

Class D Circuits Face Big Losses If Attendance Does Not Pick Up

ATLANTA (AP) — Unless attendance improves — as club owners predicted — it is beginning to appear that Class D baseball teams in Georgia, Florida and Alabama are going to lose money this season.

Seven out of eight clubs reported attendance figures said their average attendance was below the "break even" point. These clubs are in the Georgia-Florida, Alabama-Florida, and Georgia State leagues.

Attendance figures were not available from the other clubs.

Most of the front office spokesmen predicted, however, that fans will begin flocking out in greater numbers.

Panama City, which is leading the Alabama-Florida League, said it expected its attendance to remain about the same. The Flyers averaged 836 fans for their first 21 home games, slightly under the 900 figure as their "break even" point.

Albany of the Georgia-Florida League said it averaged 697 for its first 26 games and expected crowds to remain about the same or improve.

Fitzgerald, of the G-F-L, said its average attendance of 600 should improve if the club advances from its current seventh place position. Albany fixed its "break even" figure at 900 per game, Fitzgerald at 750.

Statesboro of the Georgia State League was the only club which reported its fan support surpassed the required minimum. The Pilots' president, C. B. McAllister, said his club has been averaging 590 per game, 24 more than he figured was needed to break even.

W. P. Ward Jr., vice president of the Douglas club in the Georgia State League commented:

"Minor league ball is in a slump at present. I look for a comeback if and when the war is settled. Our league is not stable. We require financial assistance from outside sources locally."

Attendance figures were not available for Douglas, but Ward said the club was drawing fewer fans than last year.

Seven of the 9 clubs which replied to an Associated Press questionnaire said television had no effect on attendance.

Thomasville (G-F-L) and Albany of the Georgia State and Statesboro of the Georgia State and Fort Walton and Panama City of the Alabama-Florida.

Chet Morrissey, business manager of Fitzgerald, and McAllister of Statesboro added that TV reception was very poor in their areas. General Manager Harry Booth of Fort Walton Beach said there is no TV in that section.

Sandersville of the Georgia State and Eufaula of the Alabama-Florida said TV had made no difference on their circuits.

Almost all the clubs reported efforts to encourage attendance through some form of free-admission programs, and several have added attractions or give away prizes.

Only G. F. Blackburn, general manager of Sandersville, said he believed baseball could operate successfully without the reserve clause. This controversial contract provision which gives a club exclusive rights to a player-event is a "no-no" in that area.

Except for Blackburn, the spokesman said the reserve clause, or suitable substitute, is necessary to the life of baseball as it is known today.

Robert B. Eastman, business manager of Thomasville, commented:

"In my opinion, baseball's main problem—finances—has been caused by the fact that admission prices have not increased in proportion with cost of operation, which has tripled."

No admission price increases have been reported from front office spokesmen.

C. C. Hodge, president of the Alabama-Florida League, said attendance in his circuit is down.

He attributed the decline to bad weather, lack of promotion and broadcasting of major league games. He said he believed TV hurt league attendance to some extent, but that baseball broadcasts were a bigger problem

Jr. Legion Cops Two For 7th And 8th Straight

Baby Birds Drub Leesburg; Cinch Play-Off Berth

By SAM JACOBSON

Sanford's Junior Legion nine rolled up a lot of accomplishments into one big afternoon yesterday as they demolished their Leesburg counterparts two times—26 to 4 and 17 to 0—to cop both ends of a double-header.

Winning their 7th and 8th straight Legion games, they clinched the Sub-District Five championship and secured a position in the District tournament two weeks from now.

In fact just about the only thing, satirically speaking, they didn't do was play two ball games. For, so hopelessly did the home team outclass the Lake Countians, that the afternoon's happenings lost all the aspects of two contests as early as the first inning of the initial game when the "Baby Birds" romped to 12 tallies before being retired.

The one benefit derived from the debacle was the excellent batting practice it afforded Sanford. Throughout the afternoon period the locals pelted out 25 heavy hits, 12 of which were extra base blows including homers by Junior Metts and Bubba Hieber.

All of this took place in only eight innings inasmuch as Leesburg under the 10 run rule, conceded each game at the top of the fifth. The ruling, which is in effect only in Junior baseball, provides that any club trailing by 10 runs in the fifth inning may forfeit the ball game at that point.

The losers also yielded in the fifth frame of the only other previous meeting of the two ball clubs. In that game, which was played in Leesburg, they were losing 13 to 0 at the time.

Thus in only nine innings of play the locals have gathered 37 hits and 65 markers from the grade-school-age cellar dwellers.

Biggest gun in the fledgling lineup yesterday were Metts and Hieber. In the first frame Metts unloaded a double, triple, and a homer while scoring three runners and driving in five.

Hieber, although inauspicious in the opener, provided the punch in the aftermath with a three-bagger and a long right field circuit clout. He also crossed the plate three times and chased in four scorers.

Other outstanding Seminoles were Jimmy Butler with a two bagger and a triple, Jimmy Wade hitting out a three-ply poke, and Larry Bates who went 4 for 5 for the afternoon.

"Go West" McCall went all the way on the mound in the first game to gain his second straight triumph. Randy Reynolds and "Joek" Kridler split up the chores in the last affair with Reynolds getting credit for the win.

"DIAMOND DUST" took in the "Baby Bird" lineup after a long and conspicuous absence in the busy Yogi Berra prototype Ross Hannum. And maybe the lay-off did him some good too. Hereafter only a sparkling defensive star, the fiery outfielder broke his "three year batting slump" with a double in the third frame yesterday.

Sanford has gone from one extreme to the other this week. On Monday they were edged by a team of bearded pros; and yesterday, in an abrupt turnaround, they faced a squad of not yet fuzzy faced boys.

More games left on the regular Legion schedule, Coach Al McMillan is seeking a few post-season games. He is presently in contact with DeLand and Orlando coaches trying to make some arrangements.

Last Friday's publication of the "All-Time Sanford Baseball Club" by the anonymous fan, known only to us as the "Old Timer," has caused some of the older fans to rise up in the hot weather and cry, "Ridiculous!"

Floyd Palmer, former pitcher who came from Iowa back in 1916 to play ball in Sanford and stayed, was the first to send in a retort. Judging from comment on the streets, and in the drug stores, every old timer has his own team and with some exceptions it will vary almost as many ways as there are fans.

To the newcomer, the selection of players, whom they have seen play in recent years on these teams, is interesting, since the old timers have seen both the older and the new players. The younger fan gets an idea how good the current players are in comparison to the parade of players of the past years.

Some fans have accused us of contriving the Old Timer's selections by talking with older fans in the drug stores. This is not true.

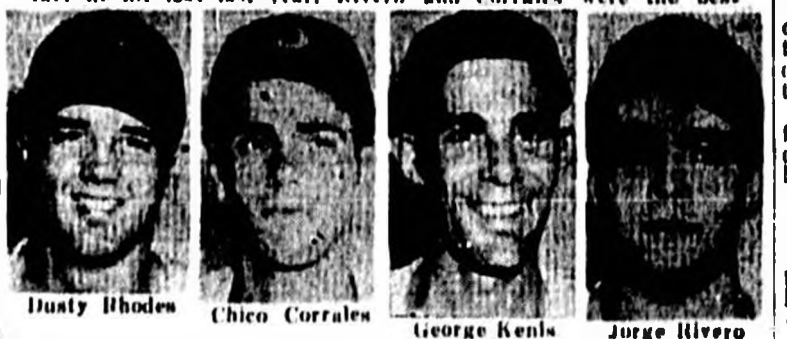

We would only attempt to select a team based upon the following players we have seen while watching Sanford play in the last two years.

1957-58 ALL-SANFORD TEAM

PITCHERS		FIRST BASE
Charles Ingram	(10-9)	Joe Parsons	307
Chico Corrales	(11-12)	SECOND BASE
Ernie Palmeri	(10-5)	Johnny Hubra	302
Jorge Rivera	(11-12)	SHORTSTOP
Tommy Leonard	300	Bill Batty	308
J. C. Dunn	320	THIRD BASE
Bill Silverthorne	325	Chuck Alford	308
UTILITY		CATCHER
George Kenis	212	Dusty Rhodes	259
J. C. Dunn	(40-42)	MANAGER

This team would have power in Alford, Rhodes, Dunn and Parsons. Only Rhodes would hit below .300. It is hard to pick Rhodes over Bill Harris, but Rhodes' power and hustle is a good combination.

For all-around hitting, Leonard, Silverthorne, Batty, and Hubra stand right up there with 300 averages or a better. Keeping Frank Smith out of the outfield was made unwise only by the fact he hit .251 last year. Rivera and Corrales were the best

Dusty Rhodes, Chico Corrales, George Kenis, Jorge Rivera

Higgers the blues had last year and Palmeri and Ingram are the best this year.

Dunn is our manager because of his exemplary conduct both on and off the field. Besides, Dunn knows when to call the squeeze play and Alford believed in power and power alone.

Most old timers would not want a 300 average or a better, but they might laugh at some of our selections, but it is not intended to cover all the years Sanford has supported a baseball team. Only the older fans can pick a team over that period.

Many local fans were disappointed to see the bustling Bob Skelton leave the Sanford Cardinals this year, but Bill Harris has proved the better catcher.

Skelton is batting below the .245 mark at Albany since his transfer while Harris has maintained a .288 average here socking two homers, 13 doubles and two triples to average about 50 RBIs in 50 games.

The quiet working veteran is batting exactly 30 points higher than Skelton was when he left here and is the most underrated player on the club.

Freddie Cavallo last year's Seminole blue outfielder, is either injured or has been released. His name has not appeared in the Fitzgerald, Ga., line-up of the Georgia State League for the last three weeks.

He was hitting only .250 one month ago.

Dusty Rhodes has hit three homers in 76 times at bat while playing second string catcher for the class B Miami Sun Sox of the Florida International League. Rhodes was optioned to Sanford last year by the Brooklyn Dodger chain and moved up to Miami, narrowly avoiding the draft. Dusty is hitting only .250.

Frank Smith, last year's Seminole blue centerfielder, is still the regular Fort Lauderdale Lion centerfielder, is hitting at a .271 clip with three homers. His exact twin brother, Elmer, who was recently discharged from the Army is also playing with the class B Lions. Elmer has hit five homers in his first 60 times to the plate, but is hitting only .255.

Ellis Clary, Sanford's shortstop immortal who doesn't know the word "surrender," is still going great guns for Chattanooga of the class AA Southern Association. Clary busted up a ball game for the Lookouts with a one-run double in the 10th inning that gave Chattanooga an 11-0 slugfest victory over Mobile on June 30. Ellis "Irechee" Clary was voted the most valuable player in the Southern Association last year.

With the return of veterans Junior Metts, Jimmy "Joek" Kridler and Bubba Hieber, Sanford Junior Legion seems destined to make another trip to the State Legion finals again this year. Ross Hannum, Larry Bates and Johnny Jones are back again this year with a full year of ball under their belts. The sudden rise of Jimmy Hawkins into a star pitcher and hitter has bolstered the local Legion into a real contender. They bare watching.

before the game. Merchants will receive their tickets for the big Merchants Night game here on July 24 when Lakeland and Chuck Alford will be in town.

Soviet Chess Players Won't Come To U. S.

Cancel Tickets On Queen Elizabeth

PARIS (AP)—Fifteen Soviet chess players en route to the United States today cancelled their passage aboard the liner Queen Elizabeth which sails this evening for New York.

In Moscow earlier today, the Soviet Ministry of Foreign Affairs told the U. S. Embassy that the Russian chess team would call off its trip to the U. S. unless the players were allowed to travel outside the city limits of New York.

The State Department in Washington announced around noon that the players had been given permission to visit Clear Lake, Long Island while in the United States, but this news apparently did not reach Paris in time.

The group was granted passports yesterday to play in international matches at New York July 15-20 with the proviso that they must remain within the New York city limits during their stay.

Polio Exceeds Last Year Total By 504 To Date

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Public Health Service said today 1,080 new polio cases have been reported since the first of the year, 504 more than in the same period of 1952.

The service said 425 new cases were reported in the week that ended July 4. That was 87 more than in the previous week.

Alabama, which had been seriously stricken earlier, showed a decrease in new cases last week, however. Montgomery county, the worst hit in the state, reported a drop as health officials said most new cases incubated in gamma globulin.

Dunn Addresses Jaycee Meeting At Yacht Club

Manager J. C. Dunn and four Sanford Cardinal baseball players were guests of the Jaycee luncheon at the Yacht Club today.

Mr. Dunn complimented Sanford and called the Memorial Stadium with its superior lighting facilities one of the best in the minor leagues. He said Daytona Beach was the best to boot this half of the state.

It is generally agreed Sanford is the only club that can do it.

He also deplored the poor lighting at Daytona's Flamingo Ball Park. They lost only six games in their own park during the first half of the season.

Other players attending the luncheon were Tommy Leonard, currently tied with Jack Cade for the Florida State League batting lead; Bill Silverthorn, who hit some runs last night; Paul Smith, left fielder; and Bill Harts, who threw in the win.

All players echoed their praise of Sanford's Memorial Stadium.

Member-ship dues chairman Gordon Sweeney reported the drive was near its half-way mark with 143 members signed up for the new President Cliff Alder presided.

Nation's Weather Has Little Change

By The Associated Press

The nation's weather showed little change today—warm and humid over most of the South, and in the midcontinent and around normal in other areas.

There were several areas hit by showers, including the Central Plains, Southern Plateau region, Northern Great Lakes and along the North Atlantic seaboard.

Dog Inoculations

City Manager Tom Lennon today reminded dog owners that Dr. R. L. Bass, veterinarian, will inoculate animals next Monday afternoon from 1:00 to 3:00 o'clock in the area behind City Hall.

THE WEATHER

Continued hot and partly cloudy through Friday. Scattered after noon thunderstorms north of town. Wednesday mostly afternoon thunderstorms elsewhere.

Clark Striving To Win Korean's Aid To End Hostilities

SEATTLE (AP)—Allied and Communist liaison officers huddled secretly in Pannumjoo today while a top-level U. N. delegation headed by Gen. Mark Clark tried again to win President Syngman Rhee's support for a Korean armistice.

An authoritative source said Clark handed Rhee an important letter dealing with the stated terms of a truce. An official spokesman said it was not an armistice. Rhee to accept an armistice. Contents of the letter were not disclosed.

There was widespread speculation that the liaison officers would arrange a meeting of full-scale delegations to resume negotiations on the final date of a truce.

After the 15-minute session, a U. N. spokesman would say only that the meeting was held for administrative purposes only.

Bloody Attacks Of Reds Beaten Back By U. S. GIs

SEATTLE (AP)—American infantrymen crushed three bloody Communist assaults today but failed in a daring counterattack with some prisoners to form the last Red off Porkchop Hill in western Korea.

Tough South Korean troops availed rocket shells July 7 to beat back a fourth Red attack at Arsohead Ridge, five miles from Porkchop.

The Korean battalions cracked with artillery batteries and hand to hand fighting as U. S. units cut the front of the Red charges.

County Heads Take Inspection Trip

County Commissioners R. C. Dool and O. E. Foraker and County Board Supervisor Stewart took off on a road inspection today of the county. They left at 8 a.m. and will be back in Sanford tonight.

Mr. Phillips has asked the Board to take over the maintenance of streets which have been taken over to serve the homes constructed in the section. Commissioners will decide if the roads are built to specifications.

A later trip will be south of Altamonte Springs, where the group will inspect a side and a half length of Old Florida Road. The Commissioner of Public Works requested permission to raise a half mile of the road borders of the county.

Magazine Will Have Article On Jaycees

SanTime Magazine will have an article on the Jaycee Forum of Commerce, Fishing, Map and Maps in the Seminole County edition, according to Jaycee President Cliff Alder.

"This is more excellent publicity for Seminole County," he stated. "We are still receiving requests for information, maps and maps in Florida Wildlife and in the Field and Stream Magazine."

So far, maps have been sent to over 100 people in 26 different states.

Owner Of Altamonte Hotel Views Damage

Everett C. Bates, owner of the five-level Altamonte Hotel, surveyed the damage yesterday and said insurance coverage on the destroyed buildings only ran about $50,000. He estimated it would take about $500,000 to replace the two structures, which burned July 1.

The hotel had been in the Bates family for 31 years. He took over operation of the hotel when his father, George E. Bates, died in 1921.

While on the subject of rambling, may we suggest that people who ride all the time miss a lot of things that sedentary motorists miss. We live in the story house on the Glen Estate right behind Bill Stempert's residence and generally walk in work every morning. Sometimes we tramp down Sanford, sometimes Palmolive, sometimes Magnolia, and oftentimes Park Avenue—we come down the main drag when we're late in the morning and rather in need of a lift. But on each of our trips we notice several signs which we never haven't noticed before. We would be used to remember most of all were those in on Ordenville, N. V. on the St. Lawrence River when with the temporary (or should we say Winter/Summer) used to be in the ownership of Roy without hat, coat, gloves or shoes.

Company I of the 184th Infantry Regiment stands at attention prior to its departure for summer camp at the old Atlantic Coast Line Depot Sunday morning. The 50 guardsmen and eight officers left Sunday for two weeks of training and maneuvers at Ft. McClelland, Analostan, Ala. The company will return to Sanford on July 18. The local Guardsmen, having won the highly coveted General Farnham plaque for marksmanship in 1951, hopes to win the plaque again this year. The Sanford guardsmen have been consistently on top in marksmanship tournaments in the last two years. According to Capt. David Galshe, center foreground, Company I stands a good chance of winning the Southeastern State's Area rifle and small arms marksmanship title. (Photo by Fred Kirshner/Haymond Studio)

Prize-Winning Cartoonist Ordered Deported

CHICAGO (AP) — A deportation order was issued yesterday against Bob Burck, prize-winning cartoonist for the Chicago Sun-Times, on grounds he was a member of the Communist Party when he last entered the United States in 1946.

An appeal from the order by Jerome F. McGowan, immigration department hearing officer, is being planned by Burck's attorney, William H. King Jr. Burck was 10 days in which to appeal the order to the immigration service's Board of Appeals in Washington.

Burck, whose syndicated cartoons appear in some 33 daily newspapers, denied he ever was a member of the Communist Party. He first entered the United States 38 years ago, when he was 10.

He testified at hearings of his case that on his trip to Russia in 1936 in an attempt to sell his Russian government a set of murals he carried a party card to aid his selling efforts.

The government charged he was a Communist before and at the time of his last entry into the United States. The government also charged Burck had belonged to Communist organizations and had been seen at their meetings.

Burck, who was born Yankel Bochowsky, said he had never become a naturalized citizen although he had taken out first naturalization papers in 1937. He testified that at one time he had been employed by the Daily Worker, Communist newspaper, as a cartoonist. He said his salary was $40 a week but said his pay checks "bounced" so frequently that the salary was about $20 a week.

Crying Need Of Times Declared To Be School For Bridegrooms

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

A crying need of the times is a school for bridegrooms. In this era when so many wives help earn the living, a new code of marriage manners and mores should be set up. No longer is it sufficient that the husband promise to love, honor and cherish his bride. Other points that should be settled before the ceremony are as follows:

1. Can he cook his own dinner when his bride has to work late at the office?
2. Is he willing to help wash the dishes after both get home from a hard day at work?
3. Will he darn his own socks while she mends her nylon's?
4. Will he complain if his wife's business requires that she entertain important customers occasionally away from home?
5. Will he be an asset to his wife's business career, or charming her boss when the occasion demands it, refrain from interfering in her business duties?

6. Will he be jealous of his wife's success, if she happens to advance faster than he in their careers?

7. When they have children, will he assume his share of responsibility in their care and training?

8. Will he be able to look on his wife's job as a necessity in the modern scheme of things, and not complain that he is neglected while accepting her contribution to the family income?

when his wife has a hard day at the office—does he get home home-tired?

This question of the proper husband for a career woman gets some frank appraisal in a current article by Jean Lehman Esch in Glamour magazine. The author points out that many employers nowadays insist on meeting the husbands of their women executives before giving them important posts, just as corporations make it a practice of looking over the wives of their male candidates for top jobs.

A woman with a husband who is jealous of her career, demanding of her time and given to harassing her with complaints wouldn't be considered a good risk for an important job, the article points out.

There are plenty of schools for brides, but so far little attention has been given to the training of bridegrooms for their role in modern marriage.

Meeting Of Foreign Ministers

Although the Big Three meeting scheduled for Bermuda has been postponed because of Prime Minister Winston Churchill's health, representatives of France, Britain and the United States will meet in Washington early this month. The foreign ministers of the three nations will confer on matters of immediate importance and major policy decisions will be deferred until Prime Minister Churchill, President Eisenhower and Premier Laniel can meet.

Secretary of State Dulles said that the foreign ministers might discuss what to do about Germany. Some observers believe that the Big Three may send a proposal to Moscow for unifying Germany. This, however, is speculation.

With West Germany seething with discontent at Soviet rule the moment might be propitious for another proposal to unite Germany by free elections. It is not likely that the Reds would agree to any such suggestion but it would place them in the embarrassing position of having to refuse a unification plan.

There will be a great deal for the Big Three foreign ministers to discuss. But the really big Big Three meeting will come when our President, the Prime Minister of Great Britain and the Premier of France meet at Bermuda. At that meeting new strategy may be developed which will keep the Reds on the defensive.

Children Are Really People

An older reader writes that she has been reading a lot of modern books on child psychology lately. She supposes that it is probably useful, and if the mothers who read it could really understand what is meant by the elaborate verbiage and expensive phrases, most of the advice might even be practical. But she wishes some famous psychologist, whose very name would make it stylish to read him, would put in three simple words the key to all the child-rearing methods.

Children are people. They are people of less experience than their elders, of less knowledge. All that parents and others have learned is still before them to learn. But they are not strange beings to be guarded against frustrations by lack of discipline; they are simply little people.

If a parent wishes his child to grow up to be courteous, he must be treated with courtesy in his own home. If he is to be fair, to be gentle, to be self-disciplined, wise and good, then he must find fairness and gentleness at home; he must learn there that if he wants to be happy he must teach himself to avoid yielding to the temptations which bring trouble. It's not so hard, really, to teach children to be good. But it is necessary to remember that they are people.

Physical Tests For Drivers

Many accidents result from physical defects in drivers, such as bad eyes, faulty hearing, poor co-ordination, heart trouble and recurrent dizzy spells. In order to reduce the number of such accidents the New Jersey Division of Motor Vehicles intends to require a physical examination as well as a driver's test of all applicants for driver's licenses in that state.

The tests may serve several useful purposes. Drivers who are completely unfit may be deterred from endangering their own lives and the lives of others. Drivers with slight defects will be made aware of their ailments and may be able to take steps to correct them. A driver who is convinced that his physical condition is only the minimum permitted for driving may be inclined to drive with more caution.

The rule about to be imposed in New Jersey is a sensible one and authorities in all states would do well to consider adopting it.

Congressman Herlong Reports

The big show-down on the attempt to by-pass the Ways and Means Committee on the bill to extend the excess profits tax for six months blew up last Monday night but not without a few dramatic moments. It suddenly occurred to the leadership that even though the tax expired Wednesday, the extension could be brought up at a later date and made effective as of Wednesday. Some quick polling of the members of the Ways and Means Committee showed that a majority of the members favored extension of the tax. They stood up on the floor—one by one—and announced their positions. Then arose Dan Reed, a stalwart veteran of some 36 years in Congress. As he stood there with his arms folded, noting the different Republican members of his committee announcing they were changing their former positions, one couldn't help being sorry for the old gentleman, regardless of his position on the tax. He had thought he had his committee under control; only to see the control slip from his fingers. When Mr. Reed was finally recognized he given a standing ovation by the Congress, not because they agreed with his position, but because of the esteem and respect the members have for him personally and, I think, because they felt sorry for him and hated to hurt him, although they felt the interests of the country demanded that they oppose him.

We just gave it away.

When New York City cracks down on gamblers the effort assumes the appearance of a major military operation with 2500 detectives and plainclothesmen mobilized and police in pairs fanning out under sealed orders. This was a very spectacular offensive against the organized policy racket in the world's largest city, but what we don't understand is why the widespread evil which had long existed couldn't have been nipped sooner before it reached such vast proportions, why, in fact, it couldn't have been prevented from getting started at all.

Rep. Scherer of Ohio, says he's seen documentary evidence and heard from witnesses in a position to know that communism has infiltrated the American clergy. If by infiltration is meant that isolated cases occur where a clergyman has become infected with the Red virus, then we may conclude the congressman's announcement has some element of truth, but if he wants us to believe that any appreciable numbers of our clergy have fallen for the commie line then we think his pronouncements are a lot of hogwash. As a group our clergymen are the least susceptible to the Godless philosophies, the most unlikely to stray from loyalty to their country, the last to embrace any foreign aims.

Thin Line Drawn Between Information, Propaganda

WASHINGTON (AP)—That the difference between information and propaganda can be a thin line, sometimes practically invisible, is illustrated by the President's Committee on International Information Activities.

Not that this was the committee's intention. It expressed great distaste for words and phrases like "cold war" and "psychological warfare" and "propaganda." It doesn't want them used in connection with this country's overseas information program.

But a person on the receiving end, after reading what the committee says, may have difficulty distinguishing between information that is strictly information and information that might be considered propaganda.

The committee has been occupied with the problem of making friends and influencing people abroad ever since it held its first meeting last January, after President Eisenhower created it.

Headed by William H. Jackson, a New York investment banker, the committee has just turned over to Eisenhower a number of recommendations, most of which have been kept secret and a few of which have been made public.

The committee said: "Cold war" and "psychological warfare" are unfortunate terms. They do not describe the effort of our nation and our allies to build a world of peace and freedom. "They should be discarded in favor of others which describe our true goals. New terms are needed to express the solidarity of freedom-loving men and women everywhere."

So terms like "cold war" and "psychological warfare" may disappear from the language of government officials. But what is this information program—it's been in operation for years already—and what will it attempt to do as a result of the committee's recommendations?

The committee explained: "The primary and overriding purpose of the information program should be to submit evidence to the peoples of other nations that their own aspirations for freedom, progress and peace are supported and advanced by the objectives and policies of the United States."

The efforts of all media—radio, press, and publications, motion pictures, exchange of persons, and libraries and information centers—should be directed to this end: to make the identity of our goals with those of other peoples."

This seems to say the committee wishes to depend strictly on information in dealing with the minds of people overseas, for it clearly stated in its recommendations that a "propaganda note" should be avoided.

But if the basic purpose of the information program isn't to win friends for this country, and away from Russia, what is it? The committee seemed to agree this was the basic purpose, for it added a phrase:

"These goals and desires which we hold in common must be explained in ways that will cause others to join with us in achieving them."

An Englishman or Frenchman, reading the first part of what the committee said the program's purpose is, might feel:

"I'm going to receive strictly objective information that will let me make up my own mind."

But when he reads that additional phrase, that this information must be explained to him in a way that will "cause" him to adopt the American viewpoint, he may say:

"When will this information be information only and when will it be propaganda, since propaganda is information of a kind intended to cause people to think along certain lines or adopt a special viewpoint?"

Nickel Shortage Which Has Hurt Industry Shows Signs Of Ending

NEW YORK (AP)—The most persistent metal shortage of recent years shows signs of ending a little. The hard-to-get metal is nickel. Any improvement in nickel supplies would be good news to businessmen as well as defense officials. So short has the metal been since the Korean War began in 1950 that its use is prohibited in a long list of civilian items. Nickel can be used only in special parts of oil burners, food processing machinery, meters, paper and pulp machinery, pharmaceutical equipment, textile machinery and other products where substitution is impossible.

Jap Crown Prince Kept From Blonde

ROME (AP)—Japanese Embassy officials have nixed a second meeting between an attractive blonde portrait painter and 18-year-old Crown Prince Akihito of Japan. They said another get-together might start tongues wagging.

The painter, Maria Matteini, 25, was supposed to deliver a portrait of Akihito to the prince yesterday but instead had to give it to a member of his retinue. She had persuaded the prince to post-poned Sunday after brushing past guards at his hotel suite.

Tradition has it that a broad skull is linked to aggressiveness, leadership and sociability and a narrow skull with intelligence.

Women Capture First Honors In Bridge Match

By WILSON LANDLEY

Four women combined to walk away with the honors at last night's regular session of the Sanford Duplicate Bridge Club at the Woman's Club with 40 players participating.

Mrs. Price Heard and Mrs. Hugh Wichelet with 1145 points took first prize for the evening while Mrs. Fred Stein and Mrs. E. E. Anderson with 100 points were second.

In third place were two men, John Williams and Fred Stein, with a score of 101 Average for the evening was 84.

East, dealer. Neither side vulnerable.

North S-J 6 H-94 D-K 99 C-A 97652

South S-74 H-AKQ106 D-Q1053 C-KJ

East S-74 H-AKQ106 D-Q1053 C-KJ

South S-AKQ1083 H-8732 D-A4 C-3

The hand above, taken from last night's play, affords opportunity for artistic play by both defense and declarer. After an opening bid of 1H by East, South became declarer in every case, usually at a contract of 4S. When the hand was played, South made nine, 10, or 11 tricks, depending on the defense offered. After best defense, double squeeze is required to take ten tricks.

The opening lead of the heart Jack should be overtaken by East and a spade led, in an attempt to cut down dummy's ruffing power. Declarer's best line of play is to try to develop dummy's club suit for discards, since the malvolent opposition evidently does not intend to allow him to trump even one of his small hearts. He therefore wins the spade return in his own hand and preserves dummy's Jack for later entry to the board.

Declarer now leads a club to the Ace and ruffs a club. Next a heart is surrendered, declarer wishfully thinking of trumping a heart later in dummy. East seizes this hope by returning his last spade to dummy's Jack.

On the lead of another club, East shows out and declarer sees that, although he can get to the dummy once more to ruff away West's last club, he lacks the necessary entry to cash the club winners thus established. He must therefore seek some other road to ten tricks. Noticing that West has the only clubs higher than dummy's and that East has the only hearts higher than those in the South hand, he realizes that by leading out all his trumps, he may be able to force both defenders to discard enough diamonds to make one of dummy's low diamonds a winner.

First, however, he must lose one more trick (for reasons which will be explained below). Declarer discards a heart on this third club lead and wins West's diamond return with the Ace. He now plays all his trumps but one, throwing two clubs from dummy, and leaving the following situation:

North D-K9 C-3

South H-A H-None D-J8 C-Q

At this point, South leads his last trump. West must part with a diamond or else dummy's nine of clubs will be established. He throws a diamond, the now worthless club nine is discarded from dummy, and East in his turn has the dilemma by the horns. East must hold his Ace of hearts to prevent South's eighth from becoming a winner, so he too drops a diamond. South leads to the diamond King, felling the Jack and Queen together and dummy's diamond nine produces the tenth trick for declarer.

It was mentioned above that West must be allowed to win the third club lead, if declarer is to win ten tricks. A basic factor in almost all squeezes to produce a given number of tricks is that the opponents must win their full quota of tricks before development of the squeeze. At the time of the third club lead, the squeeze position became evident but defenders had only two tricks. Instead of three (their "quota"), had declarer trumped the third club, no squeeze would have been possible. If you lay out the hand and play the cards yourself, trumping the club at trick seven, you can prove the amazing but instructive truth of this proposition.

Pre-Teenagers Need Parents Who Can Be Silly, Expert Says

By DAVID TAYLOR MARKE

AP Newsfeatures Writer

"How silly may a parent get when raising a child?" I asked this question of Mrs. Anna M. W. Wolf, senior staff member of the Child Study Association, says she:

"Silly enough to meet the girl on her own level."

We were discussing the complex problems parents face in helping their 10-to-13-year-old daughters through growing-up pains.

"You see," said Mrs. Wolf, "these girls have very special needs—and very special resentments toward their parents. Primarily, they are interested in their interests, rather than in their personalities. That's why they need parents who can be silly as well as worthwhile."

Mrs. Wolf stresses the resentment of pre-teenagers to criticism, which begins as correction, swings into criticism, and very soon is nagging. She admitted, however, there is no general rule for correcting such things as slouching, poor manners, or other bad habits. Each case must be treated separately.

Young girls in this age bracket, she said, are naturally curious about the parent's inner life. Parents should find out for themselves the values which young girls choose to be friends with. Children choose their friends because they like them.

A girl wishes to feel sufficiently superior, or at least not inferior to her friends, she says.

"Parents should also beware of comparisons with other girls," Mrs. Wolf cautioned. "They must be very subtle about their remarks in this direction."

Toasting, too, is sometimes dangerous with girls at this age who feel their parent is catching them at a disadvantage, and that the teasing remark really conceals the antagonism of the adult—which the youngster can feel.

"If the child enjoys the teasing, she can recognize it as friendly, but if she does not, it should be avoided," she counseled. "Sarcasm is an adult weapon which children use cruelly and which is not always effective."

Describing the resentment children feel toward "old fogeyism," Mrs. Wolf suggests that parents of this age group avoid the "how terrible this generation is" kind of remark.

Nothing sets up barriers between generations more than such remarks. Parents should find out for themselves the values which young

Group Of Jehovahs To Attend Confab

Sanford will be represented by a delegation of 15 at the International Convention of Jehovah's Witnesses, Yankee Stadium, New York City, R. N. Stafford, presiding minister here, and head of the delegation, announced today.

The group will travel by car and train to join more than 125,000 other witnesses of Jehovah in their eight-day convention opening July 10.

Mr. Stafford said Jehovah's witnesses are coming from every state in the union and nearly 100 countries to participate in the largest religious convention ever to be held in America. Charter planes carrying delegates from Africa, Europe, and Latin America will soon converge on New York.

Large delegations from Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, and the Orient are already on the high seas. Some 18,000 Canadians are expected.

Children hold dear today, and face up to them. When a real impulse occurs, a child can understand and recognize anger—and respect it.

The one thing a parent should understand, says Mrs. Wolf, is daughter's desire for privacy. Girls need privacy in their rooms and in their thoughts. Secrets are precious to them.

Lillian Davis Plans Announced

Rosemary Clooney, Ferrer Remain Mum

DALLAS (AP)—Actor Jose Ferrer and singer Rosemary Clooney would say nothing last night about reports they would be married.

Each said, "I cannot comment." Ferrer, an Academy Award winner, gave the same answer when asked about the Mexican "quixote" divorce awarded by a hill Ferrer, his actress-wife, in Mexico, yesterday.

Miss Clooney has been here since Monday to meet disk jockeys and others about her recordings. She also has attended rehearsals and performances of "Kiss Me Kate," the state fair musical which opened Monday night starring Ferrer in his first singing role.

Although Brazil produced about as many of the world's rubber trees, by 1964 nearly 90 per cent came from the Far East.
