLE IN THIS COUNTY REAL PATRIOTIC.

The request of the national Fuel Administration that patriotic Americans everywhere abstain from joy riding on Sunday was observed here almost to the letter. This was made as a request and was not mandatory but the request was accompanied by the postscript that in the event the people did not co-operate wholeheartedly with the Fuel Administration a mandatory order would be issued later.

That the people did reply with the request shows that the true Americans everywhere are now standing right back of the government ready and willing to win the war. The Fuel Administration figured that if the people would desist from useless riding for one day each week enough oil and gasoline would be saved to help our armies in Europe and give them the amount of fuel needed there for the big things that are now taking place and those that are contemplated.

There has been useless consumption of fuel up to this time for many Americans have not fully realized that our country was at war and do not realize what sacrifices they will be obliged to make before it is over. The idea of joy riding of going somewhere on Sunday was all right in times of peace for many families are obliged to wait until Sunday afternoon to get out in the country with the family and enjoy a ride but now that we are asked to save in every way for the winning of the war much useless travel will be curtailed.

Mayor J. D. Davison, head of the Fuel Administration of Seminole county is agreeably surprised at the manner in which the late request was carried out here and in all parts of the county and his report will show the government officials that Seminole county is loyal to the core.

Presbyterian Church

The Presbyterians resumed their preaching services last Sabbath. Mr. Brownlee preached on Vital Religion at both services. In the morning he spoke of "The Unrecognized Christ." The Scripture and texts were the following striking passages: Gen. 28:16; Isa. 45:4-5; John 1:11; John 1:26; 14:9; 20:14; Luke 24:15-16; John 21:4. They expressed the experience of many of us who go about life forgetful of the unseen companion. A French artist once created quite a sensation and brought this truth home to many in Paris. He fitted up a cab as a studio, and going about the streets sketched the familiar scenes of the city unseen by the crowds, and when he gave an exhibit, and the crowds looked, they were astonished to see in the midst of every group, in every busy throng, and in every mart of trade, the figure of the Savior. He was painting true to life, our eyes are only "holden that we may not see Him."

At night the subject was "The Present Vital Word of God." There was twice as large a percentage of the men of the church present at this service as there was of the women. Prayer meeting will begin at 7:30 Wednesday night, and it is hoped that a large crowd will greet the pastor at this first prayer service of the fall work.

The Arcadia News tells of a farmer who grew ten thousand bushels of navy beans and sold them for twelve and a half cents a pound, and adds the best part of it is he will get two or three other crops from the land on which the beans were produced. This is a peculiar advantage of farming in Florida. Such a thing could not happen in any other state.

YOUNG MEN TO COLLEGE FOR WAR

NEW DRAFT CALLS FOR COLLEGE TRAINING.

This is the name by which the government's plan to harmonize education with war activities is known. Realizing that the preservation of the colleges is of vital importance to the nation and that the completest possible education is the best preparation any young man can have for service the War Department proposes the Student's Army Training Corps as the solution for one of the problems presented by the war.

Under the new draft law every young man eighteen years of age or over is subject to the military call for military or naval service. To the younger men the government is now saying, "When you are needed, you will be called. Until you are called you will be doing the thing that is best for your country and yourself by remaining in school in order that when you are called you may be able to render the largest and the best service."

Schools and colleges in which one hundred young men of eighteen years of age or over are enrolled may become units in the Student's Army Training Corps. About one hundred schools have already been so enrolled and the number is daily increasing. For such schools the government will provide training and equipment. Schools having fewer than one hundred students of the required age will combine in order to receive the same help from the government.

During the coming year great numbers of officers will be needed in America's great new armies. Scholars complying with the conditions laid down by the War Department will become reservoirs of officer material which will be drawn upon as needed. The young men who show promise under this training will be kept in college until qualified to enter Central Officers' Training Camps or to go directly into the service as technical experts. Those who do not will be sent either to Non-commissioned Officers' Schools or to the nearest Depot Brigade or, in case they show special technical or mechanical ability, to the detachments where men are trained for such work.

In each state a campaign director has been appointed to serve as a medium of communication between the government and the Student's Army Training Corps. For Florida Rev. Calvin H. French of Rollins College, Winter Park, Florida, has been appointed state director. He receives information as it becomes available from the War Department and the National Council of Education and he will gladly answer any questions concerning the campaign.

Joe Chittenden Is Wounded

Joe Chittenden was in the thick of the famous fight at Chateau-Thierry where the Americans saved the day and started the advance of allied troops that is still going toward Berlin. Joe was shot through the hip and his leg was broken and he is now in the hospital recovering. He will probably be invalided home as soon as he is able to travel for from the nature of his wounds he will be unable to do any more fighting for some time. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chittenden have arrived home and this is the information that they have received. A letter from Joe, describing the battle will be published in Friday's issue. Joe is probably the first Seminole county boy to be wounded and his friends here and elsewhere in the state are rejoicing over the fact that he is on the road to recovery.

According to the New Smyrna Breeze, the growers of castor beans in that section have been very successful in stopping the ravages of army worms. The planters who had small patches discovered them when they first made their appearance and by burning them and spraying the plants are practically rid of them. The beans have made a good growth since the rains set in and there is prospect of a very good yield.

GERMAN DEFENSE BROKEN

DROCOURT-QUANT LINE TAKEN BY BRITISH.

Canadian troops attacked this morning, astride the Arras-Cambrai road on a front of five miles, and broke through the Drocourt-Quant line on a front of two miles.

The Canadians are reported to be in Dury and also to have reached the western edge of Cagnicourt. Considerable fighting is taking place on the high ground between Dury and Etaing. A large number of Germans have been taken prisoners.

The British have penetrated the important Drocourt-Quant line of the Hindenburg line, according to reports from the battle front. They have reached the western edge of Cagnicourt, about two miles north-east of Quant.

A large number of prisoners were taken in this forward push against extremely stubborn enemy resistance. The Germans had seven divisions massed on a front of five miles.

The fighting on the Combles-Bapaume road is continuing. The British are approaching the village of Honny, nearly four miles north-east of Bapaume. It is not yet definitely reported captured.

The taking of the Drocourt-Quant line in which tanks operated is considered of enormous importance if the British can maintain their line. Very heavy counter attacks are expected, but it will be open fighting and costly to the enemy.

The Drocourt-Quant line was smashed through by the Canadians on a two-mile front. Field Marshal Haig's men are reported to be in Dury and heavy fighting is progressing in favor of the British.

The French met with a slight setback east of Nesle, on the crest of Hill 77, which they had captured last night.

For the first time on Belgian soil, the Americans are operating today. They captured Voormezelle and other villages in that important district. The Americans found that all that remained of the town was piles of debris. The shell fire had been so intense that hardly one brick was left standing upon another.

As the Americans advanced, the German machine gunners, under what little cover there was left, opened up but were soon silenced. Elsewhere along this front the Germans were forced to retreat. Counter attacks by the Germans resulted in their gaining a little more than a slight foothold, which in every case was quickly loosened by British and American re-attacks.

In most cases the Germans did not even get a foothold, for the advancing formations melted away under hurricanes of fire. There has been especially heavy fighting in the whirlpool of the battle around Bullecourt and Hepdecourt, where the British are holding positions almost resting against the Drocourt-Quant or Wotan line.

Upper St. Johns Drainage Board met in Attorney Vans Agnew's office in Jacksonville recently, and fixed the drainage millage for the coming year at one cent an acre on all the land in the drainage district.

A company for the manufacture of fruit and vegetable crates was recently organized at Lake Wales with a capital stock of $50,000. It is expected to have it in operation in a very short time.

SEMINOLE CO. GUARDS BEST IN FLORIDA; WIN ALL THE HONORS

LIVE STOCK BOARD IS LAWFUL

JUDGE BULLOCK PASSES ON STATUS OF LAW.

The constitutionality of the law creating the State Live Stock Sanitary Board and providing for enforcing compulsory dipping of cattle after same has been authorized by a vote of the people in a county, was upheld by Hon. W. S. Bullock, judge of the fifth judicial circuit in and for Lake county in the A. Sherman Drawdy case tried at Tavares last week.

The State Live Stock Sanitary Board petitioned the court for a writ of mandamus to compel Mr. Drawdy to dip all of his cattle in Lake county regularly every fourteen days, as he was not complying with the rules and regulations of the board.

This was the first case brought by the board and its outcome was awaited by cattle owners all over Florida with considerable interest. The defendant averred that the rules and regulations promulgated by the plaintiffs are not, as applied to conditions in Lake county, reasonable or practicable to be enforced.

The court held that as long as the cattle owners in Lake county had the privilege of voting on whether they thought the rules and regulations were reasonable and practicable before the war started, and the vote was overwhelmingly in favor of compulsory dipping of cattle, it would be supreme arrogance on the part of the court to stop the work, especially as other owners of cattle in Lake county were complying with the same rules and regulations.

This decision is of interest to the cattle owners in Seminole county, because the voters here have authorized compulsory dipping of cattle as a result of the recent election, and the systematic work will be started early next spring.

Marshall to France

The following item will be interesting to Sanford people:

E. L. Marshall, member of the hardware firm of Marsden & Marshall started Sunday on his way to France to engage in Y. M. C. A. work. He will take a ten days' course in the work at New York City before going across. He has left his business to help win the war. He was above draft age when he enlisted, although he comes under the present age limit. His wife and two daughters are in a suite of rooms in the Haines Block.—St. Charles (Ill.) News.

Mr. Marshall is a former resident of this city where he was with the Fernald Hardware Co. for twelve years. Mrs. Marshall was Miss Ina Peabody of this city.

The following comment from the Florida Grower is somewhat belated but still is pertinent: "Potatoes are a dollar a peck in Washington and yet a Florida farmer offered 20,000 bushels free to anyone who would come and dig them. Something wrong here and we pass the matter up to Hoover. A factory for drying these potatoes at West Palm Beach would have saved enough food to have fed a big army for a day, and might, if available have saved the lives of many starving Europeans. A unified marketing system for the whole state would have made these potatoes valuable."

Among prominent men who have entered the service is Harry Goldstein, former legislator and more recently deputy internal revenue collector. He has been commissioned a lieutenant. Handsome Harry's numerous friends will bear with pleasure of his commendable resolution and good fortune.

OUR BOYS TAKE EVERY THING IN DAYTONA.

The Herald last week predicted that the Seminole County Guards would carry off first honors at Daytona on Labor Day and they ran true to form. With nearly two thousand guards from every part of the state competing the Seminole Guards under Capt. C. H. Dingee, Lieut. Turner, and Maxwell were there with the goods in every particular.

About sixty men were in the ranks of the Seminole braves and after arriving at Daytona the big parade took place at ten o'clock in which all the companies took part and it is said that the sight was one of the finest ever witnessed in this state since the Spanish American war. Many of the guards are veterans and members of the old state troops and many of them have been in service in other countries and their appearance provoked round after round of applause from the thousands who assembled to witness the maneuvers.

There were two events in the drilling and maneuvers, picked squad drill and manual of arms drill. A picked squad from each company was placed into one company and the best drilled squad was declared the winners. They were drilled nearly an hour and drilled like men from the regular army. But among all of them the squad from the Seminole Guards showed up the best in appearance, in drill and it is said they looked more like real soldiers than any of the competing squads.

The Seminole squad was under Corporal Peabody and was composed of the following men: C. L. Britt, John Smith, Edward Higgins, Frank Adams, Jno. D. Jinks, W. D. Gillen, Henry Purdon.

This squad had not been drilling for this big event and did not know that they would be called upon for special features but was picked out of the company and shows that the Seminole Guards are there with the goods in every particular. The drilling of this particular squad and the drilling of the entire company from Seminole was a feature of the occasion and the judges composed of army men and those who have been in service of the state for many years said they had seen nothing to compare with it considering the men and the time they have been drilling.

All the guards present at the meeting were well drilled and all of them deserve credit for their fine appearance but after they had all been inspected and had been put through the paces the Seminole squad was pronounced the best drilled in the state and were awarded first prize amid the tumultuous applause of the spectators.

All honor to the Seminole boys and their officers, commissioned and non-commissioned who for the past year have given their time unstinted for the upbuilding of this fine body of men and all honor to the men who have gone out, off or twice each week that they might get in the best shape and be ready for any trouble that might occur while the state troops were over there fighting for the freedom of all nations.

The Herald takes great pride in the remarkable record made by the Seminole Guards yesterday. We were the first to start them off and we predicted that they would come into their own and that they would be our pride and our protection and our salvation if trouble ever occurred—and they will.

All honor to the Seminole Guards and their officers.

Spain Seizes German Ships

Madrid, Sept. 2.—The Spanish government tonight decided to take over all the German steamships interned in Spanish ports in accordance with Spain's recent note to Berlin because of the torpedoing of Spain's vessels by German submarines.

Foreign Minister Dato announced at a meeting of the cabinet tonight that the Spanish steamship Ataxmend, carrying a cargo of coal from England to Spain has been torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine.

"OUR LITTLE WIFE"

Madge Kennedy Called Upon to Break a Few Heads, Was Against Practice

A feminine Lothario in Madge Kennedy, the charming Goldwyn Pictures star, in "Our Little Wife," the screen version of Avery Hopwood's stage play of thrills and hilarity. Her eyes and her smile have captivated the country in "Our Little Wife." At the Star Theatre tonight, Friday.

Dodo looks here husband and doesn't hesitate to say so, but she annoys for the dear life of her help. All men who come within reach of her eyes and her smile. Especially in this case of a number of men who wanted to marry her long before her husband came upon the scene. Her cajoleries are so infinite that before a week of marital bliss has passed her house is overrun with her men captives, or, as she calls them, tame cats.

Few other stars of the stage and screen could have handled such situations as does Madge Kennedy. Not only does she make her situations with a clever ingenuousness and cloak her mischief with a child-like ingenuousness, but she also shows glimpses of a real tenderness that add to the varied charm of her performance.

Besides those eyes and that smile, Dodo is blessed--or rather burdened--with a large heart. Its capacity for absorbing the sympathy of those who were disappointed when she wed is practically unlimited. She has passed through them as quickly. But no one can find fault with Dodo--at least as the person Madge Kennedy makes her.

"I wouldn't call Dodo a bad sort," declared the charming Goldwyn star during a spell of leisure in the filming of the play. If wives who feel they are victims of their husband's neglect would do as Dodo did when friend husband forgets his first wedding anniversary marital neglect would be a lost art for a lot of men who like to forget what a tank was theirs to get that happy "yes."

The Two "Lion Hearts" of History

Once back in the far annals of English history there lived a king who was called Richard. "Lion Heart" he was called because of his courage. He was big and brave and handsome. He feared no one and no thing. With the courageous spirit of the King of Beasts within his breast he went forth and met all opponents.

He fought many hard battles. But in the end he conquered his opponents and gained peace and happiness for his people.

Such a character is the one portrayed by William Farnum in the great William Fox picture "The Heart of a Lion." He is Barney Kemper of the north woods; farmer, lumberman and doctor.

Barney Kemper is big and brave and handsome. He fears no one and no thing. With the courageous spirit of the King of Beasts within his breast, he goes forth and meets all opponents. And in the end he conquers for he, too, has been battling for the right!

William Farnum returns to his favorite blue shirted character in "The Heart of a Lion." It is the kind of role he likes, and the kind in which the great motion picture public like him most.

"BLUE BLOOD"

Curse of Wretched Ancestry is Theme of "Blue Blood"

At the Star Theatre Tuesday

A relentless arraignment of modern society is the theme of "Blue Blood," a Selectart drama distributed by Goldwyn, in which Howard Hickman is starred. The play lays bare the sins of the wealthy and those who would charter their souls for the empty pleasures that follow in the trail of money. The hideous talent in the blood of the so-called aristocrat, from the moment when the man in whose veins it is feels from the moment he and his wife are against the wall in his frenzy to the time when something bursts in his life, and he is forced to the door, the tragedy of "Blue Blood" is remorselessly depicted by Hickman and his powerful supporting players.

They portray persons who are real humans, swayed by the passions that govern the lives of people all around us. They give "Blue Blood" reality and strength. They tell the powerful story with convincing artistry. In every respect "Blue Blood" is a photodrama worthy of a most exciting public.

Anna Q. Nilsson Dares Danger in "Over There"

Miss Nilsson gave one army of three an exciting realistic foretaste of service "over there." In the scene where she is riding with him on the front seat of a Red Cross ambulance along a road which the Germans are "strafing" with heavy gun fire, they were detailed to fly smoke bombs NEAR the waiting ambulance--notice the emphasis. In their zeal, however they hurled several bombs directly underneath the car. Only the skill of the ambulance presented a serious accident, for if one of the bombs had exploded

Irish and America. Although Ireland lies far out of the beaten track of the American tourist, yet she is an island that possesses many interesting associations with this country. It was from Ireland that came the first European discoverers of America, who, a thousand years ago had their prosperous settlements all along the New England coast, as far south as Long Island. It was to Ireland that Christopher Columbus went for information about the new world before starting off on the first of his epoch-making voyages across the Atlantic.

AMERICANS ASKED TO LIMIT USE OF SUGAR

Must Use No More Than Two Pounds Per Person a Month if the Present Meagre Allied Sugar Ration Is Maintained.

Stocks Will Be Short Until Beginning of New Year--Ration May Be Enlarged Then.

Two pounds of sugar a month--half a pound a week--that is the sugar ration the U. S. Food Administration has asked every American to observe until January 1, 1919, in order to make sure there shall be enough for our Army and Navy, for the Allied armies and for the civilians of those nations.

By New Year's the world-sugar situation will be relieved somewhat by the new crop. Cuban sugar of this year's crop will be arriving in this country.

Every available sugar source will be drawn on by the Food Administration during the next winter months to maintain sufficient stocks here to keep up our national sugar supply. During October the first American beet sugar will arrive in the market. By the middle of November some of our Louisiana cane crop will be available. All of this sugar and more may be needed to keep this nation supplied on a reduced ration and to safeguard the Allied sugar ration from still further reduction. In Europe the present ration is already reduced to a minimum.

Our Situation. The situation which the United States faces in its efforts to maintain a fair distribution of sugar to the Allied world is as follows:

Sugar supplies throughout the country, in homes, stores, factories and bakeries are at a low ebb. We must make increased sugar shipments to the Allies.

Production of American beet and Louisiana cane crops have been disappointing.

Porto Rico crops have been curtailed.

Immense sugar stocks in Java cannot be reached on account of the shipping shortage; ships are needed for troop movements and munitions.

Army and Navy sugar requirements have increased as well as those from the Allies.

Most industries using sugar have had their allotment reduced by one-half; some will receive no sugar.

Households should make every effort to preserve the fruit crop without sugar, or with small amounts of sugar. Later, when the sugar supply is larger, the canned fruit may be sweetened as it is used.

GOD SAVE OUR MEN

We do not know whether, came the words, but when the women of a choir or of a chorus bow their heads and softly sing "God Save Our Men" we are stirred to the uttermost. It strikes down to the fundamental strips us of all superficial excesses of expediency and brings home to us the question, "What are we doing for our country?"

God save our precious men And send them safe home again. God save our men Make them victorious Patient and obedient They are so dear to us. God save our men.

God save our precious men And send them to the end. God save our men They are so dear to us. God save our men.

God save our precious men And send them to the end. God save our men They are so dear to us. God save our men.

A DAILY DUTY

It is a duty that will be met by every American whose heart is with our soldiers in France, who girdles in their courage and fighting ability and their success.

Each day every American citizen should be confident of a great victory. It is a duty that will be met by every American whose heart is with our soldiers in France, who girdles in their courage and fighting ability and their success.

TO YOU WON'T CARE If the Germans win this war and come to America to punish us, you won't care. You may care a little at first. It may make your mind boil to see some shaved-head big barbarian in the Kaiser's uniform scold you with across the face with the fat of his hand, or to hear the shrieks of your neighbor as one of the Kaiser's grinning under officers drags her away, but you won't care long. I'll tell you why. You'll be dead.

There was a called paragraph in the newspapers a day or so ago that reported the Russians as feeling better inclined toward the allies. The reason was that the German troops were poison gassing the civil population of the captured towns. It is an easy way to get rid of civil population, and now that the Germans have let upon it, they will probably use it in all cases where they wish to make room for German Kultur.

Poison gassing the civilian population is easier and quicker than shooting it, as was done in Belgium. It is easier and quicker than shooting it, as was done in Belgium. It is easier and quicker than shooting it, as was done in Belgium.

found that a satisfactory way to lead whole cities to death. The Germans are especially apt to stick to, poison gassing civilians because it is their own happy thought and the highest exemplification of their own efficient Kultur.

In America where there are great sections given up to agriculture, it will probably be necessary for the Germans to buy food for soldiers who are now living on the farms, although they may be able to form plenty concentration camps and gas all who are gathered in those camps. In the first the work would be easier. On a given day and at a given hour the German troops would hit on their gas masks and thus protect against great quantities of poison gas. The civil population would immediately die. Germany would have a free hand for colonization, and America would be thoroughly German from then on. There would be no one here to interfere with the German plans. New Germany would be all German. You would not care you would be dead.

If you think Germany is not capable of doing this very thing it is because you have not thought about Germany lately. That cable message says, Germany is doing it in western Russia. To Germany we are more troublesome and less disliked than eastern Russia. We are too numerous to defeat. The easiest way would be to gas us in the West.

Why a Drive in War Savings Next Week? This question has been asked a number of times. It can be answered fully by stating that during the past ten months since the government has been selling War Savings Stamps there are only about two people in every fifteen of Seminole county who have purchased War Savings Stamps and thereby signified to the government and to the boys over yonder that they were behind them and pushing. This is why a drive is needed next week. Think of it folks—two people out of every fifteen of this county have War Savings Stamps. The people in authority have asked that the people of Seminole county show that they are in accord with every movement that is fostered by the government, and have set apart the week beginning Sept. 9th and ending on the 14th, to give those who have not subscribed their limit in War Savings, and those that have not thought to subscribe at all a chance to get right and fall in line. Therefore, be ready with your additional subscription or new subscription as the case may be when the solicitors call on you next Monday.

CURBSTONE CLEANINGS

BUDGET OF OPINION "JUST BETWEEN YOU AND ME" EVEN THE GATE POST NOT IN IT

Thrifting—Are You? We think we are thrifting. But maybe we are drifting. And the coin that we clink is not saving but shifting. For seemingly spending. Goes on without ending. And heedlessness still is the tend of our trending.

In gleaming my meaning, You'll find gasolining Is still used for dusting instead of for cleaning. And most of us batten On fine far and fatten, While robbing our softness in purple and satin.

Oh, maybe you're guilty and maybe you're not, But ask, "Have I thrifted as much as I ought?"

Our thrifting is fickle. It rains in a trickle. We pickle a nickel to give us a tinkle. They ride on the rollers. To go to the Follies. And hand ourselves thanks and a couple of jollies.

Man still goes on, puffing, Imbibing, and stuffing, And holding enough yet without "Hold! enough!"-ing. While woman still poses, And shows us her hoses, All sliken and sheer to excuse her disclosures.

At the end of the day, if you're feeling too good, Ask this, "Have I thrifted as much as I should?"

Thrift? Have we yet won it? Nay, have we begun it? It pops up its head and we sop it or stun it.

But while we are raving Of saving and saving, Who of us is conscious of cutting a craving?

We still go hotelling And counting and swelling, As if war were pastime and seldom compelling. As we restaurating And jaunting and haunting, With little denied that is wanton or wanting.

If you're doing the limit, keep hitting on wood. And ask, "Have I thrifted as much as I could?"

Some go profiteering And on the high gearing They hit the high spots with a rickling cheering. And day-working Doolleys, Are sniffing patchouli, While over the ocean, they're living like coolies.

Aye, aye, there they buckle Their belts as they knuckle Hard down to their work, while refusing to truckle. And Panches and Pierrots Are starving like heroes, While our self denial is hitting the zeroes.

As you pillow your conscience at bedtime tonight, Ask this, "Am I thrifting as much as I might?" —Edmund Vance Cook.

I never was much on this family tree and blue blood thing. With me it is just what a person is while they are in my presence and actions count more than a family tree that apparently looks good from the outside but is full of worm holes below the bark. I see people every day who dote on their ancestors and they are living now on what their ancestors did in 1776—in fact they have a bad case of "ancestors" for which they should have treatment. It is all right to have a good family name and most of us can trace back our ancestry far enough to discover that we came from some great man and we can also trace back the record far enough to discover some pretty bad eggs among our lineal descendants. It is an even toss up and the man who is the least among us may have the best ancestors and the greatest among us may have come from humble parentage. Thank goodness, in America the poor have as good a chance to become great as the rich and family trees are only good for kindling the kitchen fires. A genealogical expert can dig up a coat of arms and a family tree for you if you have the money, but you for liver and onions and corned beef and cabbage yourself. And you may rig up, powder, perfume, puff and manigure a hick till kingdom comes, and every time that he passes a livery stable the old gray mule will bray.

He's a poor patriot who will slur his own friends or fellow citizens who have gone to spend their blood for him and his interests while he enjoys the blessing of a quiet, easy home life.

You never miss the water until the well runs dry and you never miss the people from your town until they go away and just now the war is causing lots of good people to leave on various missions. Maybe we will appreciate them the more when they come back.

I wish to commend the good people of Sanford and vicinity for the manner in which they obeyed the request of the Fuel Administration at Washington to cut down the consumption of gasoline on Sunday. They entered whole heartedly into the scheme and some people who were coming into church from the country and were allowed to drive a car drove the old horse and buggy to church. Many an old plug that had been turned out for work since the auto came in was carried up and placed back in the shafts again for light work on Sunday.

The day was so quiet with all the cars stilled that it seemed strange and carried us back to childhood days when everybody remained at home or only drove a few miles out in the country and the foxy, busy cars that have whizzed past the door all day Sunday with no respect for the day or for the war with cut out wide open and all bolts loose were stilled for the nonce and, say, it was some relief. I rather liked it and many of my neighbors liked it and the fuel administrator knew what he was doing when he called for the saying on one day's gasoline that the boys "over there" fighting our battles might have more oil and gasoline to whip the Hun. I am proud of the way in which our people responded, and while they may have been one or two who went right on using gas they were people who are of that caliber and they are the ones who will get theirs after the war is over and if they persist in disregarding requests and orders Uncle Sam will close them up tight until after the war. And meantime let the good patriotic people go right on helping the government and the war will soon be over and we can find time to kick the geezer that helped the kaiser instead of his own government.

Strange Request. A strange request was made by a retired soap manufacturer recently. He left the sum of a little more than eleven hundred dollars, to found a home for "homeless cats and dogs," but stipulated that the money is not to be touched until the year 2163, by when the donor estimates it will have increased to two hundred million dollars.

Digging. It is seldom that men discover rich mines without digging. Nature commonly lodges her treasures and jewels in rock ground. If the matter be knotty and the sense be deep, they must stop and buckle to it, and stick upon it with labor and thought and close contemplation and not leave it until they have mastered the difficulty and got possession of the truth.—Locke.

OUR PLEDGE

"Appreciating to the utmost the supreme unselfishness of our American manhood which is offering its very life upon the altar of freedom for the world, we, the members of the South Florida Press Association, in semi-annual session assembled, do hereby

"Resolve, That in this crisis and as long as life shall last, we dedicate all that we are and all that we have to the support of our glorious nation, our righteous cause, and our illustrious government. And be it further

"Resolved, That every newspaper holding membership in this association display this resolution in bold type at the masthead of its editorial page throughout the month of August, and that copies be sent to the president and our representatives in congress,

"Done and ordered in the city of Waukegan, state of Florida, this 12th day of July, 1918."

Premier Lenin of the Bolsheviki regime has been assassinated. Good work long delayed.

Only a few joy riders were seen on our streets last Sunday. The officials have their names and they will probably hear from it.

The youngsters should stay in college and get their education. Uncle Sam approves of this plan and will send them to school and take them when he needs them and after they have a military education as well.

The cotton crop of Seminole is one that will greatly assist in giving our farmers some money. Staple crops are the kind that more of our farmers should plant and let the other crops alone until the war is over. A small acreage of lettuce and celery would be common sense this season and our farmers should heed the signs of the times.

We have done so well on the saving of flour that the Food Administration will now allow us to use flour with only 20 per cent of substitutes. This will give us a good mixture and one that should be strictly adhered to by every one. And every time we adhere to a ruling of this kind we are helping win the war by giving our allies more flour and sugar and other food stuffs that they need over there much more than we need them here.

"TELL MOTHER"
Do you know the first thing an American soldier says if he falls wounded on the battlefield, if he is taken ill and wishes to send word home, or if he happens across any one so fortunate as to be going back to the old home town?

Those are the first two words of every message he seeks to impart. On the field of battle awaiting the stretcher bearers, on the operating table with death hovering near or on a hospital cot convalescing, but still forced to have some one attend to his correspondence, his first words, always, are "Tell Mother." And that is why we should strive the harder to bolster up the brave little woman who has given a son to the cause. We know that somewhere there is a hero whose last earthly message will be for her. His last thoughts will be the same as the first—of Mother. When trouble comes, man though he has grown to be, he is yet a child at heart, and his first idea of comfort and refuge is centered in the one who gave him life.

Let us see to it that nothing is left undone at home that will cheer and comfort the hearts of those who have loved ones abroad, and those to go, boys who are showing their willingness to die, if necessary, for us; boys who will win a lasting peace for the world because of their love for mother.

"GOD SAVE OUR MEN"
We do not know whence came the words, but when the women of a choir or of a chorus how their heads and softly sing "God Save Our Men" we are stirred to the uttermost. It strikes down to the fundamentals, strips us of all superficial excuses of expediency, and brings home to us the question, "What am I doing for my Country?"

Sung to the tune "America" these words are a beacon light to wavering hearts, a strengthening incentive to deep decency of thought and reason, an inspiration to be worthy of the women who thus pray for those of us who are doing our great part. Here are the words:

God save our splendid men
Send them safe home again.
God save our men
Make them victorious
Patient and chivalrous
They are so dear to us.
God save our men.

God keep our own dear men.
From every stain and sin,
God keep our men.
When Satan would allure,
When tempted keep them pure.
Be their protection sure.
God keep our men.

God hold our precious men,
And love them to the end.
God hold our men.
Held in their arms so strong
To Thee they all belong
Held safe from every wrong
God hold our men.

A DAILY DUTY

Each day every American soldier in France is confronted by a great duty. Our army there has a great task to perform for our country, for the world, for civilization, and for humanity. Our soldiers are doing their duty with a courage and fidelity and efficiency that thrills every heart.

Each day every American citizen at home is confronted by a great duty, a duty as imperative upon him or her as the duty of our soldiers is upon them. The American people have a great task to perform. It is to support to the limit of their ability our army, our navy, our country at war.

To work with increased energy and efficiency so that our national production may be increased; to economize in consumption so that more material and labor and transportation may be left free for the uses of the government; and with the resultant savings to support the government financially in the daily duty of every American. It is a duty that will be met by every American whose heart is with our soldiers in France, who glories in their courage and fighting ability and their success.

YOU WON'T CARE

If the Germans win this war and come to America to punish us, you won't care. You may care a little at first. It may make your blood boil to see some shaved-head hog herder in the kaiser's uniform strike your wife across the face with the flat of his hand, or to hear the shrieks of your daughter as one of the kaiser's grinning under-officers drags her away, but you won't care long. I'll tell you why.

You'll be dead. There was a cabled paragraph in the newspapers a day or so ago that reported the Russians as feeling better inclined toward the allies. The reason was that the German troops were poison gassing the civil population of the captured towns. It is an easy way to get rid of civil population, and, now that the Germans have hit upon it, they will probably use it in all cases where they wish to make room for German kultur.

Poison gassing the civilian population is easier and quicker than shooting it, as was done in Belgium. It is easier and quicker than deporting it, as was done with the Armenians, although the German-bossed Turks found that a satisfactory way to lead whole cities to death. The Germans are especially apt to stick to poison gassing civilians because it is their own happy thought and the highest exemplification of their own efficient kultur.

In America where there are great sections given up to agriculture, it will probably be necessary for the Germans to bayonet and shoot many who are now living on the farms, although they may be able to form county concentration camps and gas all who are gathered in those camps. In the cities the work would be easier. On a given day and at a given hour the German troops would put on their gas masks and thus protected release great quantities of poison gas. The civil population would immediately die. Germany would have a free hand for colonization, and America would be thoroughly German from then on. There would be no one here to interfere with the German plans. New Germany would be all German. You would not care—you would be dead.

If you think Germany is not capable of doing this very thing it is because you have not thought about Germany lately. That cable message says Germany is doing it in eastern Russia. To Germany we are more troublesome and less civilized than eastern Russia. We are too numerous to deport. The easiest way would be to gas us in the bulk.

No decent nation does such things, but Germany is not in the decent nation class. Think a minute.

Germany is a murderer. She threw civilized ways aside and began striking men, women and children in the bulk long ago. Germany is a pirate, and is using submarines contrary to all agreements and pacts. Germany invented poison gas and used it, when its use in battle was as forbidden and uncivilized as its use to kill civilian population. We have a great country over here, and a population that would be endlessly troublesome to Germany if she tried to rule us. If Germany comes to the United States she will wish to kill us off as if we were rats. Germany wants to make the world safe for Germany.

I don't know how you feel about it, but I don't want to be gassed. I don't want any poison-gassing nation left on the face of the earth. I am not even strong in my friendship for murderers and pirates. I don't see today anything good in Germany, or anything decent, or anything deserving respect. I can't think of anything so hideous or disgusting that she would not do if she thought it would profit her. She is not fighting as a civilized nation lights; she is outlawed and disgraced. She must be whipped, beaten into the slime she has created, her rulers punished for their filthy crimes and then, if the world of decent men see fit, her population may be put on good behavior for fifty years. At the end of that time, if civilization has taken the place of the barbarism now existing in Germany, it may be possible to admit Germany to a place in the councils of the nations once more. Until then, look out for poisonous gas! Beat the Hun into his own mud or he will come over here and depopulate America by his own hell-conceived method. Ellis Parker Butler, Member Author's Committee American Defense Society.

FOOD ADMINISTRATION

New wheat rulings effective Sept. 1st condensed in brief form are as follows:

- 1st: The 50-50 rule is rescinded.
2nd: Twenty per cent of substitutes must accompany all retail sales of pure wheat flour.
3rd: Mixed flours, which will be on the market, and which contain 20 per cent of substitutes, can be sold without substitutes.
4th: Where mixed flour, containing less than 20 per cent substitutes is sold, additional substitutes must be sold to make up the 20 per cent.
5th: The authorized substitutes are as follows: Corn meal, corn flour, barley flour, kafir flour, milo flour, feterita flour, rice flour, oat flour, peanut flour, bean flour, potato flour, buckwheat flour. The ordinary breakfast cereals, such as oatmeal, cream of wheat, oat flakes and rolled oats, etc., are not substitutes.
6th: Rye flour may be sold as a substitute in the proportion of two pounds of rye with three pounds of wheat flour.
7th: Farmers certificates are invalid after Sept. 1st.
8th: Baker's bread must contain 20 per cent of substitutes.
9th: Consumers may buy flour under these rulings, with the proper percentage of substitutes, to meet their normal requirements.
10th: The Food Administration

Hand-Sewing on Undermuslins
Women who sew well find needlework among the pleasantest of occupations during the long, warm days of midsummer. It is a good time in which to make up undermuslins and grace the sheer soft materials that are used these days for underclothes with hand sewing and fancy stitches. These harmonize with the dainty fabrics used better than machine work.
Note Carefully
Under these rulings the retail dealer is not required to buy substitutes from the wholesaler or jobber, nor is the wholesaler or jobber required to sell substitutes with wheat flour. However, the retailer is held responsible for the sale of substitutes with wheat flour, he having the optional privilege of buying these substitutes to fill his need. The food administration has provided that all mixed flour may be labeled "Victory Flour," but the constituent parts of the flour with the proportion of wheat flour and substitutes must be marked plainly on the package. For the protection of the public, the retailer when selling broken lots, or from the original mill package, is not allowed to re-mix flour or sell one brand of flour from the container of another brand.
Automatic "Movies."
In a commercial moving picture apparatus the scenes are made visible by daylight as well as at night, and the exhibition is automatically repeated for any period desired. A miniature theater, forming one part of the outfit, is suitable for a show window or other favorable place for display. The other part, the moving picture machine, will operate on either direct or alternate current, and after the succession of pictures has been projected the motion is reversed without attention, and the reel is rewound for a repetition of the display.
Wanted Two Lids.
Carl was fond of biscuits, especially the upper crusts of them. One morning when his mother picked up a biscuit to prepare a sandwich for him Carl caught his mother's hand affectionately and said: "Please, mamma, give me two lids."
Said to Be Better Than Starch.
By boiling seaweed with carbonate of soda, and treating the filtered solution with sulphuric acid, a substance is produced that has more viscosity than starch or even gum arabic, and that can be profitably employed in stiffening various textile fabrics.

Why a Drive in War-Savings Next Week? This question has been asked a number of times. It can be answered fully by stating that during the past ten months since the government has been selling War Savings Stamps there are only about two people in every fifteen of Seminole county who have purchased War Savings Stamps and thereby signified to the government and to the boys over yonder that they were behind them and pushing. This is why a drive is needed next week. Think of it folks—two people out of every fifteen of this county have War Savings Stamps. The people in authority have asked that the people of Seminole county show that they are in accord with every movement that is fostered by the government, and have set apart the week beginning Sept. 9th and ending on the 14th, to give those who have not subscribed their limit in War Savings, and those that have not thought to subscribe at all a chance to get right and fall in line. Therefore, be ready with your additional subscription or new subscription as the case may be when the solicitors call on you next Monday.

CURBSTONE CLEANINGS

BUDGET OF OPINION "JUST BETWEEN YOU AND ME" EVEN THE GATE POST NOT IN IT

Thrifting—Are You? We think we are thrifting. But maybe we are drifting. And the coin that we clink is not saving but shifting. For seemingly spending. Goes on without ending. And heedlessness still is the tent of our trending.

In gleaming my meaning. You'll find gasolining. Is still used for dusting instead of for cleaning. And most of us fatten. On fine far-and-batten. While robing our softness in purple and satin.

Oh, maybe you're guilty and maybe you're not. But ask, "Have I thrifted as much as I ought?"

Our thrifting is tickle. It runs in a trickle. We pickle a nickel to give us a tickle. Then ride on the trolleys. To go to the Pullies. And hand ourselves thanks and a couple of jollies.

Man still goes on putting. Imbuing, and stuffing. And holding enough yet without "Hull! enough!"-ing. While woman still poses. And shows us her hoses. All sliken and sheer to excuse her disclosures.

At the end of the day, if you're feeling too good. Ask this, "Have I thrifted as much as I should?"

Thrift? Have we yet won it? Nay, have we begun it? It pops up its head and we sop it or stum it. But while we are raving. Of saving and saving. Who of us is conscious of cutting a craving?

We still go hotelling. And swanking and swelling. As if we were pastime and seldom compelling. We go restaurating. And jaunting and haunting. With little denied that is wanton or wanting.

If you're doing the limit, keep hitting on wood. And ask, "Have I thrifted as much as I could?"

Some go profiteering. And on the high gearing. They hit the high spots with a rollicking cheering. And day-working Douleys. Are sniffing patchouli. While over the ocean, they're living like coolies.

Aye, aye, there they buckle. Their belts as they knuckle. Hard down to their work, while refusing to truckle. And Panches and Pierrats. Are starving like heroes. While our self denial is hitting the zeroes.

As you pillow your conscience at bedtime tonight. Ask this, "Am I thrifting as much as I might?" —Edmund Vance Cook.

I never was much on this family tree and blue blood thing. With me it is just what a person is while they are in my presence and actions count more than a family tree that apparently looks good from the outside but is full of worm holes below the bark. I see people every day who date on their ancestors and they are living now on what their ancestors did in 1776—in fact they have a bad case of "ancestors" for which they should have treatment. It is all right to have a good family name and most of us can trace back our ancestry far enough to discover that we came from some great man and we can also trace back the record far enough to discover some pretty bad eggs among our lineal descendants. It is an even toss up and the man who is the least among us may have the best ancestors and the greatest among us may have come from humble parentage. Thank goodness, in America the poor have as good a chance to become great as the rich and family trees are only good for kindling the kitchen fires. A genealogical expert can dig up a coat of arms and a family tree for you if you have the money, but you for liver and onions and corned beef and cabbage yourself. And you may rig up, powder, perfume, puff and manure a hick till kingdom comes, and every time that he passes a livery stable the old gray mule will bray.

He's a poor patriot who will slur his own friends or fellow citizens who have gone to spend their blood for him and his interests while he enjoys the blessing of a quiet, easy home life.

You never miss the water until the well runs dry and you never miss the people from your town until they go away and just now the war is causing lots of good people to leave on various missions. Maybe we will appreciate them the more when they come back.

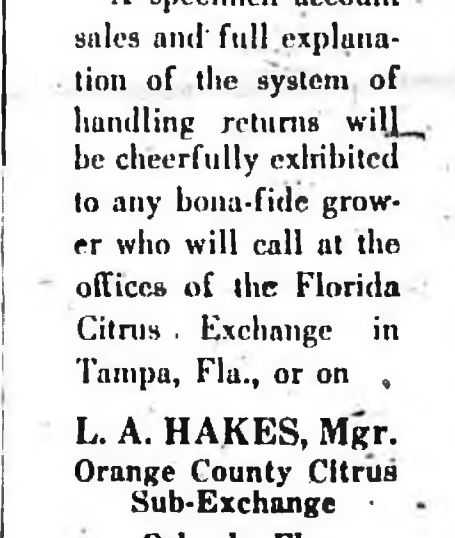

I wish to commend the good people of Sanford and vicinity for the manner in which they obeyed the request of the Fuel Administration at Washington to cut down the consumption of gasoline on Sunday. They entered whole heartedly into the scheme and some people who were coming into church from the country and were allowed to drive a car drove the old horse and buggy to church. Many an old plug that had been turned out for weeks since the auto came in was carried up and placed back in the shafts again for light work on Sunday. The day was so quiet with all the cars stilled that it seemed strange and carried us back to childhood days when everybody remained at home or only drove a few miles out in the country and the noisy, busy cars that have whizzed past the door all day Sunday with no respect for the day or for the war with cut out wide open and all bolts loose were stilled for the nonce and, say, it was some relief. I rather liked it and many of my neighbors liked it and the fuel administrator knew what he was doing when he called for the saving on one day's gasoline that the boys "over there" fighting our battles might have more oil and gasoline to whip the Hun. I am proud of the way in which our people responded and while they may have been one or two who went right on using gas they were people who are of that caliber and they are the ones who will get theirs after the war is over and if they persist in disregarding requests and orders Uncle Sam will close them up tight until after the war. And meantime let the good patriotic people go right on helping the government and the war will soon be over and we can find time to kick the gezer that helped the kaiser instead of his own government.

Strange Bequest. A strange bequest was made by a retired soap manufacturer recently. He left the sum of a little more than eleven hundred dollars, to found a home for "homeless cats and dogs," but stipulated that the money is not to be touched until the year 2163, by when the donor estimates it will have increased to two hundred million dollars.

Digging. It is seldom that men discover rich mines without digging. Nature commonly lodges her treasures and jewels in rock ground. If the matter be knotty and the sense be deep, they must stop and buckle to it, and stick upon it with labor and thought and close contemplation, and not leave it until they have mastered the difficulty and got possession of the truth.—Locke.
