Groups To Sue Over Food Stamps Cutback

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than half the states, 53 labor unions and 22 church groups are joining 73 food-stamp families to sue the Ford administration in an attempt to stop a sharp cutback in the food stamp program.

Ronald Pollak, director of the private non-profit Food Research and Action Center, who will argue the case for almost 200 plaintiffs, said the suit will be filed in U.S. District Court today.

According to current Agriculture Department estimates, about 1.6 million families would be eliminated entirely from the foodstamp rolls under new regulations that begin taking effect next Tuesday.

An additional 1.7 million families with incomes just under the official poverty lines would remain in the program but would have to pay more cash for the stamps. Administration officials say the other two million-plus families remaining in the program will see their benefits increase.

Laetrile Smuggling Charged

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Sixteen persons and three Mexican firms have been indicted as alleged partners in an international conspiracy to smuggle the banned cancer substance laetrile into the United States.

The federal grand jury indictments were disclosed Tuesday night by the San Diego Union, which said they were issued last Thursday. The New York Times carried a similar report.

One of those charged with conspiracy in the case is Andrew R.L. McNaughton, 57, a Canadian who allegedly produces most of the laetrile used in North and Central America.

The 12-count indictment accused the defendants and 23 unidentified conspirators of producing laetrile, also known as vitamin B17, in laboratories in Tijuana, Mexico, then smuggling it into the United States for secret sale as a cancer treatment.

Radiation Talks Crucial

WASHINGTON (AP) — A State Department official says delicate U.S.-Soviet talks over microwave bombardment of the American embassy in Moscow appear to be nearing a crucial point that could determine whether stronger U.S. steps are needed to deal with the radiation.

Harry G. Blaney, a member of the department's Policy Planning Staff, voiced the assessment Tuesday at a governing board meeting of the American Foreign Service Association, which represents U.S. foreign service officers and other State Department employees.

Blaney is chairman of AFSA's committee on extrajurisdictional dangers. The panel has been engaged in talks with top State Department management officials, seeking to insure that employees are fully informed about the Moscow situation and similar problems that may arise elsewhere.

Default Rocks Exchange

NEW YORK (AP) — Failure by speculators to deliver nearly 90 million pounds of Maine potatoes rocked the 106-year-old New York Mercantile Exchange. One broker says that if those who caused the default get away unpunished it could "destroy the traditional fabric of the commodity futures trading system."

It was clear that default on the potato contracts could have widespread ramifications on the exchange that gives farmers and others a chance to gamble on future production of several types of raw materials against price fluctuation.

Post Office To Hold Auctions

WASHINGTON (AP) — If your collection of Conway Twitty's greatest hits never arrived in the mail, chances are it's gone for a good purpose — helping the cash-starved Postal Service solve its debt problems.

The Postal Service is making profits from auctioning off books and records from its new mail sorting machines have ripped them from their wrappers.

Speakers for the book and record industries said Tuesday that their merchandise has received unprecedented damage in the mail since the Postal Service began using an automated system for sorting packages.

Meningitis Claims Recruit

LAWTON, Okla. (AP) — A post-mortem examination was to be performed to determine what type of meningitis was the life of a 28-year-old basic recruit from Lake Placid, U.S. Army officials said.

The victim was identified by officials of Fort Sill Army Base as Pvt. Jesse Blaine.

Dr. Charles Green of the City-County Health Department in Lawton said there are several types of meningitis, some more contagious than others.

Three Men Allegedly Involved Security Guard Is Beaten

By BOB LLOYD
Herald Staff Writer

Sanford police are probing the beating and attempted robbery early today of a security guard at the Seminole County Road Department and warehouse headquarters at County Home Hill, off U.S. 17-92 near Five Points.

Greg Smith, 21, an employee of Mohawk Security Service, told police he was on guard duty at the county facility at 1 a.m. when he saw the headlights on a dumptruck were on.

Smith said, according to police reports, that when he jumped the truck he was hit and kicked him and attempted to get his wallet from his pants pocket.

Patrolman Jack Fulkewider said the men were apparently scared off when Smith's German shepherd dog approached and that the men ran from the area.

Smith was able to rip off a jacket one man was wearing, police said, and it was turned over to investigators.

Chip Owner Cited
Rudolf Alexander, 37-year-old Geneva owner of five chimpanzees has received another county court summons for alleged violation of the county animal control ordinance.

Sheriff's deputies, who had been summoned to Alexander's residence on Lake Harney Acres Road twice in the last week, reported that last night they again found that two chimpanzees had escaped from their cages and were ambling along the roadway.

Deputy J. M. Patton said Alexander, who arrived home after Animal Control Officer Bruce Clarke had corralled the animals.

Tenant Council representative Tuesday afternoon that if tenants have evidence of criminal activity that the FBI and if the matters tenured would probe are of a civil nature that the U.S. Attorney could hear the complaints.

Tenant Council members picked SHA offices on W. 10th Street last week in efforts aimed at getting Wilson fired. The picketing ended on Monday and council representatives carried their complaints to HUD.

HUD officials reportedly have said they will use information gathered in prior studies of the operation of the local housing authority to reply to the tenants' complaints but that HUD action on complaints against Wilson is expected because complaints against local authority staff members is outside HUD jurisdiction and are handled locally.

SHA board members George W. Brown and Samuel Wright Jr. have requested a special or called SHA board meeting to discuss firing or suspending Wilson.

Wright said this morning that he's received no word from Evans about a meeting, as provided for in SHA by-laws.

Stone noted that his teaching staff had dwindled from 80 to about 50 when the seventh and eighth grades were phased out two years ago. He said this meant many faculty members had to take on extracurricular activities.

The large percentage of these teachers on continuing contracts poses a problem, said Stone.

Kimbrough Challenges Freeman's Plane Fare

By ED PRICKETT
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County Commissioner John Kimbrough says county payment of $74 for plane fare to Tallahassee for County Atty. Thomas Freeman may be an "illegal expenditure."

Freeman has offered to repay the $74 fare for his May 9 trip. "If it's any problem, I'll pay it back," Freeman said.

Freeman also charged Kimbrough with being an "obstructionist commissioner" and said Kimbrough consistently votes against payment of any bills submitted by the county attorney.

Kimbrough says payment may be illegal because the trip was not approved by an official vote of the commission. "The board took no official action," Kimbrough said. "There was no reason for him to go," Kimbrough said.

Freeman says department heads don't need official board action before making trips as long as the particular department chief has the money in his budget to pay for the trip. Asked if the legal department had funds for a trip to Tallahassee, Freeman replied, "I don't know."

The county attorney said he went to Tallahassee to confer with John Harris, chief litigation counsel for the Department of Transportation (DOT), about widening SR-44.

Freeman last week represented the county during 4½ days of condemnation hearings concerning SR-44.

But Kimbrough maintains the trip should have been sanctioned by "some official action" by the Board of County Commissioners.

The same day Freeman flew to Tallahassee, four county commissioners also made the trip to visit lawmakers at the legislative session in Tallahassee.

Court records show commissioners turned in expense vouchers to cover costs of the entire trip. But Freeman's voucher shows payment only for the $74 plane fare.

On May 18, the commission by a 3-2 vote, approved payment of the $74. Voting against payment were Republican Commissioners Richard Williams and Kimbrough.

Williams said he was surprised when he learned the county attorney was in Tallahassee the same time as the commission.

While in Tallahassee, Williams said, "I never saw Freeman."

Williams said there was no official action prior to the trip to visit lawmakers at the legislative session in Tallahassee.

Freeman, a Democrat, said Kimbrough and Williams are complaining because they want to keep his (Freeman's) name in the news because this is an election year.

"Now the board pays his check when he check authorized—that's an illegal expenditure," Kimbrough said.

This means he must have a strong business sense. He must keep expenses within reason so as to keep his prices within every family's means. As we do.

Foreign Pressure Led Cuba To Begin Pull-Out: Officials

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pressure from many African countries and possibly the Soviet Union prompted Cuba's decision to begin removing its 15,000 troops from Angola, U.S. officials say.

The Cuban pull-out, to be conducted at the rate of about 200 a week, is viewed here as an effort by Cuba to recoup some of the diplomatic ground it appears to have lost in Africa as a result of continuing military involvement.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger told a news conference Tuesday in Luxembourg that the Cuban decision was a "positive development." A partial Cuban withdrawal from Angola would be insufficient and there was no possibility of any renewed U.S. interest in normalizing relations with Havana until all Cuban troops have gone home, he said.

Swedish Prime Minister Olof Palme told Kissinger Monday of Cuba's plans.

Airport Bombing Recounted

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — A blond European arriving on a foreign airline carried the suitcase bomb that killed himself and a woman guard and injured 10 Israelis at Israel's international airport Tuesday, the airport manager told a news conference.

Airport police said the man carried a Dutch passport bearing the name of Hugo Miller.

A second suitcase bomb went off half an hour later as police were dragging it from the arrival hall of Ben Gurion International Airport. It caused no damage or casualties. The police blew open a third suitcase with detonators, but it contained only clothes.

Crucial Battle In Progress

OVERLOOKING FARAY, Lebanon (AP) — A crucial battle in Lebanon's civil war is raging through rocky snowpatched mountains that are used by the best ski country in the Middle East.

Muslim and Christian forces are trading heavy artillery shells, bullets and rockets from peak to peak. Casualties in three weeks of fighting have been heavy.

High Speed Chase Ends

Maillard, Altamonte Springs and Lake Mary police and the Florida Highway Patrol, State Trooper C.L. Tomlinson said he charged Copley with reckless driving, unlawful speed, attempting to elude an officer, no drivers license, no valid license tag, possession of stolen tag, no headlight and no face shield, plus driving on the wrong side of the road.

The motorcycle ran a Lake Mary police roadblock at County Club Road and then continued east on Lake Mary Boulevard, officers said.

Bennett said he had stopped his patrol car, with lights flashing and siren sounding, in the westbound lane of Lake Mary Boulevard when the motorcycle tried to go between the patrol car and the car of a stopped motorcycle and plowed into the right front fender of the patrol car.

Police said the driver was arrested on the motorcycle which carried into the edge of woods on the north side of Lake Mary Boulevard.

Bennett reported the motorcycle was traveling at a "speed of 100 miles per hour or more" when it struck the patrol car.

Agencies involved in the high-speed chase included the Orange and Seminole County Sheriff's Departments,

Border Shooting Incidents Mar Friendship India's Relations With Bangladesh Still Frustrating

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — India has patched up ties with old rivals China and Pakistan, and it hit Mrs. Gandhi personally, "one West-Asian war, Bangladesh once was the nation it helped create, remain a frustration for Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's government.

The current rift, though dealing with long-standing geographical and political disputes, was brought on by last August's overthrow and assassination of the Bangladesh president, Sheikh Mujibur Rahman, and several associates considered pro-Indian, diplomats say.

Mujib, as the sheik was affectionately known, was committed to secularism and friendly relations with India, and his assassination touched off fears in India of anti-Hindu violence in Bangladesh and a potential refugee problem like the one that prompted Indian intervention in 1971.

"The assassination really hit Mrs. Gandhi personally," one Western diplomat said. "The Bangladesh war cost the Indians a lot and they had an interest in Mujib."

India expressed its shock and dismay at the assassination, but in the three months of upheaval that followed India persistently maintained it would not interfere in Bangladesh's internal affairs.

Maj. Gen. Ziaur Rahman emerged as the leader of Bangladesh after two power struggles in November, and later that month, when India's high commissioner to Bangladesh was wounded in a shooting, the Indian government denounced the incident as "an assassination attempt," and strongly warned Dacca against violence to its nationals.

Dacca and New Delhi are still talking and pledging to negotiate with each other, but the postures appear to be toughening with each flare-up.

"Now the board pays his check when he was authorized — that's an illegal expenditure," Kimbrough said.

Lake Mary Approves Subdivision

LAKE MARY — The city's planning and zoning commission Wednesday night approved preliminary plans for a new million dollar subdivision to be constructed on a 34-acre parcel on Evansdale and Pinecrest Streets.

Developer Frank Heidrich was authorized by the advisory board to proceed with final planning for the minimum three-quarter acre, lakefront sites, including engineering plans for drainage.

Custom-built homes to be constructed at the sites are to contain a minimum of 1,600 square feet of floor space. The new subdivision, at this point, is known simply as "Heidrich's subdivision."

In other business, the board approved the creation of a new zoning designation, HM-2, which permits both the lease of private ownership of lots in a mobile home park.

The recommended new zoning category is to be forwarded to the city council for action.

The board also recommended that a request for the abandonment of Sixth Street be denied by the city council.

Let's Talk Frankly About Dollars And Cents

Like anyone else, a funeral director has to make ends meet. He has facilities to maintain, cars to buy, salaries to provide and, of course, taxes to pay.

This means he must have a strong business sense. He must keep his expenses within reason so as to keep his prices within every family's means. As we do.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Foreign Pressure Led Cuba To Begin Pull-Out: Officials

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pressure from many African countries and possibly the Soviet Union prompted Cuba's decision to begin removing its 15,000 troops from Angola, U.S. officials say.

The Cuban pull-out, to be conducted at the rate of about 200 a week, is viewed here as an effort by Cuba to respect some of the diplomatic ground it appears to have lost in Africa as a result of continuing military involvement.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger told a news conference Tuesday in Luxembourg that the Cuban decision was a "positive development." A partial Cuban withdrawal from Angola would be insufficient and there was no possibility of any renewed U.S. interest in normalizing relations with Havana until all Cuban troops have gone home, he said.

Swedish Prime Minister Olof Palme told Kissinger Monday of Cuba's plans.

Airport Bombing Recounted

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — A blind Lebanese arriving on a foreign airline carried the suitcase bomb that killed himself and a woman guard and injured 10 Israelis at Israel's international airport Tuesday, the airport manager told a news conference.

Airport police said the man carried a Dutch passport bearing the name of Hugo Miller.

A second suitcase bomb went off half an hour later as police were dragging it from the arrival hall of Ben-Gurion International Airport. It caused no damage or casualties. The police blew open a third suitcase with detonators, but it contained only clothes.

Crucial Battle In Progress

OVERLOOKING FARAWA, Lebanon (AP) — A crucial battle in Lebanon's civil war is raging through rocky snowpatched mountains that used to be the best ski country in the Middle East.

Muslim and Christian forces are trading heavy artillery shells, bullets and rockets from peak to peak. Casualties in three weeks of fighting have been heavy.

exiting from an industrial plant at Lake Mary Boulevard and the Florida Highway Patrol.

State Trooper C.L. Tomlinson said he charged Copley with reckless driving, unlawful speed, attempting to elude an officer, no drivers license, no valid license tag, possession of a stolen tag, no headlights and no face shield, plus driving on the wrong side of the road.

Altoname police lodged charges of reckless driving and attempting to elude an officer.

Seminole Deputy Charles Coffee, who reported the motorcycle was traveling in excess of 100 miles an hour when it outdistanced him on I-4 from SR-434 to Lake Mary Boulevard, said charges of reckless driving and fleeing and attempting to elude an officer are also pending.

Officers said an expired Ohio license tag on the motorcycle was reported stolen with another motorcycle in Ohio.

Zambia, Rhodesia Trading

VICTORIA FALLS, Rhodesia (AP) — Two or three times a day, vacationers lounging under the trees in this resort town see a strange sight on the railroad bridge over the Zambezi River.

As trucks on both the Rhodesian and Zambian banks of the river look on, freight cars are pushed from one side to a white line in the center of the bridge. There a locomotive from the opposite side hooks on and hauls them off. If mutual agreement the locomotives never cross the white line, which marks the border between Rhodesia and Zambia, nationalist guerrilla incursions and later by President Kenneth Kaunda of Zambia to shear all ties with this breakaway British colony.

Border Shooting Incidents Mar Friendship

India's Relations With Bangladesh Still Frustrating

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — India has patched up ties with old rivals China and Pakistan, but relations with Bangladesh, the nation it helped create, remain a frustration for Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's government.

In the past month, India and Bangladesh have had bitter exchanges over three border shooting incidents, and a growing feud over Ganges River water rights has all but ended Indian hopes of an early renewal of friendship with its overpopulated and undernourished neighbor to the east.

The souring of the India-Bangladesh friendship is particularly troublesome to New Delhi because it represents the only blemish on Mrs. Gandhi's effort to mend India's subcontinent fences before the recently ended summit conference in Sri Lanka — formerly Ceylon — in August.

"Some Western diplomats expressed a leadership position in the nonaligned world comparable to that held by her father, the late Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru."

Such a bid would not be enhanced by a further deterioration of relations between India and the young nation the Indian army helped create with its intervention in the 1971 Pakistan civil war. Bangladesh once was East Pakistan.

The current rift, though dealing with long-standing geographical and political disputes, was brought on by last August's overthrow and assassination of the Bangladeshi president, Sheikh Mujibur Rahman, and several associates considered pro-Indian, diplomatic say.

Mujib, as the sheik was affectionately known, was committed to secularism and friendly relations with India, and his assassination touched off fears in India of anti-Hindu violence in Bangladesh and a potential refugee problem like the one that prompted Indian intervention in 1971.

"The assassination really hit the Indians, and it hit Mrs. Gandhi personally," one Western diplomat said. "The Bangladeshi war cost the Indians a lot and they had an interest in internal affairs."

Maj. Gen. Ziaur Rahman emerged as the leader of Bangladesh after two power struggles in November, and later that month, when India's high commissioner to Bangladesh was wounded in a shooting in Dhacca, the Indian government denounced the incident as "an assassination attempt," and strongly warned Dhacca against killing its nationals.

Dhacca and New Delhi are still talking, and pledging to negotiate with each other, but the postures appear to be toughening with each flareup.

The Underside Of Justice

Breaking into a Mexican jail at gunpoint to release its American prisoners is not a recommended way to improve international relations.

But the recent exploit by two modern-day "Zorros," as one wire service called them, who successfully sprang 11 other Americans and five Mexicans from an atrocious jail in Piedras Negras, just across the Mexico-Texas border, served at least briefly to expose the unsavory underside of otherwise amicable relations Mexico and the United States enjoy.

All of the young Americans were being held for drug offenses. Mexico, of course, as a sovereign nation, has every power to enforce its own laws against the narcotics traffic many Americans are involved in.

How Mexico treats its prisoners may also be its own business. (One of the rescued Americans said that as many as 12 men were crowded into a single 8-by-9-foot cell in Piedras Negras.)

But what no Mexicans has the right to do, under any written or unwritten law, is to confine people for months or years on end without trial or even formal indictment, as is reportedly the case with scores of other American citizens being held elsewhere in Mexico.

It is not only Americans charged with serious crimes who have been caught in the meshes of Mexico's corrupt legal system. Any number of tourists who have had the misfortune of being involved in automobile accidents or similar minor trouble in Mexico have returned with horror stories about the highhandedness, abusive, extortionist and confiscatory practices of some Mexican authorities.

Neither the Mexican government nor the U.S. State Department seems to be able to do anything about these injustices. They seem to have the lowest possible diplomatic priority, if there is any official concern about them at all.

While the diplomatic wheels churn smoothly between Washington and Mexico City, it is the little people who get caught in the cogs.

Unfair To Fishermen

Purposes of such appalling creatures that emotion can get in the way of a fair judgment of the role they should play in the commercial tuna fishing industry. Federal Judge Charles R. Richey's order banning any use of porpoises to attract schools of tuna obviously places considerable weight on the emotional arguments raised by environmentalists.

Some purposes do not survive their entanglement with nets despite efforts by fishermen to release them. Yet the National Marine Fisheries Service, which regulates this use of porpoises, says the mortality rate is not great enough to affect the population of the friendly sea mammals.

If there were clear-cut evidence that the porpoise is heading toward extinction because of this practice, Judge Richey's order would make more sense. As it is, he is creating still another disadvantage for U.S. tuna fishermen to overcome in their effort to compete with foreign fishermen not subject to jurisdiction of our federal agencies.

If porpoises are to be protected in this manner — and it is questionable whether they need to be — then the policy should be laid down by an international body in the same manner that multination agreements impose quotas on the annual catch of tuna. Sending our tuna fleet to sea under restrictive rules that other nations are not obliged to follow is a sure way of driving that fleet away from our shores for good.

JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — We have watched President Ford closely since he picked the government reinit off the floor nearly 22 months ago. We have often disagreed with his policies; occasionally, we have criticized his personality. But we have detected one characteristic that has gone largely unnoticed:

Gerald Ford has political courage. This side of the President has been revealed behind closed White House doors. Ford made the decision, for example, to send Secretary of State Henry Kissinger to Africa on the eve of some crucial Southern primaries.

The President saw advance drafts of the statements Kissinger intended to make in Africa, supporting the rights of the black majority. Political advisers warned that the timing couldn't be worse, that the Kissinger tour would antagonize many Southern voters.

When Republican leaders pleaded with him to spare their pet projects, according to the confidential minutes of a May 5 meeting, the President replied bluntly: "There are definite limitations on what we can spend."

Yet the confidential minutes of a White House meeting on May 12 show the President had not relented. The inkover of Angola by Soviet-supported Cuban troops and guerrillas, he said, had made the situation "potentially very dangerous" for African moderates.

"Without some strong position by us," he declared, "Africa would become ripe for the picking." There had been "some criticism of the timing" of the Kissinger visit, he said, "but I can't hold foreign policy in abeyance for political reasons."

Ford has also dismayed his political advisers by calling for an increase in social security taxes and a five per cent ceiling on pay raises and pensions. Past presidents managed to postpone Henry Kissinger to Africa on the eve of some crucial Southern primaries.

Any public official who doesn't have the basic intelligence to understand when he's in violation of Florida's open meetings law doesn't have sufficient guts to represent the taxpayers.

In defense of State Rep. Bob Hattaway's proposed Sunshine Law amendment, Ray Stitt argued city officials don't understand the law. Stitt, Florida League of Cities Municipalities executive director, said city officials "don't know what to do" when faced with prosecution.

It's ridiculous to publicly state that public officials can't interpret a law which has as its intent the prevention of closed-door meetings. Public officials know when they're violating the Sunshine Law. But a classic defense is to pretend not to know, because that makes it difficult to prove intent.

I'm no attorney and it's no big deal, but I don't want a public official representing me who doesn't have the common sense to know when the public has been invited to a meeting and when citizens have been excluded.

Letters To The Editor

Good Samaritans
Editor: We extend our heartfelt thanks to Ivan Tabor, 1811 Sanford Avenue, Toby and Duane Rice, and Randy O'Brien.

These people were modern "Good Samaritans" when some driver struck our dog "Cindy" and left her lying with a broken hip in the road. The dog was taken to the Animal Hospital on Park Drive. Thank you again.

An Open Letter
Editor: I address this letter to the two boys who were joyfully shooting down song birds with their BB guns on Sunday, May 16, in the field between Locust, Mellenville, and Celery Ave.

You will be happy to know the baby cardinal died today. He looked like he might make it, but the extent of his injuries were too severe; injuries brought on by your senseless shooting! I am sick to know you derive such pleasure in that way from our shores for good.

Letters to the editor are welcomed for publication. All letters must be signed, with a mailing address and, if possible, a telephone number so the identity of the writer may be verified. The Evening Herald will respect the wishes of writers who do not want their names in print. The Evening Herald also reserves the right to edit letters to eliminate libel or to conform to space requirements.

The truth of the matter is public officials don't like the law. It's a nuisance and in some instances slows down and impedes the governmental process. But it's important, and without it, the general public would be in the dark because public officials could avoid anything, and without it, they would be without even listening to opinions from the people they've been elected to represent.

A source in Tallahassee says there's a lot of anti-Sunshine sentiment in the legislature. The House vote of 84-55 in favor of Hattaway's amendment bears that out. So, we'll just say thanks to the Florida Senate and our representative there, State Sen. Lori Wilson, I-Merritt Island, for killing a measure that would have gutted the law.

Actually, it was a dead issue from the start. Because even if the Senate had passed the measure — which Tallahassee sources say was highly unlikely — Gov. Reubin Askew wouldn't have signed it into law. It was a losing argument right from the jump.

My first thought was that the idea for the measure came from County Atty. Thomas Freeman. But Freeman denies he was the impetus. The county attorney admits, however, that he approved the wording which Freeman says was supplied by House Speaker Don Tucker.

This year's battle brought to light needed changes in the open meetings law. One important one is the bill needs some teeth so that state attorneys can obtain convictions after indictments are issued.

As it is, it's a good idea. It's good because it makes elected officials think twice before being behind closed doors. That alone is a lot.

For Hattaway, whom I personally like and enjoy talking to, the bill was a no-win proposition. He's sure to be tagged as the legislator who tried to gut the Sunshine Law. If his amendment had passed, he'd be known as the legislator who gutted the Sunshine Law. You pays your money, and you takes your choice.

PRO/CON
Social Security Costs

Today's Topic: "The Social Security System," as debated by Rep. Bill Archer (R-Texas) and Rep. Abner Mikva (D-Ill.). This article is adapted from the National Town Meeting on Social Security in Washington, D.C. at the Kennedy Center where public figures answer the audience's questions on the issues. The meeting was supported by a grant from the Mobil Oil Corporation. Mobil has no control over the content.

Can the nation afford Social Security?
The Social Security fund is in jeopardy of being unable to pay benefits in the next few years. But the conditions projected over the next 75 years, in actuarial terms, are not very attractive. The current benefit structure, without any further increases in the formula, would require that our children, after the year 2000, pay more than 20 per cent of their payroll in order to maintain the benefits. As a generation, are you only willing to pay 12 per cent and feel that that is too high. That is irresponsible. One of the problems that we've got to face up to today is what is our responsibility from generation to generation. Not just the immediate people who are on retirement. It's good that we've finally reached the day of reckoning on Social Security. Yet, even as we face the problems that have been created by past Congresses, we find proposals to once again sweep it under the rug by taking general fund revenues out of the Treasury and putting them into Social Security. Not one single member of Congress who has proposed to use general fund revenues has also proposed a tax to provide additional monies to go into the general Treasury. They leave you with the bill when the money is going to be there and yet we know we are running a $73.5 billion deficit in the general Treasury so that it only means that what you add on top of that is going to have to be borrowed which is inflationary. And the old and the poor pay dearest in inflation. We also have got to face up to a major decision of whether we want Social Security to become a glorified welfare program or whether we want to have a relationship to the causality insurance concept. Should the earnings limit for senior citizens be eliminated?

Can the nation afford Social Security?
An older person who wants to work should be able to work without suffering the loss of his or her Social Security benefits. This will not add extra burden on the cost of the fund and it must be reworked in such a way that this is taken care of. But I think we are looking at an awful lot of productive effort, of talent of experience and capability by taking away Social Security if you earn beyond a certain amount. It is an inequity. Social Security a better buy than private insurance?

Can the nation afford Social Security?
Social Security, as it is formulated today, is a better buy than what you can buy privately, considering all the risk factors, survivorship benefits, disability benefits and other coverages which a private insurance policy would not make a valid comparison. The reason it is a better buy is because we are transferring to our children the responsibility of paying more than 20 per cent of their payroll to pay higher benefits. I don't care where you pay for it, through a payroll tax or out of general Treasury funds, this money has to come from the next generation.

Can the nation afford Social Security?
In one way, you are trying to measure apples and oranges when you try to compare private plans with the Social Security System. One measure you can use is what they call the last factors in the insurance business — that is how much of the money, in fact, gets paid out to recipients as opposed to how much is used for administration. Well, the Social Security system is non-profit and, for all its faults, the administration of the fund is cheaper and than private funds in the south (It returns 98 cents of every dollar). Using that as a measuring stick, Social Security comes out to be a pretty good buy.

Can the nation afford Social Security?
CUBANS IN AFRICA: The announcement from Angola that the new government will maintain a preferential relationship with Cuba means that the Kremlin will be calling the shots from behind the scenes.
For secret intelligence reports state flatly that the Soviets are subsidizing and directing the Cuban operations in Africa.
Cuban merchant ships, meanwhile, are making private fund and oil shipments to Angola and Lobito. Intelligence reports suggest they are moving military equipment from Luanda to Lobito in the Angolan port of Luanda and to solidify its role in southern Angola.
Apparently, Cuban troops are still conducting combat operations against the remaining, retreating UNITA guerrillas. The ruling MPLA forces, according to our intelligence sources, cannot yet direct successful military operations on their own.
The tiny Angolan air force is also manned by Cubans, the intelligence reports suggest. There have been a number of reports, too, that more Cuban technicians are arriving in Angola, perhaps accompanied by their families.
The best estimate is that more than 12,000 Cuban troops and 1,000 Cuban technicians are now stationed in Angola.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Petroleum Marketers Guild Of Trying To Bribe O'Malley
TALLHASSEE (AP) — The Florida Petroleum Marketers Association was found guilty today of attempting to bribe former insurance Commissioner Thomas O'Malley. The association drew the maximum penalty — a $1,000 fine.
"I feel it's a shame that somewhere in this criminal case somebody didn't go to jail," said Leon County Judge Charles McClure.
He judged the association guilty and set the fine after Joseph Jacobs, attorney for the association, entered a plea of no contest.
The decision completed all of the indictments returned in 1974-75 by a Leon County grand jury following an investigation of state government corruption. Two Cabinet members were indicted in that probe and subsequently resigned.

Recording Suit Allowed
JACKSONVILLE (AP) — A judge has refused to throw out a transmission repair company's suit against the city of Jacksonville and television station WJXT but says it can't result in punitive damages against the city.
Circuit Judge Sam Goodfriend ruled Tuesday on a motion to dismiss filed by Jacksonville, Fla., and WJXT. The suit, filed in Jacksonville, claims that the city and television station violated the Florida security of communications law by secretly recording conversations of mechanics during investigation of the company's operations.
WJXT and Post-Newsweek Stations Inc. say they are not liable for damages because the state attorney's office approved their reporters' actions.

Shrimp Boat Rams Bridge
ST. PETERSBURG (AP) — A 55-foot shrimp boat rammed the Sunshine Skyway Bridge early today, officials said. One person was injured and the boat and bridge sustained minor damage.
Officials said the boat did not get a date for trial. The Coast Guard said the DeWay Ann Addison, based in Fort Myers, smashed into the northbound span of the bridge which crosses Tampa Bay. The boat remained stuck in the bridge for several hours.
Officials said crewman Larry Tibber was trapped briefly in the boat's damaged cabin, but was freed and taken to Bayfront Hospital. He was reported in fair condition this morning.

Promoter Gets 20 Years
FORT LAUDERDALE (AP) — Paraplegic promoter C. Monroe Arnold "Doc" Lerman has been sentenced to 20 years in prison and fined $30,000 on a 1973 fraud conviction.
Lerman's earlier probation on the conviction was revoked after authorities at Orlando charged him with fraud by promoting franchises in a non-existent medical company.
After the revocation in March, Lerman slipped away from an Orlando hospital while awaiting sentencing, surrendered in Washington, D.C., and waived extradition last week.

122-Year-Old Man Dies
PALATKA (AP) — "I can't get around, but I preach. Lordy, I preach," the Rev. Toby Crosby said just a few months before he died at the age of 122.
The preaching career of the Rev. Mr. Crosby, believed to have been the second-oldest resident of the United States, ended two weeks ago when he was hospitalized after a stroke. He died Tuesday.
Born a slave in South Carolina, the Rev. Mr. Crosby was recognized by a society of centenarians in Columbus, Ohio, last year as the second-oldest American, behind Charlie Smith of Bartow, Fla. Smith is 133.

Benefits Increase Killed
TALLHASSEE (AP) — The Senate Commerce Committee has killed Gov. Reubin Askew's proposal to allow automatic increases in unemployment compensation benefits.
Askew had sought to have the benefits tagged to a percentage of the statewide average weekly wage rather than a fixed amount set by the legislature.
However, the committee defeated the proposal 5-3 even after sponsors compromised and lowered the percentage from 66 per cent to 49 per cent, the level of current payments.

WEATHER
Tuesday's high 87, today's low 81. Rainfall: .74 inch. Partly cloudy with a chance of thunder showers. Increasing cloudiness Thursday. Highs mostly in upper 80s and lows tonight in upper 60s. Variable winds around 10 m.p.h. becoming southeasterly and increasing Thursday. Rain probability 30 per cent today and tonight and 40 per cent Thursday.
EXTENDED FORECAST
Thunder showers likely Friday and in south portions Saturday. Generally fair Sunday. Mild north and warm in south portions. Afternoon highs from low 70s north to upper 80s south. Lows in the 60s.

Solar Rays Will Power Beacons Straits To Be Lighted By Sunshine

CAVESHORT LIGHT (AP) — The sunshine that by day toasts mariners plying the Florida Straits soon will light them at night, powering lights that warn them of 200 miles of coral reefs between Miami and Key West.
While local Coast Guard officials say the project is not unique — similar devices power small buoys off Massachusetts and the West Coast — it is part of a growing trend to use natural energy in Coast Guard operations.
Matrigali's system gathers sunlight through a bank of solar collector cells that transform the energy into electricity. The electric charge then is funneled into batteries which, in turn, power the lamp.
Officials say the ultimate goals of the system are to save money and to increase the reliability of the reef lights, six towering beacons which point the way for ships steaming the passage between the Atlantic and the Gulf of Mexico.

While local Coast Guard officials say the project is not unique — similar devices power small buoys off Massachusetts and the West Coast — it is part of a growing trend to use natural energy in Coast Guard operations.

Dinner Invitation Plays Role In Forestalling Possible Veto

By JOHN VAN GIBSON
Associated Press Writer
TALLAHASSEE (AP) — A dinner invitation has played a major role in forestalling Gov. Reubin Askew's first veto of the 1975 legislative session.
It all began one evening last week when Hugh MacMillan, an Askew aide, called House Clerk Allen Morris to alert him to a veto the governor expected to issue later that night.
The governor must deliver his veto message to the House clerk or Senate secretary, depending on the origin of the legislation in question, when the legislature is in session.
But Morris was on his way out the door to attend a Republican legislative appreciation dinner when MacMillan called.
They discussed the situation, and Morris agreed to return home at about 10 p.m. MacMillan said he would deliver the veto message at that time.
The bill in question, HB141, allowed Gator Downs, a harness racing track in northern St. Johns County just south of Jacksonville to conduct dog races.
The measure was sponsored by Rep. A.H. "Gus" Craig, D-St. Augustine, who represents the area. It was due to become law without Askew's signature unless he vetoed it that night.
"Governor had some question about whether or not what they sought to do really could be done under the Florida Constitution since the actual effect of the bill would be changing the character of a racing permit for one single corporation," MacMillan said.
With time on his hands, Askew continued to call around to discuss Craig's bill. MacMillan said the governor talked to Craig, Richard Pallot, chairman of the Board of Business Regulation, and others.
Craig said the governor called him just about the time Morris was leaving for dinner.
"He indicated he had a problem with it and asked could I straighten it out for him," Craig recalled. "We discussed it, and finally he indicated he'd just let it become law. He didn't have that big a problem with it."
Meanwhile, Morris returned home at the appointed hour to wait for MacMillan to deliver the veto message. At about 11:20 p.m., MacMillan called and told Morris to forget it, the governor had changed his mind.

The bill became law the next day without the governor's signature.
Morris, who did not call MacMillan whose bill it was, said: "I probably saved some poor guy a veto because I went out to dinner."
House Speaker Donald Tucker, D-Tallahassee, took reporters to task recently for writing that he had ignored more than five members who requested a roll call vote by raising their hands.
Reporters agreed that 20 or more members had raised their hands to ask for a recorded vote on an amendment to make lucrative legislative pensions optional.
Tucker said the stories were incorrect in reporting that House rules required a roll call vote on the showing of five hands.
That may be, but Article III, Section 4 (c) of the Florida Constitution provides:
"Each house shall keep and publish a journal of its proceedings; and upon the request of five members present, the vote of each member voting on any question shall be entered on the journal."
The honors for weirdest communications of the week must be shared by rookie Rep. John Adams, D-Hollywood, and Sen. Don Childers, D-West Palm Beach.
Drawing on less than two months of legislative experience, Adams demonstrated he is a match for most veterans when it comes to the grandiose, self-serving release. His said:
"Backing incredible 'freshman' odds, Representative John Adams, D-Hollywood, has successfully pushed two bills through the committee system and onto the House calendar.
"His just proves hard work can compete on any front. People said since I was elected so late, the cut-off date so close, and I was so new that there was no way I could get a bill through. Of course I still need a full House vote and Senate concurrence before they become law, but I am very confident."
Childers distributed a letter to fellow senators urging them to support his functional literacy bill instead of a House substitute.
He noted the Senate passed his bill "without a descending (sic) vote." But Childers said the House Education Committee "struck everything after the inaction (sic) clause."

Bing Crosby Released From Ohio Hospital

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Bing Crosby has been released from Riverside Hospital where doctors removed a piece of food that became lodged in the singer's throat.
Hospital officials said Crosby, who was released Tuesday after an overnight stay, had been dining with friends Monday night when the food became stuck in his throat. He was initially treated by a doctor in his party and then taken to the hospital by car.
The 72-year-old singer was given a general anesthetic and the food removed from his esophagus with forceps, the hospital said.
Crosby later withdrew from the $200,000 Memorial Golf Tournament in suburban Dublin.

Sen. Kennedy Honored

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Fathers Day Committee has awarded Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts a "Father of the Year" award.
Kennedy, who was named national Father of the Year on Tuesday, is the third Kennedy brother to receive that honor. The late President John F. Kennedy and the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy won in 1962 and 1969 respectively.
This year's other six father award recipients were New Jersey Gov. Brendan T. Byrne, Olympic track gold medalist Jesse Owens, Hughes Rudd of CBS News, NBC Science reporter Dr. Frank Field, American Basketball Association Commissioner Dave DeBusschere, Broadway actor and singer John Coltrane and entertainer Ray Heatherton.

Sinatra Letter Sold

CHICAGO (AP) — A copyrighted letter in which Frank Sinatra called Chicago Daily News columnist Mike Royko a "pimp" has been sold to a Rockford, Ill., museum owner.
Mrs. Vic Carlson purchased the letter for $400, and proceeds from the sale of the letter will go to the Salvation Army, Royko said Tuesday in his column.
Sinatra wrote the letter during a recent stay in Chicago after Royko had criticized the singer for using Chicago police officers as bodyguards during his visit.

Some Department Heads Must Have Telephones

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer
LONGWOOD — The city council voted 3-2 this week to require all department heads to have telephones and could require all city employees to have telephones if that was their desire, City Attorney Neil Julian Jr. ruled.
Saying since municipalities have the power to require employees to live within city bounds, the governing body also has authority to require the employees to have telephones and to make their telephone numbers available to city officials and departments, Julian said.
Councilman Parker Anderson and Gerard Conwell voted against the move. Both have said in the past during discussions that requiring the telephones was an invasion of privacy after duty hours.
Council members June Lormann, J.R. Grant and Lawrence Goldberg, however, striking out specifically at Public Works Director Ralph Fisher said they wanted to know Fisher's telephone number and wanted it "available" to other department heads.
Fisher has been confined to a sick bed with a back injury received on the job 11 days ago. He got out of his sickbed a week ago to make a requested report to the city council on the status of his departments — streets and water.
Anderson, who heads up the council's street department committee, was requested to get a diagnosis and prognosis of Fisher's condition. Anderson said he is a personal physician after Julian ruled that the city does not have authority to hire a mechanic to replace one who recently resigned.
Julian said that an ordinance passed by the council last year gives the public works director — Fisher — authority to hire personnel for his department and that the city council had to abide by its own ordinances.
Goldberg said he had discussed with the mechanic his reasons for leaving the city's employ and was told that the mechanic was unhappy with his salary and wanted a raise.
Connell said, however, that the council during budget sessions last summer had denied pay raises to the public works department employees over his objections and that none of those employees had received pay raises for two years.
Mayor James R. Lormann insisted that the governing body address its concerns to department heads and not discuss employees.

Senior Volunteer Group Enjoying Good Health

By KRIS NASH
Herald Staff Writer
Residents who benefit each year from numerous good-neighbor projects undertaken by RSVP workers.
Owen Edelman told members of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce Education Committee that RSVP is enjoying excellent health both financially and in terms of volunteers available to assist with the organization's many helpful efforts.
The county school system is one area where RSVP volunteers have pitched in to assist with registration of students, library functions and many small tasks which allow teachers more time for their primary duties.
In addition, RSVP workers helped fill souvenir bags given away at the recent home show sponsored by the Evening Herald.
RSVP was also instrumental in preparing some 1,200 promotional mailings sent out last year by the chamber's Industrial 25 Committee and the group maintains an almost constant regimen of sewing, doll-making and repairing to aid needy families, hospitalized children and other unfortunates.
On another front, Panel Member Mary Joyce Bateman submitted a written report to the committee on a Business Education Day project proposed for October. Scheduled to be held at the Altamonte Springs Civic Center on October 15, Business Education Day would offer a forum on techniques, guidelines and problems involved with teaching consumer economics in a free enterprise system. The program would be open to selected Seminole County teachers but not to all, Bateman's report said.

Question Remains In Hays Scandal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Following Rep. Wayne Hays' admission that he had a "personal relationship" with a woman employe, the question remaining in dispute is whether she received $14,000 a year at taxpayer expense to be his mistress or whether she was a productive employe of Congress.
The Justice Department is trying to resolve that question and the little-used House ethics committee may make an effort, too.
Hays, in an emotional speech before the full House on Tuesday, admitted he lied when he denied having a relationship with Elizabeth Ray, a shapely clerk on the payroll of his House Administration Committee. But he contended he was telling the truth when he said he did not keep her on the government payroll at $14,000 a year just for her sexual services.
FBI agents were reportedly continuing their investigation of Hays' relationship with Miss Ray as the House ethics committee chairman John J. Flynn, urged the panel to launch an investigation "in order to guarantee the integrity of the House of Representatives, its members and its committees."
Flynn was campaigning in his home state of Georgia as Hays made his speech admitting his relationship with Miss Ray, but said he was flying to Washington immediately. He said all of the request for an investigation, including a telephoned request from Hays himself, were "informal," noting his panel could act only on a formal request.
Four of the 28 members who signed the letter asking for the ethics committee investigation also sent a letter to Speaker Carl Albert. Albert and other House leaders were in London to accept a loan of the Magna Carta for the Bicentennial celebration.
In his confession before the crowded House chamber, the 65-year-old Hays denied keeping Miss Ray, 33, on the government payroll as his mistress. He said he lied about his relationship with her because he did not want his new wife to find out about it.
"Six weeks ago, I was married to the woman I love more than any other person or thing in this world... Prior to this time, and for an extended period of time, I had a relationship with Elizabeth Ray. I was legally separated and single. It was voluntary on her part and mine," Hays said.
He said he ended the relationship before his remarriage. He was divorced from his first wife in January.
Hays insisted that Miss Ray performed office duties for her pay, despite her contention that she could not type or handle telephones and that she did not do any work for Hays' committee.
Miss Ray, who says she was on the payroll only to be available for sex with Hays, denied Tuesday that her relationship with the congressman ended with his remarriage. She said she had seen him four times since his marriage and that they had been intimate twice.
"I'm not taking anything back. I'm telling the truth," she said.
Meanwhile, the Washington Post said it found that Miss Ray's name was not included on a list of House Administration Committee employes in monthly reports from November 1975 to February 1976.

Annexation Plea Is Turned Down In Altamonte

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer
ALTIMONTE SPRINGS — City Commissioners denied a request for the annexation and rezoning of scattered lots on Palm Springs Road as opposing residents from county territory vigorously objected to a move by the petitioners to continue the public hearing to a later time, saying it would work a hardship on those who were present for the public hearing.
City Attorney Joseph Davis reminded the commission that state law forbids the city to annex property increasing or decreasing density for a period of two years without county commission approval.
In other business, the commission approved a change order to Nudy Construction Co. Inc. of Winter Park to permit construction of residential and that all were willing to deed property to widen the roadway.
Another change order to Park Electric for #4250 was approved for metal light fixtures to be installed at the tennis courts recently constructed at the civic center.
The commission took under advisement a recommendation from Leo Ware that out-of-city residents be allowed to use the tennis courts for a fee.

Auburn Wins It

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Auburn batters lashed out six times in beating Jacksonville 7-5 to win the NCAA Division I South Region championship. Auburn, already the Southeastern Conference champion, was undefeated in the tourney and takes a 37-13 record to the June 11-19 college world series in Omaha, Neb.

Third baseman Richie Howard hit a homer to lead Auburn's scoring drive in the first two innings Tuesday. Jacksonville's Brad Tanner, who relieved starting pitcher Rick Peterson in the second inning, didn't allow another Auburn run.

But Auburn already had enough points as Jacksonville scrambled but couldn't take the advantage. After an in-run, Jacksonville tied but bases loaded and nobody out, but failed to score.

Jacksonville threatened in the sixth inning as pitcher Terry Leach began to tire. The four runs in that inning were pegged to errors by Howard.

Auburn relief pitcher Joe Beckwith took over from Leach and, as he did Monday against second-ranked Florida State, protected a victory. Beckwith also got the win in the tournament opener, when Auburn beat the Ohio Valley Conference champion, Middle Tennessee.

Jacksonville finished with a 4-14 record.

Southern Triumphs

LAKELAND (AP) — Florida Southern gets its sixth trip in eight years to the national small-college NCAA baseball tournament after a 7-1 victory over Madison College of Harrisonburg, Va.

"I'm glad ... this wasn't my last tournament," said Florida Southern Coach Hal Smeltz, who announced his retirement prior to the South Atlantic regional championship game Tuesday.

Now Smeltz has the June 5-8 tournament in Springfield, Ill., to look forward to.

The Mock, defending South Atlantic regional champion, blasted out of a 1-1 tie in the fourth inning, with leftfielder Sam Tetta's two-run homer.

Madison got 10 hits from Florida Southern pitcher John Kessler, but he settled down after the fourth inning to protect the team's undefeated record at the tournament.

The Ducks only run was scored by leadoff man Mike Smith, who reached base on an error in the top of the first inning. Madison loaded the bases in the second and fourth innings but failed to score.

Madison finished the double-elimination tournament with a 2-11 season record.

Florida Southern takes a 30-11 record to Springfield.

Madison centerfielder Todd Winterfeld was named the tournament's most valuable player after smashing out 12 hits in 20 times up, including two, two triples and a home run.

How NOT To Pitch To Phils: Seaver

By The Associated Press
Tom Seaver has learned how to pitch to the Philadelphia Phillies in the National League East over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

One of the hottest teams in baseball, the Phillies have beaten Seaver two times in the last week, including Tuesday night's 8-4 decision over the New York Mets.

"They're an extremely hot team—as hot as they can be," said Seaver. "That's about as hot a club as I've seen in a long time. Everything they hit can be in exactly the right place."

The Phillies' victory was their 24th in 30 games and boosted their lead to 2½ games over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Seaver, a three-time Cy Young winner, continued to be treated with little respect by Tommy Hutton. He had three hits Tuesday night to boost his lifetime mark against Seaver to 424. Hutton has 14 career 1-1 RBI against the right-hander.

While the Phillies continued to roll, Seaver continued to reel. He was his fourth straight after four victories at the start of the season.

Hutton shared the offensive lead with Jay Johnstone, who slammed four hits, including a home run, drive in two runs and scored three. The Phillies rallied from a 3-0 first-inning deficit to help unbeaten Jim Lonborg earn his seventh victory. The Phillies ranked Seaver and walked two as the Brewers nipped New York 1-0.

"From what I've seen of the left-handers in this league, there's a California's Frank) Tanana and Travers and pick anyone you want for the third spot," said Milwaukee Manager Alex Grammas after Travers hurled his first major league shutout in an Oakland game.

"It was my best-pitched game ever," Travers said. "It's taken me six years to get everything together."

Red Sox 2, Tigers 0
Cal's Yaztrzemski's two-run homer and Luis Tiant's second shutout of the season gave the surging Boston Red Sox their win over Detroit and their 11th victory in their last 14 games. Yaztrzemski's roundtripper in the fourth scored Carlton Fisk, who had opened the inning with a walk.

A's 6, Twins 1
Vida Blue's eight-hit pitching was backed by Sal Bando's two-run homer and Billy Williams' two runs-batted-in as Oakland shocked Minnesota. Blue had a shutout until the eighth when he issued his only two walks of the game and gave up a run-scoring single to Dan Ford.

White Sox 5, Angels 1
Pat Kelly smashed a two-run homer and Rick Gossage limited California 7-1 just six hits as Chicago won its ninth straight game, the White Sox' longest winning streak since 1973.

Brian Downing's two-out single in the eighth snapped a 1-1 tie and Chicago added four more runs in the ninth to hand Angels starter Gary Ross his sixth loss in seven decisions.

Indians 3, Orioles 0
Pat Dobson's nine-inning lifted Cleveland to its fourth straight victory.

Ross, Clark, NeSmith Win; Vincent, Hayden Stopped

Central Florida's biggest night of boxing turned out to be the most savage night of brawling ever seen in these parts as a howling mob of 5,877 excited fans sat through four and a half hours of almost non-stop action Tuesday night at the Orlando Sports Stadium.

Headlining the Pro-Am card was Edgar "Mad Dog" Ross' successful defense of his Southern Junior middleweight title as he stopped Tampa's "Fast" Eddie Davis in five action-packed rounds.

But the biggest shocker of the night came in the semi-final when Orlando's Mr. Excitement, Joe Vincent, walked into a hail of lefts and rights from Indiana's George Madison and was stopped in the first round.

Of local interest was the pro debut of Casselberry's Scott "Golden Boy" Clark, who made the transition from amateur ranks a winning one as he pounded out an unanimous four-round decision over Henry "Tiger" Hall in another stunning upset.

The card started at 6:30 with the finals of the Junior Olympic Regional Championship bouts headlining a complete amateur show.

Of those contests two Seminole County youths who attend Lake Howell High School, John "Hurricane" Hayden and James "Showboat" Salerno, failed in their bids to obtain gold medals.

In both cases it was a fighter named Grey who turned back the locals' bid for glory. Salerno started out fast and controlled the first two rounds with a snapping left jab and sharp right cross. Late in the second session he hurt Ross and battered him about the ring. But after that the champ took control with solid punching, and finally stopped Davis in the fifth round.

Clark showed excellent foot and hand speed for his first pro outing, as he continually beat Hall to the punch. Tiger kept waiting for the 17-year-old school boy from Lyman High to make a mistake, but Clark fought a near perfect defensive fight and scored with enough combinations to win going away.

In the fourth, with the fight still undecided, Clark left no doubt as to who deserved the win, when he staggered the veteran with a scorching right hand that snapped Hall's legs back and put him in his lap.

Vincent abandoned his normal slick and move tactics and went straight in after his unbeaten foe. That proved to be a mistake, as he was caught cold with a straight right hand. After that it was target practice for Madison until the ref intervened, rescuing Vincent after just two of the first round.

The Ross-Davis fight was a bloody war, literally. Davis started out fast and controlled the first two rounds with a snapping left jab and sharp right cross. Late in the second session he hurt Ross and battered him about the ring. But after that the champ took control with solid punching, and finally stopped Davis in the fifth round.

Mike Cohen: Lawyer, Horse Bettor

By Herald Services
Mike Cohen, who as usual had hustled from his downtown Chicago law office to make the first race, got out of the car in the Hawthorne race course parking lot, loosened his necktie in the noonday sun, and on the way to the track entrance, walked past the stable area where he was greeted along the way by a round of applause and the smell of manure. Mike Cohen was in heaven.

Cohen had recently returned from Shreveport, La., where he was wipidly argued a case in federal court in which his client had been charged with book-making at a local track. News, like only some horses, travels fast. And Mike received now a warm hand a yelp of praise from a trainer, an exercise boy stopping for a moment from sooting a steed, a jockey and a bookie, some of whom are also Mike's clients.

Michael B. Cohen is a lawyer and a horse bettor, or a horse bettor and a lawyer. Mostly, he is that most enviable of breeds: one who happily combines his work with his pastime.

Cohen is a 36-year-old bachelor, slender, dark-haired and with that ineradicable twinkle of hope in his eyes which is as necessary to the horse player as a limber jaw to the barrister.

Mike's sentimental attachment to the track is greater than it is to the courtroom, if only because he's been at the former longer. The heady aroma of the track enveloped Mike when he was a teenager and taught him valuable lessons. Once, after losing over $100 three straight days, he determined forever to gamble only as much as he could afford to lose.

Then last summer the gods fell madly and sweetly in love with Mike. He put a chunk on a trifecta and won a goodly five-figure sum.

Thereupon, he decided to wind down some of his law practice and spend more time at the track. "I love it, even the smell of manure—it's so freeing," he said. Before, he was just attending the races on weekends and on those afternoons when a distant relative had conveniently died.

Now, he comes to the track nearly every afternoon, fulfilling his legal business in the morning.

"I'm a better lawyer than I've ever been," he said. "I get up earlier, do more than organized and have a clearer mind in order to do all that I have to do—and do it well, so that I can be in the sunshine by the first race."

More than that, business has picked up considerably since he has become a track regular. A lawyer gets clients only when word has been passed on from the horse's mouth.

Cook Of The Week

Mrs. Gray Specializes In Tasty Cakes

By ELDA NICHOLS
Herald Correspondent

Mrs. B.R. (Jonnie) Gray of Longwood has forgotten more about cooking than most people will ever know. Next month she will be 75 years old, and recently celebrated her 50th wedding anniversary, but has she slowed down? Never!

"I'm president of the Senior Citizens Group here, and have been the 'Longwood' First Baptist Church Sunday School secretary for more than 25 years," she said. She's also working in a ceramics class and gives Upperware parties. She is blessed with a lovely singing voice, and is often called upon to entertain at community events. She was the town clerk for over 12 years, and she and her husband had a grocery store for 10 years.

Mrs. Gray's reputation as a cook is well known in the area.

She bakes any type cake and decorates it appropriately, with tiered wedding cakes a specialty. She also caters wedding receptions. Her youngest granddaughter's marriage was highlighted with a beautiful Grecian Garden wedding cake, which she made.

"Most all wedding cakes are white cakes," she said. "White cake doesn't stay moist as long as others, so it's best to make them as close to the time of the wedding as possible."

Mrs. Gray's daughter is in charge of the home economics department at a high school in Indiana. When she married, Mrs. Gray made her entire wedding gown and going away outfit. She said, "Young girls today who say they can't cook, or sew, just don't get any sympathy from me. I, too, couldn't cook or sew, but I figured if someone else is smart enough to do something, then I can do it too!"

Women's Lib Scapegoat For Social Ills

By JOANNE KOCH
The Herald Services

For the first time in U.S. history, more Americans divorced than married. Over a million marriages dissolved in 1975, according to a recent Census Bureau report.

Women's lib is usually the "fall gal" for this high rate of breakup. But people blame women's lib when other forces are equally significant in disrupting families.

We blame women's lib when we mean inflation and recession which have forced women — liberated and traditional — to join the labor force just to make ends meet.

We blame women's lib when families must move on the average of once every five years and 40 million Americans have to change their home address every year.

We blame women's lib when adults and children are bombarded by the promises of other lifestyles. Hustler, Cosmopolitan, Playboy, Playboy, Penthouse, Out, and Ms. magazine and other militant feminist publications. A film such as "Alice Doesn't Live Here Anymore," which might be construed as sympathetic to the women's movement, makes a pitance compared to big grossing exploitation films such as "Deep Throat," "Emmanuelle" and "The Devil in Miss Jones."

In And Around Sanford Women End Season

On the afternoon of a pool party and festive affair with international flair, the question was: "Will raindrops keep falling on our heads?" However, the rain stopped shortly before the end-of-the-season social for Sanford Woman's Club members, their spouses and guests Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph (Mona) Jarvis.

A tempting array of round-the-world cuisine prepared through the culinary expertise of the members, kept the group returning to the buffet table for more than just second turns.

The tables were set with colorful place mats and the patio area was alive with brilliant tropical blossoms. For the head table Elaine Collins contributed half a watermelon arranged with red and white gels.

Arriving late were Adm. Richard Fowler (USN, ret.) and his wife, Jean, who was suffering from a burned hand, the result of preparing a specialty for the feast.

Shortly after the dessert course was finished, the rains came again and guests fled for cover.

Hostesses for the delightful "we should do this more often" event were Misses F. Hood (Marian) Ocker, Walter (Bill) Gielen, Richard (Marty) Colegrove, Burch (Carolyn) Cornelius, W.P. (Lucy) Layer, Phillip (Bonnie) Logan, William (Edna) Southward, Wendell (Janice) Springfield, George (Pat) Beers and Ned (Martha) Yancy.

Recent houseguests of Dottie and Bob Karns were her cousin and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Miller of Honolulu, Hawaii. During the visit, the foursome spent a week relaxing and fishing at Captiva Island, Ave. home.

After spending 27 years in the Navy and receiving the coveted degree, Armstrong is currently financial aid officer at Seminole Community College.

Mrs. Gertrude Fox, a Seminole Memorial Hospital (SMH) Pink Lady entertained at a cocktail and splash party Saturday at her Palmto Avenue home.

Guest of honor was Carol Wilson, a SMH Candy Stripper and '78 grad of Seminole High School. The hostess presented the honoree with a book, "The Many Facets of Love," written by Shirley Schilke, another Pink Lady.

Others enjoying the festivities were the honoree's parents and sister and brother, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert C. Wilson and Sheryl and Bert.

Also attending were Deena Flamm, Danny Smith, Kenny Perry, Patricia Perry, Ray Hatchett, Perri Calvito, Pat McGovern, Susan Causey, John Causey, Denisee Bennett, Buddy Echols, Debbie Sault, Robin Graham, Terri Driscoll and Lee Marshall.

DEAR ABBY: I must take exception to your statement: "The mouth is an ergonomic zone, reserved for one's lover—or for mouth-to-mouth resuscitation."

The mouth is an ergonomic zone ONLY if one wants it to be. Otherwise it has no more emotion than the back of your hand. My family is not, what might be called a family of kissers. However, I've kissed my sisters, father, mother and even my daughters on the mouth, and none of us ever regarded it as anything other than a warm greeting, which was the way it was intended.

Now, I have kissed many girls (and of course my wife) on the mouth when I had serious intentions and found that they can respond as they feel. It has nothing to do with the "lip contact"—only the intentions of the two parties, which must be mutual and simultaneous.

I trust that you will give this further thought and agree with my view.

Volunteers Honored At Awards Presentation

By ELDA NICHOLS
Herald Correspondent

A coffee and awards day at the Altamonte Civic Center recently climaxed the school year for the Dividends volunteers.

The Seminole Women's Club furnished the refreshments and presented Volunteer Coordinator Deke Scharfner a gift in appreciation of her devotion to the group.

A new award, Volunteer of the Year, was won by Ms. Ann Fortino. Presented by School Supt. William P. Layer, Ms. Fortino was honored for having worked over 900 hours at South Side Elementary School.

Special recognition went to Ms. Marian Eggers and her assistant Lynne Stevens in the Basic Water Safety Program they presented in schools all over the county. "We reached almost 11,000 children, with over 3,000 now certified. We are hoping for no drownings this year in the elementary school age group," said Ms. Eggers.

Ms. Pat Hodge was also applauded for the Bicentennial Puppet Show which she presented in area schools. Certificates were awarded to all Dividends, with a special "Apple" pin for the following: June D'Ambrasio, Woodlands, 520 hours; Nancy Duaring, Winter Springs Elementary, 332 hours; Nancy Rape, South Side Elementary, 342 hours; Terry Browne, Eastbrook Elementary, 234 hours; Winnie Peters, Bear Lake, 334 hours; Betty O'Brien, Sabal Point Elementary, 300 hours; Cheryl Alliter, Lake Oriana Elementary, 200 hours; Lorraine Gucciardo, Sabal Point Elementary, 300 hours; and Jane Burke, Sabal Point Elementary, 200 hours.

Also Annette Prickett, Sabal Point Elementary, 200 hours; Barbara Okiewicz, Sabal Point Elementary, 200 hours; Constantine, Bear Lake, 200 hours; Florence Littler, Bear Lake Elementary, 235 hours; Mrs. Brubaker, Sabal Point Elementary, 200 hours; and Mary Phelps, Bear Lake Elementary, 207 hours.

Soups To Soothe The Travel Weary

Soups make excellent traveling companions. With so many families camping, biking and tooling along in their RVs, hot or cold soups are in vogue. Full containers with whips to take along or prepared soups in advance of day trips to have with sandwiches when you return too weary to prepare a full meal, potato soup with dill is soothing to the hungry stomach when served hot, but also may be served thoroughly chilled. Also refreshing on hot days in a chilled fruit soup of Swedish inspiration and a Spanish gazpacho or tomato-vegetable soup.

POTATO SOUP WITH DILL

1/2 cup finely chopped onion
1 1/2 tablespoon butter or margarine
2 large potatoes, peeled and sliced
1 can (12 1/2 ounce) chicken broth
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
Dash pepper
1/2 cup milk
2 cups milk
2 teaspoons chopped dill or 1/4 teaspoon dill seed
1/2 large saucpan, saute onion in butter 4 minutes or until soft. Add potatoes and cook 10 minutes. Add chicken broth, cover and simmer 30 minutes. Remove potatoes and onion and puree them in a food mill or electric blender. Then combine the broth, pureed potato mixture, salt, pepper, milk and dill in the prepared diced vegetables and croissants. Makes 1 quart. CONCORD SWEDISH FRUIT SOUP

1 bottle (12-ounces) Concord grape juice
1 raw egg
1/2 cup apple juice
Generous dash allspice
Ground cardamom
1/2 cup cantaloupe balls
1/2 cup thinly sliced unpeeled apple
1 medium orange, sectioned
1 can (8-ounces) peach slices, undrained
Combine all ingredients. Chill well. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Chopped fresh celery makes a highly seasoned 'risotto' side dish.

Celery Sparks Risotto Dish

How few cooks take full advantage of celery. For example, when was the last time you served braised or sautéed celery to your family? Cooked celery often turns up in delicious soups but it is time to put this crunchy vegetable to greater use in your menus.

Here is a variation of an Italian risotto which usually is a thick and creamy rice dish. Make a celery 'risotto' to serve individually or to mix with meat dishes.

CELERY 'RISOTTO'

2 tablespoons cooking oil
1/2 cup finely chopped onion
1 cup boiling water
1 chicken bouillon cube
1/2 teaspoon basil
9 cups finely chopped celery
1-1/2 teaspoon ground black pepper
Pinch saffron
3 cups fishy chopped celery

In large saucpan or skillet heat oil. Add onion; sauté 3 minutes or until tender. Add water, bouillon cube, basil, black pepper and saffron. Stir to dissolve bouillon. Stir in celery; simmer, uncovered, 12 to 15 minutes, stirring occasionally, or until celery is crisp-tender. Season to taste with salt, if desired. Makes 6 to 8 portions.

Natural Foods Provide Taste

By NANCY BOOTH
Herald Correspondent

Until the advent of large scale mechanical farming and modern food production methods, Americans took their natural foods for granted. People lived in rural areas and cultivated backyard gardens. A resurgence of these gardens appeared again in the form of the war year's Victory Gardens and then led as more Americans left the farms for the city life. Women joining the nation's work force in large numbers also contributed to the fading of gardens.

Just lately, the garden and the desire for natural foods have been revived. The natural food idea began as a fad, but became widespread as more people recognized the benefits in both nutrition and taste these foods produced. The return of backyard gardens is due almost entirely to the rise of inflation in the country and the high cost of food.

The good old days of picking one's own produce or raising one's own meat are gone for some of us, but we can still enjoy natural food by a trip to a supermarket or health food store.

Whole grains can be used in recipes, rather than refined, bleached or enriched grains. Brown rice can be substituted for white rice. Honey or molasses can be used in place of granulated sugar, and so on.

Here are a couple of recipes to demonstrate the use of natural food products and modern utensils to produce dishes that even your grandmother would be proud to serve.

BANANA MILK DRINK

3 tablespoons carob powder or 1 egg
1 tablespoon non-fat dry milk solids
2 tablespoons honey
1/2 teaspoon of smooth raw peanut butter
1 ripe banana
4 cups of milk

In an electric blender, place the carob powder or egg, the milk solids, honey, peanut butter, banana and one cup of milk. Blend until smooth. Add remaining milk and blend. Serve hot or cold. 4 servings.

CHICKEN WITH FRUIT

1/2 cup butter
2 frying chickens (each 2 1/2 pounds) cut into serving pieces
1 onion, sliced
1 pound mushrooms, sliced
1 and three-fourths cups chicken broth
3 tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon sea salt
1/4 teaspoon ground cloves
1/4 teaspoon oregano
one-third cup unspiced molasses

1 tablespoon cold water
1 cup cubed fresh pineapple
1 green-up banana
halved lengthwise and then crosswise

Heat the butter in a heavy skillet, add the chicken pieces and brown on all sides. Add onion and mushrooms and cook five minutes longer. Add broth, sauce, salt, cloves, all spices, and molasses. Cover and simmer 30 minutes or until the chicken is tender. Blend the arrowroot with the cold water and stir into the skillet. Stir until the mixture thickens. Add pineapple

HONEY DATE LOAF

1/2 cup honey
1 egg
1 teaspoon lemon rind
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1 1/2 cups unbleached white flour
1/4 teaspoon sea salt
1/4 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 cup butter/milk
1 cup chopped dates
1/2 cup chopped walnuts

Preheat the oven to 350 degrees. Cream the butter and gradually beat in the honey. Beat in the egg, lemon rind, and lemon juice. Combine the flour, salt, baking soda and baking powder and add alternately with the buttermilk to the broth. Fold in the dates and walnuts. Turn the mixture into an oiled 8x8 inch loaf pan. Bake 50-60 minutes or until done.

NEW DICTIONARY PUBLISHED AFTER 70 YEARS LABOR

Idea For British Volume Was First Given Definite Form At Philological Convention Held In January 7th, 1857

By Charles A. Smith International News Service Staff Correspondent LONDON, May 25.—With the publication here of the first section of the monumental Oxford English dictionary, there has come to fruition the labors of seventy years.

The first section of the dictionary appeared forty years ago last long before then some of the most learned men of the day were busy on the stupendous task of building up what was to be the greatest dictionary in the world.

When Sir James died in 1915 half of the work had been completed. Dr. Henry Bradley, who died in 1923 was the next editor, and the work has since been carried on by Dr. William A. Craigie, who joined the staff in 1921, and Charles T. Onions, who joined two years earlier.

Already an supplement is being prepared for since the publication of the first part in 1884 new words have been added to the English language, such as a word as airplane, common today, was unknown 44 years ago for instance.

SEMINOLE COUNTY TODAY...

Seminole County real estate values are at a lower level at the present time than they will probably ever be again.

Chicken farms can be established at a ridiculously low cost. Numerous farms are now in operation, all making substantial profits with local consumption to take about five times the present output.

The value of irrigated farm lands has not fluctuated for the past ten years which shows to the world that farming in Seminole County is a prolific industry.

It is the opinion of practically all the leading business men of Sanford, that city property can be purchased at a lower price today than ever again which opens an opportunity for good investments.

The per capita wealth of Seminole County is perhaps higher than any county in the state. Seminole County has as good citrus land as anywhere in the state.

Some land in this county can be bought today at the same prices that were asked for it twenty years ago when no hard surfaced roads or improvements were here.

State's Bluff Was For Real; Picnic Areas Suddenly Gone

By ED PRICKETT
Herald Staff Writer

This concrete slab used to be a wayside park overlooking Lake Monroe — before the Florida Department of Transportation tore down the picnic table and shelter this week.

Area fishermen, nature lovers, tourists and lunchtime picnickers were surprised this week to discover concrete barriers overlooking Lake Monroe were torn down and hauled away this week.

A stalemate between county and state government resulted in the state hauling off two picnic tables, one shelter and litter barrels once provided at two wayside parks along U. S. 17-92 between Sanford and Lake County Development Director John Percy was amazed to learn today the state has removed the tables.

"You're kidding," he said. "Why did they have to pull them in. I thought it was a bluff by the Department of Transportation, (DOT)."

Percy went on to say, however, the DOT — like the county — has a budget to live with.

Percy said upkeep of the roadside parks seemed like a "logical function" of the DOT. But DOT officials say a state policy requires the facilities be taken over by local agencies — or removed.

It appears the next to go are picnic tables at the boat ramp near the 14 bridge just north of Sanford.

In fact, the boat ramp itself —

Sellers said DOT offered to turn the three facilities over to the county, but the county wasn't interested.

Asst. Roger Neiswender says the problem was not that the county wasn't interested, but he said county officials decided they didn't want to assume the liability and maintenance problems which would accompany a takeover of facilities at the boat ramp.

Neiswender said the commission wanted a deed to the facility.

And Sellers said handing the deed over to the county was impossible because the facility is located on the state right of way.

Neiswender said the county doesn't want to spend money to repair the ramp then at some future date have the DOT take it back.

"It (the ramp) needs improvements," Neiswender noted.

He said the piers and launching areas are in a state of disrepair. Also, Neiswender said the pads underneath the concrete ramp may be "eroding."

Meanwhile, Sellers said the DOT does not have the necessary funds or personnel to maintain parks. Litter barrels, Sellers complained, were used by some persons as dumps for household garbage.

of a statewide DOT policy which hopes to get the department out of the recreation business.

He said a policy approved in January 1975, calls for the deletion or lease of all wayside parks not used exclusively by the traveling public. The department will continue to maintain rest areas on interstate highways and in some remote areas.

"We want the DOT to keep it," the chairman declared.

But District Roadway Engineer Jack Sellers said removal of the facilities is part of DOT's reasoning is simple: money. DOT officials say insufficient funds exist to maintain the parks and facilities like the boat ramp.

SHA Chairman Delays Calling Meeting

By BOB LLOYD
Herald Staff Writer

Sanford Housing Authority (SHA) chairman Richard Evans says he's pulling two other members of the authority board to "determine their position" on calling a special meeting to consider demands that SHA executive director Thomas Wilson III be fired or suspended.

Evans said Wednesday that he will consult with board members Edward Blackshere and D.C. McCoy before making a decision on a special board meeting.

SHA commissioners George W. Brown and Samuel Wright Jr. have requested a special board meeting to take up the complaints of tenants in the 400 low-rent, public housing units Wilson managed for nearly four years.

Brown, who is a tenant and was selected by tenants to represent them, and Wright say SHA by-laws require Evans to schedule the special meeting within two days after receiving their written request but Evans interprets the by-laws differently.

Evans said he's consulted three attorneys and that they agree with him. SHA attorney Ned Julian Jr. confirmed that he was one of the three attorneys consulted by Evans.

Evans says the by-laws, adopted in 1945, do require him to call a special board meeting upon written request, with purpose noted, from two board members.

Need For Coach Cost Me My Job: Oviedo Teacher

"I can't suddenly turn into a male football coach, but I do my share."
—Carol Edwards

OVIDEO TEACHER CAROL EDWARDS

By JEAN PATTESON
Herald Staff Writer

The line-up was academics vs. athletics. Both sides scored points, but the outcome is still uncertain.

Carol Edwards, a third-year teacher with top ratings at Oviedo High School, appeared before the Seminole County School Board Wednesday night to charge that she is being fired so that her position can be filled by an athletic coach.

The board members, at the recommendation of School Supt. William P. Lauer, said they would reserve comment until a grievance filed by Mrs. Edwards earlier this month reaches them for public hearing.

Mrs. Edwards said she was appearing before the board as a citizen, taxpayer, parent and educator, and that she would not speak on her specific grievance. "Are we in the business of academics or the business of athletics?" she asked the board.

recommending the renewal of Mrs. Edwards contract, was that he hoped to find a better qualified or more experienced teacher. He said he was considering a replacement whose recommendations were "very good" and who has a master's degree. Mrs. Edwards has been attending Florida Technological University at night during the past three years and expects to get her master's in August.

She said she is certified to teach both French and Spanish, as well as English, and had lived a year in France.

"Mr. Stone says I'm good in the classroom, but that my extra-curricular participation is weak," said Mrs. Edwards. She said she had offered to coach both tennis and swimming, was co-sponsor of the school's largest club, the International Club, and that last summer she accompanied 247 students on a six-week tour to Europe. She is also assistant chairman of the language arts department.

Stone said that last year he had five teachers who were not on continuing contract; next year he will have only two teachers without tenure.

Teachers on annual contract volunteer to sponsor clubs and coach athletics, said Stone, but as soon as they get on continuing contract, they refuse to continue these volunteer efforts.

"In a small school this is always more of a problem," said Stone.

In a standing-room-only crowd, Mrs. Edwards was supported by more than 100 other teachers, students and parents during her presentation.

Mike Monaco, an Oviedo senior who has won a full scholarship to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, presented a petition signed by 364 students stating their opposition to a certified teacher being dismissed to hold a position open for a coach.

He and another senior, Erin Kane, presented the board with a resolution urging them to reverse Stone's decision.

Oviedo High biology teacher Judy Davis, who received a letter of dismissal identical to Mrs. Edwards', also appeared before the board. She said she was there to urge parents to challenge the criteria used by him and fire teachers. "It's clearly not my qualifications which count," she said.

Oviedo Principal Keith Stone declined to comment during the meeting, but afterwards said Mrs. Edwards was in the wrong ball game. Although he said she is not being removed to make space for a coach, he commented Tuesday that if an applicant for her position could coach football, it would help the job.

Stone said his official reason for not

Local Officials Meeting Today With DEA Chief

EUGENE K. GARFIELD

Chamber Banquet Friday

Delegations from two Seminole law enforcement agencies flew to Washington today for meetings with federal Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) officials amid reports that local authorities are trying to scuttle the appointment of Carlo Boccia as new head of the Central Florida DEA task force.

Seminole County Sheriff John E. Polk and Sanford Police Chief Ben Butler, contacted before leaving the Orlando airport by commercial airliner, denied that they're seeking Boccia's removal from the position he is scheduled to take over about July 1.

Polk and Butler announced the trip following a meeting Wednesday afternoon at Sanford of representatives of nine local area enforcement agencies who still have agents working on the task force.

TREE PLANTED AT COURTHOUSE

In order to help celebrate the American Bicentennial, the McDonald's Corp., is sponsoring a nationwide beautification program entitled "McDonald's Trees for America." As part of that program, an eight-foot live oak tree was planted Wednesday at the Seminole County Courthouse. On hand for the tree planting were Sheriff John E. Polk, Sheriff of the Seminole County Action '76 Steering Committee, County Commission Chairman Michael Hattaway, Urban Forester Jim Harrell and McDonald's representative Dick Oswald. (Herald Photo by Bill Vincent Jr.)

Brevard County Sheriff Leigh S. Wilson, Orange County Sheriff Melvin G. Colman and Orlando Police Chief James York have pulled out of the task force amid controversies surrounding the local DEA operation and its former chief, John Lepore, who has been transferred to duty at New Orleans.

Colman and York also were scheduled to meet today in Washington with DEA chief Peter Bensinger, but apparently after Bensinger meets with Polk and Butler.

A spokesman for Colman confirmed that Colman and York were to talk with Bensinger about Boccia, who now heads a DEA task force at Newark, N. J., and was involved two years ago in a

House Votes End To Mandatory Coverage No-Fault Automobile Insurance Might Be On Its Way Out

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Florida motorists probably will be required to buy a lot less auto insurance after the 1978 legislature finishes its work.

Apparently distrustful of claims and counterclaims by lawyers and insurance companies on which no-fault revisions are best, legislators seem to have decided that the way to reduce premiums is to cut the amount of insurance a motorist must buy.

The House voted Wednesday to abolish all compulsory auto insurance in Florida and return to the system used before no-fault was passed in 1971.

The vote brought praise from trial lawyers and screams from insurance companies that rates would go up.

Rep. Charles Papp, D-Coral Gables, said his amendment would provide up to 30 per cent savings in insurance premiums by allowing motorists to drop "what we consider unnecessary coverage."

The House's surprising vote almost certainly will not stand when a House-Senate conference panel compromises differences in the two chamber's bills.

Even the plan's sponsor, Rep. Charles Papp, D-Coral Gables, concedes that.

"What I'm trying to get across is that some people are too poor to buy all the luxuries" of insurance required by the no-fault law, Papp said.

He said he just wanted the House in a strong bargaining position and a number of other legislators said that's why they voted with Papp.

The Senate bill seeks to lower rates by making suits more difficult.

But Senate President Dempsey, D-Panama City, who will play the major role in deciding what the Senate will accept, said, "That's the concept I favored all along since it tends to reduce the price of the product for the poor."

However, he said Florida needs more insurance laws than provided in Papp's one-paragraph change, and the House was expected to add some of those provisions on its own.

In addition, Insurance Commissioner Philip Ashler's plan calls for drastic cuts in the amount of required coverage.

Papp's amendment returns to the pre-1971 plan of requiring a motorist in an accident to show financial responsibility of $10,000 per person injured, $20,000 per accident and $5,000 property damage, allowing suits for damages anytime.

Barron said he had been trying for a year to reduce the required coverage from the present $15,000-$30,000 to $10,000-$20,000.

But one of the concerns of Barron and the House was how to cut costs for motorists who want to continue carrying the same amount of protection.

"This is a man buy what he wants," Papp said. "Everybody knows porthouse and fillet mignon are better than hamburger, but government is saying you have to eat porthouse steak and if you can't afford it, you don't eat anything."
