

Constable Disagrees With School Official

By JANE CASSELLBERRY

A decision on the status of the Good Samaritan Home of Sanford was postponed until next Thursday at 2 p. m. after members of the board of directors, state and county officials and other interested persons were "left waiting at the church" yesterday afternoon.

Ronald Burton, official of the State Department of Health and Rehabilitation was detained in Daytona when his car broke down and could not make the scheduled meeting at Free Will Holiness Church adjacent to the home.

Encouraging words were heard, however, from State Fire Marshal C. W. Pherson and County Sanitarian Val Robbins concerning the future of this "institution with a heart."

County Commission Chairman John Alexander will make a strong pitch, and gain the support of the Regional Planning Council, for a cross state road.

Thank goodness the bill is aimed at SR 46 from No. 441 straight through Sanford and continuing on to U.S. No. 1.

All of this will take place during that important road meeting in Orlando next week. Good luck.

An interesting observation on the Thompson trial... reports have been written that only two persons have been occupying the space in the reserved section for friends and the family of Mrs. Thompson... perhaps it's due to practically all in the category receiving summons? and aren't permitted in the courtroom during the selections for the jury?

WTR's Bill Beck says there'll be a terrific program on drugs, narrated by Art Linkletter, over their station this Sunday at 6:00 p.m. Just might be a good thing for the Moms and Dads to listen to, eh?

11-Man, 1-Woman Jury Sworn In Mabel Thompson Trial Opens

By BILL SCOTT

An 11-man, one-woman jury was seated shortly before noon today by Circuit Judge E. Thom Rumberger to determine the fate of 26-year-old Mabel Frances Thompson, mother of four, on trial for her life in the fatal shooting of her fireman-husband, Hobby Joe Thompson, 32.

Attorneys were to present their opening arguments after luncheon. It was expected the state would call its first witnesses this afternoon.

The jury selection was completed shortly before 11 a.m., when State attorney Abbott Herking and Defense Attorney Mack Cleveland Jr. selected 11 men and one woman on the jury. The jury was sworn by Judge Rumberger.

Previously chosen to serve on the jury were Scott L. Blaser, North Orlando carpenter; George Alford Pottinger, Winter Park Telephone Company installer from Altamonte Springs; Anna G. Byrnes, widowed grandmother from Sanford; Robert E. Upland, Casselberry postman; Edward Ray Simpson, Altamonte Springs lawyer; Russell E. Cox, self-employed house cleaner from Eastbrook; Carl L. Johns, Martin-Marietta employe from Casselberry; James L. Henry, photo lab technician from Eagle Lake; David R. Bailey, Altamonte Springs refrigeration mechanic; and Edward Joseph Adamkiewicz, Martin-Marietta employe from Lakeview.

Nursing Home Gets Anonymous Offer

McPherson said he could not speak for Burton but as far as the fire marshal's office is concerned, "evidence of good faith" is shown that an effort being made to provide facilities that meet the fire safety standards the home could be allowed to continue in the present facility on a temporary basis. Maximum extensions of six months are being granted, he stated.

Albert Pitts, trustee for the building fund, revealed that there is an anonymous donor from Jacksonville who will contribute $25,000 if an equivalent amount is raised locally.

McPherson explained to the group that there is no way in which the present frame buildings, which have served for 29 years, could be corrected to this "institution with a heart."

SEMINOLE'S NEWEST ADDITION

ENTRY AKERS, President of Water Bonnet, Inc. (center) manufacturer of marine accessories, points to an architect's drawing of the 112,000 square foot facility under construction in Casselberry. Frank Foley (left), Executive Vice President, announced that over 250 persons will be employed as soon as the construction is completed, with this total climbing to 500. John Krider (right), Executive Manager of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce played a key role in locating the industry in this area.

Geo. Touhy Joins Retirement Rolls

By FRED VAN PELT

George Touhy, long a kingly in the operations and growth of Seminole County, today stepped down as executive vice president of First Federal Savings and Loan Association. He became operating officer of the thrift firm in October 1961, when assets totaled $2.48 million. Assets today have reached $27.4 million.

Interested in community welfare and development, Touhy has served in several civic capacities. He was president of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce in 1956, is now its president once again. (The association is now named the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce.)

As a director, Touhy served on many of the chamber's committees. He was co-chairman with Douglas Stenstrom of the effort that gained approval of the original bond issue for Seminole Memorial Hospital and its financial support by the Bert Fish estate.

As general chairman of the semi-centennial celebration of Seminole County's founding, Touhy spearheaded an effort that resulted in a full day of activities attended by more than 45,000 persons. This topped the huge Veterans' Day festivities that he led in 1946 and at which more than 5,000 were fed at a noon barbecue.

The chamber's metro telephone effort, chaired by Touhy, resulted in the joining of the county under one toll-free system.

Other civic activities include service as financial secretary of the Boy Scouts, past president and director of the Seminole County Tuberculosis and Health Association, director of the Fernand Laughton Memorial Hospital, original president of the Mental Health Association, organizing president of the United Fund, with continued service as one of its directors.

Touhy is president and director of the Central Florida Division of the state executive committee and its state treasurer. He served for many years as a director of the Sanford Rotary Club and as its president in 1949-50. During that time he attended many district conferences and is now serving on several committees of this court and of the Synod of Florida.

The local club recently awarded Touhy a plaque and pin tab in recognition of 25 years of perfect attendance.

As one of the organizers of the Sanford-Seminole Development Company, Touhy has been secretary and one of its directors. He was a vigorous proponent of the waterfront development that resulted in Holiday Isle. He was one of the early proponents of the Port of Sanford and was one of the advocates of Sanford (Bram) Towers for retirees. As an early supporter of the East Central Florida Regional Planning Council, he watched it grow into a vital force in this area. He also is a member of the expanding organization of First Federal S & L headed by J. E. Stridger III, succeeding Touhy; Gilbert T. Edmonds, assistant vice president; M. S. Maxine, Eberm, secretary-treasurer; and Mica Barbara Brown, assistant secretary-treasurer.

The schedule:

Rank III (teachers with bachelor's degrees) - $7,000; three years, under contract, $8,100; seven years, $9,500; 10 years, $10,640; and 15 years, $12,320. Leyer's salary committee was set up last October at the request of School Supt. John Angel. The study includes non-instructional personnel as well as teachers and administrators.

"Five basic factors were considered by the committee in forming these recommendations," said Leyer to the attentive audience. They include: 1-A county-by-county comparison in Central Florida, as well as comparisons in various locations throughout the state and the United States; 2-The local and nationwide increase in the cost of living; 3-The pattern of wages outside of the education profession; 4-A

Ready For Sins

By REV. LEROY D. SOPER, Holy Cross Episcopal Church.

We approach this theme in an odd sort of way. There are a lot of things which we do not do a second thought which we considered completely wrong not too long ago. And yet, on the other hand, a great many of us seem to have a sort of guilty feeling which separates us from our friends and from our God. It is as if our puritanical upbringing were coming into a sharp conflict with the permissiveness of the age and leaving us not knowing where we stand or what we stand for.

I have pondered for a long time the resolution to this conflict. It seems as though there are two ways out. One, which seems fairly attractive to a lot of folks, is simply to ignore that still voice of conscience. This approach says that you go ahead and do as you please and let the resolution to the conflict, St. John, writing in his first Epistle, says, "My children, in writing this to you my purpose is that you should not commit sin. But if anyone should commit sin, we have one to plead our cause with the Father, Jesus Christ, and He is just. He is Himself the remedy for the defilement of our sin, and not our sins only, but the sins of all the world."

This is a mighty comforting word to me. I realize that if I am God's child I am not to do anything that is wrong. On the other hand, I realize that I am human and always have the ability to choose for God or against Him, any time I want to. I have a tendency to do things that are contrary to the will of God, and these things are the things which are the things which will separate us from Him. I'll grant you God demands an awful lot of us. He has given us the Ten Commandments and told us to obey them. He has, through His Son, given us the Sermon on the Mount which tells us that we have to obey the Ten Commandments not just in letter, but in spirit. He has told us not only to avoid evil, but to work good. He has commanded us to love, and this can be hard to do. We go against God's rules even when we never actually do a wrong, but when we just think wrongly. We go against God when we hate or get angry or just plain don't do right.

Frankly, nobody could really obey these laws of love by himself. We need help. Fortunately, we are not alone. God has shown to the life of Jesus that even though we do have this awful tendency to be willful and sinful, still He stands right in there with us. As Jesus put it, "I am with you always." Thank be to God!

Still, we do find ourselves guilty as charged frequently. We do have this sense of isolation which needs to be overcome. And this is the time to remember St. John's words, that if we commit a sin, Jesus Christ will plead our cause for us before God the Father.

Perhaps we need to draw the similarity between this situation, and the courts of law. If we are accused of doing something against the criminal law we hire a lawyer and go before a judge and jury. The case is tried, and we are found or given a punishment. In the case of sinfulness, our case comes before the great Judge, God. We may as well face it that none of us would be willing to face Him because we are not worthy. Yet we can enter this heavenly court because our advocate there will be God's Son, Jesus Christ. He will be our lawyer. It is the perfect lawyer who will present our defense before the heavenly judge.

This is a considerable comfort, but if we still feel guilty, it is perhaps not enough. The full answer is to be found in that next sentence of John's where he says that Jesus is the remedy for our sin. He will take upon Himself the burden of our sins. He will pay the punishment Himself. He already has upon the Cross.

This, then, is the remedy for the guilt we so often feel. Christ is the answer. He is the remedy for the defilement of our sin, and not only our sin, but the sins of the whole world.

Editorial Comment

Nixon's State Of The Nation' Raises New Goals

President Nixon has raised a standard which stresses the "quality" of life and not the "quantity" and invited all Americans, including the Congress, to emulate it.

In time and import it was a reminder of another time and another president when our nation was in the depths of material depression and F.D.R. blasted new governmental paths and renaissance spirit.

What President Nixon seemed to be implying was that now, in the 1970s, our nation was caught in a moral and spiritual depression which is overdue for reversal.

Again and again he talked about improving the "quality of life" in terms of bold steps to hold in check, to combat crime and to meet the pressing challenge of environmental control with no delay.

This was the first Nixon "State Of The Nation" speech. It was also a first-of-its kind. It broke with tradition in handling broad issues and not getting down to specifics.

Delivered when political forces are gathering for the critical mid-term elections, there was a minimum of definable political thrusts.

The assembly of the joint houses of Congress was not left off seat-free. The confident and smiling Republican president referred to the failure of the Democratic controlled Congress to get such important bills as those dealing with crime control in its desk for signatures.

But he also broke new ground in emphasizing that the challenge in the 70s was very much in the direction of accomplishing governmental reform.

Redirecting the flow of governmental power from the usual village-to-Washington route into the opposite which would bring a more localizing of methods as well as means was another guideline to the Nixon thinking.

But from his opening remarks when he strode to the podium, handed copies of his speech to Speaker John McCormack and Vice President Spiro Agnew, it was evident that the President had something to say which he was convinced merited more than cursory attention.

Satisfied with the progress in bringing about an end of the Vietnam war, encouraged by new contacts with the Soviet Russians and the Red Chinese, he left a more detailed statement on foreign affairs for a later time.

Domestic programs will be in for a very hard-headed appraisal. The Nixon administration will avoid putting "good money into bad programs."

But there will be $10 billion put into the anti-pollution program and it will have as its main goal the purification of our waters.

The instrument to be used will be the installation of modern municipal waste processes "to make our waters clean."

Listening to and reading the words of the address do, of course, have political interpretations.

The reduction of broad issues to the realm of personal action and his bold declaration for a change of emphasis from the importance of material wealth to the search for "quality" is a move which, we are sure, will find a welcome in the ranks of all Americans of every political persuasion.

MT Streamliners

A classic incongruity of the present era is the frequent spectacle of a jam-packed auto freeway running parallel to a set of railroad tracks on which a streamliner is speeding along tracks on a vacant burn.

To an observant motorist the brief glimpse of pullman, lounge cars, white-jacketed porters and flowers on the dining tables - but no passengers - is a haunting experience. Yet, it is an experience that occurs countless times a day.

The empty streamliner is damning evidence of something wrong with our national transportation regulatory policies. Many of these money-losing passenger trains - continue to run their lonely courses because the law says they must - even though the cost of going so is becoming an unaffordable burden to the railroads.

A leader in the rail industry has described in congressional testimony just what it is costing a service to maintain streamliner service for the same period. The rail spokesman in the first months of 1969, financial losses attributable to the streamliner operation, totaled $1,770,000 - nearly double the net income of this one railroad for the same period. The rail spokesman is among the growing ranks of those who now feel that if money-losing passenger trains must be kept running, the government should reimburse the rail industry for out-of-pocket losses.

The cost of passenger train operations should be considered as no different than expenditures for highways, waterways and airports. As Thomas M. Goodfellow, head of the Association of American Railroads, expresses it: "If rail passenger service is essential to the solution of our overall public transportation problem, then the railroads deserve equal consideration with other modes in government policy dealing with the matter."

US - Red China Diplomacy

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
The Warsaw meeting between United States and Red Chinese diplomats is but one example of vast changes which have occurred during the last 10 years and possible new opportunities that will arise in the decade of the 70's.

Ambassador to Poland Walter J. Stoessel said he found the first formal contact in two years with Red China "useful" and suggested others would follow.

In Peking in this first month of the new decade, the Soviet Union and Red China resumed discussion of their 106-year-old border dispute in an atmosphere of acrimony and stalemate.

Crane's Worry Clinic:

Hope For "Wedding Walrus"

By GEORGE W. CRANE,
Ph. D., M. D.
CASE M-221: Charley Crawford has served as the general executive vice president of the Charlotte Chamber of Commerce.

"Dr. Crane," Nina Hathaway informed me, "I am sure you never realize all the positive results that you generate in your column."

"So here is a clipping from the Charlotte News."

"It shows the remarkable change in appearance of Charles Crawford after he had used your 'depression diet'."

That I saw a clever news story by Emory Winter, staff writer for the News.

It is it had run a picture of Charley "before" and "after" going on the diet which I occasionally mention in this column.

"I dropped from 192 to 158 pounds," Charley stated.

"And it was Dr. Crane's column in the Charlotte News that showed me the way."

Charley had tried to use medical pills to top off weight but they had made him so nervous his physician finally told him to quit taking them and try to diet on his own.

Charley was 5'10" so he knew he was overweight at 192 and wisely decided to slenderize.

"For obesity places a greater load on your faithful heart, which is why fat people, as well as smokers, shorten their lifespan very definitely."

For example, each 5 pounds of surplus fat forces your heart to pump 50 to 100 extra gallons of blood through your system each day.

And even a layman realizes that it requires far more pressure to maintain a flow of water in every additional 5 miles of city water mains.

Charley's heart was so compelled to pump blood through his system that he had extra blood vessels when he weighed 192.

An extra demand on the heart causes your blood pressure to rise and also makes the heart beat faster.

Thus, higher potential pressure in two ways, for it adds an extra beat or two each minute.

And those 74 beats per minute may be against a systolic pressure of 135 instead of 125 millimeters of mercury blood pressure.

Now that Charley has lost his surplus weight, his heart is able to catch a couple of "heart" minutes every minute, just as night.

Please remember, too, that the ONLY rest your heart ever obtains is in those split-second rests between beats!

So the fewer beats per minute the more rest periods or "vacations" your faithful motor organs.

Your other muscles may rest and relax for 8 hours at night. Or you may slump down in a chair and give your leg muscles a 5-minute vacation during the day.

And by lowering your blood pressure you are giving your heart a special rest each time it beats, for then it does not need to force the blood through an extra pressure in your "pipes."

And at 158 lbs. Charley, you also regain a far more rest period in your life's decline as early.

Girls, remember that fat women are much less seductive in why they are rarely sexually attracted!

"I said for my fiancee 'I live on a diet of 10 pounds in 30 days,' enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents. (Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to save typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)"

Hal Boyle Says:

Marriage Shows True Colors!

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) - As every wife finds out in time, a man is an actor during courtship. He takes marriage to show him his true colors.

Before the wedding there was nothing he wouldn't do for her. Now if he asks him to go to the store for an item she forgot he delivers an impassioned half-hour monologue on why do I have to do everything around here?

Lightly he picked her up in his arms and carried her across the threshold of their new home the night before. He says he would be wonderful if he had a family of five children. When she reminds him of that now, he replies, "Yeah, but I said five kids - not five monsters."

He spits his salary on her like a prostitute king in that vanquished time when she showed him her wit and brains and wanted to buy her champagne every Saturday night. But what happens when she asks him for a small check to buy a bargain-basement dress? "Didn't your parents teach you that money doesn't grow on trees?" he moans.

Then he loved to listen to her and said her voice reminded him of soft music. Now if she even opens her mouth, he puts his fingers in his ears and says, "Oh, oh-who turned on Niagara Falls?"

Sometimes when alone she wonders whatever happened to the warm-hearted lover of the youth who always came to her aid with flowers in his hand. Now all he has in his hand is a pound of bacon.

But it isn't her fault. A husband, after all, is only a savior who has gone to seed.

Soviet Headache

By DON OAKLEY
A recent story in the Soviet newspaper Sel'skaya Zhizn (Rural Life) provides a honest example of what the Marxist are up against.

It seems that on Khabarovsk Yulishchev of the city of Tannoy in central Russia heard that collective farmers had surplus pomatoes left over after sales to the state but had no time to get them to the city.

With the ingenuity that animates the guy who has the gleam of a fast buck (or ruble) in his eye, Yulishchev was able to bring more than 1,000 pomatoes into Tannov and saw them selling them in the free market at three rubles a kilo, instead of the official exchange rate of 50 rubles per kilo, or about 28¢ at the official exchange rate.

But a market official noticed his haul more conspicuous than he could have grown on the small plot each Soviet citizen is allowed to cultivate. It's legal, he says, but he must sell only to eat, not for a profit.

Yulishchev fled town as the cops moved in to confiscate his pomatoes.

Ocean-Going Nation Given The Ax

MIAMI (AP) - In an era when man's insatiable conquest of land has turned to planets and stars, two groups dreamed of creating a country out of a coral dot submerged in the Atlantic four miles off the shore of the United States.

Thursday a federal appeals court in New Orleans squelched hopes of a new nation, which both groups had pursued since 1964.

"The Grand Capri Republic," which was to come to life on a coral waste which lies 20 feet below the Atlantic surface near the deep blue waters of the Gulf Stream "must perish, like the lost continent Atlantis," beneath the waves and waters of the sea which constantly submerged the reefs, said the 10th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

The court, which called the plan "fantastic," found that Triumph and Long Reef, with eight of Florida's heavily populated Gulf Coast, are part of the continental shelf and therefore are subject to United States jurisdiction.

Atlantic Development Corp., Ltd. and Louis M. Ray and the Acme General Contractors, Ltd. laid claims to the reefs, and filed the appeal to overturn an earlier decision which ruled the companies had no right to develop the land.

The district court suit was filed by the United States, alleging that the dredging material in building canals on the reefs was causing irreparable injury.

The latest ruling clears the way for the federal government to propose adding the two reefs, which lie at the entrance of Biscayne Bay, to the plans for Iandisla National Park.

The evidence overwhelming, it shows that the government has a vital interest, from practical as well as an aesthetic viewpoint, in preserving the reefs for public use and enjoyment.

Kirk Takes School Issue To U. S. High Court

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Gov. Claude Kirk, already pushed into court to defend his integration blocking efforts, flew to Washington to file new papers with the U.S. Supreme Court today.

His aide refused to give details, but said Kirk would "file additional papers in connection with the court's desegregation order."

Kirk was hauled into court at Miami Thursday to defend his threat to issue an executive order to prevent compliance with a court order requiring Florida school boards with a Feb. 1 integration edict from the U.S. Supreme Court. Florida's Bay and Alachua counties are among districts in five southern states ordered to mix blacks and whites by Feb. 1.

Kirk told U.S. Dist. Judge Clyde Atkins a mid-term change will cause black and white students to look upon one another with "fear and resentment."

"This attitude need not be permitted to further develop if a more rational deadline can be arrived at," Kirk said. "Many children consider the classroom a second home and the teacher a second parent."

The Dade County School Board asked the court to make Kirk a co-defendant for fear it would get caught between a court demand and executive decree.

"I'm glad I was included," the governor said. "From now on, I intend to be a buffer between school boards and the courts."

Atkins made a decision Thursday over whether to compel Dade County schools to integrate Feb. 1 or next September.

He took the case under advisement.

At Orlando, however, U.S. Dist. Judge George C. Young surprised the school board by filing modified freedom of choice serve as the integration recipe.

Young signed an order forcing the county to provide transportation for any Negro child who wants to transfer to a white school. He said this, coupled with faculty integration, would correct the deficiencies in the court's mixing efforts.

Students Held For Forced Labor

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) - Three Negro students accused of using a gun to make white students fear the school board were arrested at the University of Florida Thursday.

Two charges of aggravated assault were filed against Ronald James Jackson, 18, of Palm Beach County, Earl Jerome Wilcox, 19, of Ben Hill, Ga., and Joseph Edward McCloud, 18, of Belton, Tex.

Alachua County Sheriff's Capt. Ron Stanley said the three were arrested on complaints filed by two white students, Bruce G. Schwack and Robert L. Westwell.

The arrested youths were held in the Alachua County Jail in lieu of $2,000 bond each.

"We do expect additional arrests," Stanley said.

Westwell said today he had met with police and other officials throughout Thursday.

"I want to quell any doubts that this was a trumped up charge," he said. "Since blacks and whites live on the campus, I never did happen, because of this accusation I have talked to the campus radio station to make sure there is no doubt the incident did occur."

"During the incident I was definitely afraid, because they had a gun," Westwell said. "Now all I want to do is rest and forget about it."

Florida President Stephen C. O'Connell issued a statement which said "A group of six or seven males of college age walked four male student residents of Tolbert Hall and by threat of firearms forced the four students to clean the hallways in the dormitory."

O'Connell said the incident occurred Tuesday night on the fifth floor of Tolbert Hall. Both blacks and whites live on the floor.

There are about 160 Negroes among the 31,000 Florida students.

O'Connell ordered stricter security measures in dormitories after the incident was reported, but he would not give details of the new measures.

The president said the university's investigation of the incident was still going on and said "if the facts warrant, the university will bring charges for violations of university regulations against any student involved."

O'Connell added: "This does not constitute a crisis on this campus and none will be permitted to occur."

MIAMI (AP) - One day last week U.S. District Judge C. Atkins based himself with the dreary task of peeling a bumper sticker off his aging sedan. The sticker demanded: "Impatch C. Clyde Atkins."

For the first time in his 34-year career as an attorney and federal judge, Atkins has felt the firmness of a bench and black gavel as shields against hate.

Now Atkins is wrestling with the problem of whether to order Dade County schools integrated Feb. 1 or next September. He made Gov. Claude Kirk a co-defendant with the Dade County School Board and Thursday he put Atkins to speak out for 25 minutes.

Atkins then took the case under advisement, delaying a ruling.

Regardless of how he rules, however, there will be no more desegregation of Florida schools. He spent much time reading about the law.

"I'm going to use an unbroken line of precedent," Atkins said. "I had kind of a fetish against doing that."

The controversial cases have been dropped on Atkins by chance. The case load is divided among six federal judges here with all the rough ones," a lawyer sympathized.

Before the schools case, Atkins ordered the City of Miami to let post Allen Ginsberg finish a reading that was ended by a strike against National Airlines by mechanics.

"I've tried to take it in stride," Atkins said in an interview. "It's easy to be mislead when I'm frustrated. A little bit. Particularly when the criticism is for the wrong reasons. I'm going to let the law be the law."

He was born in Washington, D.C., but lived in Chattanooga, Tenn. He was seven when his family moved to Miami. The son of a strongly Roman Catholic mother and a strongly Southern Baptist father, Atkins and his three younger brothers attended the Catholic Church.

Frequently Atkins uses brief periods of freedom from courtrooms to stroll three blocks to downtown Geu Catholic Church - where he was married in 1937 for meditation.

Fighting Seminoles Travel To Meet Mighty Mustangs

By GARY TAYLOR
Herald Sports Writer

The Seminole High basketball five, under the leadership of Coach Jim Mills, will travel to Merritt Island tomorrow night to battle the talented and surprising Merritt Island Mustangs.

The Seminoles, 8-4 on the season, were originally scheduled to play this game at home December 21. But due to the football playoffs it was changed and the other game with the Mustangs, the last game of the season, February 26, will be at home.

The Mustangs are unpredictable. They lost to Oviedo and then lost to Eau Gallie, by a season against Apopka, when 22-point landslide. But in a turn-around, they came back to defeat the same team by 20 points. The Mustangs use a full-court zone press defense.

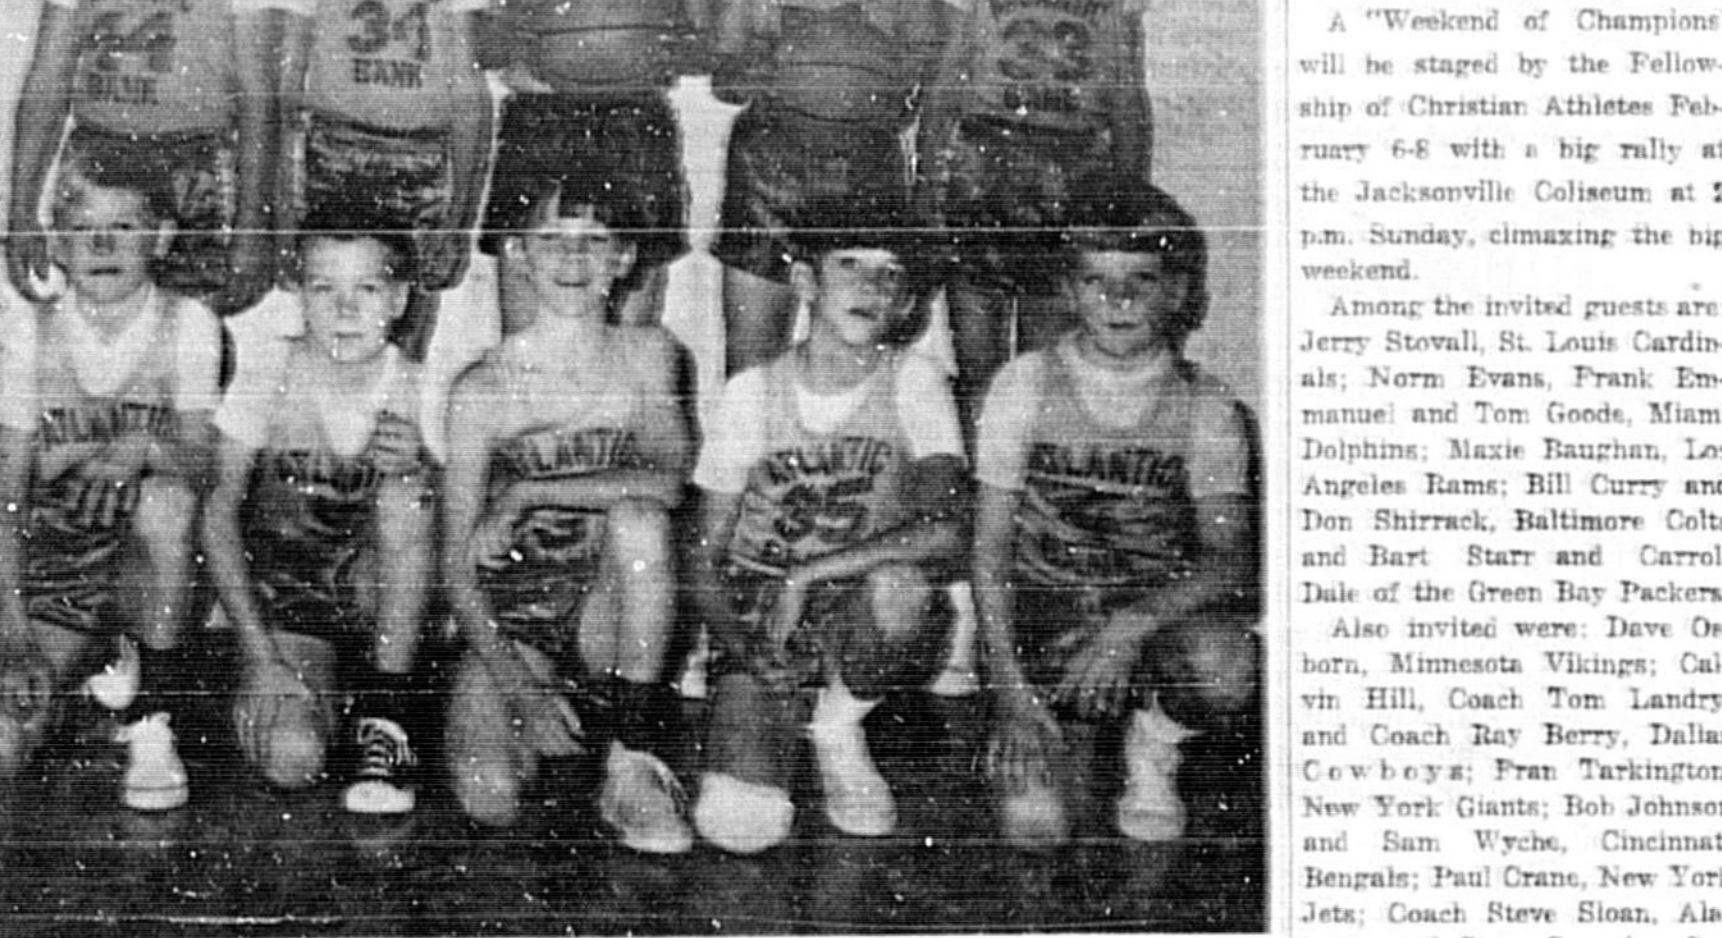

"He's coming along faster than I expected," commented Mills, adding, "he's having a little trouble with his shooting." The Seminoles, who captured their first six games, are looking for number nine as they make the long trip. It is the start of a three-game road series with the Seminoles also traveling to Lynn and Apopka.

During his absence, Ricky Smith and Mike Richards at the front of the Seminoles and with all three of them alternating now. Tommy Danks, who has steadily outside back at the other guard side, will be in front on Seminoles.

The Seminoles have Bill Parker back in the starting line up and he has seen considerable action in the last three contests. Parker fractured his wrist in the third game of the season against Apopka, when he crashed into the wall at the Merritt Island High Gym.

WASHINGTON (AP) — In January the draft tried to call only lottery numbers under 30; but for February the sky—or No. 369—is the limit.

A spokesman said the Selective Service System has decided not to impose, or even suggest, any upper limit to the draft lottery numbers which may be called to meet the February draft quota.

Asked whether a post-draft ceiling might be restricted in the future, he said it appeared doubtful.

But Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, who has headed the draft system since 1961, will be replaced Feb. 16, and his still-unnamed successor could alter the plans.

Last Dec. 1, a lottery drawing was held matching the birth dates of the nation's draft-age men with a chart of numbers from one to 366—for each day of the year including Leap Year's Feb. 29.

Draft boards were to meet their calls by summoning men with the lowest numbers first, within each board's individual pool of men.

But this raised the possibility that local conditions might force some boards to call relatively high numbers up the list while

Coffee Export Tax Hike Proposed

ROCA RATON, Fla. (AP) — Brazilian coffee industry officials met informally with U.S. Agriculture negotiators here Tuesday and discussed modification of a proposed hike in export taxes on Brazilian soluble coffee.

The U.S. Agriculture officials said they would discuss anything about coffee prices at this time.

However, another NCA official said contact with the Brazilians and U.S. Agriculture officials led him to believe the two countries had reached a "partial compromise" during the private talks.

G. H. Cavalcante, a member of the Brazilian delegation said Tuesday his group was attending the 59th annual convention of the NCA "as social guests" and denied the Brazilians were participating in any meetings.

Jaime Miranda, President of the Brazilian Coffee Institute (Instituto Brasileiro do Cafe), also with the group, was unavailable for comment.

The convention ended Wednesday with the appointment of seven new members to the NCA board of directors, including Chairman Andrew A. Sobitz, Sam Israel, Jr., chairman of the NCA's foreign affairs committee, said the U.S. Government has been asked to recommend coffee quotas be raised from the current 32 million bags, but NCA officials appear to be against any increase although the government is said to be sympathetic towards such a hike.

Pentagon Planners Predict... Cut-Back Army Divisions

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Some Pentagon planners forecast the Army will be cut about three divisions below current authorized strength by 1972 as the United States gradually sheds its "soldierman to the world" role.

This reduction, to 14 and two thirds divisions, would carry the Army almost back to where it was when the Kennedy administration took over nine years ago.

Some planners predict the Army will be down to 11 or 12 divisions within three years.

This, it is believed, will be accompanied by a gradual pull-back of most U.S. troops from South Korea and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization area, as well as disengagement from Vietnam.

Army and Marine leaders believe that over the next several years, this country's ground forces will be concentrated in a U.S.-based central reserve, to be sent abroad only where necessary.

Robert S. McNamara, then secretary of Defense, told Congress in January 1962 this country's nonnuclear land, sea, and air forces had to be strengthened "if we are to have the capability to respond promptly to limited wars in any part of the globe, and possibly in more than one place at the same time."

The Nixon administration, with the Vietnam war, expects to minimize its strategic commitment of U.S. ground forces abroad in the future.

As U.S. troops are gradually withdrawn from the Vietnam war, the Nixon administration has set in motion a reduction of U.S. forces.

The Nixon administration has pledged to maintain its present combat troop commitment in South Korea, totaling some 55,000 men, and its level of about 230,000 in Europe over the next 18 months.

Would Intensify Struggle Against Crime President Pleads: 'Make Peace With Nature'

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Political Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has summoned Democratic Congress and a watching nation to join in an effort to "make our peace with nature." Intensely the struggle against crime and stick with him in dealing with the Vietnam war.

The President presented those priorities Thursday in his first State of the Union message, a 36-minute speech abridged from what was once a two-hour, 10-minute draft.

Charting goals but few specifics, the President, the Republican Party leader, said a Nixon program to combat water pollution will top the list.

That one is likely to reach Congress within two or three weeks, Nixon said. It will be a five-year, $10-billion program to build all the municipal waste treatment plants needed in the nation.

The President called it the most comprehensive and costly pollution control program in American history.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine said the commitment was reassuring—but the leading Democratic spokesman on environment estimated it would cost $25 billion in federal funds to deal with municipal wastes over the next five years.

"It's given us another cry of alarm, but he hasn't given us anything to deal with," said the Maine senator, who is rated a likely contender for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1972.

Nixon said the budget he will send to Congress by early February will be in balance, for the sake of combating inflation.

He said spending programs are politically popular, but an inflation-wracked economy cannot afford them.

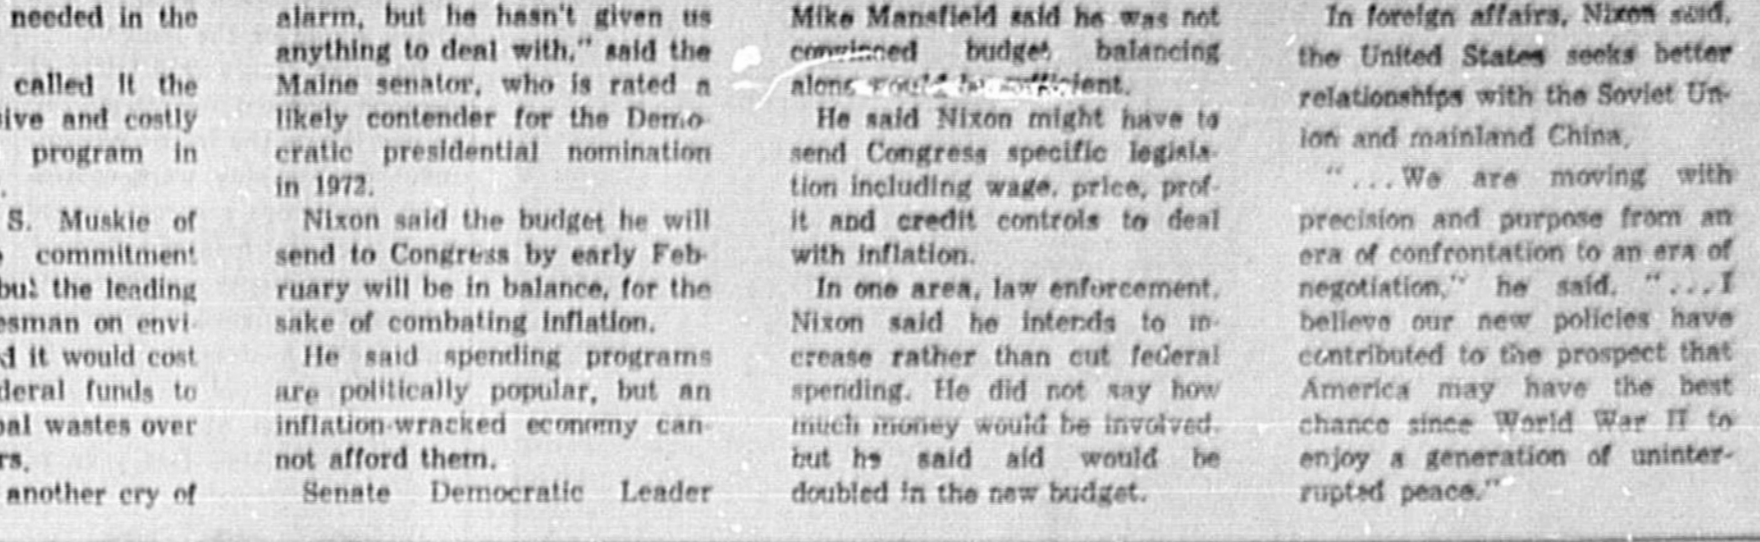

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he was not convinced the budget balancing effort was a "game plan."

He said Nixon might have to send Congress specific legislation including wage, price, profit, and credit controls to deal with inflation.

In one area, law enforcement, Nixon said he intends to increase rather than cut federal spending. He did not say how much money would be involved, but he said it would be double in the new budget.

In foreign affairs, Nixon said the United States seeks better relationships with the Soviet Union and mainland China.

"We are moving with precision and purpose from an era of confrontation to an era of negotiation," he said. "...I believe our new policies have contributed to the prospect that America may have the best chance since World War II to enjoy a generation of uninterrupted peace."

J. S. Supplies Near Nigeria

By JOHN PLATTNER
LAGOS (UPI) — The first of President Nixon's mercy relief flights near Nigeria today with a complete field hospital and 25 jets to carry food and supplies to the starving people in what was Biafra.

The flight left Boston's Logan International Airport late Thursday following the White House announcement that Nixon was responding to an emergency request from Nigeria for postwar assistance.

Dr. Robert L. Price, deputy director of Emergency Health Services of the U.S. Public Health Service, was aboard the flight, due in Lagos this afternoon, to assist in the aid program.

Gen. Yakubu Gowon's Nigerian government had no comment on the White House announcement that Nigeria had requested the emergency aid because up to a million tributaries were near starvation.

President Nixon's press secretary said the United States was making available 40,000 tons of food per month in addition to the medical and transportation supplies.

Two chartered DC-8 airplanes were standing by on Iceland with 18 tons of high protein fish meal, waiting for the flight to Nigeria.

This U.S. aid program took shape almost immediately after news reports from the former Biafran region told of starvation, pillage and rape instead of the orderly relief program Nigeria had said was in progress.

In a news conference Thursday, the Nigerian leader condemned the news reports of starvation and said "some humanitarians have deliberate 'by fanned flames' against Biafra."

"We will take assistance from acceptable sources if they offer honest, sincere and genuine aid, but we will not be interpreted as a beggar nation," he said.

From Montreal, the Canadian Red Cross Society said it was responding immediately to a Nigerian request for 13 tons of drugs.

The American mercy flight carried the first of three 200-bed portable hospitals to be shipped from the United States, complete with X-ray equipment and surgical facilities.

"They will do a lot of good but we can only melt the top of the iceberg," Dr. Price said or leaving Boston.

Red Hideouts Hit By B52 Bombers

by WALTER WHITEHEAD
SAIGON (UPI) — The U.S. Sommand sent up armadas of B52 bombers over the U Minh Forest today to bomb the hideouts of guerrilla troops who attacked a nearby South Vietnamese marine base Thursday.

Viet Cong and North Vietnamese targets during the night, causing casualties at one of the sites, military spokesmen said.

The Thursday fighting included four small clashes on the headquarters, killing 15 of the guerrillas and wounding 41. They left behind 72 bodies before fleeing back into the U Minh jungles 145 miles south-west of Saigon.

War communiques reported light combat across the war zone otherwise Thursday, with 43 guerrillas slain against U.S. losses of one dead and a dozen wounded.

Thirteen rocket and mortar salvos hit U.S. and South Vietnamese targets during the night, causing casualties at one of the sites, military spokesmen said.

A 600 square foot structure providing rooms for patients, could be built costing approximately $100,000 and offices and kitchen still be located in the old facility.

Robbins stated that he felt the Health Department would approve an extension while funds were being raised for the new building.

He was asked if the first phase of construction, including the portion of the proposed 11-fire marshalls approval it would be acceptable.

It was reported that July has been set as goal to raise enough to start construction. Contractor A. K. Shoemaker stated it would take approximately four months to build. Architect Arthur White was present with a copy of the proposed plans.

Thus far $13,500 has been contributed to the building "on" including the $1,000 donated in the current drive. The original cost estimate for the 50-bed nursing home facility was $144,000, but Shoemaker pointed out that with rising costs it may run higher.

MacPherson stated that the Good Samaritan Home is presently licensed as a home for the aged and there is a big difference in the requirements for a nursing home. Mrs. Wilson hopes to include facilities in the plans for the aged as well as patient care.

Probe Incomplete In 3 Murders

By STEPHEN MORROW
CLEVELAND (UPI) — The FBI investigation into the Year's Eve murder of United Mine Workers official Joseph A. "Jock" Yablonski, his wife and daughter appears to be far from complete, even though three men have been charged with the killings.

Inquiries about the trio charged with the slaying and under a total of $75,000 bond brought a terse "no Gilly, 37, of all Cleveland, were prominent" while Pennsylvania arrested Wednesday by the authorities rushed plans to have the three extradited.

The FBI refused to say if it had leads on further suspects. But U.S. Attorney Robert H. Krupansky indicated the investigation was far from complete.

"Things are breaking so quickly and in so many places we don't have all the information that we expect to have later," Krupansky said.

Charles E. Vealey, 26, Auburn jailed under a total of $75,000 bond brought a terse "no Gilly, 37, of all Cleveland, were prominent" while Pennsylvania arrested Wednesday by the FBI. They were charged Thursday in Washington, Pa. Yablonski, 59, defected in the UMW presidential election by W. A. "Tony" Boyle, after a poster campaign may have helped point a finger at the suspect.

In Washington, Pa., sources said he kept a list of license numbers of "suspicious" automobiles seen near his industrial rural home in nearby Clarksville, Pa. One of the Clarksville numbers led authorities to Gilly, according to Col. Frank McKetta, commissioner of the Pennsylvania State Police.

Vealey Martin and Gilly face a hearing on the federal charges next Friday.

Medics Appear Split On Effects Of 'Pill'

By H. L. SCHWARTZ II
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Claims that birth control pills cause liver damage, diseases of the veins and arteries or diabetes are at present only "theoretical speculation," a Senate subcommittee was told today.

The subcommittee, chaired by Democrat Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin, plans further hearings in the coming months but none has been scheduled.

Spellacy, an associate professor of obstetrics and gynecology, commented in testimony prepared for the fifth and final session of the Senate monopoly subcommittee's current hearings into safety of the pill.

Dr. William Spellacy of the University of Miami school of medicine, said, however, there appears to be solid evidence the pill can aggravate existing liver and vein disorders.

Burglars Active Over Weekend

Three area break-ins highlighted weekend police activity. Television sets and tape players with an estimated value of over $1,000 were stolen early today by thieves who entered Sanford's Good-year Store at 555 West First Street.

Police reported the entry was made by smashing a side plate glass window.

Police almost captured the intruders as they were seen just before they completed their intrusion by an adjacent businessman, who phoned police.

Seminole County authorities are investigating the theft of $182 in a cash box and a typewriter removed in a break-in at Pinecrest Village Shop.

Seminole Deputy Roy Rice reported another entry was made at the Snappin Turtle lawn mower repair shop on Highway 17-62. Investigators are checking the lawn mower shop for losses.

It's ALL New

Rivalries of yesteryears will be renewed tomorrow at the Civic Center when Garnett White and John Mercer, co-chairmen, with their vigorous team-mates get together for the kickoff breakfast of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce membership drive.

The hostesses around the "grooming board" of delectable food start at 8 a.m.

The two co-chairmen have headed the campaign for memberships in the trade group in past years, and even though there is a war of friendliness, the competition for leadership is nonetheless keen.

Prizes have stimulated interest of the campaigners who make up the teams under the captaincy of several veteran workers, five teams in each division.

For the first worker on each team who brings in memberships for all the cards assigned to him, there will be a $25 bond.

To whet the energetic solicitors' interest in getting the newcomers—and those who for unexplained reasons have not yet joined the ranks of the C of C—there will be a $25 bond for each worker who brings in five new memberships in the three days of the drive.

In the past years the victory "cookout" with eye-popping goodness in the juley steaks that grace the festive board has been an event well worth the effort to gain a place on the guest list. This "blast" is given for all prior winners and their wives.

John Krider, C of C manager, has arranged for ample tasty food for the breakfast and has urged all the team members to join the co-chairmen in being on time. The idea, he said, was to "get it while it's hot"—and of course, "to get that early start that produces maximum results."

The drive is designed so that all contacts may be made within three days. To help the canvassers, White and Mercer urge merchants to "have their checks ready" for the callers.

Policeman Testifies To Finding Slain Man

A 12-year-old girl complaining witness in a morals case involving two incident Central Florida figures was given a psychiatric examination in accordance with an order handed down by Circuit Court Judge E. Thom Rumberger.

This was confirmed by Sheriff John E. Polk, who said the court-ordered examination was performed Friday on the girl by Dr. Michael Gutman and Dr. Thomas Phillips at Florida Sanitarium and Hospital in accordance with the court's request made last Wednesday.

Judge Rumberger ordered the mental tests after Edward Hanlon Jr., attorney for respondent, sought a psychiatric examination in accordance with the court's request.

Blackburn and Edward Kirkland, Orlando defense attorneys, are accused of direct information charges of committing a lewd and lascivious assault upon a female in the presence of a child under 14.

Kirkland has been looked on as an additional charge of a crime against nature in connection with the same alleged incident.

Both men are free on bond and Blackburn appeared Wednesday to plead innocent to the charges before Judge Rumberger.

Kirkland is expected to be arraigned Tuesday at noon before Rumberger and is also expected to enter an innocent plea.

Both men were arrested after an alleged incident at a South Seminole apartment complex in which three females ages 18, 14 and 12 were involved.

GENE ESTRIDGE

The trial of Mabel Frances Thompson, 26-year-old mother of four, accused of killing Bobby W. Thompson, her 22-year-old Sanford fireman husband, got underway this morning with State Attorney Abbott Herring's opening statement and the calling of Casseberry Police Chief Donald Hrusley as first prosecution witness.

Herring visibly shocked several spectators overflowing the courtroom when he said the state would prove Mabel Thompson "premeditated design killed her husband and hid his body in a hall closet."

He said a witness would testify that Mrs. Thompson showed a gun and said, "I'm going to kill Bobby!" He stated she spent the night in the defendant's home on the same day Bobby reportedly packed his clothes and left.

The witness also will testify, according to Herring, that Mrs. Thompson slept with Duane Watson, her boy friend, in another bedroom of the Thompson home on West Fourth Street on the same night.

Herring stated the defendant's boy friend had slept with her many times before Bobby's death.

Bulletin

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court rejected today efforts of Florida Gov. Claude R. Kirk Jr. to delay the Feb. 1 deadline for school desegregation ordered in the South.

The courts had set the deadline on Jan. 11 for 14 southern school districts, including Bay and Alachua Counties, Florida.

Kirk said his state is unable, physically or financially, to cope with the changes necessary to keep the court's schedule.

Cruising On St. Johns?

An old idea is being tried out on the West Coast of Florida; it's a good idea that could be put to work on the St. Johns River. A 42-passenger mini-cruiser leaves St. Petersburg on Monday, along the inland waterway to Fort Myers, the Caloosahatchee River to Lake Okechobee and return, a five-day trip.

River steamers used to be the only mode of travel to Sanford and Central Florida.

Now, why not pleasure mini-cruisers from Sanford to Jacksonville and return.

Read Fred Van Pelt's feature story on the mini-cruiser, "Mount Hope," in The Herald's Friday entertainment guide section, which also includes all television programming and other entertainment features and news.

MAKING final plans and preparations for the Career Day at Lyman High School Tuesday when 64 speakers will present their professions and occupations to the students are Jack Toole, president of the Rotary Club of Seminole County South; Don Fisher, student; and Rev. Delmas Copeland of Rotary Club, who will represent his profession. (Ann Riley Photo)
