

President Names 'Czar' To Push U.S. Missile Development

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today named a "czar" to push U. S. missile development and other scientific programs with the utmost possible speed.

But he said that "it is my conviction, supported by trusted scientific and military advisers that as of today the overall military strength of the Free World is distinctly greater than that of the Communist countries."

He then announced a five-point "program of action," topped by the naming of a special assistant on science and technology, to wipe out any "temporary" edge Russia may enjoy with its space satellites and rocket advances.

And, in a progress report on U. S. developments, he officially confirmed that: Solved Major Obstacle U. S. scientists have "solved" one of the major obstacles to perfecting an intercontinental ballistic missile — the problem of how to get the missile back to earth once it has soared into space without having it burn up from friction on re-entering the atmosphere.

The Air Force Snark, a subsonic, jet-propelled ballistic bomber recently flew 3,000 miles intercontinental distance — "and was accurately placed on target."

The United States derived "most valuable information about outer space" in the recent Air Force firing of a rocket to between 2,000 and 4,000 miles over the Pacific.

Eisenhower said he had named Dr. James R. Killian, president of Technology, to the newly-created post of special assistant to the President for science and technology. He said he expected Killian to mobilize "the full abilities of the scientists and engineers of our country."

$2 Billion Defense Budget Increase Seen

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Styles Bridges (R-N. H.) said following a talk with President Eisenhower today that next year's defense budget may be increased by one to two billion dollars to meet the cost of the nation's "accelerated" missile-satellite program.

He said increased defense costs will "make chances of a tax cut more dubious."

Bridges, chairman of the Senate Republican policy committee and a member of the Armed Services Committee, had a breakfast conference with the President.

Talking to reporters afterward, he held out hope that the overall 1958 budget may show "some decrease" despite higher defense costs.

Transportation executives and handlers of fruits and vegetables including Homer W. Kelly of Oviedo, will join with staff members of the Florida Agricultural Experiment Station and the Extension Service for a waste-prevention short course in Gainesville Nov. 12-14.

The occasion is the Tenth Annual Southeastern Short Course on Causes and Prevention of Economic Waste in Marketing Fruits and Vegetables. States included in the area are Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North and South Carolina, Tennessee and Virginia. All sessions will be held in McCarthy Hall Auditorium on the University of Florida campus.

Opening the program, the afternoon of Nov. 12, will be Dr. R. W. Bledsoe, associate director of the Florida Agricultural Experiment Station, with a welcoming message. The remainder of the program will be devoted to talks on means of preventing waste in getting fresh fruits and vegetables from the producer to the consumer.

The short course is sponsored by the Florida Agricultural Experiment Station and Extension Service, Florida Fruit and Vegetable Association, Growers and Shipper League of Florida, Railway Development Association of the Southeast, and the Southeastern Climate Conference.

There will be a self-contained, mechanically refrigerated rail car on display on the campus siding, courtesy of Fruit Growers Express Co.

Tornadoes Hit Three States; 11 Persons Killed

By UNITED PRESS
A cold front smacked into warm southern air today and touched off tornadoes that whiplashed three states, killing at least 11 persons.

This was the casualty count: Alexandria, La., 3; Lafayette, La., 2; Boyce, La., 1; Grove, Tex., 2; Orange, Tex., 1; Cruger, Miss., 2. A number of persons were injured in the three states.

Tornado alerts were out for parts of Georgia, Mississippi and South Carolina and small craft warnings were flying from Tampa, Fla., north to St. Marks on the Gulf, and on the Atlantic coast from Daytona Beach to Cape Hatteras, N. C.

The weather bureau said the turbulent weather was caused by the arrival of a cold front which was expected to plunge temperatures to the low thirties by Thursday as far south as Middle Georgia.

Two persons were killed three miles south of Cruger, Miss., in Holmes County, Thursday night when a storm demolished their home. The victims were identified as Mr. and Mrs. John Walter Parker whose bodies were found outside their shattered dwelling.

Ellis Ferguson, a Louisiana state highway department worker, said he was driving along Highway 80 near Filmore, La., when a tornado roared by.

"It was coming straight towards us," he said, "and it nearly blew my truck off the road. But when it got right in front of us it lifted up and passed directly overhead. The clouds were boiling and it was dark."

Ten Bands Have Accepted Parade Invitation So Far

Johnny Alexander, chairman of the Jaycees Merchants' Association Christmas Parade announced this morning that to date ten of the Central Florida bands asked to participate have accepted the invitation. Final word has not been received from the others.

The annual event which will be held Dec. 4 has as its theme this year, "Christmas Through Children's Eyes."

Entries for the floats are coming in nicely said Alexander, but he is urging all civic, fraternal and churches to get their entries in as soon as possible.

HOW SMALL, YET HOW BIG

How small a man seems—walking down a lonely road on a rainy day, with gaunt trees towering over him.

How small man is, and how frail in body. The trees in the picture and even the chimneys on the old house will probably long outlive the man.

Yet how big man is—in the things that are not of the body, but are of the mind and soul. God has not made man mammoth. But He has made him potentially great—if he will but accept the blessings given him, and use the tools of Christian teachings.

Man finds in the Church, the encouragement and the instruction to enable him to make from his God-given divine spark something great and enduring—and of benefit to all human-kind.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship.
It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Conning The News

Received a birth announcement from Pat and Dave Todd, but promptly lost it to the children. Read enough to know that they had a girl I think the 23rd of October. Dave loves his work in IBM, and they are being sent to Boston, Mass., after he completes his training in Atlanta. Since this is near Dave's home, they are delighted.

Also heard that Ernie and Daphne Carson are new parents—a little girl, born last week. The Carsons are at Glencoe, Ga.

Weddings have been taking the spotlight recently. All friends of Tom Blackburn and Gretchen Hall were happy to hear of their marriage.

Harold Schmid of VAM-9 and Maria Schunk were married Wednesday night in the Air Station chapel, by Father Hubbel. A number of those in the squadron attended the wedding, although it was very small. The bride was very lovely, which is not unusual for her, since she is an extremely pretty girl. Standing at the altar with the bride couple were Shirley and Jim Stevens.

Skip and Ernie Horrell are celebrating their sixteenth anniversary today. Congratulations.

Jack McClelland, one of Jerome Carrell's directors dropped into Sanford this morning to discuss the High Fever Fallies with general chairman, Polly Brubaker and committee chairman, Jack La on his way to Miami and a big show to produce there. He found the Sanford group usually enthusiastic, and fairly well prepared. Few of us will forget in a hurry last year's tolls and tribulations.

Jack will return to New York with many bees to put in Jerome Carrell's bonnet. This year there will be skits that pertain to the Sanford scene—a theme which will

Highschool P-TA Votes Concrete Court As Project

The Seminole High School P. T. A. gave unanimous approval Tuesday night to this year's project: the building of a 100 by 100 foot square concrete recreational court. The court will be located on the north side of the auditorium, and will enhance the present athletic facilities.

The new court would not only be used for basketball, but could supplement the school lunchroom. Other suggestions for uses are dancing, outdoor barbecues, meetings and rallies. Discussion revealed that other schools in neighboring communities have found the courts very satisfactory.

Andrew Bracken, school principal presented the argument for the court, and illustrated his talk with a drawing done by architect John Burton. (This drawing appeared recently in the Sanford Herald).

Through co-operation of the parents and teachers, the estimated cost of the court would be well below that figure with volunteer help and donated materials.

Claude Hittell, project chairman, emphasized the need for sustained effort and co-operation.

The new report cards were explained by Andrew Bracken.

Mrs. John Schirard presided over the meeting. It was announced that approximately $300 had been made from the B-Squad game, which was sponsored by the P-TA in October.

Mr. Bracken and Mrs. Schirard appealed to P. T. A. members to co-operate and offer their services in the coming school bond election. More than fifty percent of the qualified freshers must get to the polls. The high school faculty has assumed the job of telephoning some 700 parents and free holders.

Mr. Bracken emphasized the need for new schools in Seminole County, not only for the present population but for attracting new industries. If a new high school is not soon built, double sessions may have to be started.

The hospitality committee served refreshments to the parents and teachers, before the parents' district in the classrooms. The librarian, Miss Elsa Chittenden, gave the door prize, a delicious chocolate cake. John Schirard Jr. was the happy winner.

Christmas Gifts For Mentally Ill Begins In County Today

The campaign to collect Christmas gifts for patients in Florida mental hospitals was launched today in Seminole County. Collection boxes were placed in downtown stores this morning: Touchton's Drug Store, Cowan's, Wade's Super and Johnson's supermarket in Longwood.

Seminole County residents are asked to purchase a gift from the approved list and drop it in one of the collection boxes. Only new gifts will be accepted. The members of XI Beta Eta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority will collect the gifts, Christmas wrap them, and handle the shipping.

Organizations or individuals may send in cash gifts. Every cent of this money will go to the patients; expenses are paid out of other funds. Checks should be made out to "Florida's Mental Health Christmas Fund," and mailed to Mrs. Vernon Hardin, 1328 Forest Drive, Sanford.

The following list has been approved by the hospitals: men's caps, cigarettes, cigars, tobacco, pipes, pouches, hair cream (in squeeze bottles), lipstick, powder, bags, purses, jewelry (no sharp points), slippers, wash dresses, lingerie, sewing, embroidery materials (no scissors or needles), bathrobes, housecoats, bed sheets, belts, scarves, stoles, shirts, blouses, shorts, tee shirts, socks, hostessery, jeans, slacks, sweaters, slacks, Terry towels (small), wash cloths, playing cards, stationery, mechanical pencils, ball point pens, hard candy, games, puzzles. Security In America Is More Important Than Sputnik Family

Sputnik II and its "mutt" passenger along with threats of reaching the moon have drawn less comment and created more comic nonsense than the first announcement that Sputnik I had been launched.

American people have hardened to the spectacular and are now looking for solid fact that scientific achievement will better mankind's short span on earth—either toward maintaining peace by stronger defense measures or conquering disease so that the life span might be lengthened.

Political partisanship has entered the field of speculation in the bid for nods from citizens across the country. This comes with President Eisenhower's announcement of his proposed "Defense Program" and the possibility of public approval.

A strong defense program is necessary—everyone must admit. A stronger preparedness program is equally important. And coupled with the two—in order to place the United States of America above all, come what may—is a sound economy devoid of any trace of inflation.

To be sure, the three of them together is a big order, since right now the structure of America's economy is going in circles created by demands from labor, initially created by demand by the order of "supply and demand."

The most important step that American leaders can take today is to initiate a program of internal strength. To meet with such crises as those that have already broken, the propaganda programs that are to follow them, and additional claims of superiority, the internal strength of our nation is of utmost importance and is the first requisite of the foundation on which to build security.

Russia — along with its Sputnik I and Sputnik II—has not really gained superiority! All that Russia has was acquired through the strict control of that nation's people, not through freedom and democratic processes.

Its murderous purge of governmental leaders denotes a weakness that can destroy a nation from within—and inevitably from without—regardless of its scientific achievements which do not concern the defense of the nation.

America must recoupe itself — go back somewhat—and strengthen its walls around the states of the nation; Restore confidence again in its people; place labor in its proper perspective; reduce the burden on individuals through taxation but broaden its power so that all might be taxed equally according to earning power; be strong defensively; spend frugally; tear down every avenue of spending through temporary departments; and return to the states the right to govern themselves, educate their children, build their roads, and serve their people.

America should have no fear of the "Sputnik Family" for America is not looking for outer planets to settle on—we're too busy taking care of our own problems at home.

A guided missile is much better defensively for it can keep intruders from our shores and bring down, if necessary, any of the "Sputnik" gang that may get out of hand.

America Leads In Medicine World

There's no doubt about an epidemic of influenza sweeping the nation being a serious one.

But the advance of medical science in the years since the first influenza epidemic 40 years ago has made it possible for the doctors of today to cope with the disastrous disease.

No one is interested, perhaps, in determining the difference between "Asiatic" and "Spanish" influenza—they're both bad and they're both striking, right and left.

A dry throat—perhaps a slight headache—a cough or two, are the first symptoms.

Foreign News Commentary

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent
France has a new cabinet after its 27-day political crisis, but it still has not got a stable government.

The National Assembly, the controlling house of parliament, has a 171 majority for Felix Gaillard as Gaillard received an impressive France's 24th premier since its liberation in World War II.

He managed to get the support of the Socialists, the conservative bloc of Independents and the left-center Popular Republicans as well as his own Radical Socialist Party. All are represented in the new cabinet.

Gaillard calls his cabinet a "government of national unity," unfortunately, it is not really that. The Socialists, the Independents and the Popular Republicans all cordially detest each other.

Hence the prospect is that Gaillard will have to perform a precarious balancing act to keep himself in office. Whether he can get the necessary support for legislation to solve France's serious political and economic problems is questionable.

These problems include the future of Algeria, the keeping down of prices and wages, the budget deficit and social security beneficiaries trying to get approval of three Gaillards.

The crisis was ended largely because it had gone on so long. Deputies were beginning to get angry letters from their constituents. It was reported, apparently on good authority, that President Rene Coty was threatening to resign and, in doing so, to deliver a merciless blast against parliamentary irresponsibility. There was talk of bringing in Gen. Charles De Gaulle, the wartime Free France leader, to head a "strong man" cabinet.

At least Gaillard is young—he is 36—and vigorous, and he brings fresh blood into the cabinet. Six months, ago, when he was finance minister in the cabinet of Maurice Bourges-Maunoury which fell on Sept. 20, he was practically unknown.

Algeria First Move
Gaillard proposes first to put the Algerian problem before the National Assembly. This includes getting the continuation of special governmental powers to deal with the revolt which is draining a large France of men and money. It also includes trying to get approval of a law which would give Algeria a considerable measure of home rule but would leave it still, politically, a part of France.

It was the Algerian issue which brought down the Bourges-Maunoury cabinet. It might bring the downfall of Gaillard because the Socialists and the Conservatives disagree radically on a solution. Then Gaillard plans to ask for special powers to deal with the pressing problem of government finance, and finally to propose some constitutional changes that would make government more stable.

Paris dispatches are already somewhat pessimistic over Gaillard's prospects. But it seems unlikely that any of the divergent groups supporting him will want to take responsibility for causing a new cabinet crisis soon.

Food Superstition

By ALFRED LEECH
United Press Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO (UP)—Thunder won't really cause milk to sour, and the mere presence of a red-haired woman near a cheese vat won't hurt the cheese.

"There's absolutely no rhyme or reason to some of these superstitions," Lawrence said, "but the people still hold to them."

The thunder-milk idea apparently is related to the fact that warm, humid weather does increase the lactic bacteria in the milk, he said, and this in turn will cause milk to sour if it's left in the open.

Cheese, Fish, Eels
The cheese superstition still is prevalent in some portions of the South and along the Atlantic Seaboard, he said. According to the belief, if a red-haired woman leads the cheese vat, the curd will be "like loose sand and the cheese will be weak to eat."

Along the coast of the Carolinas, Georgia, Florida and Texas, Lawrence said, many people believe that eating crabs and ice cream at the same meal is "about like taking strychnine."

In New England there is a similar superstition about milk and shell fish of any kind.

"It probably got started because the fishermen felt that dairy foods were offering too much competition," Lawrence said. "It's obviously ridiculous because many of the recipes call for cooking fish dishes in milk."

Fatal Blot
Blumarck, the Iron chancellor of Germany, believed in a superstition that killed him. He thought that meat and brandy would cure the gout, despite the fact that meat is high in proteins and gout usually is caused by an overabundance of protein in the diet.

"Blumarck used to eat a pound and a half of sausage and drink a bottle of brandy," Lawrence said. "Then his aching toes didn't ache."

"He was probably accused he felt no pain."

Lake Mary

By Little Jane Keogh
The executive board of the PWO met Tuesday evening at the church. Mrs. J. Ames Thompson, a association president, presided. The budget for the coming year was presented by the financial committee chairman, Mrs. E. Zimmerman. Mrs. Carol Lowe will be asked to keep the scrap book of the circle and association news. An afternoon circle was discussed and the Board decided if enough ladies would care to meet in the afternoon and if these ladies would carry on the complete program of PWO then this third circle could be formed.

The session asked if the women could look into the possibility of covering the hymn books. It was voted to cover the books as a project at a later date.
Calling on the newcomers was stressed and each chairman was given a list of people to call upon.
Circle No. 1 will meet Tuesday, Nov. 12 at the home of Mrs. Eileen Willard on County Club Road.
Circle No. 2 will meet with Mrs. Ida Keogh on Tuesday, Nov. 19.
Attending the board meeting were Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Eileen Willard, Mrs. Ola Cochran, Mrs. Ruth Goble, Mrs. F. Leffler, Mrs. Marshall Smith, Mrs. Donald Kirkner, Mrs. Ed Zimmerman, Mrs. Joe Smathers and Mrs. Richard Keogh.

Don't forget the third and last Building Bee Saturday at the Community Church. The ladies of the church will serve dinner to the workers at noon. The trusses for the kitchen arrived over the weekend and the committee hopes to complete the roof and place the rest of the windows Saturday.
Mrs. William Harmon returned home this week after spending sometime in an Orlando Hospital. We all hope that Jennie will be better than ever now.

Women To Hear Speaker On T. B.

The Lake Mary Home Demonstration Club will meet on the second Tuesday of each month. This coming Tuesday the meeting will be held at the Lake Mary Chamber of Commerce (at 10:30 p.m.).
W. Gramkow, member of the T. B. Association, will be guest speaker. Mrs. Martha Braught will speak on food planning. Luncheon will be served at the end of the meeting.

Probably the most popular of the three are azaleas, and this is true, no doubt because of the wide range of colors in vivid pastel shades and the great difference in height. There are hundreds of varieties, so no home owner with an eye to any particular color need to do without this winter beauty.
Azaleas are not difficult to grow, but certain precautions must be taken to provide them with the growing conditions they demand. Azaleas are acid loving plants, and will not tolerate alkaline soil conditions. Therefore in planning your azalea bed be sure to incorporate large amounts of well pulverized peat and well rotted leaves in the mixture. Spacing the plants in the bed depends on the rate of growth and the effect to be secured. Beds made with small plants should be closely spaced to achieve an immediate effect that is pleasing. One can always thin them out later as they grow. The roots should be heavily mulched with rotting leaf mold or pine straw. Remember, azaleas require a lot of water and will soon die if left to dry out completely at the roots. Azaleas are also heavy feeders, but a word of caution here. Do not fertilize your azaleas at this time of the year as it will cause the buds to drop and you will lose your "spot of beauty." At this time of the year, it is well to spray your plants with Fomate to prevent "Petit Blight". Spray according to directions of the manufacturer and be sure to spray not only the azaleas but the ground under the plants as well.
For even more color plant bulbs such as gladiolus, Easter lily, Amaryllis, calla, southern iris and anemone. A handful of building sand under each bulb and a generous supply of food and moisture will insure large and perfect blossoms. Be sure to add a generous amount of annuals spacing them in "dead" spots for a riot of color. It is so easy to plant the little plants in bands. You insure against loss and again you can choose your asset

Pinecrest 4-H Club Makes Towels

The Pinecrest School 4-H Club held a meeting Tuesday afternoon to make huck towels. After singing the Star Spangled Banner, the meeting was conducted by the president, Pat Bass.
Nancy Sikes, Bible leader, read several passages. The girls gave the flag devotionals and said the 4-H pledge. Present for the meeting were the leader Mrs. Forbes, and Miss Myrtle Wilson.

color desired. Remember, gorgeous bloom is directly in proportion to the proper care given any plant.
Do not neglect your lawn as your lawn is the frame for your blaze of color. This month the lawn should have a good dressing of organic fertilizer. Organic fertilizer is recommended as it tends to keep the lawn green and has a long lasting effect.

Winter Festival Makes Use Of Coupons

In connection with the fifth All Souls Winter Festival it is quite interesting how many of the prizes were obtained. At the last Catholic Women's Club meeting it had been suggested that a box be made and kept in the vestibule of the church for any coupons that anyone would like to donate. The response was overwhelming—each week as they were collected there were more than the previous one.
In sorting the various coupons Mrs. Ann Witt who was in charge of them filled thirty Top Value books; eight Sperry and Hutchinson books (the familiar $4H stamp), approximately $2,000.00 worth in the Foodmart green stamps and not to mention the Golden Key, General Mills and the Pillsbury coupons.
It was fantastic how women would part with their much valued coupons as almost everyone saves for "that one special item."
All these gifts will be used at the Fifth All Souls Winter Festival which is to be held November 18, on the All Souls Church grounds on Oak Avenue between eighth and ninth streets during noon and 10:00 p.m.
A spaghetti dinner will be served from 8:30 p.m. The charge, will be $1.00 for adults and $3.00 for children. There will also be a snack bar on the grounds.
Proceeds from these annual festivals go to the All Souls Parochial School.

Don't forget the third and last Building Bee Saturday at the Community Church. The ladies of the church will serve dinner to the workers at noon. The trusses for the kitchen arrived over the weekend and the committee hopes to complete the roof and place the rest of the windows Saturday.

Kaye Gives Reasons For Skipping Video

(Editors note: Vernon Scott is on vacation. Today's columnist is Danny Kaye, the reticent comedian who refuses to appear regularly. Danny gives his reasons for skipping video.)
By DANNY KAYE
Written For United Press
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—"What have you got against television?" No, not you—me. What I mean is, this is the question that I am asked most frequently nowadays. Because I don't appear on television, "most everyone I know seems to think I must bear some deep-seated grudge against the medium."
Actually I have nothing against television. I watch it all the time. But I don't want to be seen on it. And I have a lot of reasons. As a matter of fact, I could write a book about it. Oh, I know, you have seen me on television—on the Edward R. Murrow program, "The Secret Life of Danny Kaye," the one about UNICEF and the children all over the world.
Was On Film
But that wasn't what I would really call appearing on television. It was a filmed record of a trip I made around the world for the UN Children's Fund, not a "show" as an entertainer.
Why won't I make that kind of an appearance? For one thing, I enjoy my life very much the way it is. I like making motion pictures. I enjoy making the stage appearances I do. I get a great thrill from my work for UNICEF. But I can't do all this and television, too.
May Appear Later
In television, it's possible to take a complete unknown, surround him with top creative talent, money and production and, within four weeks, make him national fame—a household word. If this holds true, it also must follow that in the same amount of time, television can destroy him.

polished performer can do a show on Broadway and be a smash hit. He can run in that play for years and gain an international reputation. Yet one television appearance—good or bad—by that same performer will be seen by more people than could ever see him in a portrayal where he has had months and years to arrive at perfection.
Mind you, I'm not saying that any of these points will keep me off television permanently. I just haven't made up my mind about it yet. Nor has anyone presented me with a show that I felt like doing on TV.

Bread And Butter Pickles; Mrs. Forbes Recipe

BREAD AND BUTTER PICKLES
Have you tried making Bread and Butter Pickles? While cucumbers are plentiful on the market this is a good time to make pickles, says Myrtle Wilson, Home Demonstration Agent. The following is a recipe which was given to me by Mrs. R. B. Forbes. It is a very easy recipe and makes an excellent pickle.
BREAD AND BUTTER PICKLES
Wash and slice cucumbers
To 1 gallon sliced cucumbers
Add 7 large onions, sliced
5 cups sugar
2 cups water
2 cups white vinegar
1/4 cup salt
1 1/2 tablespoons mustard seed
1 tablespoon celery seed
1 1/2 tablespoons turmeric
Mix all together and heat (don't boil) until cucumbers change color. Pack in sterilized jars.
If cucumbers have been washed — wash in warm water and rinse. Some people even use a little soap in the water.

Be sure to have plenty of fresh Florida grapefruit on hand for Thanksgiving Day. The last juicy sections and halves are ideal appetizers to precede an otherwise heavy meal.
In addition, plump round sunshiny grapefruit can be made into turkey gobblers for centerpieces or individual places that will delight young and old. Here's how:
Grapefruit Turkeys
Cut four rows of deep slits for fanned-out tail. Insert rhododendron leaves for tail feathers, placing smallest leaves in front, longest in back, and trim tips with scissors. Make two deep slits on sides for wings; insert two small leaves in each. Make head of shelled Brazil nuts with pins inserted in bottom to hold in place. Use pimento for wattle. Cut scallops with tip of apple corer lending them outward, to represent breast feathers. Insert three toothpicks in grapefruit for legs.

Seminoles Invade Leesburg Tonight

By JERRY COVINGTON

Coaches Pigott and Leade will send their flashy Sanford Seminoles against a hapless but troublesome Leesburg Yellow Jacket team tonight in an effort to keep what could be the local's greatest record alive. To this point of the season things look rosy and if nothing serious goes wrong another victory could be added to the perfect record.

The Leesburg team is starved for a win and if things go as they have in the past, they will put up a good scrap. Ed Parker remains a threat to any ball club and if the defenses are able to stop him things should go very well.

Other than the great guy caused by the absence of Jack Stotky, the local's should be in better shape, physically, than last week. Work horse, Eddie Barbour, has recovered from his knee trouble and will be able and willing to go all out to spread good news around the field. Johnson, Yezick, and Dandridge are also in top form and should find range on many occasions.

Richard Brothers Heading League Scoring Race

MONTREAL, Q. — These Richard brothers — Maurice and Henri — are making a strong early bid to become the first brother team to finish one-two in the National Hockey League scoring race.

Including Sunday's games, the Richards were out in front with 19 goals and nine assists each for 38 points. The 26-year-old Rocket and his 21-year-old brother have been setting a dizzy, goal-a-game pace for the first 10 games and led a four-man Montreal Canadiens' flight in the scoring derby.

Trouble Already Brewing About '58 NL Schedule

CINCINNATI, Ohio, (UP)—Trouble already is brewing among National League teams over the 1958 schedule.

The league office announced Wednesday that the 1958 season will open on Tuesday, April 15, with the new Los Angeles Dodgers meeting the new San Francisco Giants at San Francisco in one of the four openers.

Records Of Some Gator Backfield Aces Hits By Loss

GAINESVILLE, Fla. — When Auburn blanked Florida 13-0, Saturday it dealt a hard blow to some of the statistical records of the Gator backfield aces.

Only diminutive quarterback Jimmy Dunn and halfback Jimmy Rountree came out better on paper after the game.

Dunn, a 165-pounder from Tampa, kicked seven times and upped his average for the season from 30.3 to 35.7. Dunn did the kicking because of the injury to Rountree's ankle. Rountree normally does Florida's kicking and still boasts the top Gator average of 36.0 yards.

Fireworks Are Predicted Tonite At FSU-UofM Tilt

TALLAHASSEE—What happens when a team with one of the nation's best punters runs into a team with one of college football's hottest ground attacks?

Plenty of fireworks, probably, and more than 19,000 fans will jam Campbell Stadium to see the sparks when Florida State enters tonight's game here Friday night.

Florida State, on the comeback after a slow start, has the punter. He is Bobby Renn, a lithe little (174 pounds) junior quarterback who gained a notch in national punting even though the Seminoles were idle last week. Renn ranks 3rd in the nation—behind SMU's Dave Sherr and Rick Wilson of UCLA—with a 43.2 average on 19 punts.

CHAPTER 20

GENERAL Sherman was always the same to Elizabeth. Orated, his red mounted hair streaked with gray, his lined forehead wrinkled. His uniform was not long, and one of the brass buttons was suspended by a single thread. How old, Elizabeth thought, that the army's two top officers, Sherman and Grant, both looked so military.

"Sit down, Elizabeth," General Sherman gave her a tired smile. "I'm awfully glad to see you again. Here, let me help you with your coat."

"I really shouldn't take up your time, General. I—well, my problems must be small compared to yours."

He shook his head at her. "You know better than to talk that way. Any time Ed Taylor's daughter wants to see me, she's welcome, day or night, at my office or at home."

She sat down and adjusted the folds of her coat. She was embarrassed now that she was here. General Sherman didn't know anything about Chad or he would have let her know.

"Just the same," she murmured. "I know how much you have to do."

"You're concerned about young Endicott, of course," he said in his direct way.

She smiled ruefully. "Is it that apparent?"

"Well, not entirely, but I'm quite familiar with the personal problems of a good man; of my officers and their loved ones. After all, the army is just a big family. Or it used to be. Right now, Congress seems bent on making it just a 'cold force, or making it."

Elizabeth stared down at her folded hands. "I've been 'sorry' every day since the papers began carrying stories about Fort Butterfield being wiped out. Everybody seems to believe them except me."

"Not everybody," he said. "It may be only rumor. Right now, we can't verify the stories. We can't deny them, either."

"That's what I want to think," she said eagerly. "That the stories are just rumor. But who started them? And why?"

Sherman's face grew somber and the muscles on his face stood out for a trotting stallion. Jim Camp retired to stud by owner Jim Camp of Shafter, Calif. Scott Frost earned $10,000, an record for a trotting stallion, and third best on the overall trotting roster.

Warren, Ohio, was the first city in the country to install Mazda lightning lights on its streets in 1920.

She shook her head. "For the life of me, Elizabeth, I can't understand the woman who goes to the war zone to see a man. I mean, I could see a little comforting. He released her hands and stepped back, frowning. But about Chad. Think of it this way, Elizabeth. More rumors turn out to be false than turn out to be true. The gossip you hear and the newspaper stories you read don't prove anything. Chad's a good soldier, and he can take care of himself if anyone can. We'll know as soon as the ice goes out of the river and communication is resumed. That's all I can tell you now and I think you understand why."

She smiled at him, her eyes moist. "I do understand." She rose to leave.

His wrinkled countenance, covered with a game of red-gry whiskers, softened and wreathed itself in a smile. "I believe you do, soldier."

In a moment she was out in the raw spring wind. She knew as soon as the ice goes out of the river and communication is resumed. That's all I can tell you now and I think you understand why."

When Stiner called that evening, she said. "The first boat out of St. Louis for the upper Missouri is the 'Red' and I found out this afternoon that Otto Orunwald will be on it. So will I. I've got to find out for myself."

"Elizabeth, Elizabeth," he said tenderly. "It breaks my heart to see you go on hoping for something to be true which isn't true. I hate to see you make a dangerous trip like that just to be hurt."

"But I can't do anything else, Alvin."

"Listen to me, Elizabeth. I love you. I want to marry you and be sure of you. But the way I promised your father. I never pressed you as long as Chad was alive, but it's different now. It's no good, I tell you, loving a dead man."

She said softly, "Maybe it isn't so bad, but it's the way I am. When I know he's dead..."

Stiner said. "Then I must be content with that, Elizabeth. I'm getting out of the Indian trade. I'm going to sell my interest in Fort Blaine and I expect to get some business in the Montana mines, so I'm taking the Red Nymph and I'll go on to Fort Benton." He smiled. "After all, I did promise your father to look after you."

Chad is about to have a surprising visit from a woman. Continue Chapter 20 tomorrow.

Hiland Confuses Some Issues, Most People Says Actor

By ROBERT HITCHCOCK
Writer for the United Press in HOLLYWOOD (UP)—New I understand why Hollywood con-fuses some issues and most peo-

Let's swing a few examples.
When we were filming "The Whippoorwill" for DRM Productions, my independent (?) company, we had to find someone who could play my younger brother, Jack, who is a fine actor? Of course not. We hired my elder son, Jim, to play the part because he looks more like my brother than my brother does.

No Call For Lady
In the same picture the leading lady—makes that "leading woman" because the role doesn't call for a lady—is a night club singer.
That gives you a fair idea of the kind of night club it is.

Any place that has more than five tables and two waiters always calls a girl who sings
"standards." That's not only French for singer but it also means "watch the cover tab, dad, it's a gasster."

Anyway, the usual drift is to find a dramatic actress who thinks Brahms is plural for Brahms and that Dixieland is where they make out with paper cups. Then you hire a singer to do the songs while your square mouthed words for the camera.

So we went out and hired a lady named Keely Smith. Her only qualifications for the job are that she is the nightclub singer who leaves people to her corner in Las Vegas like a payoff slot machine and whose platters keep the Capitol record people sore-fingered and weary counting the money.
Plays Moonshine Hauler

Then there was the burning question about what happens to me in "The Whippoorwill." I play a "transporter," a man who hauls moonshine whiskey from the still to the distributor. One of Hollywood's oldest rules—next to "put plenty of salt in the popcorn so they'll buy plenty of drinks"—is this: "Never kill the star," or "stay with the money."

The theory is that audiences do not like to see the hero of the movie come to a bad end—or even a good end. They want him to go on and on, circling the theaters like Sputnik. We decided to do me in—a really gory and miserable death—because, well, frankly, I deserved it.

I should feel as revolutionary as a South American patriot but all I feel is good all over. When "The Whippoorwill" was completed and turned over to United Artists for release—I didn't have uter one!

SAY THAT AGAIN
FORT CARSON, Colo. (UP)—
Army officials at Fort Carson say Pvt. Albert K. Kahalokula, a combat trainee from Walluku, Hawaii, has the longest middle name in the army. The K. stands for Kahikikilikalewakaameha-maha.

FIRST COMMERCIAL JET AIRLINER—The Boeing 707, America's first commercial jet airliner, is rolled out of the hangar in Renton, Wash. Plant employees watch the giant plane that will carry 140 passengers tourist class or 120 persons first class. (Intercontinental)

SPUTNIK II FITS INTO SPACE PICTURE—This diagram compares the approximate altitudes and distances of known Soviet and U.S. ventures into space. The new Russian Sputnik II satellite is revolving around the earth at an altitude estimated at over 1,000 miles, second only to the U. S. Farside missile. (Central Press)

SPACE RAFT—In 1782, a Frenchman, M. de Laette, envisioned in his book on travel to the moon this space raft. A cross section of the enclosed vessel, which was lifted and propelled by the expulsion of air or liquid enclosed in barrels, shows that the author had no conception of atmospheric pressure changes. Lutherans Will Hold Smorgasbord Saturday, Nov. 16

A gigantic smorgasbord is to be served Sat. Nov. 16, from 5:30 p. m. to 7:30 p. m. at the Lutheran church at 30th and Laurel according to the ladies of that church who now are completing plans for this festive occasion. Tickets, according to chairman, Mrs. Del Johnson and Mrs. Margaret Hendrick, are available from ladies of the church.

The menu in its simplified version lists baked ham, cold cuts, assorted cheeses, potato salad, baked beans, cole slaw, tuna and macaroni salad and a special kidney bean salad. The gay table will also carry a full assortment of relishes, celery, carrot sticks, pickles and pickled beets.

Breads, coffee, cold beverages and homemade cup cakes will round out the meal.

In addition to the dinner there will be a home-made candy table and another booth specializing in gifts suitable for Christmas. The proceeds from the project will be used in the program of the church, according to Mrs. Maxine Ekera, publicity director.

Members who have been heading various phases of the occasion are Emma Thurston—procurement; Katherine Senkark—kitchen; Edna Southward—dining room.

An American adaptation of an old-world recipe won $25,000 for Mrs. Gerda D. Rodner in the sixth annual Bake-Off held this year at the Beverly Hilton in Beverly Hills, Calif. A butter cookie with shortbread flavor, "Accordion Treats" take their name from aluminum foil which has been accordion pleated and in which they are baked.

- Accordion Treats
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup sugar
3 unbleached eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
Cream butter. Gradually add sugar, creaming well. Blend in eggs, vanilla and salt; beat well. Gradually add flour; mix thoroughly. Fold lengthwise one yard of foil to give double thickness, then fold into 1-inch accordion pleats. Place on baking sheet. Drop dough by rounded teaspoonfuls into folds (dough spreads during baking). Bake in slow oven (325°) 25 to 30 minutes until golden brown. Cool 10 minutes; remove cookies and re-use foil. If desired, sprinkle cookies with confectioners' sugar or frost with an icing. Makes about 4 dozen cookies.

Keewaydin Is Scene Of Party And Dancing

Nearly 250 members and guests attended the steak dinner held at Keewaydin Island last weekend by the Naples Women's Republican Club. Use of the Keewaydin Club was donated for the event by owner Lester J. Norris.

Preparations began in the morning when volunteer workers George Wetherill and Bill Mitchell started using their private launches to transport food and supplies to the island. The buffet-style dinner was served in a screened pavilion adjacent to the swimming pool and patio where guests danced under the stars to the music of Lovell Meadors' four-piece orchestra.

HELPING

Helping to serve were Mrs. Almada "Mimi" Edwards, Mrs. Esther Lovitt, Mrs. Frank Otte, Mrs. Robert Williams, Mrs. George Cowden, Mrs. Dan Smith and Mrs. Beatrice Powell and Miss Sally Jones.

Glorify Beef Hash with Italian Flavor

It's with a great deal of admiration and pride that a family can be assured that the head chef of the home will create a novel dish with the last of the roast... In this case, Italian Beef Hash.

This is a popular dish which takes just 30 minutes to prepare and has a zesty flavor spiced by the addition of Worcester-shire sauce and grated American cheese.

To insure delicious leftover meat creations, cooked meat must be stored correctly.

Beef Steaks, a home economist well versed in the field of meat selection, care and cooking, says that cooked meat must be wrapped tightly and stored in the refrigerator so that it will retain its moisture and not become dry.

Italian Beef Hash
 2 cups ground cooked beef
 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
 2 tablespoons flour
 1 cup meat stock or water
 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
 Salt
 Pepper
 1/2 cup macaroni, cooked
 1/2 cup grated American cheese

Melt butter or margarine in a saucepan and blend in flour. Gradually add meat stock or water and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add Worcestershire sauce and season with salt and pepper. Combine ground cooked beef, cooked macaroni and white sauce and pour into a greased 1-quart casserole. Sprinkle with grated American cheese and bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) for 20 minutes. Yield: 4 servings.

LUNCH BOX

IF your child must eat out of a lunchbox each school day, make its contents appetizing and nutritious. Packing nourishment into a lunchbox requires planning and imagination. A thermos of hot soup, sandwiches, fresh fruit, cookies and beverage is fundamentally the pattern you work with.

With one of today's food favorites—packaged soup mixes—it is possible to provide a flavorful hot treat every day. It can be prepared in a few minutes in the morning just by adding the contents of the foil package to boiling water and cooking it about 10 minutes. In this way you can provide nourishing soup like beef vegetable with noodles, chicken with noodles, tomato vegetable, and green pea soup, for the warm mainstay that a good lunch requires.

Sandwiches are always popular with youngsters but when they're a steady diet give them lots of variety. There are numerous prepared spreads—meat, chicken, fish, cheese. If you serve an old favorite like peanut butter, add crumbled cooked bacon to it, or some raisins. And when making sandwiches use different kinds of bread and rolls. Don't use only white and rye bread but alternate with pumpkin and nut bread, corn muffins and hamburger rolls.

For salad tid-bits try crisp carrot sticks, celery stalks, and radishes. For something a little different pack a "sandwich" made of fish sticks in hot dog rolls or tuck a fried chicken drumstick into the lunchbox.

For youngsters who crave variety, this sort of menu-planning will pay big dividends.

SPEAKING OF CARDS

FRYING-PAN

This effective card trick takes its name from the pattern in which the cards are laid out. Follow the directions and you'll have a sizer of a trick to work on your friends.

Make a circle of cards as shown in the illustration.

You may put any number of cards in the circle, which forms the rim of your frying pan. To complete the pan, you need a handle and this you make by adding a file of cards to the rim. The handle may be any length you wish to make it.

Now ask the person you are working this trick on to decide than the number of cards in the handle. Impress upon him that he is not to name that number. When he indicates that he has decided on some number, ask him to do a little exercise in counting as follows:

He is to begin with the bottom card of the handle (see illustration) and count silently up the handle until he reaches the rim. He then continues clockwise until he has counted out the number he selected.

Now beginning with the very card on which he landed, he is to count out his original number again. This time, however, he goes counting clockwise direction, continuing around the rim without bothering about the handle.

Despite the fact his counting has been done silently, you will tell him on which card he finally landed.

THE SOLUTION: Here is the way you find that card. You begin with the bottom of the handle, too, and count the number of cards in the handle. Then starting with the card at the right of the card to which the handle is attached, go counter clockwise around the rim counting as many cards as you did in the handle. The card on which you land will be the same one on which your subject landed. Identify it and enjoy his puzzled expression.

Example: (refer to illustration) Suppose your subject mentally selects the number 7. He begins counting with the bottom card of the handle, 6 of Hearts, and counts two, three, which brings him to the Jack of Spades as four, he continues, five, six, seven clockwise around the rim bringing him to the 8 of Clubs. Now, starting with the 8 of Clubs as one, he starts a new count, this time going counter-clockwise around the rim and the count of seven lands him on the 8 of Clubs. To find the card he landed on, you also begin counting with the bottom card of the handle, 6 of Hearts. Number of cards in the handle is three. That's the number you count out beginning with the 8 of Clubs. Which lands you on... the 8 of Clubs. See how it works!

Here's a secret. No matter what number your subject had chosen, he would still have landed on the 8 of Clubs. If you doubt that, try it yourself, choosing a different number each time and using the layout in the illustration.

The number of persons convicted of drunkenness in England and Wales increased 10 per cent in 1936 over the previous year.

Hold Monthly Meeting

Women's Club Board Maps Plans For Annual Bazaar

The regular monthly meeting of the Naples Women's Club was held Monday morning at the club house with the president, Mrs. Anton Nyström, presiding.

The following new members were accepted into active membership: Mrs. E. F. Belavick; S. W. McQueen; Paul Francisco; S. D. Mills; D. Berglund; E. V. Brunfield; Frank R. Otte; S. G. Ogilvie Jr. and Bradford Greenfield. The application of Mrs. Fabian McInosh to become a life member was accepted. Any member of the club in good standing desiring to become a life member may do so by the payment of $100, which eliminates further payment of dues.

ANNOUNCING PLANS

Mrs. A. B. Miller, chairman of the thrift shop and exchange, announced that a table would be placed near the door at each club meeting for the convenience of members who wish to donate either new or used articles which are still in good condition, for sale at the popular thrift shop sponsored by the club at the Four Corners.

Mrs. Nyström stated that the choral group will meet every Tuesday morning at 10:30 a.m. at the club house for rehearsal. Miss Louise Gates, chairman of foreign relations, announced that there would be a meeting on this timely subject at the club at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 20.

Mrs. Allen C. Smith, chairman of ways and means, advised that plans were well under way for the club's biggest fund-raising event of the year, the Annual Bazaar, which will be held at the club house on Friday, Nov. 22, from 10:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. The bazaar will be open to the public and will offer many unusual items just in time for Christmas shopping.

Of particular interest will be the table of shell bags, offering bags of many shapes and sizes of plastic and straw which have been decorated with shells by Mrs. Robert Lyons, table chairman, and her committee. This booth will also display the popular "cotton pickers", hand decorated with delicate shells by Mr. and Mrs. George Coleman.

Mrs. Anton Nyström and Mrs. John Sumner, in charge of decorations, are planning to turn the club auditorium into a Country Fair for the occasion, with some 15 elegantly decorated tables offering a wide variety of choicer gift items. Luncheon will be served at noon to workers and guests alike, consisting of a variety of sandwiches, hot or cold drinks, and assorted cakes, all at reasonable prices. The luncheon may either be eaten at the club or taken out as desired. Mrs. Harry S. Stotag will be in charge.

The next program meeting of the club will be held at 2:00 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 13 at the club house. Daniel E. Beard of Homestead, superintendent of Everglades National Park, will give a talk on local birds, accompanied by illustrated slides. Mr. Alan W. Caboon will follow the speaker with the story of how he and Mrs. Caboon rescued an injured hummingbird and restored it to health. Mrs. M. W. Clark Crandall will serve as chairman of hostesses, and will be assisted by Madeline Walter Jessup, Howard Taylor, Alper Cook, William Schmucker, Francis Lord, William Mumma Jr. and Diana Witt.

Mrs. Earnshaw Is Back Home After European Trip

Mrs. George D. Earnshaw has returned from her October trip to Europe and is again at her desk at the Bank of Naples.

Mrs. Earnshaw left Miami on Sept. 21 and flew to Frankfurt, Germany, where her husband George was awaiting her with one month furlough from his Army duties.

The Earnshaws toured Frankfurt and then went on to Bad-Sachsen where they visited with Paul and Jackie Frank of Naples and saw the new Frank son and wife. Paul is also in the Army and stationed there.

The Earnshaws left Bad-Sachsen and went to Paris, France, where they remained for six days outting the town and seeing well-known places of interest.

Upon leaving Paris the Earnshaw went to London where they spent four days, saw the changing of the guard at Buckingham and made sight-seeing tours of the city.

The Earnshaws then left London and continued their trip on to Wrexham, North Wales, where they visited with "Sunny's" relatives for a few days and then left Wrexham for St. Leonard's-on-the-Sea where they visited with more relatives and then on to Camberley where they visited with friends Don and Betty Ruby. Don is stationed there with the Army. Don and Betty are former residents of Naples.

Mr. and Mrs. Earnshaw then returned to London where Sunny saw Joyce take flight for Naples and home and he returned to his job in Frankfurt, Germany.

This Dog Has Kick Coming! There's a certain three-legged dog in town which better lay low for a while. Mrs. Jim "Frenchie" Cochran was playing a pleasant round of golf Tuesday, apparently heading for a nice card. Coming to the Beach Club's water-hole 7th, Mrs. Cochran stroked her ball nicely over the lake and saw it come in to rest below the green but safely out of the water. Along comes this three-legged dog, she swears, and the animal kicked the ball into the water. The dog then left the scene as if it had four good legs and wings. Mrs. Cochran well off the tee by this time, and not wishing to hold up play, went right by the book on scoring. She gave herself an "X" - which is the golfer's way of saying "XXX".

Gay Costumes Feature Marco Carnival

The members of Marco Carnival School were last night decorated with pompous, kaleidoscopic, witch, etc. for the Halloween Carnival held Thursday evening, October 31st.

Starting on 9 o'clock, but open coffee, juice, cakes and pop were sold to about 100 attending in leaders.

GUESSES YARN

Much interest was shown in the "bean-guess" over the being realized through the sale of 500-ounces of beans in a glass jar. Guesses were listed from 255 to 2,500 with the actual number being 1,150. Marie Lindlow was the winner in this contest, guessing 1,210 beans. The prize was a doll cake made and decorated by Elsie Vogstad. A doll adorned this cake representing a 12-inch colored figure with festoons of blue lace covering the hooped skirt design — a real artistic creation.

COUTURE JUDGING

Costumes were judged by Gladys Folsom, Doris Gilley and Dick Buckner. The following choices were made: In the pre-school age group: prettiest, Sandra Ravel's who was a true little doll with a "I walk, I talk, I cry" most original, Andy Hines; and most comical, Freddy Riggs. The lower grades through 9 years of age: prettiest, Linda Lindlow as a baller dancer; most original, Alice Johnson as a tigress; and most comical, Johnny Dee Kirk. For those in 10th grade and up: prettiest, Johnny Walter who was dressed as a woman; most comical, Mrs. Marie Riege; and most original, Loretta Smith, the baby-faced fisherman's wife.

Both Hines, chairman, wishes to thank all who contributed their time, material and effort to make the carnival a success.

Special mention is directed to Elsie Vogstad who donated two beautiful doll cakes — one for "bean-guess" and one for a cake walk. A Vogstad cake is worth "walking" for and the PTA is very appreciative of Elsie's talents and generosity.

Poison Control Centers Do Good Job in State

Aid Offered For Children And Others. A toddler reaches for the "candy" money put behind the sofa for the roaches. A first-grader playing house administers a poisonous dose of aspirin to her little playmate. Another tot takes a drink from a carburetor placed on the table. These are some of the cases reported.

ASPIRIN WORST. But aspirin and aspirin-containing products topped both of these trouble makers. There were 22 cases of children, mostly under five years of age, taking aspirin, probably thinking it was candy.

Other causes of accidental poisoning among children included laundry bleach, rat poison, tranquilizer pills, cosmetics, mushroom.

Figures released this week by Dr. J. O. Bond, Epidemiologist with the State Board of Health, reveal the scope of the Poisoning Control program during its first 12 months of operation. Besides answering hundreds of phone calls for information, the centers have 120 reportable cases of poisoning at the hospital emergency rooms.

Not at all surprising to parents will be the disclosure that most of the poisoning cases occurred in very young children not both of such high intelligence.

STUCK IN — OIL. Wilmington, Calif. — When little Johnny Durban, 3, got lost, his mother sent out an alarm and neighbors helping her search for the lost child. Someone heard him sobbing just behind her fence at the rear of the Durban's yard. There he sat — stuck tight in a puddle of oil, which apparently had oozed from neighboring storage.

Hospital attendants put Johnny in a cellophane bag and sent him home for his father to clean up.

Bible Comment:
What Does It Profit a Man to Gain the World?

We know a man who does not pursue honesty as merely the best policy, but who is honest even if it is not to his own best interests. He speaks out of the voice of experience, as a father of sons to whom he is determined to set a good example.

He said that he had noticed where men became wealthy and stayed there a disinterestedly, that though they apparently didn't matter, the consequences upon their sons and other members of their families were often disastrous.

What does a grafting or dishonest father gain if he becomes wealthy and attains a sort of respect only if he had his sons look to emulate his success through the crookedness that made it? What does he do when he sees them going down to ruin in a worldly as well as a spiritual way because of the false heritage he has given them?

Think of what is happening in the world as our first thought about it. Take a broad range view and see if the voices of wisdom aren't right when they whisper that human welfare is linked with honesty and right choice.

"The path of the just is as the shining light, that grows more and more unto the perfect day." This rich and beautiful verse brings to mind this saying, "As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he." It is in our will, the inner choice, that our destiny rests.

To let the world itself be the god of good living, the way of honor and decency, is to be worldly wise as well as spiritually sound. Even when men have to make great sacrifices to keep their integrity, honesty is justified. For what comfort or gain is there for any man to realize that he has won his battle when at the cost of himself?

HARDER JUST TO LISTEN — World-famed cellist Pablo Casals can't remain impassive as he listens to the play-back of a recording he had made earlier at the Sorbonne in Paris, France. These photos tell the story of the virtuoso's reactions to his own playing. Casals concentrates deeply, upper left, as the music begins. Something deeply in the presentation jars him out of his contemplative mood, upper right. At lower left, he looks back in the mood of the music and, lower right, he beats his hands in accompaniment.

LOOK for the Realtor's Emblem

In old England the silver-smiths banded together and agreed to mark the silver pieces they produced with their own initials or emblem. These "hallmarks" became a guarantee of the quality of the silver used, as well as the workmanship of the craftsman.

Today the "hallmark" of the Real Estate profession is the word "Realtor."

It denotes integrity and high standards of practice. When you seek real estate service, look for the Realtor's emblem.

DOGS LEADS WAY HOME

Hobbs, N. M. — After driving a year-and-a-half old boy and his dog around town in a futile effort to locate the lost child's home, one of the cops had a burst of inspiration. They put the boy in a police car and let the dog loose. They followed the dog as he wandered happily down street after street. The animal finally turned in at a house and the child pointed proudly at one of the anxious adults on the porch. "There is grandma," he exclaimed.

Watch Your Cucumbers!

The Florida Secretary of Agriculture has issued a regulatory order requiring planting of 275 bush cucumbers to be made as cucumbers shipped from the Florida production area during the period Nov. 2 through Nov. 16, 1957.

A previously issued regulation required that cucumbers shipped must meet the requirements of either U.S. Fancy, U.S. No. 1, U.S. No. 2 Small, or U.S. No. 3 Large grade, as well as be inspected and certified by the Federal-State Inspection Service. However, cucumbers to be used for processing have been exempted from the foregoing regulatory requirements.

The Florida production area consists of that portion of Florida lying north or east of the Suwannee River.

Sixty per cent of the veterans still holding GI insurance policies obtained during service in the Armed Forces are saving time and money by paying their premiums in advance.

In addition to saving postage, GI policy-holders paying in advance get the benefit of a discount in the premium rate, C. W. Rogge, Officer in charge of the Miami VA Office, said.

Plan Vast Recreation Area

Mandalay Gives Us a Tempting Entree

Five Agencies Combine Forces in 17 Counties

Tallahassee — Planning of recreational facilities in the Central and South Florida Flood Control District will take another step forward this week as five state agencies begin preparing definite blueprints for the program.

B. R. Fuller Jr., Executive Director of the Florida Development Commission, said enough preliminary work has been done so it is now possible to define the exact responsibilities of each of the five cooperating agencies.

The broad plan envisions construction of numerous boat ramps, hunting and fishing camps, parks, docks, picnic and camping areas and other recreational facilities. Development Commission staff members are confident the Flood Control District offers even greater possibilities.

The District, larger in size than the states of Connecticut, New Jersey and Delaware combined, contains an almost infinite variety of fish and wildlife. Much of it is unspoiled by man and a principal purpose of the plan is to assure orderly development, Fuller explained.

The Commission is responsible for coordinating its efforts and those of the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission, the Board of Parks and Historic Memorials, the Flood Control District and the State Road Department.

"All five of the agencies concerned with developing the recreational potential of the Central and South Florida Flood Control District are starting to work immediately assembling the information needed to formulate a master plan," Fuller explained.

Fuller explained that the Commission's Planning Department has prepared a giant-size base map of the 17-county District. Each of the agencies concerned will enter on the map appropriate symbols pertaining to its particular function. Then all the information will be correlated to form the master plan.

Development Commission's Planning Department, acknowledged that a great deal of hard work remains to be done before the public can fully enjoy the recreational potential of the District. "However, I believe all our efforts will be more than justified by the results," he explained. "In my opinion, the more than 15,000 square miles in the District offer a potential that is not exceeded anywhere for certain types of recreation."

FOR a change, give a party with an oriental slant. Good fun and good food. This recipe, developed by a friend who once worked with the Red Cross in Korea and Japan, combines shrimp, bean sprouts, bamboo shoots and mushrooms into a tempting filling for the Mandalayan pie. You will like it.

MANDALAYAN PIE (6 servings)

Shrimp filling: 4 strips bacon, diced; 2 tablespoons cornstarch; 1 teaspoon sugar; ½ teaspoon salt; 1 tablespoon soy sauce; 1½ cups water; 1 cup chopped shrimp; 1 cup chopped celery; 1 medium-sized onion, sliced; 1 cup bamboo shoots, drained; 1 cup bean sprouts, drained; and one 4-oz. can mushroom pieces, drained.

Pastry: 1½ cups sifted enriched flour; ½ cup enriched cornmeal; 1 teaspoon salt; ½ cup shortening; 5 to 7 tablespoons cold water.

For the filling, pan-fry diced bacon until crisp. Drain on absorbent paper. Pour excess fat from pan, reserving 3 tablespoons in medium pan; add cornstarch, sugar, salt, soy sauce and water. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly until thickened.

shoots, bean sprouts and mushrooms. Set aside.
Heat oven to hot (425 degrees F.). For the pastry, mix together flour, cornmeal and salt. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Add water by tablespoons, mixing with a fork until pastry will just hold together. On a floured board or canvas, roll out one-half of pastry slightly larger than the 9-inch pie plate.
Line pie plate with pastry and fill with shrimp mixture. Roll out remaining pastry for top crust. In center of top crust, cut lines to resemble an oriental symbol. (Opening provides necessary steam vent.) Turn edge of top crust over bottom crust; seal by pressing with lines of fork. Brush top lightly with milk. Bake in preheated oven (425 degrees F.) 35 to 40 minutes. Serve hot.

San Francisco — More than twenty years ago, a resident of San Francisco bought $500 worth of American Express Travelers checks. The new slate of officers was introduced by incoming president Dewey Ellrodt, and included Virginia Middleton, secretary, and Della Holly, treasurer. While the group has been meeting once a month, no doubt at the next meeting it will be voted to meet twice a month; however, due to the Thanksgiving, the next meeting will be Nov. 13 at Val Italia Recreation Center.

State Sets Up Several Meets On Insurance

Tallahassee — State Treasurer and Insurance Commissioner J. Edwin Larson has announced a series of meetings for various locations for the purpose of discussing a complete revision of Florida's insurance statutes in the 1958 Legislature.

Larson said the insurance laws enacted at the last Legislature are to be discussed at these meetings also.

Larson has appointed a Legislative Steering Committee composed of representatives from all segments of the insurance industry to consult with him concerning this program. The Steering Committee consists of two subcommittees, Life-Accident and Health, and Fire-Casualty. He said Attorney Robert D. Williams, Seattle, Wash., a specialist in the field of insurance law, has been retained to draft the proposed new version of Florida's insurance statutes.

The remainder of the public hearing schedule, together with each meeting site, is as follows: Friday, Nov. 8, Skyroom, Mayflower Hotel, Jacksonville; and Wednesday, Nov. 13, Auditorium,

State Supreme Court Upholds

We applaud the ruling of the Supreme Court of Georgia that employees of a railroad, even one engaged in interstate traffic, cannot be discharged for refusing to join a labor union. The decision, which takes issue with a view of the United States Supreme Court, is a clear-cut victory for the right-to-work philosophy.

The case in point involved em- and Florida railroad, who employees of the Georgia, Southern tended they preferred not to join the union, believing that their dues would be used to aid political issues and candidates they opposed.

While their reasons for not wishing to join the union are interesting, it should be enough that the employees simply preferred not to become members. In a free country, such as ours, it should be the right of every man to join a union or not join a union and that the right to work shall not be denied him because he is or is not a member of a labor organization. The Supreme Court of Georgia, in a unanimous decision, has struck a hard blow for democracy. — Macon (Ga.) Telegram.

Population Up 6 Per Cent

Florida Safer This Year Than Last

Jacksonville — Florida is just a wee bit safer to live in this year than last, according to figures just released by the State Board of Health. With an estimated increase in population of 6 per cent, deaths from all causes increased only 5.8 per cent in the first eight months of the year, compared with the same period in 1956.

During the first eight months of this year, the mortality tables followed a predictable pattern. As preventable and curable diseases fell back before the attack of modern medicine, the diseases of old age moved forward as leading causes of death.

CANCER UP
Cancer showed an increase of only 3.8 per cent, less than the population increase. Heart diseases were up 9.3, and cardiovascular-renal diseases — strokes and paralyses — increased 8.6 per cent. These have been listed for a good many years now as the leading causes of death among people over 45.

Deaths from all accidents other than vehicular increased 6 per cent, right along with the population. But vehicular accident deaths decreased 8.7 per cent. The highway toll showed 724 deaths at the end of August, 1956, and had reached only 661 at the same time this year.

ACCIDENTS FOURTH

Accidents were the fourth leading cause of death in the state last year. They accounted for 2,897 fatalities. Barely half of these, 1,248, were vehicular accidents. The rest were accounted for by falls, drowning, fire and explosion, and aircraft accidents, in that order. Nearly three fourths of the falls were suffered by persons over 65. But accidents of all kinds were the leading cause of death in all age groups between one and 45.

Vote Nov. 23

County Employees May Go Under Social Security

More than 20,000 state and county employees will vote Nov. 23 on whether or not they want Federal Social Security coverage.

The election is being held under a law passed by the legislature allowing state and county employees who are in the State Retirement System to also be covered by social security. Although only some 20,000 employees will vote, the decision will affect all state and county employees.

EFFECTIVE JAN. 1

It takes a majority of the 20,000 to obtain social security coverage — but each employee then makes his own decision as to whether or not he wants to participate. If the vote carries, the social security coverage will go into effect on Jan. 1 and the necessary payroll deductions will be made in January salary payments. Employees will have coverage retroactive to Jan. 1, 1956 — last year.

All state and county employees who choose to receive the social security benefits will have to obtain social security numbers, unless they already have one. Present employees have a choice, but all new employees after Jan. 1 will be automatically covered if the Nov. 23 election passes.

MUST DECIDE

State and county employees have until the middle of December to decide whether they want to accept or reject social security. However, State Comptroller Ray E. Green urges all employees to study the program prior to the November election so they'll be ready to make their decision soon after the election.

Employees under social security will contribute 4 per cent to the State and County Officers' and Employees' Retirement System and 2 1/2 per cent into the social security fund. Presently,

Winter Coming Livestock Feed Prospects Good

Gainesville — Supplies of livestock feed in Florida are improving each year, and the outlook for the coming winter is good, according to the report of the Florida Agricultural Outlook Committee.

J. R. Henderson, agronomist with the Florida Agricultural Extension Service and chairman of the sub-committee on crops and feeds, says prospects for 1957-58 indicate adequate supplies of farm grains and other concentrates. The supply of hay will be larger than in 1957, due to favorable soil moisture conditions in some of the major hay-producing areas.

In Florida, intensive fertilization and better management of pasture has contributed to improvement in the overall supply of feed. More winter pastures and temporary summer grazing crops are being used, and increasing acreages are being irrigated. Decided increases have occurred in the preservation of forage employees in the State Retirement System are contributing 6 per cent to that fund.

However, the social security program is broader and supplements the state retirement program. For instance, social security provides survivors benefits which is not included in the state program.

MORE PASTURE

Improved pastures now total more than 1.6 million acres in Florida, with continued expansion in prospect. Some increase will occur in the use of oats, rye, and wheat, grown alone or in combination with winter legumes, for winter grazing and for chopped green forage. A slight increase is expected in the production of tame hay.

The supply of dried citrus pulp is expected to equal or exceed that of the past canning season. There is a trend among dairies to move onto soils better suited for production of pasture, hay, and silage. This will continue.

Ike's Meeting With Defense Chiefs Expected To Deal With Missiles

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower confers today with his defense chiefs, presumably on plans for speeding U. S. missile research. The meeting followed an official admission this country cannot hope to catch up with Russia soon in earth satellite development.

The President, due to leave Walter Reed Army Hospital after an over-night stay for a physical check-up, scheduled a later afternoon meeting with Defense Secretary Neil H. McKroy and Deputy Defense Secretary Donald A. Quarles.

While the purpose of the meeting was not announced, it was expected to deal with plans for speeding U. S. missile and satellite work.

Quarles said Sunday night outer space control is going to be "increasingly important and I think that we must undoubtedly move energetically into this area."

Asked in a TV interview NBC's "Youth Wants to Know" whether this country would be "up with Russia" by March when the first fully instrumented U. S. satellite is slated for launching, Quarles replied:

"I would expect we will not, because I would expect they would do other things in the meantime along this general line." He did not elaborate.

Quarles said, however, he did not consider Russia's space advances as serious a threat to U. S. security as some leading American scientists and rocket experts claim.

He also said this country has rockets as powerful as the missile apparently used by Russia to launch its second Sputnik, and predicted the two countries will not be far apart in attaining "operational capability" of "very long-range" ballistic missiles.

He said the United States is ahead of Russia in military electronics, atomic weapons and much of its aviation.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles was due back this afternoon from a "working vacation" at his Duck Island, Lake Ontario, retreat. He was expected to have ready a tentative blueprint for following up the President's call for wider military-scientific cooperation with the nation's Free World allies.

Christmas. Parade Float Entries Are Starting To Come In

"Entries of floats in the forthcoming Jaycee-Merchants Association Christmas Parade are beginning to come in," John Alexander, general chairman for the gigantic event staged by the Jaycees, said today.

However, Chairman Alexander said this morning, "we hope that local organizations will not wait until the last minute to enter floats so that our plans can be enlarged along with the number of floats that will appear."

Jaycees this year are enthusiastic over the 1957 Christmas Parade being "bigger and better" than ever before.

Already 10 bands have agreed to march and play in the Sanford Christmas Parade which has grown each year and is now expanding to be one of the biggest and finest in the Central Florida area.

Over 400 Attend Lion's Benefit Variety Show

CASSELBERRY—An estimated crowd of more than 400 attended the Casseberry Lions Club's second annual benefit variety show, held in the new Lyman School auditorium Thursday night, C. K. Fisher, co-chairman of the affair in charge of ticket sales said after the performance. Fisher also said that it was too early for the committee to give a report of net proceeds, which will be used by the club in its sight conservation and welfare programs.

A surprise event of the show was the awarding of a prize of $25 for the best performance, judged by the rating registered on an applause meter. The Jones Boys Band, a popular dance band composed of Boone High students was favored by the audience over the other participants.

Joe Weimer, producer of the show said yesterday that he was well pleased with support given the show and complimented each of the performers who helped stage a successful and entertaining variety presentation.

The cast included accordionists, vocalists, tap and ballroom dancers, baton twirlers, pantomimists and pianists, some of whom performed in the club's first variety show given last year.

There are 17 committees in the Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce Christmas Parade organization with nearly 100 percent participation of Jaycees in the planning and staging of the Dec. 4 event that will bring children and parents from all over Central Florida to Sanford.

Organizations throughout the county are planning to enter floats in the gigantic parade that will be more colorful this year than ever before. Churches, schools, civic clubs, fraternal organizations as well as veterans groups, boy scouts, girl scouts and many other groups will be represented.

The theme of this year's parade, Chairman Alexander said recently, is "Christmas Through the Eyes of Children."

Exactly how Santa Claus will arrive in Sanford has not yet been heard since Santa Claus is perhaps preparing his schedule of appearances so that he can visit with children everywhere briefly during the holiday immediately prior to Christmas.

Christmas lights are being put into shape by city crews and the gay colored bulbs, along with Santa's faces, decorative bells, and other decorations are expected to be lit by the big day Wednesday, Dec. 4.

"There are many, many details yet to be worked out," Chairman Alexander said this morning and every committee is busily engaged in trying to complete all necessary arrangements so that the parade will begin promptly at the announced time.

"We are going to be ready," said Alexander, "and we are hoping to experience one of the biggest crowds ever to line Sanford streets to witness the annual Christmas Parade financed by the Sanford Merchants Association and staged by the Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce."

A new war scare swept through Syria today with reports of large-scale Turkish maneuvers along a wide stretch of the border. All Syrian army units along the border were alerted. The Syrian Cabinet held an emergency session after midnight.

The Foreign Office in Damascus said Turkish troops massing took place at four points on the frontier early today.

The points were said to be in the general area of Bab el Hawa north of Aleppo. Extensive troop movements were said to have been carried out under cover of darkness.

Dr. John F. Hagen, head of the U. S. satellite "Project Vanguard," told the United Press it appeared "something went wrong" with Russia's Sputnik II. He based this on the reported death of the Sputnik's canine passenger and the silencing of its radio signals. Hagen indicated this country may be cracking the code by which Sputnik II transmitted data on the dog and space conditions.

Full Agenda Will Be Placed Before City Board Tonight

A full agenda will be placed before members of the Board of Sanford City Commission tonight at its regular meeting.

A public hearing will be held on rezoning recommendations and two assessments, one for a water line and another for a railroad, are among the first items to be considered.

Coming up again is the present licensing ordinance for photographers with the local commercial camera men expecting to attend the meeting for another discussion of the measure to bring relief to local photo men.

Informal sources in Damascus said it appeared the Turkish military activity was related to reported growing unrest in Jordan, where there was said to be more outspoken opposition to King Hussein.

Mental Health Assn. Membership Meeting Nov. 19

The annual membership meeting of the Seminole County Mental Health Assn. will be held Nov. 19 in the Directors room of the First Federal Savings and Loan Assn. at 8 p. m. It was announced by George Touhy, president.

On the agenda will be the adoption of revised by-laws, the election of five directors to serve for three years and the naming of the officers for the coming year.

Committee reports will be heard and suggestions for the coming year's activities will be made.

Five Mayors Discuss Industrial Program

The five Mayors of Seminole County met for the first time Friday night to talk over mutual problems and to bring the communities of the county closer together.

Mayor David Gatchel of Sanford, Mayor Don Willson of Casselberry, Mayor M. L. Gary of Oviedo, Mayor O. R. Elgin of Longwood, and Mayor Lawrence Swofford of Altamonte Springs discussed problems of their communities during a dinner meeting held at Jim Spencer's Restaurant.

It was stated that this meeting was the first of such meetings ever to be held in Seminole County and that future meetings will be held each quarter.

One of the foremost programs discussed by the Mayors was the industrial effort of each community to locate industries of various types and the cooperation that each community should extend to the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce for assistance in developing new ideas and new trends. The Mayors expressed concern over the forthcoming School Bond issue on which citizens will vote Nov. 19. The importance of the school construction program was discussed. A proclamation, issued jointly by the five Mayors of Seminole County, was an outgrowth of the discussions.

"One of the primary benefits of this organization," the Mayors said Friday night, "will be to solidify our county and its communities so that we will be able to work together closely, not only for the benefit of our individual communities but for the benefit of the entire county."

Government May Be Cracking Sputnik II's Code

WASHINGTON (AP)—The head of the U. S. satellite launching program indicated today the government may be cracking Sputnik II's code.

Dr. John P. Hagen, head of Project Vanguard, also said "something appears to have gone wrong" with Russia's second earth satellite.

Hagen expressed no surprise at Sunday night's report by the Italian Communist newspaper L'Unita in Rome that the dog Laika inside the second Sputnik was dead—poisoned by its last drop of food.

"I thought that was probably the case," he told the United Press. Hagen questioned the scientific value of Laika's brief sojourn in space, although he said results of her pioneering flight are not known here.

Can See Little Value
"It's hard to see how any real scientific value can be derived from the short time she was up there," he said. He added chances of recovering the dog's body for a post-mortem examination are "very slim."

Hagen said the coded radio messages sent from Sputnik II until its radio became silent were "subject to the code cracking process."

He said U. S. officials were "not yet in a position" to say anything about their conclusions from Sputnik's signals. He said the code was difficult to analyze and required "a lot of cross-checking."

But he added, "much more difficult things than this have been cracked in the past."

Moscow Radio said teletexting instruments aboard Sputnik II which sent forth coded information about Laika and conditions aloft had stopped functioning. It said the reception had been planned for only seven days to start with and the time was up.

Thinks Something Went Wrong
Hagen suggested, however, "something went wrong" with Sputnik II's recording and communication system.

"Put two and two together—the dog's death and the cessation of signals—and it appears something has gone wrong with the experiment," he said.

In questioning the value of Laika's voyage, the Navy scientist said no one has ever observed such a highly-advanced animal during a prolonged state of weightlessness such as exists in space. He said that could have been a useful result of Laika's flight "if all had been successful."

The free barbecue which will be open to the public will begin at 4 p. m. at Osteen.
