Sanford Water Bills Would Go Up Under Plan To Recoup EDB Losses

By Donna Estes Herald Staff Writer

Sanford's 10,000 water customers can expect a "moderate" rate increase soon according to City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles.

The city commission may consider an increase as early as its 7 p.m. meeting next Monday.

The money is needed to make up the $600,000 in reserve utility funds, spent by the city battling the EDB contamination of seven city wells and in the emergency construction of four new wells.

But "the increase should be a moderate one," Knowles said.

He said the city so far has spent or committed to spend nearly $300,000 and before a sufficient water supply, free of the pesticide ethylene dibromide, is available, the city will have spent more than $600,000.

He is recommending to the city commission that it hike rates to build a new reserve fund over a five year period, meaning the average not cout to each of the 10,000

In the meantime, Knowles is auggesting the city ask the Seminole County Legislative Delegation to pass a bill through the state Legislature in its 1984 session to reimburse the city all or part of the costs associated with the EDB contamination and drilling new wells to recover an adequate water ___

There is already a bill pre-filed in the Legislature to recover costs from EDB contamination in other parts of the state, but Sanford and other areas where contamination originated from use of the chemical on at Hidden Lake Park. $71,000, and golf courses are not included, Knowles said.

Knowles is contending since the state Department of Agriculture approved the use of EDB, the state completed on five of the seven wells; is responsible for the costs of curing problems caused by the pesticide.

The state Department of Environmental Regulation already has allocated $40,000 to Sanford to pay part of the costs the city Incurred by connecting two private- easing into wells at Mayfair and ly-owned irrigation wells to the city's Mayfair water plant and for the pumps used at those wells. Some $92,000 of the cost is for the 12,000 feet of pipeline laid from the wells to find a new well field and drill the water plant. Knowles expects to have both wells shut off the system by mid-March. After that time the pipeline will be salvaged and stored for future use.

He said it may be four or five years before that pipeline is needed by the city.

Included in the costs so far are engineering work and studies of $48,000, estimated to go as high as $72,000 ultimately; four new wells up to $155,000 eventually; salvage work (recasing) on the Mayfair wells, $28,000, expected to go as high as $150,000 when work is increasing capacity at the city's auxiliary wells field off U.S. Highway 17.92 near Airport Boulevard through installing larger pumps, $6,000.

Dade County Consumer Advocate Walter T. Dartland has been in Seminole County this week to recruit Starke and others in promoting a plan for a 12-hour "Blackout Sunday." They are urging FP&L customers to pull the plug on April Fool's Day to protest the utilitities request.

Askew Nets 2.45 Percent Of Vote

Fritz Blitzes Iowa, Moves On To New Hampshire

By Laurence McQuillan UPI Political Reporter

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI) - Combining a smooth organization with his own hard work, Walter Mondale swept to a huge win in the lowa caucuses - leaving his distant rivals scrambling to block the former vice president's campaign from turning into a juggernaut.

Sweeping most of the 50 lowa delegates at stake in

Monday night precinct caucuses - the first major test of the 1984 political season - the focal point of the Democratic presidential nomination now shifts to New Hampshire for the nation's first primary next week. While Mondale convincingly proved he deserves his front-runner status, his other seven rivals were unable to establish themselves as a clear second choice. Sen. Gary Hart of Colorado and former South Dakota

Sen. George McGovern, the party's 1972 standard bearer who entered the race late, came up with the next best finishes.

Ohio Sen. John Glenn, who had long been viewed as Mondale's stiffest competitor, suffered the biggest humiliation. Despite intense campaigning in the state during the closing days, the former astronaut fell to the middle of the pack.

According to the Democratic party count which included no raw vote totals, with 91 percent of the precincts reporting. Mondale had 48.6 percent; Hart, 16.4 percent; McGovern, 10.6 percent; uncommitted, 9 percent; Cranston. 7.6 percent; Glenn, 3.5 percent; former Florida Gov. Ruben Askew 2.45 percent: civil rights activist Jesse Jackson 1.6 percent; South Carolina Sen. Ernest Hollings, 0.5 percent. The delegates chosen Monday night represent only the first step in a complicated selection process. The News Election Service which counted votes for the three television networks and the two wire services said the initial results mean Mondale will receive 48 delegates to the party's national convention in San Francisco in July, with Hart getting two.

"Thank you lowa for the mandate you have given me," a gleeful Mondale said at a victory party for his supporters in Des Moines.

His win marks "the beginning of the end of the Reagan administration," Mondale declared in remarks that sounded as though he was accepting his party's presidential nomination.

The other seven Democrats insisted their showing in lowa did not doom their campaigns, with Hart installing himself as the leader of the anti-Mondale forces.

"I think this was an excellent showing for us and I think it does narrow the race down to Vice President Mondale and myself," Hart told reporters in Bedford,

"I think this demonstrates that I am and will be the alternative" to Mondale, he said.

The other candidates read the results differently. "Of course I would have liked to do better in lowa," Glenn said in Boston. "But I hope you will resist the temptation to blow those results all out of proportion. We got out-hustled there, but now we're on to New Hampshire. We're going to be doing big things up there

McGovern was pleased by his finish, considerably better than polisters had predicted. "When you consider I polled seventh at the time of my announcement and ran on a $45,000 budget, it's a miracle I came in as well." he said.

Askew wasted little time on trying to be gracious in his drubbing. "I was reaching out to the majority ... and I think a lot of them forgot to vote."

"The party seems to be going back to 1972 and you know where that got us." Askew said. "For me, it's not as severe a blow as to Glenn. My aspirations weren't as

Reagan Swing Dominated By Attacks On Democrats

WASHINGTON (UPI) - President Reagan made a hit-and-run campaign swing into lowa. giving a boost to the GOP faithful and criticizing Democrats for their "dinosaur mentality" on a day they wanted to claim for their own.

Reagan swept through Waterloo and Des Moines, Iowa, in a 41/2 hour visit, leaving for Washington just before thousands of Democrats attended caucuses across the state to give Walter Mondale a big push in his drive to challenge the president in November.

Reagan may have paid little attention to the outcome of the Democratic battle, but he had haseh words for the apparate that were received well by cheering crowds in both cities.

"The liberals ... who saddled America with double-digit inflation, record interest rates, huge tax increases, too much regulation, credit controls, farm embargoes, no-growth at home, weakness abroad, and phony excuses about malaise are the last people who should be giving sermonettes about fairness and compassion, Reagan sald.

Escapees Elude Dragnet

MASON, Tenn. (UPI) - A search for three "extremely dangerous" convicts who escaped a weekend dragnet of more than 100 lawmen was concentrated today in a west Tennessee hamlet where one of the fugitives was seen in a culvert.

The three were among five Fort Pillow State Prison inmates — including three murderers who dug up pistols left for them in a work field. jumped two guards and fled Saturday. One was recaptured Sunday and the fifth was believed to have fled in a stolen Cadillac.

Other prison escapes of the past four days had lawmen searching back roads of Louisiana and Mexico and the streets of Detroit.

Authorities in Louisiana captured seven of nine inmates who broke out of a jail in Alexandria Friday, but all 14 prisoners including an American and a Puerto Rican who broke out of a jail in Juarez, Mexico, Friday night were still on the loose.

Hopes Dim For Climber

ON MOUNT WHITNEY, Alaska (UPI) - Fears are increasing about the fate of Japanese mountain climber Naomi Uemura, last seen by a bush pilot six days ago descending Mount McKinley.

A search team persisted Monday in its efforts to find the 44-year-old conqueror of North America's highest mountain.

Rescuers searching crevasses and snow caves, below the wind-raked peak of the 20,320-foot mountain failed to find any trace of the missing climber, the first person to reach the summit by himself in winter.

'We're more concerned than we have been," said ranger Bob Gerhard, referring to earlier suggestions that Uemura had simply holed up in a snow cave to wait out the bad weather. Gerhard said the search would continue today.

Searchers in ski planes found no trace of Uemura, said bush pilot Lowell Thomas Jr.

the Georgia Coastal Resources Division. A total of eight spottings of the rare whales have been reported off the Georgia-Florida coast

K Mart Injunction Denied

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) - A circuit judge has rejected Comptroller Gerald Lewis' request for a preliminary injunction that would have blocked K mart from selling savings and money market certificates through its Florida stores.

Leon County Circuit Judge Ben Willis cited the precedence of federal banking laws over state law in his decision to allow K mart and Standard Federal Savings and Loan Association to carry out the financial program.

Lewis said Monday he would continue to follow the K mart case closely. "It is my intention to continue monitoring this stituation closely and to do everything in my power to make sure that Florida consumers are protected," he said. Lewis had cleimed that by offering "K mart certificates," "K mart bonus certificates" and "K mart fund accounts," K mart was acting as a branch office for an out-of-state financial institution.

U.S., British Ships Prepare For Gulf Fighting

LONDON (UPI) - A U.S. naval task force is moving closer to the Persian Gulf and British ships are conducting exercises to meet threats by Iran to close the Gulf to supertankers carrying oil to the West. British news reports

The British Broadcasting Corp. reported Monday night that Royal Navy ships have been making trial runs to see if they could shepherd convoys of supertankers through the Straits of Hormuz at the mouth of the Persian Gulf if Iran tries to close the waterway.

This has become a national problem and we cannot tackle it alone," Col. Peter Moloto, police liaison officer in the Lebowa tribal homeland, told the Sowetan newspaper in Soweto, the black township outside Johannesburg.

Nine people were burned at the stake and two hanged recently after they were accused of being witches who, for a fee, called down bolts of lightning on unsuspecting victims.

In recent cases in Lebowa, an area of parched brushland, lightning strikes that have killed people or destroyed property have been followed by tribal court sessions at which witch doctors have "identified" those responsible.

Enquirer Loses Appeal

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The Supreme Court refused today to hear the National Enquirer's challenge of an $800,000 verdict won by comedian Carol Burnett, who sued the Florida tabloid for libel.

The justices dismissed an appeal by the Lantana, Fla., weekly that it was wrongly punished for the article because it had printed a retraction. The paper also argued that punitive damages, totalling $750,000. should not be allowed. Miss Burnett also won an additional $50,000 in compensatory damages.

Brooks said the troops taken to the waiting ships by CH-46 and Huey helicopters were members of the Marine Amphibious Unit Service Support Group.

Breoks said it would be a week before the evacuation operation could be completed, depending on the weather and the possibility of the troops coming under fire. No incidents were reported early today. "The men are happy to be moving but there's a little bit of frustration because

President Reagan ordered the Marines redeployed to ships offshore following the deteriorating situation in Beirut.

The Israeli warplanes attacked in a four-aircraft formation pounding the hills around the mountain village of Bhamdoun, 12 miles east of Belrut on the main highway to Damascus, an Israeli military spokesman sald in Israel.

The area was the target of a similar air strike Feb. 10.

Lebanese radio broadcasts did not Marine spokesman Major Dennis specify the targets, but the Israeli spokesman said the planes hit "terrorists command posts and bases," an apparent reference to Palestinian guerrillas.

Israeli planes blasted guerrilla targets along the Lebanese coast and in the mountains Sunday in a warning to Moslem rebels fighting the government of President Amin Gemayel to keep Palestinian forces from returning to Israeli held territory.

The air strike coincided with increased Saudi Arabian efforts aimed at breaking the diplomatic stalemate over a peace plan for Lebanon.

Lebanese political sources said Gemayel, facing the threat of a new arrived in the capital in September 1982. offensive in the north by Moslem rebels.

today considered a four-point Syrian plan to end the Lebanese conflict.

The plan, conveyed through a Saudi Arabian mediator, was drafted in Damascus in consultation with Gemayel's Syrian-backed opponents, the sources said, and stopped short of openly endorsing the Lebanese opposition demand for Gemayel's resignation.

"The Syrians are leaving that aspect of the conflict to Gemayel's Lebanese opponents." a Lebanese government source said.

A Saudi initiative ended in failure last week when Syria rejected an eight-point peace plan.

According to the source, the Syrian demands are:

- The abmostion of the May 17 Lebanese Israeli troop withdrawal agreement. - Not linking the Syrian and Israeli withdrawals from Lebanon. Discussing a Syrian withdrawal within an Arab framework.

- Formation of a national coalition government.

The sources said the Syrian plan was carried to Gemayel by Saudi mediator Rafik Hariri who returned to Damascus late Monday after lengthy talks with the Lebanese leader and Foreign Minister Elle Salem.

The latest Israeli air attack apparently was part of Israel's policy of striking what it suspects to be Palestinian guerrillas "anytime and anywhere" in Lebanon. It followed an ambush in the post city of Sidon Monday that wounded one Israeli soldier.

Israeli officials have insisted Israeli air action in Lebanon should not be interpreted as intervention in the current Moslem rebel offensive against the government of Gemayel.

On Monday, heavy fighting between government troops and rebals was reported in the hills overlooking Beirut.

Moslem forces are massed in the mountains near the town of Souk al Gharb, which guards the approaches to Gemayel's palace in the east Belrut suburb of Baabda. Monday's fighting did not affect the withdrawal from Beirut of the last of 1,100 Italian soldiers.

The Gemayel government Monday came under the threat of a third front in the north, along with an offensive at Souk al Gharb and the threat from Moslem forces in west Beirut.

Scientists Think Death Star Wiped Out Dinosaurs

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) - Scientists are searching the solar system for a mysterious "death star" that they believe hurls a catastrophic barrage of huge comets on Earth every 26 million years.

Such a barrage, they theorize, could explain how dinosaurs and other forms of animal and plant life were wiped out 65 million years ago. They believe the next one is due in about 15 million years.

The theory was presented recently at the Lawrence Berkeley Laboratory of the University of California by astrophysicist Richard Muller, geologist Walter Alvarez and astronomers Marc Davis of U.C. Berkeley and Plet Hut of Princeton University's Institute for Advanced Study.

The scientists speculate the star is an orbiting companion of the sun, and that every 26 million years when the star is at its closest point to Earth + 3 trillion miles away - it hurtles through the Oort Comet Cloud in the outer solar system, where more than 100 billion comets are also orbiting.

The gravitational influence of the star, they believe, disrupts the orbits of possibly 1 billion of the huge comets, plunging them toward the inner solar system and hurling a few at Earth.

Muller explained Monday that when the star "comes closest to the sun, it enters what's called the comet cloud. That cloud is joited and comets that otherwise are in orbits that would miss the sola system come in and rain a shower of comets on the inner solar system.

"Some of these, maybe a dozen or more, hit the Earth and this would be enough to wreak havoc with life on Earth."

Each time a burst of comets collides with Earth, the scientists say, the planet is plunged into a period of darkness and cold that devastates plant and animal life.

The star now is at the farthest point of its orbit around the sun, or 14 trillion miles away.

The four scientists, whose theory was contained in two papers submitted to the international science journal Nature, said they developed their theory over five years to explain the apparent extinction of 20 percent to 70 percent of life on Earth at regular intervals. Their research included studies of fossils, rare metals and ancient impact craters dotting the planet.

Muller said geologic studies of about a dozen of the impact craters produced evidence there were intervals of about 26 million years in their ages.

Another major clue to such bombardments from outer space is the presence of layers of the rare metallic element iridium at various locations on Earth. The scientists believe the layers are too distinct and too dense to have occurred naturally.

The Man We Never Knew

What impact Yuri Andropov's 15 months at the helm of the Soviet Union will have on his own country's evolution as a society and as a world power, and on the vital state of relations between Washington and Mustow; may never be known. Although he moved quickly to consolidate his position after succeeding Leonid Brezhnev, and apparently was able to impose his personal authority in major policy matters, the extent of his influence during the six months leading up to his death on Feb. 9 is unknown outside the Kremlin. In that sense, little has changed in Moscow since Winston Churchill said, more than four decades ago, that the Soviet Union "is a riddle wrapped in a mystery inside an enigma."

Notwithstanding the unanswered questions, one thing all the world knows is that Andropov's time in power coincided with an alarming deterioration in Soviet-American relations. That deterioration began with a Soviet invasion of Afghanistan at the end of 1979 and was intensified by the bellicose rhetoric of Ronald Reagan after he assumed the American presidency in 1981. In this context, the West must hope that Konstantin Chernenko will have the authority, and the will, to begin working with this country to bring the two superpowers back from the edge of disaster on which they are poised. Whether the new leader, or leaders, in the Kremlin are rated in Western minds as hard-liners or as conciliatory, much of the responsibility for finding a way back to relations that are at least civil, if not friendly, lies in Washington.

For the moment, and for good domestic reasons on both sides, there probably is little that can be done very soon to repair the breach beyond maintaining the somewhat more civilized tone President Reagan has adopted recently. It is a measure of the low state of Soviet-American relations that mere civil gestures are accorded such an important place in the larger scheme of things.

On a more concrete level, there is much to be gained by mulual efforts to make progress in the two international avenues where Moscow and Washington are, or soon will be, involved in negotiations: In the conference on confidencebuilding riessures with respect to European security, to Stockholm, and Mutual and Balanced Force Reduction (MBFR) talks, in Vienna, Beyond those measures, perhaps only time - and demonstrations by both sides, at every available opportunity, that the spirit of conciliation is growing - can bring progress toward controlling the arms race and restoring the minimal level of mutual confidence from which further gains can be made.

By all accounts, Yuri Andropov possessed both the ruthlessness of some of his notorious predecessors and an ability to govern and to reform that far exceeded the capacity of those who held power before him. Whether that rare combination will survive him, along with the reforms and personnel changes he put in place during his short tenure, is something about which a fascinated and perplexed outside world can only speculate. It is beyond speculation, though, that the Western world - and most especially the United States must relearn the lesson that there is no alternative to finding a way of peacefully sharing the same small planet with a powerful and often hostile force that won't go away, whether we wish it to or not. One must hope the heirs of Yuri Andropov are capable of understanding that, too.

ANTHONY HARRIGAN

Ωn The Welfare Burden

LONDON, England - Americans would do well to look at the British welfare system and understand how it is running away with itself. Indeed, it is a kind of fiscal time bomb.

In 1979, Mrs. Margaret Thatcher took office as Prime Minister of Great Britain with the stated intention of curbing the excesses of the welfare state. She has had great difficulty doing so, however. The welfare state has built-in expansionary features that even the most conservative government finds hard to overcome.

The British welfare state is mushrooming because each year there are fewer workers to support an everlarger number of dependent citizens. As a result, a government dedicated to cutting taxes may have to introduce tax increases.

The London Daily Mail recently reported that the number of old age pensioners has risen by a third over the past 20 years to more than 17 percent of the population. There are 660,000 more pensioners than when Mrs. Thatcher moved into 10 Downing Street. The situation will worsen year by year. By 1998, a third of Britain's earnings will go into paying pensions, as compared to one-sixth at present.

The British people became thoroughly conditioned to state welfarism in the generation after World War II. They came to expect cradle-to-grave security from government, without any thought as to the size of the bill or who would pay it. Consider the growth of the welfare state since 1964; total welfare state expenditure has increased 10 times. Defense spending, as a percentage of the cost of government, has declined. However, social security expenses have almost doubled. The cost of government housing has more than doubled. Since 1979, government spending on health care also has doubled. With a declining economy, there isn't the growth to cover welfare state costs. Taxes are going up. People with money to invest see no point in investing in Britain.

In parts of Britain, more people live in government housing than is the case in Eastern Europe. No substantial amount of privately-owned rental housing is available because of rent controls and the danger of squatters, whom it is almost impossible to evict. This dependence on public housing freezes workers in the areas where they have a government-owned apartment. Even if a job becomes available in another part of the country, a person can't move because housing isn't available. Workers are trapped because of a housing scheme that was a wellintentioned but thoroughly mistaken socialist notion.

Mrs. Thatcher has recognized the hurtful role of such public housing, and has sought to sell much of this housing to tenants - over bitter socialist opposition.

WILLIAM RUSHER

It's Chernenko's Turn

NEW YORK (NEA) - Say what you will, when it comes to efficiency the Soviet technique for selecting a new national leader sure leaves the American system in the dust.

Here we are, just getting over the lowa caucuses and preparing for the New Hampshire primary, with a whole springful of primaries still ahead, to be followed by two midsummer nations. conventions and a general election campaign that won't be over till November.

The Russians had their new man picked before Yuri Andropov was even safely in the ground. A few discreet conversations among the leaders of the Lolitorilo — y icm diack vii ilmonalica glimpsed hurrying here or there - and then the drums roll: "The Central Committee of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union has unanimously chosen Konstantin Ustinovich Chernenko as General Secretary of the Party."

And with that announcement the 270 million people of one of the world's two superpowers learn, all at once and quite irrevocably, who their new ruler is to be. By nightfall little girls will be presenting him with bouquets of flowers; by the next morning giant photographs of him will be going up all over Moscow and the other major cities of the Soviet Union.

The routine is an almost obscene insult to the hard-working peoples of that vast nation - or would be, if more of them appeared to mind.

Who is this Chernenko? By all accounts, a routine product of the communist system — a time-serving hack who hit the big time as a protege of Leonid Brezhnev, was brusquely passed over for Yuri Andropov when Brezhnev died 15 months ago, but outlived his vanquisher and now has contrived to succeed him. "You shall have no preferment as long as I live," the Cardinal de Fleury told the Abbe de Bernis. To which the young priest replied, "I shall wait."

Not that there is anything young about Chernenko: At 72, he is the oldest man ever chosen to lead the Soviet Union. (Maybe the boys in the Kremlin decided Ronald Reagan's age was somehow his secret weapon.) Chernenko, moreover, is just the latest in a series of elders who run the Politburo collectively, passing the top job around like the presidency of Switzerland or a medicine ball during those exercise sessions in the Hoover White House. There is little chance that Soviet policy will change in any perceptible way.

In a sense, this is good news for the rest of the world. Soviet policy is unreservedly malevolent toward those at segments of mankind not yet under tight Soviet control, but it is also distinctly cautious — even (if I may be forgiven for using the word in this context) conservative. The rulers of the Soviet Union know they have no business ruling it: They are simply the political heirs of a ruthless takeover by force in 1917, and their insecurity is therefore limitless - which is why, of course, they must constantly try to extend their power until it is unchallenged literally anywhere.

But for the same reason they are also extremely reluctant to risk the power they have already acquired. It is not a committee of old men in charge of the Soviet Union, but a single young one in that happy position, that the rest of mankind has most to fear. Napoleon at 29, Stalin at 45, Hitler at 44, had all arrived where Chernenko has arrived at 72. At his age few men are much inclined "to dice with destiny for beers."

So the advent of Cher..enko may, paradoxically, stimulate more tentative changes in the policies of Western nations than in those of the Soviet Union itself. Those who are forever pushing the West into ill-advised concessions will insist that now is the time to rescue American-Soviet relations from the morass into which Ronald Reagan has allegedly dragged them. Even the professional foreign-policy specialists of the Western powers will want to toss a bone or two to the Russlan bear,

Some Cuts In Defense Spending?

WASHINGTON (UPI) - When Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger made his first visit to Capitol Hill this year to talk about the administration's proposal for defense spending, Sen. Sam Nunna D-Ga., observed:

"The question is not whether it will be reduced, but when and by how much."

As it works to carry out President Reagan's proposed five-year $1.9 trillion defense buildup, the Pentagon wants nearly $313.4 billion in its accounts when fiscal 1985 begins Oct. 1. That figure includes defense nuclear programs in the Energy Department.

It is early yet in the budgeting process, and few on Capitol Hill are willing to hazard a guess on what the final budget numbers will be, but many observers on Capitol Hill agree with Historically, the Pentagon has not always gotten all it wants - this year it is looking for a 13 percent increase after inflation in contrast to the 5 percent it won from Congress last year. Much of the outcome this year, observers say, may depend upon what progress is made in bipartisan negotiations to reduce the budget deficit. The Pentagon budget has become a prime area for Democrats to point to for cuts.

"We're sort of observing an ominous calm right now," said one congressional source about the negotiations and defense spending. "I think everybody's sort of standing back to see what comes out of that, how it works out," There is pressure this year to settle the matter quickly. It is a presidential election year. The chairman of the Senate Budget Committee is up for election and two of its members are running for the Democratic presidential nomination. All House members are up for re-election, and Congress has scheduled generous recesses to take the political conventions and campaigning Into account.

The most commonly cited number on Capitol Hill when it comes to the defense budget these days is $297 billion, well up from 1984 spending but well below what the administration wants. That figure carries over from the 1984 budget as a target many in Congress cited as desireable if the philosopy of 5 percent real growth were sustained.

It's far too early to say what programs will be the losers, but Congress historically has refused to eliminate major weapons systems. And in an election year, it would be akin to political suicide for a member to advocate dropping a program that may provide thousands of jobe in a district or state.

While that idea may look good on paper, one congressional source familiar with defense issues said the problem of deficits and the defense budget does not appear to have grown large enough to force a major reduction in a program or the elimination of a program.

Soviets Work On Biological Weapons

WASHINGTON - The National Security Council has delivered a report to President Reagan warning of a frightening new development in biological warfare. The secret alert is based on CIA assessments that the Soviets have developed gene-splicing techniques as ominous as the atom-splitting discoveries that led to the nuclear bomb.

The startling evidence is contained in CIA reports, classified "Secret," which declare flatly that the Russians could use their new biotechnology to incapacitate or destroy entire populations in a future conflict.

In stark language, the documents warn that the United States is dangerously far behind in developing bio-tech weapons. One CIA report estimates that the Soviets will be able to deploy these horror weapons in three to five years. Other scientists contend that blo-tech warfare is more than a decade

Of course, the production of harmful biological agents for use against people. animals or crops is strictly prohibited under the 1972 Biological Weapons Convention, which the Soviets signed. But this has not deterred the Soviets from rushing ahead with bio-tech research. Declares a secret CIA report: "The evidence points strongly to illegal production or storage of biological agents and weapons."

The technical name for this research is "recombinant DNA technology." It is also referred to as "gene-splicing." "genetic engineering." "biotechnology" and "synthetic biology." It has to do with DNA, or deoxyribonucieic acid, which is the basic genetic ingredient.

The Soviets have developed a process for removing segments of DNA from the cell of one species and attaching them to that of another, thereby creating a new organism.

The military application is awesome. CIA sources told my associate Dale Van Atta that the Soviets will be able to reproduce mysterious human substances and produce super-viruses more deadly than any known to man today.

For example, the Soviets could reproduce such human substances as growth hormones, which have never been duplicated. One U.S. expert estimates the Russians may be able to reproduce brain chemicals, which send command signals to various parts of the body. The fear is that the Soviets will be able to produce them in quantity and load them into spray weapons. This blo-gas would disorient and destroy the human brain.

Even more disturbing, the Soviets could use biotechnology to combine the most infectious, most virulent and most indestructible characteristics of discase-causing organisms to form superviruses.

If it seems hard to believe that the Soviets would experiment with such civilization-destroying technology, consider this grim excerpt from a secret CIA Since World War II, sporadic reports and allegations have been received concerning Soviet involvement in offensive biological weapons development. Sources of the allegations have ranged from low-level defectors to high-level Soviet academicians. Highlevel political and military leaders have also alluded to possession of biological weapons."

The document describes other developments, which have been "closely observed by the intelligence community." For example, the Russians have

"acquired significant technology and equipment, built large-scale biological fermentation facilities and made progress in other areas considered useful should Moscow decide to pursue production of biological weapons."

At Sverdiovak, the Sovieta operate a biological warfare institute where an accident, involving a lethal strain of anthrax, reportedly caused hundreds of deaths in April 1979. The CIA con-cluded in 1980 that the anthrax was being produced for biological weapons. In sudden alarm, the Defense Department began working feverishly on programs to defend against biological weapons. The Pentagon's biological research has increased 54 percent since

Ironically, the most promising defense against biological warfare will come from research in recombinant DNA technology. Footnote: The full gravity of the Soviet bio-tech development may not have been conveyed to President Reagan. My sources say the National Security Council submitted a brief, simplistic warning to the president, which somewhat toned down the alarm.

With only four games separating the top five teams in the regular season standings, the 4A District 9 Tournament promises to be a good one. The opening round starts tonight at 7 at Lake Mary High as Lyman and Lake Howell square off with the winner going on to a first-round matchup against top-seeded Spruce Creek.

Spruce Creek finished at 14-2 in the district during the regular season to earn the top seed in the tourney. Daytona Beach Mainland was second at 12-4 while Sanford's Fighting Seminoles and DeLand's Bulldogs tied for third with 11-5 marks. DeLand won the coin toss on Monday and wound up the third seed, making Seminole fourth. Lake Mary's Rams, 10-6 in the district, finished fifth in the district followed by Apopka (8-8). Lake Brantley (3-13) and Lyman (3-13) and Lake Howell (0-16). Lyman lost a coin flip with Lake Brantley for the seventh seed.

Lyman vs. Lake Howell

The survivor of this game must go up against top-seeded Spruce Creek. Lyman's Greyhounds have each to Seminole, DeLand, Lake Mary and most recently beaten the Silver Hawks in two of three meetings this season. Both have young teams and both were hit by academic ineligibilities. Lyman was the hardest hit as it lost three starters and had to move most of its junior varsity up to varsity. Lake Howell lost one of its strongest inside players, James Williams, to grades, after he had just become eligible.

Mike Garriques and Eric Trombo start at guard for the Patriots with Dennis Groseclose and Austin Hodges the forwards and Leroy Brown at center.

Lyman-Lk. Howell winner vs. Spruce Creek

Whoever comes out on top between Lyman and Lake Howell may not feel like much of a winner when they go in against Spruce Creek's giants, 6-10 center Mark Nichols and 6-8 forward John Fedor. Unless the big men get in foul trouble early, outside shooting will be the key if either Lyman or Lake Howell is to stay close to Spruce

Nichols and Fedor are joined on the front line by 6-3 forward Ray Lee while the backcourt consists of high-scoring Rod "Snowbird" McCray and playmaker Miller, Billy Dunn and Darryl Merthic while Jeff Clifford Jenkins.

Apopka vs. DeLand

DeLand may have won the coin toss and wound up the third seed, but they are in for a tough one against Apopka's Blue Darters. Apopka is one of the hottest teams in the district and, with recent victories over Lake Mary and Mainland, the Blue Darters are the darkhorse of the tourney.

DeLand has pulled off a few surprises, including victories over Seminole and Mainland, but the Bulldogs may be in for a surprise if they get caught looking past

After Lake Mary won the first meeting, Seminole won rounds two and three. The Rams have been playing well lately with victories over Mainland and DeLand. The Seminoles have not been at their best lately, but they can explode at any time. The winner will probably tangle with top seeded Spruce Creek unless there is a big upset on Wednesday.

"I don't mind playing Lake Mary in the opening round," Seminole coach Chris Marlette said. "Apopka has been playing really well lately. If we get by Lake Mary, I'd rather play Spruce Creek than Mainland, I think Mainland is the team to beat in this thing."

Seminole will depend on the inside-outside scoring punch of Willie Mitchell (18.6 points per game) along with outside threats James Rouse and Kenny Gordon. the playmaking of point guard Bruce Franklin and the inside strength of Jimmy Gilchrist. Bench strength comes from Stephen Grey and Tommy Stiffey.

Lake Mary has three fine outside shooters in Fred Reynolds and Donald Grayson provide strength inside.

"We just want to go out and play hard," Lake Mary coach Willie Richardson said. "We played our best defense of the year Friday (against DeLand). It should be a good game, it's a natural rivalry."

Olympic Gold 2nd On Mahre's Mind

SARAJEVO, Yugoslavia (UPi) - On the day it was all over, when many of the departing athletes in the XIV Winter Olympics joined hands and sang happily before heading home, one of them broke down and sobbed because he wasn't already there.

Lyman Boys Try To Follow Girls Path To Success

By Lou Stefano Herald Sports Writer

The old saying goes, "Success breeds success." You just have to look at the Lyman soccer program to prove the saying correct.

Both the girls and boys soccer teams will be taking the field this week in post-season play. The girls were expected to get there. They defeated everybody they faced, going through the season unbeaten, winning the district and the regional. They open state-tournament play Friday at 2 p.m. against Tampa King at Coconut Creek. A win in the semifinals sends them against the Coconut Creek-Coral Gables winner for the state title at 7 p.m. Saturday.

But the boys, well, they were a "hound" of a different

They finished an up-and-down season with a 9-7 record and were seeded fourth in the district tournament. They opened the tournament by defeating Seminole in short order, 3-0. That brought on the number-one seed Lake Howell.

Lyman fought the Hawks tooth-and-nail for the full 80 minutes without either scoring. The first five minute overtime was also scoreless. And 4:13 of the second overtime was scoreless until Brian Ocasek scored to put the Greyhounds into the final.

The opponent in the district final was a very good Lake Brantley team. The Hounds made it look easy in defeating the Patriots, 2-1.

Tonight at 7, Lyman battles Winter Park at Ward Field for the regional championship. But how does a team that played two steps above even for the season suddenly find themselves on the threshold of the state tournament? Well, you have to look at three factors.

The first is the season. Lyman coach Jim Buckman wasn't looking for miracles when the season began. "To be very honest, I said that if we finished .500 I'd be happy," Buckman said. "We were an extremely young ball club. The boys were well skilled but they hadn't played a lot together."

injuries kept the team from further playing together. They hit a stretch in midseason where they were having as much trouble putting players on the field as winning

The turning point came after the Greyhounds lost a tough 2-1 decision to Lake Mary. "I said to the boys, 'Look we're fifth in the conference and we don't have a chance to win it," Buckman said. "Let's just work to get prepared to the tournament (districts).' After that each game was an improvement."

It was fortunate for the Hounds that the improvement came just as the tournament was about to begin. That's the trick to winning end of year tournaments. Peaking at the right time.

Two great examples of that are the NCAA baskethall tournament and the Olympics.

Everybody is familiar with what North Carolina State did last year in the tournament. It peaked at the right time and won the whole thing. The flip side of that is the 1980 and 1981 DePaul basketball team.

Both those teams waitzed through their season by winning over 25 games and losing one or two. They started playing poorly toward the end of the season and both teams were knocked off in the first round of the NCAA's.

Our U.S. Olympic team is picked by having trials. If you can't perform well at the trials, you don't make the team. Even if you are Carl Lewis, Mary Decker, or Edwin

Moses, all the class of their events. Buckman realized that and as a result, the 'Hounds are peaking at the right time. Another factor to Lyman's success is Buckman himself. Buckman doesn't take himself or the game too seriously. He wants to win as much as the next guy but he more or less gives the ball to his players and lets them play the game. My objective is to build them (young men)," he says. From there on I take the games one at a time. If we lose to Winter Park we've still done something that not many other teams have done before." The last factor in Lyman's success is the players as teammates themselves. "The team is together, fighting for each other and working for each other.

Shogren ran it down in left center for the first out. Schmit walked, but Metz forced Lisle at third. Kevin Hill kept things going with a two-out hit to load the bases.

Hysell was next and he drilled a 2-1 pitch over the center fielder's head, chasing home all three runs for a 7-3 lead.

Schmit got tough after that. He retired eight of the next 11 hitters before squeezing out of a potentially dangerous seventh. Reichle and Shogren hit back-to-back singles to open the final frame, but Schmit got Dave Wood, who had hit the ball hard the three previous times, on a fly ball to center. Lester Cabrera then grounded to short.

This brought up Greene, one of the top hitters in the county. Pitching carefully, Schmit walked him. The fluid righthander, however, came back to strike out the final batter to record his third straight win against no losses.

Schmit scattered nine hits, struck out eight, walked three and hit a

You can tell Damon Marlette is just a sophomore. He wasn't awed by the Colonial Grenadiers. Imagine, going out and shutting down one of the best teams in the Metro Conference.

The Hawks gave Marlette all the runs he needed in the first inning as Jeff Poindexter singled and Rick Robey reached on an error by the catcher. Van Golmont and Bill Lang struck out, but Vic Roberts drilled a double for the 2-0 lead.

Two innings later. Lang made up for his whiff. Poindexter singled and Robey walked. Golmont fanned again, but Lang unloaded a blast over the center-field fence for a three-run homer and a 5-1 lead. It was the sweet-swinging senior's second round-tripper of the year.

Vols Upset Auburn, 57-54; Alabama Kicks Ole Miss

AUBURN, Ala. (UPI) - Auburn coach Sonny Smith is not a man who hides behind long-winded explanations. When his 18th-ranked Tigers were upset 57-54 by Tennessee Monday night, his reaction was straightforward: "We didn't deserve to win."

The loss dropped Auburn. 10-4, a game behind Nashville is embarrassing. Kentucky, 11-3, in the Southeastern Conference and seriously damaged its hopes for a league title.

"This hurts us in the SEC race," said Smith. "Now we have to fight for second place. Up until now we were fighting for first place, but now we have to fight for first and second." Elsewhere in the Southeastern Conference, Alabama defeated Mississippi 74-65 to move into third place in the SEC standings at 10-5. Florida downed Georgia 70-64 and Louisiana State beat Mississippi State 85-70. No SEC games are scheduled for tonight. Auburn seized its biggest advantage of the game,

Auburn 8-2 over the next four minutes to regain the Rob Jones scored 13 points, including a crucial tip-in of a missed free throw with 20 seconds left, to lead Tennessee and make Volunteers coach Don DeVoe a

There is no question about it, this was our best game of the year," said DeVoc. "We did a great job of controlling the tempo of the game. We also did a good Job of getting the basket in the key situations and did a great job defensively. "it's great to beat a team that is nationally ranked on their home floor," he added. "We trailed by five and came back."

Smith said a controlled Tennessee attack and poor free throw shooting by his team contributed to the loss. "Our inability to hit the free throws down the stretch hurt us," he said. "Tennessee did what they had to do to win." Dan Federman and Kirk Naler added 10 points each for the Volunteers, 16-11 overall and 7-8 in the SEC. Greg Turner scored 13 points and Charles Barkley, Chuck Person and Gerald White had 10 each to pace Ajiburn, 16-7 and 10-4. Alabama coach Wimp Sanderson said the hot shooting of Sobby Lee Hurt and Eric Richardson in the first half was the key to the Tide's win. Hurt scored 25 points in the same and Richardson added 20.

Westl Dowell scored 15 points and Sylvestor Kincheon 14 to pace Mississippi. Ole Miss starting guard Andre Latri was accidentally kicked in the face by an Alabama chierleader during warm-ups and saw only limited thought we came out shooting the ball very well in the first half and that always helps," Sanderson said. "You're not going to lose many shooting that well. Lonislana State kept a half game behind Alabama with its victory over Mississippi State at Starkville. "I'm really surprised we won by this much because Mississippi State is a difficult team to beat at home." said LSU coach Dale Brown. "Mississippi State is a very difficult team to play."

Bulldog coach Bob Boyd returned the compliment. saying he was "impressed with LSU's shooting and their team and their depth."

Florida solidified its hold on fifth place in the SEC with the win over Georgia. We're fighting hard to get in the upper division and keep out of the first round of the SEC tourney." said Florida coach Norm Sloan. "Playing in the first round in Freshman guard Darryl Gresham helped Florida take a regular-season sweep of Georgia by connecting on three free throws and a dunk in the final 14 seconds.

Andrew Moten, another freshman guard, led the attack with 14 points and Gresham and Ron Williams added 13 each as the Gators improved to 13-10 overall and 8-6 in the SEC.

Moten gave Florida its biggest lead at 53-38 with 10:10 left. But on the strength of two free throws and four buckets by Vern Fleming, the Bulldogs fought back to within 55-52 with just over six minutes remaining.

Fleming, who scored only two points in the first haif, 41-36, with 9:04 remaining. But Tenneesse outscored finished with 19 to lead Georgia, 14-10 and 6-9. He fouled out with 14 seconds left and the Buildogs trailing

The Gators, who beat Georgia 77-69 in Athens, led 37-26 at the half after outscoring the Bulldogs 11-2 over the final 4:40 before halftime.

In other Top 20 action Monday, No. 9 Texas-El Paso defeated Colorado State 62-55 and No. 13 Memphis State edged Southern Mississippi in overtime.

At El Paso, Texas, Fred Reynolds scored 16 of his 17 points in the second half to spark the Western Athletic Conference victory. Reynolds scored 12 points in a six-minute stretch which saw the game tied three times. The Miners, 23-2 overall and 11-2 in the conference, outscored Colorado State 24-3 at the free-throw line. Rich Strong had 14 points to lead Colorado State, 12-12 and 6-6.

"They all like each other. They know that when they go into the game, they have a responsibility to do the job the same as the guy that was in there before him." Buckman added.

Another part of that has been the players as individuals. "Most teams don't realize that the tournament is single climination," says Buckman. "A few players, mostly the seniors know it. "They know that if they lose a game, it's over for them. If the seniors can convey that to their teammates it has a tendency to wake them up."

Senior Greyhound goal keeper Ben Ritter was that player for Lyman. According to Buckman, Ritter went to his teammates and said, "Hey, this is it for me. They say I'm too small to play goal keeper in college."" The Greyhounds will try to avenge a previous setback tonight in Winter Park. The Wildcats romped over the Hounds last time, 4-0, but this time will be different "One thing Winter Park better realize," he said. "The last time we played them we were injured. I didn't even have a keeper that was healthy. This is a different team." And he hopes a different outcome.

Pam Schreffler Wins Teacher Of The Year

The intercom system of Longwood Elementary School echoed with the voice of principal David Scott calling an "emergency" meeting for all faculty and staff for 8:10 a.m. on a recent morning.

Teachers, aides and office workers, puzzled by the announcement, curiously entered the auditorium questioning one another as to what could have happened to cause such a commotion. They would soon flud out.

David Scott, along with five helpers. had purposely kept the reason for the meeting a secret. And now, gathered together, the "Big" mystery would be solved. It was the day that Longwood Elementary School's "Teacher Of The Year" was to be crowned.

In the ceremony, fashioned after the Miss America Pageant, the eight teachers nominated for this year's honor were formally marched across the auditorium stage as appropriate music was played on a nearby plano. Applause and laughter roared up from the nominee's peers in the audience. Then the moment that they all waited for had arrived. In a witty poem read by David Scott, the winner was announced. Fifth grade teacher, Pam Schreffler, had been voted Teacher Of The Year.

Included in the early morning fanfare. a comical review of Pam's past trials. victories and humorous moments were read aloud, as well as a warm farewell to the crown speech given by last year's winner, coach Mike Platt. At the conclusion of the coach's speech, he somberly removed his cherished cape and crown and officially crowned Pam. Teacher Of The Year.

Although the crowning ceremony was a great deal of fun for all involved, the honor paid to Pam was a great one.

Video taping the event to store forever in the school's archives was media specialist Evelyn Towler.

Pam was a fifth grade graduate of Longwood Elementary School. Years later, after continuing her education, and graduating from UCF, Longwood Elementary was her first teaching assignment. As David Scott put it, "She's right back where she started from. She earned it, and we're proud of her," he added.

Congratulations to Pam Schreffler, Longwood Elementary School, Teacher of the Year.

Special Birthday Wishes to Hattie May McNamara, a Longwood resident for the past 88 years. Hattie, a former school teacher of 48 years, celebrated her 88th birthday on Feb. 10. Best wishes, Hattie.

The Rotary Club of Longwood was pleased to have as guest speaker recently, fellow Rotarian Robert Blumentritt, an administrator at South Seminole Medical Center.

Robert gave an overview of facilities that will be available in two of Longwood's newest hospitals, Westlake and South Seminole Community. Opening for the hospitals is set for April of this year.

The Rotary Club of Longwood meets every Tuesday, 7:30 a.m., for breakfast at H.P. Cassidy's Restaurant.

Expert Says Polygraph Tests Sometimes Wrong

DEAR ABBY: Because you are able to reach so many people. I submit the following facts:

Scientific studies show conclusively that polygraph tests (the so-called "lie detector") tend to be wrong abut one-third of the time! Even worse, the evidence affirms a strong bias against the innocent person; 47 percent of the suspects who were errroneously classified as "deceptive" were later shown to have been telling the truth.

I have been personally involved in three murder cases where the prosecution offered to drop charges against the suspect if he passed the lie detector, in exchange for an agreement to permit the polygraph results to be used in evidence if the suspect failed. In all three cases. the suspects did fail, the polygrapher's testimony formed the heart of the prosecutor's case, the men were each found guilty and sentenced to life in prison.

Later each of these "convicted murderers" was found to be innocent and was freed - but only after spending from one to five years behind bars!

Many wrongly accused people were eager to be tested, confident that their innocence could be confirmed, only to fail the test.

There is nothing scientific about the polygraph, and people should be encouraged to refuse to submit to it.

DAVID T. LYKKEN, PROFESSOR OF PSYCHIATRY AND PSYCHOLOGY, UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA

DEAR DR. LYKKEN: Thank you for the valuable input — and an appropriate item for George Washington's birthday.
