Less Fat Means Low Cholesterol

DEAR DR. LAMB—I would like to know just what is cholesterol? Is there any way you can rid your body of it once you have it? Would you list in two groups the foods that are the best in cholesterol and the foods lowest in cholesterol?

Dr. Lamb

Cholesterol is a yellow waxy substance formed chiefly by your liver. It's emptied with the bile from your liver into your small intestine. Cholesterol is an animal product. That means that you get cholesterol from animal foods as well as from cholesterol formed by your liver. Both sources are mixed together in your small intestine and absorbed through the intestinal wall back into your circulation.

You can help lower blood cholesterol in your food and by decreasing your fat consumption. The fat in your food enhances the absorption of cholesterol into your circulation. Then if there's a way to block the absorption of the cholesterol, that will help. And finally if there's a way to encourage your liver to form less cholesterol, that helps.

There are some substances on the market that will bind the cholesterol. There is a new oil substitute that isn't absorbed that does bind with part of the cholesterol and then it's eliminated with your stool as undigested food material. This substance has not been cleared for public use yet and is in the experimental stage. Meanwhile, a low-cholesterol diet and adequate amounts of exercise are measures that you can do which help in many instances. You must be absolutely certain to keep your weight down to prevent obesity if at all possible. Now about your different food

Sanford Blackouts Averted? Gov. Gives OK To Burn 'Dirty' Oil

By JANE CASSELBERRY and SHARON CARRASCO Herald Staff Writers

Governor Bob Graham today announced he will permit Florida Power & Light Company to burn high-sulfur fuels at 15 of its 21 oil fired units, including Sanford. Graham's action follows a determination by President Carter that a regional energy emergency exists in Florida because of the unavailability of low-sulfur content fuels.

Department of Environmental Regulation Secretary Jake Varn recommended the temporary suspension of air emission regulations for FP&L.

The governor also said he following an emergency hearing in Orlando Saturday.

'I agree with Secretary Varn's recommendation that we suspend certain air emission regulations to permit FP&L to burn fuel with a higher sulfur content than is normally allowed the company' — Gov. Bob Graham

"I agree with Secretary Varn's recommendation that we suspend certain air emission regulations to permit FP&L to burn fuel with a higher sulfur content than is normally allowed the company" — Gov. Bob Graham

The suspension is for a 30-day period. Any extension beyond that will require further action by both the president and the governor, but state officials say they see no problem in that area if conditions remain the same.

The governor also said he following an emergency hearing in Orlando Saturday.

The most commonly used fuel that contains low sulfur is the egg yolk. Each egg yolk contains about 25 mg of cholesterol. If you're trying to limit your intake to 300 mg a day or less and use many egg yolks, you will quickly have exceeded your allotted amount.

As a general rule, 100 grams (three-and-one-half ounces, raw weight) of the edible portion only of meat, fish and poultry contains about 70 milligrams of cholesterol. That's really very high when consumed in reasonable portions.

Butter fat contains quite a bit of cholesterol.

A DOG IN HER PATH Beverly A. Labit, 22, of 2215 Cordova Drive, Sanford, suffered cuts to both knees Monday night when the car she was driving struck a pine tree on West Crisp Drive in the Loch Arbor subdivision. Ms. Labit said she swerved off the road when a dog ran in front of her car and she turned sharply to avoid hitting the animal. She said the accident took place about 10:30 p.m. Monday. A Seminole Memorial Hospital spokesman said she is in satisfactory condition.

County Attorney Suggests Annexation Settlement

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer

The county will settle its lawsuits against three Seminole County cities — Lake Mary, Casselberry and Longwood — challenging annexations if County Attorney Nikk Clayton has his way.

Miss Clayton recommended to county commissioners in workshop session Monday that she be authorized to discuss settlement with the cities involved in the suits, especially Lake Mary over the annexation nearly two years ago of the Heathrow Planned Unit Development (PUD).

She said all three suits deal with the enclave issue. State law forbids the creation of an enclave by annexation, but the courts have not defined what an enclave is. The cities contend an enclave is a county area completely surrounded by city territory.

Commissioner Dick Williams said he was the feeling of the board at the time the suits were filed a project the site of Heathrow would have a great deal of effect on the people who live outside the city. Commissioners, adding if the county will, the final judgments in the suits will tell the cities where they made their errors so they can correct them in a subsequent annexation.

"It will just delay the annexations," Williams said.

Williams asked Miss Clayton to determine if commitments made by the owners of Heathrow — Sanford and Diluth, Minn. industrialist Jeno Paulucci and associates — to the county before the tract was annexed, are legally enforceable.

The commitments made by the Heathrow owners are contained in several large sheets of paper guaranteeing the density of the development, the roads to be dedicated, property to be given for fire station and police station sites, among other things. When the land was annexed by Lake Mary developer gave the identical commitments to the city of Lake Mary.

Miss Clayton said she will offer to Lake Mary its building inspection services. Commissioner Sandra Ginn asked her colleagues how the

Gas Supplies Subject Of Concern For Seminole Schools

By SHARON CARRASCO Herald Staff Writer

With rising gas prices and reported cutbacks in supplies, the Seminole County school system says it does not face a problem operating its school buses this year but next year may be different.

Chevron, Inc., the school's supplier, has allocated 540,000 gallons of gas at a cost of $28,500 for the county schools in 1979, said Don Coleman, chief purchasing agent for county schools.

The school district experienced a four-cent increase per gallon of gasoline about two months ago and now pays 31 cents per gallon, Coleman said.

About two weeks ago, the county was allowed to increase its then allocation of 504,733 gallons for the calendar year due to increasing transportation needs, Coleman said.

"By law, we are required to have several additional programs such as special education and these require extra bus runs," Coleman explained. "We figure about a three percent growth in student population for the county since last year."

The split session plan stated for Lake Brantley High School in September is a major factor for the request for additional gasoline this year, Coleman said.

Also known as an "extended day," the basic concept of the plan is to have juniors and seniors attend a five-hour morning session from 7 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. and freshmen and sophomores attend a five-hour afternoon session from 12:05 p.m. to 5 p.m. at the school at 975 Sand Lake Road in south Seminole County.

The split session is one solution sought by high school officials to cope with its rising enrollment until the new Lake Mary High School is completed in December, 1980. Seminole County Superintendent William P. Layer said the school board will discuss the gas situation during the budget hearings for the 1979-80 school year. The budget hearings will begin in late April and continue into May, he said.

"I am sure before this school year is out, we will have to have concrete solutions to conserve our gasoline supply," said Roy Wright of the transportation department.

In preparation of higher gas prices and reports of limited supplies, Wright said his department has developed informally several gas-saver ideas to the superintendent of schools.

"One way to save gas would possibly be to reduce the number of field trips for students each year," Wright said. "Another is possibly to reduce the number of courtesy riders."

The county school system has already taken some steps to conserve energy, Wright said. Bus drivers of the 160-fleet are assigned bus routes nearest to their homes to save gasoline, traveling to and from work, he said.

Last year, the county school board replaced its smaller capacity tanks with four 10,000-gallon tanks at key locations in the county, Coleman said.

"This way we were able to take a whole tank of gas at one time," Coleman said. "That saved us from five to six cents a gallon."

According to a recent survey, school buses in the county transported 12,468 miles per day, or 2,225,000 miles during the 1977-78 school year, Wright said. Extracurricular activities generated an additional 60,000 miles last year, he said.

Throughout the county, school buses are responsible for transporting 18,533 students to and from school per day, Wright said. To be eligible for school bus service, students must live two miles or more from their school, he said.

Approximately 1,800 students who live within the two-mile limit ride the school buses due to adverse walking conditions, he said.

All in all, the county allocates approximately $2,300,000 per year for its transportation budget, Wright said. This pays primarily the salaries of the bus drivers, the mechanics and clerical help, he said.

"The idea is not that we are able to buy gas, it is whether we will have gas to buy," Wright said.

Farr Reverses Vote, Rose Street Will Remain Open

By GEOFFREY POUNDS Herald Staff Writer

Sanford City Commissioner David Farr reversed his vote on the closing of a portion of Rose Street Monday night after it was revealed the street closing would accommodate a client Farr represents in a real estate transaction.

Farr, a broker with Stenstrom Realty, would receive the commission from the sale of a parcel of land at the northeast corner of Lakeview and Rose streets if the seller, Jeff Gierland is able to negotiate an agreement with a developer planning to put an $85,000 quadruplex on the site. However, to comply with city setback ordinances, the developer would have to close Rose Street east of Lakeview in order to meet the 20-foot frontage requirement.

"Never in my wildest dreams did I think something as simple as the vacating and abandonment of a street would cause such concern," Farr said. "I don't want to cause the city or the commission any embarrassment."

Farr declined to comment on the amount of his commission if the sale is made.

The closing of the street had drawn opposition from neighboring property owners, who claimed such action would disrupt traffic and create parking difficulties.

Attorney William Colbert, representing one nearby property owner, said the closing "could be of no benefit to the public." Acting Mayor Julian Stenstrom said the commission had received a petition with the names of 19 nearby property owners objecting to the plan.

The commission initially rejected the closing by a 2-1 vote, with Mayor Lee P. Moore and Commissioner John G. Morris absent. But City Attorney C. Vernon Mize advised the panel that three votes would be required to pass or reject a motion. On the second vote, Farr reversed his position, voted with the majority, and the closing was rejected.

Farr said he switched his vote to avoid any suggestion of a conflict of interest. He said his broker and the seller would be upset by the vote, but he added, "I am sure before this school year is out, we will have to have concrete solutions to conserve our gasoline supply."

"The absence of two commissioners, both vacationing, also prevented the city from taking action on a request to extend the condemnation process on property at 911 Elm Ave. and 409 W. Third St. A three-vote majority to grant the extension was not obtained when Stenstrom and Eddie Keith voted in favor of the request and Farr voted in opposition."

Farr said granting the extension would mean the property could not be vacated for six months. He said that was too long to allow an eyesore to exist.

But Stenstrom said the people opposing the property were due consideration by the commission since housing in Sanford "can be extremely difficult to locate." Stenstrom said the owners of the property would have difficulty gaining loans and thus attempts to bring the property up to building standards would have to be done with their own funds.

In other action, the commission: — Established a $7.50 license fee for the installation of coin operated photo copiers.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Bomb Injures Dozens In Crowded Israeli Market

TEL AVIV (UPI) — A bomb apparently set by Palestinian extremists exploded today near a fish shop in an open-air market crowded with Passover shoppers, killing one person and wounding more than 20 others, police said. Police said the one-pound bomb killed a 27-year-old man from the suburb of Herzliya and injured 22 persons, five of them seriously. However, Israeli radio said 30 people, including three children, were hospitalized. Police said the bomb, which exploded shortly after noon, the height of the shopping day, apparently was planted under one of the stalls of the Carmel market because most of the wounded suffered leg injuries. Pedestrians, repeatedly warned by authorities to beware of strange objects, alerted officials to a suspicious shopping bag left near a fish shop in the market. A city inspector was about to reach for it when it exploded.

Iran Shows Leniency

TEHRAN, Iran (UPI) — In the first act of leniency reported, an Islamic revolutionary court commuted the sentence of a SAVAK secret policeman and acquitted 16 supporters of the deposed Shah. The decision by an Islamic tribunal in Tehran Monday, though coinciding with nine more executions, appeared to be an attempt to placate international criticism of the summary executions of officials and military leaders who served Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi. Iran also announced Monday it had increased oil production to more than 4 million barrels a day in an effort to help the country's faltering economy.

Labor Leader Tortured

BOGOTA, Columbia (UPI) — A labor union leader was tortured by Colombian security police who forced him to sit on an antihill crawling with poisonous ants, the union has charged in a complaint. The incident occurred last week at security police headquarters in Medellin, 160 miles northwest of Bogota, said the complaint filed Monday by the Antioquia Workers Union. Police stripped Campesino Sierra, who was picked up by police for questioning about a robbery at the food store where he is employed and forced him to sit for 20 minutes on the antihill. He told union officials he fainted due to the effects of the ant bites, then was shut in a dark cell for 26 hours before being released.

Russia Buys More Grain

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Russia has bought more than 8 million metric tons of U.S. grain this year, according to the purchase of another 500,000 metric tons of corn and 150,000 metric tons of wheat. The sales were reported previously by private exporters, but the destination of the shipments was unknown until an Agriculture Department report Monday. Several recent orders pushed Russian purchases of U.S. grain to 6 million metric tons — 5.63 million metric tons of corn and 24 million bushels of wheat — in the third year of a five-year U.S.-Soviet grain agreement. The Russians are obligated to buy at least 6 million tons under the agreement.

Guerrillas Take Town

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) — Sandinista guerrillas dug into the northern city of Estelí today, building barricades and roadblocks to step up their drive to oust President Anastasio Somoza, residents said. The rebels' capture of Estelí came amid reports that at least two national guard bases in the northern town were killed in pitched battles in the north and along the Costa Rican border in the south. Somoza is in the United States visiting members of his family and said he won't be back in Nicaragua until Monday.

Warplanes Hit Base

LUSAKA, Zambia (UPI) — Rhodesian warplanes attacked a major guerrilla base on the outskirts of Lusaka today, causing many casualties. Cars and ambulances carrying wounded could be seen roaring through the city on the way to hospitals, but the exact toll from the raid 10 miles from downtown Lusaka was not known. The raid, the first attack against guerrilla targets inside Zambia by Rhodesian forces in more than a month, followed an announcement by Joshua Nkomo's group that its forces were preparing to launch a general offensive in an all-out effort to wreck Rhodesia's elections next week.

Sanford Man Robbed At Knife Point

A Sanford man was robbed at knifepoint by a blackmailer who had given a ride to Monday afternoon, Sanford police said. Roy H. Tolson, 32, of 1913 W. Third St., picked up the hitchhiker on Highway 17-92 near the Sanford Plaza at about 3:30 p.m., police said. Once inside the car the rider pulled a small knife and ordered Tolson to turn off on 28th Street and park the car, police said. Police said the hitchhiker then struck Tolson in the head with his fist and, while holding the knife to Tolson's throat, took $50 from his wallet. Police said the assailant was a white male, 18 or 19 years old with blond hair and a scar on his nose.

Research Program Looks For Answer

Mosquitoes: Where Are They From?

The research program into the blind mosquito (midge) which infests the Sanford lakefront at certain times of the year, will zero in on whether the pesky creatures are migrating to the area in addition to coming in from Lake Monroe.

Dr. Arabad Ali, conducting the research, said he needs to determine if the midges are emanating out of the Florida Power & Light reservoir, and Lake Monroe areas only or from elsewhere as well.

Dr. Ali, an assistant professor at the University of Florida (U of F), has been conducting the research from the U of F Agriculture, Research and Education Center on Cery Avenue, Sanford, and gave a status report on the research to the Sanford Rotary Club Monday.

He said while his research has shown that more midges emerge from the 1,100-acre reservoir than from the 9,000 acre Lake Monroe, "there is no evidence the reservoir is a major cause of the problem." "I have not done migratory studies, but I will do these studies this summer," he said.

Uganda: Destruction Is Everywhere

Editors note: UPI correspondent Tony Avirgan is the first journalist to visit Tanzanian troops fighting inside Uganda. Following is a delayed dispatch from Avirgan in the town of Entebbe, just south of the capital of Kampala.

BY TONY AVIRGAN
ENTEBBE, Uganda (UPI) — The burned-out hulks of Idi Amin's air force — MIG fighters, a Boeing 707 and a Libyan C-130 transport — lay smoldering on the runways of Entebbe's international airport, ironically still in view of a huge portrait of the Ugandan dictator himself.

At Amin's beautiful British colonial stables overlooking the vast expanse of Lake Victoria, a Tanzanian soldier lay on an expensive leopard carpet near his anti-aircraft gun. Other Tanzanian troops had looted the stables itself and cartons from settees, liquor and television sets dotted the otherwise immaculate lawns.

In town, civilians and exile guerrillas looted deserted homes and stores, piling mattresses, clothing and anything movable onto bicycles and into cars.

I drove from the Tanzanian border with members of the invading army to this town just south of Amin's beleaguered capital of Kampala.

Everywhere I saw widespread signs of destruction and looting with entire villages pulverized by artillery and warplanes and then stripped bare by marauding guerrillas or even civilians. But if the property damage has been great in the war, Tanzanian army officers told me casualties had been relatively light.

When I visited the airport, several of the aircraft were still smoldering. Tanzanian warplanes a week ago bombed a runway and destroyed the deserted stores and houses, many of which belonged to army and government personnel.

The story of looting, pillage and destruction was the same everywhere.

Heaviest Attack On City

Tanzanian Warplanes Blast Kampala

NAIROBI, Kenya (UPI) — Despite the "noise and thunder," initial reports indicated there were few casualties in the heaviest attack on the city, smashing down buildings, disrupting electricity supplies and sending thousands of persons scurrying for cover. Some residents said they spotted low-flying Tanzanian MIG warplanes bombing the outskirts of the city as Tanzanian ground forces encircled a furious barrage of artillery and "Stalin-organ" rockets against the capital throughout the day.

Raidings and roads near Kampala's downtown gold-roofed conference center were closed with shells and shrapnel.

There was a direct hit on a mission school on Rubaga Hill in Kampala which blew out the school windows but none of the girls and boys in the mess inside were hurt. They immediately left the building.

Other rockets and artillery slammed into exclusive Kololo and other sections of the city.

NATION IN BRIEF

Senate Circumvents Showdown On Prayer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate, apparently unable to defeat the issue of allowing prayers in public schools, has taken the long way around to avoid a showdown on the emotional issue.

The winner, if there was one in the two days of skirmishing, was the proposed new education department. The leaders indicated it stood no chance of passage if the prayer amendment were attached to it.

One of its last actions before taking a 12-day recess over Easter and Passover, the Senate attached the voluntary prayer amendment to a bill that has little chance of enactment, then eliminated it from the education department bill, which the administration did not want jeopardized by the controversy.

The issue came up suddenly last Thursday when an amendment by Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., to the education department bill was adopted, 47-37. It would have overturned the Supreme Court ruling outlawing all voluntary prayer in public schools and buildings.

Lance Charge Denied

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Justice Department says there is "no factual basis" to Bert Lance's charges that prosecutors and grand jurors improperly leaked information to reporters about the secret investigation of his banking practices.

Government lawyers argued in a court brief Monday that Lance failed to show any "specific" evidence of violations by prosecutors or jurors of grand jury secrecy rules.

"With respect to the various statements reported in the press citing Department of Justice sources, there is but one instance in which an individual — the attorney general — is specifically identified," the brief said.

Illinois AG Indicted

CHICAGO (UPI) — Illinois Attorney General William J. Scott, the most popular Republican vote-getter in the state, has been indicted on five counts of income tax evasion following a two-year investigation he insists was a political witch hunt.

Scott, who built a reputation during more than a decade in office as a pollution-fighter and consumer advocate, maintained he is innocent and said U.S. Attorney Thomas P. Sullivan, who announced the indictment Monday, has a conflict of interest in the case.

Despite the widely reported federal grand jury investigation, Scott was re-elected to a fourth term last November by a plurality of more than 1 million votes over a Democrat backed by the Chicago machine. On Feb. 22, Scott announced he would run for the Senate seat being vacated by Adlai E. Stevenson, D-III.

They're Too Old To Divorce

TOPEKA, Kan. (UPI) — Because an elderly rural Kansas couple is married, the U.S. Department of Agriculture won't allow them to receive two disaster benefit payments for their separately operated farms. And Don and Ethel Martin of Syracuse, Kan., say they're too old to divorce over the matter.

So the Martins have filed a class-action suit asking USDA regulations on disaster aid be declared unconstitutional. U.S. District Judge Richard Rogers took the matter under advisement Monday following a 1½-hour hearing.

Mrs. Martin, 70, operates a 9,000-acre farm in Kearney County, Martin, 88, operates a 2,000-acre farm in Hamilton County.

Presley's Dad 'Stable'

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — Vernon Presley — father of the late Elvis Presley — was reported in stable condition on his 52nd birthday today at Baptist Hospital after suffering a "severe" heart attack earlier in the week.

Presley, walking into the hospital emergency room Saturday, complaining of chest pains and was admitted for observation and treatment. His condition worsened the next day when he developed an irregular heartbeat.

Hospital vice president Maurice Elliott said Presley "had a severe attack about 11 p.m. Sunday" and was transferred to the coronary care unit after his condition stabilized.

USS Nautilus Ends Career

The Nautilus, which for surpassed the science-fiction adventures of the deep sea craft for which it was named, wasn't showing the flag when it steamed from the U.S. Navy submarine base at 2:02 p.m. — just two minutes behind schedule.

House Ups Work Benefits

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — With critics complaining that Florida's employers need a lot more rate relief, the House passed a workman's compensation bill today that increases benefits and cuts rates 10 percent.

The Senate meanwhile passed 26-10 and sent to the House legislation (SB272) requiring community colleges give at least half of their athletic scholarships to Florida residents. They mostly are for basketball. Sponsors complained too many of the two-year colleges are ignoring Floridians and turning to other states for their athletic stars. The House-passed workman's compensation bill includes the wage-loss concept which is the heart of the Senate plan, but has higher benefits for injured workers well as lower costs to the employers. The plan, proposed by a rare union-management combination, comprised of the Florida AFL-CIO and Associated Industries, the business lobby, was endorsed by Speaker Hyatt Brown as a tool to head off a move against any substantial reform.

Lykens Doesn't Get Job

A Sanford police officer was rejected for the position of Orange City police chief by the Orange City Council Monday.

William F. Lykens, on leave from the Sanford Police Patrol Division, had applied for the Orange City job and had been the top choice of Mayor Willard to name his own police chief while the mayor was on vacation. Lykens said he was "disappointed" by the council decision which he termed "unofficial." Lykens served with the Sanford police eight years and rose to the position of head of detectives. However, he was transferred from the position following an organizational shuffle of the police department in January. Lykens subsequently took a leave of absence to seek another job.

Ronstadt Unhappy About Attention

NAIROBI, Kenya (UPI) — California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. mixed business with pleasure today, promoting a "solar technicians corps" with Kenyan President Daniel Arap Moi and enjoying the colonial-style charms of Nairobi with companion Lillian Ronstadt.

In an apparent throw-away remark, a Ronstadt companion said, "She may go to lunch. She may go shopping. Or she may go home. We're dealing with two individuals who do what they want."

President Moi and Brown spent most of their meeting discussing environmental and solar problems and possible exchanges between Kenyan and Californian universities.

Brown followed up his meeting with Moi with visits with U.S. Ambassador Wilbert Lendell, members of the Peace Corps in Kenya and U.N. officials concerned with environmental problems.

Before his meetings Brown and Miss Ronstadt enjoyed a leisurely breakfast at Nairobi's oldest hotel, the Norfolk, one of the country's most famous landmarks and the former smart headquarters of such figures as Theodore Roosevelt and Winston Churchill.

Brown, obviously displeased by the widespread press coverage of his three-day mission through Africa, refused to answer any questions about his politically delicate relations with Miss Ronstadt but talked at length about his position for the environment.

Southern Bell Dedication Wednesday

Dedication ceremonies and an open house are planned Wednesday at the new $11 million administrative facilities of Southern Bell Tel. Co., the firm's manager Tom Hunt said today.

34 Arrested For Drugs

BRANDON, Fla. (UPI) — About 65 Hillsborough County sheriff's deputies swooped down on the Brandon area today and made 34 arrests on various charges involving the sale of drugs, some of it to junior high school pupils.

Officers said they expected to make 15 more arrests later in the day and Wednesday. Sheriff Walter C. Heinrich said the raids culminated a month and a half investigation which began when Brandon area civic leaders complained of drug traffic in their neighborhoods, particularly among pupils at an area junior high school.

In And Around Sanford Gala Benefit Sets Pace For The Easter Parade

A collection of Spring '79 fashions combined with a collection of Sanford and area fashionable women set the pace for a delightful luncheon-fashion show at the Sanford Civic Center — just in time for Easter.

"Set Your Heart on Springs," a benefit for the American Heart Association, was sponsored by the Seminole County Medical Society Auxiliary (SCMSA), the Junior Woman's Club of Sanford, and Eastern Airlines (EAL) Silverliners (an organization for EAL stewardesses), Orlando.

Before the benefit got underway, at least one guest stopped traffic. A truck stopped on Sanford Avenue as a woman stepped from her car, causing other traffic to stop. The driver and his partner told the woman "She sure was beautiful!"

Beverly Huffman, Mary Meade, Dr. David Theis, Dr. Clyde Meade, Lisa Clontz and Shayne Stewart.

Now ladies, hear this! Spring '79 is the year of the dress, hat, gloves and clutch bag. Clothes look like a return to the 40s and Coco Chanel.

Blazers are real big to cover everything from the slim, slit skirts to pants of every description.

In fact, nearly everything goes this season with wide scarfs, lots of jewelry and blouses tied at the waist. Expensive natural fabrics, such as silk and cotton are back on the spring scene.

Following the super fashion show, Dolores Miranda narrated another fashion show — uniforms of Eastern Airlines stewardesses, dating back to 1950.

Jean Clontz, a former EAL stewardess, was one of the models. The first uniform was navy polka dot (tightly to the ankle) with a matching small cloche, and navy and white steeple pumps.

Not only were the two shows and luncheon the last word, but the spectators, who each made a $10 donation were reflections of spring fashions on parade.

"It was lovely, just lovely," Corinne Campbell said. "It's the nicest thing I've been to since I've been in Sanford (over three years). The doctors wives were all so pretty."

Another unidentified woman said, "It's about time for class to return around here. This is sorta like the good old days of several years ago when women got all gussied up to go out."

How many women showed up wearing new Easter bonnets, or maybe wearing an antique chapeau, is anybody's guess. Sheila Roberts greeted the guests at the door wearing a white dress and a wide-brimmed white hat.

Anita Barries was dressed in a white suit with red accessories and a big big red hat. Mary Blair wore a black and white polka dot frock enhanced with white lace, and a black straw picture hat.

Berta Hall was in Sanford for the event. Berta was wearing a hot pink dress with a white tulip hat.

Miriam Phillips, Mary Meade and Elaine Schelsky. Following the catered luncheon which rated "a golden spoon award," the fashion show got underway. Models showed exciting modes for the moods of spring and summer, ranging from fun in the sun attire to the mystique and glamour of after five creations.

Many of the fashions shown, from the country's major blouses, are available in Sanford and area stores. Local models assisting the other models were Beverly Huffman, Mary Meade, Dr. David Theis, Dr. Clyde Meade, Lisa Clontz and Shayne Stewart.

Among the other wearing hats (that I could see from my post) were Bonnie Schumacher, Colleen Pope and Rae Armstrong.

Two lovely heart and fashion supporters sitting close who seemed to be enjoying the festivities were Bernice Clements, Gail Stewart's mother from DeLand, and Gloria Burke, Dr. Roger Stewart's mother from Deltona.

The drawing for many door prizes ended the gala benefit which another guest described as "perfect — just perfect."

'New Me' Thin Wife Weak And Trampy

DEAR ABBY: I'm 29, married and mixed up. All my life I was a fat girl with a pretty face, but a good man fell in love with me and married me.

Two years ago I took off 55 pounds. I love myself thin, but now I've got problems I never had before.

I men started noticing me. I got involved with a man at work who gave me a line I was dumb enough to fall for. ("Divorce your husband and marry me.")

Well, I asked my husband for a divorce. I confessed everything, and then the other guy backed off. The rat! I felt like two cents. Thank God, my husband forgave me. Then I got involved with a married neighbor who had a reputation for fooling around. In the middle of that affair I started up another, with a salesman, younger than myself, who calls on our office.

DEAR ABBY: I never had these problems when I was fat. I don't want to be fat again, but the "new me" is so weak and trampy I can't stand to live with myself. Please help me.

THIN AND MIXED-UP
 DEAR THIN: You apparently still think of yourself as the "fat girl" so many would "waste." You need to keep giving to yourself that you're desirable. Get some counseling and become acquainted with the other up for adoption. Abby, can you believe this? Their reason is so terrible that I'm almost ashamed to tell you.

One of the twins was born with a club foot and a cleft palate. The other twin is perfect. Both are beautiful and otherwise healthy. They want to keep the perfect one and give the other away. The thought of separating these twin babies makes me sick.

I've tried to tell my daughter that the club foot and cleft palate can be corrected with surgery, but she says that six children are all they can afford.

I offered to take the defective baby, but she says it would create problems to have her in the family. She's already contacted an adoption agency, and a childless couple is waiting to adopt the twin.

Can you help me? Please hurry.

HEARTSICK GRANNY
 DEAR GRANNY: Urge your daughter to see a psychiatrist. She may be suffering from a temporary depression from which she will recover.

However, should your daughter go through with the adoption, it will not be final for a year. But should she reconsider in the meantime, what a cruel ordeal for the adoptive parents!

Official Issues Alert

Sanford City Commissioner Julian Stenstrom has alerted telephone solicitations for advertising and the sale of tickets that the solicitors calling themselves the "Central Florida Police Benevolent Association" do not represent the Sanford Police Department. "The telephone solicitors claim they represent all the police departments in Central Florida. I don't think they represent all the police officers in Seminole County and certainly not Sanford police officers," Stenstrom said. He said he received such a solicitation. But Stenstrom said the Sanford Police Department has its own police benevolent association. He said the telephone solicitors are attempting to sell advertisements and tickets to a policeman's ball.

Blind Services At Issue Park Plans On 'Hold' Over Legal Opinion

By GEOFFREY POUNDS
Herald Staff Writer

An opinion by Florida Attorney General Jim Smith stating only vending stands operated by "Blind Services" can be placed on county-owned facilities has put a hold on plans by the Seminole County Parks and Recreation Department to negotiate contracts with private vendors for the sale of refreshments during special events.

Blind Services is a division of the Florida Department of Education. The office operates training programs for the legally blind and attempts to place blind employees in competitive employment situations, including vending stand operations.

Florida law permits a state political subdivision, such as a county or municipality, to restrict vending stand operations to the blind, but it does not require that restriction. Blind Services Director Fred Wedmore said. But planned contracts in the future have raised the question.

"This decision has put a temporary monkey wrench into those plans," Bob McMillan of the county attorney's office said today of the attorney general's opinion. McMillan said the vending stands in county-owned buildings are now operated by Blind Services, but whether or not a temporary refreshment stand at a park would be within the scope of the attorney general's opinion remains unclear.

According to McMillan, Butch Alexander of the parks and recreation department had asked the county attorney's office whether or not it would be a violation to permit a private vendor from coming onto county park property and sell refreshments during special events such as a softball tournament or a tennis match. In the past, such stands have not been available to spectators, a parks and recreation spokesman said. But planned contracts in the future have raised the question.

The temporary refreshment stands the parks and recreation department would be interested in would be placed at Red Bud Park and Seminole Park, a spokesman said.

If the county is required to limit vending sales to Blind Service workers there may be a question of whether or not the service can be provided on a temporary basis.

"I don't think we'd be interested in anything that is temporary whether or not it would be a violation to permit a private vendor from coming onto county park property and sell refreshments during special events such as a softball tournament or a tennis match. In the past, such stands have not been available to spectators, a parks and recreation spokesman said. But planned contracts in the future have raised the question.

CALLING ALL CUSTOMERS

Southern Bell Telephone Co. held dedication ceremonies this morning at its new $1 million facility at 3000 Southgate Road, across from the Sanford Plaza. On hand were Mayor Julian Stenstrom, the American Legion Auxiliary Post 53 (above) which donated an American flag. An open house is being held today from 9:30 a.m. until 6:30 p.m. and Brent Kelly, 5, (at left) took advantage to test a Mickey Mouse telephone. On hand for the ribbon cutting was City Commissioner Julian Stenstrom. The Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce coordinated the ceremonies.

County Seeks Legal Opinion On Heathrow PUD Status

County Attorney Nikki Kirsholtz's suggestion that the county commission settle its 30-year-old lawsuit with the city of Lake Mary over the annexation of the 1,000-acre Heathrow Planned Unit Development has been met with requests for further legal research.

Commissioner Bill Kirsholtz and Dick Williams asked the attorney to determine whether "a document of commission-annexation" between developer, James Paddock, Sanford and Lake Mary, industrial, and the county is enforceable within the city of Lake Mary or not.

Kirsholtz, at the same time, asked Miss Clayton to determine whether the city of Lake Mary can change the zoning on the property for two years after the PUD is annexed.

Miss Clayton told commissioners this week it might be the wisest course for the county to settle with the city, by an agreement, offering to let the city use county building inspectors to oversee construction work when it begins. She said all the county's mat-challenging the July, 1977 annexation of the parcel could accomplish if the county wins and the lawsuit is over. The city would win if it delays rather than prevent the annexation. Miss Clayton said the ultimate court decision in this case would let the city where it made the legal errors in the original annexation or those errors could be corrected in another annexation ordinance.

The city adopted the ordinance of annexation in July, 1977 and adopted at the same time a 15-page list of commitments from the developer originally submitted to the county to the property.

The commitments include the land use on various portions of the property, the type of development and density, drainage, promise to set aside school areas, cash donations for recreation and park sites, developers who have developed property within the unincorporated areas of Seminole County.

"The county and the developers have both signed those contracts and contracts run with the land. PUD zoning is a unique zoning animal, and it is my impression the commitments are legal contracts," Williams said.

"It would give those people in the unincorporated areas who would be impacted by the development a voice. County Commissioners are elected by people both within and outside the cities," Williams said.

DOT Wants $40,000 To Implement 'HOV'

By SHARON CARRASCO
Herald Staff Writer

The Florida Department of Transportation (DOT) will try to get $40,000 to wage a publicity campaign to implement the high occupancy lanes along I-4 in parts of Seminole County, said Bill McKelvey, deputy director of DOT engineering.

DOT is proposing the installation of high occupancy vehicle lanes along I-4 from U.S. 192 (SR 530) Osceola County to SR 454 in Seminole County. DOT officials say these lanes would encourage car-pooling which could lead to decreasing gasoline consumption.

The meeting will meet with the Metropolitan Planning Organization (MPO) Thursday to request $40,000 to finance a public information campaign for residents in the high occupancy area where the high occupancy lanes will be installed, McKelvey said.

The meeting will be at 3:30 p.m. at the Orlando Public Library, 10 N. Rosalind Ave. The high occupancy vehicle lanes would be installed on the far left lanes of the highway in the east and west direction. The lanes would be reserved during peak hours of travel by motorists carrying two or more passengers.

"We are talking about a two-hour period in the morning and a two-hour period in the afternoon for when the lanes would be in effect," McKelvey said.

"The incentive for using these lanes is they are less crowded," said W. G. Gray, DOT spokesman.

In other business, DOT will ask the support of the MPO to conduct an environmental impact assessment for installing the high occupancy vehicle lanes along I-4 between Orange Blossom Trail and Par Avenue, McKelvey said. This assessment will provide the "missing link" for environmental impact studies already conducted to evaluate the lane's impact, he said.

"We have environmental impact statements already complete for the two projects under construction," McKelvey said. "The statements are for the poles between U.S. 192 and SR 454 and between Par Avenue and the Maitland interchange."

Second Suit Vowed Over Gun Permits

The Seminole County Commission voted 4-1 Tuesday to deny a request for a concealed weapon permit and was threatened with court action by the applicant, Robert George Galley, owner-operator of K-9 Orlando, a security dog agency.

The commissioners are already involved in a lawsuit, currently being considered by the Fourth District Court of Appeals, over its refusal to issue a concealed weapon permit to Harvey E. Morse, a private detective, on Dec. 6, 1977.

"I'm going to file a lawsuit," Galley said, after commissioners turned down his request Tuesday. "It took seven years before I got a concealed weapon permit in Orange County and I'm going to get one here, too," he said.

County commissioners have not issued any concealed weapons permits in Seminole, indicating they feel they have not been shown that any real drivers have been assaulted, Galley said he works with several police departments in Central Florida and needs the permit for self protection.

"I've never had to use a gun," he said even though he has been in his line of work 12 to 14 years, part of that time as a police officer in the cities of Baltimore and Washington, D.C., "I hope I never have the occasion to use a gun. I take my chances."

Under questioning from Commissioner Dick Williams, Galley said, if he had a non-concealed weapons permit he could wear it only on the properties his agency is protecting. "It's only clandestine use of the permit," he said. "The inconvenience of putting the weapon on and taking it off between stops."

"I don't see how hiding the gun provides more protection," Williams said. French said Galley failed to show or demonstrate a compelling circumstance of the need for a concealed weapon.

Commissioner Sandra Glenn who opposed denying the permit, said Galley had demonstrated he wants to operate within the law by acquiring the permit and going through the complex procedures to apply for the permit. "Denying the permit is not going to do away with concealed weapons," she said.

Galley said he has been in his line of work 12 to 14 years, part of that time as a police officer in the cities of Baltimore and Washington, D.C., "I hope I never have the occasion to use a gun. I take my chances."

Under questioning from Commissioner Dick Williams, Galley said, if he had a non-concealed weapons permit he could wear it only on the properties his agency is protecting. "It's only clandestine use of the permit," he said. "The inconvenience of putting the weapon on and taking it off between stops."

"I don't see how hiding the gun provides more protection," Williams said. French said Galley failed to show or demonstrate a compelling circumstance of the need for a concealed weapon.

Commissioner Sandra Glenn who opposed denying the permit, said Galley had demonstrated he wants to operate within the law by acquiring the permit and going through the complex procedures to apply for the permit. "Denying the permit is not going to do away with concealed weapons," she said.
