

Road Builders Face Massive Job Problems

ATLANTA (UPI)—Massive engineering problems are confronting builders of the interstate highway system in the South.

—A new bridge across the Mississippi River at Memphis that must wait until a shifting channel stabilizes before piers can be sunk into the river bed.

—A tube beneath Mobile Bay.

—A bridge 75 feet high over the Miami River.

—Tunnels through mountains.

A solid road foundation through Georgia swamps.

These are a few of the biggest barriers. But none can surpass the problems created by the cities that lie in the path of the cross-country highways that are marked with the blue number signs.

Despite all the delays in getting the huge program under way, Rex Anderson, division engineer for the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, believes that almost half the total mileage planned for seven Southeastern states will be completed by Jan. 1, 1965.

That's the half-way point in the 15-year program to build 41,000 miles of interstate and defense highways that will lace the country in every direction. About one-third of the route is now open to traffic. Target date for completion is 1972.

North Carolina is far ahead of other Southern states with half of its 700 designated miles of interstate route open to traffic.

Anderson said the work is progressing "fairly close" to schedule in the Southeast.

He said about 12 so-called downtown connectors in cities are providing some of the most baffling engineering problems. All of them are making some progress but only one—Jacksonville—has the work completed.

The Florida port city got a head start on the program by use of bond issues which provided the money to get the work done fast.

Florida is regarded in "good shape" on the total program except in the northwest where little has been accomplished. Both Miami and Tampa are well along with connectors.

In Tennessee, Memphis, Nashville, Knoxville and Chattanooga all have connector problems and all are under construction. Chattanooga has about half of its program "under rubber" and is much further along than its sister cities.

Atlanta has one of the most complex downtown projects in the South. It is 75 per cent under construction and all of it is being engineered. Completion of that city's connector will open an interstate route from Duluth 25 miles north of Atlanta, through the city to connect with the divided highway to Griffin 30 miles to the south. Target date for opening the Atlanta connector is late this year.

Alabama's bright spot in city construction is at Mobile where two-thirds is under way, but both Montgomery and Birmingham have a long way to go.

Jackson, Miss., also has the major portion of its downtown work to complete.

In South Carolina and North Carolina, the system dodges most of the large cities and both states have completed much of their open road mileage. It is now possible to drive on super roadways from northwest of Spartanburg to near Charleston on the coast.

Many long sections on Interstate 85, 95 and 40 are open to traffic in North Carolina.

Rainstorms Hit Northern States

United Press International
A sprawling rainstorm soaked its way slowly across the North Atlantic states today. Scattered thunderstorms rumbled over the Great Plains.

Tornadoes spun through the night sky above Nebraska and Texas. Snow fell at Ely, Nev., when the temperature dipped toward freezing.

Pessimistic reports of a decline in real estate activity in Seminole County were spiked today by Wally Dietrichs of Wally Dietrichs & Associates of Seminole Realty. Wally said today that his firm has sold 12 homes, and possibly a 13th in the last 10 days. "General conditions are looking up all around," said Wally.

Activity already is started on the four-laning of Highway 436 from Highway 17-92 through Altamonte Springs to a point beyond Interstate 4. State Road Department has commenced negotiations for obtaining the necessary rights-of-way to widen 436.

By popular demand the Seminole Sports Car Club will present its "Rough and Rowdy" driver-navigator rally on July 12. First car will leave at 5:01 p.m. from the Farmers Market parking lot on French Avenue, running approximately 150 miles in about five hours, and will finish at the Mayfair Country Club.

Altamonte Mayor Lawrence Swofford, suffering from a pulled muscle in his back, took his seat around the council table promptly at 8 p.m. Wednesday along with Town Clerk Jim Palmer. A couple minutes later Councilman Frank Gerhardt joined them. The three men waited for something like 15 minutes, Swofford turned, looked at the clock and said, "Let's go home... I'm tired of waiting on these men to fill a quorum!"

Swofford, to The Herald reporter, says he didn't appear to be particularly angry... rather, just as he said, "tired of waiting."

Meanwhile, important business of the town, which is just getting a $250,000 water works underway, goes begging as does the routine business. At this time, no special meeting of the council has been scheduled and it'll be two weeks before another regular meeting is scheduled.

Minutes after Swofford and Gerhardt drove away, Councilman Stuart Fritch showed up but there was no sign of Gene Stephenson or Keith Nixon although someone did say something about Nixon being on vacation.

WHAT DAY IS SO GAY as the last day of school, with vacation ahead and its swimming, picnics, "no books or teacher's sassy looks," time to be carefree and no worries of homework or report cards. Some 14,000 Seminole County school children will pour out the school doors today in the final rush to "get away from it all" and commence that long-awaited summer vacation. These school kids Wednesday happily enacted for Herald photographer Bill Vincent Jr. their own expressions of the last day of school as it will be in reality for all school kids today.

Verily, today is the big day... and Sept. 3 is so very far away from today in the very young minds.

JFK Asks School Equality

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—President Kennedy today called for an educational system which would guarantee equal opportunity for a Long Island banker's son and the offspring of an Alabama Negro sharecropper.

"Our goal must be an educational system in the spirit of independence, a system in which all are created equal—a system in which every child, whether born a banker's son in a Long Island mansion, or a Negro sharecropper's son in an Alabama cotton field, has every opportunity for an education that his abilities and character deserve," the Chief Executive said in an address for commencement exercises at San Diego State College where he also received an honorary degree.

Kennedy flew here this morning from El Paso, Tex. After the college ceremony he planned to embark on the aircraft carrier Kitty Hawk for an overnight cruise off the coast of Southern California.

Mindful of a new civil rights crisis building at the University of Alabama where Gov. George Wallace has vowed to block the court-ordered entrance of Negro students next Monday, the President said it was time the nation "faced up more frankly" to such questions as "whether every American child has an equal chance for a good education."

The President renewed his call for action on his educational legislative recommendations pending in Congress.

The program includes federal aid for college construction, expanded student loans, higher teacher salaries and federal assistance in construction of additional public secondary and elementary school classrooms.

Solons Approve Teacher Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A House education subcommittee Wednesday approved a bill that would provide $34.5 million to train teachers for physically and mentally handicapped children.

The three-year program was one of the items requested by President Kennedy in his education message this year. The funds would go to colleges to use in preparing the special teachers.

Leaves Hospital

NEW YORK (UPI)—Television star Ariens Francis was released from Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center Wednesday with her right arm in a sling. She was injured May 25 in an automobile accident in which one person was killed.

Military School Will Open In September

The Sanford Military Academy, with an estimated 250 cadets enrolled in grades six through nine, will commence operations with the fall term of school in September.

Mayor Tom McDonald announced the City of Sanford and the directors of the Mac-

Farrell Foundation reached a final agreement by telephone Wednesday afternoon.

The City will receive $100,000 for 18-plus acres of land at Mellonville and Colety Avenues. The San Francisco Giants will receive $275,000 for its holdings, land and dormitory building. The City dropped its down payment figure by $150,000 to $125,000.

Wiegars said Col. Harry J. Furman, now of the faculty of the Foundation's Castle Heights Military Academy, at Lebanon, Tenn., will arrive here Monday to assume the superintendency of the new school and to commence operations.

Wiegars, who will arrive here in 19 days to two weeks, also stated "the directors of the Foundation are extremely pleased that the negotiations have been completed and that we will commence our school operations in Sanford. We have had mail from throughout the United States urging us to complete the transaction and to get the school under way."

Work still to be commenced shortly, Wiegars added, in remodeling the Giants' dormitory building and in the construction of a swimming pool and an academic building with eight classrooms and an auditorium. He said he could give no estimate of the cost.

In a year or so, he stated, the school will add a new gymnasium building. One of three buildings obtained from the City will be used temporarily as a gymnasium.

Of its $100,000, the City has agreed to pay to Seminole County $15,000 from the Foundation's deferred payments for the County's equity in 12-plus acres of the 18-acre site.

This, too, had been a stumbling block in original negotiations between the City and County. The County had granted use of the land to the City for recreational purposes, with a reverter clause in favor of the County. The City felt the County should reciprocate and give this land free of charge.

However, the County held out and finally agreed to accept $15,000 for its equity. The City, anxious to have the school established, agreed to that figure.

'Mix' Cases Set For Hearings

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—The U. S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals said Wednesday it will hear desegregation suits involving public schools at Birmingham, Ala., and Albany, Ga., on June 26 in Montgomery, Ala.

Negro plaintiffs in the Birmingham suit have asked the court to overturn a ruling last week by U. S. District Judge Seymour H. Lynn who refused to order integration on grounds the Negroes failed to exhaust legal remedies under state laws.

In the Albany suit, Negroes are seeking desegregation of schools and other facilities operated by the city and county.

Castroites Hit U. S. Mission

CARACAS (UPI)—Castroite terrorists raided the U. S. military mission here Wednesday night, forced six unarmed Americans and four Venezuelan army guards to strip and stole their uniforms and the Venezuelans' guns.

The terrorists then set fire to the mission building causing $20,000 damage, burned a U. S. flag and a portrait of George Washington and fled.

"Next time we won't be kidding," one of them snarled as he fled.

Rains Pound Great Plains

By United Press International
Heavy rains pounded the Great Plains today. A flash flood hit Glasgow, Mont., tornadoes struck during the night in the Dakotas and hailstorms pelted Kansas.

More than 14 inches of rain fell in six hours at Glasgow. Half the city was without electrical power and underpasses were flooded.

Nearly the same amount of rain drenched Minn. N. D. Cambridge, Ohio, residents kept a wary eye on thunderstorm forecasts after a freak storm dumped more than seven inches of rain there Wednesday.

Super Airliner

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States will try to build a supersonic airliner capable of flying from New York to Paris in less than three hours, it was announced by President Kennedy Wednesday.

SANFORD MILITARY ACADEMY site is pictured. With agreements reached and final papers being signed, the MacFarrell Foundation, represented by Col. Harry J. Furman, superintendent of the new school, will commence next week in refurbishing the present buildings and preparing for new construction. All the land and buildings within the white line have been acquired by the Foundation. School will open in September.

Bryant Gathers Forces

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—Gov. Farris Bryant's forces sought five votes today for a favorable reconsideration of the 80-33 vote by which the House killed his $125 million bond plan Wednesday.

The House met at 9:30 a. m., and was expected to jump back into the bond program which is aimed at financing university and junior college construction in coming years.

Since the constitutional amendment would be voted on by the people in a special election this fall, the measure needs a two-thirds vote, or approval of 91 representatives. That's five more than voted to pass the bill.

Rep. Osee Fagan, Alachua, a proponent of speedy advancement of higher education in the state, said he would work throughout the night to get the five votes needed to okay the Senate-passed bill.

Bryant, who earlier Wednesday won his $38 million cigarette tax battle in the Senate, said he hoped he could muster enough votes to push through the plan on second try.

He said that two members who had been counted on for "yea" votes were not present Wednesday when the tally was taken. This and the 13-member Republican delegation in the House, he said killed the bill.

The governor and many legislators have warned that the defeat of the bond plan would put the state in such dire need for finances to back the record $387 million spending program and could result in an across-the-board sales tax including groceries. Bryant has indicated he will not pass any grocery tax.

The governor's cigarette tax hike of three cents on a package shot through the Senate easily although it was amended and sent back to the House for approval of the change.

The Senate changed the tax measure, which shaves revenue from five to eight cents a package, to raise the discount given wholesalers from 3.125 to five per cent.

North Orlando Association Begins Work On Celebration

By Mona Grinstead

Actual work on a Fourth of July celebration for the Village of North Orlando got underway Monday night at the regular meeting of the North Orlando Civic Assn.

Tickets for the chicken barbecue, which will be one of the main events, were distributed by Mrs. Anton Kreeck and are now available from any member of the association.

Dinners will come at bargain prices for adults and children under 12 years of age.

Reports on donated articles received for the public auction were given by Chuck Rowell who advised that members of the association will make door-to-door collections for items to be used in this project during the last three days in June.

Those wishing to donate articles before this time can arrange for pickup service by contacting Rowell.

Plans were made for contacting all organizations in the community and the Village Council asking that each handle a booth with proceeds going to the association.

Members gratefully accepted the offer from Bruce Dean, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Dean, to serve as organist to provide music for the celebration and Mrs. Earl Achord and Mrs. James Snyder agreed to serve on the Beauty Contest committee. A chairman still is needed for these events.

Contests will be staged to name a Little Miss and Little Mister.

Homemakers

By Mrs. H. L. Johnson

Hello. Now that school is out the future homemakers can prepare some fancy dishes once in a while. Here's a dish that is quick and easy to fix. It's called Pineapple Bean Bake.

2 (1-lb.) cans baked beans in tomato sauce

1 tbsp. minced onion

1 tsp. horseradish

1 tsp. prepared mustard

2 (1-lb.) cans pineapple slices

2 tbsps. brown sugar

1 tsp. butter or margarine

2 (1-lb.) cans corned beef hash

Combine beans, onion, horseradish and mustard in shallow baking pan. Slice corned beef hash into 8 slices; arrange pineapple slices on top of beans. Sprinkle with brown sugar, dot with butter. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees) 25 minutes. Serves 4.

Or how about this Palo Chicken Dinner?

1. Have ready four 18 by 12-inch pieces heavy aluminum foil, 3 cups cooked rice, 1 cup dried onion soup mix, 1 cut-up chicken (2 1/2-3 lbs.), 1/2 cup evaporated milk and 4 tps. margarine or butter.

2. Put a fourth of the rice in center of each piece of foil. Sprinkle a tablespoon of onion soup mix over each. Put chicken pieces on rice. On each pour 2 tbsps. milk, sprinkle 1 tbsps. onion mix, place 1 tsp. butter.

3. Bring together the short two sides of each piece of foil; fold under twice. Then fold up ends to seal tightly. Place on cookie sheet. Bake near center of 350 degree oven 1 hour, 15 minutes. Serve right in foil packages.

Or this: Fancy Franks.

Thread cocktail franks on wooden skewers, placing 1 frank on each skewer between 2 pineapple chunks. Mix equal amounts of preparation; brush on franks and pineapple chunks. Broil or cook over coals until sizzling hot. Serve with split, toasted rolls.

Truthseekers Meet At Chapman Home

Members of the Truthseekers Sunday School Class of First Methodist Church met at the home of Mrs. W. P. Chapman for a covered dish luncheon. The attractive home was decorated with arrangements of day lilies and other spring flowers.

A short business meeting was held preceding the luncheon, with Mrs. R. W. Rurner president presiding. Mrs. T. E. Wilson led the devotions and read a poem entitled "Two Golden Days."

A very interesting letter from Miss Virginia Chapman was read. She is presently serving as a missionary in Uruguay. This was the last meeting of the group until after the summer months.

About 40 members and guests were present for an inspirational and enjoyable day.

Mark Of The Commie

What is a Communist?
 We ought to ask that again, because this label is being pinned on some people in this country more than at any time since the McCarthy era of the 1950s.

Communism over civil rights, economic justice, welfare programs, almost anything, can easily end up with somebody shouting at somebody else.

"What are you, a Communist or something?"
 To answer the question: What is a Communist?
 You can begin, of course, by citing avowed members of the Communist party.

You may presume there are a considerable number of secret members, not to mention actual professional spies working for the Soviet Union. By the very nature of their purposes, they are not likely to wear red light bulbs over their heads.

You can add identifiable persons who, while avoiding party membership, nevertheless unmistakably serve the party's goals—as dictated by Moscow.

Beyond these levels, identification becomes tricky and presumption dangerous.

For example, the Reds often try to adopt as their own a flock of foreign and domestic proposals which may sound roughly with programs advanced by legitimate political parties in the free democracies.

As practiced under Moscow's guidance, this device is a conscious fraud. Its aim is to gain for communism an identity with certain causes the Kremlin believes to be either popular or provocative in the free countries.

People in free lands who let the Reds get away with this nonsense are just playing Moscow's game.

It could lead us to such absurdities as having to oppose highway safety and better libraries because the Communists may say they favor them.

You don't prove a man is a Communist because he says he favors six or eight or ten American-born programs the Communist Party also pretends it wants for the country.

Programs in the Communist world are mere stratagems.

It is more fundamental to remember that a Communist is a person of totalitarian mentality. Whatever his programs of the moment, he is a man who:

- Brooks no opposition from any quarter, whether school, church, business community, other political party or what not.
- Wants not simply to defeat his rivals but to crush and eliminate them. Rule or ruin is the game.
- In support of these purposes, seeks to control both the thought and the action so that only his ideas, policies and programs exist.
- Would bend every power element in society—every agency of the government and the economy—to this overriding goal.

Let this distinctively marked shoe fit where it will.

"What Makes You Think I'm Interested?"

Dr. Crane's Worry Clinic

Larry is like millions of babies. For he made quite a scene at the dinner table. So his irate daddy then tried to use force in building up Larry's fondness for spinach. But forced feeding backfires. Scarpbook this case or mail it to all young parents.

CASE P-458: Larry L. aged one year, offers a common problem.

"Dr. Crane," his worried mother began, "Larry hates spinach. He screams if I even offer him a spoonful.

"When I first started him on spinach, he screamed up his mouth at the first bite and finally spit it out.

"So his daddy decided to take over. He gave him another spoonful.

"Larry again rolled the spinach around on his tongue and then spit it out. But this time some of it squirted upon his daddy's white shirt.

"Well, his daddy then got angry and vowed he'd make Larry swallow some spinach. So he held Larry's nose and forced a big spoonful into his mouth.

"Larry had to swallow it in order to breathe, but he grew violently angry and began to scream in rage.

"Now I can't even get near his mouth with spinach. So how can a mother persuade her baby to try new foods?"

We adults usually regard fried chicken, T-bone steak, shrimp, etc., as luxuries.

They make our mouth water in anticipation. But at the outset, they were drab, neutral taste qualities and not at all attractive.

For our experiments with babies show that no food EXCEPT SUGAR has any positive charm at the first bite.

Most of the other menu items are simply neutral tastes. A baby doesn't like them nor does he dislike them.

But a few taste qualities are actually disliked, such as red peppers because they burn. So how is it possible to take a neutral original taste quality and make it a delicacy?

Here's how all of our food appetites develop! First, the baby likes sugar.

And its milk contains sugar. So its joy in getting warm, sweet milk quickly spreads to the mother who furnishes the milk.

Thus, the baby soon will smile in glee at the very sight of Mamma.

Since Daddy is often present, too, this pleasure then overflows to include Daddy and even extends to the older brothers and sisters.

If they will then conspire to put the baby into a gleeful, happy mood when he first tastes any strange food, soon this happy emotional state will "transfer" to that new food.

We call this "positive conditioning" in modern psychology.

If you take a grammar school boy to a fancy restaurant and asked him for his meat order, what does he select?

"I want a hot dog!" he usually exclaims, disdainful friend chicken, steak and other menu items that tempt us oldsters.

Why does that hot dog taste so special? For when you try a hot dog on a baby or a toddler, the child disdainfully as a neutral flavor.

But hot dogs soon become associated with picnics, excursions, outdoor running and romping, beach parties and freedom from city apartment restraints.

So the hot dog soon becomes fused with all those delightful emotions of the picnic situation.

Later, the boy relishes the hot dog more than chicken or steak, for when he bites into that hot dog, he is really resurrecting scores of pleasant past experiences.

The hot dog now symbolizes delight. But the reverse is true when you angrily "force" new foods on a baby, as Larry's daddy did.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Peter Edson Political Notebook

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—This World Food Congress which brought 1,200 delegates from 100 countries to Washington June 4-18 for an attack on the problems of hidden hunger may be one of the most important international conferences ever held. It could have far-reaching influences on human welfare and happiness.

It really will be the 20th anniversary conference of the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization. FAO was organized at Hot Springs, Va., in 1943 to plan for postwar agricultural rehabilitation. FAO really predated the UN itself, which was born two years later and held its first session in 1946.

Now headquartered in Rome, FAO inaugurated a five-year Freedom From Hunger campaign in 1960. This was to be a self-help program—not a relief or welfare give-away but have nations to have notes.

The Washington congress comes at midpoint in that campaign to assess results so far and to plan for the future—the short range up to 1980 and the longer range up to 2000 A.D.

All members of the United Nations are invited to send delegates to this congress. That leaves out Red China, of course, which probably has the world's worst food shortage.

The United States is the host government but the unofficial host's role is carried by a private citizens' organization, the U. S. Freedom From Hunger Foundation, as a people-to-people program. Ex-President Harry Truman is honorary chairman of the foundation, James S. Patton of Farmers Union its president, Thomas M. Ware of International Minerals and Chemicals Corp. its vice president and general chairman of the World Food Congress committee.

When it became apparent that many of the smaller, less developed countries might not be able to send adequate delegations to Washington, Thomas C. Butler, president of the Grand Union Co., and chairman of the foundation's finance committee raised funds from private industry which paid the expenses of 83 delegates from 60 developing countries.

Many delegates brought their wives but 92 women are present as delegates in their own right—about half of them from the United States. Among the prominent foreign women on the program are Mexico's first lady, Dona Eva Samano de Lopez Mateos; Mrs. Flora Askivi, wife of Nigeria's prime minister, and Princess Souvanna Phouma of Laos. Mrs. Orville Freeman is chairman of the women's hospitality committee. She has rounded up a bevy of cabinet and other high officials' wives as hostesses.

An important item on the hospitality program is a planned dinner and evening in a typical American home for every delegate and his wife.

Eighteen tours have been arranged out of Washington into New England, the Carolinas, Tennessee Valley and the midwestern states where there are extensive farming operations.

Practically all the 100 countries participating have issued special postage stamps commemorating the event.

One feature of the program will be U. S. Postmaster General J. Edward Day's dedication of the American Freedom From Hunger Stamp.

Working sessions of the congress will be held in the State Department's international conference room, which is wired and equipped to handle simultaneous translations from the three official languages, English, French and Spanish. An opening night reception for all delegates and guests in the State Department's John Quincy Adams room should be the most colorful social event in Washington since the astronauts first were honored.

Dick West Says Who's Gonna Wash Dishes?

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Somebody has got to wash the dishes. There's no getting around that.

Let us keep this in mind as we proceed now to look further into the question of whether American women are victims of a conspiracy to keep them "trapped in and less and empty housewifery."

In a recent debate before the Women's National Press Club, here, a strong case for the affirmative was presented by Mrs. Betty Friedan, author of a new book entitled "The Feminine Mystique."

What I regard as an equally strong case for the negative was made by Robert Stein, editor of Redbook Magazine and one of the targets of Mrs. Friedan's attack.

It was the balanced weight of the two arguments that I found disturbing. If this thing ends in a tie, the sink is going to get awfully full.

As I understand Mrs. Friedan, she passionately believes that women should not have a choice between homemaking and a career. They should have both. Mrs. Friedan charged that women's magazines, such as the one edited by Stein, are trying to sell the ladies a bill of goods on staying at home to empty the ashtrays rather than working a 9-to-5 shift at the poolhall.

Or, as she put it, "taking a full and equal place in society." Stein said that wasn't so. He agreed "it's wrong to try to convince every woman that she will find fulfillment in practicing a profession or pursuing a career."

All of this started me wondering why it is that such discussions always involved the woman's place in home versus career.

Doesn't anyone ever worry over whether a man can successfully mix marriage with a career?

In all my life I have never heard of a man giving up a job to get married. Oftentimes, the opposite is true.

The magazines seem to take it for granted that men are capable of holding down a job without interference with their roles as husbands and fathers.

We men may foster this illusion to keep from having to do the dishes, but down deep in our hearts we know it isn't true.

I myself probably would be president of General Motors today were it not for the fact that I chose to devote myself to my family instead.

I'm not complaining one bit. I just think the magazines should be more understanding, that's all.

Phil Newsom Says . . . Big Job Cut Out For Him

Aldo Moro is a tall, shy, big-boned man of 46 who has been given the job of forming a new Italian government in time for President Kennedy's scheduled visit to Italy in June.

President Antonio Segni's appointment of Moro was in keeping with the state of Italian politics because Moro is noted as a compromiser. In the hodge-podge of Italy's political parties it will take a compromiser if the country is to avoid chaos.

The government he is being called upon to head is to replace the left-of-center regime of Amintore Fanfani, who has been widely blamed for heavy Christian Democratic losses in the April elections and correspondingly impressive gains by the Communists.

Moro's fate will depend largely upon his negotiations with Pietro Nenni's left-wing Socialists, whose passive support also was the keystone of the Fanfani government. Moro's first attempt will aim at a government which also will be left of center.

The question will be just how far left.

The Fanfani government's nationalization of the power industry frightened some industrialists and was blamed for some reduction in private investment.

Other, less drastic, measure taken by the CDU-Socialist allies included an old-age pension plan for housewives, some minor tax reforms and an increase in the age for compulsory schooling from 11 to 14 years.

In the last campaign, Nenni demanded a wider degree of regional self-government, controls on ownership of homesites and other land, a definite program of economic planning, and agricultural and school reforms.

The Socialists once bitter foes of NATO, agreed to take a neutral stand toward that alliance providing the government missed no chance to press for world peace and some kind of accommodation with the Communist world.

As secretary general of the Christian Democratic party, Moro had a large hand in swinging a large majority of the party in January 1962, behind a left-of-center policy and an "opening to the left."

He has, however, managed to escape blame for April's election results, most of which fell on Fanfani.

Three Sanford Men Elected Directors Of Florida Heart

Ernest Southward, Dr. Luis M. Perez and Dr. Robert W. Rosemond, all of Sanford, were elected to the board of directors of the Florida Heart Association during the group's annual meeting recently, according to Edward Simon, president of the Seminole-DeBary Heart Council. Southward, in addition, was elected chairman of the board of the association.

A graduate of Seminole High School, the University of Florida and John B. Stetson University, Southward has been one of the council's most active members, and was its first president. He has been a member of the association's board of directors for three years and is a member of its legal and legislative, nominating, finance, personnel policies, budget and long term planning and policy committees. He serves as chairman of the executive committee.

Builders Gooft To The Tune Of $200,000

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress may spend as much as $200,000 cutting extra doors through the walls in the new $70 million House Office Building.

Apparently, nobody noticed that an additional door would be needed in each of the 169 suites until some samples were put on display recently.

By that time it was too late to say "oops" and start over. The major portion of the building, a part of a $131.5 million House office expansion program, had already been completed.

When the contractor was consulted, he advised House officials that it would cost between $150,000 and $200,000 to provide doors where the blueprints called for built-in metal filing cabinets.

The House Office Building Commission, perhaps wishing to avoid further criticism of the controversial structure, then decided against going ahead with the portal project on a wholesale basis.

However, in testimony released today by a House appropriations subcommittee, Capitol architect J. George Stewart indicated that the doors would be opened piecemeal for House members who requested it.

"If any member moves into the new building and wants a doorway cut through, I am sure every effort will be made to accommodate his personal wishes," Stewart told the subcommittee.

All $1 Bills To Be Replaced With New

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy Wednesday signed a bill that permits the government to go ahead with plans to replace all $1 bills now in circulation with a new kind of bill.

The currency change-over will "unfreeze" big stocks of government-owned silver that must be held now for backing of the present $1 bills which are called "silver certificates."

The new bills will be backed by one-fourth of their value in gold and will be "Federal Reserve notes." The currency change-over probably will not take place until late 1964 or 1965.

It will avoid need for the Treasury to move into a high-priced market to buy silver bullion to make coins. Rapid development of a huge vending machine business has aggravated a steadily increasing demand for coins.

The price of silver bullion has soared in response to increasing consumption by silvermiths, photographers and industry. With world coin shipments outrunning production, the price has climbed 35 cents an ounce in 18 months to a level close to the established U. S. "monetary value" of about $1.29 an ounce.

If the government were forced to buy silver bullion for coinage the added market demand could push the price above $1.29 an ounce. It then would be difficult to keep the present $1 bills in circulation because holders would find it worthwhile at that price to exchange the $1 bill at the Treasury for its silver backing.

And if the market price climbed above the $1.38 monetary value of silver coins, it would then be profitable to melt down coins for the silver in them.

The new law would avoid those dangers.

Replacement of the existing $1 bills will release to the Treasury 1.3 billion ounces of silver now held as backing for them. The government already has started replacing $300 million worth of silver-backed $5 and $10 bills with serve notes.

But until Wednesday it had gold-backed Federal Reserve authority to issue $1 Federal Reserve notes. The legislation also permits issuance for the first time of $2 Federal Reserve notes although few are likely to be issued.

Repealing major provisions of the Silver Purchase Act of 1934 which was enacted to aid Western miners by raising prices of silver from depression levels.

Nancy Schnering's SKI SCHOOL

Water skiing is growing so fast it is impossible to say accurately how many are actually enjoying the sport in this country. While you're saying a figure, it jumps up. The latest reliable estimate I've heard is seven million.

The sport is within reach of just about anybody who is within reach of a sizable body of water.

Water skiing requires a minimum of equipment, none of which is priced out of sight. You don't have to own a boat. You may have a friend who does. You can ski from behind all sorts of craft, from speed boats to outboard-powered house boats.

Even if you don't have a friend with a boat, you can ski. There are 500 or more organized water ski clubs in the country. Most of them have boats and some community equipment, which the beginner can use while he's learning the basics from experienced skiers and having a fine time in congenial company in the process.

Water skiing is thrilling and spectacular, yet as safe as any participation sport if you follow the rules and take a few basic precautions. It is a sport for both sexes and all ages. Some boys and girls I know started before they could swim, which is not a

NANCY SCHNERING "In congenial company" recommended practice.

I know an 80-year-old gentleman who is as chipper as anyone you ever saw on the water.

E. Banks Out Of Slump

By United Press International
It may be about time to take the Chicago Cubs seriously because it's sure time to make light of stories that Ernie Banks is over the hill.

The Cubs, who haven't won a National League pennant since 1945 and haven't been in the first division since 1946, are tied for second place with the St. Louis Cardinals only one game behind the faltering San Francisco Giants.

They've won four straight and 10 of their last 13 games, including Wednesday's 9-5 and 5-4 victories over the Giants.

It would be a bo-hum matter for rival NL teams except for the fact that the 32-year-old Banks—mired in the worst slump of his career for the first seven weeks of the season—is swinging that whip-like bat again like the man who's averaged 33 homers a season for 10 years.

Ernie couldn't buy a hit for one agonizing spell, going 1-for-28 and 0-for-22 in a slump that benched him and suggested that his career as a star might be over.

But a short rest on the bench apparently was all the ace needed because he's bounced back with nine hits in 19 tries in his last five games. He went 4-for-8 with two homers Wednesday when the Cubs achieved their first sweep of the season and dealt the Giants their seventh loss in 10 games.

The Philadelphia Phillies jolted the St. Louis Cardinals 6-0, the Los Angeles Dodgers whipped the Houston Colts 8-1, the Pittsburgh Pirates swept the Cincinnati Reds 8-4 and 4-3, and the Milwaukee Braves downed the New York Mets 11-9, in 10 innings in other NL games.

Track Feud Under Study

NEW YORK (UPI)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur and the United States Track and Field Federation pondered ramifications today of the most recent outbreak of hostilities between the AAU and NCAA.

MacArthur, mediator for the disputing amateur sports bodies, has been asked by the Amateur Athletic Union to rule on a demand that sanction be received for track and field meets from the USTFF, a National Collegiate Athletic Association affiliate.

The USTFF in all probability will make the issue a top point on its agenda when it meets in Houston, Tex., this weekend in connection with the organization's first outdoor championship meet.

Griffith Tries For Third Win

NEW YORK (UPI)—Love and a left hook will make Emile Griffith the ring's first three-time welterweight champion Saturday night, the twice former 117-pound ruler said today.

The prospective bridegroom, 25, will try to recapture the welter crown from champion Luis Rodriguez in their nationally televised return title fight at Madison Square Garden.

THE DISCIPLE

Chateaugay, Favored At Belmont, Proving To Be A Problem Child

NEW YORK (UPI)—Chateaugay, the one horse given a fair shot at upsetting Citation in the $125,000 Belmont Stakes on Saturday, gets another important workout today and this time he'll have some company.

The Kentucky Derby winner, who has proven something of a problem child in recent days, surprised trainer Jim Conway and other observers Wednesday when he refused to finish a scheduled six-furlong workout at Aqueduct, the site of the Belmont.

After covering three furlongs in :36 2/5 under regular jockey Braulio Baeza, Chateaugay slowed down almost to a trot and resisted all attempts to get him moving again.

"Baeza said the horse didn't seem to want to work by himself," Conway said. "He ran all right for three-eighths and then pinned his ears back. Maybe it's the strange track."

Conway said that there was nothing physically wrong with his star three-year-old and added "We're going to try again Thursday. I'm going to try and get a horse to work with him and we'll go a half-mile. Baeza will work him again, but it will be at Belmont."

Candy Spots, whose only career loss came to Chateaugay in the Kentucky Derby but who then rallied for a brilliant victory in the Preakness two weeks ago, looked sharp again in a morning workout and was being quoted as low as 25 in the early line.

Luck Is Good To Yanks

By United Press International
Yankee luck!
That's what rival American Leaguers call it and sometimes you have to wonder because it seems that even when they lose they win.

Take Wednesday night when they lost the services of three-time Most Valuable Player Mickey Mantle for three weeks to a month. Disaster? Possibly in the future but not right now. Because the Yankees not only beat the Baltimore Orioles 4-3, despite the loss of Mantle, but also regained possession of first place.

What's more, they scored the winning run on a tap back to the pitcher's mound that should have resulted in an in-ning-ending double play. No wonder American Leaguers insist somebody up there loves 'em!

The critical play came with the bases filled and one out in the eighth inning. The score was tied at 3-3 and Yogi Berra was making one of his infrequent appearances as a pinch-hitter. He tapped the ball back to the mound and Stu Miller fired it to catcher Dick Brown for the forecourt at the plate.

So far, so good but in another instant so long, Orioles. Because, Tom Tresh, running from third base, jarred the ball out of Brown's hand as he prepared for the relay to first base. The ball squirted loose and in another second or two Roger Maris went chugging over the plate—all the way from second base—with the winning run.

But pitched his way out of numerous jams and wound up with his seventh win against three losses.

Jackie Brandt and Brooks Robinson homered for the Orioles but Maris achieved a milestone when he hit No. 200 of his career for the Yankees.

The Los Angeles Angels beat the Chicago White Sox 8-2 after a 3-0 defeat, the Minnesota Twins defeated the Kansas City Athletics 4-0, and the Detroit Tigers topped the Cleveland Indians 5-4 in other AL action. The Boston-Washington game was rained out.

Time Stands Still

Quimet And The Country Club Make Old-Timers Look Good

BOSTON (NEA)—The farther away old sports figures get, the bigger they look. They are seen in the flattering light of distance. In most cases it's an optical illusion.

In the case of Francis DeSales Quimet, however, there is no hocus-pocus. Quimet, who was 70 May 8, steadily grew in stature as he receded into time. Quimet makes old golf champions look good — from Willie Anderson to Bobby Jones and down through Johnny McDermott, Walter Hagen, Jerome D. Travers, Chick Evans, Long Jim Barnes and Gene Sarazen.

In a sense, time has stood still at The Country Club in Brookline, Mass., site of the 63rd United States Open Championship June 30-22. Generally speaking, the course is the same as it was in 1913, when the then 20-year-old Quimet walked across the street from his home to beat the British Masters, Harry Vardon and Big Ted Ray, and put golf on Page One in this country.

Quimet, then a caddy, shot 72 to beat Vardon and Ray in the rain in the memorable playoff. Playing off under ideal conditions for the same championship at Oakmont a year ago, Jack Nicklaus had a 71, Arnold Palmer a 74.

Quimet played with hickory shafts, had no precision instruments. The ball wasn't nearly as lively or true. The rough was rougher. There were no scientific methods of treating greens. They were nothing more than green thumb jobs, as the gardener would say. Now courses have superintendents, many of whom are agronomists.

Perhaps the most extraordinary thing about The Country Club course is that it remains a championship test after 50 years. It is rolling except for the first and last two or three holes. It is wooded and the greens are small. The course could very well have been transplanted from Great Britain because advantages were taken of the terrain. Too many American courses appear artificial.

The key to the 6,870-yard par 71 The Country Club course is four par 4s from 420 to 470 yards in length immediately after the turn.

Quimet, as chipper and gracious as ever, also makes it

JACK NICKLAUS "Knows way around"

seem as though time has stood still at The Country Club. The grand man who rose from caddy to Captain of the Royal and Ancient Golf Club of St. Andrews, and, in addition to the Open won U. S. Amateurs 17 years apart, still goes to banking business in Boston. He will grace the Open with his presence daily. Jack Nicklaus, the defending champion, knows his way around The Country Club course. As a brilliant teenager, the Columbus Strong Boy advanced to the fourth round of the 1937 Amateur there.

But the story of this year's Open is the link with the glorious past provided by Francis Quimet and The Country Club.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I'm no kid (33) and have had enough experience in this line to know better, but I am in a jam. I started seeing a young woman (she is 25) and we hit it off fine. You know, Abby, when the lights are low a guy makes a lot of "campaign promises," and I guess I did tell her we'd be married in the future. Well, what does this dizzy dame do but go out and buy herself an "engagement ring." She took it to the office where we both work and announced our "engagement." She's telling everybody we'll be married around Thanksgiving. We did talk about it, but I wasn't that definite. I really don't want to marry her or anybody else at the moment. What do I do now?

DEAR ABBY: I am a girl who is almost 12 years old and my mother never told me the "facts of life". How can I get her to tell me soon? If she finds out I already know, she will kill me.

DEAR ABBY: For crying out loud, if you use this letter, don't use my name or I'll never hear the end of it. I am a man almost 40. I sell for a living and do very well because I'm a good talker. I use the telephone instead of writing because, believe it or not, I can't spell. I have tried to look up words in the dictionary to see how they are spelled, but how can you find a word in the dictionary if you can't spell it?

NO SIGNATURE

DEAR NO SIGNATURE: Look up the word the way you THINK it should be spelled. If you can't find it, look up a synonym (a word which means the same thing)—and you'll probably run into it. If you don't have any luck—just call up somebody and ask him! P.S. Start with "dictionary."

DEAR ABBY: I am a girl who is almost 12 years old and my mother never told me the "facts of life". How can I get her to tell me soon? If she finds out I already know, she will kill me.

DEAR SHOULD: Come right out and tell your mother exactly what you know. This will give her an opportunity to correct any wrong information you have received, and to answer any questions you would like to ask her. If you are a normal young lady, you will probably have several.

CONFIDENTIAL TO ANDY: "What it costs to maintain one vice could bring up two children." (Franklin)

We The Women:

By Ruth Millett

When the proud owners of a new home show you through the rooms and around the grounds, they often say, almost apologetically, "Of course, there are so many things we have to do in the place—but we can't do them all at once."

Talkathon

LAWRENCE, Kan. (NEA) — Yul Yost, Kansas' 32-year-old shot-putter, speaks seven languages.

The first was Slovenian, one of three languages of his native Yugoslavia. When Hitler annexed that part of Yugoslavia, Slovenian was forbidden. Yost, then 10, was forced to learn German. In Tito's army after World War II, Serbo-Croatian was the official language. Yost learned it at officers' training school and drilled himself in French. When the Communists took over, Russian became the official foreign language in the school system. When Yost defected to Portugal he gave himself a crash course in Portuguese and gained a knowledge of Spanish. He learned English listening to baseball broadcasts on Armed Forces short wave radio and through the British Broadcasting Corporation.

But that is really the fun of owning a home of your own. There are always things to be done, changes to be made, mistakes to be realized and corrected.

Houses have to grow and change just as people do. A house that started out "perfect" with every stick of furniture just right and every shrub in exactly the ideal location wouldn't really be much of a challenge.

You can't improve on perfection. If your house suited you exactly "as-is", it wouldn't give you much to think about or to plan for or to wait for.

Favored In Pace

WESTBURY, N. Y. (UPI) — Irvin Paul, holder of the world pacing records for a mile and one-quarter and for two miles, heads the entries for the $25,000 Adios Butler Cup at Roosevelt Raceway Friday night.

So don't feel apologetic because the patio that is going to be "right here" some day may not take shape for some time, or because the furniture you are making-do with isn't what you intend to have some day.

You may change every one of those ideas before your house is ever complete. Or you may eventually do all you plan, and a whole lot more.

The important thing is: the house is yours—to grow along with your family, to keep pace with the lives you are leading, to keep your creative talents busy at work planning and doing and sometimes contriving.

Jacoby On Bridge

By Oswald Jacoby

One of the most important differences between modern bidding and did-fashioned bidding is the concept of the suit overcall.

Even ten years ago it was customary to consider the simple overall as being a hand with a fair amount of playing strength, but little or no game going possibilities.

Thus when today's hand was played at the Cavendish Club back in 1936 the bidding went as shown in the box.

It never occurred to West

NORTH		EAST

SOUTH (D)		NORTH
♠ 10 9 8	♥ 10 9 8	♠ 10 9 8	♥ 10 9 8

would up making an easy spade game.

With modern bidding methods, West would have raised his partner's overall to two. This immediate raise is exactly the same as the raise of an opening spade bid. It does not really invite game, but allows for the possibility that the overall might have been made with a pretty good hand.

Of course, once West raises to two spades East can afford to go right to game. His good hand has been further improved by knowledge that his king of hearts is likely to be well placed.

Tenn. Beefing Up Its Trout

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — The Tennessee Game and Fish Commission is putting its hatchery trout through a physical education course before releasing the fish in the streams and rivers.

Time was when fishermen turned up their noses at pallid, livered weak-muscled hatchery trout. Twenty years' research into the genetics of fish culture and diet has changed that.

"No troutier worthy of the name could enjoy landing a fish that couldn't whip its way out of a wet paper bag," said Bob Burch, an official of the Game and Fish Commission. "They're being fed a new type food that gives them the pink trout-tasting meat and the trout fighting quality."

Burch said trout grown to the proper size in the hatcheries are put into long "raceways" before being freed. A fast moving current in the raceways makes the fish keep up a constant battle and tones their muscles for future combat against fishermen.

"Unlike the hatchery-fed fish of a few years ago," Burch said, "today's put-and-take fish are in many respects as good or better than some produced under natural conditions."

Lyman DE Students Have Social Event

By Jane Casselberry
The students in Distributive Education Classes at Lyman High School climaxed the academic year with two social events held recently.

On Sunday, May 27, DE students and their dates held an outing at the Lake Harney Camp of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Peacock, parents of Johnny Peacock, member of the group.

Those attending enjoyed swimming, water skiing and a wicker roast. They were chaperoned by the Peacocks and Mr. and Mrs. Dan Coleman. Mrs. Coleman is DE coordinator at Lyman.

The other event took place last Thursday when the current DE Class entertained next year's students at a Pancake Supper held at the Pancake House in Winter Park.

Charles Kern, head of the delegation to the state convention who recently was honored as outstanding DE student of the year at Lyman, was master of ceremonies.

Several students explained the DE program to the newcomers and told them what they could expect next year.

Awards were given to the students who attended the state convention held in Jacksonville. Receiving these awards were Margaret Walker, Charles Myles, Glenn Huber and Frankie Johnson. Eugene Jackson received an award for his project folder at the convention.

The DE Club presented Mrs. Coleman with a lovely corsage.

Other members present at the supper were Pam Ausley, Tom Cannon, Larry Dill, Dan Grindle, Ricky Parker, John Peacock, Charlene Pennington, Jeff Schembera, Ralph Smith and Danny Woods.

New students attending were Kenneth Britain, Brenda Babbit, Sharon Glone, Linda Wills, Linda Duncan, Vickie Brandes and Sandra Kendall.

DE students attend classes in the morning and work at their various jobs in the afternoon. They are required to take two academic subjects and two periods of distributive education which includes a course on general merchandising and individual study related to their specific job.

In addition to teaching the DE classes, their coordinator, Mrs. Coleman, serves as a guide and counselor as well as a go-between for the students and the employer.

Each student is graded regularly by the employer on the way he does his work as well as on his attitude.

Graduates May Enter 'Miss Flame' Contest

By Donna Estes
Announcement was made today that all Seminole County girls from the ninth grade through the 12th grade, including this year's graduates, are eligible to enter the Miss Flame of Seminole County Beauty Contest.

The contest is being sponsored by the Longwood Volunteer Fire Dept. and will be a featured attraction of the volunteer's annual Fourth of July Fiesta.

Carl Lommier, contest chairman, said that he also had been notified by C. P. Bennett, president of the Florida State Firemen's Assn., that the winner of the event will be eligible to compete in the state association's Miss Flame contest to be held next spring.

Lommier urged all girls wishing to enter the local event to pick up rules and application blanks from their area fire departments as soon as possible so that they can be submitted before the deadline which has been extended until June 15.

Civic Assn. Installs New Officers

Leadership of the North Orlando Civic Assn. was officially turned over to Roy Burke, new president, with a handshake and congratulations from Stewart Helmy, outgoing president, at Monday night's meeting of the group held in the North Orlando Co. offices.

Members present extended a vote of thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Helmy for all they have done during the past year for the association. Mrs. Helmy has served as secretary during the past four months and, after reading minutes of the May meeting Monday night, turned the job over to incoming secretary, Mrs. Billy Ryburn of Coronado Homes.

A letter of resignation was read from Mrs. James Grinstead who was elected first vice president, after which Chuck Rowell was elected to fill the office.

Other officers taking over Monday night included Joe Hage, second vice president and Bill Ryan, treasurer. Helmy, speaking briefly after the new officers were duly recognized, advised that the committee chairmen are just as important, if not more so, than elected officers and urged those present to serve a committee well if appointed.

Burke requested that all standing committees remain effective until after the upcoming Fourth of July celebration after which new members will be appointed.

Ryan reminded the membership that dues are payable beginning with the July meeting.

Several students explained the DE program to the newcomers and told them what they could expect next year.

Awards were given to the students who attended the state convention held in Jacksonville. Receiving these awards were Margaret Walker, Charles Myles, Glenn Huber and Frankie Johnson. Eugene Jackson received an award for his project folder at the convention.

The DE Club presented Mrs. Coleman with a lovely corsage.

In addition to teaching the DE classes, their coordinator, Mrs. Coleman, serves as a guide and counselor as well as a go-between for the students and the employer.

Each student is graded regularly by the employer on the way he does his work as well as on his attitude.

Kennedy To Meet Politicos

ABOARD USS KITTY HAWK (UPI) — President Kennedy, after another round of naval weapons demonstrations in the Mojave Desert, planned a carefully protected venture today in the tangled world of California Democratic party politics.

Following an overnight cruise aboard the USS Kitty Hawk, an 80,000-ton guided missile attack aircraft carrier, Kennedy was scheduled to fly ashore at 1 p.m. (EDT).

His destination was the China Lake naval ordnance testing station at China Lake, Calif., a vast experimental installation on the edge of the hot Mojave Desert.

Moving again by helicopter, the President planned to hop from China Lake to the Beverly Hills Hotel in Beverly Hills, Calif.

At the hotel tonight, Kennedy will attend a closed dinner given in his honor by the President's Club of Los Angeles, an organization of those whose common bond was having contributed $1,000 or more to the Democratic party this year.

The dinner will be closed to the press, Kennedy planned to visit around from table to table with the top contributors, presumably using them to keep up the good work, particularly contributions to the party war chest for the 1964 elections.

Solons Continue Search

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The search for $170 million to $200 million in new tax funds resumed today in the wake of legislative approval of a constitutional amendment that would authorize the state to borrow up to $75 million for higher education expansion.

The Senate Finance Committee, which had been holding up major tax measures until the borrowing program was approved, went to work at 8 a. m. on measures ranging from a slightly broadened three per cent sales tax to an across-the-board tax covering everything except prescription drugs.

The House reconvened at 10 a. m., the Senate at 11 a. m.

Sen. John Mathews, of Jacksonville, said approval of the program to borrow part of the money needed for construction through sale of bonds slightly decreased the amount of new taxes that will be needed.

He figured the Legislature could get by on $170 million in new tax revenue. Others, principally pushers of the grocery tax, disagreed and said $200 million was the bare-bones amount that must be voted.

Still undecided is the fate of a three cent package increase in the cigarette tax, which has passed both houses but in slightly different form. A conference committee may have to be named to iron out the differences over how much rebate dealers will get for the trouble of affixing tax stamps on each package.

The House voted them a 3.1 per cent rebate. The Senate raised this to five per cent and the House refused to take it.

Senate President Wilson Carraway said completion of action Thursday on the bond financing program assured that the Legislature can wind up its extended revenue session next week.

The measure, which must be voted on by the people later this year, had several brushes with death.

After clearing the Senate, it was killed by the House on Wednesday, then resurrected, amended to make it more palatable to opponents and passed on Thursday.

Incorporate, Is Advice To Lake Mary

By Frances Wester
County Commissioner John Fitzpatrick Thursday night told members of the Lake Mary Chamber of Commerce "the solution to all problems in Lake Mary is very simple... incorporate."

After dropping this bombshell, Fitzpatrick went on to say, "Sure, taxes will be raised. They have to be to get improvement but only a two or three mill levy will take care of the raise."

"Levy your own taxes, get the cigarette taxes now going to Tallahassee and get all the other benefits you cannot get now."

Chamber president Richard Keogh warned that if the community incorporated Loch Arbor would be included to which Fitzpatrick replied, "That's alright with me."

An open floor discussion of the subject later took place during the business session of the chamber's regular meeting with a motion made and carried to appoint a committee to study feasibility of incorporation. Appointment of this committee will be made by the C of C board of directors who meet next Thursday night.

Asked if there is any chance of getting a road onto 14 from Lake Mary, Fitzpatrick replied, "Definitely... but you are asking for it now and as yet you have no road to it. A clay type road is planned at this time and you will get it. But we need a hard surface road and to build it the county needs money and it needs rights of way. The Lake Mary Chamber can help by getting these rights of way then the county can go ahead with plans to extend Lake Mary Blvd. through the town west to Markham Road and east to Hwy. 17-92."

"When we get this, we can go back to the State Road Dept with a request that will mean something," he advised.

The commissioner then went on to another "fat problem," as he termed it, by reminding that at present there are no provisions for drainage or sewerage in Lake Mary.

"The community is growing and there is a greater need now than ever before for both," he said, stressing again, "if you are going to have all of these improvements, you will have to pay more taxes."

Other problems discussed included the need for signal lights at railroad crossings, additional sidewalks, cleaning up ditches and public parks, the desirability of straightening two sharp turns on Country Club Road and conditions of clay roads in and leading to the community.

Purchase Bid Turned Down

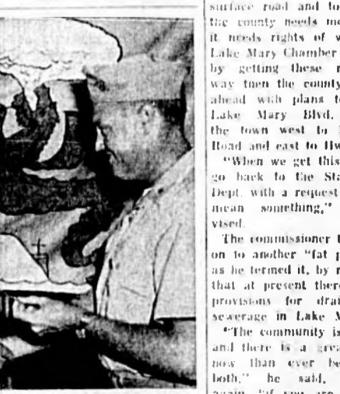

Minutes of a previous meeting read at Thursday night's monthly meeting of the Longwood City Council revealed that the city last month had approached Mrs. Bobbie Jo Hunt concerning the present City Hall property and that she had refused to sell or donate the property to the city.

Plans now are underway for Longwood to build and move into a new City Hall after which time the building and property now in use will revert back to Mrs. Hunt. Council, however, wishes to buy the corner location in order to keep all city operations in one general area.

Decision was made by council to ask the Florida Public Utilities Commission to make a study of telephone rates in the area after marked differences in rates between nearby Altamonte Springs and Longwood were discussed.

Study especially will be requested on differences in costs for a private line which runs almost twice as much in Longwood as in Altamonte.

After the singing of the Alma Mater, the seniors rolled for the first time this year in their caps and gowns marched out to the playing of "War March of the Priests" by the Seminole High School Band.

Gary To Keep Mayor's Post Under Ruling

Lee Gary may retain both his elective positions—mayor of Oviedo and County Commissioner—according to an opinion received today from Attorney General Richard W. Ervin.

Gary requested State Rep. S. J. Davis Jr. to investigate a new law aimed at one party seeking more than one elective post.

The attorney general held that "it would appear that it was the intent of this act to prohibit candidates for any office from seeking more than one office at the same election. As written the bill applies to candidates for municipal, county, state and federal offices where the term or any portion of the term of the two offices sought might run concurrently."

Ervin continued that "presumably, this law was enacted to prohibit such things as we had when Jim Fair ran for state senator, state representative, Florida Railroad and Public Utilities Commission, and clerk of the Criminal Court of Record of Hillsborough County all at the same time."

However, Ervin said, "I do not believe" the law "would prohibit a person now holding a municipal office from seeking a county office where he did not have to run for both offices in the same election even though, in such an instance, parts of the terms would overlap."

When applied of the new law, Gary said, if necessary, he would resign as mayor of Oviedo and retain his County Commissioner post. However, under Ervin's opinion, he will retain both positions.

Cordell graduated from Seminole High School in 1958 and attended Andrews College where he was president of the freshman class before transferring later to the University of Florida.

At Florida he was a member of the ATO fraternity. Jim is the younger brother of Capt. Terry Cordell, famed Ranger captain who was killed when his helicopter was shot down in Viet Nam.

That HHFA representative from Atlanta is due in here most any day now, according to a letter received today by City Manager Pete Knowles. He will pass on the local situation, whether Sanford needs a port terminal and whether HHFA will grant a $10,000 loan for a feasibility study.

Funny thing, though, Pete reports HHFA still anxious to collect a $7,900 loan made to the City 15 years ago for a feasibility study for a sewage disposal system. Those plans were junked and, according to the law, the City is not required to repay that loan. If the City had used those plans, it would have been required to repay. (Present disposal system being built under plans paid for by the City.)

In effect, HHFA is hinting that "no port terminal loan if you don't repay that old $7,900 loan."

Lake Mary residents are asking the questions: Who is responsible for mowing the grass at the beach? Say they can't get a responsible answer from any responsible party.

"Don't call us... we'll call you" is the word from Pete Knowles about the City mosquito spraying operation. City employees have started spraying evenings between 8 p. m. and 2 a. m. Pete asks residents not to call about spraying... it's going on nightly.

Carl A. Lommier, of Longwood, has been elected to a three-year term as a member of the board of directors of the United Fund of Seminole County.

The UF directors have accepted the Good Samaritan Home for elderly Negroes, 804 Mulberry Avenue, as a participating agency and will be included in the fall campaign. The colored people of Sanford long have supported the UF and this is the first time that an agency devoted exclusively to the welfare of our colored population has been included in UF.

City fathers continuing their educational tour of City facilities. Commissioners Thursday visited the recreation department, parks building and the zoo to observe their operations. Soon will have to replace the parks building. Present building was part of the package deal for the new military academy.

Registration for swimming lessons in Casselberry will be held from 9 until noon this Saturday at the fire station instead of on Monday as previously announced in the "Check." Classes scheduled to get underway in Lake Griffin at the Birkenmeyer home next Tuesday morning for the children and that evening for the adults.

Five popicles were given to Lake Mary children getting out of school Thursday by the I.G.A. Food Mart. We understand more than 10 dozen were passed out.

Our genial friend George Touhy over at First Federal is getting to be quite in demand as a speaker—recently at the All Sports Banquet and now commencement address at Lynn High School. With his background in radio announcing, George has the vocabulary, style and delivery to do a real good job at that sort of thing.

Warning to drivers: Watch out for the kids! There are 14,000 of them out of school now so you have to look out for them all day instead of just opening and closing hours.

Warning to kids: Watch out for cars! Cross only at the intersections after looking both ways. And please stay together on the same side of the street, instead of splitting up so that drivers have to negotiate between you and try to watch both sides at once.
