Vogt Plans Compromise Tax Bill

Herald Staff Writer

Senate President John Vogt is drafting a bill that may be an olive branch as the platoons of legislators prepare for battle Monday in the second clash of political wills during the Legislature's special session.

Vogt's bill, which would eliminate sales tax on non-professional services, came in light of a non-binding opinion by Florida's Attorney General Bob Butterworth that it would be unconstitutional to repeal the consumer services tax without immediately trimming the budget or enacting a replacement tax.

Martinez wants the tax repealed Jan. 1 but refuses to consider a replacement tax until budget reforms are adopted. He proposes the Legislature leave any spending cuts that might be necessary to him and the Vogt. D-Cocoa Beach, said the bill he's drafting would keep the sales tax on professional services, a tax which can be deducted by businesses. Under Vogt's draft. the tax would stay on services such as accounting, legal and architectual services and similiar professions. It would be re-moved on advertising, transportation, banking, salons, cleaning and pest control. lawn care and other such businesses.

Vogt said he agreed with Butterworth that it would be wrong to cut the tax and not replace it. Rep. Art Grindle, R-Altamonte Springs, agrees. "I think Butterworth's comments ar well taken," said Grindle.

"If we're going to back up funding, we're going to have to back up on appropriations," he said.

Grindle said he's not sure if the issue will be reolved next week.

"I think when we get done playing the games, we can do something." he said.

Grindle said the governor is firm in wanting budgetary reform. He said Martinez could compromise on what he would approve for a replacement of the tax if the Legislature gives him a bigger budgetary veto ax to wield.

Martinez maintains there will be no deficit unless the tax repeal takes effect before a replacement tax can be enacted. The repeal would not take effect until Jan. 1

'To repeal the tax at a future date does not create a deficit." Martinez said. But-terworth issued a non-binding advisory opinion on the subject Thursday.

The stolen car was recovered early Thursday morning in Kissimmee by police searching for a prowler and possible suspect in the kidnappings and sexual assaults on two pairs of fingerprints. Kissimmee Police are looking for a man with shoulder length, dirty blond hair about 6 ft. 1 in. with slight build who is wanted in the separate incidents in-

Marvalyn Higgins of Oviedo has a $23,450 lien recorded against her property in Oviedo as a result of Seminole County Code Enforcement Board action Thursday afternoon.

Higgins was cited last April for living in a metal shed at 1271 Lowery Drive, Oviedo. The citation charged her with living in a shed, and screened area (tent) which were erected without obtaining a building permit, and for living in an area below the minimum living space of 1,300 square feet.

Higgins reportedly lives in the shed without running water or electricity, and without garbage

Dwyer told the board that Deborah Leigh, a city inspector. inspected the site again Thursday morning and determined that the shed was still there, although the tent was lying on the ground, and that the shed was still being lived in.

Don Reynolds and Wayne Epps used to sit side by side and cheer at football games. For the past four years, however, they have been separated by the football field.

Reynolds, who was Epps' boss for nine years as principal at Seminole High, became Lake Mary High's principal when it opened in 1981. Epps, after a one-half year interim by Bud Layer. became principal at Seminole High School.

Tonight, Epps and Reynolds go to opposite sides again as Seminole-Lake Mary V kicks off at 8 at Don T. Reynolds Stadium on Longwood-Lake Mary Road in Lake Mary. Seminole has a 2-0 record, beating Titusville Astronaut and Orlando Edgewater. Lake Mary has a 1-1 record, losing to Winter Park before beating Lake Brantley. While the rivalry splits principals, it also divides friends. Lake Mary's best players - John Curry, Sheldon Richards, Carlos Hartsfield, Terry "The Cat" Miller, Ray Williams, Tarrance Carr and Calvin Davis - live in Sanford. The black students are bused to Lake Mary from Lincoln Heights and Academy Manor adjacent to Sanford's Airport Boulevard to satisfy the school's minority percentage.

Although they now spend their school days at Lake Mary, friendships formed long before at elementary and middle schools in Sanford are still intact.

Those friendships, nevertheless, will be put on hold for two hours tonight. But when the final horn sounds, Seminole's Earnie "Sackman" Lewis, Leonard Lucas, Jeff and Ron Blake, Bernard Burke and Jerod Jones will be congratulating or consoling their friends/rivals.

Hiroshima, Or Its Alternative

The forty-second anniversary of the atomic bombing of Hiroshima has come and gone. All the usual suspects got into the act, which ran approximately all last month. Jack Lemmon, the movie actor, has become a fetishist about all things nuclear. He and other stars made a pilgrimage to Hiroshima itself. Lemmon pronouncing that because of Hiroshima he is ashamed to be a member of the human race.

Lemmon should know better and stop making himself ridiculous, but he had been moving steadily to the left, as in "The China Syndrome," an attack on nuclear energy and its managers, and "Missing," which tells a lying tale about how a U.S. ambassador to Chile conspired in a murder of a young American. The ambassador sued and lost because the court ruled the movie a "docudrama," that is, largely fiction. Joseph McCarthy missed a big opportunity. He should have made docudramas.

But there are other views of Hiroshima, including those of men serving in our armed forces whose lives were on the line.

Paul Fussell, for example, is the Donald Regan Professor of the humanities at the University of Pennsylvania, and he has written some of the indispensable books of our time. In 1945, however, he was a 21-year-old second lieutenant leading a rifle platoon. He has recalled the actuality:

"On Okinawa, only weeks before Hiroshima, 123,000 Japanese and Americans had killed each other. 'Just awful' was the comment not of some pacifist but MacArthur. One million American casualties was his estimate of the cost of the American invasion. And that invasion was not just a hypothetical threat, as some theorists have argued. It was genuinely in training, as I know because I was to be in it...We were in a staging area near Reims, ready to be shipped across the United States for final preparation in the Philippines. My division was to take part in the invasion of Honshu in March 1946...When the bombs dropped and the news began to circulate that Operation Olympic' would not, after all, take place, that we would not be obliged to run up the beaches assault .. firing while being mortared and shelled, for all the fake manliness of our facades, we cried with a relief and joy. We were going to live. We were going to grow to adulthood after all." Fussell was hardly alone in his relief and

loy. According to historian John Toland, when the Enola Gay dropped the bomb, "There were cheers over the intercom. It meant the end of the war."

The novelist James Jones, an Army man, had mused on "What it must have been like to some old-timer buck sergeant or staff sergeant who had been through Guadalcanal or Bougainville or the Philippines, to stand on some beach and watch this huge war inachine beginning to stir around him and know that he very likely had survived this far only to fall dead on the dirt of Japan's home Islands."

Thus there is no doubt whatsoever that the assault would have been carried out, and if he Japanese had mostly fought to the death on Guadaleanal and Okinawa, on the latter having to be blasted out of their caves with flame-throwers, what could we have expected in the fight for the home islands? Suicide charges, kamikaze air attacks, women and children rigged with grenades. If, as MacArthur's staff estimated, it all would have cost one million American casualties, what do you think it would have cost in Japanese lives? Our B-29s would have turned the islands to ashes, making the rubble bounce, as Churchill said. Ten million Japanese casualties would be a low realistic estimate. After all, we showed what we could do from the air in the fire-bombing of Tokyo and other cities. The winds generated by the great Tokyo conflagration reached hurricane proportions, frying the inhabitants, in a "conventional" bombing attack.

Before smugly wringing their hands over Hiroshima, an exercise the main point of which is to establish their moral superiority to the rest of us, the Jack Lemmon types ought to try actually thinking, if that is not asking too much.

Presidency Enhanced With Arms Accord

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan's fortunes are picking up as he heads into what he likes to call the last quarter of his presidency.

While he failed in his goals to reduce Washington to the size of a village before leaving the White House, and to slash the federal government payroll to a skeleton force, he will not go away empty-handed.

He is on the verge of signing a medium range missile agreement with the Soviets at a summit with Mikhail Gorbachev, probably in late November.

The accord will be a feather in his cap, since his achievements in superpower negotiations have fallen short of the mark in the past.

Reagan also does not have too many successes n the use of United States power around the world to impose its will. The invasion of Grenada was carried off successfully, but he had to fold his tents and retreat from Beirut before he enmeshed the country in a Middle East quagmire.

He learned late in the presidency that foreign policy and peace are the most important items on his agenda as far as the American people are concerned. That's because no one else in government has the war and peace powers that he holds in his hand.

And so, as it has been with most every president in this century.

Reagan came into office, calling the Soviets every thing in the book. The atmosphere was hardly conducive to detente, a word of superpower conciliation that was tossed out in the Fordera.

In 1983, Reagan called the Soviet Union the "evil empire" and while he probably has not changed his mind drastically, he has softened the rhetoric a bit and decided to see if two radically different states, each with the ability to annihilate the other, can live together on this earth.

The potential arms agreement did not come about by chance. Reagan and Gorbachev need it and want it. That alone was enough to start the wheels turning, and to overcome the technical obstacles.

The Iran-Contra scandal put the president on the defensive and brought into question his credibility. He needed a lift to restore his popularity and prestige in the country. An arms agreement can do that, especially with prospects for an even more important pact by cutting the superpower long range strategic weapons by 50 percent.

weapons by 50 percent.

Ironically, his main opposition as he pursues the Holy Grail of arms reduction lies with his conservative opponents.

Reagan certainly believes he is out of the woods and that the scandal is behind him. But the shadows remain and the questions are still out there even though he has never sought to provide all the answers, and probably never will.

Gorbachev, while not in the same boat, has problems of his own. He wants to put his country on a fast track to bring it into the 21st

He has tried to bring about reforms that will give the economy a shot in the arm and to loosen up the tightly controlled society. The Kremlin leader has to contend with the hardliners still around from the revolution and their disciples who do not want to let a hundred flowers bloom.

Foreign Lobbying Scandal

WASHINGTON-One of the enduring scandals in this city is the extent of lobbying by foreign governments and companies. The purpose of the lobbying is to thwart efforts to defend the U.S. national interest and to ensure that foreign organizations aren't penalized when they damage American interests.

A congressional investigation of this lobbying is long overdue. It should extend to the lobbying efforts on behalf of foreign governments and corporations and their subsidiaries in the United States.

An investigation is especially timely because of the giant lobbying effort designed to prevent congressional approval of sanctions against the Toshiba Co., which, in concert with a Norwegian state-owned firm, sold sophisticated equipment to the Soviet Union that has given Soviet submarine forces an immense advantage. Reliable estimates indicate that American taxpayers may have to spend $10 billion or more to make up for this betrayal of U.S. and NATO security interests.

The Congress was outraged when the Toshiba treachery was discovered. The New Republic magazine has advanced the thesis that the Japanese government had a hand in the Toshiba sale. Eighteen bills were introduced in Congress to punish Toshiba. Now, however, the lobbyists have done their work. The Wall Street Journal reports that the principal sanctions bill, drafted by Sen. Jake Garn of Utah, will be gutted. The New York Times reports that C. William Verity, Jr., the new Secretary of Commerce, is on record as opposing sanctions against Toshiba. Ironically, Mr. Verity is supposed to maintain oversight of sensitive high technology exports. His role may be one of the fox guarding the chicken house.

Press reports here indicate that Japanese interests are making huge outlays in order to prevent or weaken congressional sanctions against Toshiba. These reports also indicate the special outlays for this lobbying effort are in addition to the approximately $90 million a year spent on lobbying by the Japanese government. Japanese companies and the American subsidiaries of Japanese corporations.

The congressional probe should identify the Japanese companies and the subsidiaries involved with lobbying the Toshiba case and the amounts they are spending, as well as the law firms and individual lobbyists who are former officials of the U.S. government. The work of former American officials on behalf of foreign governments and companies is especially scandalous.

Biden's Second To Fall

By Steve Gerstel

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Young Joe Biden's campaign for the presidency was cut down before it bloomed, the second victim of a tough standard of conduct imposed on those bold enough to reach for the White House.

Biden failed to meet that test, as did Gary Hart before him, narrowing the field of candidates for the 1988 Democratic nomination to six, with Rep. Pat Schroeder of Colorado still a possible entry.

A searching scrutiny, unprecedented in recent American politics, exposed in both Biden, a senator from Delaware, and Hart, a former senator from Colorado, flaws of character that destroyed their candidacies with terrifying speed.

In the case of Hart, it was the long-festering issue of "womanizing" which was capsuled and exposed in the weekend episode with Miami model Donna Rice.

Biden's failure was far less titiliating and sensational, but perhaps even more damaging. The 44-year-old senator, who wanted to be the voice of a new generation, found he did not have the words.

Instead, he reached back a generation.

ation to plagiarize the thoughts and feelings of Robert Kennedy and Hubert Humphrey and across the sea to adopt the history of Neil Kinnock, the British Labor Party leader—all without attribution. It then was learned he was not

It then was learned he was not new to the weakness of claiming the words of others as his own. As a first-year law student at Syracuse University, he wrote a paper with five pages copied from an article and no attribution.

And his academic career, medicere at best, achieved excellence in Biden's mind. He boasted of finishing in the top half of his law school class, claimed he was one of only three law students on full academic scholarship and said he carned three undergraduate degrees. All not true.

Two factors exacerbated these

Two factors exacerbated these developments that struck in the last two weeks.

Pirst, the embellishment seemed to add weight to suspicions that Biden was a quick-tempered lightweight who looked and sounded good but was not grounded on legislative issues. Secondly, it all hit amid the politically charged hearings on the Supreme Court nomination of Robert Bork, which Biden, as chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, wanted to use as a backdrop for his campaign.

"It's like a cancer patient getting pneumonia," a Biden aide said of the admissions of plagiarism and academic embellishments, noting the senator already was beset by other political problems and poor showings in almost every recent poll of public support for the Democratic candidates.

And yet, though Biden was mentioned as a possible presidential candidate as early as 1984, his departure in no way carries the impact of Hart's withdrawal on the 1988 race.

Hart was the acknowledged front-runner, a strong candidate in a weak field, a battle-tested veteran of the 1984 campaign. His departure created a wide-open field for the nomination, with other candidates picking off his top aides and fighting for the backing he had relinquished.

By, contrast, Biden, despite an early start, a good staff and an astounding ability to raise money (second only to Massachusetts Gov. Michael Dukakis among the Democrats), failed to stir enthusiasm with his passionate speaking.

There are also words, his own, ready to haunt Biden. He spoke them May 4, the day after the Hart-Rice story broke.

Singing, Flashing Fishes

By Delthia Ricks UPI Science Writer

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Whiatling and grunting as they cruise the blue waters off the California coast, the melodious midshipman, a homely looking fish with a lumpy body and a larger-than-usual head, knows how to get attention.

This fish not only sings, its nocturnal serenade often is punctuated by a show of lights that the midshipman produces with a bit of flair and a lot of flash.

The operative word here is flash.
As it turns out, those lumps on the midshipman's body are not evidence of underwater cellulite but buttonlike, seafaring headlights "that they are able to flash on at night," said marine biologist Steve Kamolnick of Sea World in San Diego.

"The midshipman," he contends.

"is not your average fish."
Indeed, as studies show, the midshipman, may be a living example of Darwinian theory in action because marine scientists believe they are witnessing the beginnings of an evolutionary change in the fish that may one day result in the loss of its luminescence.

"He has more than 700 little organs, photophores," said University of Southern California marine biologist Basil Nafpaktitis. "My question is why would nature maintain them?"

Apparently nature asked the same question long ago regarding some of the midshipman's relatives that inhabit Friday Harbor in Washington and the shallow waters off the coast of Chile because their lights have been permanently turned off.

Because these fish are no longer capable of switching on their lights, scientists believe their condition serves as a clear warning of what lies ahead for the midshipman.

Although Nafpaktitis says he is unable to pinpoint exactly when nature will phase out the lights, he is convinced that it won't be anytime soon.

"Evolution doesn't work overnight, but we think that this fish probably will lose his capability of bioluminescence. It's possible that we are looking at the elimination of the photophores by natural selection because they are not important for mating any longer in similar fish."

Natural selection, the idea of favorable variations surviving over generations in any given species, is a key concept in Darwin's theory of evolution.

Reagan's Wound: Not Like In Movies

By Jack Anderson And Dale Van Atta

WASHINGTON — President Reagan suggested that the Joint Chiefs of Staff double their estimate for the number of troops that would be needed for the 1983 invasion of Grenada

One of the biggest surprises about the 1981 assassination attempt by John Hinckley was that being shot wasn't at all what Reagan had come to expect from the movies.

These and other insights are in an unpublished transcript of a private interview with the president that we've had a peck at. Significantly, the interview was conducted before the Iran/contra scandal broke early last November. Reagan had reason to be rosy and relaxed about his record and his popularity.

How does he make the tough lectsions?

"There've been a lot." Reagan said. "On the really tough decisions.

the ones in which there's so much right on both sides. I make the Cabinet go over the options in front of me.

"I use the Cabinet as a sort of board of directors, except for one thing — they don't vote. I have to make the decisions. But the hardest ones will always be those where you have to order our young men in uniform to go someplace where their lives will be endangered."

The Grenada invasion was one of those. "When the Joint Chiefs of Staff were entrusted with putting the mission together," the president said, "I made only one suggestion — when you decide how many troops you think it'll take, double it."

Asked about the assassination attempt, Reagan said: "When I heard the shots, I thought they were firecrackers. After all those movies. I had always assumed that if you were shot, you grabbed yourself.

looked agontzed and fell down — you felt it when it hit you.

"I didn't. There was a paralyzing pain, but I thought (the Secret Service agent) had broken my rib when he fell on top of me. By the time I sat up and coughed up a handful of blood. I figured the rib had punctured my lung." Asked about the pleasures of his high office, Reagan told about a lunch with columnist James J. Kilpatrick's daughter-in-law. Her husband was serving on a destroyer with the Sixth Fleet in the Mediter-

"A few days later, he wrote me a letter with a line I'll never forget. He said it was as if God had called the Vatican and asked for an altar boy by name."

Reagan offered these appraisals — mostly flattering — of the allied leaders he has dealt with:

British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher: "I'm a great admirer of Mrs. Thatcher. I think we have much in common. She understands both the threat from abroad and the need to lessen the heavy hand of government at home."

Japanese Prime Minister Yasuhiro Nakasone: "He recognizes that his country is one of the great economic powers in the world today, and as such has the responsibility to support free market policies. I admire him very much."

West German Chancellor Helmut Kohl: "A staunch ally of all the things that we believe in. His support in NATO and at economic summits has been greatly appreciated."

IN BRIEF

Senate Pushing Showdown On War Powers Act

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Senate Democrats are forcing a showdown with President Reagan over his Persian Gulf policy, offering a proposal that could end U.S. warship escorts for Kuwaiti tankers unless Congress approves an Republicans, however, termed the move a "shot across the bow" of American warships in the guif and sought to delay or defang the measure, suggesting they might fillbuster if necessary.

Democrats sought a vote - perhaps today - on their amendment to the $303 billion defense bill on the Senate floor, a bill already under a veto threat over a "Star Wars" proposal. The move, if successful, would give Reagan added reason to scuttle the bill.

Meanwhile, the Senate overwhelmingly approved, 91-4, a non-binding measure Thursday night declaring it the "sense of the Senate" that the Navy is "fully justified" in sinking any Iranian vessel that threatens the safe passage of a U.S. warship or threatens any vessel with Americans aboard, a phrase covering Kuwaiti tankers with U.S. citizens as captains.

Second Opinions Stall Surgery

CHICAGO (UPI) - A second opinion would probably convince most people scheduled for elective heart bypass surgery to seek alternative treatments, eliminating thousands of unnecessary operations and resulting in a savings of more than $1 billion a year, a study indicates.

Researchers from the Harvard School of Public Health, reporting in today's Journal of the American Medical Association, estimated second opinions could potentially eliminate 50,000 non-emergency heart bypass operations performed in the United States every year.

Graboys and his colleagues at Brigham and Women's Hospital in Boston based their conclusions on a study of 88 heart disease patients scheduled for elective coronary bypass surgery and referred for second opinions.

Seventy-four of them were advised to postpone or forego the surgery and continue their medical therapy and 60 patients did so. Within the following 28 months, there were two heart attacks but no fatalities in the no-surgery group. Four of the 14 patients who disregarded the second opinion and underwent surgery had heart attacks, but none died.

Commissioners Pass Shopping Center Rezoning

Herald Staff Writer

Rezoning for a proposed 300,000-square-foot shopping center on State Road 434 near its intersection with State Road 438 was approved by county commissioners Tuesday night. amid complaints from the owner of adjacent land that the developer should be required to complete an impact statement before proceeding with the center.

The owner of the 31.9-acre site and an adjoining 29 acres is Hooker Barnes, a development company which has operated in the Orlando area for five years and is developing several projects throughout the state. This is its first commercial venture in Seminole County.

The site, a block south of SR 436 on the east side of SR 434, is almost completely surrounded by property within the Altamonte Springs city limits. The shopping center would have two entrances on Orange Avenue on the north, and two on Magnolia Avenue on the south. As part of the agreement to rezone the property, the developer will be required to widen Magnolia and Orange avenues to 36 feet adjacent to the development, build five-foot sidewalks all around. pay for any traffic signals needed, and extend necessary sewer and water mains to hook up with either Orange County or Altamonte Springs lines.

The county originally had proposed negotiating an agreement with Orange County to provide sewer and water service to the site, but Altamonte Springs wants to be considered to furnish those services.

Altamonte Springe also will coordinate with the county in a traffic study, which, when completed, may require the developer to make more improvements to streets.

Hooker Barnes had originally applied to rezone the entire 60 acres it owns into C-2 commercial. But it amended its petition to include only 31.9 acres and asked for PCD (Planned Commercial Development) zoning, which the commissioners approved. It is the first request for PCD zoning in the county.

The other 29 acres the company owns adjoins the 31.9-acre than 40-acre plots and has parcel on the north and has a small frontage on SR 436. The original request to rezone the entire 60 acres is part of the reason an adjoining property owner, Charles E. Bradshaw. objects to the way approval for the development is being

However, Hooker Barnes representatives argued that the law only requires a developer complete a DRI when the development exceeds 40 acres.

Bradshaw, however, contends this proposed shopping center is only phase I of the proposed 60-acre development and that the company simply split the two parcels to avoid the expensive DRI requirements.

County Attorney Nikki Clayton said as long as there are no requests for rezoning or building permits for the adjoining property, there is no evidence of plans for development,

Dinosaur Fossils Found In Alaska

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The discovery that fossils from Alaska kept in a warehouse for 23 years are dinosaur bones has cast doubt on a popular dinosaur extinction theory and prompted new study of the giant reptiles.

The fossils, believed to have lived 66 million years ago, were found along the North Slope of Alaska in 1961 by an oil company geologist who thought they were bones of mammoths, elephant-like mammals known to live in northern climes.

U.S. Geological Survey geologists identified them as dinosaur remains in 1984 and since have returned to the site and found many more fossils of dinosaurs, always thought to have lived in more temperate

"This is the farthest north. coldest, darkest location we are aware of for dinosaurs," said USGS researcher Elizabeth Brouwers in Denver.

An increasingly accepted dinosaur extinction theory suggests a globe-girdling cloud of dust and smoke from a catastrophic collision by an asteroid 65 million years ago blacked out the sun for weeks or months, lowering temperatures and killing the vegetation that fed the giant reptiles.

Brouwers said in a report Thursday in the journal Science that the place where the dinosaurs were found is dark for many weeks during the winter.

"Our point here is that darkness and cold alone can't explain the extinction of dinosaurs because here we've got large numbers of dinosaurs living under fairly cold, and in the wintertime, dark conditions," she said in a telephone in-

"I don't think it rules out the meteorite idea," she said. "It certainly lessens the idea that cold and dark wiped out the dinosaurs. If that were the only effect, then it simply didn't do it. If there were other effects from the meteorite, such as wiping out the ozone layer or another catastrophe, then that may have caused the extinction."

Bush in Rome For Europe Tour, To Talk On Gulf. Arms Control

ROME (UPI) - Vice President George Bush arrived from Washington Friday to start a 10-day tour of six European capitals and discuss the Persian Gulf and prospects for nuclear arms control.

"They'll be interested in the Persian Gulf, but in terms of what might transpire there, it's all speculation." Bush told reporters on board Air Force 2 before landing in Rome. Bush said he wanted to talk with European leaders about the U.S. proposal for an arms embargo against Iran. Bush said the U.S. push for the arms embargo "is still up in the air a little bit" but said the United States will be 'pressing forward" with its request for sanctions.

"The program is designed to teach students skills at the point of need," Haigh said. "If a child is learning to alphabetize in the classroom, then the library will teach how to use the card catalog." ## Pride On The Line As Combination Of Stars Face Off

(Sanford's WUEZ-AM (1400) will broadcast fonight's Seminole Athletic Conference game between Seminole and Lake Mary. Mike Kirby and Jeff Deen will handle the play by play. Air time is 7:50 p.m.)

By Sam Cook Herald Sports Editor

Seminole and Lake Mary will showcase their best combination of stars lonight when they meet for the fifth time at Don T. Reynolds Stadium at Lake Mary. Kickoff is 8 p.m.

Seminole-Lake Mary V has more great matchups than Wreslemania. Name a position and it produces a star. Several of the standouts have been varsity performers for three years. Since the Rams won as sophomores and the 'Noles as juniors, tonight's showdown is the rubber match.

The game also takes on major importance in the Seminole Athletic Conference. Lake Mary (1-1), which won the SAC two years ago, wants to get back on top. Seminole, which has not won the SAC, seeks to establish itself as the new county

Roger Beathard, who was Lake Mary's first head coach, goes head to head with Rams' veteran Harry Nelson for the first time. Beathard said a victory is very important to him because of the friends he still has and wants to impress at Lake Mary.

But most of all Seminole-Lake Mary is a game of pride.

Several of the Rams top players live in Sanford. They want to win this game to ensure "bragging rights" the rest of the year. And for splendid seniors like John Curry, Terry "The Cat" Miller and Sheldon Richards, they will savor a victory the rest of their years. Even though they number just eight or nine players, the Sanford players' strong feelings are contagious. Their Longwood teammates catch the spirit readily.

"After we lost last year, we had to keep our mouths shut for a whole year." Lake Mary tailback Curry said. "It was their time to do all Defensive leader Earnie "Sackman" Lewis said the setback to Lake Mary his sophomore year was devastating. "It was like a loss in the family." the senior all-stater said about the 13-12 loss. "I was crying and I looked over at coach (Dave) Mosure and he was crying, too." Those feelings will transform into high energy tonight when the first kickoff comes tumbling down. Seminole is a five-point favorite by the Dunkel Index. Both coaches believe it is because of a balance between offense and defense for the first time in many, many years.

"The thing that makes our offense go is the ability to run and throw," Beathard said about his team's 28.5 points per game average. "Before, teams would put eight men scrimmage and dare us to pass."

No one dares Jeff Blake to throw the ball. "Blake is just a great player," Nelson said. "He's got a great arm but he can run the ball, too."

Blake, a senior who missed last season with an injury, has made up for lost time quickly. The 6-foot-11/2 175-pounder has completed 17 of 31 passes for 323 yards and five touchdowns.

See PRIDE, Page 10A

fullback Tom Walls. Lake Mary's Mike Armato (40), below, zeroes in on Lake Brantley quarterback Scott Meredith. Kickoff is set for 8 p.m. at Lake Mary.

Rams Lead Series, 'Noles Are 5-Point Favorites Tonight

By Sem Cock

If a one-game winning streak can be ascertained as momentum, then Seminole has the momentum for tonight's Seminole Athletic Conference showdown at Lake Mary. Kickoff is 8 p.m. Don T. Reynolds Stadium.

After dropping the first three games of this arch-rival series to the Rams, the Seminoles upset Lake Mary last year. The victory evened coach Dave Mosure's record at 1-1 against the Rama Mosure resigned last June to take an assistant's job at Miami Killian. Jerry Posey, who coached Seminole for 10 years prior to Mosure, finished Harry Nelson, Lake Mary's fifth-year coach, is 3-1. Seminole's Roger Beathard becomes the third Seminole coach to lock horns with Nelson in Seminole-Lake Mary V tonight. Beathard, incidentally, was the Rama' first head coach.

LAKE MARY - It appears Beth Corso has finally uncovered the secret to getting Seminole High's volleyball team to play the way it practices.

After a convincing victory over Kissimmee Osceola on Wednesday, the Lady Seminoles attacked their way to a 15-12, 13-15, 15-13 triumph over Lake Mary's Lady Rams in Seminole Athletic Conserence action Thursday night before 161 fans at Lake Mary High.

"We always work well together in practice," Seminole senior Cindy Benge said. "And now we're starting to transfer it to the games. That is something we have to be able to do game by Seminole improved to 3-4 overall and 2-4 in the SAC with its second win in a row. The Lady Tribe is at Orlando Oak Ridge Monday, goes to Orlando Bishop Moore Wednesday and ends a seven-match road trip Thursday at Lake Brantley.

ly awful," Lake Mary coach Cindy Henry said. "It was the complete opposite of Oviedo. The girls just went through the motions and if you do that, you can lose to anybody. You have to play 100 percent against everybody."

Adrian Hillsman's kill of a bad Lake Mary pass broke up a 6-6 tte in the opening game Thursday and Seminole went on to take a 10-6 lead behind the serving of Liz Long.

Marnie Frey and Brooke Taylor kept Lake Mary close as the Lady Rams came back within 13-12 but Kim Walsh's offspeed hit gave Seminole a side out and Benge went on to serve the last two points of the game. Long's spike on a set from Brown accounted for the 14th point and Benge closed out the game with an ace.

The serving of Karin King and Taylor enabled Lake Mary to jump out to a 9-0 lead in game two but Seminole came back to make it interesting with the net play of Hillsman leading the way. Seminole tied the score at 13-13 as Brown served three points, but Lake Mary got a side out and Frey served the last two points of the game to even the match. Valerie Smith's hit accounted for the 15th point.

Seminole had an 11-7 lead when Smith came on to serve six points in a row to give the Lady Rams a 13-11 advantage. Frey's spike and an ace serve by Smith highlighted the rally. A missed serve, however, gave Seminole a side out and Hillsman then served out the match.

Dallas Cowboys President Tex Schramm and Pittsburgh Steelers President Dan Rooney - the owners' key figures on the free agency issue - quit the talks after reaching an impasse with the union. The two executives, both members of the

"If this is the main and only issue that they're hinging their strike on, it could be a long strike," Schramm said of free agency.

Jack Donlan, executive director of the NFL Management Council, suggested talks could last as long as two months.

'We've got six to eight weeks of real hard bargaining left on a lot of issues, and I honestly believe that we could get there on those issues except for the issue of free agency," he said. 'We've got a lot of work ahead of us, but it doesn't mean the players can't be playing."

Jays Stretch Lead, But Lose Shortstop To Madlock's Block

the opener of an important four-game series with the Detroit Tigers, but lost Tony Fernandez in the process.

Toronto defeated second-place Detroit 4-3 Thursday night to take a 1 1/2-game lead over the Tigers in the American League East. However, their All-Star shortstop will miss the rest of the season after breaking the tip of his right elbow in the third

Fernandez was taken out by Bill Madlock, who was trying to break up a double play. Madlock hit Fernandez at second base with what the Blue Jays called a "roll block." Fernandez completed his throw to first late and landed on a wooden strip that borders the dirt surrounding the bag.

"He always played that way in the National League," Toronto hitting instructor Cito Gaston said. "But this time he went out of his way. I came in the clubhouse and saw it on the replay."

"I can't believe that." Detroit Manager Sparky Anderson said. "Common sense says you go out of your way - as long as you're not out of that area where you can stretch your body out and reach the base.

"Call him?" Madlock said when asked if he'd check on Fernandez' condition, "I'm not the Welcome Wagon.'

The Blue Jays came back from a 2-0 deficit in the third when Ernie Whitt's two-run single and Rance Mulliniks' RBI double keyed a four-run outburst.

Mike Flanagan, 6-7 scattered nine hits in 6 2-3 innings before turning the game over to David Wells. Tom Henke pitched the ninth for his 34th save.

Jack Morris, 18-10, was the loser in his 13th complete game of the season.

Despite the loss. Anderson is confident his team will at least achieve a split with Toronto.

"With Jimmy Key pitching (for Toronto) Friday it doesn't look good," Anderson said. "But that game doesn't mean much because I'm expecting to get out of here 2.2. I plan on getting them the last two. If we can catch a break, and take 'em three games."

Cards' Rally Wins Mets Fall Short

The National League East race may have been decided in a 20-minute span Thursday night. With St. Louis and New York simultaneously trailing at home in the ninth inning, the first-place Cardinals and secondplace Mets each rallied to load the bases. The Cardinals came away with a 3-2 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Mets fell 5-4 to the Montreal Expos.

That was a big turn of events in about 20 minutes," St. Louis Manager Whitey Herzog said. "The Mets were threatening and we were getting beat. But our Big Mac attack came through. It was another breath-taking adventure." Rookie Lance Johnson's field-er's choice scored Willie McGee to cap a two-run ninth and lift the Cardinals 3 1-2 games ahead of the Mets. The Expos remained four games out.

"It's better to be up 3 1-2 games than 1 1-2 games." Herzog said. "We've just got to keep it going."

At New York, Randy St. Claire. the third reliever of the ninth inning, held the Mets to just one run when he got Gary Carter to ground out to end the game.

"Losing our game was dis-heartening," said Tim Teufel, who had four hits and knocked in New York's run in the ninth. "Then when we get into the dressing room (and discovered St. Louis won) that score has a dramatic change. We can't lose much more and we can't split many more series."

After Teufel singled home Mookie Wilson with one out to bring New York within 5-4, Bob McClure struck out Keith Hernandez. He walked Darryl Strawberry on four pitches and St. Claire relieved, Kevin McReynolds walked to load the bases, but Carter grounded into a force at third.

Andres Galarraga's 13th home run, a mammoth shot which capped a three-run fifth, had given Montreal a 4-1 lead and was enough for Dennis Martinez to post his fourth straight victory over the Meta.

Martinez, 11-3 since his recall from the minors in June. allowed five hits over five innings. Rick Aguilers, who had won his previous seven starts dating to May 20, fell to 10-3.

At St. Louis, Dan Driessen opened the ninth with a ground single to right off Jeff Robinson. 8.9. After McGee singled off the glove of second baseman Jose Lind to move pinch runner Curt Ford to third. Jim Gott came on in relief.

Terry Pendleton then stroked a 3-1 pitch into left field for a double, driving home Ford and sending McGee to third.

United Press International

The UCLA Bruins must find a way to protect their quarterback if they are to end a five-year victory drought in

The 13th-rated Bruins were lackluster when the offensive line allowed 10 sacks last week in a 17-0 triumph over Fresno State. Saturday they host Arizona at the Rose Bowl.

"We'll make our moves on the practice field and try to get them to improve radically," said Bruins Coach Terry Donahue. "You can't have that kind of pressure on a quarterback an expect to be a decent team.

"We probably got as poor a performance by an offensive line as I've had in 12 years here," Donahue said. "That may be an exaggeration, but it gets the point across. If we don't make drastic improvement rapidly, we're not going to have the opportunity to win many games. It's vital that we do if we're to beat Arizona."

UCLA, 2-1, is 0-3-2 in its last five conference openers. The last victory was a 35-18 decision over the Wildcats in 1981.

Prep Swimmers Take First Big Plunge Saturday

By Mark Blythe Special to the Herald

Seminole County's swimming teams will take the first big plunge of the season Saturday in the annual Bishop Moore invitational at the Sharidan Aquatic Center in Longwood. Action begins at 8 a.m. Saturday with the preliminaries and the finals are to be held at 4 p.m.

The meet will feature a number of the state's top teams including Lyman High's boys, Lake Brantley's girls, 3A power Jacksonville Bolles, Winter Park and the new kid on the block, Orlando Dr. Phillips. Dr. Phillips became an instant awimming power when many of Orange County's top swimmers learned the first-year school practices at the Justus Aquatic Center.

Lyman coach Don Clark is downplaying the meet as much as possible waiting for his team to make its mark later in the year. "Right now we're going to work extremely hard," Clark said.

"We're not interested in how well we do right now. When the conference meet comes around we want to be ready to go." Clark will be without Nick Radkewich this week as he has left town for the national triathalon finals being held at Hilton Head South Carolina. "We still have a lot of strength in our boys team and the depth is coming with the hard work the team has put in," Clark said. "After the prelims we're coming back to lift weights. Right now we just want to get in shape and everyone is working like crazy to get that way."

The Greyhound squad, without Radkewich, will be led by seniors Chuck Reinighaus, Dave and Jim Bandy and Sam Rennard who will form the nucleus for Clark Saturday. Leading the way for the Lady Greyhounds will be Karen Long, Kelly Strayer and Cindy Winslow. "We're not looking for anything big this early." Clark said.

"We are only interested in results later in the season." Lake Brantley's girls, second in the state a year ago, figure to be just as strong with the return of the "Fabulous Four" -

Christy Bridgewater, Lisa Moon, Manda Davis and Kristen Lake Mary's boys will look to see how they stack up against the area competition. The Rams are being led by the trio of Jaime Bojanowski, Brad Bridgewater and Wes Simecek.

"Those three are swimming the strongest for us-right now," Ram coach Walt Morgan said.

Brad Bridgewater, a Lake Mary freshman, is the younger brother of Lake Brantley's Christy Bridgewater. Christy Bridgewater was granted a waiver two years ago so she could attend Lake Brantley.

"Right now Lyman is stronger than us one on one but I hope our depth will even our strength in the bigger meets," Morgan said. Leading the way for the Lady Ram squad will be Kelly Wise.

Emmitt Devastates Gould Mississippi State Next

GAINESVILLE (UPI) - Florida tailback Emmitt Smith hasn't just beaten out his competitors. he's devastated them.

The gifted freshman from Pensacola's Escambia High School broke a 57-year-old school rushing record last week with 224 yards against Alabama. On the brink of Saturday's Southeastern Conference matchup against Mississippi State. Smith clearly has taken charge of the position. Octavius Gould. who began the season as the No. I tailback, has dropped out of the football program and Wayne Williams is also distraught over his lack of playing time.

"Everyone wants to play," says Florida Coach Galen Hall. "It was not in our plans to run one player 39 times last week, but the game dictated it. That and the down and distances made us do what was best for the team."

An anticipated duel between Smith and Bulldog freshman David Fair will not materialize because of a season-ending knee injury to the Mississippi State tailback. The 15th-ranked Gators and Bulldogs, both 2-1, each need a victory to stay close to the powerhouses of the SEC. Mississippi State has dropped 10 straight decisions at Florida Field and Fair's injury robs the Bulldogs of their offensive catalyst.

going to have a super year and a heck of a career. We'll have to take up the slack on offense and do the best we can."

Fair was averaging 7.1 yards per carry and Felker will turn to Hank Phillips and Rodney Peters in the backfield. The Bulldog passing game has been erratic. with redshirt freshman Albert Williams splitting time with sophomore Mike Davis. Last week, Davis came off the bench and rallied Mississippi State past Louisiana Tech 14-13 with a 51-yard touchdown pass to Fred Hadley.

Despite posting a 16-10 triumph against Florida last year in Starkville, Mississippi State is a 20-point underdog. Led by a resurgent ground game, the Gators have rebounded from a season-opening 31-4 loss at Miami in impressive style.

T've learned that in the SEC, you can't take anyone lightly," says Smith, who rushed for 109 yards against Tulsa in a 52-0 victory, then broke Florida's rushing record last week in a 23-14 triumph against Alabama. "From what I understand, the Bulldogs have a defense that can really get after you."

Florida's Kerwin Bell, who has "Certainly, when you lose a thrown one touchdown pass and six interceptions through three games, completed just 10 of 24 passes against the Bulldogs last

Paper Matchup: Oviedo, DeLand Too Close To Call

By Scott Sander Herald Sports Writer

Tonight's Seminole Athletic Conference football game be-tween DeLand and host Oviedo figures to be a very even matchup on paper. Both teams like to run the football and both squads have defenses that are among the best in the SAC.

The Lions and the Bulldogs come in with perfect 2-0 records. DeLand has beaten Fort Piece Central (24-6) and Lake Howell (16-6) while Oviedo has handled Lake Brantley (28-21) and Orlando Dr. Phillips (14-0). Kickoff is slated for 8 at Oviedo High School. The clash will be the first-ever regular season meeting between the two schools.

Oviedo coach Jack Blanton said that this will undoubtedly be the toughest game so far for his team. "They (DeLand) are a power-oriented football team," Blanton said. "They have beaten two quality football teams, and I know that we will be in for a real DeLand coach Dave Hise said that he has a great deal of respect for Oviedo. "I think that they will be the best football team that we have faced," Hiss said. "They are much quicker than us, and I just hope that they don't embarrass us too badly in front of their fans.

"We have practiced until 9 p.m. Tuesday in an attampt to get ready for them." Hiss said. "But I don't know if it will be enough.

One thing that concerns Blanton is the DeLand defense. "They move around a lot. and you never know where they are going to be," Blanton said. "In our first two games, our blocking assignments were pretty much cut and dried, but with them moving around so much, I'm sure that we are going to have to make some adjustments during the game."

Melvin Livingston is the Bulldogs' best defender, grabbing two interceptions against Lake Howell. Doby Ingram, a 240-pound nose guard, anchors the defensive line.

The Lions haven't had much trouble moving the football in their first two games as they are averaging 21 points. "Our of- senior, has caught five passes for fense has looked pretty good so far.'' Ovledo offensive coordinator Ken Kroog said. "But DeLand definitely presents some problems. They are a very good-sized team and we are going to have to play at our absolute best in order to beat them.

The strength of the Oviedo offense lies in its offensive line. Tackle Andy Palmer, a 265-pound senior, has paved the way for running backs Andrew Thompson (119 yards), Preston Dames (93 yards), and Chad Duncan (90 yards). "I think that this offensive line has as much talent as the line in 1979 (the Lions won 12 games in 1979 and bowed out in the state semi-finals) did," Kroog said. "Now, all they have to do is get a little more cohesiveness to them."

Tackle Sam Hughes and guard Mike Lee have also played well for the Lions.

That Palmer kid is awesome," Hise said. "They are a decent sized team, and they are all disciplined.

Kroog said that he is hoping that Oviedo will be able to move the ball on the ground. "We have a lot of good running backs," Kroog said. "We have six kids that can all run well. and we'll me moving them in and out in order to keep them fresh."

Quarterback John Pettit has proven to be a clutch performer as the poised senior led an 80-yard march in 30 seconds to force an overtime with Lake Brantley. "I think that we are going to have to put it up against DeLand," Pettit, who is 7 for 15 for 109 yards and two touchdowns, said. "With their odd defense, I'm going to have to make a few reads at the line."

Hiss said that the Oviedo offense has him worried. "They can run the football as well as anybody," Hise said. "I don't know if our defense can stop them. They have a lot of different formations."

Pettit's primary target has been tight end Alan Greene. Greene, a strong and quick 80 yards and three touchdowns. While Oviedo's offense has sparkled at times so far, it has been their defense that has shined. Linebacker Willie Pauldo has played excellelent football as the tough junior has recorded 24 tackles so far.

"I think that we are going to be in for a rough night," Pauldo. who is sixth in the SAC tackling race, said. "They like to run the football. They run a quick sweep, and we need to have a team effort to shut them down."

Hiss said that he is in awe of the Lions' "Black Friday Defense." "They are so quick," Hiss said. "Hopefully we'll be able to move the ball a little but against them." h

Linebacker Pete Lingard (15 tackles) and safety Chad Duncan (18 tackles) have also looked sharp defensively. "They are a powerful offensive bunch," Kroog said. "Our defense will be in for a big test tonight."

Hiss said that his team has been sick. "We all have the flu and diarrhea," Hiss said. "I hope that Jack (Blanton) tells his kids not to get too close to ours."

Wary Scott, Greyhounds Test Eagles

By Scott Sander Herald Sports Writer

After an impressive 27-0 victos ry over Orlando Boone in the season opener. Lyman coach Bill Scott is anxious to see how his team will respond to a week off early in the season.

Sometimes it will help you. and other times it will hurt you." Scott said. "I'd sure like to have a week off later in the season. but we'll just have to see how we Lyman hosts Orlando Edgewater tonight at 8. The Eagles are 0-2 as they have lost to Tallahasse Lincoln (30-0) and Seminole (29-20). The Eagleh gave the Seminoles a big scare last week, as the 'Noles came from a 20-9 deficit to win.

'We had a few chances to win that football game." Edgewater coach Sam Weir said. "We had a fourth and goal, but they stopped us. That was the turning point of the game.

Edgewater has Scott very worried. "They looked very good in that game against Seminole on film." Scott said. "They have played two good football teams in a row and barely lost. They are a lot better than 0.2."

The game will feature solid running backs on both sides of the ball. Lyman is led by tailback Victor Farrier and fullback Kennis Morse, "I am very impressed with their running game." Weir said. "If we are going to have a chance at beating them, we are going to have to contain them on the ground." Farrier is nursing sore ribs, according to Scott.

Farrier ran for 75 yards and two touchdowns in the victory over Boone. Morse, just a sophomore, added 46 yards.

Center Shawn Martinson and tackle John Spolski lead the way for the runners. Matt Lamb and Johnny Luce are the 'Hounds' top receivers.

Edgewater is led by quarterback Chip Hummel and running back Leroy Marton. "They can run the football as well as anybody," Scott said. "They run the wing-T, and it is very tough to defense.

Weir said that he doesn't expect it to be easy to move the ball against the Greyhounds. "They have a good-sized group of kids," Weir said. "And they all come at you."

The Lyman defense features linebackers John Scherpf, Mike Whitaker, cornerback Luce, and safety Scott Radcittl. "We looked good defensively in our first game," Scott said. "We are going to have play well against them because they have a potent offensive attack.

"They run the option well," Scott continued. "And they can also throw the ball when they need to."

The Edgewater defense features linebackers Luther Walls and James Jones. "We are going to try to mix things up." Scott said. "They are a quick team, and they are on you in a hurry." Defensive backs Eddie Frazier and John McKissock are also two of Edgewater's top Scott said that if his ground game in not working, he won't hesitate to throw the ball. "I have got confidece in our quarterbacks," Scott said.

Lyman quarterbacks Steve Jerry and Mike McNamee will be splitting the signal-calling duties according to Scott. McNamee is 3 for 8 for 38 yards and one TD pass while Jerry is 3 for 5 for 37

"This, is a big test for us." Scott said. "After this game we start to get into the meat of our schedule with all of the conference and district games. We'd sure like to be 2-0 going into those games."

Early Rerun: Brantley, Boone Seek Win Column

By Scott Sander Herald Sports Writer

Last season, the Lake Brantley Patriots and the Boone Braves came into the final game of the season with identical 0-9 records. Fans and critics billed the game as "The Basement Bowl." The Patriots prevailed, 33-14, en route to their second consecutive 1-9 season.

This year, the Braves and Pats find themselves in a similar situation, only seven weeks earlier. Brantley is coming into tonight's non-conference, nondistrict, game against Boone with an 0-2 record as the Pats have lost to Oviedo and Lake Mary. Boone is also 0-2 as it has dropped decisions to Lyman and Orlando Evans. Kickoff is slated for 8 at Lake Brantley's Tom Storey Field.

Brantley coach Fred Almon and Boone coach Chris Bounnell both said that although the two clubs are winless, they still expect an exciting game. They (Boone) always give us fits," Almon said. "They actually played pretty well against us last season.

"The kids are kind of down right now," Almon continued. "We expected to be 2-0 right now, and I still feel that we are better than Ovledo and Lake Mary. We are going to have to go out and prove ourselves tonight."

Bounnell, who is in his second season at Boone, said that he would love for his first victory after 12 defeats come against the Patriots, but realizes that it won't be an easy task. "We didn't play well in our first two games." Bounnell said. "It is always tough to play at Lake Brantley. I'm just hoping that our kids give a good effort.'

Bounnell said that this is a rebuilding year for the Braves as he has only four varsity letterman returning. "We have virtually no experience," Bounnell said. 'We have been playing sophomores and juniors, and we are putting a new offense in. It is going to take some time before we're where I'd like to see us."

Brantley has played better that its 0-2 record indicates. The Patriots all but had their opening game won only to lose to Oviedo in double overtime. Brantley handed Lake Mary a victory as the Rams took advantage of eight Brantley turn-

"This is a huge game for us," Almon said. "Last week our offense collapsed. If we are to win tonight, we are going to have to get an all-around solid effort."

Almon said that he thinks that the Braves are also better than their record. "They look like a pretty decent football team on film," he said. "They have a good quarterback (Robert Casper), and they will stick you on defense." Casper is the main ingredient in the Boone offense, according to Bounnell. "If we have a leader, it is Robert," Bounnell said. "We are trying to put the veer in, and Robert has done a pretty good job so

Bounnell said the offense in the strength of the team. "In the past, it has been our defense that has been better,"

Bounnell said. "But this season, I'd say that our offense is better." The Patriot offense features running back Mark Sepe. Sepe, a rugged fullback.

has picked up 160 yards and a touchdown. Quarterback Scott Meredith is also a weapon as the junior has 197 yards and two touchdowns. The Patriots will be without wide receiver Nigel "Hands" Hinds. Hinds will miss three weeks with a sore shoulder. 'Not having him (Hinds) will definitely hurt them." Bounnell said about the county's leading receiver last year. Their wishbone is tough, and it won't be easy to shut down."

We need to win right now." Bounnell added. "We can't afford another winless season, and we need to pick up a victory

Almon said that he feels it is time for his club to emerge. "I still feel that we have a chance in he conference and the district with everybody being so close this season," Almon said. "If we get on a roll. I think that we could be hard to

Along with Blake, Seminole has a potent running back with senior Curtis Rudolph and Junior Jerod Jones. Both have shared the ball carrying duties and have each run for 133 yards.

Jones, who should command most of the senior attention next year, has been a real weapon. He has run for a touchdown, caught a TD pass and returned a punt 80 yards for another score. Many consider him the finest Seminole running back since Tim Raines. which was over 10 years ago.

Defensively for the Noles, Lewis, middle linebacker Steve Warren and defensive back Leonard Lucas are all topnotch performers. Lewis is a blue-chip prospect while Warren is probably te quickest player on both teams. Lucas, who hasn't received the attention of the others, will have the toughest job tonight. He must shadow Richards, probably the best all-around performer on the

"They didn't throw much to Sheldon last year, but he has great hands." Lucas said. "I'm just going to stay with him and try to outjump him for the ball."

Richards caught seven balls the first game from junior QB Carlos Hartsfield. A damaged ligament in the rib area harnessed him in loss to Winter Park. Nelson said he's ready to go tonight, tough.

Seminole, which returns eight defenders from last year, has quality players in "Nasty Nick" Castello, Ron Blake and Bernard Burke. Upfront, ends Ardine Daniels and Paul Newell along with junior Ralph Hardy apply the pressure.

Along with Richards, the Tribe must slow down Curry who is the best running back since Raines. Curry rushed for over 1,000 yards his sophomore year and just missed a year ago. He leads the county with 219 yards this year.

Miller and Junior Ray Williams complement Curry. Williams, who has excellent moves, will take over the workload next

Pampas Grass Striking Addition To Landscape

Friday, Sept. 25, 1987-11A

Have you noticed large clumps of a grass-like ornamental with silver white plumes in your neighborhood or town? What you are seeing is pampas grass, a perennial grass native to South America. There are many ornamental forms of pumpas grass. Some have rose or pink plumes and others vary in height from 4-10 feet.

Pampas grass can be a very attractive and functional plant when used correctly in the landscape. It can be used as a specimen or accent in an isolated location in large towns. Because it grows very rapidly into a massive plant, pampas grass is an excellent screening plant to camouflage things like electric or irrigation boxes.

Unfortunately, pampas gram is too often used in the landscape as a foundation plant. Usually, it is purchased as a small plant in a container from the nursery and planted very close to the home. It looks great the first year, but after several years it triples in size and it becomes difficult to see the house for the pampas grass.

In wi cting sites for pampas grass you should also keep in mind the saw-like edges of the leaves which are very sharp and can be a danger to passers-by who come in contact with them. It is not a plant for heavy traffic areas or where children play.

Pampas grass should be planted where it will receive full sunlight most of the day. In shady areas, it will grow very slowly and may not produce blooms. It can also tolerate salt and hence its use along coastlines.

The plume-like flowers are different in male and female plants. The female plant produces plumes that are broad and full due to silky hairs that cover the tiny flowers. The male plumes appear: narrow and thin because of the absence of hair on the flowers. However, not everyone can see the difference between the male and female flowers unless you look closely.

The flowers of pampas grass are highly prized for use as indoor decorations. When using them for this purpose, the plumes should be cut as soon as they fully emerge. They can be used in dried arrangements immediately after harvest or they can be dried by hanging them upside down and used later. The mature blooms will shed their fluffy flowers and this can create a real mess indoors. It can be prevented by spraying the plumes with hairspray.

Once pampas grass is established, it is practically trouble free. There are few insects and diseases that attack it. It will grow in most soils and responds favorably to frequent fertilization. To obtain good growth and plume production. fertilize with 6-6-6 at the rate of 2 pounds per 100 square feet four times per year.

In very harsh winters, the leaves can be killed by freezing temperatures but new leaves will arise from the rhizomes below the ground in the spring. Before new growth begins in spring, prune away brown leaves and dead material that accumulate at the base. It is a good idea to wear long sleeves, pants and gloves and to prune slowly when trimming pampas grass so you won't get cut.

The striking feather-like plumes combined with the large graceful clumps of foliage make pampas grass useful as an accent addition to most

TEMPTED IN UTAH

DEAR ABBY: Fifteen years ago I had a whirlwind romance with a young man from South America. I married him, only to find out a month later that he was in the United States illegally and was only interested in obtaining residency by marrying a U.S. citizen. I was hurt, packed my things and left him. Shortly after that, he went to his country's embassy. They put him on a cargo plane and sent

The problem is, we were never divorced because I was never able to get in touch with him after he left this country. After several months of trying to locate him, I gave up.

Seven years ago, I met a truly wonderful man who wanted to cipients for the Jan. 15, 1988 marry me. 1 said yes, and we were married and now have three children. I finally told him ford, and Rufus C. Brooks. I had never been divorced from my South American husband.

We both want to correct this, but my husband is in the military and I'm afraid it might hurt his military career should this come out.

To whom should we go to talk confidentially, and what are the consequences involved for my husband, me and our children? There is no way of getting in touch with my "ex." He disappeared from the face of the earth. Please help me.

WORRIED IN TEXAS

DEAR WORRIED: Talk to a lawyer. Since your marriage to the South American was based on fraud, it could be considered invalid and, therefore, easily annulled, in which case a divorce would not be necessary.

DEAR ABBY: I am a going out with a guy who will be 19 very soon. I've been dating him for over a year, and in all that time he has never brought up the subject of sex. I think we have a good relationship.

On our last date, he said that he has a really nice night planned for his birthday and he wants me to stay the night. He told me that he would take care of the protection so I wouldn't have to worry.

I don't know if I am ready for that kind of relationship, but I'm afraid I will lose him if I don't make love to him. I really love

DEAR ABBY: "Mrs. Couch Potato" complains because her husband stays up half the night watching reruns and old movies on TV - then he comes to bed at 2 or 3 a.m. wanting to be "romantic." You suggested that she talk it over with him while they're both wide awake.

It won't work. Talk is cheap. She needs action. I know a woman whose husband watches everything on TV continuously, including commercials. They have no time for romance at all. She said that although her husband loves CBS' "60 Minutes" more than sex, he detests the silly comments by Andy Rooney at the end of the program. So they have agreed to make love every Sunday during the last 30 seconds with Andy Rooney.

Stock Prices Mixed

NEW YORK (UP!) — Prices opened mixed today in light trading of New York Stock Exchange

The Dow Jones industrial average, which fell 19.25 Thursday, was down 0.32 to 2568.10 shortly after the market opened.

Advances led declines 454-402 among the 1.269 issues crossing the New York Stock Exchange tape.

Early turnover amounted to about 9,388,000

Stock prices closed lower Thursday as profit-taking and concerns over a weaker dollar and lower bond prices brought the market's two-day runup to an abrupt halt.

The market had been steady throughout most of the day with the Dow industrials trading in a narrow range on both sides of its previous close.

Ricky Harrington, a technical analyst with Interstate Securities Corp. Charlotte, N.C., said investors should not be fooled by the nearly 93-point advance in the Dow on Tuesday and Wednesday.

"This market, despite the reversal, is very sensitive to interests rates, and I don't think the reversal on the upside precludes further weak-ness in the month of October," Harrington said.

premises. The owner at the time of the burgiary had assumed ownership of the business from the people Petsos sold it to and. thus, was making mortgage payments to Petsos.

Petsos was charged with burglary, but the jury returned the lesser verdict after more than three hours of deliberation.

Petsos reaffrimed his position Thursday and said the business, Pic-A-Dell, filed for bankruptcy within 90 days of the incident and that the business at the time the incident was behind in payments to him.

"My faith in the justice system has been greatly shaken." Petsos attorney, Jack Bridges, and said mid.

He said he was upset with what he called unsubstantlated comments made by the state's prosecutor to the press regarding whether Petsos should serve some time in jail and whether he should or should not be an elected officer.

"What upacts me about the system even more is when a Juror comes forward and states that ethnic and prejudicial remarks were made by a member of the jury and further inqury was not made to ensure a fair trial was held."

Petsos was referring to an incident shorty after the verdict was rendered.

A juror called Petsos and his

there was another juror who had made prejudical remarks regarding Petsos' Greek heritage.

A subsequent hearing revealed that the remark was apparently made after the verdict had been reached, although the verdict had not been announced. Cross denied Petaos' motion for a new trial on that basis. He also denied a new trial on the basis of one juror saying some of them were browbeaten into deciding verdict would be inproper.

'It is also hard to believe that information I feel is pertinent to the case was withheld from the information I feel is pertinent to jury." said Peisos referring to the business' reported bankruptey.

the board that she would attend Thursday's meeting, and action on her case was postponed nearly an hour from when it was scheduled, but she didn't ap-

The board then voted to impose the fine, and to file a lien on the property. The lien allows the county to file for foreclosure on the Higgins property in six months.

The board also voted to fine John and Margaret Batchelor of 1068 Semoran Blvd., Casselberry, $25 per day for operating a business wihout obtaining an occupational Gary Franz of the county licensing department told the board that the Batchelors operate a fitness salon but have not obtained an occupational license despite being contacted twice by telephone and asked to come to the county services building to buy a license.

The board voted to impose the $25 per day fine and ordered the couple to obtain a license by Oct. 8. It also ordered the Batchelors to appear at the board's next meeting Oct. 22 if the license is not obtained, and explain why. If a license has not been obtained by Oct. 8, the board will consider at its Oct. 22 meeting either imposing the fine, or ordering it Increased.

A $100 per week fine previously imposed against Laverne Cox. 3581 Marquette Ave., Sanford, was increased to $50 per week after the board debated whether to increase the fine, or Impose the $2,604 already owed in fines and place a lien on her property.

Mrs. Cox was first cited in January, 1986 for placing a mobile home on agriculturally zoned property without board of adjustment approval. Her asccumulated fine, at $100 a week, amounts to $2,600. Board member J.R. Hattaway noted that Mrs. Cox had appeared before the board several times with plans for complying with the code, but had never carried through on any.

said he didn't think increasing the fine would have any effect in accomplishing the board's goal—gaining compliance with the county code. He argued for imposing the present fine and placing a lien on the property. Board Member Hugh Harling argued for increasing the fine slightly. "I don't think this mobile home is threatening the life or health of anyone, and is not even aesthetically bothering anyone. I don't think it is reasonable to impose the kind of stress on this woman that placing a lien on her property and imposing a $2,600 fine would do." He proposed more negotiating to resolve the issue.

Jacobson said she was tired of excuses given for not complying and suggested a higher fine, or a lien could induce Mrs. Cox to at least inform the board of what she was doing to comply with the ordinance.

The board compromised by voting to increase the fine to $250 a week and instructing Lonnie Groot, assistant county attorney, to send Mrs. Cox a letter telling her that the board would consider imposting the fine and filing a lien on her property at its next meeting if no steps have been taken to comply with the law.

$10,500 was imposed on Geraldine Williams, Route 1. Box 179-C. Sanford, and a lien was filed against her property for placing a mobile home on her property without first obtaining a special exception to the zoning to permit it. Williams was first cited for the violation in November, 1985 and Dwyer told the board the mobile home was still there, and a house was being built on the property. The building is nearly completed, but was red-tagged by the building inspector because of the pending violation of the mobile home, and work on the building was order halted, Dwyer sald.

Dwyer said his department had a lot of difficulty contacting Mrs. Cox to inform her of Thursday's meeting. "We can never find her at home, and if we asked the people working on the house they always said they didn't know where she was or when she would return. We finally served her notice of the meeting by fidning out she drives a school bus, and catching her at the beginning of her route," he

However, after being served noticd to appear at Thursday's meeting, she didn't show up.

Police Chief Frank Ross said the description of the prowler matched a drawing of a childrape suspect prepared by an artist from Walt Disney World and circulated throughout the community.

After the area was cordoned off, officers discovered an abandoned car reported stolen in Longwood.

A tracking dog and a search helicopter were brought in from the Orange County Sheriff's Office and used for about three hours. Florida Highway Patrol troopers and deputies from Orange and Osceola counties also aided in the search. Jewell said. Foot patrols continued until dawn, and officers conducted door-to-door interviews until about 10 a.m. to make certain all residents were unharmed and had no information on the auspeet.

According to Kissimmee Investigators, an armed man followed into her home a 12-year-old girl who was outside to get the family cat about 1 a.m. on Sept. 11. The man forced the child and her 16-year-old sister to a nearby construction site, bound them with pieces of their clothes and raped them.

The girls had been up late watching television, and their parents slept through the abduction.

Early the next day about 15 blocks away, an armed man cut through a back porch screen and grabbed two sisters, 12 and 13, from their bedroom as their mother slept. They were taken to an empty house, raped and tied with their clothes.

Jewell said police have several leads but no suspects.

explaining by products. Brodeur said that organisms contained in potable drinking water may sometimes react with chemicals (specifically chlorine) used to disinfect it before public use.

Brodeur said the county is "blessed" by an extremly good water supply from a ground supply that contains no suspended materials or organisms.
"You can almost literally take the water out of the ground and pump it straight to the customers," he said.

Many of the Items Congress wants tested for in potable water are not found in this srea's indicated that many of those items that can be found are of are absolutely harmless to humans.

While the Environmental Protection agency's goal under the new legislation is for companies to provide drinking water with "zero contaminants". Brodeur said the only problem is there's only about 20 gallons of pure water in the world. "And most of that's in a laboratory somewhere," he said.

According to Brodeur, the new legislation now makes water companies responsible for the quality of the drinking water it distributes to the point where consumers take it out of the tap. Before the law was passed those companies only had to ensure water quality at the point where It was treated at the plant.

Brodeur said this means utilities must now assume full responsibility for what happens to the water from the time it's pumped from the plant, travels through the pipes and reaches the water customer. He told the council that many things can happen to water as it moves through a utility's water lines. Torcaso said Winter Springs is starting a program to inspect in water pipes with a television Brodeur made a suggestion to the council that each mayor should inform their residents to let some water run out of the tap before putting the glass up to it. He said doing that would help flush out any bacteria that may have developed in the water while sitting in the pipes. "Water is not going to improve with age," he said.

When the law is about to go supply. Brodeur said. He said the media will also give the issue a lot of attention both locally and nationally.

"Cities will need to face the problem squarely." Brodeur said of the future.

He added that involving public participation in the process of meeting the law's requirements will help people towards develop-ing a better understanding of what's involved in supplying residents with water, and the restrictions regulations involved.

Fess diaagreed with Brodeur's idea that people will be happy to help pay for better water. Fess said Lake Mary citizens just decided they didn't want a water utility tax that was partly helping to pay off the city's water bond tique.

"They (some Lake Mary residental said: No! We're not paying for the future," Fess said. Another problem Brodeur Springa City Hall.

associated with the media attention focused on the new law is scare tactics being used in advertising and selling of dif-ferent devices and supplies to improve water quality. Brodeur showed the council an advitisement he received in his home mail that claimed it found such items as raw sewage. fertilizer, pesticides, lead, mercury, sulfates and detergents in the water supply of the "greater Orlando area" recently.

Brodeur said except for the raw sewage, he could find traces of every one of the items listed in the advertisement in water supplies almost anywhere: "They won't be found in local water in levels high enough to harm anyone" he said." this is a scare tactic I think."

Brodeur said he had never even seen raw sewage, and he was an environmental engineer. "I don't even know how you would characterize it iraw sewage)," he said.

Brodeur said the AWWA is a non-profit organization out of Denver made up of people across the country working in the water utilities field. He said the association has about 2,000 members in the Seminole County area. "We provide such services as education materials (mostly for utility plant operators), public relations and lobbying services," Brodeur anid. Fess said he plans to continue to try to schedule informative presentations, such as the one made by Brodeur at all council meetings. "I want this council to be a learning experience for all the mayors involved in it." Fess

It will make for an intensely interesting evening for Reynolds, Epps and the capacity crowd expected tonight. Both principals feel tonight's showdown will pack the excite of the past four and maybe more.

"I know one team is going to score a lot of points." Epps said. "I'm not going to say anything (Lake Mary coach) Harry Nelson can put up in his lockerroom, but last year was one of the most exciting games in a long time. I think this one will be wide open. There are a lot of skillful players on the field."

Reynolds, who admits to still being one-part Seminole, agreed. "I think it's going to be a great game," he said. "Seminole's got a great team and I honest to goodness hope they go nine and one. But that one I want us to win."

Although Lake Mary probably had the better teams the first four years, both principals see Seminole as the favorite tonight. The Dunkel Index, a rating system based on margin of victory and strength of opponent, agrees: posting Seminole as a five-point favorite.

"We haven't ever been favored before and I don't know if being favored means anything." Epps said. "The kids get so fired up anything can happen. Lake Mary has a quality team. Friday night's game will tell a lot about our team."

Reynolds said he is hoping for a close game. 'I know both teams will play their hearts out," he said. "There won't be any holding back. I hope it's nip and tuck down to the end and gives the fans a good show."

Story And Photos By Susan Lodan Horald Staff Writer

A half-doll is certainly better than none and a lot more valuable, too. Half-dolls are beautiful, delicate, little works of art that in the early 20th century were used to dress up pincushions, powder boxes, whiskbrooms, lamps and other functional items which were part of the scene in the boudoir.

These small porcelain or bisque figures typically were created only in the image of the upper portion of a female body, with the base being composed of a cushion, a brush or some other functional item made to resemble a skirt.

The bottoms of the half-doll bodies are fitted with four holes, which were used to sew them to their costume. The bottoms of the ceramic dolls are also usually stamped with the name of the country in which they were made and some are numbered.

Intact, or with the skirt severely damaged or even missing, these little dolls made by German and Japanese craftsmen before World War II are prized for their beauty.

The ceramic portion of half-dolls may be just over an inch tall, while some larger ones are about four inches tall. They have hand-painted, glazed

They have hand-painted, glazed ceramic features and may be blondes, brunettes or redheads. "I've had some half-dolls that were so pretty that men would just stop and stare at them," said collector Dottle Humphreys. But the main collectors of these little beauties are women. They choose the styles they want to collect based on the appearance of the face, and the coloring or costuming of the doll. Some collect any and all half-dolls, but others seek out specific types of dolls. Rarify as well as the positioning of the arms and general peer and expression also play a role in the desirability of a half-doll, Humphreys said.

There are a handful of distinct styles of these dolls. Some appear to be 18th-century maidens that could have been in the court of Marie Antoinette before she lost her head to French revolutionaries in 1793.
Others are dark-haired Spanish dancers with combs in their hair or bleeds Dutch maids wearing traditional white caps.

And there are the flappers, which echo the daring style of the 1920s' young American woman. Whatever the era they represent, half-dolls are the image of youth and sensual beauty of their time. Some even have bare breasts exposed.

Many half-dolls that had a pincushion base also had perfect porcelain legs, which extended out from the "skirt!" A pair of those legs alone, today, are valued at at least $20 for a small set, which are about three inches long, up to about $50 for a five-inch pair.

Humphreys said.

...Beauty

Continued from page 1 Half-dolls range in price from about $30 to hundreds of dollars. They don't have to be perfect. Even half-dolls with tiny chips can retain significant value, unlike many collectibles that lose value with damage, Humphreys said.

It also doesn't seem to matter to the half-doll collector if the doils' skirts are damaged or missing. In fact, some prefer the cleaner look of the ceramic half-figure alone without a raggedy, discolored dress.

Others like to redress their half dolls. Humphreys said that's what she did with her first. Although she's not a seamstress, Humphreys said she stayed up until 1 a.m. working on her recreation of the doll's costume and the next day, sold the doll for $100, a considerable profit.

The half-dolls made by German artists are more perfect creations than those made by the Japanese. The Japanese seem to have not quite grasped the concept of the Western face, so some of their half-dolls lack a bif odd. Also, the Japanese molds that were used to make the dolls were less detailed than those used by the Germans, Humphreys said. The German dolls generally exceed Japanese dolls on both the beauty and value scales.

"I like them because they are so delicate and pretty," Humphreys said of her half-dolls. "They're good to give as gifts to young girls. It gets them interested in collecting something that is never going to lose its value."

Humphreys said she prefers the dolls with a matte bisque finish to the shiny-surfaced porcelain half-dolls. The bisque dolls, she said, have a more realistic look.

"They're so beautiful and are all so perfect," she said.

And just like the original owners of her collection of half-dolls, Humphreys said she uses them to add a feminine touch to her bedroom.

Some are grouped according to the color or style of their costuming.

Alone or in groups, even after all these years, these little bits of beauty catch the eyes and the dollars of collectors.

Cosby Sums Up Success

By Joan Hansuer UPI Feature Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) - The young street hustler, working against the rush hour traffic on New York's Sixth Avenue. tried to sell a package of wrenches to the passenger in the front seat of a chauffeured town car.

When he recognized the man smoking the big cigar as Bill Cosby, he apologetically backed off.

"Naw, that's all right. How are ya?" Cosby asked.

"Trying to make it," the street kid said with a shy grin.

"I see it," Cosby said with a warm smile. "And good luck lo you.'

The kid moved on and Cosby said, "Did you see his arms? From the needles. Look at his arms, how he's ruined his veins."

Cosby fans on the street and in cars smiled, waved, approached for autographs, as his car made its way uptown after an interview. They didn't just admire Cosby - they liked him. And he returned their courtesy and warmth.

The secret of his success, he says, is sharing - Cosby zealously guards his private life but at the same time shares it.

He shares it with 63 million television viewers who watch NBC's "The Cosby Show," about an affluent black family with loving parents and five children - four girls and a boy. Cosby, 50, has been married for 23 years to his wife, Camille, 43. They have five children - four girls and a boy.

He shares more of his family life through his book, "Fatherhood," which sold 2.6 million hardcover and 2.5 million in paperback. His new volume, "Time Flies," about the view from age 50, has a first printing of 1.75 million.

"Do you like the line about. 'Grey hair is God's graffiti." he asked with the pride of a new author.

He has always shared his life with his concert audiences, and one of his performances also on the agonies of middle age - has been released as a video, "49."

A recent magazine article said all these projects will earn Cosby $84 million for 1986-87. That includes his TV commercials for Jello, E.F. Hutton, Coca Cola and Kodak.

He says the figure is wrong. 'My wife has been tearing up mattresses and everything looking for that money said with a slow smile. "And the IRS wants to know where it is. They have given us a couple of days to find it." Why did he let the figure go unchallenged?

"You either accept what going to be on tonight. Somethey say or you tell them what done, and give times I tape it.

them have it," he said.

As for the $57 million the article said he will gross in 1987, making him America's highest-paid entertainer. Cosby said:

"When you think about it, hey, you're a rich man - but I'm not as big as an industrialist. You know, I was on the cover of Time magazine, but on the cover of Newsweck is Donald Trump. There I am. Trumped again. Why, I'm not worth as much as even one of his buildings. He wouldn't even want to have a $57 million building.

"As for the $84 million, I don't know where the rest of that money is. Camille and I have to look for it."

For Cosby, living well may be the best revenge for a childhood in Philadelphia housing projects.

He has houses in New York. Philadelphia, Los Angeles and hts home base is a 265-acre estate near Amherst. Mass. He also owns 22 cars including two Rolls-Royces and a 1937 Aston Martin, an impressive collection of black American art, antique furniture, a vintage wine cellar that he offers friends - he does not drink and a jet airplane.

The secret of his impressive success, he insists, is sharing.

"Sharing, that's what it is all about," Cosby said, leaning back in a wooden chair at the Cafe Figaro, a Greenwich Village coffee house around the corner from his first real job as an entertainer.

"It's a matter of Bill Cosby saying. I have something to share with you.

"That's why the show is well-liked, that's why '49' is liked, that's why 'Fatherhood' was liked. Because when you were reading it, it wasn't a guy who was telling you, but he is sharing something with you."

He believes another major contribution to his success was his education - he was a high school dropout who eventually went to college and then in 1977 earned an unconventional doctorate in education from the University of Massachusetts at Amherst.

He is sensitive to criticism of the show, of which he is justly proud.

"What I try to do with the show is not use comedy to the point of conflict on purpose to make people laugh." he said. "You take out cruelty for no reason, you have people apologize for being naughty or bad to each other.

Some people will misread this and say, those people are too perfect. That fsn't what we're doing. We're not there to set up a perfect family because we want to show off. We want to show people perhaps what should be done, what can be done, and give them

Ginger Rogers Returns To TV

UPI TV Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) - Her first role was a walk-on one-liner in a 1931 movie. She sauntered across the acreen, rolled her big blue eyes and drawled, 'Cigarette me, big boy.'

That's all she said, and it was enough to launch a 40year career that teamed her with some of the greatest screen legends in Hollywood.

Her name is Virginia Katherine McMath, but hardly anybody knows her as that. Thanks to a baby cousin who couldn't pronounce "Virginia." she adopted a stage name. Ginger Rogers.

Rogers starred in more than 70 movies, 10 of them with her "favorite dancing partner," Fred Astaire. Together, they were the most graceful pair of toe-tappers the big screen has ever seen.

And now Rogers returns, at age 76, to co-star in an ABC television series, Arthur Hailey's "Hotel." (Oct. 3 episode, 10-11 p.m., WFTV-Channel 9).

Does she still dance? "Oh, interview from her office in California. "Whenever I get the chance. But it's very hard to find a partner who doesn't want to throw you up in the air. I don't agree with that kind of partner. I like a partner who loves the beat, who knows how to keep the rhythm:41

Will she dance in the TV show? "No," she said. "I play a psychic. I've never played a psychic before."

For Rogers, it is her first dramatic role in television in years. She doesn't know how long it's been. The offers keep coming, but they all want her to play the same thing - an aging actress.

"One of the problems is they always want me to play an actress. I'm so sick of it. I'd do anything else."

In the season premiere episode airing Oct. 3 (10-11 p.m. EDT), Rogers playsNatalie Trent, an unusual psychic who makes contact with the dead wife of a grieving widower and guest at the glittery St. Gregory Hotel in San Francisco.

"Usually, in the scripts I'm offered, there's something I just wouldn't want to get involved in," Rogers said. "I've tried very hard to be very selective. I don't believe in psychics and the only reason I'm playing one is that she's a phony psychic. That's why I took it."

As for her return to television. Rogers said it was exciting, but, "it's the same as being on film. There's no difference. I love acting and I love whatever my theatrical business calls for me to do, so I was perfectly at home."

fronically, the walk-on one-line part in which she beckoned a boy for a cigarette not only got her hooked on acting, but also on cigarettes.

"The director had me smoking in one scene and it caught me," she said. "I was smoking for about 10 months. Then I realized when I went out with my gentlemen friends they Your hair smells like you've been in a saloon.' Well, I said that's one of the places I never go. I thought I must get rid of cigarettes.

She has been careful about her health ever since, and gets plenty of exercise playing tennia and badminton. She is also an accomplished skeet shooter.

"I went on a cruise sometime back and my secretary said, 'Come on. Let's go up on young man in charge said. 'Let me show you what to do.' I thanked him and then shot the bird right out of the sky. He said, 'My, you take direction well."

Rogers watches lots of television, including "Hotel," and believes co-star Connie Sellecca is "stunning, photoraphically, one of the most beautiful girls I've ever seen on screen. I told her that.'

She also checks out her old movies whenever they pop up on TV.

"People call me and say do you know such and such is

Star Trek: A New Star Is Born

By Mark Schwed UPI TV Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) - Capt. Kirk and Mr. Spock are dead. It is the 24th century — Stardate 41254.7 - and the new master of the redesigned U.S.S. Enterprise, Capt. Jean-Luc Picard, faces his greatest challenge.

The 1.012 crewmembers have been captured by a highly-advanced alien civilization and put on trial by a judge known as "Q" for the col-lective crimes of the human race. Guilty or innocent?

Beam me up. Scotty. "Star Trek" is reborn and the future

"Star Trek: The Next Generation" warps into the picture with a two-hour premiere on more than 200 television stations across the country beginning the week of Sept. 28 check local listings for station in your area: most stations debuting the show Oct. 3 and

The new 24-show series revives one of the most legendary and enduring television success stories of all time, "Star Trek." Since being canceled by NBC after a three-year run ending in 1969. "Star Trek" has generated more than $500 million for Paramount and sparked a feverish cult following that grows every day.

Gone is the old crystal-powered U.S.S. Enterprise. replaced by the fifth generation Galaxy Class starship constructed at Utopia Planitia, Fleet Yards, Mars. The new Enterprise is twice as long with eight times the interior space.

Perhaps the biggest change on Enterprise is that families are now aboard. Because the mission to explore new worlds was expanded from five years to 50 years, children and spouses were allowed on the voyage. In the 24th century, it's good to know that people still need people.

Thus the Enterprise must be more than a warship and peacekeeper and explorer. It now boasts a shopping mail, schools and special play areas - holodecks - that can be transformed into ski slopes or ocean waves or used for mid-air low gravity games. In addition to the redesigned ship, state-of-the-art special effects will be provided by George Lucas's Oscar and Emmy winning Industrial Light and Magic, which did the "Star Wars" and "Star Trek" feature films.

If the Enterprise as party After nearly 200 ship shocks true Trekkles the name adopted by members of more than 450 fan clubs across the nation - then production of robots for they'll be even more surprised at what's happened to the command crew.

The familiar faces are gone. Capt. James T. Kirk. Mr. Spock, Dr. Leonard "Bones" McCoy, Scotty, Sulu, Lt. Uhura, and Chekov are dead. The uniforms, including those sexist mini-skirts worn by the women, are replaced by unleex jump suits with black boots. Even the mission has been revised from "to boldly go where no man has gone before" to "to boldly go where no one has gone before.

The war-mongering Klingons, the arch-enemies of Capt. Kirk's Starfleet Federation, are now allies and some work aboard the Enterprise, but they don't like the fact that women and children are aboard. There are no pointyeared green-blooded half-breed Vulcans on the command crew, but their are other half-breeds and aliens, even a green one, and one manmachine.

Some things don't change. Capt. Picard, played by British stage and screen star Patrick Stewart, is absolutely rigid about the "prime directive" protecting his starship and crew. He is a passionate, yet remote man who, unlike Kirk, delegates much of the authority to his first officer. Commander William "Number One" Riker (Jonathan Frakes).

LeVar ("Roots") Burton plays blind Lt. "J.G." Geordi La Forge, a hotshot starship pilot who "sees" by the use of a prosthetic visor-like device worn over his eyes. Denise Cosby plays Rambo-like Lt. Tasha Yar, the ship's security chief who comes from a failed colony, a brutal ghetto planet.

"We still use phasers but they are different," says Cosby. "And I may at this time be carrying Data's child."

Lt. Commander Data (Brent Spiner) is a walking computer - an android with gold skin and green eyes possessing superior strength and a phenomenal memory.

Gates McFadden is chief medical officer Dr. Beverly Crusher and Marina Sirtis is the screne Deanna Trol, the half-human half-Betazoid Starfleet counselor who possesses a special talent.

"I am an Empath, which means I can read feelings," said Sirtis. "I am an expert on other life forms, philosophies and religions."

That leaves the whiz kid. Wil Wheaton plays Wesley "Wes" Crusher, 15-year-old son of the ship's medical officer and a genius who occasionally helps out the command crew.

Also aboard, in spirit only, is Gene Roddenberry, creator of the original series and executive producer writer of "Star Trek: The Next Generation."

Who Was That Lady On 'Hammer'?

Dear Dick: In the "Mike Hammer" show, Hammer is always chacing some girl. Right in the middle of the show, there is a girl who is either driving a car or walking down the street. and she gives him this starry-eyed look. And, of course, he does the same. She is in all of his shows. Who is she? — Unsigned, Baytown, Texas.

Dear Dick: That character is played by an actress named Donna Denton. On the last "Mike Hammer" of last season, as you may have seen, they did get together. Incidentally, "Mike Hammer" has been dropped by CBS, but now the network may be having second thoughts; there is some talk of reviving it later this season.

Dear Dick: My friends and I would like you to settle an argument for us. Was the fathr on "The Addams Family" also The Riddler on the live-action "Batman"? - M.R., Houston.

Dear M.R.: John Astin was Gomez Addams and also one of the two actors (the first was Frank Gorshin) who played The Riddler.

Dear Dick: How would someone seek and obtain a secretarial position for a particular celebrity or within his corporation? This is something I have always dreamed of doing, but I do not know how to accomplish this. Also, why does a celebrity become surrounded by only a few close associates and become untouchable by the public? And what can you tell me about the mail the stars get and which letters they answer? — S.J.C., Naples, Fla.

Ask Dick Kleiner

Dear S.J.C.: First, about that job. If you have the qualifications, keep writing to your target straightforward, business-like letters with no gushy stuff. Apply for a job. as you would for any other job. Celebrities, out of self-preservation and selfprotection, often avoid the public and stick with the company of friends. Most mail is answered by fan mail services or secretaries, who screen all letters; only a very few reach the star personally.

is the symbol of that ring and what does it stand for? I would like to own one. Do you know where I could purchase one or get the design to have one made? - S.D., Marshfield, Wis.

Dear S.D.: The ring, like everything else on that show, is pure invention. No such ring exists in real life; it was devised just for the program. It is supposed to symbolize the outfit that Selleck and his friends belonged to in that war. It features the fleur-de-lis design, and you can probably have a jeweler create one for you bearing that motif, which is a common one. The rings the actors wear were made only for the show and have not been manufactured commercially.

TV detectives are under in-creasing pressure these days to wrap up their cases quickly.

In the old days, they had 50 minutes and 30 seconds for each case. The National Association of Broadcasters used to have a code that limited prime-time promos. station IDs and commercials to nine minutes and 30 seconds per hour.

But in 1983 the U.S. Department of Justice decided that the country needed more commercials. The NAB was charged with restraint of trade. and the code was dropped. Things have worked out really well since then for people who enjoy watching commercials.

Last year at about this time, I clocked a total of 11 minutes and 13 seconds of interruptions in an episode of "Murder, She Wrote." Jessics had to catch the bad guy - a fellow who poisoned an elderly woman - in 48 minutes and 47 seconds. That was a minute and 43 seconds less time than folks like McGarrett on 'Hawaii Five-0" used to have.

She did it, of course, but it was a close call.

The other day, I put my stopwatch to NBC's lawyer series "Matlock." It was another poisoning. This time somebody had used tainted blanquette de veau to bump off the author of a cookbook.

I knew right away that Roddy McDowall did it. He wouldn't have been on the show if he wasn't going to play a major part. But Matlock took a more traditional approach to the mystery, sliting through mounds of tainted year and onds to find the killer — a minute and 11 seconds less than Jessica had.

Where will this commercial explosion lead? I suppose it can't get any worse than, say, the Home Shopping Network - all commercials, no programs. Meanwhile, some cable channels interrupt programs so often that you drift off and forget what's going on. Just try to watch a movie on the USA Network, for example.

Part of the problem is what's known as clutter: too many commercial messages blasted out in too short a time.

At the end of the typical show, you get the final commercials - some lasting 10 or 15 seconds. Then come the closing credits, complete with long lists of companies that have contributed to the production in return for a blurb.

While you're watching that. a network announcer is hollering something about an airline and a hotel where program guests stay. Then he tells us to watch the next show. Then a local announcer tries to scream louder than the network announcer: "EYE-WITNESS NEWS AT SIX WITH LILLY AND BOBI" Then come a bunch of local commercials, maybe some guy banging on used cars or a plug for "Homefinders's Quide, the station's wonderful new half-hour show that's nothing but a string of god-awful real-estate ada.

To its credit, NBC recognizes the problem. A network press release says NBC "will no longer permit traditional pitchman-style announcements of consolation prizes in its future daytime game shows. The network also plans to limit the number and total length of commercials in its game

None of this will be of any help to Jessies or Matlock, who presumably will have to soive prime-time mysteries in increasingly shorter periods of time, but it's a welcome step.
