Hitchmon honored this evening

LAKE MARY — The Seminole County School District will honor the teacher of the year tonight in a ceremony at Lake Mary High School.

A reception, sponsored by SunBank, will begin at 6:30 p.m. in the school's cafeteria. A recognition program will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the school's auditorium.

The teacher of the year, Patricia Merritt Hitchmon, a teacher of profoundly mentally handicapped students at Midway Elementary School, and the representatives of all the other schools in the district will be honored and given gifts for their achievements.

The public is invited to attend the reception and recognition program to show their support for the teachers.

New members sought at chamber

SANFORD — The annual membership drive of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce gets underway tomorrow morning. The goal is to add at least 92 new members to the organization.

The drive will start at 8 a.m., with a kick-off rally at the chamber office, 400 E. First St. Larry Strickler, chamber vice president and membership chairman, will lead the drive, with the support of Bob Douglas, president.

According to chamber director Dave Farr, "This is the first year the chamber has concentrated solely on new members, rather than renewals as well as new members."

Strickler and Douglas hope to field over 60 volunteers during the month long drive. One of the goals is to raise the membership above the 700 level.

Membership of the various teams will consist of a chamber board member, and at least two non-board members.

For information on joining the chamber, or the membership drive, phone 322-2212.

No Lotto prize winner

TALLAHASSEE — The Florida Lotto jackpot grows to an estimated $15 million next week after no one hit all six winning numbers in this weekend's drawing, lottery officials announced.

There were a total $3,532,853 in cash prizes earned by 309,000 tickets in Saturday night's drawing. They include 344 tickets worth $2,623 each for five correct numbers, and 17,430 four-of-six winners worth $75.50 each.

Tours 'Circle Sanford'

Service for train passengers to help promote tourism

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Several groups of visitors had the chance to tour Sanford Friday. A new tour service called "Circle Sanford" began its maiden voyages.

The passengers were tourists who had left their vehicles for loading on the Autotrain in Sanford, but had several hours to spend before they could board.

Regular service is scheduled to begin Wednesday morning, following an official dedication of the tours and a ribbon cutting ceremony by the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce at 9 a.m. at the Autotrain loading area on Persimmon Avenue.

There were no immediate numbers of visitors revealed for the inaugural trips. At least two runs were made Friday. The trips are being conducted on board 15-passenger vans, which will make several runs each day, at a still-to-be-determined schedule.

Friday's runs marked the beginning of what is planned to be a regular service to help promote tourism in Sanford. Renee Lewis, of the Tourism Committee of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce said, "We've been working on getting this going for quite some time, and I hope everything works out well for the project."

She added, "We were absolutely delighted that the trips have finally started, and I feel certain the number of people will increase once the word gets out to the Autotrain customers."

Autotrain executive John Lombardi said, "This is really a great concept, and it will be something for the travelers to do while they are waiting to board. I'm pleased with the idea."

Lombardi explained that the cars must be checked in for loading on the Autotrain by noon, but the people can not board until about 3:30. "This will give them a minimum of about 3 hours or more to visit Sanford, stop off at the zoo, or do some shopping before they leave," he said.

Lombardi estimated the number of people waiting to board the Autotrain on an average day could easily exceed 400 persons.

The trips will begin at the Autotrain loading area, on Persimmon Avenue in Sanford. They will go to the Central Florida Zoological Park, then down the lakefront to the Monroe Harbour Marina and the Rivership Grand Romance. From that point, it will circle around to the Henry Shelton Sanford Library and Museum, make a stop near the clock in downtown Sanford, then return to the Autotrain.

Passengers will be allowed to disembark, visit a location, then get on the next bus and continue their tours until just prior to actual boarding time. See Tours, Page 5A.

Expressway meet open to public

SANFORD — Local residents may review changes considered for the proposed six-mile final segment of the Seminole County expressway between U.S. Highway 17-92 and Interstate 4.

The Seminole County Expressway Authority will hold a public information session tomorrow in the commission chambers of Sanford City Hall from 5 p.m. until 8 p.m. The public will have to be able to review plans for the changes and make recommendations of their own. SCEA members are scheduled to vote on the alignment May 27.

The proposed changes will require the raising of Center Mall, located south of State Street and east of U.S. 17-92. Road designers tried to save the small shopping center under former plans, but a proposed interchange shift 100 feet south will now require the taking of the center.

The vacant building that formerly housed the Empire Federal bank south of Zayre Plaza will also be needed for the roadway. But the Hospital donates incubators for wildlife

SANFORD — Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford is helping to save the lives of injured and sick members of the animal kingdom.

No, patients won't find themselves sharing a room with an armadillo or a zebra. Instead, the hospital has donated seven used incubators to the Back to Nature Education Center.

The nature center has, in turn, distributed the incubators to seven licensed wildlife rehabilitators in Seminole and Orange counties.

On Friday, the Sea World Rescue Vehicle picked up the incubators at the hospital and delivered them to the rehabilitators who had gathered in Altamonte Springs at the Ann Young Wildbird Sanctuary to receive them.

"This is a dream come true for every wildlife rehabilitator" said Cindy Westra, one of the wildlife rehabilitators who received one of the life saving incubators.

"This is something that is at the top of everybody's wish list." The incubator will save thousands of sick and orphaned

Prayer Day proclaimed in Sanford

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The U.S. Congress has set aside the first Thursday in May as a National Day of Prayer. The event will be specially proclaimed in Sanford.

Mayor Bettye Smith was scheduled to sign an official proclamation this afternoon during a ceremony at the Sanford City Hall. It will officially declare Thursday, May 7 as "A Day of Prayer in Sanford."

According to the wording of the document, "National days of prayer are a venerable American tradition." It continues, "It is eminently fitting and proper that we in Sanford observe a day when all in our community may acknowledge our many blessings and express gratitude to God for them, while recognizing the need for strengthening of religious and moral values in our land."

In Lake Mary, Mayor Randy Morris signed a similar proclamation last week declaring May 7 as "A Day of Prayer in Lake Mary."

The first Day of Prayer was proclaimed by the Continental Congress in 1775. While it has been observed on an almost yearly basis for the past 41 years, it was officially proclaimed as an annual national observance beginning in May, 1981.

Zoo to sponsor 2-week African safari

SANFORD — Persons seeking an exciting adventure this year may consider a trip to Africa. The Central Florida Zoological Society will be conducting a two-week tour in October. Sanford's Zoo Director Ed Posey will be leading the group in an excursion that will include visits to the Masai Mara of Kenya, Botswana's Okavango Delta, and the famous Victoria Falls in Zimbabwe.

According to Zoo spokesperson Andrea Farmer, "Although it is renowned for its huge herds of plain's game, black maned lion, leopard and cheetah, the vast Mara also contains a great number of elephants and virtually every type of wildlife to be found in Kenya."

She added, "Six days will be spent viewing the wild animals in the beautiful wilderness and surrounding area of the Okavango Delta of Botswana where over 1,100 species exist."

Lovestruck manatees escape injury

TAMPA — A veterinarian said about a dozen lovestruck male manatees escaped injury thanks to city intervention after their search for female companionship trapped them below the Hillborough River dam.

The city released about 2 million gallons of water late Friday morning from the dam, enough to permit the loling marine mammals to make it out of the shallow, rocky water below the dam.

"They were kind of all piled on top of each other," dam operator Doug Knot said. "In the 23 years I've been here, I've never seen them come up this far."

Vet plans Caesarean section for iguana

MIAMI SPRINGS — A 4-foot iguana rescued from suburban traffic is pregnant but unable to deliver her eggs, so a veterinarian is planning a Caesarean section.

"She's a beautiful, nice iguana, and iguanas this size are rare here," Dr. Leslie Gerson said Friday. He tried to induce labor, but the eggs didn't move.

"Push," he commanded the iguana.

"She made the effort but stopped. She's very weak," Gerson said. "It looks like one egg is malpositioned, turned slightly sideways, but we can't be sure that's why they haven't come out."

He is giving the lizard antibiotics and feeding her vegetables to build her strength for surgery.

Military base gears up

HURLBURT FIELD, Fla. — Nine aircraft and more than 900 personnel will be added to this Panhandle base in the next two years, bucking the national trend of military reductions, Florida's congressional delegation has announced.

Hurlburt is headquarters for the Air Force Special Operations Command, which specializes in low-intensity conflicts, anti-terrorist activities and commando-type warfare behind enemy lines. "The changes to the threats that America faces today and could face in the next century increases our reliance on the Special Operations forces, which are so crucial to limited quick-strike conflicts," Rep. Earl Hutto said Friday. The Panama City Democrat's district includes Hurlburt.

The base is expected to add 885 military and 41 civilian jobs, a total of 926 new positions that would bring staffing to 7,156 by the spring of 1994.

Fishermen harpoon giant tiger shark

MIAMI — Four fishermen harpooned a 1,350-pound tiger shark, landed it in a 7 1/2-hour struggle, then drew protests as well as plaudits.

Though no sharks are on the threatened or endangered list, their numbers are dwindling. This one drew added empathy because she was pregnant with 50 babies.

NASA: Shuttle only ticket to space

By MARGIA DUNN
AP Aerospace Writer

CAPE CANAVERAL — NASA will be back flying four space shuttles when the new Endeavour — Challenger's successor — takes wing, presumably this week. Not everyone is impressed.

While the fleet is much improved since the 1988 Challenger disaster, it's based on designs 2 decades old, said space policy analyst John Logsdon. The cost, now approaching half a billion dollars per flight, is outrageous, he said.

"What we're flying is 1970s technology, and we're getting to the 21st century," said astronaut Kathryn Thornton, one of Endeavour's four designated spacewalkers. "Maybe we ought to move on to something else."

The $2 billion Endeavour is scheduled to make NASA's 47th shuttle flight, a satellite-rescue mission, at 7:06 p.m. Thursday.

It will be the first launch of what the agency expects to be the last shuttle of this type. For chief astronaut Daniel Brandenstein, commander of Endeavour's inaugural voyage, the occasion is bittersweet.

"It would be nice to keep the line open," Brandenstein said. "But on the other hand, we have four vehicles and I think we can fly the manifest (schedule) comfortably with four vehicles."

Eight, possibly nine, shuttle missions are planned this year at a cost of $363 million a flight. NASA hopes to maintain that pace despite a 3 percent cut in shuttle operating expenses for each of the next five years, necessitated by federal cutbacks.

Stymied by shuttle defects, NASA mustered six flights last year and six the previous year.

Endeavour already is cranking up extra costs.

Kennedy Space Center workers found numerous problems after Endeavour arrived a year ago this week to replace Challenger, which exploded with seven astronauts 73 seconds into its 10th flight.

By late last year, Endeavour's launch preparations lagged more than six weeks behind because of gouged beams, crossed wires and dirty fuel lines. Crews worked overtime, but the flight still is a month later than initially planned.

The problems hit a low point last month, when NASA had to replace Endeavour's three new main engines after a test-firing revealed flaws.

MADD plan

Cops would know about drunk drivers' habits

Associated Press

CLEARWATER — A plan to keep habitually drunken drivers off Pinellas County streets has alarmed civil libertarians and defense lawyers, who say it's an infringement of the right to privacy.

But members of Mothers Against Drunk Driving and the Pinellas sheriff's office call the program, set to begin within a few weeks, one of the most aggressive actions in the campaign against drunken driving.

MADD plans to help law enforcement officials arrest people who repeatedly drink and drive by compiling information about their driving habits, including a description of their vehicle, the time they're on the road and their destination.

The profiles would be composed of information from anonymous phone calls to MADD. Deputies would use the profiles to search for the driver, the Tampa Tribune reported today.

"When you start tailing people based on anonymous tips, and keeping lists of people you're going to tail, we're no longer a free society," said Patrick Doherty, a Clearwater lawyer. "I am very suspicious of it."

The head of the Tampa Bay chapter for the American Civil Liberties Union echoed those concerns.

"We have a problem with lists in general, police agency lists of people other than an official arrest record," said Steve Phillipy, chapter chairman.

MADD officials defend the program as a deterrent, saying it will keep people charged with driving under the influence of alcohol from getting behind the wheel.

"If you find out a person was convicted of a DUI and lost his license for six months, then you might want to question why they're driving home at 11:30 at night from a bar," said Pat Reinhold, co-president of MADD's Pinellas County chapter.

The group plans to verify tips by checking court records before deciding whether to turn names over to authorities, she said.

"If somebody is not doing anything wrong, then they have nothing to worry about," Reinhold said.

Even so, some critics are concerned that innocent people could be wrongly accused.

"The danger with this type of program is anyone who has an ax to grind can report someone as a potential drunk driver and subject them to being stopped and investigated for driving under the influence," said Robert L. Paver, a St. Petersburg attorney.

"On its face, people might say there's no problem if they're not driving under the influence," he said.

Governor works on tax plan

Many breaks to be wiped out

Associated Press

TALLAHASSEE — Gov. Lawton Chiles' aides call his new tax plan a reform that will help taxpayers, but some foes criticize it as complicated and say it will still raise taxes.

Chiles plans to propose wiping out many sales tax breaks, including some on services, to allow more spending in areas like schools and still ease the load on taxpayers.

"It's going to be a fight between the people and the special interests," Chiles' press secretary, Julie Ambender, told The Tampa Tribune for a story Sunday.

Chiles failed to win approval for a $1.3 billion in new spending in the regular legislative session.

He vetoed the Legislature's $30 billion no-new-taxes budget, saying it cut spending for education, social services, corrections and the environment too drastically.

Now he's preparing a proposal that would raise more money for those areas and also roll back the 6 percent sales tax and the property taxes school districts levy.

He'd do it by wiping out sales tax breaks on goods and services from dry cleaning to legal services.

The last major effort to remove sales tax exemptions targeted services in 1987. The measure was repealed amid widespread opposition.

Chiles' new plan carries the endorsement of Jim Smith, Florida's Republican Secretary of State.

"People who had a pretty hardened position before are intrigued by the idea of tax relief," said Jim Krog, the governor's chief of staff.

Lawmakers would have to eliminate between $3 billion and $3.5 billion of Florida's $10 billion in sales tax exemptions, however.

"That's some pretty serious money," said Senate Appropriations Chairman Winston "Bud" Gardner, D-Tiuaerville.

Asking the Legislature to pass the plan in a special session next month may be asking too much, Gardner said. "We have got to be careful about what we're doing and we cannot do it in three weeks."

Even if Chiles' package won legislative approval, it couldn't be implemented without a constitutional amendment, which voters would have to approve in November.

And critics questioned the chances of sales and property tax rollbacks if packaged with Chiles' $1.3 billion boost in state government spending.

"I don't think people are that stupid," said Senate Republican Leader Ander Crenshaw of Jacksonville. "It's still a tax increase."

Inmate sets off sprinklers

Ronald Carl Swanson, 29, 1116 Carvell Drive, Winter Park, was charged with interfering with fire extinguishing equipment when he was arrested at the John E. Polk Correctional Facility on Saturday morning.

Deputies said Swanson was in a cell in the intake area awaiting processing. They said he was allowed to have cigarettes in that area.

He used a lighted cigarette to set the fire alarm off, deputies said. As a result, the sprinkler system was activated in the cell and the entire jail facility fire extinguishing system had to be deactivated.

Swanson was held without bond on this charge.

Domestic violence charged

Lendon Earl Weisner, 41, K-6 Sandlewood Condos, Sanford, was charged with domestic violence when he was arrested Friday.

Police said he and the victim were involved in a verbal argument when she asked him to leave.

He was transported to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility and held without bond.

Battery charged

Richard Dale Jones, 32, 6898 N. Highway 427, Sanford, was charged with domestic violence when he was arrested on Saturday.

Deputies said the victim told them that her husband verbally abused her, then pushed her to the ground.

Jones was transported to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility where he was held without bond.

Domestic violence charged

John Lawrence Bryan Sr., 32, 2613 Lisa Court, Sanford, was charged with domestic violence when he was arrested Saturday.

Police said he and the victim were fighting when he grabbed her around the throat and lifted her off the ground.

He was transported to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility where he was held without bond.

Warrant arrests

Don Wayne Rogers, 34, 8362 Rambling River Drive, Sanford, on a warrant for his arrest on sexual battery charges. He was transported to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility and held on $10,000 bond.

Ronnie Valbona, 22, 311 S. Park Ave., Apt. D2, Sanford, was arrested on a warrant of failure to appear in court on retail theft charges. He was transported to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility and held on $250 bond.

Harry Lee Harvey, 28, 1788 Bell St., Sanford, was charged with failure to appear in court on charges of disorderly conduct. He was held on $500 at the John E. Polk Correctional Facility.

Mikita Lateasa Brown, 27, 1152 Dunbar Ave., Lake Monroe, was arrested in connection with a warrant on charges of failure to appear in court on charges of driving without a drivers license. She was taken to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility and held on $500 bond.

Student authors honored at conference

By VICKI DeSOMMER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Several hundred students gathered at Seminole Community College on Friday at the school district's Young Author's Conference to learn about the craft of writing from experts in the field and to honor those students whose work will appear in the district wide literary magazine called Patchwork.

The students who participated in the conference represented all of the elementary schools in the district. They were selected for the honor by their teachers who believed their work represented the best writing in the district.

The judges, made up of a variety of experts from the district, selected the works which would appear in the magazine and awarded certificates to all whose work was selected as good enough to bring them to the conference.

Five winners each from kindergarten and first grade, from second and third grade and four winners, including a tie for first place, were presented in the fourth and fifth grade. Those winners were selected for the publication. One student's artwork was selected as that which would be placed on the cover of Patchwork.

The winners were:
 • Kindergarten and first grade: First place: James Hoffman, first grade, Idyllwild Elementary for My Unusual Experience with Pelicans; second place: Phillip White, first grade, Wekiva Elementary School for The Boy and the Dog; third place: Jessica Guldo, first grade, Bear Lake Elementary School for "Teeth"; honorable mention: Brandon Barrio, kindergarten, Sterling Park Elementary School for Brandon's Soccer Ball; judges' award: Donovan Campbell, first grade, Longwood Elementary School for If I Were A Snowflake.

Longwood reviews new historic district codes

By MICK PFEIFER
Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — New maintaining codes concerning the Longwood Historic District are to be considered tonight. The Longwood City Commission will be bringing the matter up for its second reading and public hearing.

Members of the Longwood Historic Commission have been working for a considerable time in specifically determining how the historic district can be best maintained and preserved. The study was undertaken with the assistance of the architectural and engineering firm of Yielding and Provost.

Yielding and Provost submitted their Historic District Design Guidelines to the city in August of last year. The Historic Commission officially accepted them in March and forwarded the documents to the City Commission, whose members approved them on first reading during an April City Commission meeting.

Most of the requirements projected for buildings and land in the historical residential and commercial areas are already contained in the city codes. Other suggestions advanced by the study will need to be added or modified.

The plan to be presented for final approval tonight deals with new construction as well as renovation of existing structures within the historical district.

In Oct. 1990, the City of Longwood's Historic District was officially placed on the National Register of Historic Places by the National Park Service. A total of 40 structures determined by the register to be "historically significant" were listed.

Many buildings in the historical district were built in the final two decades of the 1800's. Most of them remain in excellent condition, through the continuing efforts of the Central Florida Society for Historic Preservation.

If the proposal receives final approval by the commission during tonight's meeting, the Historic District Design Guidelines will become part of the city code, and will be the guideline for the Historic Commission's evaluation of all proposed projects within the historical district.

The Longwood City Commission meeting is scheduled to begin at 7 p.m. tonight in the commission chambers of the Longwood City Hall.

World trade

The 103 nations that conduct nine-tenths of the world's trade have worked for much of the past six years to strike an agreement that would reduce barriers to international commerce. But it now is apparent that the free-trade talks are dead for this year.

In a last-ditch effort to rescue the talks, President Bush met recently with leaders of the European Community (EC). But the leaders were unable to come to terms on such major unresolved issues as the market-distorting subsidies that EC governments provide to their farm sectors. Worse, the leaders failed even to come up with face-saving compromises on minor issues.

Thus, as they have done at the last two annual economic meetings of the Group of Seven industrialized nations, the leaders pledged afresh to bend their political energies to thrash out a trade accord — eventually.

This nonsense has gone on far too long. It is a travesty that the effort to produce a new and improved General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT) will consume the better part of a decade. It's beginning to appear as though some of the nations covered by GATT really don't want free trade.

There's a simple way to remedy this split among the world's trading partners. Let the United States and other nations that truly want free trade strike their own compact. Whatever GATT members want to sign on may do so. The nations that oppose free trade, the latter-day mercantilists, can watch the action from the sidelines.

This may seem a bit hard-line, but it really isn't. The real hard line was taken by the French and Germans, who have been quite willing to imperil the world trade talks just to protect their farmers. It would be a mockery of the principle of free trade to ignore the $50 billion-a-year the EC spends on agricultural subsidies.

The EC has been stubborn on farm protectionism because it really hasn't had anything to lose. Since the United States and other non-European nations have not hinted at making a deal without the EC's cooperation, the EC has had little incentive to come to terms in the current round of talks. However, if the EC realized that negotiations to expand world trade would go on with or without its cooperation, the French and Germans and other protectionist nations might become more agreeable.

Would the EC leaders want to deprive their economies of the additional commerce a new GATT treaty is expected to produce? In the 40 years since GATT was established, the member nations have increased annual world trade from $60 billion to $4 trillion. Another $1.5 trillion in trade is at stake in talks to broaden GATT.

It would be a historic tragedy if the United States cannot resolve its dispute with Europe on farm trade and thereby clear the way for a new global trade treaty. But if the EC remains uncompromising, the United States will have little choice but to go its own way with nations that share our free trade ideals.

Counselor abuse is quite believable

The story of Paul Lozano's death and the trial of his psychiatrist is one of those you have to re-read several times to make sure you really read what you thought you read.

Lozano was a 28-year-old Harvard medical student who killed himself in April 1991. His family is suing Dr. Margaret Bean-Bayog, the 48-year-old Harvard psychiatrist who treated him, for malpractice and wrongful death. Lozano's family and his social worker say Bean-Bayog's treatment was responsible for his death. Bean-Bayog's supporters say her professional reputation is among the best in the nation. What is known is this, reported by Fox Butterfield and Seth Mydans for The New York Times:

When Lozano died, his sister found in his apartment 55 pages of graphic sexual and sadomasochistic fantasies Bean-Bayog had written about Lozano and a series of flashcards Bean-Bayog wrote for use in her treatment of Lozano. One of the flashcards was written the sentiment, "I'm going to miss so many things about you, the closeness and the need and the phenomenal sex."

Bean-Bayog acknowledges she wrote the 55 pages of sexual fantasies and flashcards, but claims the fantasies were "private notes" Lozano stole from her office and the flashcards "principally were dictated by him." Now, ready for a re-read?

Bean-Bayog's supporters claim the 55 pages of sadomasochistic drama she wrote about Lozano were appropriate, a proper way for a therapist to guard against acting out her feelings toward him. All I know about psychotherapy is what I learned in a couple of college classes and from personal experience with a home thoroughly professional psychologists. So I wouldn't know whether or not Bean-Bayog's techniques have some precedent in competent psychiatry. But I do know it rates a minus zillion on the common-sense scale.

The cases of psychotherapists and ministers having sex with their clients make news pretty often these days. Los Angeles psychologist Kenneth S. Pope wrote a book about the subject, and claims 7 to 12 percent of male therapists and 2.5 to 3 percent of female therapists sexually abuse their patients.

She wrote the 55 pages of sexual fantasies and flashcards.

I have no idea how accurate Pope's figures are but being a skeptic by nature and having been a reporter long enough to have heard liars lie so well that I'm sure they believe themselves, I always wonder if such allegations are just retribution for some imagined ill or a way to build the teller's sense of self-importance. All I can say for sure is it happened to me.

The first time I sought a professional counselor's help I had lost both parents in 2 1/2 years, one by suicide and one by sudden illness. Other members of my family were fighting each other, and I felt like I was being torn apart.

To make a long story short, his "advice" for my problems was for the two of us to have an affair. I honestly cannot remember his rationale, but I believe it had something to do with poor me being forced to deal with all those ugly family members and my lily-livered husband not helping me, either, and that he, the wise and wonderful counselor, could be my strong port in the storm. When I hear of therapists sexually abusing their clients, I know it isn't all smoke.

THE WELFARE DEBATE.

HODDING CARTER

Declawed rules suit business

Today's column is a detective story. What follows are a number of clues, all assembled from two East Coast newspapers in one 24-hour period in late April. What you are supposed to do is figure out the connection between them.

The first clue was contained in a New York Times article detailing the latest example of Vice President Dan Quayle's Council on Competitiveness blocking the implementation of environmental protection regulations. In this case, the Environmental Protection Agency was (and perhaps still is, if Quayle has not prevailed) trying to require public notification when companies with pollution permits seek to increase their permissible emissions.

Quayle and Co. say public notice, allowing public comment and criticism, could cost companies billions of dollars. The EPA and many environmental groups say that without public notice, there is little chance for the public to prevent a rise in pollution levels. Given the competitiveness council's track record so far, which is another way of saying the president's track record, the odds are that the regulation will be eviscerated.

Now switch to three other newspaper items all from that same April day, two in The New York Times, one in The Washington Post. First, the Labor Department claimed in court affidavits that the Burger King Corp. told employees to hide wage and hour records "until the labor sweep blows off." The department had earlier charged the company with violating the child labor laws dating back to 1938. Burger King admitted "overzealousness" on the part of two officials, but denied hiding anything required by the government.

Item No. 2 concerned a familiar name from price fixing and other scandals, General Electric. Depending on which newspaper you read, you either learned for the first time that GE had been charged by a former employee with conspiring to fix the price of industrial diamonds — or that GE was looking into the matter. The former employee said he was fired when he objected to the attempted fix. The company said he was fired because "he did not make his numbers" and "did not share GE's values." The Justice Department was reported to be taking an active interest in "the possibility of price fixing in the industrial-diamond industry."

Item No. 3 was datelined Los Angeles. The headline summarized the story: "Maker is Accused of Faulty Tests On Parts for Missiles and Aircraft." The "maker" is Teledyne Inc. The Justice Department claims the company routinely certified that electrical components of weapons and spacecraft passed reliability tests that they had actually failed, or that were affected by faulty test equipment. Teledyne declined comment, but the story noted the Pentagon had twice suspended the company in 1990 and 1991 from shipping the components while it changed the test procedures.

The latter is an interesting point, seemingly discursive but actually on track for this detective story. GE's various divisions have a record of being found in violation of one kind of government contract specification or another. Its divisions have been fined, and occasionally even barred from further government business. None of the disbarments has lasted long enough to matter. National defense or other pressing requirements have been cited as a mollifying circumstance, and it has been back to business as usual. What goes for GE specifically goes generally for most of the big government contractors most of the time.

Now to the final story, this one spread all over the top of The Washington Post's front page: A former employee of a Midwestern marketing company, Cherry Payment Systems, let go by the company, claimed in a lawsuit that he and other employees had been coerced to contribute $1,500 apiece to the President's Dinner. That's Mr. Bush's fund-raiser for Republican congressional candidates. "Let your wallet be your guide," the final urgent demand from company headquarters went, according to the suit. "Your (sic) either here for the long term or your (sic) on vacation."

The plaintiff claims that when he refused to contribute after one last phone call, he was fired the next day. The company's lawyer says he was a disgruntled employee who was fired because he did not cut it as a salesman. For the record, the Post reported, the company's president is a convicted felon, who while on probation from an earlier sentence, pleaded guilty to one count of mail fraud.

With all these clues, you ought to be able to make the connection. When you do, here's a possible title for the book: "Fool's Track America. Or, The White House Dog That Went Arf."

None of the disbarments has lasted long enough to matter.

Illegals face tough life for 'freedom'

LAREDO, TEXAS — The extortion, blackmail and virtual kidnapping of a Guatemalan youth in this border town is a rare glimpse into the dark world of illegal immigration.

Pain was etched on Pablo's face as he sat nervously on a couch before three refugee counselors on a typical morning at the small office of the Laredo Refugee Assistance Council. After some coaxing, the reluctant Guatemalan youth agreed to recount his odyssey to our associate Dean Boyd.

"The only one left is my sister, but I don't know where she is. I heard she is somewhere here, but I don't know." The rest of his family was massacred in 1985 in the highlands of Guatemala. Pablo doesn't know the killers, nor does he want to discuss it. "It was a long time ago. They killed them and that was it," he mumbles in Spanish. He explains that he was 15 and alone when he headed north on Mexican roads, hitching rides and working odd jobs to pay for bus trips. When the money dried up, he walked. After a period of months he took the plunge across the Rio Grande for the final border crossing into Laredo.

"I thought it would be better for me," he says.

As an illegal alien, Pablo quickly found work at a local business. "Before I had any documentation at all, I was working from 8 at night until 1 in the afternoon. I was not sleeping. At the end of the week the boss said he would give me money, but he never would. Only he sometimes gave me $10 for the week, but never a paycheck."

Several years of this scenario passed before Pablo was picked up by the Border Patrol and deported to his native Guatemala — where the gauntlet began all over again. His employer was simply fined $2,000 by the local immigration authorities, a wrist-slap balanced against the bonus of cheap labor.

Within a matter of months, Pablo again crossed the Rio Grande, and braved a return to his old boss after feeling desperate for wages. He explained to counselors what happened next:

"When I came back to work for him, he locked me in the store for a year. I lived in the office and was not allowed freedom to go outside. He was afraid of the immigration and said if I tried to see an attorney, he would put an order out for my arrest and say I robbed him. What did I do? I haven't taken anything."

Pablo's plight improved somewhat after counselors worked to gain him a temporary work permit.

"I have the freedom to get out and walk around, but he still doesn't want to pay me. He says he knows a lot of people and if I seek help, he's going to get me back and can even get me killed. That is why I have to get out of Laredo and go somewhere else."

Pablo's story, though extreme, is symbolic of the harrowing experiences faced by both legitimate asylum seekers and illegal aliens entering the United States through Mexico. Of the thousands that pour into Laredo, the third largest crossing point for aliens along the Mexican border, most come bearing war stories about their trek to "freedom." They are routinely raped, robbed and sometimes killed by a breed of border bandits called "coyotes" — who charge hundreds of dollars to smuggle humans across the border.

In Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, across the river from Laredo, there are dozens of organizations specializing in trafficking humans.

At the brutal end of these journeys, many immigrants find their dreams of a brighter life shattered.

Guard shoots, kills first L.A. motorist meeting with police and fire chiefs.

Schools and businesses were to reopen today, and the city braced for its first rush-hour traffic jams since the riots — the nation's deadliest civil unrest in 75 years — erupted on Wednesday.

Three National Guard troops killed an Hispanic man in a sports car who tried to crash a barricade west of downtown after curfew Sunday night, police and the military said.

Mayor Tom Bradley had planned to lift the dusk-to-dawn curfew today. Late Sunday, spokesman Bill Chandler said the mayor would decide whether to stick with that decision after changes will also save the Sun Bank north of Zayre Plaza from destruction.

The changes will also protect Howell Place, Bridgewater Apartments and the Seminole County Public Health Unit from destruction. The shift of the expressway route from the current Airport Boulevard path to south of the road was opposed in April by Hidden Lakes residents who said they would lose much of the screening woods between Lake Ada and the expressway.

Other changes include a shift near the Ravenna Park area which will require all nine homes on Satsuma Court to be razed. Another change includes a new interchange at the Rinehart Road extension. The land needed for expressway ramps east of Rinehart Road will require purchase of three homes.

While Friday's trips were not able to stop at all of the projected locations, the trip is to be expanded after the routes get established. Andrea Farmer, at the Zoo, commented, "I waited to greet the people on their first visit Friday, but we weren't certain when they stopped."

A spokesperson at the Sanford Library and Museum reported no stops were made there during the inaugural runs.

Valerie McCall, one of the owners of the South Florida Express Service of Maitland, which is conducting the tours, was on board the vans during Friday's operation.

The cost for the trip has been proposed at $3 for adults, and $1.50 for children.

GARAGE SALE GUIDELINES

1. Advertise what people want! Children's clothing, dishes, collectibles, tools, books and antiques are the most popular items.
2. Start a conversation to shop at your garage sale. Be sure there is adequate parking space. Post signs with directions to parking areas. Make arrangements with neighbors.
3. Start a conversation to shop at your garage sale. Be sure there is adequate parking space. Post signs with directions to parking areas. Make arrangements with neighbors.
4. Provide prices. Do not make every person ask, "How much is this?" Please make fair, quick, effective sales or a good place for customers to start bargaining.
5. Start an early start. Set up displays the evening before, if possible.
6. Separate items. Separate the inexpensive items from the more costly or "big" items, such as lawn equipment and other items with similar merchandise.
7. Specialize. Establish one area for "Under $5" another for "Under $10". Consider having a batch of items that are "FREE" with purchase of $5. Remember the customer, too. Encourage the sale with small, inexpensive items that are appropriate for the purpose.
8. Time your sale carefully! Have it at a time when most people are at home and unoccupied such as special events.
9. Combine your effort! Incorporate your sale with a neighbor for more variety and greater impact.
10. Be successful when advertising your sale in the newspaper, list individual items. Don't simply say, "several things available." Each time you list an item, you are broadening the list of potential customers.
11. Be generous! If you have some left over, give them to a charitable organization. If you see that some items are not moving well during the sale, make them disappear during the last hours. Remember, the prime reason for holding the sale is to turn your unwanted items into cash!

IN BRIEF

Commission, board meetings for May

LAKE MARY — Thirteen separate meetings are presently scheduled for commissions and boards connected to the Lake Mary government during May. Meeting dates and times listed are as presently planned, but are subject to change. Additional special called meetings may also be scheduled.

The May 4 meeting of the Charter Review Committee, and the May 6 meeting of the Business Advisory Board, will be held in the East Conference Room of the Lake Mary City Hall. All other meetings will be held in the city commission chambers.

- The following meetings are presently scheduled:
- May 4 — Charter Review Committee, 7:00 p.m.
 - May 4 — Historical Commission, 7:00 p.m.
 - May 5 — Parks and Recreation Advisory Board, 7:30 p.m.
 - May 6 — Business Advisory Board, 11:45 a.m.
 - May 6 — Board of Adjustment, 7:30 p.m.
 - May 7 — City Commission, 7:00 p.m.
 - May 11 — Charter Review Committee, 7:00 p.m.
 - May 12 — Planning and Zoning Board, 7:00 p.m.
 - May 13 — Public Service Commission Public Hearing, 10:30 a.m.
 - May 14 — Strategic Planning Session, 3:00 p.m.
 - May 18 — Charter Review Committee, 7:00 p.m.
 - May 21 — City Commission, 7:00 p.m.
 - May 25 — CITY HALL CLOSED FOR MEMORIAL DAY
 - May 26 — Planning and Zoning Board, 7:00 p.m.

The public hearing by the Florida Public Service Commission on May 13 will include the entire commission from Tallahassee, as well as representatives from the cities of Lake Mary and Sanford, and Seminole County. In an effort to gain consideration of having phone calls between the northern part of Seminole County into Orlando localized, rather than remain long distance. The meeting is open to the public.

Community service

Lake Mary-Heathrow rich with clubs, organizations for support

We are indeed fortunate in the Lake Mary-Heathrow area to have some wonderful organizations. Let me tell you about a few of them.

I was not familiar with the Seminole County Extension Homemakers and so I called Helen Griffith, the president, at 323-3038. Helen informed me that they have learning workshops covering a variety of topics such as Environmental Shopping and Recycling. These are useful, up-to-the-minute programs that we all need to know more about. Extension Homemakers has a volunteer service where they recruit volunteers to read to schoolchildren. Helen also said they have a new president, Susan Davis.

If you would like to volunteer your time to read to schoolchildren, or if you would like to attend a Learning Workshop, please call Susan Davis at 321-4841 at your earliest convenience. Extension Homemakers meet 9:30 a.m. at the Agricultural Center on the second Tuesday of the month.

Leads network

Another neat organization is Leads Exchanged Add Dollars (LEAD$). This is a networking group of young business people who meet 7:30 a.m. on Wednesdays at the Pebble Creek Clubhouse — behind the Publix in Lake Mary. Marcia Kurtze is the chairman and her phone number is 648-0609.

Optimist Club update

Also, let me update you on the Optimist Club. They no longer meet at 7 p.m. every Monday at Shoney's. I spoke with the vice president, Kevin Greene, of Lock 'N Safe in

LAKE MARY HEATHROW

SARABECA ROSIER

Lake Mary, and he informed me that the club now has their very own clubhouse at 169 N. Country Club Road in Lake Mary. However, you need to enter the building on Old Lake Mary Road and go up the stairs to the meeting place. The meetings take place very Tuesday at 7 p.m. Call Kevin Greene at 322-8787 for further information.

McGranny is cookin'

I recently had occasion to talk with one of the many, many volunteers for The Taste of Lake Mary. Her name is Jan Mustonen and aside from her volunteer work for the event and many other worthy causes, Jan is also the customer service person at McDonald's in Lake Mary. Part of her job is doing the birthday parties there.

She told me a cute story from one of the many parties. A little boy came into the restaurant with his white-haired granny and saw Jan working there with her white hair. He asked Jan if "she was Ronald McDonald's "Granny" to which she answered in the affirmative. Because of that incident she is now known as "McGranny."

Jan is originally from Appleton, Wis., but met her husband, Don, when he was on vacation from Trinity College in Texas visiting in Wisconsin. After a whirlwind courtship Jan married Don at 19 and they settled in Dallas where she spent most of her adult life.

She did a lot of volunteer work in Texas and we are fortunate to have her here in Seminole County helping out with our many worthy causes. Thanks, Jan...or is it "McGranny?"

Mark your calendars

Mark your calendars for Friday, May 15. The board of Heathrow Woman's Club will be handing the leadership to its new state of officers who will be officially installed at the Heathrow Country Club beginning at 6:30 p.m. The program will begin with registration and a brief moment for socializing before dinner. After dinner the installation will be held, followed by the presentation of its selected charity. Seminole County Victims Rights Coalition, also known as Safe House of Seminole (S.O.S.), with a contribution.

During dinner and after the installation and charitable presentation we will be dancing to Boogie, Inc., with David McDonald.

Cost is $40 per person. Call Dee Gruber early with your reservations at 333-3139.

(Sarabecca Rosier is your Sanford Herald correspondent covering the Lake Mary-Heathrow area. To contribute to this column, phone 323-5599.)

Stars shine at Lake Mary Elementary

LAKE MARY — The Dino-mites class of Lake Mary Elementary School is comprised of fourth and fifth graders under the Success Through Alternate Resources (STAR) Program.

The maximum number of students in the class is 13. Students are selected by a study team of five people who are school personnel.

The class was started by Bill Peoples in 1988. The students are made to feel successful through alternate means. Administrators choose a Student of the Week and also of the month.

Christine Watkins has been the teacher for the past two years. She has been recognized several times for her outstanding ability with special students.

This class was recently selected out of 1,800 schools to be featured on the Disney Channel sometime in the future. They also have a pen-pal program with students in colleges and universities. They are also paired with staff members who serve as special friends to the Dino-mites.

The Lake Mary Optimist Club chose two students from the Dino-mites class to honor for their accomplishments. Christine Watkins, an instructor of the program, left, stands proudly with Tiffany Flemming, who was recognized for making the honor roll, and Sharvonda Frison, for most improved student, as Cathy Gehr, of the club, presents certificates of accomplishment.

Lake Mary luminaries

Students and adults in Lake Mary continue to shine at what they do. Top: Rotary Club of Lake Mary welcomes students and teachers from area schools who have been chosen by their respective schools as 'Teacher and Student of the Month.' Attending breakfast in their honor are, from left: Matt Hegglund and his teacher Karan Dugger from Greenwood Lakes Middle School; Mike Gibeon and student Megan Gambell from Lake Mary High School; Teacher Bonnie Blomeley and Tami Beverly from Wilson Elementary School; Teacher Dru Swenson and student Andrew Leonim from Heathrow Elementary School and Joan Flawelling and student Ben Donaki from Lake Mary Elementary school. Bottom: Honored for her dedication to the Lake Mary Cemetery Association, Evelyn Rice, seated, receives a plaque from Alfred Sjoblom, vice president; Mary Jane Duryea, secretary and treasurer; Otis Sjoblom, president and Millard Rice, Rice's husband. Rice served the board as secretary and treasurer and is now a trustee.

Hunter classes start tonight

SANFORD — The Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission is again offering its Hunter Education course to the public in cooperation with Seminole Community College.

The course covers many interesting topics including survival, wildlife identification, hunting laws, ethics, first aid and gun safety.

Anyone born after June 1, 1975 is required to successfully complete a state hunter education course before hunting in the State of Florida.

The first class will be held on May 4th, 5th, 11th, 12th, 18th and 19th. The field trip will be May 23rd with the exam being given on May 26th.

Rink camp offerings

SANFORD — Wea Rinker's Florida Baseball School will be offering summer baseball classes for players between the ages of 8 and 18 beginning on June 15.

The 8-to-12 age group will meet June 15-17 from 8:30 a.m. to noon. The cost is $65 per camper.

All classes will be conducted at Sanford Memorial Stadium.

Registration for the 10-week fall class is also now available.

For more information about these or any of the other Florida Baseball School offerings, call 1-800-348-1677.

Pop Warner sign-ups set

LONGWOOD — The Lyman Pop Warner youth football organization will be registering children interested in participating on its football or cheerleading squads on Saturday, May 9, at Lyman High School from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Children between the ages of 7 and 15 and, for football players, between the weights of 50 and 140 pounds are eligible to register.

The registration fee is $60 and 30 raffle tickets to be sold. Children new to the program are asked to bring a photo of themselves and a copy of their birth certificate.

For more information, call Larry Sylvester at 290-1814 or Cheryl Gray at 830-8775.

Demetree Cup at Heathrow

HEATHROW — The Country Club at Heathrow will host the 1992 Demetree Cup Golf Tournament on Monday, May 11, to benefit Boys Town of Central Florida.

Celebrity guests scheduled to play include Lee Corso, Matt Goukas, Steve Spurrier, Jim Collins, Carl Franks and Gene McDowell.

Hosted by Fulton Allen, the tournament will include PGA touring professionals Ian Baker-Finch, David Rummels, Donnie Hammond, Andy Bean, Dennis Watson, Bobby Cole, Bob Byman, Ernie Gonzalez and Ben Smith.

The tournament, which will begin with a shotgun start, is open to a first come, first served basis. The entry fee of $175 includes a full day of activities with lunch and cookout dinner.

The tournament is named for local businessman William Demetree, chairman of the board of Demetree Builders and an active supporter of Orlando Regional Medical Center, First Union Bank of Florida, Catholic Social Services and numerous other organizations, including Boys' Town, which is headquartered in Omaha, Neb.

For more information, contact Tom Selby, tournament chairman, at (407) 333-1604.

Tars' Cappuccio does it all

WINTER PARK — Senior Carmine Cappuccio played all nine positions and got his first career pitching win Saturday as he led Rollins College to a 4-3 win over Lynn University of Boca Raton.

Cappuccio started in his customary right field slot and moved on to center field, left field, first base, third base and shortstop before pitching two-thirds of the sixth inning (allowing one hit, no runs and striking out one).

The Malden, Mass., native then moved to second base and catcher, a position he hadn't tried since Little League, before Coach John Fulgham sent him to right field again and returned him to the mound for the final out.

Fulgham, a former St. Louis Cardinal pitcher, said he wanted to show Cappuccio's diverse talents in the Tars' last home game, and see whether it's possible for a pitcher to earn both a win and a save in the same game.

Rollins' sports information director, Fred Battenfeld, said he would check with the NCAA on Monday to see how to officially record Cappuccio's accomplishment.

Stumbling down stretch
All three church softball leaders suffer setbacks

From Staff Reports

SANFORD — All three division leaders stumbled Saturday at Chase Park as the Sanford Church Softball League wrapped up the seventh week of its 10-game season.

Church of God bested Competitive Division leader Church of God of Prophecy 5-4; Fellowship Division leader Sanford First Nazarene fell to Grace Christian 10-7; and the Lake Mary Church of the Nativity Disciples downed Fun Division pace-setter Holy Cross Lutheran 12-7.

In other games, Central Baptist defeated All Souls 11-8, St. Stephen held off First United Methodist 14-9, Sanford Christian "Red" edged the Nativity "Crusaders" 8-7, Grace Christian withstood a three-run seventh to beat First Nazarene 10-7 and Sanford Christian "Blue" scored six runs in the top of the seventh to get past Geneva First Baptist 14-10.

The only easy victory of the day came when Grace United Methodist whipped Sanford First Baptist 21-1.

Despite Prophecy's second loss of the season, they still clinched at least a tie for Competitive Division title as they hold a two-game lead with only two games remaining. Trailing the leaders are Church of God and All Souls (both 4-4), Central Baptist and St. Stephen (both 3-4) and

First Methodist (3-5).

In the Fellowship Division, Nazarene is 7-3, Sanford Christian "Red" 6-3, Grace Christian 4-4, Markham Woods Baptist 4-5 and the Nativity "Crusaders" 3-5.

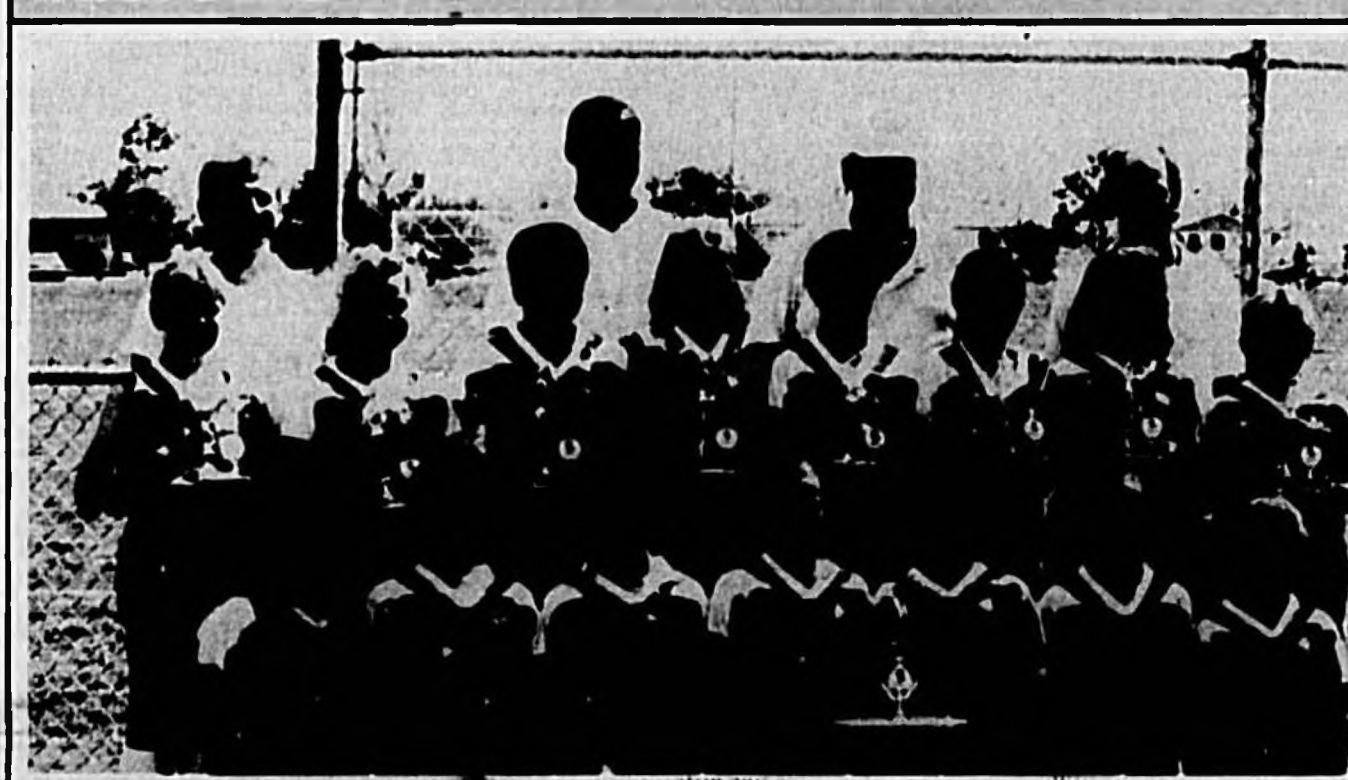

Holy Cross' loss keeps the title chase going in the Fun Division. The Lutherans are 6-2 and are being chased by Sanford Christian "Blue" (6-3), the Nativity "Disciples" (5-3), Grace Methodist (4-4), Geneva (3-5) and Sanford First Baptist (1-6).

Next week, in the morning games, the "Crusaders" take on Grace Christian at 8:30 a.m. and Grace turns around and plays Markham Woods Baptist at 9:30 a.m. Nazarene plays Sanford Christian "Red" at 10:30 a.m. and Geneva faces the "Disciples" at 11:30 a.m.

In the afternoon, Sanford Christian "Blue" and Sanford First Baptist square off at 12:30 p.m., Grace Methodist and Holy Cross battle at 1:30 p.m., St. Stephen challenges Prophecy at 2:30 p.m., First Methodist tackles Central Baptist at 3:30 p.m. and Church of God and All Souls close the day at 4:30 p.m.

WELL DONE

President's Cup champions

The Winter Park Stars, a Seminole Soccer Club Under-10 girls soccer team sponsored by Florida Terrazo Company, won the annual President's Cup tournament played in Coral Springs on April 11 and 12. Having earned the right to represent Central Florida in the President's Cup playoff by winning the Region B playoff in March, the Stars defeated Boca Raton 3-1, Clearwater 3-0 and Bradenton 3-2 to claim

WELL DONE is a new feature designed to recognize the athletic and/or recreational accomplishments of Seminole County residents. Have you recently had a big catch? Bunk on one? Beat a game 100 plus above your average? Won a tournament or club championship? Send a photo along with the pertinent information and a way to return the photo to: Sanford Herald Sports, P.O. Babe Ruth top teams keep pace

From Staff Reports

SANFORD — The division leaders won easily but their nearest competitors needed late comebacks to win Saturday in Sanford Recreation Department Babe Ruth Baseball League action at Sanford Memorial Stadium.

The American Division leading Rotary Club Royals crushed the Templeton Roofing Expos 20-6 and the National leaders, the Knights of Columbus Cardinals, mauled the Security National Bank Blue Jays 17-5, but the Woodman of the World A's scored 13 runs in its final two at bats to beat the Hungry Howie Cubs 13-7 and the Moose Lodge Pirates came back twice to edge the Kiwanis Club Orioles 7-6.

The Royals (7-2) now hold a 3 1/2-game lead over the rest of the division with four games to play. Trailing the leaders are the A's (3-5), the Orioles (3-6) and the Blue Jays (2-6).

The Cardinals remained unbeaten at 7-0 with victory, but their lead is just a half-game over the Pirates (7-1). The Cubs (4-4) and the Expos (0-9) complete the division.

Today at the Stadium, the A's play the Royals at 6:45 p.m.

Tuesday, the Cardinals and Cubs will complete a game that was suspended earlier this season and will then play their regularly scheduled game. The suspended game will start at 5:30 p.m.

Wednesday, the Orioles will take on the Blue Jays at 5:45 p.m. and Thursday, the Pirates will battle the Expos at 5:45 p.m.

The A's fell behind the Cubs 7-0 after two innings, and the score was still 7-0 entering the fourth when the A's came alive to scored six

Little Major 'underdogs' get clipped

From Staff Reports

SANFORD — Saturday was not a good day to be the underdog.

The four teams with the better records all won fairly easily in Sanford Recreation Department Little Major League baseball action at Ft. Mellon's Roy Holler Field.

The Railroaders Cubs blanked the Fisher, Laurence & Deen Blue Jays 9-0, the Rinker Materials Dodgers erased a 3-0 deficit and rolled to a 19-3 triumph. The Korg U.S.A. Expos also came from behind to smash the Disabled American Veterans (D.A.V.) Royals 18-7 and the Sunniland Corporation Pirates broke a late tie to beat the Sanford Ace Hardware Orioles 5-2.

The K-n-D Trailer Hitch Red Sox and the Cattle Ranch Cardinals had the weekend off.

The Expos remain unbeaten at 12-0 heading into the last week of the season. Trailing the leaders in the Table with 3 columns: Team Name, W, L, T. Lists Little Major League teams and their records.

National Division are the Pirates, Cubs and Dodger (all 7-5) and the Cardinals (3-8).

The Red Sox are also the runaway leaders of the American Division with a 10-1 record. Completing the standings are the Royals (6-6), the Orioles (3-9) and the Blue Jays and A's (both 2-10).

Seminoles, Lions aren't overnight successes

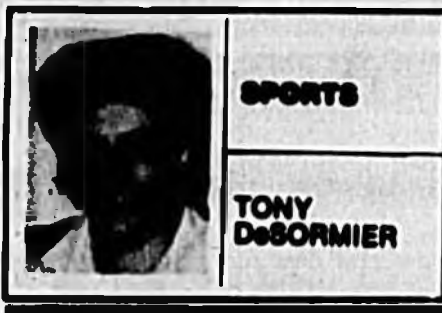

Among the eternal questions of human existence are "Who are we?" and "Where did we come from?"

The Seminole and Oviedo high school baseball teams suddenly find themselves the subjects of these existential queries as casual fans try to figure out just who the Seminoles and Lions are and how they're suddenly two victories away from their respective state championships?

I say "casual fans" because anybody who's really been paying attention knows that the Seminole team is basically the same group of young men who have represented the Seminole Pony League in such fine fashion while the Oviedo club is bolstered by members of the group of Oviedo Little League All-Stars that has played for state and national championships in recent years.

These things don't happen overnight.

For example, last summer, David Eckstein, Scott Ferguson, Rob

SPORTS
TONY DESORMIER

Morgan, Matt Freeman, Jeremy Chuna, Matt Diemer, John Lugerling and Corey Gochee were members of the Seminole Colt All-Star team that advanced to the semifinals of the Colt World Series.

Most of that group (all of whom are underclassmen), which makes up nearly half of the Seminole High School varsity roster, has played together on one team or another for five seasons. Considering that, at best, a high school team has four years to work and grow together, the level of athletic intimacy this group has achieved is very uncommon at this level.

Then again, maybe not.

Last August, Oviedo Lion teammates Todd Bellhorn, Tim Slavik, Mike Rugenius and Brian King were members of the Oviedo Little League Senior All-Stars that fell one game short of the state championship. Ted Brown, Jason Fore, Brian Hendrix, Mike Hynes and Mark Metcalf, also members of that Senior All-Star team, played on the Oviedo High School junior varsity this season.

Two years ago, Bellhorn, Duncan, Fore, King and Metcalf played on the Oviedo Junior All-Stars that won the state championship and advanced to the Southern Regional before being eliminated. Three years ago, that quintet was on the Oviedo Major All-Stars that went to the state tournament before bowing out.

Actually, the Oviedo varsity team was supposed to be where the Seminole varsity team was this time last year, about one more season away from being competitive day in and day out against high school opposition.

But when Rick Werner opted to transfer from Master's Academy to Oviedo for his senior year, it gave Coach Mike Ferrell the ace he needed to play and accelerated the Lions' arrival as a prep power.

On Thursday and Friday nights at the Baseball City Complex, the Lions and Seminoles (respectively) will play in their respective state semifinals. If they win, Seminoles will play for the Class 3A state title at 5 p.m. on Saturday while Oviedo would play at 8 p.m. in the Class 4A state championship game.

Imagine... a potential Seminole County baseball state championship doubleheader. Before this year, only three county schools had made it to the state title game in the history of the Florida High School Activities Association playoffs (Lake Brantley in 1990, Lake Mary in 1988 and Seminole in 1988).

While you're mulling that over, consider this: between the two teams, they graduate a total of nine players (three from Seminole and six from Oviedo).

IN BRIEF

Leisure classes set

Leisure programs at Seminole Community College announces that the following classes will begin during the weeks of May 11, 1992:

Silk and Dry Floral Design - Thursdays, 5/14-8/18, 2-5 p.m. Geared for students who want to learn to use Silk and Dried materials in their floral designs, this course will teach use of different types of handwrapped silk flowers and foliages very popular in today's interiors. Cost: $50/per person. Cost of supplies vary.

Private Pilot Ground School - Mondays, 5/11-7/20, 7-10 p.m. Covering the principles of flight, function of controls, flight instruments, aircraft and engine operation, weather information, radio navigation and FAA regulations, this course will enable the student to apply for, and take, the Private Pilot written or Basic Ground Instructor Examination at the end of the course. This course also meets requirements for satisfactory compliance of the Biennial Flight Review required for Private Pilots. Cost: $75/per person.

Fly Fishing and Casting - Thursday, 5/14-8/25, 6-8 p.m. A course designed to take beginning and experienced anglers from the fundamentals of fly casting to more advanced techniques and will cover such topics as distance casting, equipment, knots, leader construction, fly selection and fly fishing opportunities in Florida. Includes both classroom instruction and "hands-on" experience at the SCC lakefront. Cost: $40/per person.

Golf I - Tuesdays, 5/12-6/30, 5-7 p.m. A course designed to teach the student basic techniques of playing golf such as club grip, addressing the ball, and swing. For more information regarding what to bring to the first class call 323-1450, Ext. 664. Cost: 45/per person.

Turf grass gets a lot of attention

A new turfgrass has recently been released that is getting a lot of attention.

FX-10 was developed at the University of Florida by Dr. Phil Busey, Dr. Busey of the Ft. Lauderdale Research Extension Station has conducted research using the FX-10 variety for the past 18 years and reports the most significant advantage of FX-10 is its drought tolerance. This drought tolerance is due mainly to the extensive root system that can grow to "four to five feet" in length. FX-10, however, is not able to survive severe drought situations and could die in as little as "three weeks" without water, particularly in sandy soils. The second important feature of FX-10 is its reported resistance to the - eek!! - chinch bug, which is very devastating to St. Augustine.

FX-10 should be mowed as

GARDENING
TRICIA THOMAS

often as other varieties of St. Augustine, but its low growth habit produces less clippings and can be mowed closer than other St. Augustine varieties. Dr. Busey recommends mowing FX-10 to a height of 2 1/2 inches. FX-10 offers a different color contrast to the lawn - a blue/green cast, which can be considered either a disadvantage or an advantage, depending on the situation and the function of the turf. The turf also has a coarse texture which gives it a grainy appearance, and may be considered not as attractive as other St. Augustine turfs.

In response to the many calls and inquiries regarding the FX-10 variety, a turfgrass demonstration garden, to be installed behind the agriculture office, is in the planning stage. This demonstration garden will allow us to evaluate FX-10 and the other turfgrass options that are available in this area. The demonstration area will also allow the public to view the turfgrasses that are most commonly used in our area. FX-10 may very well solve some of our turfgrass problems in these times of greater environmental awareness, only time will tell! And if not, we as citizens can still do our part to use our resources wisely.

(Tricia Thomas is Seminole County Urban Horticulturist. Inquiries may be directed to her at the Cooperative Extension Service, 290 W. County Home Road, Sanford, FL 32773 or phone 323-2900, Ext. 6666.)

1. Type releases double-spaced in upper and lower case, and write in narrative style (third person).
2. Do not abbreviate.
3. Keep releases simple, but include necessary details—club or person name, date and time of event (if applicable), place, cost (if any), etc.
4. Submit organizational releases no later than two weekdays following the event.
5. Submit advance notices at least one week prior to the preferred publication date, and requests for photographer at least one week prior to the event.

Garden of the Month

A boxed planter of azaleas and caladiums around an oak tree is the center of interest in the yard of Mr. and Mrs. James Griffin, 401 Temple Drive. A hedge of ligustrum and daylilies grow behind a split rail fence. The Garden of the Month was selected by Betty Akers of the Jaccarands Circle of the Garden Club of Sanford.

Fish story will bowl you over

DEAR ABBY: When I read the letter from "Bubble" and her goldfish, Mahael and Brocha, I had to write.

Twelve years ago, when I was 10 years old I won a small goldfish at the county fair. Not knowing if it was male or female, I named it Fishface. After a while, thinking it might be lonesome, I bought another goldfish as a companion for Fishface, but after a few weeks, I found the companion floating on its side - dead. Three companions died on me, so I gave up.

Fishface must have been a baby fish when I got it because in the 12 years I've had it, I have had to buy a larger fishbowl three times. Fishface seems content and peppy as ever, and shows no signs of aging, but I would like to know how much longer I can expect it to live. Also, forgive the dumb question, Abby, but how can a person tell a male fish from a female fish?

CURIOUS IN WATERLOO, IOWA

DEAR CURIOUS: Small goldfish can be expected to live about 15 years - if they are healthy, well cared for and not overfed. Goldfish (like some humans) will continue to eat as long as food is available.

It is difficult to tell a male from a female fish - except in the spring, when the male gets little white bumps on his fins and starts chasing females.

Female fish are visibly plumper than males when they are full of roe (eggs)...in other words, pregnant.

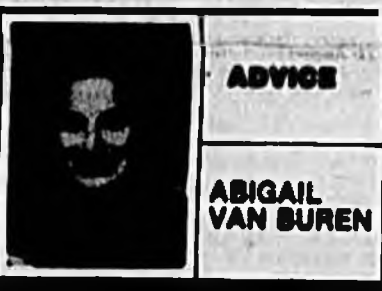

I may be telling you more than you care to know, but my fish expert is a very knowledgeable and patient teacher employed by The Aquarium Stock Co. in Los Angeles. And when I tell you his name, you will think I'm kidding. It's John Fish!

DEAR ABBY: With your years of experience in dealing with people from all over the United States, I am sure you have come across many who do not need to pray, "Slow Me Down, Lord," as Willard Peterson implored in his lovely poem.

I presume that there are many Chicagoans who are as slowly paced as the folks in Maine when they get behind the wheels of their pickup trucks on Route 4. Those polky drivers may live to be 100 - but the drivers behind them stand a good chance of dying of heart attacks.

And so, Dear Abby, I offer this prayer with the hope that the Lord will hear it and provide a helpful response.

SPEED ME UP, LORD
Speed me up, Lord. Activate

ADVICE
ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: So you appreciate limericks? I do, too. Here's one that my best friend sent to me back in 1922.

There was a young man from Amazon
Who put nighties of his gramson
The reason was that
He was too fat
To get his own pajamason.
MARGARET CARLSON,
WILLOWS RETIREMENT HOME, BREMERTON, WASH.

DEAR ABBY: This is my favorite limerick:
There was a young don from Trinity
Who solved the square root of infinity
While continuing the digits
He was seized by the figlits
Dropped science and took up divinity.
BUD AL IN KANSAS

CONFIDENTIAL TO SINGLE AGE 40 AND OVER: Don't panic - get "You Can't Hurry Love" by Laurie Levin and Laura Golden Bellotti, published by Dutton. It's a wonderfully reassuring book filled with case histories of those who found love after 40. It's funny, it's honest and it's helpful.

my sluggish pulse and brain. Get my feet moving faster, and remind me that today has only 24 hours in it, and if I'm going to get anything done, I'd better make it snappy.

Teach me that a little confusion is a heck of a lot better than the peace and tranquility of the grave. Get my nerves and muscles coordinated and flexed - ready for action. Warm me about the fatality of goofing off with endless cups of coffee and chewing the fat. Help me to lay the book down, put the dog out and get to work.

Speed me up, Lord, lest I get rooted to this spot like an old oak tree.

(REV.) JOSEPH R. MC KENNA, JAY, MAINE

DEAR ABBY: I also enjoy limericks. Here's one that isn't exactly X-rated, but I wouldn't advise taking it to Sunday school.

WESTPORT PETE
There was an old maid in Duluth
Who wept when she thought of her youth
Remembering the chances
She missed at school dances
And once in a telephone booth.

Find cause before you treat anemia

DEAR DR. GOTT: I was diagnosed as being anemic about a year ago. A Hemocult test, flex sig and barium enema all showed no source of blood loss. I take a multi-vitamin daily. My doctor appears unable to determine the cause of the anemia. Should a minimally low reading be cause for alarm?

Because vitamins and minerals are essential to adequate blood formation, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Fads I - Vitamins and Minerals." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to

MEDICINE

PETER GOTT, M.D.

P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR READER: Anemia is caused by insufficient production of red blood cells, rapid destruction of red corpuscles or bleeding.

In your case, the doctor has investigated only one cause of anemia: bleeding from the gastrointestinal tract. Although this is a common cause of anemia, it may not be the source of your problem.

Your doctor should direct his attention to the other possibilities I mentioned. You need a bone marrow examination to investigate the source of new blood cells. Such an examination will indicate whether or not the blood cell "factory" is functioning properly. For example, chronic infection and deficiencies in vitamin B12 or folic acid can lead to underproduction of red blood cells.

Also, you need tests to determine if you are inappropriately destroying blood cells. This can be a common consequence of allergies to drugs; in addition, it can occur with autoimmune diseases, such as lupus.

Anemia should not be ignored. This affliction causes fatigue and loss of stamina. If it is the consequence of another disease -- such as cancer or a nutritional deficiency -- this disease should be addressed.

Once your doctor has established which of the three possibilities is the cause of your anemia, he or she can take steps to correct or treat the abnormality.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By Phillip Alder
Blinders keep racehorses from being distracted. Although I have never seen a bridge player actually wearing blinders, many play as if they have them on. They ignore all the clues, even the ones that are so blatant that they are like a necktie in a nudist colony.
Take today's deal for example. Cover the East-West cards and plan the play in four hearts. West leads the spade jack. East wins with the ace and returns the spade three.
Maybe South should have rebid three no-trump rather than four hearts. But that contract wouldn't be a success if, say, West had the spade ace and East the heart ace.
At the table, South won the second trick with the spade king and promptly led a trump. He seemed surprised and disappointed when West won with the ace and gave East a spade ruff. A diamond to the ace defeated the contract.

Why wasn't South paying attention? West had made a vulnerable overall. Surely he had five spades and the ruff was imminent. South had to do all he could to avoid suffering this fatal ruff. The only chance was to play off three rounds of clubs, discarding the spade queen from hand.
Only then is it safe to lead a trump. Eventually South ruffs his diamond loser in the dummy and brings home 10 tricks.
What if an opponent has only two clubs and ruffs in? Then South might finish two down, but the cost of that extra undertrick is Lilliputian when compared with the game bonus that is lost if the contract could have been made and wasn't.

HOROSCOPE

By Bernice Bode Cool
YOUR BIRTHDAY
May 8, 1992

Important contacts might be made in the year ahead, thanks to a dynamic new friend who will enter your life. This individual will help you see others from a more positive and fresh perspective.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
Your abilities for acquisition will be good today, yet you may also be equally as adept at extravagance. It's doubtful if much will remain in your wallet. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
Even though you'll be motivated to advance your self-interests today, there's a possibility those you'll be involved with will fare better personally than you do.

CANCER (June 21-July 21)
If you are unable to focus exclusively on your prime objective today, success could be denied you. Don't let peripheral developments distract you.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
Be careful today that you are not drawn into a silly debate with a close friend as to who does more for the other. This could be a dispute that will not produce a victor.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
Your logic is likely to be superior today to that of individuals with whom you'll be involved. Don't let a forceful associate intimidate you into believing otherwise.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
You're not likely to work too well under pressure today, therefore schedule your assignments so they can be handled effectively.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
You could be fortunate in a commercial situation today -- if you don't allow those who don't belong to interfere. Limit participants to those who are directly involved.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
Proper timing could spell the difference between success and failure today. Don't try to finalize things prematurely. Be patient and let matters develop as they should.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
If you're not a careful listener today, you could be offended by something that is said where no ill will was intended. Don't jump to conclusions.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
Try to avoid extremes in your social involvements today. Don't spend more for a good time than you should, don't overindulge and make it an early night.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
It might be difficult for you to separate the past from the present today. This could cause you to enter into a situation holding a grudge over something that's history.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
Channels of communication will be open for you today in critical areas, but you might use them only for social purposes. This may be gratifying, but unproductive.
