TO EMILY DICKINSON:—When the moon became; When the sun; When the stars on a hill—The earth half-dome.

A butterfly caught; In your heart; Stole away softly—The world's still dark.

Doesn't seem like rubbing; In a bit to mention it again, have you paid your poll tax?

Clara how is going to make another boy to "her public," but what's become of her beauty?

They say the blind can see; With their finger tips—quotation from Miss Hark. A great break for baseball fans!

Al Smith says we should tell Europe to forget its war debts for at least twenty years. He should be big in Sanford. But he doesn't.

One who, if you take these candidates for sheriff seriously, the primary laws are going to have to be changed somehow. Cause everyone of them says he's going to be in the second primary.

Marietta Dietrich, condemning her director, Richard Wallace, declares she is not going to be ordered around "like a soldier in the army." Not over for $250,000 a year? And a soldier does it for a soldier's pay.

Will Rogers says the way folks feel they would like to vote against every candidate running for office. But we don't know about that.

There are some splendid men among the candidates if you only know which ones they are.

Tom Hathaway made a good ball in the park last night but don't be afraid that it will all be in the hands of the likes of Cary Hadden.

It is the greatest plot of Democracy? asks a question. Offhand, we'd say more than we can count on our fingers.

John Keane, the veteran traveling salesman, called on the local trade last Saturday. John is a candidate for Congress to the big convention and is wearing Wilson colors.

Extraordinary Parallelism

An interesting indication of where all the high sounding phrases and profound expressions of political oratory originate has recently been set forth by the New York Evening Post and somewhat expanded upon by the New York Herald Tribune which produces an extract from the speech of Al Smith at the Jefferson dinner on April 18, and another from the address of Gov. Roosevelt at St. Paul on April 18.

On the thirteenth, Mr. Smith said: "The consequences of the Hawley-Smoot bill have been tremendous, both directly and indirectly. Directly—American foreign trade has been steadily dwindling. Indirectly—the high schedules of the Hawley-Smoot bill caused European nations to raise their own tariff walls not only against us but against each other." On the eighteenth, Gov. Roosevelt said: "The consequences of the Hawley-Smoot bill have been tremendous, both directly and indirectly. Directly, American foreign trade has been steadily dwindling. Indirectly, the high schedules of the Hawley-Smoot bill caused European nations to raise their own tariff walls, and these walls were raised not only against us but against each other."

Remarkable as it is that these two men, now bitter opponents in the struggle for the Democratic presidential nomination, and neither satisfied with the other for this honor, should be so nearly alike as to express precisely the same idea upon a subject of such vital importance as the tariff, it is even more amazing that in the expression of this idea they should use identically the same verbiage. In attempting to clarify the mystery, newspapermen received from Smith the statement: "I don't know where Roosevelt got it. This is mine. Yes, I wrote it," while the New York governor insisted that his remarks at St. Paul on the tariff were merely a development of his address before the New York State Grange on February 2. In probing further into the matter, it was found that the idea had been expressed in the Grange speech but not the words.

Then the New York Post got at the root of the evil when it discovered two Columbia professors, close friends and associates, one a confidential adviser of Smith, the other a confidential adviser of Roosevelt. Evidently they had been in the habit of preparing the speeches of Roosevelt and Smith, and in this particular instance got their notes mixed, for the Post explains the situation as follows: "The tariff material and even the wording came from the pen of Professor Rogers, who first prepared it for former Governor Smith. These words were written by Professor Rogers from notes which he turned over to his friend, Professor Moley. The latter was not advised, and did not notice when Mr. Smith's speech was published, that the words had been used in the Jefferson dinner address. When Governor Roosevelt's speech for the St. Paul address was turned over to him for scrutiny, Professor Moley inserted the tariff material furnished him by Professor Rogers."

Now that this point has been settled, we would like to know who in the world ever paid enough attention to Smith's speech on the thirteenth to be able to recognize the repetition in Roosevelt's speech on the eighteenth? That's the trouble with politics, there's always someone around who's bound to look into things. If it weren't for that the life of an office seeker would be considerably easier.

Heflin's Last Stand

Senator Bankhead has been declared duly elected and entitled to his seat in the upper house of Congress as the result of a resolution passed by that body by a vote of 64 to 18. This action spelled the end of Thomas J. Heflin's effort to unseat his successor with charges of fraud in the Alabama election of 1930, and rings down the curtain on the political career of a picturesque figure whose voice was often and loudly raised against governmental foes, albeit usually imaginarily.

Heflin's tenure of office in the Senate reminds us of a shadow boxer in the roped arena. With restless energy he moved about the floor, leading with his left and crossing with his right, always boring in, frequently slipping over a hay-maker that rent the air with the swish of a tennis racket. He was tireless and he never let up in his attack, an attack generally directed at some phantom object. Chief among his pet animosities was the Pope of Rome whom he was ever ready to assail. Heflin was an avowed enemy of Catholicism and he let his imagination run away with him until his mind became filled with all kinds of chimerical thoughts centering around a papal weapon.

But whatever can be said against Heflin he did, at least, have courage. He was a brave man and in the face of scores and criticism of his colleagues he never once flinched or slowed down in his fight for the causes he espoused. Intrepid as a lion tamer he stepped into many an avalanche of ridicule without showing the white feather and he always came back for more. It seems a shame that a man possessed with his oratorical abilities and courageousness should have been handicapped in rendering a great public service by a peculiar mental complex which sent him hunting for some fanciful rather than real enemy. His talents were wasted because of a restricted experience in life which made him see only that within his narrow sphere, a sphere, unfortunately, poisoned by the exhalations of his own breath.

YOUNG MAN ABOUT DOWN

By I. SPARKY KENNON—AN EDITORIAL

Pa Volusia is just back from Tennessee where he says the way they sing it up there is "when our moon comes over the mountain we'll be drinking toasts to you". That C. of C. dance WOULD come on Saturday night when I have to work and probably won't be able to get down there for more than three or four hours. For sheer versatility look this: there is a shoppe on Magnolia Avenue and last week a sign screamed, "Let Wanda read your palm". Today it says, "See Wanda for Psychological and mental readings". I Wanda, where my mystic is tonight. Maybe they hold future fights in the old Volusia avenue post office and keep the lads in separate boxes so there won't be no danger of them harming each other such as they are liable to do with a referee above them around all the time. Well, well so the coast gods have charge of the beach huh? ... boy it's a good thing for the city they didn't have no grudge against Nal Campbell or they woulda stopped him from running all right, all right. Andy Bonstrum-yoo-gutha throws down the gauntlet and says I'll never, never make him shave off the mustash. Well the Sparks record shows that we've reclaimed worse cases than his'n. ... look, we taught Pagan Volusia to wear shoes, Your Dave not to hang his picture by the neck and Jack GINNY that it is poor business throwing us out of the invalido. ... so eliminating the Andy mustash should be easier than it is to look at which, well. ... Pat Sheedy has been back two weeks but nobody recognized him with a shirt on. They fished another guy in the Beach Rest. ... when the moon comes over the mountain. ... He hums, Frank Huffaker says I'm a scandal-monger because of this col'n. ... heheheh, judging from his'n he's just a lousy-monger. ... WHAT THE STRAWS SHOW

PALATKA NEWS

At least two Florida newspapers, inspired no doubt by the Liberty Digest, which claims that method of obtaining free publicity, have recently held straw votes for the purpose of getting an insight into the gubernatorial race.

One was an Orlando newspaper, the other The Sanford Herald. At the Orange county capital, a Republican ballwick, Howey, received more votes for governor than did the entire Democratic field. At Sanford, Howey was top man but at that he only polled 228 votes as against 660 counted for eleven Democrats.

There is only one deduction that can be made from the balloting. And that is that the Democratic party is menaced with the possibility of losing control of the state. Had the poll included the presidential race, no doubt, it would have been shown that Florida is threatening to reverse its position of four years ago when it voted Republican nationally and Democratic locally.

To The People of Seminole County:

Injuries sustained by me in an automobile wreck on March 18th have kept me in the hospital and prevented me from seeing you in behalf of my candidacy for Supervisor of Registration.

It is likely that I shall be in the hospital two weeks longer. In the meantime, I trust my friends will continue to use their influence in my behalf, and I am sure they will do so. After I leave the hospital I shall try to see as many of you as my condition will permit. I shall greatly appreciate the influence and vote of every citizen of the County.

REMEMBER: Register this week otherwise you may be barred from voting.

Faithfully yours,

W. J. Thigpen, Candidate for Supervisor of Registration. (Paid Political Advertisement)

NEW BOOKS PUT UPON LIBRARY'S SELECTIVE GROUP

Interesting Shifting Of Emphasis Seen In Choice Of Year

NEW ORLEANS, La., Apr. 28.—A selection of 12 books on economic, business or sociology, from Russia and two on Russia in the American Library Association's selection of 50 notable books for 1931 reveals an interesting shifting in emphasis in comparison with selections of other years.

Announcement of the annual list was made here by the editorial committee preceding the opening of the association's forty-fourth annual conference which has drawn more than 1500 representatives of libraries to the "Orleans City."

Not one book title considered notable in psychology, applied science or religion is included in the list. Two justices of the United States Supreme Court are among the authors whose works were chosen. Mr. Oliver Wendell Holmes, retired, and Mr. Benjamin N. Cardozo.

The trend toward reader interest in economic subjects also is backed up by announcement of the association that the demand for the reading list, "for thinking Americans," published by the organization and distributed by public libraries, exhausted the supply and a second list has been prepared. This list includes 27 books by 30 distinguished American social scientists to help readers form an intelligent opinion on present-day problems relating to the money question, big business, and world affairs.

Titles which were included in the 1931 notable book list without a single dissenting vote of the judges were: "Shadow on the Rock," by Willa Cather; "The Good Earth," by Pearl Buck; "Spies of America," by J. T. Adams; "Autobiography of Lincoln Steffens," "Fatal Interview," by Edna St. Vincent Millay; "Touring Through America," by Eugene O'Neill; "Axel's Castle," by Edmond Wilson; "Only Yesterday," by F. Allen; "Forty-Niners," by A. E. Hubbard, and "Snakes of the World," by R. L. Ditmars.

Judges whose selection has indicated the most significant writings of the year include Mr. Henry B. Crosby, Mr. Ulrich Phillips, Mr. Waldemar Kaempffert, Mr. Minnie Lewis, Mr. Louis Mumford, Mr. Christopher Morley, Mr. Isaiah L. Bowman, Mr. Stephen Vincent Benet, Mr. Lorado Taft, Mr. Charles E. Merriam and Mr. Paul Douglas.

Chevalier Is At His Best In New Picture

By R. G. BACHRACH

Do you prefer to watch Maurice Chevalier when he's smiling the famous insouciant, infectious Chevalier smile, or when he's looking worried and puzzled and appealing to you to tell him what in the world to do? Some people like him best one way, some another—and everybody will be pleased with his new Paramount picture, "One Hour With You," which comes to the Miami Theater Saturday, Sunday, and Monday, for "One Hour With You" brings M. Chevalier some beautiful smiles, and a lot of worry.

For "One Hour With You" Paramount has again arranged the happy combination of Chevalier, Jeanette MacDonald and Ernst Lubitsch that made "The Love Parade" such a smashing success. And for good measure, "One Hour With You" adds the vivacious and very, very pretty Miss Tobin, the ever-popular Charlie Ruggles, and that skillful stage player Roland Young, who can tell so much merely by elevating one quizzical eyebrow.

PHILATELISTS INVITED

Sanford persons who make stamp collecting their hobby are invited to meet at the New Smyrna High School next Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock where the Volusia Philatelic Society will hold a joint meeting with New Smyrna, Del. Deland, stamp address on stamps of the British colonies, while several rare issues of stamps the world over will be displayed.

Friends of Mrs. A. Corpany will regret to learn that she is ill at her home on Beardall Avenue.

Spring Festival Held By West Side School

Throngs of persons of the city interested in the work being accomplished at the West Side Primary School attended the annual spring festival held at that school on Wednesday from 3:00 o'clock until 10:00 o'clock. The classrooms where exhibits of the work of the children during the year were on display, were decorated with quantities of bright-colored spring flowers and potted plants and ferns.

During the afternoon the pupils of the school engaged in Maypole dances and presented several shows, while in the evening the same numbers were repeated. Throughout the affair cold drinks and candies were sold from brightly decorated booths. At 8:00 o'clock in the evening a sandwich supper was served as radio music was enjoyed.

It was stated today that through the generosity of patrons and friends of the school a large sum of money was realized from the festival. This money will be used to purchase books for the school.

Group Attends U.D.C. Meeting In Leesburg

Mrs. D. D. Caldwell, Mrs. J. M. Hayes, Mrs. E. A. Douglas, Mrs. Claude Herndon, and Mrs. F. E. Roumillat attended the fourth district meeting of the U. D. C. held in Leesburg yesterday with Mrs. David Sholtz, of Daytona Beach, presiding. Mrs. Marion S. Dickson, of Tampa, state president, was in attendance, while Dr. Sumter L. Lowry, also of Tampa, was an honor guest.

During the meeting Mrs. E. A. Douglas, as ex-state recording secretary, gave a toast on "Memories." Mrs. Franklin Estell, of Leesburg, state chairman for the Lee-Stratford Memorial Fund, stated that three chapters have turned in the required amount for the fund and among the three is Sanford. Mrs. F. E. Roumillat is chairman of the fund from the N. de V. Howard Chapter here.

FEDERAL WAGE SLASH TO SAVE FEW MILLIONS

terized their campaign was seen late in the day. Having defeated the Hoover furlough proposal, they sought to adjourn the House until today noon.

In a writer of confusion such as has attended consideration of the economy bill from the start the membership voted the adjournment down. The leaders, however, capitulated to insurgent demands for a two-hour recess, before assembling again last evening.

Meanwhile the economy battle flared momentarily in the Senate. John, and Copeland of New York, Democrat, joined in a general attack upon the Senate's avowed policy of slashing all appropriations bills 10 percent under the sums provided by the House.

Rejection of the furlough plan left the measure with the 11 percent flat cut on all federal salaries, exempting the first $2500. This cut would also apply to salaries of members of Congress.

The Hoover proposal had been estimated to save approximately $82,000,000, including reductions in allowances to rural mail carriers. As the bill now stands a saving of approximately $12,000,000 from the federal payroll of $1,800,000,000 has been effected. Before the insurgents riddled the McDuffie plan it was estimated to save $87,000,000.

The House was out of control of its leaders. A dramatic appeal by Representative Ramseyer to approve the Hoover plan intact appeared to stem the tide of opposition only for a short time.

However, after battering it for about two hours, the insurgents finally increased the exemption under the furlough plan from $1200 to $2000. They then permitted Chairman McDuffie to force a showdown. Apparently dismayed at the standing vote, their whips rustled in additional support from the lobbies and cloakrooms and struck fatally at the Hoover proposal.

Waging their campaign carefully, the insurgents had previously knocked out of the bill a provision to eliminate the Saturday half holiday given federal workers a year ago.

Earlier, the House responded to the plea of Chairman Byrns of the appropriations committee not to approve the Darrow amendment to the $326,000,000 provision supply bill calling for $1,000,000.

RUSSO-JAPANESE TENSION IS SEEN NOT INCREASING

However, Anything Is Likely To Happen In Delicate Situation

TOKYO, Apr. 29.—Despite the fact that the press continues to feature reports of warlike preparations in Siberia, foreign observers believe that Russo-Japanese tension is not increasing. The outlook is more favorable, since it is becoming more apparent that both Moscow and Tokyo genuinely want to preserve peace. It cannot be denied, however, that anything may happen, since the essential elements of danger remain.

An independent news agency, the Nippon Dempo, usually reliable, disseminates reports stating that Russian refugees reaching Harbin from Vladivostok declare that martial law continues throughout the Soviet maritime provinces and the military are hastily constructing airbases and anti-aircraft defenses in the cities. It is asserted that the Soviets are fortifying islands off Vladivostok and have likewise ordered the Far East volunteer fleet to cancel its spring training cruise and prepare for immediate offensive operations. A number of merchantmen are being refitted to serve as naval auxiliaries. Few foreign ships are entering Vladivostok.

The procurator at Harbin announces that preparations have been completed for the trial of 42 men and women Soviet citizens, former employees of the Chinese Eastern Railway, who have been arrested in connection with the dynamiting of a Japanese troop train. A copy of the procurator's brief will be furnished to the Lytton Commission, sent by the League to investigate the Sino-Japanese dispute. It is understood that the prosecution alleges that a "Red" terrorist organization, composed of 300 active agents, has formed a general society for the defense of Soviet interests, which is recruiting upward of 8000 members, all of whom are pledged to sabotage the efforts of the Manchukuo regime to consolidate its authority.

It is asserted that the foreign consuls at Harbin have completed their reports for the Earl of Lytton regarding conditions in north Manchuria. The Japanese understand that the reports will be practically unanimous in condemning Japanese methods. Meantime Lord Lytton is remaining at Mukden, where the commissioners recently talked with Gen. Shigeru Honjo and other Japanese leaders and received representatives from Korean societies and others. It is reported that a member of the party of Dr. Wellington Koo, Chinese delegate, accompanying the commission, was questioned by the Manchukuo police recently, but was later released.

Manchukuo troops defeated the guerrillas in the neighborhood of Trollichao recently, after which traffic on the south branch of the Chinese Eastern Railway was restored, the guerrillas retreating northeast.

U. S. ENVOY HONORED

TUEBINGEN, Germany, Apr. 29.—(A.P.)—A rare distinction, the honorary degree of doctor of science from the ancient University of Tuebingen, was conferred yesterday on American Ambassador Sackett in appreciation for Hoover moratorium on reparation payments.

HEFLIN LOSES FIGHT TO OUST J. H. BANKHEAD

Barred from the Democratic primary of 1930 because he refused to support Governor Smith in 1928, Heflin ran as an independent. He took the floor in his own behalf during the contest, pleading for five hours for recognition as the victor. "Bankhead defended his right to the seat, while Senators George and Bratton carried on the Democratic side of the fight for him, along with Senator Black, Democrat, his Alabama colleague. Immediately after the two roll calls Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, issued a formal statement which commended George Bratton and Black and said:

"It is most gratifying to Democrats that the Senate has repudiated the attempt to reflect upon the integrity of the Alabama election in which Senator Bankhead was elected. It is regrettable that there is not the slightest reason or excuse for the charges. The result of its election committee, which voted 9 to 8 to reorganize Bankhead, was taken up by the Senate last Thursday. The committee submitted the report of its subcommittee, headed by Hastings, Democrat, Delaware, which voted 2 to 2 to declare the election void.

Hastings concluded the opposition to Bankhead yesterday in a long address in which he compared the case to that involving William Vane of Pennsylvania, and appealed to the Senate to "apply the same rules below the Mason and Dixon line as above." He concluded there were widespread irregularities that nullified the election, listing improperly marked ballots, unsealed ballot boxes, and charged that the state's election laws were not observed.

Commenting on the Senate's action former Senator Heflin said: "It is a travesty on justice; it is a victory for corrupt practices in an election of a Rankin Democrat against a real Democrat. It is a surrender by Democrats of the sacred principles so long held and supported by Democrats in and out of the Senate. It marks a sad decline in Democratic leadership and control. "The failure to decide my contest on the law and facts will not in the least weaken my courage or impair my fighting spirit for clean and honest politics and clean and honest government."

Plea Made For Snakes That Are Not Poisonous

to live and prosper," he said, "with this in mind that they would eat a litter of six young per pair, or 1440 during the year. This total does not stop there, for in the early part of the second year, these rats, if unpoisoned, will produce nearly 5000 rats in 14 months. So every time you kill one of these pestiferous reptiles, you are taking on 5000 rats per year, and they eat and destroy your crops."

Captain Archer pictured the rat as a poor substitute for snakes, for a snake can crawl into rat holes and bring out rat after rat. He urged that farmers who consider themselves business men make a closer study of the snake family so that they might learn which are harmless and friendly and encourage their work, instead of having the attitude that "snakes are snakes, I'll kill them all for they all look alike to me." Captain Archer could not understand why some people shudder when he handles some of the larger friendly snakes yet those same people will handle coral snakes, which they call garden snakes and think harmless. "The only reason hundreds of persons have not been bitten when handling these 'garden snakes,'" Captain Archer said, "is because the snake is not a vicious creature, despite stories you hear to the contrary. I do know this, that the life of a coral snake is as deadly as that of the cobra, and that antivenom serum does not help."

Persons interested in learning about the habits of snakes are invited to the Municipal Zoo any day during the week, particularly on Saturday and Sunday, when Captain Archer delivers lectures and answers questions on them.

Credit Expansion To Assist Farmers Is Urged By Stone

WASHINGTON, Apr. 29.—(A.P.)—Credit expansion and fund to finance sale of farm land wheat and cotton abroad were advocated before the Senate Agriculture Committee yesterday by Chairman Stone of the farm board as a means of diminishing farm troubles. With the group of representatives of the farmers organization—the National Grange, Farmers Union and Farm Bureau Federation.

Stone defended the board's action, long a target of their criticism. To blame it for the decline in agricultural prices, while "all other prices have gone down in proportion," is unfair, he said. He asked that nothing be done to weaken the agricultural marketing act.

Senator Thomas (D. Okla.), in a formal statement, predicted that an agreement soon would be reached on the many proposals before the committee. He expected approval to be given to the federal reserve board's policy urging member banks to buy government bonds with reserve notes, and said his opinion was the bank would be urged to increase purchases of government securities weekly.

At times Stone, the committee would recommend the resolution of Senator McNary (D. Ore.), chairman, providing $100,000,000 from the Reconstruction fund to finance the purchase of wheat and cotton to foreign countries.

Realism Imparted To Play As Pistol Shot Wounds Actor

MIAMI, Apr. 29. (A.P.)—Rehearsals for the class play of seniors in Booker T. Washington High School for negroes went along on Friday until the director deplored the lack of inspiration. "Let's try this scene once again," he pleaded, "and get some action into it."

And so the villain discarded his rehearsal business in shouting "Bang" when he was supposed to shoot the hero. Instead he seized the pistol to be used in the play, pointed it at the hero and pulled the trigger. The verbal "bang" was not necessary.

Anthony Garner, 18, the hero, dropped to the floor. So did Kenyon Coleman, another member of the cast. Both were shot.

Hospital attendants said Garner may live and that Coleman, wounded by the same bullet, is in good condition.

Samuel Walters, 18, villain of the piece, said he "didn't know a war loaded."

Wilcox Seeks Office Upon Wet Platform

WEST PALM BEACH, Apr. 29.—State option on all liquor laws, immediate modification of the Volstead Act and ultimate repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment to the Constitution were the planks on which Mark Wilcox, city attorney of West Palm Beach, used his platform in announcing for Congress from the Fourth District, subject to the June primary, election.

After a series of conferences with a number of Democratic leaders of the district, which is the largest in Florida, the candidate announced today that the prohibition issue would constitute the most important section of his platform. Declaring the next Congress will be faced with the task of removing the "present prohibition situation," he added that he believed the intentions of all candidates should be clearly defined on the issue.

VOTERS OUT OF HUNDREDS ARE FOR DRY FINAL

KANSAS, North Carolina Only States Favoring Prohibition

Seventy-three voters out of every hundred favor a repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment...

A total of 4,068,537 ballots were returned and counted in this "wet" referendum...

Kansas and North Carolina are the only two states giving a clear majority for prohibition...

The wettest section of the United States as evidenced by the returns in this poll is the group of states from the Mississippi River...

The driest section of the country includes the belt of states extending from Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas to the Atlantic with the exception of Missouri, Louisiana, and Florida...

The balance of the Middle Western states show a sentiment wetter than the Southern group but considerably drier than the northeastern section of the country...

The Rocky Mountain states show a collective vote slightly less wet than the country at large while the Pacific Coast states give a majority for repeal higher than the national ratio...

Thirty-three states and the District of Columbia return wet majorities in the final tabulation ranging from 2 to 1 to over 7 to 1 for repeal...

Six states, giving a return of between 40 to 50 per cent of their total votes for the continuance of prohibition, include Tennessee, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Alabama, Mississippi, and South Carolina...

Nine states, finally voting more than 4 to 1 wet, are Connecticut, Illinois, Louisiana, Montana, Nevada, New Jersey, New York, Rhode Island and Wisconsin...

The nine states voting over 3 to 1 wet in the final returns include California, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, New Mexico, North Dakota, Washington, and Wyoming...

The fifteen states returning a 2 to 1 majority for prohibition are Delaware, Florida, Idaho, Kentucky, Maine, New Hampshire, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Utah, Vermont, Indiana, Missouri, and Arizona...

The District of Columbia vote is over 3 to 1 wet.

The tenth and final tabulation in the 1930 Literary Digest Prohibition Poll giving three options on the ballot instead of two showed a total tabulation of 4,068,464 votes of which 1,464,098, or 36.06 per cent, were for strict enforcement while 1,390,314, or 34.19 per cent, were for modification to admit light wines and beers and 1,943,052, or 47.75 per cent, were registered in favor of an outright repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment...

In the poll of two years ago, five states voted majorities for the Eighteenth Amendment while in the current poll only two states are reported dry.

In the 1930 poll, Kansas had a dry percentage of 57.67 while in the present referendum her prohibition majority is 50.23 per cent.

North Carolina voted 50.66 per cent dry in the poll of two years ago and 50.05 per cent in the current returns.

At Kansas voted 52.19 per cent dry in 1930 as against 47.76 per cent this year. Oklahoma's dry vote of 50.94 per cent two years ago is reduced to 45.47 per cent dry in 1932. Tennessee, voting 50.37 per cent for enforcement in 1930 now shows a final dry percentage of 48.54.

"In an unforgettable year of public anxiety, controversy and political ferment but also of courage and hope," the magazine will state editorially tomorrow, "The Literary Digest offers this Prohibition Poll to the nation as a rounded contribution to the sum of public knowledge concerning the unrecurrent of national opinion and sentiment on this vital issue."

"The poll now becomes history, a symmetrical edifice of statistical data built for the whole nation and not for any party or cause, we dedicate it simply and sincerely to service in the search for wisdom by public men in their councils and conventions, their legislatures and executive mansions, at this crisis of the nation's life."

"If our offering is nothing else, it is a reflection of one special aspect of truth, as faithfully garnered as we, with much experience and good-will, could do the job."

The Literary Digest points out a close parallel between the returns of this unofficial referendum and the national plebiscite taken in Finland "whereby that country, last winter, abolished prohibition after trying it for twelve years."

A total of 772,901 votes were polled in the Finnish election of which 28.10 per cent voted in favor of retention of prohibition, 1.40 per cent favored modification and 70.50 per cent favored repeal of their prohibition laws, while the ple of the state in banks in general but to wipe out their life-savings."

He concluded his attack on Mr. Hardee by charging that the Carlton administration is backing the former governor, who is "trying to perpetuate the policies of the Carlton administration because of several promises made preceding the recent political gathering at Marianna."

The speaker said that Mr. Hardee's usual sagacity was "sadly absent when you joined Doyle Carlton because the people are fed up with the policies of that gentleman, who hasn't lived up to a single plank of his 1928 platform."

Speaking of his own platform, Mr. Watson said that "boiled down, it is about like this: first, uproot graft and corruption, even though this may require the placing of public officials behind bars, where some of them have long since belonged; second, drive out of politics in Florida the office holders who will not represent the people after he gets in office, and who persists in colluding with that which makes for governmental efficiency; third, run the government for the people, and stop the politicians from running it for themselves; and last, buck the combination between predatory interests and political office-holders, by uniting the rank and file under a leadership that will fight for, and remain loyal to, the people's interests."

"This campaign is a crusade for the principles of Democratic government," Mr. Watson concluded, "principles which are fast disappearing under the rule of the insincere, professional politicians who have brought our state to its most critical period. This campaign needs sincerity, as does the office of governor, and if elected, I promise you that sincerity will be the keynote of my administration, an administration free from political alliances."

Watson Speaks Here In Behalf Of His Candidacy

Speaking of Martin, he said that Martin must know that one of the ways to reduce the cost of government in Florida would be "to revise the present tax laws so that tax certificates in this state will be the least desired article you ever saw." He charged that Martin aided in passing laws which favored tax certificates, "making them the most desirable securities in all Florida," and as a result, since he charged Martin with being the 90 percent holder of stock in the Northern Securities Corporation, purchasers of "securities" tax certificates, that Martin "is making a private income of $70,000 every year."

"You haven't improved tax collections by passing those laws," Mr. Martin the speaker said, "instead, John Martin, you proved that the power behind you was the chance you saw to exploit the agencies of government for personal, financial benefit. Yes, sir, you made a good governor, for John Martin, and I charge that in this display of insincerity alone, you are not a fit person to be the next governor of Florida."

He concluded his remarks against Martin by asking "Why do you forget principle and go about the state promising roads for votes? Don't you know that this proves that you are either insincere or that you haven't got the desire to serve the state on Democratic principles of government?"

Cary Hardee's connection with the banking interests of Florida formed the next part of his address. He charged Hardee, as speaker of the house in 1915, with being the first to vote for a law amending an existing banking law which said that "the Comptroller of the State of Florida shall have the right to examine the books and accounts of every bank, trust company, savings bank, and other financial institution operating in this state."

"The Comptroller may take possession of an insolvent bank," Mr. Hardee, I say that in 1915 and 1921 you helped pass laws which gave Earnest Amos the temerity to let insolvent banks go from one month to five years before closing them, to not only destroy the confidence of the people...

current Literary Digest poll shows 20.49 per cent of the ballots returned favoring the continuance and 70.50 per cent favoring the repeal of prohibition.

SAFETY WARNING FOR HOME GIVEN IN RADIO SPEECH

Many Dangers Lurk Within Households Unaware Of Them

CHICAGO, Apr. 28.—"Caution—Beware of Gas!"

"Warning—Beware of Electricity!"

"Caution—Beware of Skinned Knees!"

"How would you like to have a gas leak in your home?"

"The profession of highway signs and warnings has inspired Mrs. W. M. Graham, well known leader in Illinois Federation of Women's Club activities, to suggest a similar system of dramatized warnings for home consumption."

"I am told by the National Safety Council that our homes are almost as dangerous as our streets and more dangerous than our industrial plants," she said in a recent radio address. "I have learned that insurance companies do not consider us household particularly good risks! Why? Because safety education, systems and law have not yet entered the home."

"There are laws in my state placing responsibility for accidents but there is no law that comes in and tells me what I can do in my own home—alas!"

"There is no law which says you may not use a 'dangerful' open fireplace until you have a screen."

"No law can compel me to use a step-ladder instead of a chair. Many a sprained muscle and broken bone can testify to this."

"No law forbids my endangering the lives of my family by having defective electric fixtures in my home."

"The accident rate in bathrooms is exceptionally high. The idea of 'slipping in the bath tub' is not so bad after all. At least our family knows that you are still alive."

"It is that we don't know all the dangers that we need discipline that will make us pause before a chore and take account of its hazards."

"We know better than to gamble with the lives and limbs of our beloved ones. But this is a singular thing that our knowledge is always in advance of our use and in many homes that iperim laxated bitter payment."

Woman Maniac Slain After She Kills Policeman

She shouted to her to come out, she fired through the closed window. A policeman ran from the cordon and toward the first car gas bomb through a broken pane.

Once Mrs. Thompson emerged from the back door. Officers called on her to surrender. She sent a bullet over their heads and retreated.

Suddenly, in full view of a throng that numbered thousands, the front door swung wide and Mrs. Thompson ran out. She was screaming and her hair was blowing wildly. One hand held the picture to her breast, in the other a pistol, but without aim.

Lead and steel slugs from a crowd of shotguns and submachine guns struck her in a single roar. Her body whirled about and pitched to the ground.
