FCC House Investigation To Erupt In New Fireworks Today

WASHINGTON (UP) — The House investigation of the Federal Communications Commission is expected to erupt in new fireworks today.

Quoted chief counsel Bernard Schwartz as recalled for a second public hearing to tell "all he knows" about alleged improper White House influence and official misconduct in the FCC and other federal regulatory agencies.

conducting the inquiry told the United Press "I believe there's something in the files" showing FCC Commissioner Richard A. Mack switched his stand on the controversial Miami TV Channel 10 award after becoming an FCC member. Schwartz has accused Mack of accepting $2,000 from a store for National Airlines, whose subsidiary finally was given Channel 10 with Mack voting for the award. Mack has denied any impropriety.

national Airlines, demanded to be heard in the case and called for a sweeping investigation of a large number of persons including Schwartz; A. Frank Zatsenline of Miami Beach, unsuccessful contestant for Channel 10; Paul A. Porter, FCC chairman and Zatsenline's counsel in the contested case; columnist Drew Pearson and his assistant Jack Anderson; and present and former investigators for the subcommittee.

the House Commerce Committee, said Baker will be given a chance to testify "at the proper time."

All Fives Returned Harris told the United Press today "I look like we've got all the subcommittee files back."

include Schwartz's charge of White House "influence" on supposedly independent regulatory agencies. Harris said, "he'll have an opportunity to present that."

Byrd Won't Seek Re-Election In November

WASHINGTON—U.S. Senator Harry F. Byrd, 70-year-old Virginia Democrat, has announced that he will not seek re-election in November. He said in a formal statement that he is stepping down after 24 years in the Senate primarily to keep a promise to his wife.

Byrd, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee and leader of the Senate's economy bloc, promised to continue to do "all I can for good government in Virginia and the nation."

During the more than 40 years he has served in elective office here and in Virginia, he said, he has given the best he could within the scope of his limited activities.

His chairman of seven committees, Senate Finance, and the joint committee on internal revenue taxation and reduction of non-essential federal expenditures.

He also ranks third in seniority in length of service. He has been a senator since March 1933 and ranks third in seniority in length of service.

Byrd's resignation was announced in a letter to the Senate on Feb. 10. He said he would leave office on Feb. 17.

32-Hour Week No Longer Dream

By FRED DANZIG. United Press Staff Correspondent. NEW YORK—Can you use an extra day off a week? Maybe there's no rush for this sort of planning in your life, but automation isn't waiting for an answer. The 32-hour week, many authorities agree, is no longer a wild dream.

The average worker now puts in 40 hours a week on the job. In grandfathers' day, the work lasted 10 hours. Housewives, too, benefit by our technology. It takes the little woman less than two hours a day, on the average, to prepare foods and kitchen gadgets.

Time On Hands. So here we are, with time on our hands—and more almost in sight. The four-day week, when it comes, will add at least 400 more hours to the total of 3,000 "free" hours we are now said to have.

But before you start planning long week-end trips with the wife and kids, remember there's no talk of cutting down the school schedule to four days a week. You may find yourself loafing at home on a Friday or Monday while the kids are hard at work in school.

As we get more leisure time, the problem of what to do with it becomes more pressing. Better use of our leisure, we are told, can help reduce the figures on mental patients. One out of 18 Americans is in some kind of trouble and one out of 10 needs psychiatric care.

Karl Mannheim has written that the average man is unable to invent new uses for his leisure, but other authorities dispute him and say the American people have a capacity for making good use of their leisure.

Helping along this capacity is private industry. About 25,000 companies now provide recreation activities for their employes and spend a billion dollars a year on this program. Don L. Neer, executive secretary of the National Industrial Recreation Association, says management must become even more active in recreation as leisure time increases. This leads to the possibility of an employee spending his extra day off at the plant—swimming or playing golf.

More than 100 companies have their own golf courses for employes. Many have picnic areas, swimming pools, bowling alleys and athletic fields, often financed from vending machine profits. One leader in the field of employes recreation is the Allis-Chalmers Mfg. Co. of West Allis, Wis., which has about half of its 16,000 employes taking part in a recreation program. Employes and their families can use the company's 18-hole golf course. They can join hobby groups, social clubs and something that is becoming more important through the years—a recreation club for retired employes, which meets twice a week for movies and lectures.

Hard To Find Contestants For Quiz Shows

United Press Staff Correspondent NEW YORK — Next to finding horses and better contestants in the quiz show business, it seems that a man's hardest assignment is to find good quiz show contestants.

And if you're looking for lady contestants, it really gets tough.

"I don't know what it is," says J. J. Barry, quiz producer of NBC-TV's "Twenty One" and "The Tac Dough." "It's very, very difficult to find a good contestant for our shows. And whatever the reason, women sure are scarce. Maybe women don't have the time for reading. The women we do get are mostly professional women. Housewives are either too busy or not interested."

Men Five-to-One Ironically, while men outnumber women contestants about five to one on "Twenty One," it was a woman, Mrs. Vivienne Neering, who provided the program with its most memorable moment—the defeat of Charles Van Doren.

The supply of would-be contestants, as opposed to the genuine article, appears unending. Outside Barry's office, a half dozen men who can usually be found waiting outside Barry's office, are waiting interviews. Barry is insulated from all this.

"I don't see contestants until they go to the show. And I make it a point not to speak to them during the week," he said.

He doesn't think he'll make his own show as a contestant. "I couldn't pass the test for 'Twenty One.' I just don't have the background of general knowledge. But unconsciously, I've become smarter since the show. I've picked up more general information and I can speak with a little more authority at private parties."

Denies "Rigging" As for perennial rumors about "rigged" quiz shows, Barry said, "I defy anyone to examine the shows carefully and find them rigged. If they were, certainly by now some disgruntled fellow would have come forth to expose them."

Barry said the hardest part of his once job is to console a loser. "I try to be sincere and gracious. I don't want to be maudlin or abrupt. Some people say I should commiserate more, others say less. I try to do it in a courteous, sincere way without overdoing it."

While TV trends come and go, Barry believes the quiz show will always be around. "The era of the pure, big money giveaway is virtually exhausted, but I think the basic structure will remain."

Hudson, Kim Novak Boxoffice Champs

By VERNON SCOTT United Press Staff Correspondent HOLLYWOOD — Movie-makers, suffering the worst financial doldrums in film history, learned from theater owners that they could be back in the chips by co-starring Rock Hudson and Kim Novak in all their pictures.

Hudson and Kim were voted boxoffice champs in a nationwide poll of exhibitors by Box Office magazine, a movie trade journal.

Neither star has drawn rave reviews for acting ability, nor have they ever appeared together in a film. Chances are slim they ever will, as long as Kim is under contract to Columbia, and Hudson is with Universal International.

In the boxoffice poll popularity, magazine cover and talent weren't considered. The stars were judged on their ability to bring in loot.

No loving cups are passed out to the winners. But a suitable award might be a sackful of gold nuggets. To heck with artistic triumphs, say theater owners, they lose money. The pretty people are the ones who pay off in cash.

In almost every case screen heroes outdrew glamour girls by a wide margin—and there wasn't a homely winner in the lot.

Following Hudson among the top dozen movie-makers were William Wyler, Cary Grant, Frank Sinatra, Gary Cooper, Marlon Brando, James Stewart, Burt Lancaster, Glenn Ford, Yul Brynner, Clark Gable, John Wayne.

Runners-up to Kim, who was unplaced two years ago, were Doris Day, Deborah Kerr, Elizabeth Taylor, Audrey Hepburn, Debbie Reynolds, Jane Allison, Ingrid Bergman, Ava Gardner, Susan Hayward, Marilyn Monroe and Dorothy Malone.

An odd note: In Monroe didn't have a picture in release last year.

Hudson headlines Holden Hudson, tenth last year, lifted the crown from Bill Holden, fifth on the other hand, also topped last year's standings.

Back on the list after an absence of nine years was Ingrid Bergman, thanks to her role in "Anastasia."—UPI Wirephoto—Academy Award Oscar.

Newcomers to the poll were Brynner and Dorothy Malone. Grace Kelly, sixth in 1956, made no picture and disappeared from the 1957 poll.

Brandt, number 23 last year, dropped back to the 40th spot and John Wayne, a regular for the past eight years, skidded from 11th to 12th place.

All-time champ is Gary Cooper, a consistent winner since 1936. Gable is another long-standing boxoffice king.

Both were in the 1956 poll, which included Shirley Temple, Bette Davis, William Powell, Myrna Loy, Paul Henreid, Spencer Tracy, Jeanette MacDonald, Claudette Colbert, Robert Taylor, Ronald Coleman and Sonja Henie.

HEART 'MAGIC' BEATS DEATH—Looking as sharp as surgeons' instruments that kept her alive, 8-month-old Shirley Ann Fragoza is held (top) by her happy mother, Mrs. Trinidad Fragoza, at the Childrens Hospital in Berkeley, Calif. Y., stands beside Tommy Roldan, 7, and the new heart-lung machine used while a team of surgeons closed an inch-wide hole in two ventricles of the boy's heart chamber. O. Roberts Fights Many Accusations

By ALBIN KREBS United Press Staff Correspondent NEW YORK — Of all the new labels that have been tacked on evangelist Oral Roberts, the one he most despises and is quickest to challenge is that of "faith-healer."

Roberts, who considers himself the most sorely misunderstood man of God in modern times, has always had to fight a steady stream of accusations from both the clergy and the public.

The tall, spindly evangelist eagerly and calmly answers all the accusations, among them the charge he says is not a faith-healer yet does little to dispel the notion. He is often accused of using human misery to amass a personal fortune, of battling the medical profession, and of selling the Scriptures, salvation and faith-healing like soap.

"Actually," says Roberts, "far too much is said about faith-healing portions of our services. We are primarily interested in saving souls, and prayers for the healing of the body come naturally at the close of the services because we believe God is a good God and does not want us to suffer."

Only God Can Heal "I am not a faith-healer," he insists. "I am an instrument of God, an instrument for faith-healing—and that's different. Only God can heal and I have never claimed such powers for myself."

At each of his meetings, Roberts tells his listeners that "It's God who's doing the healing, not me" but there are still many who confuse God, the Healer, with Roberts, God's earthly contact with the sick. Roberts says he genuinely regrets this.

Roberts does maintain he possesses a God-given power that feels like "liquid fire" in his hands. The power was described by T. J. Ratke of Cameron, Wis., who claimed he was cured through Roberts or anquina pectoris, as being like "a charge of electricity."

Ratke and other Roberts followers annually contribute more than three million dollars to carry on the work of Oral Roberts Evangelistic Assn. whose 350 employees will move into a new seven-story headquarters building in Tulsa, Okla., in November.

The association's work is big business. It carries on 12 major Roberts crusades a year, plus several smaller ones, and broadcasts weekly over 350 radio stations around the world and 140 TV stations in the United States and Canada. It prints Abundant Life, the third largest religious magazine in the United States and 60 million pieces of assorted literature annually. Missions are maintained in Africa and among the American Indians. Roberts is himself part Cherokee and Choctaw.

Roberts has a ready answer, one that is as honest as it is blunt, to questions about how much money he personally makes in his work. The answer: "That's nobody's business but mine."

He says it is the custom for ministers of the Pentecostal Holiness Church to keep such information to themselves, and he does not intend to break the custom.

At the close of each of his crusades, a "love offering" is collected.

The Men's Club meets monthly for 6 p. m. dinner and any man connected with Holy Cross Church is invited. Guests may also be brought. Reservations are necessary and the dinner cost is $1.25.

James Grant is president of the Men's Club and "has procured excellent programs during his term of office," a spokesman said. The speaker this month was contacted by Charles Arnet who works at Cape Canaveral, and who is a member of the Men's Club.

"With the great interest in rockets and space travel, it is felt that many men will welcome this opportunity to hear Duka, for he is an authority hard to match," says Arnet, and Donna Jordan.

With the Jupiter-C now in orbit and the Vanguard twice a failure, Duka, a chief engineer on the Vanguard project, probably will be asked many pointed questions.

MISSILE IDENTIFIED

NAPLES, Italy (UPI)—A mysterious "missile" which streaked through the sky Friday night turned out today to be a World War II German rocket accidentally discharged from a scrap dealer's yard.

Police said scrap dealer Giuseppe Flammingo explained that his workers had mistaken the two-foot-long rocket for a harmless piece of steel tubing and dropped it into the foundry furnace. The heat ignited it and sent it screaming through the roof into the sky where it was sighted by the Venetian Observatory. Flammingo said he didn't know about the rocket until it returned from a business trip Monday.

Dr. W. Von Braun Is Man Of 1958 To West Germans

When alumni gather for a Founders Day banquet on February 21 they will honor a man who has given fifty consecutive years to Stetson University.

He is none other than Dr. Irving C. Stover who joined the Stetson faculty in 1908 to teach apocrypha. Since that time his influence has been felt directly by those in his classes and the theater and indirectly by all who have attended dramatic productions at the University since 1908.

Students in speech under Dr. Stover have found the instruction beneficial in their chosen profession, especially if that profession was law or the ministry.

Others have knowingly or unknowingly gained appreciation of the arts and was entertained from the carefully-selected cycle of productions offered on the boards of the college theater.

Advance reservations indicated that the dinner will be well-attended—a tribute to one of the most popular faculty members in the history of Stetson. Toastmaster will be Dr. James W. Parrish, pastor of Riverside Baptist Church in Miami. Dr. Parrish, a member of the Class of 1936 at Stetson, is past president of both the Florida Baptist Convention and the Stetson Alumni Association.

Stetson was one of the very first colleges in the nation to take education from the English department and give it individual status in the curriculum. In 1910, his second year at Stetson, Dr. Stover offered a course in public speaking in the early days much on a private basis, similar to music today.

By the early 1920's, Stetson had developed so much interest in oratory that a major in speech was offered. In those years students in law were required to take speech.

The Stetson opportunity was much to the liking of Dr. Stover and he patterned his speech courses after those being offered at Susquehanna, where he had served as professor of rhetoric for five years before moving to Stetson.

Dr. Stover had met Dr. Lincoln Hulley, then president of Stetson, on the Chataqua circuit. They had known each other for several years as members of the company. Then, too, Dr. A. L. Subrine, a member of the Stetson faculty and he had known Dr. Stover when they were students at King's School of Oratory. Both influenced his decision to come to Stetson in 1908.

Early theatrical productions were held in the present Band Hall building which had been abandoned as a gymnasium and assembly hall. Later, the offerings were given in the wooded area of Elizabeth Hall, now known as the Forest of Arden. A stage was set up there and shrubbery placed to supplement the natural background. Musicians were in Elizabethan costumes. Then a today the dramatic offerings attracted visitors from many cities in the Central Florida area.

The depression of 1930 brought a realization of the dream for a modern theatre building on the campus. Employment was at a premium and laborers worked a full day on the building for the amount they get an hour today. Thus the small amount of cash which had been winnowed for the building fund bought a bargain.

The building cost about $30,000 was planned to make the assembly hall for women. At the time, it was planned to make the assembly hall the central building of the quadrangle of residence halls for men. In 1938, the building was named "Stover Theatre."

The first theatrical production of the new building was "Apollo the Muses," written by Dr. Hulley.

Just as Dr. Stover pioneered the teaching of speech, he also pioneered in other areas, including the organization of the Theta Alpha Phi, national dramatic honorary fraternity.

At a meeting of the teachers of speech in Cincinnati, the need for such a society was discussed and those interested, including Dr. Stover, continued to work toward the realization of this goal. In 1919, six chapters of the fraternity were chartered, one of them at Stetson.

Dr. Stover later served as national president of Theta Alpha Phi. The cycle of productions at Stover Theatre has always included a Shakespearean play and Dr. Stover's Golden Jubilee year at Stetson and the Diamond Jubilee year of the founding of the University is no exception.

For the sixth time, the fifth under Dr. Stover, the play is "The Taming of the Shrew." In 1923, Dr. Stover had the lead, his second appearance in that role. This year he and many others who have appeared in this Shakespearean play were asked to take small roles in the production.

The first dramatic production produced at Stetson by Dr. Stover was "David Garrick" and the cast included Bill Page and Clifford Eotta, both of DeLand and Judge Arthur Higgins of Bartow.

The cast of "Hamlet" of 1923 included J. Ollie Edmunds, now president of the University, and his brother, Jake Edmunds, now with the Southern Baptist Convention Sunday School Board in Nashville. Also in the cast were former Chief Justice E. Harris Drew of the Florida Supreme Court, and Judge A. Lloyd Layton, of Jacksonville.

The college theatre at Stetson, the first in Florida, has been used for discipline rather than a stepping-stone to the professional stage.

More than 4,100 roles have been played by students and at least 1,100 backstage assignments have been filled by students in the University productions over the last half-century.

There have been times that Dr. Stover has actually discouraged students from trying for the professional theatre.

"I remember being stranded on the road with a professional theatre group. I know those hardships. I would not wish them on any of my students," he said.

Keep Aspirin Bottle Out Of Child's Reach

By HERMAN M. GUNDELIN, M.D. ASPIRIN probably is the most common medication used today. It is found in almost every household.

Just as aspirin and salicylates in general rank high on the list of safe medications, this probably accounts for the fact that aspirin is used for self-medication more than any other drug.

Call Your Doctor But if you can't be sure, call your doctor right away. He probably will give you an antidote and advise that you make the youngster vomit immediately.

I'll have more to say later about antidotes and how to make a child vomit. Perhaps you won't spot the opened aspirin bottle. Maybe the salicylate (oil of wintergreen) sometimes is the villain, too. It will be swallowed by the youngster some time before you sense the trouble.

In such a case, warning signs are listlessness, dizziness, mental confusion and vomiting. Generally, these are symptoms of acute salicylate poisoning.

QUESTION AND ANSWER Q. I have a severe case of cirrhosis of the liver, and my abdomen has to be tapped three times a week to remove excess fluid. Is there any way this can be eliminated? Answer: A new operation in which a button is inserted in the abdomen permits the fluid that forms in the abdominal cavity to flow into the tissues. This of medicine is left within grasp of me of some help to you.

Flavored Aspirin Of the 84 cases in the first 800 aspirin poisoning cases reported to the Control Program, 73 were caused by swallowing flavored aspirin.

Youngsters simply think they are candy and chew and chew and swallow. If aspirin or any type of medicine is left within grasp

A Policy Is Needed By The City Of Sanford For Property Sales

An answer from a local business is expected tonight at the Board of Sanford City Commissioners meeting to a price set for property owned by the city and proposed for use by the local concern for necessary expansion.

Property acquired by the city of Sanford is, perhaps, in much demand because of the location, because of its accessibility to railroad and water transportation facilities, and because of the fact that such property is excellent and, more than likely, the best industrial sites available other than such properties held by the Atlantic Coast Line railroad.

The City of Sanford has expressed, time and again, a desire to assist in the "keeping in Sanford" and "bringing to Sanford" industries and commercial enterprises with payroll because of the economic impact on the entire community.

Perhaps no set program has been adopted by the City Fathers for acquiring of new industry and commercial establishments. When such events come before the board of commissioners the problems accompanying must be considered as they appear.

It is certainly one policy of the City of Sanford, as quoted from a recent letter written to a business concern already established here that "No municipality has the right to 'subsidize' private business." Here we agree heartily and strongly.

And, we would like to think that each person, or group of people, or organization, appearing before the board of commissioners asking that property be sold to them for their enterprise, would be treated equally and on the same basis.

According to a list of property sites sold during the years between 1953 and 1957, the total appraised value of such properties has been $101,482. But the city has realized from these sales only 10.10 per cent of the appraised value or $10,250.

In other words, $91,232 has been contributed, or were concessions, to attract industry and commercial establishments to the city. Wouldn't it be the wise thing to do if a set policy were established and each and every person be considered only according to that policy? No city-owned property should be sold for speculation—nor should it be sold on the basis of "perhaps" an industrial building or a commercial structure be placed on the property.

We realize that business people can LEAVE Sanford as well as COME to Sanford on the basis of attractive offers to establish a business or industry. And the first should NEVER happen!

Perhaps our commissioners should look at this proposal on a sensible basis—not because mistakes have been made in the past—not because money is needed to complete one of the city's projects now under construction—but on the basis that this successful hometown industry or business is aware of the concessions made in the past and felt that they, too, should receive the same consideration.

Certainly the city should get as much out of its investments as possible—that is necessary to protect the taxpayer, for actually, the city owned property is merely an investment for the taxpayer.

But let's not wait until someone comes before the board of commissioners expecting to be treated on an equal with his predecessor! Complete this sale of property in an honorable manner—without coercion from "look at the offers we've received since you've announced that you want to expand." Those offers came as an aftermath.

According to recent action, policies change with the situation and not by a matter of record. This latter we would like to see take place—an action that could be referred to without fear of being criticized!

Committee Probe Must Continue

Any congressional probe of government agencies in an election year is bound to have political undertones and overtones, some of them far from dulcet. Only the most dreamy of optimists would expect it to be otherwise.

In this respect, the House investigation of federal regulatory agencies has run true to form. Charges and counter-charges of improper conduct—charges against committee members and committee counsel, as well as against men in the agencies being probed—have resulted in such a babble that finding the right of the matter is close to impossible at this stage.

The House committee now has open to it three possible courses of action. It can drop the hot potato and concern itself with other matters. It can continue the investigation, but in such a manner that it becomes either a white-wash or a smear. The committee's third alternative is simply to make a determined effort to carry through with a fair disclosure of the pertinent facts.

Only the latter course would be in the public interest. If only to clear the air of charges that have been made so freely, the investigation must be continued. Moreover, it should be continued with a statesmanlike concern for the whole truth.

This is easy to say. It is hard to do. Both Democrats and Republicans will be tempted to grind the axe of party advantage. The less grinding they do, the better they will serve the people.

Latest statistics indicate that each of three million Americans loses an average of $44 in cash annually, half of it because of carelessness. Anyway, in what other country do people have that much money in their pockets to lose?

Sen. Harry Byrd Will Be Missed

WASHINGTON (UP)—The retirement of Sen. Harry F. Byrd D-Va. will open a conspicuous hole in the conservative ranks of the Senate.

Until and unless his power is inherited by a man of comparable States conservative conference on budget and tax policy will be weakened in the Senate. The voice of southern conservatives will be muted.

Byrd, who announced Wednesday he will not seek reelection this year, has been the outstanding congressional foe of big government spending for a quarter of a century. But he fought a losing battle while the peacetime federal budget expanded more than tenfold during his 25 years in Washington.

He is chairman of the Senate Finance Committee which handles tax, tariff, social security and other legislation having great impact on the economic state of the union. If the Democrats retain control of the Senate his successor will be Sen. Robert S. Kerr D-Okla. who has never been aligned with Byrd in the economy bloc.

There will still be conservatives on the committee after Byrd retires. But none wield power comparable in any of those four. Liberals and middle-of-the-roadsers have claimed the recent vacancies on the Democrats side of the committee.

Surprise Announcement The 70-year-old Byrd's decision caught his fellow senators and most of his office staff by surprise. It was understood he had confided his plan to only two of his aids here. He wrote his announcement in longhand in his office Monday before leaving Washington for a week.

His statement said he had promised Mrs. Byrd six years ago

The Indonesian political situation seems to be nearing the explosion point.

A "revolutionary council" of young army colonels has issued a five-day ultimatum demanding that President Sukarno oust Premier Djusanda and name former Vice President Mohammad Hatta in his place.

The ultimatum expires Saturday. The alternative to its acceptance apparently will be the proclamation of a rebel government.

Sukarno himself is visiting in Japan. In his absence, the Djusanda government has rejected the ultimatum and ordered the dishonorable discharge of Col. Ahmad Hussein, leader of the revolutionary council and three fellow officers.

The rebels charge that the Djusanda government is pro-Communist and is planning Indonesia into economic chaos.

President Sukarno, himself a "neutralist" with the usual neutralist slant toward the Communist way of thinking, is not threatened—so far.

But behind the rebel movement is long-brewing, widespread discontent with Sukarno and the politicians with whom he is associated himself.

Part of the dissatisfaction is due to the feeling in Sumatra and other important islands of the Indonesian group that the government is being run for the benefit of Java, on which the capital, Jakarta, is situated.

This dissatisfaction led Col. Hussein, commander in central Sumatra, to set up an autonomous regime in the island in December, 1956. This regime is using Sumatra's rich resources in rubber, coffee and other products for Sumatra's own use by conducting foreign trade direct with other countries.

The Communists have made strong gains in local elections in Indonesia in recent months. They always have had a voice in the government.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, in a most unusual statement, said at a press conference in Washington Tuesday that the United States would like to see an Indonesian government "which is constitutional and which reflects the real interests and desires of the people."

He intimated that the present regime under Sukarno and Premier Djusanda did not meet this specification, and he mentioned the growing Communist strength

WASHINGTON—The chances that an East-West "summit" meeting will be held in the near future appear now to be very dim. The latest developments show that the Kremlin leaders have failed to respond, even in a small measure, to President Eisenhower's request for agreement on an agenda.

Summing up the prospects of a high level parley, the President said that, as of now, "you would just be glancing at each other across the table."

Despite the obvious fact that the Russians are still working their propaganda technique, United States policy-makers are not inclined to close the door on the chances of holding some worthwhile talks. Students of Soviet foreign policy are aware that the Kremlin can change its tune whenever it feels that some advantage might be gained.

Since negotiations invariably are conducted from positions of strength, the Russians high command undoubtedly believe that the Soviet Union now has more things in its favor and that there is no use of making any immediate concessions.

REUTHER VS. GOLDWATER
The forthcoming Senate Reckless committee investigation of the four-year-old strike of the United Auto Workers against the Kohler company will bring to head a longstanding personal feud. The principals in this war of words are Senator Barry Goldwater (R), New Mexico, and UAW President Walter Reuther, who have for some time hurled charges and counter-charges at each other.

The AFL-CIO, of which Reuther is a vice president, is backing him in his battle with Goldwater. The union's executive council, at a recent meeting in Miami Beach, voiced strong opposition to Goldwater's bid for reelection.

Another development, however, should give Goldwater some ammunition. Committee Republicans hired John McGovern as a special investigator to look into the Kohler strike at Sheboygan, Wis. Reuther got into a fight with McGovern over statements that McGovern made in a speech in Detroit. The upshot was that Committee Chairman John L. McClellan (D), Arkansas, took personal command of the inquiry.

NEW ARAB THREAT—Diplomatic observers regard the new union of Egypt and Syria as a gun pointed at Israel and as a threat to preservation of peace in the troubled Middle East. Experts can find few benefits accruing to the West in the merger. They say only see a long period of uncertainty. The new state, they believe, poses more problems than it solves.

Diplomats agree, however, that the special target in Reuther's principal line of attack is Israel and Syria and the professed enemy of the Arab powers. Israel was born amid the strife of warfare and her life to date has been marked by frequent encounters with Egypt. In at least two major battles, Israel has soundly trounced the Egyptians, a fact that President Nasser can not forget.

Conning The News

THEIR twenty-fifth wedding anniversary was celebrated Saturday night when Andy and Helen Carraway were the honored guests of a cocktail party given by Roy and Mrs. Symes. About fifty friends came to congratulate them on their good fortune. Helen was gay and lovely in a blue flowered print and a gorgeous white orchid pinned to her shoulder. The Symes huge Loch Arbos house was ringing with wedding bells, and arrangements of white cypripediums and greens. On the table in the hall, a single white orchid with satin streamers on a bed of cedar. Silver candle sticks with white tapers effectively set off this simple but dramatic arrangement. The buffet table was laden with sandwiches, dips and other delicacies. Sunday morning Andy and Helen boarded a plane in Orlando for New Orleans, where they will spend a week sightseeing and catching the climax of the Mardi Gras festival, which has met with such misfortune this year because of snow and cold. The Carraways may be able to see all the things that have been cancelled, should New Orleans decide to have three parades in one day. Visiting John and Harriet Williams for the weekend is John's brother, David from Pittsburgh. David brought his little girl Susanna along for the trip. Also in town briefly, and staying with her sister in Orlando, are Jack and Lindy Eckstein. Lindy was a roommate of Susie Dickey's at Stuart Hall. Jack is

Garden Circles

JACARANDA CIRCLE The Jacaranda Circle met Friday early in the morning and motored to Ponte Delton Springs. The members were greeted by Mrs. Dan LeVan, who took them on a tour of her orchid greenhouses and grounds with beautiful gardenias. Mrs. LeVan followed the tour with a talk on orchids. Hostesses for the trip were Mrs. Irving Pryor and Mrs. Faye Jones. The Circle enjoyed a picnic lunch at the Springs. A Valentine motif was used. Several readings were presented by members. CENTRAL CIRCLE Members of the Central Circle of the Sanford Garden Club were entertained at the home of Mrs. J. W. Schwarz of Delary last week with Mrs. Zeb Ratliff as co-hostess. Mrs. J. W. Schwarz presided over the business meeting when plans were discussed about giving plants to the TB Sanitarium at Easter. Mrs. Frank Evans announced the annual Garden Club luncheon to be held at the Mayfair Inn, Thursday, Feb. 20. An award was offered for the circle decorating the prettiest table. Each circle is to decorate one for the luncheon. Mrs. Schwartz, Mrs. B. C. Moore, Mrs. George McCall, Mrs. M. C. Hagan and Mrs. N. Howard Brewer were appointed on this committee. Mrs. McCall suggested each member of the circle buy a plant and report on the growth at the end of the year. The circle voted to do this with an award to be given for the best plant at the end of the year. Four points, know, grow, show and share, were brought out for garden club work. Appointed on the nominating committee for officers for next year were Mrs. Frank Evans, Mrs. N. Howard Brewer and Mrs. M. C. Hagan. Program chairman, Mrs. George McCall invited General Harry P. Newton of Delary, whose hobby is raising camellias, to give the program. He was assisted by William Clark in showing slides of camellias raised in California. Gen. Newton is a member of the California Camellia Society which has over 7,000 members. He included many helpful instructions on the raising of these flowers in his talk. Coffee and cookies were then enjoyed by Mrs. Howard Brewer, Mrs. A. C. Benson, Mrs. Wurt W. Warner, Mrs. Ira E. Southward, Mrs. F. E. Bell, Mrs. Ralph B. Chapman, houseguest of Mrs. Moughton, Mrs. B. 13-Match Home Tennis Schedule Slated At FSU

TALLAHASSEE—(Special)—A 13-match home schedule that includes meetings with five Southwestern Conference teams and two members of the Big Ten high school Florida State's 1958 tennis schedule.

FSU Coach Keith Pickford said the Seminoles will play a 13-match schedule, only four of them away from home.

The Seminoles netters open against Georgia here March 19. Other SEC opponents are Florida, Georgia Tech, Mississippi State, and Louisiana State. Michigan State and Indiana of the Big Ten also will appear in Tallahassee.

Junior Lex Hester of Neptune Beach heads the list of returning veterans from the 1957 team that posted a 6-11 mark. Hester has improved steadily and figures as the Seminoles' No. 1 player.

Other returners are Frank Bryson, Sumner, S. C.; Jim Maddock, Fort Lauderdale, and Jackie Crew, Bainbridge, Ga. Service returner Dave Barry is expected to bolster Seminoles hopes.

The schedule:

March 19—Georgia at Tallahassee; 23—Georgia Tech at Tallahassee; 27—Michigan State at Tallahassee; 28—Jacksonville State at Tallahassee; 31—Howard at Tallahassee.

Las Vegas Becoming Top Sports Capital

By MAL WOOD
United Press Sports Writer

LAS VEGAS, Nev.—Sports figures are gamblers and gamblers love sports—and the result is that the city of Las Vegas fast is becoming one of the country's top sports capitals.

Headed by the netty Tournament of Champions golf event, which will be held in April for the sixty year in a row, the Las Vegas boom has extended from the craps and card tables to take in just about every line of sports in the country.

List of Events Growing

Look at this list of events, with the purses offered:

—The $40,000 Tournament of Champions at the Desert Inn Country Club, First Prize, $10,000.

—Three major transpoos with prizes totalling in the neighborhood of $25,000.

—The Sahara Cup trophy race for speed boats at Lake Mead.

—A big-time fishing derby, with boats and cash offered in prizes.

—A deer hunting derby with prizes for the buck with the most points, widest spread, longest horns.

—And currently in the process of formation, a "Tournament of Champions" rodeo, to follow the Madison Square Garden Rodeo, and to involve only champions. This one tentatively is set for Dec. 13-14.

The Hand of the Gambler

Of course, most of these events are staged by the gambling casinos, with the admitted purpose of attracting both competitors and fans to the city of Las Vegas—and you know what.

Still, there always is a chance for someone to strike it rich in Las Vegas, and sportsmen like the gamble. For instance, at a recent transpoos there, a granddaddy from Colorado and his grandson fought each other in what the transpoos call the "optionals." The two went home with something like $3,000 in winnings.

W. E. Kader Trophy Tourney Underway

The W. E. Kader Medal Play Handicap Tournament, sponsored by Kader Jewelers of Sanford, entered the second round of play last week.

This tournament consists of three consecutive 18 holes of golf played over the Mayfair Country Club course. These rounds are played on Wednesday, the local Sanford Women's Golf Association weekly tourney day.

Winner and runner-up Silver Trophy will be presented to the two lowest scores, handicap percentage being deducted from total 54 holes of play.

Third and final round will be played February 19.

FSU Starts Spring Grid Drills Today

TALLAHASSEE—(Special)—Ambitious Florida State opened its 12th season of intercollegiate football today when 59 Seminoles candidates reported for spring drills.

It will be the sixth spring practice at FSU for Head Coach Tom Nugent, who expects to welcome 16 lettermen.

Today the Seminoles gather for an equipment issue. They won't start actual practice until Tuesday. Nugent said FSU will drill each Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday this spring.

Florida State, like other NCAA members, is limited to 20 practice sessions. FSU's spring climax, the annual Garnet and Gold Intra-squad game, is down for the third week in March.

"We'll set a fast pace," Nugent said. "Our time is limited but we are enthused about the spring outlook. We have some fine football players and are making steady progress," Nugent added.

Primary concentration this spring, according to Nugent, will center around team defense and "finding a second line." At least one letterman returns at every spot except center and fullback.

The 1958 team will be one of the youngest Seminoles squads in some time.

First-team tackle Jerry Graham of Chicago will miss contact drills because of a recent leg operation. But Graham plans to condition himself with plenty of running.

Florida State has its most imposing schedule in its 12-year athletic background this fall. The Seminoles face Georgia Tech, Georgia, Tennessee, Florida, Miami, Furman, Tennessee Tech, Wake Forest, Tampa and Virginia Tech.

NEW YORK (AP)—Money may be the root of all evil but, as long as it won't buy poverty, the sports world is always interested in who makes the most loot and how much.

Ball players gasp when they hear that Ted Williams signed for $130,000 and figure, enviously, that he's getting paid for nothing but talent. Even Williams may find it inconceivable that a jockey named Willie Harack earned an estimated $300,000 last year.

Which puts horse racing in the top monetary discussion bracket and explains the current preoccupation with the chances of a charger named Round Table to wind up as the leading money winner of all time.

Nashua Is Top

The all-time best in the banking department is, of course, the fabled Nashua. His wind sprints netted $1,288,565 and boosted him ahead of the first and only other equine millionaire, Citation, who earned $1,065,670.

These winnings aren't the greatest in sports history by any means when you consider that gentleman Gene Tunney picked up a personal portion of $900,445 in his second bit of fistcuffs against Jack Dempsey. But they'll still keep the Arctic howler away from the family parlors.

Round Table is being regarded by improvers of the breed as Nashua's most likely challenger. Not that owner Travis Kerr, an Oklahoma oil man, needs the chips. It's just that Round Table is up to his pasterns in plasters already as a four-year old.

Watch Jewell's Reward

The colt has won $768,964 which places him seventh on the money winning list behind Nashua, Citation, Stymlie, Swaps, Armed and Native Dancer. Stymlie, who ran with the frequency of an eight-year old man, finished $918,485; Swaps $848,900; Armed $817,475; and Native Dancer $785,240. Round Table could jump all the way up to fourth place by copying the $100,000 added Santa Anita Handicap.

Which brings us to the colt they could be talking about later this year and which does have a rollicking chance to supplant Nashua. That's Jewell's Reward, the seven-year old champion who figures to be the top choice for the approaching glamor events such as the Wood, Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont. All races incidentally, where each entry carries the same weight.

Jewell's Reward set an all-time record for two-year-old colts last year with deposits totalling a dazzling $349,642. This was an unheard of as diamonds on the Bowery. The Maine Chance comet won only five of 12 races but when the big ones, such as the Champagne Stakes and the Pimlico Futurity came along, he romped front and center.

We ought to take up a collection for Stan Musial. He only gets $100,000 a year.

CALHOUN TO FIGHT

REVERE, Mass. (AP)—Middleweight Rory Calhoun of White Plains, N. Y., has signed to meet Beau Jack of Boston in a 10-round bout at the Rollaway Arena Thursday. Nine days later, Calhoun, sixth ranked middleweight contender, will meet Randy Sandy of Brooklyn, N. Y., in a 10-round bout in Boston.

The Opium war between China and Britain was named for the narcotic.

Reynolds Florida Golden Gloves Featherweight Champ

Randy Reynolds, 22-year-old 124-pound Sanford featherweight came out on top and ran away with all the honors Friday night in Jacksonville.

Reynolds emerged the winner of his bout with Cleveland Dawson to become the Florida statewide Golden Gloves champion.

Wednesday night Reynolds defeated John Mitchell of Shaw Air Force Base to give him a berth in the finals fought Friday night. Reynolds was also chosen the "Best Boxer" of the tournament and was presented a trophy for his achievement.

The Friday night fight was a decision in Reynolds' favor.

The young Sanford boxer won four bouts during the weeklong elimination in Jacksonville starting last Monday and continuing through Friday night.

"They were all good boxers," Reynolds had to say of his four opponents over whom he was declared the winner.

Joe Pickens, 175-pound light heavyweight of Sanford, was defeated Friday night in the finals.

Chico Brown won the first two rounds over Pickens and Pickens took the third round. "It was a good fight," Pickens said Saturday morning on his return to Sanford.

Both Sanford boxers were trained by Hugh Grier. Both boys worked out here in Sanford with sparring partners from the Navy. Also assisting in the sparring was Principal Andrew J. Bracken of Seminole High School.

Sanford was well represented in the Golden Gloves Tournament with the two young local boxers going all the way to the finals and one emerging as a winner and a "Best Boxer" award trophy winner.

Neither boxer gave any indication Saturday morning as to what the future holds for them in the way of boxing. Randy Reynolds still smiling from his victory over his Friday night opponent and certainly pleased over his selection as "Best Boxer" of the tournament, made no comment as to what his intentions might be in the world of "leather gloves."

"It was a great fight, wonderful tournament, and excellent experience," the two young men said as they commented on the week of eliminations and decision bouts.

CHAPTER 12

ALONG WITH THE CHRISTMAS program and the Fourth of July celebration, the Thanksgiving dinner and turkey shoot was one of the big annual events in the park. Elder Smith headed the whole business, even to raising the turkey. A big team was given for first prize, a hen for second. He made the targets and set them up, and arranged for someone to judge, usually a man from outside the park.

This year he asked in fancy to do it. He had a license and a peddler who visited the park every fall and spring. He didn't really compete with Elder Smith's store because the store carried only the necessities. Beans and gumbocks of one sort or another, mostly to the women; bright cloth for dresses and aprons, needles, thread, Indian blankets.

No one objected to Ben. He'd done the judging before, and was well known and liked. He always stayed with Ben when he came to the park. He'd stayed with her folks when they were alive, so he kept on.

Just before the shooting started, Ben came to me. Barney Lutz wasn't in the crowd. He seemed to enjoy his own company better than anyone else's, and seldom came to any of the park gatherings. Still, I couldn't keep from saying to Ben, "If Barney isn't around, maybe he was afraid I'd be here."

"You know better, Dave," she said. "I don't want to quarrel with you. I came over here to say I'm sorry about what Barney did. I just wanted to bring Kitzy back, but he lost his temper."

GI Insurance Benefit Explained

Veterans in good health and under 60 who hold World War II GI Life Insurance may add a total disability income clause to their GI policies at a small additional premium cost.

V. S. Parker, Manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in St. Petersburg, explained this GI insurance benefit today in response to numerous queries.

He said policyholders who become totally disabled from age before age 60 and while the clause is in effect, will receive an income of $5 per month for each $1,000 face amount of the GI policy.

Payments under the clause may begin after the total disability has existed for six consecutive months, and continues for the duration of the disability, regardless of its length, Mr. Parker said.

No payment may be made for disabilities after age 60, and no premium charge for this benefit is made past that date, he said.

The provision may be added to any eligible policyholder's National Service Life Insurance (NSLI) that participates in dividends. Holders of non-participating NSLI generally are not eligible, Mr. Parker said.

The premium cost of the total disability income provision varies according to the policyholder's age, type of policy, and its face amount, but this cost is reduced considerably by annual dividends, he said.

He cited the example of a typical 40-year old veteran who has added the disability income provision to his $10,000 NSLI term policy. This veteran would pay a gross annual premium of $20.40 for the coverage. Current dividend rates, however, would return $12 to him, making the net annual cost only $8.40.

Payments to the veteran under the income provisions do not reduce the face amount of the policy payable at death, Mr. Parker said.

Premium payments, both on the basic NSLI policy and the income provision, may be waived by VA for any period of total disability longer than six months, he added.

Information about the total disability income provision is available to NSLI policyholders at any VA office.

Entire French North African Situation May Be Reviewed Soon

By United Press
An important review of the entire situation in French North Africa may be in the making.

Both France and Tunisia have accepted an offer by the United States and Great Britain to use their "good offices" in settling the grave dispute which arose from the French bombing of a Tunisian village.

It seems certain that any discussions must involve consideration of the Nationalist revolt in Algeria, which led to the bombing.

France may be expected to stick to its position that the Algerian situation is strictly internal French problem.

But its acceptance of the offer of the Anglo-American "good offices" is likely to lead to an attempt from a new angle to solve the Algerian situation itself, which is the big problem at issue.

This new attempt need not be made with the direct help of the United States and Britain.

More probably, it might be made by France with the aid of Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba.

Revels Views
Bourguiba is regarded as completely pro-Western in his views, and he is openly friendly toward the Algerian rebels.

It was the fact that Algerian rebels were operating from bases in Tunisia that led to the bombing of the Tunisian border village of Sabet Sidi Yousef in which, according to latest reports, 90 persons including women and children were killed.

France as well as foreign opinion was shocked by the bombing.

Premier Felix Gaillard naturally has tried to defend the French armed forces by blaming Tunisia's support of the rebels for the attack.

But it has been established that the raid was made by order of the local commander of the French Air Force across the border from Sabet Sidi Yousef. The French government and high command knew nothing of it until afterward.

The order was a fragile bluff. But it was due to the frustration and resentment of the French armed forces over their inability to attack the rebels who are operating from the "privileged sanctuary" of Tunisia. There seems no reason to doubt the French official statement that a rebel machine gun had fired on 16 occasions from the rooftop of the Tunisian government administration building in the village over a period of six months before the bombing.

The United States and Britain offered their mediatory services primarily in an attempt to avoid an ugly debate on the bombing in the United Nations.

Bourguiba has complained of the French attack. Then he complained that the Algerian situation was a threat to world peace. France had complained against Tunisian aid to the rebels. Nobody would profit from a U. N. debate on the situation except Soviet Russia.

Now, the way seems to be open for a new approach to the whole North African situation.

Engineers Seeking Township Approval

Engineers representing a 3600-acre development in Seminole County asked for tentative approval of a preliminary sketch of a proposed township located between the Longwood-Oviedo Road and the Sanford-Oviedo Road.

Earl Vaughn, engineer representing the North Orlando Company, and of the John O'Brien Engineering Company, said that the project development is in full swing with much equipment already being put to use.

"We would like an expression of approval or disapproval of our overall plan," he said as he placed a sketch of the first section of the basic development before county commissioners.

"We are trying to make a development people will be proud of," the engineer stated and stated that the "FHA" don't like the requirement for alleys. The matter of getting money for a development is very important," he said.

Commission Chairman John Krider said the engineers "don't think it would be wise for us to give you an opinion before our engineer and zoning commission have reviewed it."

Attorney George A. Spear Jr. represented the North Orlando Company. Also appearing before the commission for a decision was the general manager of the development, Frank L. Fasula.

Vaughn, in describing the project to commissioners, said "We have provided areas for parks, commercial building sites, churches, schools and other necessary areas for public use."

Fasula said "the project will get underway as soon as an approval is received of our sketches. It all depends on what action is taken here today," he said.

Pincrest First Graders Visit Navy Base Friday

Pincrest first graders witnessed Navy operations first hand when they visited NAS Sanford last Friday noon. Accompanied by their teacher, Gladys Jene Wood, and room mothers, Mrs. McCallie, Mrs. Hubley and Mrs. Pec, the first graders arrived aboard the Air Station at 1100 where they were met by Lt. E. H. Dohne.

The group then visited the NAS parachute loft where they were acquainted with the latest in aerial equipment. Immediately following, the visiting party of first graders observed the Grumman F9F Panther Jet by sitting in the cockpit in turn until all had actually sat in the cockpit. Later, the party adjourned to Lake Golden where they ate their lunches picnic style followed by cake from the Public Information Office Division.

Hospital Talk Heard

Sanford Rotarians at their regular weekly meeting yesterday afternoon at the Yacht Club, heard a talk on the Seminole Memorial Hospital by its administrator, Harry M. Weir, and witnessed the induction into the club of six new Rotarians by C. L. Redding, chairman of the Rotary information committee. Welcomed into the fellowship of the local branch of the international organization were: —the Rev. Robert H. Spear, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene; E. C. Harper, Jr., Robert J. (Bob) Crumley, Earl Crittenden, Henry Wight and James A. (Jim) Shipman.

Weir, in his talk given in observance of the second anniversary of the hospital this month, mentioned some of the accomplishments of the institution, stressing particularly the fact that the hospital was fully accredited within one year of its opening. "The aim, of course," said the speaker, "was to achieve the ultimate in excellent medical and hospital patient care." He said tribute to the members of the Women's Auxiliary which has grown from 100 to over 200 "pink ladies". In the two years in which they have rendered a tremendous voluntary service, the total "man" hours exceeded 30,000, which, in dollars and cents, at $1.00 per hour, is contribution of over $30,000.

Weir spoke of some of the problems of the hospital, and of course, of the criticism which often comes in detailing with the public. National and international publicity was accorded the hospital, he said, in a recent issue of HOSPITAL MAGAZINE. He gave many statistics, which, according to club president Myron A. (Mike) Beck, were interesting, showing the growth in the number of patients from opening day, until the present. He closed with the following quotation from Thomas Huxley:—"The rung of the ladder was never meant to rest upon; but only to hold a man's foot long enough to enable him to put the other somewhat higher."

Frank Evans of Lake Mary, originator of Pioneer Night, called the club's attention to the 33rd annual celebration scheduled for Saturday night at Lake Mary. Many visitors from all parts of the country were cordially welcomed by Dr. Phil Westgate, club Sgt.—at-arms. George Touhy gave the invocation.

Tonight's Freeze May Be Worst Of Winter

LAKELAND (UP) — Forecasters Warren Johnson warned growers that tonight's freeze may be the worst of the winter in many areas of the state.

He forecast lows of 14 degrees in the pockets of the Suwannee and Gainesville districts and 20 degrees in the colder locations of the growing areas from the Everglades district northward.

"In many places tonight will be colder than it was on Dec. 12 and 13, our first freeze of the winter," Johnson said.

The morning temperature bulletin warned that temperatures in low ground groves of the central districts will be 25 degrees by 2 p. m. and 32 degrees by midnight in farming areas of the southern districts.

The severe freeze comes at a time when growers are running out of wood and fuel oil for heating their groves. Johnson said that many citrus grove owners have given up trying to save the fruit left on the trees and are concentrating only on saving the trees don't want it to stay down that low or lower for very long."

Many citrus growers in the northern part of the citrus belt have had to fire 20 nights so far this winter and they may have to fire several more before spring.

"They have so much invested in trying to save their groves that they can't give up now," Johnson said.

Temperatures dipped to 41 in Miami early this morning, setting a new record low for the state. The previous low for a Feb. 18 was 47 in 1930.

Readings skidded to the low 20's over most of north Florida at dawn. (Continued on Page 8)

Board Makes Important Decisions At Meeting

The Board of Sanford City Commissioners at a special called meeting last night arrived at several conclusions important in the development of the City.

It was one of the lengthiest meetings of recent date concluding at midnight after a continuous four-hour session.

The commission stipulated its decision in the sewer disagreement with the Sanford Housing Authority.

Sold to J. Bralley Othman, were 55 acres of city-owned land in the south section of the city for a proposed school and subdivision site. The acreage sold for $300 an acre on March 1 and the balance prior to May 15.

The commission also discovered that it had lost track of a $17,500 city building fund which had been absorbed into the construction program of the capital improvement fund. "We've all been rocked," Commissioner David Gatchel said, when it was discovered that there were no monies available for the construction of 7th Street from Melrose to Sanford Aves.

As a result of the discovery, the meeting was adjourned until Wednesday. (Continued on Page 8)

$1 Million Bond Issue Gets Preliminary Okay

LAKE CITY (UP) — The State Road Board today gave preliminary approval to a proposed $1 million bond issue to finance eight road projects in Seminole County.

Funds from the sale of the bonds will be used to acquire rights of ways and finance some actual construction.

Before the bonds are actually sold they must be approved by the Florida State Development Commission and the State Board of Administration and validated by the courts. The bonds will be retired with the surplus gas tax funds of Seminole County.

Proposed projects for Seminole County are: the widening of West First St. from French Ave. to the Interstate Highway System immediately east of Monroe Corner; a new bridge over the St. Johns River at State Road 413 and the merging of State Road 415 with State Road 46.

Another project of actual road construction will be the widening and paving of Sanford Ave. from the city limits to the Sanford Naval Air Station.

Board Will Hear Zoning Appeal

The Board of Seminole County Commissioners will sit Thursday afternoon, for the first time, as a Board of Adjustments to hear an appeal for a variation from the present zoning regulations of the county.

The commission will hear a request from the Rev. H. M. Snow that his church be allowed a variance from the zoning regulations requiring parking areas for a proposed building in the Pincrest area.

This is the first action of the board since being appointed by resolution at the last meeting of the group.

The Rev. Snow claimed, in his appeal for the variance, that negotiations for property and for the construction of the church were in progress at the time the law became effective. He asked that the requirements "be set aside."

Board Reverses Action On Alleys

County commissioners today reversed a previous action requiring alleys to be provided in all subdivisions.

"I have had all kinds of telephone calls," Commission Chairman John Krider said. There have been calls from developers, interested persons, and from the zoning commission regarding this requirement.

Krider revealed a letter which had been received from the Zoning Commission chairman, Raymond Hall stating "Developers have told me that they could not proceed if the requirement for alleys is upheld."

William A. Kratzer, engineer for Seminole County, said "It's a practical deal, with some liking alleys and others not liking them." Krider told the board of commissioners "once we establish at-

North Korea Rejects UN Demand

PANMUNJON, Korea (UP) — Communist North Korea today rejected a United Nations demand for return of a hijacked South Korean airliner. It seemed certain the Reds planned to use the 31 persons aboard as blackmail for recognition of the Red regime.

Two Americans and two Germans were aboard the plane which disappeared into North Korea Sunday.

The Republic of Korea Red Cross cabled the International Red Cross in Geneva asking help in effecting return of the plane's occupants after the Communists rejected the U. N. demand.

U. S. Navy Capt. George W. Kehl of Kittery Point, Maine, presented the U. N. Command demand for return of the plane at a meeting of the joint U. N.—Communist Secretariat here in the neutral zone dividing the two segments of Korea.

North Korean Col. Kim Choon Kyung bluntly rejected it.

Kim claimed the two engines of the Korean National Airlines entered North Korea "voluntarily" in a righteous action to escape the war policy of the American imperialists and the puppet Syngman Rhee clique.

Therefore, he said, return of the aircraft was not a matter for the military armistice commission to discuss and it should be taken care of in "direct" negotiations between the South and North Korean governments.

North Korea has tried unsuccessfully for years to promote direct contact between the North
