Juniper Springs: Explore a remnant of old Florida

By STEVE BARNES
Herald Staff Writer

OCALA - If bubbling spring boils, crystal clear water, and a tranquil, natural setting sound like your idea of a good time this weekend, pack a picnic lunch or your camping gear and head to Juniper Spring State Park.

Nestled in the heart of the Ocala National Forest, Juniper is a beautiful, unspoiled remnant of the natural Florida of yesteryear.

The park is famous for the seven mile canoe trail along Juniper Creek, one of the most pristine and scenic canoe trails in Florida. The creek, which is fed by 13 million gallons of natural spring water a day, winds through the Ocala National Forest at a leisurely pace, allowing visitors to soak up the magnificent views.

As you glide gently past moss covered oaks and sandy beaches, you may be fortunate enough to see Florida Black Bear, White Tailed Deer or Florida Alligators. The

Students blend one year of lessons with budding acting talent

By DAVID FRAZIER
Herald Staff Writer

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS - The students of Spring Lake Elementary School are eager to show audiences what they have learned this year. The students are putting on --with the help of their teachers-- a comprehensive play on the lessons that they were taught in their classes. The play, A Year to Remember, is an anthology consisting of seven stories centered on seven areas from prehistoric history to good nutrition.

The first story is Food Wars and is a take off of the Star Wars trilogy. It is an amusing little piece with certain characters names being changed around. For example, C-3PO is now Split-Pea-Three-Oh. That is a cute, clever idea. And Darth Vader is Dark Chocolate described by one character as "the Meanness of Malnutrition" who resides over "the Doughnut Star". Through this sketch, audiences learn the importance of nutrition and its value to the body. With the original soundtrack from the movies in the background, Food Wars could even bring a smile from George Lucas' impervious mug.

The second story is Bella Fiona's Dinner Party and is a picnic of insects. Poor Bella Fiona has not planned for her dinner party very well seeing as how she only has flowers for the main feast. Her guests tell her that they do not "have straws" like Bella in which to suck the nectar from the flowers. It is a lesson in entomology that stings you in the right place. The third story is Native Americans which is a lesson about the various Indian tribes that once populated the United States. The story of Native Americans is made even more endearing with one student singing the words to a song that ends the piece.

Our Country is a spot that explains the various United States government departments and how they function. But it also pays respect to those people behind the scenes that make our nation what it is. With songs like "God Bless America" and "Let's Here it for America", its a bright tribute to America and the people that make it run.

The fifth story, Getting to Know

Preserving wetlands

Pristine riverfront land would escape development

By BOB PFEPAUF
Herald Staff Writer

A pending land purchase would preserve for future Seminole County residents a pristine spot along the St. Johns River.

The upcoming meeting of the St. Johns River Water Management District (SJRWD) has items pertaining to several large parcels of land in and near Seminole County up for consideration.

Within Seminole County, SJRWMD is working toward the purchase of 3,456 acres of land known as the Yarbrough Property. It fronts on the Econ as well as St. Johns River, off E. SR-46, near the Geneva area.

According to Bill Graf with St. Johns, "As I understand it, this purchase would protect Econ and St. Johns river wetlands downstream from the Little-Big Econ State Forest."

He said the Yarbroughs have worked out a

By VICKI DeSORMIER

SANFORD — The officials at the Seminole County Student Museum want you to Spring into History on Saturday, May 17 by attending their open house at the museum and by walking through two National Register Historic Districts.

Events are scheduled from noon to 4 p.m. and are free to the public.

The Student Museum, located at 301 W. 7th Street in Sanford, is a 1902 public school listed on the National Register of Historic Places. Now a hands-on museum providing instructional programs for Seminole County students, the museum features a Native American room, a pioneer room, a turn of the century classroom and photo galleries. There is currently an exhibit on loan, Georgetown, the History of a Black Neighborhood.

On May 17, there will be a slide presentation at 12:30 p.m. and 2:30 p.m. which will highlight the history of the building.

At noon and 2 p.m. that day, there will be walking tours of the residential historic district. Each tour lasts approximately 45 minutes and space is limited. Registration is required. Tours of the business historic district will be at 1 and 3 p.m.

Can it get any stranger than this?

Today is...
NICK PFEIFAUP
Staff Writer

The more background I read in preparation for this column, the more weird items I find. Of course many of them lead my mind to think humorous thoughts, but for some, I am amazed that people would actually observe some of the events going on.

Today is a good example. They are having a lobster race in Aiken, S.C. Not your run-of-the-mill lobsters, but "thoroughbred" lobsters. There's a crawfish festival in Breaux Bridge, Louisiana, and a shrimp festival in Fernandina Beach. It's enough to get me hungry.

Today is International Tuba Day, the Tennessee River Fiddlers Convention is going on in Florence, Alabama (you thought it would be in Tennessee?), a cribbage tournament is being held in Quincy, Cal., and in Conway, Arizona, today starts the 16th annual weekend-long event, Toad Suck Daze.

On May 2, 1865, President Andrew Johnson, who took over after Lincoln was assassinated, offered a $100,000 reward for the capture of Confederate government President Jefferson Davis. Ole' Jeff was never captured, having escaped with his cabinet members, he fled to a foreign country.

Tomorrow is also a day of unusual observances. It's Bark in the Park in Lincoln Park, Chicago, in recognition of "Be Kind to Animals" Week. There's a Cotton Pickin' Fair in Gay, Ga., a Dandelion festival in Dover, Ohio, a sheep festival in West Friendship, Md., and a chili cookoff in Roanoke, Va.

Of course the big event tomorrow (Saturday) is the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs. The race was first held in 1875.

In historical birthdays, Harry Lillis "Bing" Crosby was born May 2, 1904; burlesque star Pinky Lee was born May 2, 1907, and Pope Leo XIII was born May 2, 1810.

In today's birthdays, singers Larry Gallin is 48, and Lesley Gore is 51. Tomorrow, (Saturday) James Brown turns 64, magician Doug Henning turns 50, Engelbert Humperdinck turns 61, and Frankie Valli turns 60.

One more point, Saturday (tomorrow), is Lumpy Rug Day, but it's not as unusual as it may sound by title alone. It's a day to call attention to political leaders and others in power for shoving unwelcome or embarrassing facts under the rug.

It reminds me of all of the allegations (true or not true) regarding the real reason TWA Flight 800 went down off New York. People are saying that officials are withholding the true facts, (hiding them under a rug to avoid embarrassment), and giving responses that simply don't ring true.

Where did "under the rug" come from? Well, it's called the legend of Thirt. (I have no idea what Thirt is), but anyway, the legend is that when too many cans of worms have been shoved under the rug and the rug starts to swell up, some people will go out and buy another new rug to cover more of the worms, rather than clearing them up.

Have a good weekend, and be kind to your four footed friends. Next week is Be Kind to Animals Week and National Pet Week.

New at the movies: Austin Powers

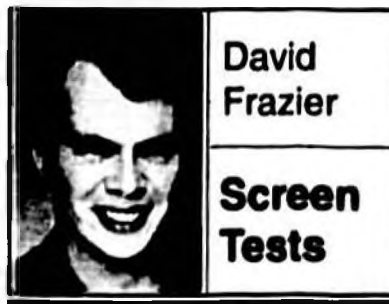

Austin Powers: International Man of Mystery (PG-13): Oh, behave! I say Austin Powers, let's be serious for a moment. Your movie is really groovy, baby! I mean it. Austin Powers: International Man of Mystery is sure to be one of the funniest movies this year. It's shagadelic, baby!

Where those other chaps like Mel Brooks and the Zucker brothers have worn out spoofs and satires, Mike Myers (Wayne's World), who wrote Austin Powers, has rejuvenated the genre with cleverness and spirit. It's a smashing time!

So Austin, British secret agent, your arch nemesis, Dr. Evil, is up to no good. He has cryogenically frozen himself along with his cat, Mr. Biggles, and jettisoned into outer space in a giant Frishes' Big Boy statue. Dr. Evil is dead set on world domination and whether it is in the 60's or the 90's makes no difference. He's heinous, baby!

How brave you were, Austin, to submit yourself to cryogenic freezing so that in the event of Dr. Evil's return you will be there to stop his diabolical plans. But Austin, this is not your time anymore. It's the 90's and things are a lot different from the swinging 60's.

There is no random "shagging" with the ladies anymore, Austin. There are differences in politics, music and fashion style. Your nemesis will find things different as well. But his penchant for world domination will never change. So with the daughter of your now retired partner, you should be able to foil the plans of Evil once again.

David Frazier

This far out, psychedelic comedy/spoof is the most, daddy-o. And since there is so much going on, it would be a mind-tripping task or a major bum to reveal it all here. But rest assured they're going to like it Austin, baby! You're alter ego, Mike Myers, a definite comic genius, with the help of that hip cat director Jay Roach, are able to bring you to vibrant, flamboyant life. And if I had to point out a criticism on your movie, Austin, it would have to be the lack of brevity in certain sequences. For example, Dr. Evil's readjustment meeting with his right-hand man No. 2 (Robert Wagner) and other henchmen went on far too long. It was a drag, baby!

But I did love those rockin' interludes with your band, Ming Tea. Austin. Rock on, baby!

Austin Powers (Mike Myers) and Agent Vanessa Kensington (Elizabeth Hurley) plan their escape in New Line Cinema's comedy, Austin Powers: International Man of Mystery.

But Mike Myers does a fab job on portraying you cat! He looks the part from rotting teeth to horned rim glasses.

Myers captures your naive, yet free spirited nature. He's a bloody gas man! Myers also carries off a wonderful rendition of Donald Pleasance's character in James Bond film with your enemy Dr. Evil. And Elizabeth Hurley that gorgeous Ester Lauder model is hip to the (mirr) beat, baby! As your assistant, Vanessa Kensington Hurley is punningly saucy as the straight man, love interest. And there are some hilarious cameos by Tom Arnold (McHale's Navy) and Carrie Fisher (Star Wars).

Myers has done you right, Austin, baby. He has made you one of the most memorable screen characters I can remember. It's crazy wild stuff man. So throw on your velvet suits, don't forget your knucklers and remember to brush your choppers. It's time for a swimin' good show with Austin Powers, baby! Price and a half stars out of four.

Lake Mary earmarks $$$ for downtown development study

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY — The next fiscal year budget for the city of Lake Mary will include $50,000 for the Downtown Development Advisory Committee (DDAC). The money is to be used in a major study of the downtown area.

DDAC Chairman John McMenamy made a presentation to the commission Thursday night reporting that the work of the committee has reached a point where it could begin to operate as the city requested, without funding.

"We have come to a fork in the road in completing our work," McMenamy said. "Without operating funds, we will become just a downtown beautification committee, and that's not what the commission wants our committee to do."

The money would be used to undertake a professional study of three major needs in the historic downtown area: storm water retention, parking, and sanitary sewers/utilities. "Knowing what the needs are in these areas is important," he said. "Without them, meaningful development would be impossible."

"What they are asking for," explained City Manager John Litton, "is a $50,000 commitment for our upcoming budget considerations. We already had the money planned for the 1998/99 budget. This would just move it ahead by one year."

After an RFQ (Request for Qualifications) is made and responses received from prospective firms to provide an analysis of the feasibility and costs of the downtown development area, the city would have the responsibility of selecting the firm.

Litton added that any total overall study could cost up to $100,000, and that the $50,000 was merely a starting point.

"Is this money going to give us anything where the city might be able to save a few bucks in the future?" questioned Commissioner Gary Breder.

Senior Planner Susan Deines responded. "It's going to go a long way toward establishing a point where we could begin to help for the city," she said.

"I don't want to spend $100,000 for a study which will only tell us that we can't afford to make these improvements," said Commissioner Thom Greene.

Part of the study will be to determine costs before we make any final decision," responded Deines. "But it's information the city will need to help support any downtown development. Maybe it will show we can't do everything we want now, but the information will be valuable for anyone seeking to develop downtown areas. Yes, it's a risk, but it will also be a gain for the city."

"Even if the study shows we can't afford to do anything right now," added City Planner Matt West, "it will be valuable in determining the quality of life in the downtown area."

"We also have to remember the proposed rail transportation plans which will be coming through out downtown area on the CSX tracks," said Mayor David Meador. "That will also be part of our downtown redevelopment."

Commissioner Sheila Sawyer however, said she believed the members of the commission should study the request further before making any decision. "This is $100,000," she said, "and we need to think harder before spending that amount. I'm not quite ready to vote on that issue tonight."

Mayor Meador however, called for a vote, and the initial request for $50,000 to be included in the next budget, was approved by a four to one vote.

Editorial/Opinion

Sanford needs a new noise law similar to Orlando's

We need some new laws. In this case, laws against excessive noise. They may have prevented the citizen uprising over recent concerts in the south end of Sanford.

Sanford has a Nuisance Abatement Board. The group's next meeting is Wednesday, May 7 at 6:30 p.m. in City Hall. One would assume that noise is a nuisance. But nuisance laws we have; it's the noise ordinances we lack.

The city has attempted to enact some laws in past years, mostly aimed at noise from radios or boom-boxes. They were never found to be enforceable.

They tried when people complained that someone, possibly in a neighboring apartment, had a boom-box turned up full blast, keeping children awake at all hours.

They tried when other people complained about vehicles driving by, or parking in the area, with their radios, tapes or CDs reverberating through monster speakers, practically to the point where nearby trees are shaking.

Even though such continuous noise has been proven to be injurious to a person's ear drums, these drivers persist in shaking the atmosphere around them wherever they go, even at a stoplight.

But unless a certain level of noise can be proven, within a specified distance from the point of origin, there is nothing which can be done.

Noise is measured in decibels. The Noise Ordinance currently used by the City of Orlando, and presently under study by the City of Sanford, has a maximum of 60 decibels of noise in the daytime, and 55 decibels at night in residential areas. For commercial areas, the figures are 70 in the daytime and 65 at night.

The one major point the Orlando law does not stress however, is the distance from the point of origin at which these sound levels must occur before the law is violated.

One sub-paragraph does stress that the distance for noise for radios, phonographs, televisions, etc., between the hours of 11 p.m. and 7 a.m. be in violation, it is is, "plainly audible at a distance of 50 feet from the building, structure or vehicle in which it is located.

What is considered "audible?" Does it mean you can't hear it anymore, or that it isn't loud enough to hurt your hearing?

The Sanford City Commission is discussing the possibility of purchasing noise evaluating equipment. Such an item would measure the number of decibels, at a specific location.

The city will have to determine what the maximum levels should be, and at what distance from the structure or point of origin. Only then will we have a law with some teeth in it.

Barring some unexpected ruling by some high court, we believe it is possible to have appropriate laws. Excessive noises can be reduced. But it will take extensive study, much preparation of an ordinance, and close scrutiny by city attorneys, before it can be declared appropriate and worthy of passage.

Orlando's ordinance says, "It shall be unlawful for any person to make, continue or cause to be made or continued, any loud, unnecessary or unusual noise or any noise which either annoys, disturbs, injures or endangers the comfort, repose, health, peace or safety of others within the corporate limits of the city."

The aim of the Orlando ordinance is excellent. Now let's see if we can come up with a Sanford ordinance which will not only say something similar, but give our law enforcement and code divisions the teeth they need to bring these problems to a halt.

deal which will allow them to remain on the property for 20 years, in exchange for a much reduced selling price. The public will get additional access from the riverside and complete public access will be granted once the 20 year lease expires.

"We are excited about this deal, first of all because we weren't sure it would ever get done," Graf said. "Secondly, we will be able to control the land use during the lease period in an effort to protect the wetland and river systems which ultimately affect the quality of both rivers."

He continued, "And frankly, part of the land acquisition philosophy is to look one or two generations down the road and determine what properties should be in public ownership for the sake of the natural systems."

The amount of money being considered for the purchase price was not immediately revealed.

The other property scheduled for discussion is located in Volusia County, northeast of Sanford, off CR-415, between Sanford and Osteen. Called the Osteen Ranch, the property consists of approximately 2,024.5 acres.

"We (SJRWMD) purchased that property about 11 years ago," Graf explained, but since that time, we have learned the mineral rights were sold to private individuals. Now what we want to do is buy those rights back."

"We wouldn't want to have someone come in and say, 'I'm going to do some mining here' which would certainly cause a great deal of problems for everyone," he added.

To purchase the mineral rights, Graf said it may cost approximately $15 per acre.

Both items are scheduled on the agenda for the 9 a.m. May 14th meeting of St. Johns, at district headquarters, SR-100 West, Palatka.

On the previous day, SJRWMD will meet beginning at 10 a.m., for the governing board, regulatory agency and committees.

An additional item pertaining to Seminole County is scheduled for the Finance Committee meeting. It involves consideration of a cost-share agreement with Seminole County, for Little Wekiva Dredging Project.

The district's contribution is to be in an amount not to exceed $250,000. Seminole County's contribution will be $333,000 for a total project cost of $603,000.

You, deals with the historic voyage of Christopher Columbus as he set sails for America and the friends when he arrives. The sixth story, Interview with the Dinosaurs, takes audiences back to the Stone Age as we witness job interviews for Fred and Wilma Flintstone's new bowling alley. They hire their own Jurassic Park and we learn the various characteristics of dinosaurs in the process.

The final sketch, The Magic Schoolbus in Space, is a piece where a teacher, notorious for taking her students on wild field trips, plans an outing through space learning about the planets and their various traits.

The play is an example of the dedication of the faculty and the bright young "Shakespeareans" that perform. It is a fun, spirited look about the joy of learning.

creek also supports a variety of local and migratory birds.

The run is one way, with canoe rentals available within the park. At the end of your journey, park staff will pick you up and return you to your starting point. The trip takes about four hours, and the cut off time for departure is quite early. Actual times vary with the time of the year and number of people making the run. To increase your chance of getting a canoe and seeing wildlife, I suggest you arrive by 9 a.m.

Better yet, arrive a day early and spend the night in the campground, roasting hot dogs and marshmallows while singing songs or telling ghost stories around the campfire. Or spend the evening stargazing, far from city lights. You will be awe-struck by the sheer number and brilliance of the stars, sparkling like millions of tiny diamonds in the midnight sky. Now is an excellent time to go as the comet Hale-Bopp may be seen with the naked eye.

The park offers plenty of activities to entertain the whole family, including swimming in the stone rimmed spring, exploring the moss covered mill and hiking along the 66 mile Florida National Scenic Hiking Trail.

Trails within the park wind past the old mill, along the babbling creek and over a vine covered stone bridge. Below the bridge, and at various locations along the creek, spring water bubbles out of the ground in sandy boils. Standing in the shifting sand above the spring is a feeling akin to sinking in quicksand, without the accompaniment fear of death. (After leaving the park, I learned that this activity is not permitted. So don't do it!)

Kids will enjoy the educational exhibits and the wide variety of wildlife, including some of the friendliest squirrels in Florida. Parents will enjoy the peace and quiet and the break from the hectic pace of modern life.

TRIP TIP: Arrive early to beat the crowds, or better yet plan your trip for mid-week when you will have the park virtually to yourself. Bring plenty of sun block and bug repellent. Also, disposable items such as sandwich bags, soda cans etc. are not permitted on the canoe trail. Be sure to pack re-usable food, and beverage containers instead.

PHOTO TIP: Bring lots of film. Polarizing filters will cut down on glare from the water and graduated neutral density filters can darken washed out looking skies to produce a post-card looking effect. For more information about these filters, contact a reputable photo dealer or call me here at the Herald.

To get to Jumper Spring from Sanford, take Highway 17-92 north to Highway 40 and go west about 30 miles. The park entrance is located on the right. For more information call (352) 625-2808.

America celebrates

National Day of Prayer a practical tradition

SPECIAL TO THE HERALD

The 1997 National Day of Prayer's (Thursday, May 1) theme was "In God We Trust." The scripture for this year is from Psalm 20:7 - "Some trust in chariots and some in horses, but we trust in the name of the Lord our God."

An American tradition

Our first statement as Americans of national purpose and identity, which is the Declaration of Independence, states that people have inalienable rights that are God given. Some of these "rights" were ascribed fifteen years later in the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution which secured the right of "free exercise" of religion and the protection of that right by prohibiting any "law-respecting an establishment of religion." The body of The Continental Congress in 1775 officially called all citizens to fast and pray and confess their sin that God might bless them. In our Declaration of Independence (1776), there are four specific references to our nation's dependence on God.

The U.S. Congress in 1782 approved the American Seal. On every dollar bill, the seal is pictured with the "Eye of God" directly above the pyramid. The words "Annuit Coeptis" signifies - "He (God) has favored our undertaking."

In America, because of the faith in Almighty God of our founding fathers, civil and national days of prayer have a long history. George Washington called for national prayer in his Thanksgiving Day Proclamation in 1789 by stating the duty of all nations is "to be grateful for His (God's) benefits, and humbly to implore His protection, aid and favors..."

In 1952, Congress passed a joint resolution establishing an annual National Day of Prayer (signed by President Harry Truman). This law was amended in 1988, setting the first Thursday in May of each year as National Day of Prayer (signed by President Ronald Reagan).

As recently as 1983 in March v. Chambers, the Supreme Court has affirmed the right of state legislatures to open its sessions with prayer. The Congress and the Supreme Court begin each day with prayer. Today at the U.S. Pentagon pointed on the stairway wall, one will find a large mural of a family praying together in church.

The practical application

This year, prayers for our nation will be lifted up at state capitols, county court houses, city hall steps, schools, businesses, churches and homes. Prayer breakfasts, luncheons and evening prayer services will be attended by hundreds of thousands of people. Across the street from the White House in Lafayette Park, people will gather to pray for the President of the United States.

All that makes up America's beginnings speak of our dependence on Almighty God. As a nation, we yet ascribe the 1997 National Day of Prayer theme - "In God We Trust."

Our founding fathers sought and needed the wisdom and aid of God. They are not alone - for our need is even greater today! Realization of this great need for God's help is demonstrated today by many leaders ending their statements in speaking to the nation with the words: "So help me God."

When the day that we live in is spoken of as the "society of death" - seeing the crime, violence, family disintegration and racial division that are running rampant in our society-let us not be a presumptuous people. Let us as Americans join with our leaders in word and action as we consider the great needs of this country. Pray diligently for our government and leaders, and stand firm in the seal - "In God We Trust." Carefully look at the whole picture of life in society with a prayerful plea: "So help me God." Speak this plea while it is not too late!

Think about that!

Family festival success

Rise Up Sanford recently sponsored a family festival with the theme "A Gospel Day in the Park" at Ft. Mellon Park. Among the activities, youth enjoyed basketball amid the shadow the (Rise) banner. Musical groups, choirs, food, fun and games were all part of the Saturday event.

Pastor speaks on being a good egg

SANFORD — Ever crack an egg and wonder where the yellow went? We're told that the brighter the yellow, the healthier the egg. But we know that not all eggs are good eggs.

For thousands of young people, we are approaching an exciting time of the year: graduation. Some from high school; some from college. Of all these eggs hatching in our educational institutions, some (unfortunately), will be bad. The reason is that "it's not what's up front that counts-it's what's inside."

Wouldn't it be great if we could guarantee any young person success and happiness just by his or her sitting for a few years in the classroom? But it doesn't work that way.

Many a youth has graduated with honors, stepped into the world with his diploma or degree, only to experience failure-sometimes instant failure. He thought he had the world by the tail and found the reverse to be true.

Where is the difference? The difference is in the egg. A good egg sees his education as a tool rather than a crutch. He goes out, not to hitch his educational certificate to the gravy train, but to make a solid contribution to life by choosing to be something as well as to do something.

In the final analysis it is what a person is, rather than what he or she does, that counts. Your education is preparing you intellectually for living a good, useful life. Let it be said of you what was said of a young man in Bible times: "Then this Daniel was preferred above the preadents and princes, because an excellent spirit was in him" (Daniel 6:3).

What a super surprise I got yesterday

SANFORD — It's amazing how much something can change in 10 hours. While driving home from the Herald Thursday morning I passed Sanford Memorial Stadium and noticed that the M. Gay Company out of Jacksonville was working on putting in the poles for the new lights. But as they had been there all week I did not think much about it.

But oh what a beautiful sight in the afternoon. The new lights are up, they look great and the old place looks like a baseball stadium again. When the City was forced to remove the old lights because the wooden poles were rotting out, I thought the days for the stadium were numbered. Let's face it, even though many things were still going on at the stadium, without lights no big event was going to come to Sanford.

But with people like Whitey Eckstein, Charlie Lytle, Rod Ferguson and the staff of the City of Sanford Parks and Recreation Department refusing to let the place die, it looks like we might again have a showplace we can all be proud of. Along with the new lights, new turf has been installed in the stadium, so by the time the ASA Open Slow Pitch Softball World Series, which we can all thank Rocky Ellingsworth for bringing here, starts in August the place should look real good and be ready to host the best softball players in the world.

But the renovation project is far from being completed. Money is still needed to redo the covered seating areas, bathrooms, concession stands and offices.

Different fund raising projects are planned, but it sure would be nice if a corporation or wealthy individual could come up with a donation to help the renovation along.

The stadium could have a major effect on the economy of Sanford if it is rebuilt the right way.

We know different adult and youth baseball leagues will use the facility, but it could also attract concerts like the excellent show Jack Elton did last summer to start the money rolling in, despite the opinion of one extremely misinformed person (maybe we could do the show again now that the facility is in better shape?), softball tournaments, revivals, car shows and endless other outdoor events.

Maybe Seminole Community College would want to play some games here, maybe the Orlando Rays or Daytona Beach Cubs would play some of their games here. And who knows, maybe the Tampa Bay Devil Rays might consider putting a Florida State League or Rookie League baseball team here. The possibilities are endless if the renovation is done correctly.

One thing that the public can do to help right now is get a golf foursome together and compete in the 1997 City of Sanford Benefit Golf Tournament that will be held at Mayfair Country Club on May 16th starting at 1 p.m. All proceeds from the tournament will be used to assist with the Memorial Stadium Renovation Project. For more information, call 330-5697.

Also, at the Sanford City Council meeting on Monday, May 12th, a proposal will be presented to rename the field part of the stadium after Wes Rinker and Julian Stenstrom. So come on out and show your support or dislike for the idea. The stadium will still be called Sanford Memorial Stadium to honor our military veterans, but renaming the field would honor two very important people to Sanford.

Come on people of Sanford and Seminole County, let's get involved and get the renovation ball rolling.

Speaking of Seminole Community College. SCC baseball coach Jack Pantelias reached a milestone this past season despite having a less than stellar campaign. The veteran coach reached the 600 career wins plateau earlier this season, a number few coaches have reached.

But Pantelias was not sure if he would get there. "I had 598 wins coming into the season," laughed Pantelias. "But it was beginning to look like I might have to wait until next year to get those wins."

Congratulations coach.

It must be strange on the football sidelines these days. Spring High School football practice started yesterday and will conclude with the Jamboree at Lake Mary on May 16th. But with the passing of Seminole High School assistant coach Don Carter earlier this week, it must seem odd at several schools.

With familiar faces Carter gone and Jack Blanton (Oviedo) and Fred Almon (Lake Brantley) retired, things are going to be considerably different this fall.

When I was informed of Coach Carter's passing on Monday, I had a real empty feeling. A lot of us looked up to him with respect and awe.

We used to go watch him play softball back in the 60's and 70's when he was one of the top power hitters in the area. And when we were playing football at Crooms around 1970, he used to impress us with his strength in the weight room.

Recently, I know he enjoyed fishing and spending time with his family before getting involved in coaching again with Ernie McPherson. It was a real shock and we will all miss him.

Champions-hip night

Diamond squads go for district gold

By DEAN SMITH
Herald Sports Editor

LAKE MARY — Tonight's games are for pride, bragging rights and home field advantage.

At 7 p.m. tonight in Kissimmee and Lake Mary, five Seminole Athletic Conference teams will be looking for their respective district championships and a home game in the regionals next week.

With victories on Wednesday night, the SAC quintet all clinched a spot in those same mentioned regionals, making tonight's games semi meaningless, because win or lose, you get to play again.

But everyone wants to be a champion, plus if you win, you get to play a district runner-up at home next week. If you lose, you have to play a district champion on their field.

Another interesting note to tonight's games is the fact that all three games feature the No. 1 seed against the No. 2 seed.

In the Class 6A-District 4 Baseball Tournament at Lake Mary High School, the No. 2 seeded Oviedo will be looking to even the season series at 2-2 when they take on top-seeded and No. 3 state ranked Lake Brantley. The Patriots have won both regular season meetings between the two squads, but the Lions edged Lake Brantley when the pair met in the Big Blue Bonanza championship game.

In the Class 6A-District 4 Softball Tournament, also at Lake Mary High School, the No. 1 seeded, and host, Rams will be looking to avenge last year's loss in the title game to Oviedo. Both teams are coming off comfortable semifinal wins on Wednesday night.

In the Class 5A-District 6 Baseball Tournament at Osceola County Stadium in Kissimmee, Seminole High School will be looking to beat top-seeded Merritt Island for the second time this season. The Tribe punished the Mustangs at home in early April, just the second loss of the season for the No. 1 seed.

Seminole has won both of its games in the tournament with home runs, one each by CJ Williams and Rob Denmon, but it has been the outstanding pitching of Brad Jenkins, Josh Blanton and Williams that has been the key to the victories. Sophomore left hander Chaz Lytle will be on the hill for head coach Mike Powers tonight.

From Staff Reports

SANFORD — The Play It Again Sports Expos put a major crimp in the playoff hopes of the Neth & Son Roofing Marlins and kept its slim dreams alive in Sanford Recreation Department Babe Ruth Baseball Bambino League action at Roy Hollar Field Thursday evening.

The Expos appeared to be in control as they took a 9-0 lead in the top of the third inning. But the Marlins came to life in the bottom of the third inning, cutting the lead to 9-5.

That flurry only seemed to ignite the Expos, who plated 13 runs in the top of the fourth inning to pull off the mild upset 22-5.

Magic even series at 2-2

By JEFF BERLINCKE
Herald Staff Writer

ORLANDO — Was it only Monday that the Orlando Magic was little more than a flat line on the respirator system?

Apparently the Tin Men that went to Miami and got blown out in the first two games of the NBA Playoffs had a heart all along.

Like the Grinch that stole Christmas, their hearts grew by about 10 times as Orlando evened the best-of-five series at two games each with a convincing 99-91 win over the Heat Thursday night at the Orlando Arena to force a deciding Game 5.

Tip-off will be 12:30 p.m. Sunday at the Miami Arena.

Who had the biggest heart of all? Start with Penny Hardaway and his 41 points, including 27 at the half. Penny played all 48 minutes and has 83 points in the last two games.

At crunch time, it's not uncommon to see a superstar get greedy and try to carry a team on his back. Penny accepted the challenge.

Risks of on-line gambling don't justify the rewards

On-line gambling has become big business on the Internet, offering everything from bingo and lotteries from around the world, to virtual casinos and sports betting parlors. While some are just for fun, most are for real money, lose or draw.

But before you put your money down consider the risks. For one, gambling in general is illegal in most states, and placing bets on the Internet violates federal law and some state statutes. It's also an addiction for many people, and the Internet makes it easier to get into trouble.

Another worry is that on-line gambling will bring out the chronic gambler in many otherwise normal people. Even worse, is the potential for children to get on-line and gamble, generally by taking their parents' credit cards and running up large bills.

Education is the difference

DEAR ABBY: When I saw the letter in your column from the woman who wrote to say that after 13 years of abuse, she had finally decided to get out, I was so moved that I wrote my own "poem." I call it, "She said I..."

DEAR ABBY: I'm sure I'll be criticized for my opinion, but I am SICK AND TIRED OF VOLUNTARY VICTIMS IN OREGON.

DEAR ABBY: You recently stated in one of your "Dear Abby" columns that "Love isn't..."

DEAR ABBY: I'm not exhausted and I don't know how to get off this merry-go-round my husband and I are on. Two years ago he told me he really loved me but he felt he's not good enough for me, so he wanted a divorce.

Sexual abuse leaves many scars

DEAR DR. GOTT: I recently learned that my 18-year-old son was abused by his father years ago. My son has experienced shame, depression, suicidal tendencies, and poor school performance. He was unable to share this with anyone, even his sister with whom he is very close. I am writing you in hopes that you will express to readers the terrible consequences of sexual abuse. The major factor is that the children blame themselves.

MEDICINE

PETER GOTT, M.D.

DEAR READER: Indeed, they do. I suppose that most people's natural tendency is to blame themselves when things go wrong, be it divorce, death or sexual abuse. However, in many instances, the self-blame is misdirected. True, we all — as adults — share the responsibility for unhappy events. But, with childhood sexual abuse — the most abominable of crimes — responsibility rests squarely and irrevocably on the adult.

Unhappily, perpetrators of this heinous activity often convince their victims, who are vulnerable and frightened, that they — the children — somehow brought this abuse upon themselves. Moreover, the victims are frequently sworn to secrecy, particularly if the abuser is a parent. Thus, by covering up the abuse, the victims feel unjustified guilt and blame.

In almost every case, psychological counseling is necessary to help the abused children cope with their horrid experiences.

Your comments are entirely appropriate. Thank you for writing.

DEAR DR. GOTT: In a past column on interstitial cystitis, you mentioned bladder stretching as the only treatment. What about Elmiron?

DEAR READER: Interstitial cystitis is a poorly understood affliction that experts estimate may affect up to 450,000 people (mostly women) in the United States. The disorder causes marked bladder pain and spasms, and is not due to an infection. It can be diagnosed by a special test called cystoscopy, and has traditionally been difficult to treat.

When I wrote the original column several months ago, the Food and Drug Administration had yet to approve Elmiron, the first prescription oral therapy for interstitial cystitis.

Now, I am happy to report, the drug has been approved. The recommended dose is 100 milligrams three times a day. Side effects include nausea, rash, abdominal pain, liver inflammation, and hair loss.

For further information, contact the Interstitial Cystitis Association at P.O. Box 1553, Madison Square Garden, New York, NY 10159.

To give you still more information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Consumer Tips on Medicine."

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm an 83-year-old man with an annoying problem. I have to get up an average of four times a night to urinate. Why?

DEAR READER: Nocturia (night-time urination) has many causes, ranging from excess fluid consumption to diabetes and prostate problems. In a man your age, prostate enlargement is the probable culprit.

You need an examination — and, possibly, a PSA blood test for prostate cancer — that can easily be performed by your family doctor.

If your prostate gland is enlarged (or if the blood test shows the possibility of a malignancy), you should be referred to a urologist for further advice and treatment that may include drugs (such as Proscar) to shrink the gland, medicine (such as Hytrin) to relieve bladder spasm, or surgery to remove excess prostatic tissue.

While you're awaiting your doctor's appointment, try the following, which may reduce the frequency of urination: no caffeine-containing beverages after noon (caffeine is a kidney stimulant), and no fluids after supper.

To give you more information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "The Prostate Gland." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2017, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10158. Be sure to mention the title.

WIN AT BRIDGE

Think before obeying

By Phillip Alder

Perhaps you like to follow this adage: "Always return partner's lead." However, in bridge you cannot say "always" or "never" — each deal must be taken on its own merits. (Until a couple of years ago, I thought it was right always to lead up to honors. Then I saw a deal in which that was the wrong line of play. Declarer had to lead away from the honors!)

This deal was played last January in the Australian capital of Canberra. East, Phil Fent, didn't return his partner's suit, instead finding an excellent switch to defeat the contract.

South's two-no trump bid showed 18-19 points. He added a point for his decent five-card suit.

After winning the first trick in hand with the club queen, South, Australian international Peter Gill, played a spade to dummy's 10 and East's queen.

If East returns a club, declarer makes the contract. He wins in the dummy, crosses to hand with a spade to the ace, cashes the ace-king of diamonds, and leads a club to dummy. He takes the Q J of diamonds before playing a heart to his jack. West wins with the queen and cashes his last club, but then he has to concede a trick to South's heart king. Declarer's nine tricks are one spade, one heart, four diamonds and three clubs.

However, Fent switched accurately to the heart 10, jack, queen, five. Now West, Andrew Muir, reverted to clubs. The contract could no longer be made, because if South tried the same end-play, he would have five losers: one spade, three hearts and one club.

Let's revise that adage: Always return partner's lead unless you have something better to do.

The year ahead could prove to be a rewarding one for you materially, provided you operate in accord with your highest standards. Follow the narrow, but profitable path to victory.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) If there is an important objective you hope to achieve, make every effort to do it today instead of waiting for later. You are on a good roll now. GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Take the limitations off your expectations today and be optimistic. If you restrict your vision, you'll restrict your results as well.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) New conditions may benefit you for the present, even those you do not initiate. Be alert for signals that indicate positive shifts in movement.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Ideas or suggestions you propose today will have a powerful impact on your listeners. Choose your words carefully.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If you fail to use your time constructively today, your restless spirit won't be gratified. Work on things that benefit others as well as yourself.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Your chart looks very favorable where romance is concerned today. Make your pitch to establish a specific relationship.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Yield to impulses today that encourage you to do something special for the ones you love.

You will be rewarded in varied ways!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) All eyes could be focused on you today, so if you're going to make an appearance in front of a group, take a little extra time to prep.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your keen insights can be put to profitable uses today. Use a careful blend of your hunches and your logic for best results.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Today you're endowed with the ability to use words in a masterly fashion. Use your powers of persuasion constructively.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Something beneficial is stirring pertaining to your material affairs. If it doesn't occur today, it could happen very soon.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Your social contacts could be very significant for you today. They could help open doors of opportunities for which you do not have the keys.
