OPA Says Meat Price List Gives Housewife Black Market Weapon

The new meat price list gives the housewife her strongest weapon against the black market in meat, OPA District Director Roy M. Coffey in Jacksonville said yesterday.

"There's only one force that keeps a black market in business, and that's customers," he added. "If shoppers will check these list and never pay a penny above the legal price, illegal markets will dry up almost overnight."

A. B. Peterson, chairman of the local War Price and Rationing Board, said yesterday that a limited number of copies of the new meat price list, in a convenient size for folding into purses or ration books, are now available at the Board office on a first come, first served basis. The list giving top prices permissible for all major cuts and types of meat, is a dose of "printed poison" in OPA's continuing fight against meat black markets. With it, the home town housewife can help achieve fairer distribution of our available meat supplies, Chairman Peterson said.

MORE CANNED MILK Meant to make most of the milk available for infants, invalids and others who require it in essential diets, OPA has reduced the amount currently used by industrial and institutional users.

Restaurants, prisons, and manufacturers of various products, will not be allowed in the future to use their red points for purchasing canned milk, OPA said. It means where flight, or other substitutes are used, available. However, the OPA will give permission for the purchase of canned milk in the event of an application showing actual need. Even though military needs are still taking tremendous quantities of canned milk, this latest action, according to OPA officials, should improve distribution in areas where canned milk is now critically scarce.

LIQUOR HOLIDAY ANTI-ALCOHOL The July "Liquor Holiday" during which distilleries may temporarily resume production of beverage alcohol, will not be in effect until August 1, OPA officials said. OPA District Director Roy M. Coffey said in Jacksonville today.

No sugar is being allocated for the making of beverage alcohol for sale, OPA said. The amount of sugar available for the production of alcohol is critically short, Coffey emphasized.

During 1944, some 100,000 tons of sugar in the form of high fructose syrup, was used by distilleries in the making of neutral alcohol. This alcohol was vital in the manufacture of synthetic rubber, smokeless powder and other essential materials.

Such high fructose syrups will not even be used for making industrial alcohol this year, according to present plans which call for using bluegrass molasses, a by-product of cane sugarcane, as a substitute for the purpose, Coffey added.

FARMS LAUGHTERERS Farm slaughterers here in Seminole County were reminded this week by the OPA district office of the July 1 deadline for registration. All farmers who slaughter, or have slaughtered for them, as much as 400 pounds a year, but less than 6,000 pounds, must apply for a slaughtering permit by July 1 or they will be prohibited from such slaughter for the balance of the year, said the OPA release.

Permits may be obtained from the local War Price and Rationing Board, Chairman Peterson said today. The permit entitles the farmer to do the same amount of slaughtering as in the corresponding period last year.

Mr. Peterson also stressed the fact that farmers who sell meat must collect the point-of-acceptance fee from the official point-of-check provided by the Board, and must agree to hold all prices within the legal ceiling.

TIRE DEALERS' RECORDS Stewart C. Maxey, OPA District Rationing Executive, yesterday urged tire dealers to maintain accurate records of all tire transactions, in preparation of the inventory they must make on June 30.

This inventory, accounting for all rationed tires and Parts B, must be filed by July 10. Dealers not filing by that date will not be allowed to deal in rationed tires until the filing has been made, Maxey said. These new records and inventories are the latest step in OPA's strengthened controls over the distribution of tires, Maxey said. "We are still critically short on tires, and we must make absolutely sure that every single tire reaches a legitimate, essential user," he added.

USED CAR PRICES DOWN Used car prices all over America will take a four percent drop on July 1, the Office of Price Administration announced this week in Washington. The move affects cars sold either by regular dealers or private owners. The price cut is in accordance with used car pricing regulations which provide for normal depreciation, OPA officials said, adding that four per cent would also be deducted from charged allowed for extra equipment, such as heaters and radios. This price drop should not only prove a stimulant to used car sales, said an OPA spokesman, but will also provide additional low-cost transportation to essential workers.

EXTRA GAS Additional gasoline will now be available for farmers' representatives who market fresh fruit and vegetables, and for certain wholesale buyers, OPA District Director Roy M. Coffey said in Jacksonville this week. Farm marketing agents, including cooperatives, will be allowed gasoline for travel to farms of the farmers they represent in order to direct harvesting, grading, packing and shipping of fresh fruits and vegetables, if such services are necessary to marketing of the crops.

Adequate gasoline rations will also be given to wholesale buyers who must travel to farms to grade, inspect and classify farm products, an essential step in buying them from farmers. These preferred mileage rations are limited only by essential requirements, Coffey explained, and are being issued because of the importance of this skilled work in the production of essential food products, where it becomes a vital part of our nation's food supply.

USO Shows Play For Boys On Okinawa

NEW YORK CITY, June 20. (Special)—Less than eight hours after they were wounded on Okinawa, American troops are getting the best possible medicine—news of home from USO-Camp Shows acts at the evacuation hospital on Saipan.

USO-Camp Shows, National War Fund, designed to bring entertainment to the troops, is in operation right behind the fighting lines in the Pacific, according to a report just received from Moss Hart by (named of local chairman), Hart, author of Winged Victory, just returned from the Pacific front after appearing in his own play The Man Who Came To Dinner on Kwaleien, Tiaran, Guam, Saipan and the cotton and Hawaiian Islands.

The Man Who Came To Dinner company arrived at Maui in the Hawaiian two days after the return there of the Marines who had won Iwo Jima. Veterans of the 3rd, 4th, and 5th Marine division campaigns, the Leathernecks had not seen live entertainment for two years and they crowded the show for all fourteen performances on the island, Hart said.

Okinawa casualties arriving in Saipan were not able to watch the play, but the troupe members spent the mornings and afternoons before performances visiting from bed to bed in the wards. Hart indicated that this hospital work is one of the most important jobs of USO-Camp Shows actors. The men prefer talking to civilians and writing from home even to seeing a show, he said.

ABILENE, KANS., June 22. (AP)—General Eisenhower, who had many narrow escapes from death or injury as he directed millions of American soldiers through three years of warfare in Europe, today turned up a casualty on his greatest day—E-day and his homecoming.

The general was limping noticeably as the result of a fall last night on a railroad platform where he got off to greet wounded soldiers. The train started off without him and the general started to run. He fell and injured his leg rather severely. Wounded in smiles today. However, "Ike" still enjoyed his welcome in his hometown.

St. Clair White Tells Of GI Love Of Pets On Leyte

GI productivity for pets and animal hunting wherever the men may be is aptly described in a letter to his wife from Sgt. St. Clair White of the 10th Army, who recently acquired a pet parrot.

"I don't think I would you that I had one of the other boys bought a parrot from one of the natives," White stated. "We think it's a very nice bird, we treated some of the boys. He is about a month old now, and his feathers are a pretty green. He is small yet and can't do any talking but we hope to teach him."

"This morning he almost got away from us. Up until this morning he hasn't done any flying and so we didn't keep him in a cage or anything but this morning he took off like a big bird and flew to the top of a coconut tree. We had trouble locating him and got one of the natives to climb the tree and get him. His name is Churchill."

Okinawa Campaign Is Over With 6,990 Killed And 29,598 Wounded For U.S.

Superforts making their third 450 plane attack on Japan within five days spearheaded today's bad news for Tokyo. All of it—from the mass surrenders on fallen Okinawa to fresh invasions of Borneo's oil field—was disheartening to Emperor Hirohito.

The Mikado may find some consolation in knowing that 90,000 of his subjects, now dead, extended a higher price in American lives for Okinawa than for any other Pacific island. The U.S. Tenth Army forces lost 6,990 killed and 29,598 wounded—exceeding the Japanese losses on any American captured island outside the southwest Pacific.

General Eisenhower is being received with overwhelming popular enthusiasm wherever he goes in the United States.

International Guilt

It is reassuring to learn that there will be a rugged trial of important war criminals, with prospect of real punishment, instead of the more brush-off that occurred after the last war.

There has been in the past a feeling in Britain and America that guilt was collective and impersonal. It was evidently a reliance on such sentiment that let the German war-workers go free after the last war.

That soft policy has been one of the factors leading to the second great European war just ended, and was also influential in encouraging the Japanese to launch the tragic war in the Pacific, now taking such a sad toll of American lives.

So we get around at last to the grim principle that war guilt is definitely personal, embracing alike military leaders and the nations they serve. We have serious and purposeful war trials, to determine such guilt, and to punish guilty leaders along with their followers.

Future Menace

We and our allies have won the war against the Nazis—or at least we have been thinking so. Their material power is crushed. But what of their mental and spiritual power?

Such uneasy thoughts are aroused by recent remarks of Gen. Eisenhower, who sees and faces the fact that the Nazis are still going to be a serious problem, possibly for a long time to come.

They have not had much to say lately, but the General is not fooled by that. He tells how one of four Nazis, while being questioned by an interrogating officer, spat in the officer's face, and another sprang upon a guard and bit his wrist to the bone.

It may be likewise with the Japanese, when they are outwardly beaten. For a long time to come, civilization must be on guard and evil craft must be met with righteous force, lest the world be lost.

Prizes For Navigators

Graduation awards appear in interesting form at the United States Coast Guard Academy, in New London, Conn. When 91 young men were commissioned as regular ensigns recently after three years of concentrated work in engineering and navigation, the prizes announced were far more varied than those of the usual college commencement.

The cadet with the highest academic standing received a fine pair of binoculars, which will doubtless serve him well on many seas. A handsome sword, ancient symbol of military service, was awarded for proficiency in military drill and tactics.

This idea of awards to fit the achievement might well be used more in other institutions. Loving cups tarnish and collect dust, money too often disappears at the first immediate need, but fine tools of a trade or profession are a real pleasure for many years.

Don't Give Up At 45!

Where is the man over 45 to find a job? This old question has a new answer: Baseball, if he has any talent for it. Charlie Root, who starred 15 years ago for the Chicago Cubs, is still pitching at 46.

Jim O'Rourke, who played in his 50's for Bridgeport, Conn., was elected not long ago to baseball's Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N. Y.

Many Army officers still are surprised, too, at the tremendous death toll our infantrymen take of Japan's land forces—at relatively light losses to the Americans.

Japan's naval gunnery, too, has not been spectacular in any way in surface engagements to date.

There are sound reasons, of course, for Japan's continuing heavy losses in the air, on land and at sea.

She loses most aerial combats because, most of our admirals agree, her pilots are not as well trained as ours.

Only fatal crashes "wash out" Japanese air cadets, you hear. And viewing some of the actual combats, you can believe all that you have heard.

A Japanese pilot apparently is simply a raw beginner who has managed to live through a hasty training program. There are no veterans, no experienced ones, of course, but the majority, selected by such a process, are untrained fliers.

On land, Japanese soldiers are effective fighters with small arms, machineguns and mortars. Some of their snipers are excellent shots. Americans, however, go into action with tremendous firepower; they spray bullets like water from fire hoses.

There is no comparison, either, between American and Japanese artillery. We have it. They have relatively little of it.

Japan's naval gunnery, too, has not been spectacular in any way in surface engagements to date.

There are sound reasons, of course, for Japan's continuing heavy losses in the air, on land and at sea.

"DON'T FENCE ME IN!"

has not been spectacular. But there still are millions of Japanese fighting men, with millions of rifles and machineguns and mortars. And they still stand between us and Tokyo.

Congress Rules And Committees Make U. S. Laws

WASHINGTON — It's a rare thing when the folks who sit in the congressional galleries are given an insight into the fast manipulations that can go on under rules of order.

In most cases, the laws of the land are made in committees. Some of the legislative chomping is being worked, a fast man in the chair on matters parliamentary can almost run his own show.

A case in point was Sen. Kenneth Wherry's (R-Neb.) amendment to the OPA time extension act making it obligatory that farm prices be established at a level that would assure the farmer a "reasonable profit" on all that he produces.

Sen. Hatch didn't even have a chance to argue, because Sen. Thomas (D-Okla.) moved in with a motion that the move to reconsider be laid on the table, which cuts off all further debate and makes the original vote completely binding.

Sen. Hatch did get a word in edgewise. He said: "I want it definitely understood that I was first on my feet and first to address the chair." The president pro tem said simply: "The chair did not see the Senator or hear him address the chair."

You can't go beyond such an explanation as that. But when the fracas was over and the amendment passed, Sen. Hatch added: "Unfortunately there has been exhibited today on the floor of the United States Senate a great desire on the part of the Senators to cut off debate and limit inquiry."

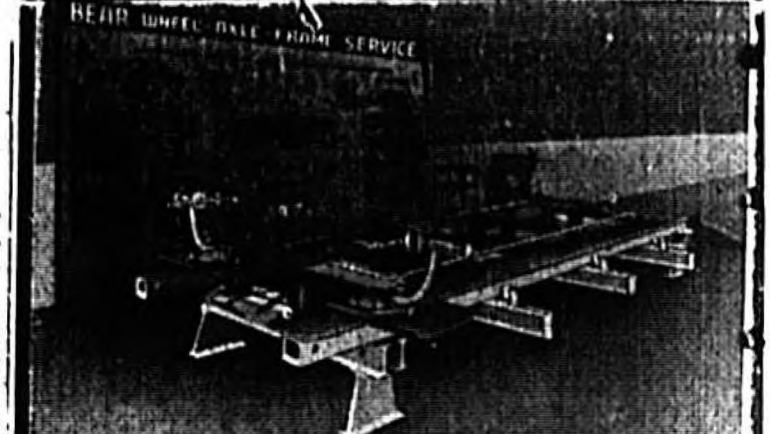

He concluded a little vehemently: "Let it never happen again."

Majority Leader Alben Barkley told newsmen later: "There was no debate on the amendment, because we didn't think it had a chance to pass anyway. I am sure the House will take it out in the long run the Barkley-Hatch-Lucas faction may feel that no harm was done, but they knew that day that they had been taken over the parliamentary hurdles.

Many millions of pounds of potatoes and grain have been lost in Holland because of the flooding of areas by the Germans, and at least $3,000,000 worth of cultural implements have been ruined.

Laundry Marks Are Aid To FBI In Tracing Crooks

JOLIET, Ill., June 22. (Special) Now laundry marks are adding the police and FBI in tracing criminals. Often the law breakers leave no other clues behind than such scant ones as handkerchiefs, shirts, and similar personal linens. But the laundry marks found on such washables often identify the criminal and bring him to justice.

One murdered person in New York state was so badly burned that the victim could not be recognized. But a piece of charred clothing indicated the presence of an indelible mark of the type used in laundry and cleaning plants, a police lieutenant discovered. The bit of fabric was treated and the number became visible. The police official looked up his vast collection of laundry marks and found the symbol. He paid the plant a visit, where the name and address of the unidentified victim were readily found in the records. Before long the murderer was in the hands of the law.

Originator of the ingenious bureau of laundry marks is Lieutenant Adam Yulek, of the Nassau County, Long Island, New York, police. Over a period of several years he has enlarged his files until they now contain more than 250,000. Lt. Yulek's laundry mark identification bureau has been found so valuable in apprehending criminals that most police departments throughout the country have adopted similar spread made public here today. "Real income," or cash income translated in terms of the prices of essential goods and services, has been squeezed by average cash incomes, which are slightly less than a year ago, and by average price levels, which are slightly higher," explained Investors Syndicate in its nine-year old study of the nation's purchasing power. "Investment income was $1.00 in April contrasted with $1.00 in April, 1944. Dividend and interest disbursements of $1.15 in March, 1945, equalled that of October, 1944, both of these months being the highest since December, 1939, when such income was $1.23.

Distribution of dividends and interest in February were $1.11 and in January $1.09, both payments being compared with $1.00 in the same months of a year ago. "Wages of 95 cents in April compared with $1.00 in April, 1944. Wage envelopes have been the same for three successive months. They were 94 cents in January. All such comparisons being with $1.00 in each of the respective months a year earlier. "Salaries paid in April of 95 cents compare with $1.00 in April, 1944. Salary checks have been drawn for 95 cents for five successive months. They contrast with $1.00 in the same periods of the year before. "Other income," which is derived from farms, individually owned businesses, and royalties in April was $1.04 compared with $1.00 in April, 1944. This item stood at $1.04 in March, $1.00 in February, and $1.01 in January, all of these periods being contrasted with $1.00 in the same months a year ago.

living costs have remained at $1.01, the same general level for five successive months. "Wearing apparel for civilians continues to show the largest single advance in cost of living items. Clothing for men, women, and children in April cost $1.63 compared with $1.00 in April, 1944. Clothing cost $1.03 in March, $1.04 in February, and $1.03 in January, compared with $1.00 in those same 1944 months. "Foods, which the average householder finds always takes the largest slice of living expenditures, in April cost $1.01 against $1.00 in April, 1944. Foods of the same quantity and quality, if bought only in local markets, in March cost $1.02 in February and January, $1.01 compared with $1.00 in each of those 1944 months. "Miscellaneous items, which include essential commodities and services not included in food, clothing and shelter, in April cost $1.01, or the same general level for the fourth successive month, compared with $1.00 in April, 1944. "Rents remained unchanged at $1.00, a level at which they have been for more than two years as a result of OPA freezing orders.

More Meat Is Seen For U. S. By Anderson

New Secretary Of Agriculture Is Given Full Power To Control Food Supplies

WASHINGTON, June 25. (AP)—Clinton P. Anderson today forecast more meat for the nation's dinner tables. The new secretary of agriculture said the change "hands me a weapon to deal with the black market in meat and to channel more meat to the dinner table."

WASHINGTON, June 25. (AP)—Clinton P. Anderson, who becomes the nation's food chief July 1, sees house changes in the price control extension bill as assuring the break-up of the meat black market.

The Democratic congressman from New Mexico would not discuss other far-reaching amendments which would make him a virtual czar over everything the nation eats, but in an interview today he said of the new house rule on the stock slaughter:

"It hands me a weapon to deal with the black market in meat and to channel more meat to the dinner table."

"It gives me authority to require affirmative proof of the destination of every carcass of beef. I intend to revoke the license of any slaughterer furnishing meat for the black market."

The house, to an accompaniment of shouts, "we want meat," wrote the new slaughter rules last night and voted Anderson's unopposed local purchase program to give the Office of Price Administration a year's extension of the OPA for a year.

These changes, and other giving federal district courts jurisdiction over appeals from OPA orders, are subject to senate concurrence.

Takes Over Shortly

Anderson will be sworn in a week hence as President Truman's choice for secretary of agriculture, succeeding Claude R. Wickard. The president has announced that he also will head the heretofore-separate War Food Administration.

The livestock amendment by Rep. Patman (D., Tex.) permits unlimited slaughter in all plants large and small, certified by the agriculture secretary as sanitary; sets aside restrictions on interstate transportation of meat not federally inspected; and permits the army to purchase meat without such inspection, so long as it comes from plants certified as sanitary.

Just returned from a cross-country swing with the house food investigating committee, of which he is chairman, Anderson said:

"If you go back to those slaughterers who are forcing the small retailers to get their illegal prices, you can force meat into legitimate channels of trade."

City Needs Told E-Bond Sales Are At Town Meeting Reported Lagging Of Rotary Club With End Nearing

Only 46 Percent Of Quota Has Been Sold With 5 More Days

An old-fashioned town meeting was conducted at the Rotary Club last night under the leadership of W. A. Leffler, who called attention to Rotary's responsibility toward community service and called upon various members to express themselves as to civic needs.

G. A. Speer, chairman of the Seventh War Loan, reported that E-bond sales are still nearly 50 percent short of the quota and urged Rotarians to re-examine their ability to buy more of these bonds. He announced that Rotary members have already purchased $40,000 worth of the bonds of which $11,620 are E-bonds.

Calling attention to the fact that today's meeting was the last in President Roy Miller's term of office and that Lea Lesher would take over at the next meeting, Mr. Leffler declared that Mr. Miller has done an excellent job, increasing the membership of the club from 30 to 41.

Asking what is Sanford going to do when the war is over and the Naval Air Station closes, Mr. Leffler recalled having picked up a soldier recently when he asked how he liked it at the little town where he was from. The soldier said he liked it very much as there wasn't anything to do there.

So Mr. Leffler asked him what a soldier likes to do and the soldier replied that he would like to live in a town where there are no more soldiers.

Storm Is Seen As Benefit To Local Farms

Little Damage Done Here As Hurricane Crosses State To North From Gulf

Heavy rains deluged Sanford and Seminole County Saturday night as the tropical disturbance moved over Florida, but this time instead of damage, it was the opinion of growers of this section that the heavy soaking would prove beneficial, come as it did after a long period of drought.

During a 24 hour period up to 8:00 A. M. Sunday, 8.80 inches of rain fell, according to B. F. Whittier, weatherman. For the whole week starting Monday, 12.07 inches were recorded, which is something of a record.

Manager H. J. Lehman of the Sanford State Farmers' Market reported that the whole area around the market was inundated to a depth of a foot and a half when he arrived there Sunday morning.

"You could have rowed a boat around there," he said, and added there was more water there than during the hurricane last October. Today, he called on Mayor Higgins to secure city help in pumping out the weighing pit, the motor of which was flooded. Until this is fixed, trucks cannot be weighed at the market.

On the West Twentieth Street road near the railroad, bus drivers reported that the water came nearly up to the bus floor Saturday morning. The whole area here a low lying spot that floods during every heavy rain, was mentioned on page 14.

CITY BRIEFS

Word has been received by Mrs. O. L. Barka in Columbus, Ga., that her husband, Dr. Barka, liberated from a German prison camp, has arrived safely in the United States and expects to be home soon. He telephoned her from Boston, Mass.

Reid Mann, state adjutant of the American Legion, who will establish state headquarters here during the coming month and who will move to Sanford July 1, will be the principal speaker at the meeting of the Kiwanis Club Wednesday noon at the Valdez Hotel.

Public Code of the Bush Insulation Company will be in Sanford Tuesday for the purpose of furthering action on the proposed Frozen Food Locker Plant.

S-Sgt. George Eick Is Back In U. S.

CHARLESTON, S. C. Port of embarkation, June 25. Staff Sgt. George E. Eick, 22 of Sanford, Fla., gunner of a B-24 Liberator bomber crew with the 15th Army Air Force in Italy, arrived here today by transport plane en route home for 30 days.

Brigadier General James T. Duke, commander of this Transportation Corps port, stated he will be on his way by train to a reception center near his home July 24 hours. He will be issued his leave papers there.

While here, he and other Air Forces men who arrived today were processed and then given a luncheon feast topped by film, music, telephone and telegraph facilities were available for first calls home. After their 30 days home, almost all members of the group will be leaving for overseas again in the Pacific.

Bgt. Eick was inducted into the Army in December, 1942, and went overseas to a base in Italy in November, 1944. He has been awarded the Air Medal.

Storm At Longwood Hit Races Saturday

LONGWOOD, June 25. (Special)—With the tropical storm blowing, the racing at the Sanford-Orlando-Kennedy club should get underway to a good start tonight for the sixth week of the 80 day mid-summer meet. Saturday night's rains interfered with the racing to such an extent that the races had to be called off after the fourth race.

Fans looking over tonight's entries for the daily double might try the number one and three dogs in the second race with the number one two and four dogs in the third.

In the feature seventh, because Lassie has not been running here the past several nights, Rhythm Royal may be the next best bet.
