Ford Working Toward Mideast Peace Talks WASHINGTON (AP) - President Ford is

turning his attention back to the Middle East in a meeting with the Syrian foreign minister after nuddling with top Republican campaign leaders to map strategy for the fall elections.

Today's White House meeting with Abdel Halim Khaddam of Syria is part of continuing talks that Ford and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger are conducting with Middle East officials to lay groundwork for the next stage of negotiations for a peace settlement.

Ford hopes to meet with Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin and Saudi Arabian Foreign Minister Omar Sakkaf over the next three weeks

Before meeting with Khaddam, Ford greeted 100 farm youths at the White House and told them "in a very few years all of you will be running the country so you had better learn how to run it better."

The President strode across the dewy Rose Garden as the 4-H Club members from Michigan and Colorado took his picture.

Ford also planned to meet during the day with the "farm family of the year," Mr. and Mrs. Julian Fowler of Fairbanks, Alaska. He moved through a heavy schedule of meetings and ceremonies Thursday, ending with a private dinner at the White House for Vice

Ford stepped up his role as Republican campaign booster, posing for individual photographs with 135 GOP candidates. Earlier he took time to pose with a dozen senators up for reelection.

But White House Press Secretary Jerald F terHorst said Ford will not campaign as much for GOP congressional candidates this year as he had planned before ascending to the presidency.

"The best politics is to be right here in the White House tending to the affairs of government. But I cannot rule out the possibility of political appearances," said terHorst. TerHorst said no political trips had been scheduled vet.

Ford discussed the fall campaigns for several hours in the Oval Office with Republican National Committee Chairman George Bush and congressional campaign committee chairmen Sen. William E. Brock III, R-Tenn., and Rep. Robert H. Michel, R-Ill.

Ford also signed landmark legislation revamping federal housing and community development programs and authorizing $11.9 billion in the next three years.

CBS Reassigns Rather

NEW YORK (AP) - CBS correspondent Dan Rather is being reassigned to other duties after covering the White House for nearly eight years.

The network said on Thursday that Rather will be replaced by Bob Schieffer, CBS's Pentagon reporter. Phil Jones, who covered President Ford when he was vice president, also will join the network's White House staff. Rather, 42, will continue to anchor CBS's Saturday night news programs and will start anchoring the Sunday ones, the network said. Senior vice president William Small called Rather's new assignment "a promotion to a better

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) - Meyer Lansky, reputed financial wizard of the underworld, may never stand trial in the $36 million Flamingo Hotel case, U.S. District Court Judge Roger D. Foley said Thursday that the 74-year-old Lansky is too ill to stand trial. The judge refused to dismiss the charges against Lansky, but he added, "The case will lie dormant on the calendar ... until the defendant dies or government counsel acts

Shoes Mayor's Woe

FAIRPLAY, Colo. (AP) - The first elected black mayer in Colorado's history says her biggest challenge is to get the streets paved in this tiny mountain town, founded a century age by gold miners. "You can't imagine how many shoes you wear out just walking across the streets," said Ada Evans. An eight-year resident, Mrs. Evans and her family are the only blacks among the 500-population of Fairplay, which is tucked in a valley about 60 miles southwest of Denver and nestles about a half mile below the 14,000-foot peaks of the Rocky Mountains. In addition to getting dusty streets paved, the mayor wants to plan for limited growth by attracting some light industry, annexing some nearby acreage and adding recreational facilities.

Danger Of Coal Strike

HARLAN, Ky. (AP) - United Mine Workers President Arnold Miller says the impact of this week's national coal mine shutdown would be insignificant compared with the possiblity of a full-blown strike later this year. Government and industry "shouldn't worry about five days," Miller told some 3,000 coal miners and union supporters at a rally here Thursday. "If they don't do something before Nov. 12, they'll have a lot more than five days to worry about." The five-day "memorial period" which ends today was called by the UMW to commemorate the thousands who have died in mine accidents. The present national contract expires Nov. 12.

Park Cancels Decrees

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) - President Chung Hee Park today canceled the two decrees that made political dissent punishable by death. His opponents urged him to declare an amnesty for those convicted of violating the decrees and to abandon two other emergency edicts he issued, but a spokesman said pending cases would not be affected. Park said the decrees were no longer necessary because last week's assassination attempt against him had unified the country and convinced the people of the threat of Communist subversion. A total of 171 opponents of Park's dictatorial regime were convicted of violating the decrees and four teen were sentenced to death, and the rest to prison. Five of the death sentences had been commuted to life imprisonment.

Irish Official Killed

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) - Terrorists killed a Protestant government official and wounded another late Thursday night near Dungannen, in County Tyrone, police said today. A police spokesman said both men, officials of the province's Environment Ministry, were shot in the back while they were checking vehicles in a rural area dominated by the guerrillas of the Irish Republican Army. The slaying raised the official toll in the Protestant-Catholic war in Northern Ireland to 1,057 since 1969, including 130 this year.

Restraint Is Key To Inflation War

As evidenced in the recent rash of strikes and threatened strikes in important American industries, organized labor has few compunctions about using its ultimate weapon.

Labor's arguments are that high inflation increases living costs by 10 per cent or more annually-eroding the purchasing power of every worker. But the union's determination to go beyond the "catch-up" level in their wage demands is bringing stiff management resistance that often leads to strikes.

An eleventh-hour settlement avoided a strike in going to be much less work." the nationwide Bell System, but inflationary aspects of the settlement are readily apparent. The new contract calls for a 35 per cent wage increase for telephone workers over a three-year period, DONALD BAUDER plus a cost-of-living escalator tied to the Consumer Price Index. This settlement grossly abuses even the "catch-up" rationale. Pay increases based on higher living costs would be added to increases already amounting to about nine per cent a year. And that, in the opinion of most economists, would be inflationary. Big wage increases will be reflected in ever-higher prices for consumer goods and services.

Even I.W. Abel, president of the United Steel Workers, warn of economic troubles ahead if there is not some restraint in labor's demands. "We from labor," he said recently, "can't be going to the table every year getting 12 to 15 per cent increases President George Meany, as part of the new in benefits for workers and then have management President's review of the nation's economic keep raising prices unless we want the economy to crisis. go to hell."

No Hallelujahs

Congress is said to be embracing the "old-time religion" balancing the federal budget to fight inflation, but when the Senate wrested with the devil the other day, the devil won. The annual Public Works appropriation bill, notorious as a collection of local "pork barrel" projects providing campaign fodder for senators and representatives up for re-election, offered a fine opportunity for the Senate to vote foursquare against deficit ones in position to extract concessions have

Within minutes, Cannon's aides were drafting a letter to the Library of Congress requesting information on Rockefeller. The Rules chairman also began drawing up a list of how many General Accounting Office and Senate sleuths he would have to borrow for the investigation. Even with this help and massive FBI assistance, Cannon expects it will still take weeks to look into Rockefeller's complicated financial interests in the United States and abroad. Ironically, Cannon had just wound up work on the unneeded procedures for an impeachment trial and now he must devote full time to the Rockefeller nomination. "It's going to be a lot more pleasant than a

Facing the Ford administration is the puzsolution. Though no one doubts that some kind of solution will be worked out, the question is who significant, perhaps, is that as the harsh reality of unchecked inflation became clear to all American workers, the number of days of work idleness in June was the largest since July, 1971.

Thus it is not surprising that in the first six months this year, work stoppages idled the Department of Labor.

The impact of these strikes on the productivity of the American industrial sector and on the spendable income of workers is enormous. But beyond the textbook analysis of work stoppages is the clear signal of erosion of put tic nfidence in the economic system and the men who are counted upon to correct the imbalances. Many of the big labor unions or even the little asisted on cost of living escalator clauses in

In many settlements where c'st of living this year seems to be "we have got to stay even selves, as we say thank you.

Although one can argue the chicken-and-theegg theory endlessly, labor sees management freely raising prices under a claim of rising costs, so labor understandably cannot see why it should not receive a proportional share of management's rising income.

It is this upward spiral that President Ford must halt. His first step of reviving the Cost of Living Council to monitor-not control-wages and prices and expose "abuses" is headed for congressional approval but without any pectation that simply exposing abuses (which Mr. Ford did not define) will tell the government, management, labor and consumers anything they didn't already know.

DON OAKLEY We May Not Be So Lucky Next Time

Early in the first act of English playwright J B. Priestley's 1930s "time loop" drama, "Dangerous Corner," a character makes a seemingly innocent statement during a pause in the chatter at a cocktail party. His remark is picked up by someone else, one question leads to another and like links in a chain, revelation follows revelation until at the end scandals are exposed, reputations ruined and marriages

Then, unexpectedly Priestley returns his characters to the beginning of the play. The same innocent remark is made, but this time it goes unnoticed and the curtain falls on a group of people making idle conversation, unaware of the 'dangerous corner" they had just safely

A "dangerous corner" in America's history came last summer when presidential assistant Alexander Butterfield, testifying before the Senate Watergate Committee, almost casually stated that conversations in the President's office had been tape recorded. The chain of events set in motion by that revelation is hard to believe even now.

Had there been no presidential tapes, there would have been no attempt by special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox to obtain then, and hence no "Saturday Night Massacre" of which he was the chief victim. Had there been no "massacre", the House of Representatives would in all probability never have noted to authorize the Committee on the Judiciary to undertake preliminary impeachment investigations.

Had there been no tapes, Cox's successor, Just where in the hell does President Ford get Leon Jaworski, would not have brought suit the idea that those country-umping draftagainst the President, and there would have dodging , yellow-bellied guys who wouldn't go been no historic Supreme Court ruling on execuinto the service and stand up and be counted like tive privilege. There would have been no White House transcripts, which fatally damaged Mr. Nixon's image. And, of course, there would Vietman and blow breath back into them and ask never have been the conclusive proof of his role them would they give them anmesty. No they in the Watergate coverup.

When we pause in congratulating ourselves on how well our Democratic system works, we might reflect that it worked this time only because there was eventually such an accumulation of evidence against the Preisdent that even the fainthearts in Congress could no of peril, I think that a man should stand up and longer close their eyes to it. This new Life is Life in Christ

In this series of photos, Father Sean Shine of All Souls Church in Sanford performed the Rite of Baptism.

According to the Church, at this moment there's a generous invitation to Life, to be accepted freely, written indelibly into a Christian's very being. It alerts those present of "what we do here today for this child and for us who will" put him on this path of Life.

Jesus Christ is saying to us, "Let the little children come to me, for such is the Kingdom of Heaven."

How embarrassing to recognize a person's face but be unable to recall his name! It happens to most of us occasionally God always knows us. His eye is always open to see us. His ear is always open to hear us. We can enjoy His acquaintance

We can enjoy the Presence of God in a special way when we attend church. When we turn our attention fully upon Him, when we elevate our thinking to those matters which hold eternal value, God speaks in the warmest of tones. Yes, God knows us. He calls us by name. He never forgets.

DEAR ABBY lisit To Son Is Nightmare

Y ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAK ABBY: Last year , our eldest son moved out of state and got married. Eventually he called and invited us to visit him in his new, three-bedroom, air-conditioned home. After traveling over 500 miles, we arrived hot and weary, and were shown to our "room"-a windowless garage, with a cast-off mattress on the floor! No pillows, no apologies and no explanations. His father and I felt like two vagrants who had come for a handout. We estimated that in over 20 years, we have provided more : than 7,000 clean beds and 20,000 nutritious meals to this ingrate. not to mention the scores of friends he brought home, who always got the best welcome we could offer.

After two mornings of eating breakfast out (while he and his wife slept late), and after buying everyone's lunch and dinner and providing baby-sitting services, we made an excuse to leave rather then to stay, or tell them how hurt we were. Are we too thin-skinned? Or is this part of the new, casual

DISENCHANTED

DEAR DIS: Please don't blame the new, casual lifestyle of the young for your son and his wife's laziness, rudeness and inconsiderate treatment. (P.S. Alas! Not all twigs grow the way they are bent, Mother.)

DEAR ABBY: What do you do when your wife always corrects you in public? PUT DOWN

DEAR PUT: Tell her (in private) that you'd appreciate it if she'd cut it out. And if she doesn't-then tell her in public.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 15-year-old girl who is pre-engaged to an 18-year-old guy. He wants to get married and so do I, but my parents refuse to sign for me. We have even considered eloping because we are very much in love and can't wait. We can't get married for at least three years, but we are so much in love that we can't control our emotions, if you know what I mean. We only went all the way a few times, but I know it will keep on happening because our love is so strong. My mother never told me anything. Everything I know, I picked up on the street, and I'm really not even sure of my facts. How can I be sure I know everything I should? Can you recommend a booklet? I can't sign my name , but I'll be looking for your answer in the paper. Thank you. IN LOVE.

DEAR IN: I don't know what responsibilities go with being "pre-engaged"-but you are sure to wind up "Post - pregnant" if you don't stop the intimacies and or learn the facts. The Planned Parenthood people have some excellent literature for mothers who can't talk to their daughters. Ask your mother to contact them, and good luck.

DEAR ABBY: I have a unique problem. I have been married to Elmer for six years. We both are in our late twenties. All my life I have been extremely overweight, but this last year, through a friend's inspiration, I was motivated to lose 120 pounds. (Yes, one hundred and twenty pounds!) Throughout my diet Elmer never indicated that he approved or disapproved, but now that my life has changed as much as my figure, Elmer has decided that he doesn't like the "new me," and he wants me to regain the weight I sacrificed so much to get rid

Perhaps I should mention that Elmer is fat, and we used t have a lot of fun together eating all the things we shouldn't but those days are gone for me. Now Elmer feels betrayed, and I feel guilty, because when he married me he really liked me the way I

I am torn between staying thin, which I am so proud to be, or letting myself go to please Elmer. FORMERLY FAT

DEAR FORM: For heaven's sake, stay thin! Join Overeater's Anonymous and let them help you. And take Elmer with you. They are a great, loving, caring fellowship. If Elmer doesn't flip for them and their program, I'll eat my calorie counter.

CONFIDENTIAL TO CONNIE: Being "Number 2" is no better than being "Number 99" as long as "Number one" is still in the picture.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen Agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Cal. 90212.

DEAR POLLY - Is there a reliable paint that could be used on a brown imitation leather (naugahyde) settee and chair that I would like to paint white? Unfortunately I bought, by mistake, a paint that gives a leather-look to furniture. - PATRICIA. DEAR POLLY - My pet Peeve is with the GREAT number of things on many store shelves, counters and racks that have no prices on them. Many of us have limited shopping time and none to spare while an unknown price is looked up. - GEN. DEAR POLLY - I am answering T.V.B. who has a daughter in Germany. She wants to know how her friends over there can make liquid vanilla so they can make their own ice cream. The answer is to do as the Germans do and use vanilla sugar that can be bought in most any German grocery store. - MR.R.G.C.

DEAR POLLY - A few years ago while we were away on vacation someone pulled the plug to our deep freeze and all the contents were spoiled. The odor was terrible. After trying everything I could think of I thought we would have to buy a new one until a friend told me to get some pieces of cedar at a lumber yard and put them inside the freezer. The cedar was left there a week or so. After that I was able to start filling it again. I still keep a piece or two of cedar there since it absorbs any odors. Hope this helps someone who may be having the same trouble. - MRS.H.P.

DEAR POLLY - I am answering T.V.B. who wanted to know how to make vanilla flavoring with vanilla beans. On a recent trip to Tahiti our guide said his native wife kept a jar of sugar with a couple of vanilla beans in it. When she needed both sugar and vanilla in a recipe this was used. - LIBBY. DEAR GIRLS - If the vanilla beans are cut, more of the flavor will be absorbed by the sugar. A bit of experimenting might be necessary to get as much flavor as desired. More beans can be added to make it stronger. - POLLY. DEAR POLLY - Our young son wanted to learn how to fish with a rod and reel. We had an old but fairly good rod but it was minus a couple of eyelets. Not wanting to spend the money for a new rod we retrieved a few rings that came off of soda pop cans and my husband lashed them to the rod with fishing line. We did buy an inexpensive beginner's reel and then he was all ready to fish. If I win a Polly Dollar for this it will join the one I won many years ago that I have in a frame. - AUDREY

Some Teams Are More Equal If You Read The Rule Book

Did I hear someone say something about equality in the hacks and or are my ears playing the to to me again? That's right, equality, and I have a new lasse to ride today. Actually, I'm flogging an old horse-war horse if you will-because the question today is when is this state going to get rid of a one-man tyranny who has ruled with absolute authority the state's high school athletic programs for decades, Floyd Lay? Lay, if you will remember, is the man who put Seminole High out of the district track championships last year. A few years before that he knew of and had proof of an ineligible player on a team that was facing Seminole in a post-season game. It took days of hooting and hollering to get the game score reversed, as it should have been because Lay let the boy play and, my friends, it was 'again' the rules. And this man-make that this dictator of sports-is a "by-the-rules" tycoon. He decides if some youngster can play in a non-Florida High School Activities Association sanctioned tennis match during the school year or not. Mostly, in that case his decision is not. By what right? Who asked him? He's the executive Secretary of the FHSAA, which is charged with keeping our high school sports running. Running his way, I might add. If he doesn't like something, you can bet it won't happen in Florida. That just doesn't seem right.

Well, the latest "burr" I find under my chair's overly soft cushion is the latest list of rules for the state high school championship program. It's based on "equality," that is, equality of the big schools and inequality of the little schools. We all know well enough it's the big boys who rule, and that's just what's going to happen again.

It states in the rules that if a championship game is tied at the end of the fourth quarter, the two teams will get four alternating plays each starting from the 50 yard line and the winner will be declared by which side of the mid-field stripe the ball rests upon at the end of the eight plays. Fine.

That means if my team has the ball on the other team's side in the "sudden death" overtime period of eight plays I win. Great. Great, that is, if my team happens to be a Class Four-A or Three-A school. There just isn't any such provision for the two smaller classifications of schools, Two-A and Single-A. They are declared co-champions in that case. Big Deal.

So, if I want the honor of having one school declared champion, I just had better be rooting for a big school. Bull! That smacks of a kind of privilege system that just doesn't make any

As far as I know it takes the same amount of time, approximately, for a big school as a little school to run off eight alternating plays. So why the difference, Floyd, why? The small schools deserve just as much chance to be the King of the Hill as the big boys, don't they?

Floyd Lay, why don't you just retire? I've got another idea on that. It's the fans, whom we're all trying to please, right? Well then, why don't we give the fans what they paid to see; a real game with real winners. Surely the idea of a "Sudden Death" quarter of football is better than just eight alternating plays.

Let the kids play seven or eight minute quarters till someone scores and the game is over right at that point. Or, we could keep the game going until the end of that allotted period, just to make things, "Super Even." Then, everyone has a real chance, not just a 'hope we can make it on this play' kind of chance. Football isn't a one-play game, nor is it a four-play game; at least not the way Floyd Lay wants it. Opponents of this idea would say: but the kids might get too tired and injuries happen when you get tired. Okay, you're right on that. But, how many kids are there on a football squad for a championship game? There are 44 players allowed to dress out. How many kids play in a championship game? Not that many, at least not that many if you play to win because you're playing only your best. That "injury" argument doesn't seem to hold a whole lot of water if you count the size of the teams allowed. That's what high school football should be about: play 'em all. -----

Of a little less inflamatory nature: Lee Geiger, our Evening Herald Correspondent, deserves a pat on the back. He was recently tapped to be an official judge at the professional boxing matches held in Orlando. Lee, well known to both boxing readers and media afficianadoes throughout the country for his excellent coverage of statewide fighting both professional and amateur is considered one of the best judges around.

"That is," Lee says shyly with a smirking grin that belies the shyness, "because I leave my glasses home and I score both fighters equally because I can't see the guy I'm rooting for."

PINE MOUNTAIN, Ga. (AP) - Barbara Cooper Hedden of Lake Wales, Fla., ran 47 buoys Thursday to win the senior women's slalom title in the 32nd National Water Ski Championships at Callaway Gardens. Mrs. Heddon, former national women's water ski champion, came out of semiretirement to defeat Barbara Cleveland of Hawthorne, Fla., by seven buoys. Bill Chisnell of Pontiac, Mich., took the boy's slalom title with a run of 44 and a hair buoys.

The opening Men I Division event of the tournament was won by Doug Borrow of Columbus, Ohio, who took the tricks title with a run of 3,140 points, 100 points ahead of Dean Collins of Greenville, N.C.

Swimmer Eliminated

VIENNA (AP) - There is no time for tears Friday as world record holder David Wilkie bids to restore his reputation as Britain's golden hope at the European Swimming Championships. The 20-year-old Scot, a student at the University of Miami, made a disastrous start in his campaign at Vienna's colorful and often noisy open airswimmingpool.

Wilkie suddenly stopped swimming at the beginning of a heat in the 10-meter breaststroke and he was eliminated. Later a tearful Wilkie sat under a tree and said: "I thought there was a false start." He explained he had mistaken the horns of Swedish supporters for the recall signal. Now he tries again, in the 200-meter breaststroke in which he holds the world record of 2 minutes, 19.23

Taiwan In LL Finals

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) - Playing almost flawless baseball, the entry from Taiwan once again has reached the finals of the Little League World Series, seeking the island's fourth consecutive championship.

Kao Hsiung, the Taiwan entry, won its semifinal game 11-0 Thursday over Tallmadge, Ohio, as pitcher Kao Sun-Teh allowed just one infield single. The team's opponent in Saturday's final game is Red Bluff, Calif., which used three unearned runs in the next to last inning to edge Maracaibo, Venezuela, 4-3. Tallmadge had played 10 games on its way to Williamport and none of its opponents managed to get more than three runs in any game. But Taiwan scored seven times in the first inning and first baseman Lin Wen-Hsiung hit his second home run of the series. He homered again in the third.

said Chicago Coach Jim Spavital, who got a superb game from quarterback Virgil Carter and a balanced running attack from Cyril Pinder and Mark Kellar.

Soccer Doesn't Draw

MIAMI (AP) - Sunday's North American Soccer League title game is expected to draw less than 20,000 fans to the 80,-000-seat Orange Bowl, but NASL Commissioner Phil Woosnam says his franchises will soon be the most desireable in sports. "Soccer is going to become a major sport," Woosnam said Thursday. "By major, I mean fully filling up these stadiums.

"The break-even point for our clubs will be three to four years. Ten years from now, we'll have most valuable franchises in the sports business."

He said soccer clubs, with smaller rosters and less required equipment, aren't hurt as much by rising costs that are pushing up ticket prices and lowering profits in sports such as feetball.

"If we do the job properly, we can have greater revenue than football with less expenses," said Woosnam, who sees television as the tool to growth. He is courting TV executives now for regular season shows next year.

during the last days of Richard M. Nixon's presidency to make certain no military units became involved in the process of removing the President from office, informed sources said tuday.

Informed Pentagon sources said Secretary of Defense James R. Schlesinger and the Joint Chiefs of Staff kept close watch to make certain no orders were given to military units outside the normal chain of command.

They said the action was designed specifically to assure that no order would go to any military units for any sort of action against Congress during the time between a House vote for impeachment and a Senate trial on impeachment charges. The sources said the action was merely normal contingency planning "in the event test indication from within or sources said.
