Residents Asked To Help Care For Tourists In Miami

Half Million Crowd City, Hotels And Apartments Filled

MIAMI, Feb. 19.—(AP)—Some 500,000 persons, most of them Northern winter visitors seeking warm weather and escape from chilly weather, are bringing back memories of boom days and taking the taxing facilities of Greater Miami, which normally has a population of about 150,000.

With every room in downtown hotels taken only some 30 vacant apartments left, and the bulk of the season's expected until March by chambers of commerce officials, many sectioned trains, planes, buses, steamships and private cars continued hauling capacity loads into this balmy resort city.

There is a heavier flow of automobile traffic on Miami's streets now than at the height of the real estate boom a decade ago, said Chief of Police W. J. McCarthy who used car figures to estimate the Miami area had a present population of "half a million."

While no accurate winter census can be taken, because of people constantly arriving and departing, Chief McCarthy figured there were 200,000 cars on Miami's streets, where ordinarily there are between 45,000 and 50,000. Incoming traffic is far heavier than outgoing, he said.

A check made by the chamber of commerce Monday found all downtown hotel rooms occupied. J. R. Keyton, president of the Greater Miami Apartment Trust Association, said only about 30 vacant apartments were reported. The Miami Beach Chamber of Commerce reported they still were some apartments available there.

An appeal from the Miami trade body for residents to throw open their spare rooms for rent to tourists brought more than 1000 listings. Most of them were filled immediately.

Women's Pageant To Mark Strides Made During Half Century

LONDON, Feb. 19.—(AP)—Britain's women have steadily invaded the professions and industries. As a result, there are in Britain today: 966 women iron-mongers, 2,906 women tobacco merchants, 21 women makers of bricks and pottery, and 60 women garage proprietors.

A pageant of their progress and triumphs is to be given at the first exhibition of Women's Progress in 50 years, to be held in London from Mar. 4 to 21.

Men will take part in the exhibition only as "guest artists." Women will do the planning, organizing and managing of the exhibition.

Director Of Foreign Council Failed Once In History Courses

CLEVELAND, Feb. 19.—(AP)—When Brooks Etnyre was a boy in Salem, O., 15 years ago, he failed in history and geography courses in his school.

Now he is educational director of the Foreign Affairs Council here, and one of the most sought after commentators on foreign affairs.

The trouble with history in the old days, he says, was not in the subject matter, but in the way teachers offered it. It's still true to an extent, he says.

"The subjects frankly bored me," he explains. "As in so many schools, they were dry because they were taught on a basis of facts and not of interpretation. That's the trouble. We have set up a scholarship on a basis of mentioning. We don't teach pupils to think."

Balls Out Too Late. Army Aviator Killed

BEAUMONT, Texas, Feb. 19.—(AP) Lieut. Laurence C. Westley of Barksdale Field, Shreveport, La., was killed when he bled to death after his disabled plane had fallen to within 500 feet of the ground before heiling out in his parachute in a crash yesterday 100 miles east of Louisville, Ky. Sgt. W. J. Kline called the plane down and rescued the aviator.

Sound Wagons To Be Used In Campaigns In State This Year

TALLAHASSEE, Feb. 19.—(AP)—It looks like a banner year for the sound-wagon business in Florida politics.

At least three candidates for governor are carrying their "sound-wagons" around with them in their campaign trips. In addition to supplying amplification for the candidate's words, the sound equipment is available for musical selections at political picnics.

"It took it for granted that all the fellows would have sound wagons, and so I had one fixed up for myself," was the way one candidate explained the mounting of loudspeakers on top of his automobile.

The late Huey Long of Louisiana brought the sound-wagon into popular use in political campaigning. He used it successfully in his own campaign and also used it in helping Mrs. Horie Caraway get elected in Arkansas.

California's version of the TVA is, according to the St. Petersburg Independent a "Turn Vagrants Around." That might well be Florida's too. This state is overrun with hitchhikers, itinerant peddlers, gamblers, racketeers, and confidence men.

The New Deal's Supreme Court record to date is as follows: gold cases won, 5 to 4; Railroad retirement Act lost, 5 to 4; "Hot Oil" case lost, 8 to 1; farm mortgage relief act lost, 9 to 0; NRA lost 9 to 0; AAA lost, 6 to 3; impounded AAA taxes lost 9 to 0; TVA won, 8 to 1.

Beloved Roddey Burdine, who died today, enjoyed many "firsts." Unquestionably Miami's First Citizen in civic measurement, he was also first in the hearts of Miamians. He probably was first among heavily insured Miamians. He was easily first among local sport fishermen, both in skill and enthusiasm. Among the first to recognize harmful civic trends, he usually was first to try correction. As first in the hearts of Miamians, Roddey may have proved to be the last so greatly loved citizen. —Miami Daily News.

Those who like peace, quiet, comfort, will not be pleased with the age in which they live unless they can close their eyes to the newspapers and refuse to hear or see the things that are going on about them. Revolutions, strikes, rioting, social strife and discord are everywhere apparent from the banks of the Yangtze-kiang to the Argentine pampas. Even in this country we are not immune, and underlying the seeming quietude are conditions which predict a storm, who like excitement, think that what may happen is better than what is, could not have chosen more thrilling time in which

A Billion Dollar Magnet

We have heard a great deal during the past years about the tremendous sums which the government is borrowing in order to carry on the many depression panaceas with which it is experimenting. Since this program of borrowing our way out of the depression began, the government's debt has been increased from approximately 16 billion dollars to something more than 30 billion dollars. In addition to the funds which have been borrowed, huge additional expenditures have been financed through additional taxation, such as the now invalidated AAA's processing taxes, and the new liquor taxes.

What the government does with all this money is fairly obvious to everyone. More than one billion dollars of it was paid to farmers to get them to reduce their crops. Another billion or so went to the CCC camps where young men are engaged cleaning up the woods. But the great majority of it has gone into such projects as were sponsored by the CWA, the PWA, the WPA, and the FERA. Some of them no doubt represent worthwhile improvements or construction of lasting benefit to the country, but many of them have been nothing more nor less than daisy picking projects or cross state canals, best characterized perhaps by the word, boondoggling.

Now that these billions have been spent, we wonder how many of the unemployed are any better off today than they were when the depression first began and the government's money first began its outward flow? They have been fed of course, and that was essential. But they have been fed in the most expensive manner possible, with the great bulk of the money going for "administrative expenses." How many of the unemployed have been able to save anything out of what they have been paid? How many of them would know where their next meal was coming from if government aid were unexpectedly withdrawn? Wouldn't they be in the same fix they were three or four years ago if the limit of the government debt were suddenly reached?

The government has turned over billions of dollars to the unemployed. These in turn have handed it over to the merchants and the merchants have spent it with the manufacturers. This business has shown a wonderful improvement. But the unemployed are right where they were before. And the government is billions of dollars more in debt. Now who has all the money which the government has been borrowing and spending? The unemployed haven't got it. Not many of the little business men and merchants have got any of it. But big business has gotten plenty of it.

According to Standard Statistics, Inc., reports from 237 leading corporations showed an increase in net profits last year of 48 percent. The giant U. S. Steel Corporation finished 1935 some $22,000,000 better off than at the close of the previous year. General Motors Corporation made a net profit of $167,000,000 in 1935 as compared with $94,760,000 in 1934. Bethlehem Steel Corporation made $4,291,000 last year as compared with $550,000 the year before. Chrysler Corporation had a profit of $24,975,000 last year and only $9,534,000 in 1934. And E. I. duPont de Nemours & Co., the famous duPont corporation, increased its profits from $16,701,000 to $62,085,000.

And so the rich get richer while the poor are no better off than they were before. And who is going to pay for all this? Not the rich, because there aren't enough of them. Not the poor because they haven't got anything anyway. But the great middle class. Those who earn from $1,500 a year to $10,000 a year. They are the suckers.

The Necessity Of Advertising

A movement to improve the state-controlled retail stores by breeding a spirit of competition and stimulating customer interest has been inaugurated by Soviet authorities, according to Joseph B. Phillips, Moscow correspondent of the New York Herald Tribune. "Among the devices they are borrowing from non-Socialist merchants," writes Mr. Phelps, "are the creation of a national advertising bureau, the organizing of brigades of house-to-house or factory-to-factory canvassers and the use for the first time of full-page advertising spreads in the newspapers."

"Such measures indicate that serious efforts are now being made to change the former unprepossessing appearance of the retail stores while at the same time informing the public that advertising and competition as used in the Socialist state will not have such 'base profit-grabbing motives' as when practiced by the capitalists."

"Already the public is beginning to feel the effect. The appearance of Moscow stores has undergone a truly surprising change in the last three months, and, while there are still many delays and inconveniences, such innovations have appeared as a dress shop with mannequins and a restaurant on the balcony of the central department store where a jazz orchestra plays. The national advertising bureau organized a commissariat for home trade and a central agency will take charge of all retail advertising."

It pays to advertise, even in Russia.

BY-PRODUCTS AND YARDSTICKS

The TVA decision of the Supreme Court, far-reaching as it is, still leaves unsettled some important questions arising from the federal government's program in the Tennessee Valley.

The court decided only on the comparatively simple dispute over the right of the government to sell surplus power generated at Wilson Dam. In reaching its decision approving such sale, the court majority held to the opinion that the primary purpose of this part of the TVA program was to control navigation and to provide for national defense.

There was no dispute before the court over the government's lack of authority to produce power directly for sale. It was admitted that the only power the government can sell is that which is a by-product arising from exercise of the constitutional authority to build dams for flood control and to produce goods needed for national defense. The question came down, therefore, to whether the power produced at Muscle Shoals was an incidental by-product or the primary product.

The Supreme Court has declared now that Muscle Shoals power is incidental and that the government can sell and distribute it. Thus the decision is one of fact, and differs from the opinion handed down in Birmingham by the late Judge Grubb and the contention of the Alabama Power Company stockholders that the avowed intention of the government, even though it was not so specifically stated in the act, was to enter into competition with the power industry and provide a yardstick by which power rates might be measured.

In the light of this decision, the government is still barred, apparently, from setting up plants with the production of electrical energy as the primary purpose. Whatever the government may undertake in the future along its waterways will be subject to judicial interpretation as to its purpose. The end remains the important thing.

Thus the government's yardstick program is endangered unless the Supreme Court can be kept convinced that the power division of the TVA is concerned primarily with flood control and national defense and that sale of power is incidental. The Supreme Court has decided as far as Wilson Dam is concerned. But what of electricity that may be produced at Norris Dam and Joe Wheeler Dam or at any dams that may be built as a part of the TVA development? Wilson Dam was started at a time when there was little thought of any long-time social and economic planning. The later dams are the result of a more ambitious undertaking which many persons have attacked as socialistic. The court's attitude in their case would determine more accurately how far the government can go in producing power by which to measure the charges made to consumers. Some "yardstick" will be possible under the decision of the court Monday even though as a result of that decision the government presumably will be confined to selling whatever power might be incidental to its legitimate purposes. For that reason the public generally will be pleased at the TVA decision. Incomplete as that decision is in meeting the question of the constitutionality of the entire TVA program, it does permit the government to sell power under conditions that make possible some comparison with private costs.

If the public is to receive the maximum benefit from the decision, however, the "yardstick" must be a fair one. Quota of production must be made comparable. The public will suffer in the long run if the government muzzles the advantages of its position to set its costs of production below that privately possible.

In a minor way the nation will be glad that this decision was by an eight to one vote. There have been so many close rulings on the government program that some persons have been inclined to charge partisan influence in the court.

F. D. R. 'Liked The Cut Of His Jibs,' Selected Swanson
By HERBERT PLUMMER
WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—(AP) When Mr. Roosevelt took Claude Swanson from the Senate and made him secretary of the navy, the only reason he gave for his choice was the nautical observation: "I like the cut of his jib."

Politicians had another theory: that it was to make way for the entry of Harry Flood Byrd of Virginia into the Senate. At any rate Byrd did succeed Swanson. The fact might have entered into Swanson's selection to the cabinet. Politics has a way of intruding into all things of that nature. But there's another angle that might well be considered.

President Roosevelt has never forgotten the days when he served as assistant secretary of the navy. He treasures those associations as among the most pleasant of his career. It is evidenced by the fact that he chose his old chief—Joseph Daniels, secretary of the navy in the Wilson administration—to be ambassador to Mexico.

It is further shown by the fact that he gathered around him as members of the White House secretariat at Steve Early and Marion McInyre, men intimately associated with him before he became President, and endeavored to persuade at least one other of the group to accept an important post in his administration.

And finally, it is demonstrated by his fondness in gathering about him on the occasion of his birthday anniversary the "cuff links gang"—that intimate group which "knew him when."

Senator Swanson in those days was the war-time chairman of the Senate naval affairs committee. As such he came into the most intimate contact with the man who in his long congressional career, that was what he wanted. Swanson as senator and as secretary of the navy was constantly battling for strengthening the nation's first line of defense. President Hoover sent him as a delegate to the London naval arms conference and when he returned to his seat in the Senate and his position on the naval affairs committee he lost no time in helping shape legislation to build up the American navy to full treaty strength.

Born and reared in an inland town of Virginia, he nevertheless that branch of the service. And

SELLING FLORIDA TO NEW YORK

By NINA OLIVER DEAN

Just another piece of evidence... that Commissioner of Agriculture Nathan Mayo was not taken in his generous support of the Florida Exhibit at Rockefeller Center and his belief that the exhibition would give Florida valuable advertising in the New Jersey and New York wide citrus slogan contest that will reach approximately half a million people.

The exhibit, in conjunction with the RKO theaters one of the largest chains in New York, is conducting a contest for the selection of the best slogan for Florida citrus fruit. Theaters in Westchester, Bronx, Manhattan, and Brooklyn will ask their patrons to submit by ballot a slogan for Florida fruit, not to exceed ten words, and for the winners, the lucky one, with imagination and a flair for words, there will be trips to Florida with a chance to see "The Moon Over Miami," a person.

The lobbies of the theaters will be filled for these weeks with the glamorous atmosphere of Florida. I stepped into the Exhibit studio a few minutes ago and saw Byron Stephens, Florida artist, beamed and delighted with painting making alluring posters that picture the blue and silver of Florida's nights, the ruddy gold of Florida's citrus, and bright fresh colors of Florida's winter grown vegetables. Several trailers will be shown of Florida's beauty, of the moon "making white magic with the sea and sky" of the

Mrs. H. W. Rucker Supervises Program

A program, "Laborers Together with God in Kingdom Tasks," was given under the supervision of Mrs. H. W. Rucker at the monthly program meeting of the Woman's Missionary Union of the First Baptist Church held Monday afternoon at the church annex.

Little Encouragement Will Help Celery Feds Win Back Points Lost Early In Year

Large Attendance At Game With DeLand Tonight Is Desired

Playing their next to the last game of the season on home grounds, the Celery Feds meet the DeLand High in the basketball contest at Seminole High School tonight and it is stated that "just a little encouragement" in the way of attendance at the game will help them win. The local quint has not had the backing of a good crowd in even one game on the home court this season, but when the Feds go away from home they play in games that are often crowded with fans cheering their five to victory over the Sanford team.

While a number of points were lost in early season games, the Celery Feds still have a chance to win their way back to high standing, even though there are only two more games scheduled after the Sanford-DeLand contest this evening.

The Sanford basketball quint plays Landon High in Jacksonville tomorrow night and plays in St. Augustine Saturday night. It will play Daytona Beach in Daytona on Friday night of next week (the last game in Sanford), and will meet Orlando in Orlando on Saturday night of next week.

Stetson-Tampa Game Is To Be Played Friday

DELAND, Feb. 20.—Spartan eight victors out of 11 games, the Stetson University quint will meet the University of Tampa five in Huxley gym Friday night in the second meeting of the two teams this season.

The Hatters gained the victory in the first game at Tampa by the slim margin of 25-24 two weeks ago. The Spartans, coached by George Straus, former Hatter basketball star, are coming to DeLand determined to even the balance if possible.

Coach Chester Freeman gave the Stetson boys moderate workouts yesterday, following their decisive victory Tuesday night over Mercer University.

Outstanding stars in this and recent Hatter matches have been Herb Trotting and Dick Branham, guards, Don Roberson, center, and Frank Minehart, forward. These athletes are expected to lead the attack against Tampa tonight.

Next week the Hatters go into Georgia to play South Georgia Teachers at Statesboro Monday night and Mercer at Macon Tuesday night. They return for another DeLand game Friday night against Oglethorpe University.

Scholar Of Alaskan Resources Feared By Founder Of Seward

SEATTLE, Feb. 20.—New York capitalist feared repeal of Alaska conservation laws in a move to take territorial natural resources. The charge was made by John B. Ballaine, Alaska railroad builder and founder of the City of Seward, in an open letter to President Roosevelt.

"Their aim is to cause abandonment of the government-owned Alaska railroad by depriving it of traffic and earnings from coal mining and timber development," Ballaine asserted.

Policies inaugurated by Albert B. Fall and Edwin Denby of President Harding's Cabinet have been continued, he said. He cited as an example removal of tracks of the Iditarod branch of the railroad leading to the Chitkaon coal fields in 1924.

"This resulted from influence brought to bear by the Harriman-Union Pacific interests, working with J. P. Morgan & Co. to keep the high-grade coal of the Chitkaon district out of Pacific Coast markets, now supplied in part from lower-grade coals of Utah in hauls over the Union Pacific system," he charged.

New Dog Makes Mark As Champ; Crowd At Track

Frisky Diamond, a newcomer to Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club greyhound race track near Longwood, made his mark as champion last night when he flashed home ahead of the favorites in the futurity distance second race.

Still drawing large and colorful crowds nightly, the Longwood oval promises to attract even greater throngs for the rest of the meet. No outdoor sports venture has had the breaks of the weather against it as has Longwood. Continued operation in the face of such adversities merely bears out the promise of Myer Goldberg, general manager, that races will be run, night, rain or shine, for a 90-day period starting last Dec. 22.

Tonight's entries and selections with the latter capitalized as to dogs which should finish in the money:

First race, quarter mile: Dingus, Land Lady, JUDY KING (2), Miss Glenrol, MORPLUCK (1), GLENLORD BOY (2), Swingalong.
Second race, quarter mile, first half daily double: ALLEYOOP (1), VIKI (2), Rover Lee, Quick Felt, Buny Ann, Heattergood, DANDY-LINE (1), Champion Grey.
Third race, futurity, last half daily double: Black Orchid, Midnight Star, TWINKLING PIPER (2), HIGHLAND FORGE (3), COUSIN JENNIE (1), Red Flame.

"I know the value of extra nitrogen!"

I may be an "old timer" yet I keep in touch with new things. And when any new thing is better, that's what I want.

Ever since I learned the Department of Agriculture and Immigration of Virginia reported that contained extra nitrogen over the guaranteed 16% with an extra cash value as high as 88c per ton, I have used no other.

ARCADIAN, THE AMERICAN NITRATE OF SODA

I know the value of extra nitrogen and I make sure to get that extra value.

For track, fruit and all crops it is now proved that ARCADIAN, THE AMERICAN NITRATE OF SODA brings the farmer his value.

Keep AHEAD Of The JONESES

There's just one way to be "better off" than the other people on your street... In order to keep ahead, you must think and act first. And that can be done by any one who decides to do it, whatever the family income.

For instance, some people are smart enough to buy things when prices are down. Right now, of course, you can find sheets and towels and other supplies for the house at lowest this-year prices. And that isn't all... Some time this winter you will find underwear for the children, gloves for yourself, pajamas for the head of the house—and many, many more things offered at 'way-down' prices.

All sorts of special buys will keep bobbing up, if you watch the advertisements in this newspaper—and keep thinking ahead, and buying ahead.

Where will you get all the money, you ask?... Well, it doesn't take more money to be better off, this way. Actually it takes less. The pennies you save by timely buying add up to dollars in the end.
