

Rain Falls At Last On Fire-Ridden Drouth-parched New England Fields

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 28 (AP)—Mother nature beat hopeful human rain-makers to the punch today by wetting drouth-parched woodland while dry ice-laden planes waited to take off in an effort to produce showers to end devastating forest fires in Maine.

Gentle rainfall ended at least temporarily the menace of new fires on the heels of old which have blotted out entire villages, cost 19 lives and $52,000,000 property loss in New England.

The Weather Bureau said light rainfall would be general in the state and would continue to fall on parched woodlands well into tomorrow.

The rain was the first to fall in the state since Sept. 22, except for slight traces in Portland, Calais and a few other sections. The last rain in southwestern Maine, where the raging flames wreaked the greatest damage, was on Oct. 8.

Since Aug. 1, only two inches of rain has fallen on this area, compared with a normal of 8.90 inches. The rain—a fall of at least several days is needed to end fire danger—came as navy scientists planned an attempt to extinguish the fires with man-made rain—by sowing cloud formations with dry ice.

A previous attempt at such rain-making—the first—failed in California last August because the clouds were too high.

Meanwhile, the fires that have taken 15 lives and $30,000,000 in property loss were generally under control, with 20,000 fire fighters on guard for new outbreaks.

General Electric Co., a partner with the Army and Navy in a rain-making project at Schoenectady, N. Y., said two B-17's had planned to take off for Maine this morning. Weather conditions encountered, the company said, would determine on which of many fire fronts the experiment would be conducted, if at all, no landings in Maine were planned.

By dropping small amounts of dry ice into clouds, artificial rain-makers reduce the temperature of suspended moisture until ice crystals form over a wide area. These reach the earth in the form of rain.

Rehabilitation, in the meantime, was the order of the day. The Red Cross, federal agencies and the state spurred programs to aid homeless thousands and municipal governments nearly bankrupted by the disaster.

Foundations were prepared, at one of the choicest sites by partly ruined Bar Harbor, for 150 prefabricated emergency houses. The site—near the exclusive Shore Club, was leased by the Bar Harbor Land Co.

Governor Hildreth reported the state in a position to state, at least in part, taxes due Dec. 1 from fire-stricken municipalities.

Ladies and men's rest rooms have been installed for the convenience of customers. There are also public telephone booths.

Remodeling the front of the store and enlarging to include the new annex involved the placing of windows of the most modern design by the Senkarik Paint and Glass Company. These provide a maximum of natural light to be supplemented by the fluorescent lighting. The canopy outside is aluminum covered and of modern streamlined design and features but little with the lighting.

Booths in the lunch room have the bleached walnut finish and contrast with the black Formica table tops. Plumbing installations are by Lee Brothers; the work is by Stewart Mellon and sheet metal work by J. Stafford. The structural glass front is of carriage glass in Rembrandt blue and Rexall orange.

Gifts and souvenirs for ladies and men and ice cream for children will be served from 4:00 to 8:00 P. M., Thursday. A modern Seeburg sound system provides fun-playing of records of musical selection from booths.

He declared the United States has made concessions in return for reductions in British tariffs and for reduction or elimination of imperial preferences.

He said Britain had agreed to the reductions "only in return for concessions which we consider equivalent in terms of the trade thereby opened up to us."

The new trade pact will be included in a final act of agreement at the Geneva trade conference tomorrow, Wilson disclosed, adding:

"We have given special attention to the need for the easier access of colonial products to the United States market."

Wrangle in UN

(Continued from Page One) official committee that adoption of the Soviet proposal to invite "elected representatives" of the Korean people to take part in the debate would only lead to a new controversy over what was meant by "elected representatives."

U. S. Delegate John Foster Dulles proposed that such controversies be avoided by creating a temporary UN Commission on Korea to supervise election of representatives to take part in the discussion.

Dulles said the United States would accept the Soviet proposal if it were amended to provide for creation of the UN supervisory body.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko replied that "the tenor of the United States amendment nullifies Mr. Dulles' statement."

He said Dulles' statement indicated that the United States "does not want to and is afraid to hear" Korean representatives here. He called the U. S. amendment "a maneuver with the sense" of the Soviet proposal, and said it would be "non-sensical" to consider it now.

Dulles offered his amendment after Belgian Delegate Victor Larock had accused Russia of "procedure, which under the guise of benefitting the Korean people, is actually aimed at delaying the issue."

Larock said the Soviet proposal would delay action on Secretary of State Marshall's Korean proposal for at least a year. Marshall's proposal provides for national elections in Korea before next March 31 under UN supervision.

No Extremely Cold Weather Seen Soon

By ASSOCIATED PRESS Rain and cooler weather moved into the eastern section of the country today as skies began clearing over most parts of the Midwest.

The rain clouds moved from Ohio across Lake Erie into Pennsylvania, New York, Virginia and south New England states. Showers also were reported in parts of Montana and Utah.

No extremely cool weather was in the immediate future, federal forecasters in Chicago said, although temperatures which have climbed to above normal marks in the east the last several days, will begin to moderate today.

Western Iowa and northern Minnesota were the coolest areas on the early morning weather map as the mercury dipped below freezing. Rising temperatures were predicted for the north central area.

THIS AIR DISASTER PICTURE WAS TAKEN shortly after an Edinburgh-to-London express train jumped the track and plunged into an embankment near Gowick, England, killing at least 23 persons and injuring about 200. Sixty of the injured were hospitalized. This crash occurred 50 hours after a train crash near London's South Croydon station, in which 31 persons were killed and 60 hurt. (International Radiophoto)

Gen. Clay Demands Early German State

FRANKFURT, Germany, Oct. 29 (AP)—General Lucius D. Clay declared today it was "absolutely essential" that as large a part of Germany as possible be politically as well as economically integrated at an early date.

Many millions of people cannot be kept without a government of their own forever," the U. S. military governor told a news conference of German and Allied correspondents at U. S. headquarters.

Although not specifically mentioning the possible creation of a western German state, Clay said in reply to a question that the present German-bisected agreement could form a basis for a provisional government.

Youth Is Slain By Lovers Lane Bandit

KANSAS CITY, Kas., Oct. 29 (AP)—A negro was held for questioning today in a government slaying of an 18-year-old youth, David Gray, who was accused as he and a girl were parked on a road a mile west of here.

The youth's companion, Miss Mary Lou Johnson, 17, told authorities.

A negro approached the car from brush near the road and ordered them to get out. He demanded the car keys.

"I'll give them to you when the girl's safe," Gray said.

Aircraft Magnate States Industry Needs U. S. Help

By JAMES M. STUBBS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—Donald W. Douglas, builder of about 90 percent of the world's transport planes, said today the aircraft industry must have government help to maintain the flow of new models.

The governments return, he said, would be "assurance that in an emergency it would have instantly available for defense and for military operations, dependable and efficient air transportation in sufficient quantity and ready for the type of global operations required by modern warfare."

Douglas amplified this statement to the President's Air Policy Commission with a lengthy discussion of the development of air transport and the problems of designing and building new planes.

He estimated the world market, including the United States, for new transport in the next four to six years at 80 to 90 four-engine planes and 350 to 400 two-engine planes in addition to those now on order.

Douglas said that by 1950 the domestic traffic volume will be about 9,070,000,000 passenger-miles (movement of one passenger one mile) carried in a fleet of 730 planes, compared with the 1948 volume of 6,710,000,000 passenger-miles in a fleet of 723 planes. This reflects the faster planes with greater seating capacity now being delivered to the airlines.

His estimate of 1950 domestic express and freight ton-miles was 327,000,000 (correct), compared with 38,000,000 last year, and of mail ton-miles, 48,200,000 compared with 22,950,000.

Douglas calculated that international airlines will be using 180 planes in 1950, or 85 fewer than the 265 planes used in 1948. He asserted the government "cannot gamble with the future any more than the aircraft manufacturers, with their limited resources, diminishing markets and great production costs, can gamble on development of new models badly needed to keep abreast of aviation's progress."

Douglas said that the DC-6, newest and fastest of the big transports, cost $4,500,000 for the first two planes, despite the model's great similarity to the Air Force C-54 and after $8,900,000 had been spent on a similar military transport.

"The Douglas Company is continuing to spend vast sums to improve the airplane after approximately 80 have been delivered," he said.

To date, he said, the company has spent $42,000,000 more than it has received from DC-6 sales.

Civil Rights

Roosevelt said that if the answer is yes, the next question should be whether the witness advocates the overthrow of the government by force.

Roosevelt also said any accused person should be allowed to cross-examine his accuser and present a statement of his own.

At the news conference, which was held at the White House, another committee member, Francis P. Matthews, Omaha lawyer, said: "The government has the right to inquire of any citizen as to his affiliation if he is alleged with a group which advocates the overthrow of the government by force."

Rabbi Roland B. Gittelsohn, of Rockville Center, Long Island, said "No one on this committee is defending any person who has been definitely established to be a Communist." But he said he is "deeply concerned" about "branding a man as a communist" loosely and without proof.

the border. The opposition leader, who apparently fled Poland in fear of his life, had not been definitely located since he dropped out of sight 10 days ago with a party of seven friends. There have been unconfirmed reports that he already was in Britain, or was on his way there via Sweden.

Cyrankiewicz declared that Mikolajczyk fled after all his hopes of "foreign intervention" in Poland had vanished. Mikolajczyk had "isolated himself from the Polish people," the Premier of Poland's Soviet-supported government added.

Cyrankiewicz also told Parliament that Mikolajczyk's exit from the Polish political scene would clear the atmosphere and promote the efforts of what he described as the "Democratic parties" in striving for peace and prosperity for the Polish people.

Earlier, the government-controlled press predicted that Poland was headed for a long period of prosperity because Mikolajczyk had gone away.

During a long discussion at the opening session of Parliament of the nation's internal and international position, the Premier referred to "coal, eggs, fish and another article—Mikolajczyk" as being among Poland's major exports.

Cyrankiewicz then warned the Catholic church hierarchy in Poland that any further attacks against his regime would be met with "prompt reaction" by the government.

Obviously referring to the Catholic bishops' recent pastoral letter attacking what it described as the lack of freedom of speech, press and conscience in Poland, the Premier said that the government could tolerate constructive, but not untrustworthy, criticism.

He did not elaborate upon what the government would do if the attacks against the regime in the Catholic press and pulpits continued. There were unconfirmed reports, however, that the government might consider taking over church-owned agricultural lands to be parcelled among the peasants.

Cyrankiewicz said Poland desired to effect a new mutual assistance pact with France. This, he explained, would bolster existing pacts with Slavic countries and thus form a unified barrier against the possible rebirth of German aggression.

Brass Curtain Shields Serious Acts In Trieste

Rep. Bennett Charges Communists With Deaths, Wounding

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—Rep. Marion T. Bennett (R-Mo.) declared today that "many" American soldiers have been killed or wounded by Communists in the Trieste area behind a "brass curtain of American military censorship."

The Missouri lawmaker, recently returned from a six week tour of Europe and the Near East, said there have been "63 incidents of armed aggression by the Communists" against United States forces since they moved into the former Italian territory, bordering on Yugoslavia. Trieste now is a free state.

"These acts have resulted in the death or wounding of many American soldiers," Bennett added in a statement issued before he left for his home in Springfield, Mo.

"I have the names and identifications of the incidents as furnished me by our military intelligence. In Europe they call it a 'cold war.' It is war and how soon, or if, it will engulf the whole world, no men outside of the Kremlin can say."

"The brass curtain of American military censorship has done a remarkable job in keeping from the American people the seriousness of the situation at Trieste."

The Army declined comment on Bennett's statement.

They have been no previous reports of any American casualties resulting from the long-standing tension between the predominantly Italian population of Trieste and the Yugoslavs.

When the Free State came into being last Sept. 10 under terms of the Italian peace treaty, the British military commander credited American forces with having prevented an incident which might have led to bloodshed.

The American troops refused to allow a force of Yugoslav soldiers to cross the border into the area assigned to Anglo-American occupation. The Yugoslavs occupy the southern sector. Each of the occupying nations was asked to assign 5,000 troops to serve until a yet-to-be-designated governor reports to him further need for them.

Bennett's trip abroad was made as head of a house commerce subcommittee studying civil aviation. He said his observations convinced him that the United States should

Florida Produce Reported Making Great Progress

JACKSONVILLE, Oct. 29 (Special) Early season movements of produce were reported from two State-operated markets during the last week, while farmers throughout the vegetable producing area planting and replanting in their speeded-up efforts to partially offset the effects of storms and high water which have hampered all operations during the last several weeks. Heavy rains during the week, while farmers were in a port a part production points, but at other crops were making excellent progress, according to week-end offices received in Jacksonville advised of William L. Wilson, Director of State Markets.

Director Wilson and Assistant Director G. H. Hogan spent the latter part of the week visiting a number of markets in the Southern part of the State, and making a thorough personal inspection of conditions throughout the area in which Florida's huge shipments of Fall and Winter vegetables are produced.

Fort Pierce State Farmers' Market handled its first produce of the Fall season, Friday, nine hamper of yellow crook-neck squash selling at $5 each, Market Manager E. Williams reported. This initial offering was produced by Roy Neil. Favorable weather of the last two weeks has caused a tremendous growth of plantings of tomatoes brought through the storm period, Manager Williams stated. Growers expect good maintain the strongest air force and navy in the world "and with the most atom bombs."

He said Russia is producing "45,000 tanks a month and has jet planes in the skies over Europe."

The Missourian said there is hunger and want in Europe and this country must provide help. But in doing so, he added, it must not over-extend itself.

"There are four things this nation can do," Bennett said: "Surrender as we did with appeasement of Stalin at Potsdam, Yalta and all the rest; fight, which is not likely unless we are attacked; withdraw altogether and chalk up 300,000 soldiers' lives and other sacrifices of two great wars as a mistake, or we can extend all aid short of war as we are doing."

But in granting that help, Bennett said, the United States must make sure it receives a dollar's worth of cooperation and economic rehabilitation for every dollar spent and there must be clearly defined limits to the aid.

of revenue. The Treasury analysis said an integrated program might smooth out some conflicts, though. Here are some further Treasury views on overlapping taxes:

1. Tobacco—38 states tax it. It's the fifth best producer of state revenue, yielding $199,000,000. It accounts for only 2.9 percent of federal collections—but that's $1,166,000,000.

It's naturally easier for the federal government to administer tobacco taxes. It collects from the relatively few manufacturers. States have to collect from wholesalers, retailers, and even consumers.

Differentials Cited

2. Gasoline—The states got $900,000,000, or 18 percent of total revenue, from this. Federal gasoline collections, though amounting to $406,000,000, were less than one percent of all federal revenue.

The report said it might be well for the government to quit taxing gasoline—limiting its spending on highways proportionately.

3. Liquor taxes—During fiscal 1946 the federal government got $8,886,000,000, or 6 percent of all revenue. The states got $466,000,000, or about 10 percent from this source.

One suggestion is that the states quit this field under arrangements that the federal government, which collects its tax from the distilleries and warehouses, increase its levy and distribute the extra revenue among the states.

4. Amusement taxes—The federal government got $415,000,000 from taxes on admissions in fiscal 1946. The states got $12,000,000, not counting collections from admissions under general sales taxes.

Other Fields

5. State sales taxes and federal manufacturers' and retailers' excises—27 states now impose sales taxes duplicating specific federal taxes on communications, transportation, luxury and other goods and services. But duplication here is "of secondary importance."

6. Inheritance, estate and gift taxes—27 states now impose taxes (1877,000,000) of federal and less than three percent ($143,000,000) of state collections come from this source. There's a problem of overlapping among the states as well as between the states and the federal government.

6 Year Old Crime Comes To Light When Son Talks

Father Charged With Murdering Mother, Burying Her Body

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Oct. 29 (AP)—El Paso county officers today investigated a six-year-old mystery, brought to light when a son accused his prosperous rancher father of shooting his mother and burying her remains in a farm shed.

Sheriff Ray Slocum said that held for investigation is Junia Wesley Vandervoort, 61, who steadily denied the shooting, maintaining his wife "just rushed off" early in 1941 and hasn't been heard from since.

Slocum said the son, Wesley, 21, after telling of the alleged shooting, directed authorities to the shed on the ranch southeast of where they dug up most of a human skeleton, and clothing fragments.

The son told his story, according to Slocum:

The elder Vandervoort, in a rage, shot his wife with a small rifle as she attempted to crawl under a fence to flee from him. He forced Wesley to help stuff the body in a wash boiler which he buried in a dry arroyo three miles from the ranch home. The father dug it up three nights later and threw the body in a pig pen. Finally he buried the remains in the dirt floor of the shed in a hole which he forced the son to dig.

Worrying about his secret, Wesley said that during his Army service he "wondered if I would die myself before I had a chance to tell what happened to her," Slocum reported.

The sheriff quoted him as saying he kept quiet under threat of death by his father but decided to break his silence after hearing the rancher had been mistreating a brother.

Vandervoort, a native of Birmingham, Ill., told police he had been acquitted in Wellington, Kan., in 1911 of a charge of murdering his first wife, Cora. He said he shot her accidentally, mistaking her for a burglar in the dark.

Assistant District Attorney Roy W. Foard said his office had entered the investigation. He added that it was in "the preliminary stages" and that no charges would be filed "for several days."

Greeks Are Massing To Attack Guerrillas

ATHENS, Oct. 29 (AP)—Greek press dispatches reported today that government troops were massing in the Epirus area in northwestern Greece in preparation for a new offensive aimed at clearing out some 2,000 to 4,000 guerrillas operating in that region.

The dispatches said sharp fighting has been under way since Oct. 20 on the heights around Metsovo and that still heavier action might be expected at any moment.

Government planes were reported participating in the operations and were said to be inflicting heavy losses on the guerrillas.

According to the best available information, the guerrillas now hold loosely a narrow strip of territory extending from the Grammos Mountains on the Albanian border southward to points north of Gravos and Metsovo.

Units of the Greek eighth division were reported moving into this area from the east while the ninth division was said to be closing in from the west.

BUSINESS HALTED

MILAN, Italy, Oct. 29 (AP)—Business came to a virtual standstill in this industrial city for almost two hours today when a throng of workers, estimated by police to total about 50,000, assembled in the rain to protest threatened dismissals in some industries.

Public transport was halted during the meeting by order of the local trades council and the general confederation of workers, leaders of which addressed the gathering. No disturbances were reported.

RED ATTACK

PARIS, Oct. 29 (AP)—A woman who changed her mind about being a Communist and resigned from the party after being elected mayor of a Paris suburb had to be rescued from a mob last night. Shouting "traitress," 400 demonstrators besieged the city hall in La Courneuve—one of the towns in the so-called "Red Belt"—after Mayor Marie Lehot submitted a note saying she was getting out of the party.

Gendarmes summoned from nearby Aubervilliers found the woman hiding in a locked room in the mayor's suite. They took her home under guard.

AMONG THE 52 PERSONS killed when a giant DC-6 airliner crashed in Bryce Canyon, Utah, were chemical heir Gerard Lambert, Jr., of Princeton, N. J., and William A. Galvin (right) of Manhattan, N. Y., an AEC official. The plane cracked up after fire broke out in the tail section. At the time, it was within one mile of a landing strip. (International)

Chief Of Children's Bureau Says There Is No Substitute For Love

By KATHARINE F. LENROTH, Chief, U.S. Children's Bureau

NO MANUAL was ever written that could make a person a good parent. If the "feeling" was not there, that is not to say, though, that parents cannot learn how to be better parents if given the opportunity. And, no one knows better than the parent how much about the job is "learned."

The Children's Bureau has good reason to know how eager parents are for information about the job of being a parent, for its "Baby Books" go out to thousands and tens of thousands of parents each year. More than 20,000,000 copies of "Infant Care" alone have been distributed since it was first published 34 years ago. "Your Child From One To Six" is a runner-up and others of the books for parents likewise have remarkable publishing records.

Besides its major publications, the Children's Bureau distributes thousands of leaflets and folders on the many special problems parents encounter as they go along. So do other agencies and organizations, both public and private. I am sure they all have the same heartening experience as they read over the mail. Some of the letters are obviously from people of education and background. Others written crudely on the ruled paper of school tablets are from people to whom writing a letter to the "government" is a matter of great importance.

Besides this vast information that goes out through government sources, there is the work of parent education that goes on daily through the press and radio. It all adds up to one thing: the willingness, and the eagerness, of parents to learn.

It leaves the question: Do communities meet parents half way in their desire to do what is best and right for their children? I am thinking, for instance, of how little the deep arrow Patton hoped to drive into Germany.

Denial Made To Patton Charge By Montgomery Aid

Third Army Strategy Wouldn't Have Cut Length Of The War

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (AP)—Strategy proposed by the late General George S. Patton, Jr., and subsequently altered by the Allied high command over his protests "would not have shortened the war but would have made it more difficult to win," the wartime chief of staff to Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery said yesterday.

The change in battle plan which called for an all-out thrust of his Third Army armored columns across the Rhine into Germany, Patton said, was in his opinion "the momentous error of the war."

Writing in his War Journal, published in part yesterday by the Saturday Evening Post, Patton declared his belief that the change in strategy was "implemented" by Montgomery, resulting in lengthening the war and the loss of thousands of additional lives.

War office spokesmen in London declined comment on Patton's charges but in Cape Town, South Africa, Montgomery's former chief of staff, General Sir Francis W. de Guingand, disputed the colorful American commander's claims.

"I think that if Patton had been allowed to go rushing into Germany on the axis proposed by him, a very awkward situation would have developed despite possible initial successes," de Guingand commented.

"Such a move, leaving very vulnerable flanks, would not have shortened the war but would have made it more difficult to win."

de Guingand said that it took a massive Russian offensive and another by General Dwight D. Eisenhower on a broad front to achieve victory over the Germans.

"The Germans did not lose their heads until the very end and I am sure they were not prepared to give in on the strength of a long spearhead into their country. The deep arrow Patton hoped to drive into Germany."

U. S. Farmers Convert Wartime Income Into Better Living

By BRUCE HONSSAT, Special Washington Service

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—Recent government studies show that U. S. farmers have converted their record wartime and postwar incomes into markedly better living conditions.

For months reports have drifted into the cities that newly prosperous farmers are acquiring unprecedented numbers of cars, refrigerators, telephones and similar modern conveniences.

The Agriculture Department's Bureau of Agricultural Economics now lends statistical substance to these reports. In a recent survey, it states that the level of living for the nation's farm families advanced 25 percent between 1940 and 1945.

The bureau has no more up-to-date figures, but officials presume the trend is continuing.

The studies were conducted by Minneret J. Hagood, bureau statistician and social scientist. She bases her indexes of levels of living on the percentage of farms with telephones, with automobiles and with electricity, and on average value of products sold or traded in the preceding year (for example, 1939 for the 1940 index).

The survey indicates that the entire country's farm living level climbed upward, but the southern states made the biggest percentage gains. Those in the east-south-central brackets recorded a 37 percent advance. The report notes, however, that in both 1940 and 1945 the southern states had the lowest living level.

The highest living levels were found to be in farm areas of the northeast, the corn-wheat states and the Pacific coast.

Iowa had the largest single block of counties in the top fifth of American counties, and that state as a whole rated 162 against a U. S. norm of 100—the average for all counties.

But Iowa ranked third behind New Jersey with 170 and Connecticut with 170. California stood a close fourth with 169. New Hampshire, 137; Delaware and Oregon, 136; Kansas, 135; Indiana and Ohio, 134; Nebraska, 132; Wisconsin, 131; and Minnesota, 130.

The bureau's indexes do not reflect living conditions of hired farm workers but do include tenants and sharecroppers. Bureau officials, therefore, say that the gauge can never forgive you for ordering him a poor bottle of wine.

For all its acknowledged faults and enemies, liquor is still the chief social level around the world for lifting strangers from many countries onto a common, though often temporary, level of easy understanding. I have traveled in 51 countries in the last five years, and in each there always was a host who felt obligated to serve "king" form of alcoholic beverage.

In Tunisia so Arab chieftain, bound by the Moslem faith from imbibing alcohol, served an orthodox feast. But since the chief guest was an American army officer who bought several thousand dozen eggs a week from the chieftain, the old chieftain had his modern-minded son take the party into town later for a brandy nightcap.

Whenever the white man has carried his flag, the natives who want to do business with him have learned they have to entertain him on his own level. They have learned to pour hospitality from bottles, too.

People from the temperate and northern climes are least educated in the use of alcohol and abuse it most.

A Latin child drinks watered wine or beer almost to dilution. Later in life, it is an occasion for him to take a drink of brandy. To take three or four would ordinarily be, in his own view and that of his neighbors, a wasteful sin.

The Russian's capacity for vodka is highly overrated. So is the American's capacity for whisky. Put 50 Englishmen in a room in a drinking match with 50 Englishmen trained in foreign service, and at the end of the evening the 50 Russians would be singing "Old Man River," the 50 Americans would be bouncing "The Volga Boatman" off the rafters.

And the 50 Englishmen? They'd be soberly wondering, "Why are those chaps making such a bloody racket?"

Reds Appeal To Workers To Revolt

MOSCOW, Oct. 29 (AP)—The Moscow Literary Gazette published today a front page appeal to workers all over the world to rally to the Communist Party.

"If you want to be confident of tomorrow, if you want to be a free citizen of a free country, if you don't want to clean the shoes of rich foreigners, rely on the Communist Party," the editorial said.

"If you want Democracy and peace, if the lives of your children are dear to you, if you don't want the imperialists to gain by your tears and your blood, listen to the voice of the Communists."

"If you don't want everything to be Communism, if you don't want the poets and architects to be washed away by the muddy wave of standard 'Americanism,' then follow the Communists."

Tax Cut Hoped For But Not Too Promising As Revenue Needs Hold

By CHARLES MOLONY

Washington chances of a cut-down in overlapping taxation by federal and state governments look brighter than in years—but not too promisingly so.

At about $9,000,000,000 in federal and $5,000,000,000 in state collections in fiscal 1946, more than 90 percent came from taxes levied at both levels on the same things.

The dual levies were income, death, gift, liquor, tobacco, gasoline, admissions and stock-transfer taxes.

Reasons why chances for relief from some of this overlap are brighter than usual include:

1. General revision of the federal tax system for the first time in a considerable period is to be studied by Congress at its next session. The administration has secured this study.

2. A number of senators and representatives who attended a recent Chicago conference with 11 governors agreed something should be done, and that the federal government should take the first step by giving up certain tax fields to the states.

Revenue Needed

But that last suggestion points up why the outlook is not too promising: both the federal and state governments require a lot of revenue to pay for their operations, and each is inclined to favor having the other follow pull out to end overlaps.

A Treasury Department tax analysis of the question suggested guardedly that the federal government might well pull out of the gasoline tax field—in exchange for state withdrawal from another field. It hinted at state withdrawal from tobacco taxation.

Conflicts Limited

On the other hand, it said, conflicts between federal and state income taxes are "not as broad as appears at first sight" and that, furthermore, taxpayers might as well assume they'll have to keep on paying both.

Latest available figures on collections are for the fiscal year 1946, the 12 months ending June 30, 1946.

During that period, the Treasury Department said, 76.9 percent ($12,705,000,000) of federal and 16.9 percent ($895,000,000) of state collections were from income taxes. Neither is likely to give up such an important source

Americanism Given Many Definitions, All Of Them Good!

By JERRY KORN (For James Marlow)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—What is "Americanism?"

You've seen that word—and others—like "Americanism," "disloyalty" and "security risk"—more and more in recent weeks.

Right now a committee of the House of Representatives is investigating Communism in Hollywood. Its name is "The Committee On Un-American Activities."

"Un-American" what does it mean?

Webster's New International Dictionary gives this definition: "Not characteristic of, or consistent with, American customs, principles, etc."

And for "Americanism," Webster says: "Attachment or loyalty to the United States, its traditions, interests or ideals."

But the dictionary doesn't say which customs, principles or ideals.

Back in 1938, the committee on un-American activities, reporting on its first year of existence, defined Americanism in several hundred words.

Here are some of the things the committee said then:

"In the first place, Americanism is recognition of the truth that the inherent and fundamental rights of man are derived from God and not from governments, societies, dictators, kings or majorities."

Some people in this country don't believe in God. Are they Un-American? The committee didn't say. But it continued:

"The essence of Americanism is class, religious and racial tolerance, and therefore, a man who advocates class hatred is plainly un-American, even if he professes racial and religious tolerance."

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS NEWS

MRS. B. D. MCINTOSH, JR. The Ladies Auxiliary of the American Legion Post 183, Altamonte Springs, is sponsoring a masquerade ball on Friday night at the Flight Deck in Sanford. Although costumes are optional there will be prizes for the "Best Couple" and individual prizes for most original and funniest.

These awards are being offered in an incentive to have most of those attending in costume. The grand march will be led by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Madden of Longwood. Mrs. Helen Loudermilk of Casselberry is chairman of the dance, assisted by Mrs. Fred Madden and Mrs. B. D. McIntosh, Jr. Sheriff P. A. Mero has been invited to be one of the judges. Glen Brown and his orchestra will make the music.

The Altamonte Springs Chamber of Commerce is planning a barbecue to be held at the Community House on Nov. 22. M. Anders is chairman of the barbecue, and his committee to assist are Mrs. Laura Davidson, Clarence Horne, Donald Harris, Robert S. Bradford and B. D. McIntosh, Jr. A meeting was held at the home of the chairman on Friday to make plans for the affair.

Mrs. Helen McGarree returned Thursday from New Jersey, where she was visiting her daughter.

Mrs. James Forest of Arlington, Va. has arrived to spend the winter here on Forest Avenue. Her husband, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Brown, who are building a most attractive home on Lake Florida, and will be finished and ready for occupancy in the very near future.

Another attractive home is being built on Forest Avenue by Mr. and Mrs. E. Earl Riley of Maryland, who have come here to make this their permanent home.

Mrs. Bates, mother of E. C. Bates, owner and manager of the Altamonte Hotel, returned last week from the New England states where she spent the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Horne entertained a group of friends at their home Wednesday night honoring their house guests the Mr. and Mrs. Leon Risk and young son Davyl of Los Angeles, Calif. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Anders, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Nolting, Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Warlow, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. B. D. McIntosh, Jr., Miss Betty Fletcher of Orlando, and Robert Lewis from Ocoee.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sotton of Jacksonville were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Harris last week. Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Mitchell joined a group of friends Saturday in Gainesville, where they went to attend the Homecoming Game. Returning with them were Mrs. Mitchell's nephew, Fred Loyra, Jr. from Jacksonville Beach, who spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Griffin had as their guests over the weekend, Mr. V. N. Mooney from Atlanta. Mr. Mooney is former resident of Altamonte Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Morrison and Mrs. Morrison's father, Mr. Duell, from Syracuse, N. Y., were guests last week of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Morrison.

L. M. Anders returned Wednesday by plane from Savannah, Ga. where he attended a business meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bundy and family are expected to return Tuesday from Speculation, N. Y. Mr. and Mrs. Donald Harris spent Sunday in Gainesville. Mrs. Mary Whitehead returned Friday from Worcester, Mass. after having spent three weeks with her daughter Mrs. Dorothy Sanborn.

An adult bible class was organized Sunday in the Community House. All adults of any age are invited to attend each Sunday at 9:30 A. M. Mrs. Leslie Griffin is the teacher.

(Continued from Page 1, 2nd Sec) yields from the salvaged acreage. Replants are growing nicely but harvesting from these acres will be late. Some growers are still replanting tomatoes. Harvesting of the salvaged crop will start in three to four weeks.

H. J. Lehman, manager of the Sanford State Farmers' Market reported at the weekend that "Celery is still being planted in large quantities and escarole, lettuce, romaine and cabbage are being set. Weather conditions have been excellent. Beans of good quality are being picked and sold every day. We will have plenty of beans for next week and the price remains good."

Farmers in the Florida City section are planning as fast as possible. Manager C. S. Phillips of the State Farmers' Market at that point has advised Director Wilson. Late in the week water was reported going down fast on farming land. Some tomatoes are being set, and some beans planted.

Manager J. A. Dulany of the Pahokee State Farmers' Market reported planting operations are being continued, though local rains have plagued that area during the week. As fast as the land is drained, crops are planted. "Engineers believe that it will be several months before all land will be out of water," the manager stated.

Americanism

(Continued from Page 1, 2nd Sec) any foreign or domestic organization, association, movement, group or combination of persons, designated by the Attorney General as totalitarian, fascist, communist or subversive.

Also members of groups which favor taking away the constitutional rights of others by force, or which want to change the form of the United States government in some way not allowed by the Constitution.

And the State Department, which fired some of its workers for being "security risks," defined its terms even more closely. By "security risks," the Department said, it means someone who:

- 1. Belongs to or believes in any of the groups mentioned by Mr. Truman.
2. Is a foreign spy, or does his job in such a way that he helps some government other than that of the United States.
3. Gives secret information to a foreign government.
4. Has so many close friends in the first two groups that he might give away secrets.
5. "Has such basic weakness of character or lack of judgment as reasonably to justify the fear that he might be led into any course of action specified above."

Lyman High School

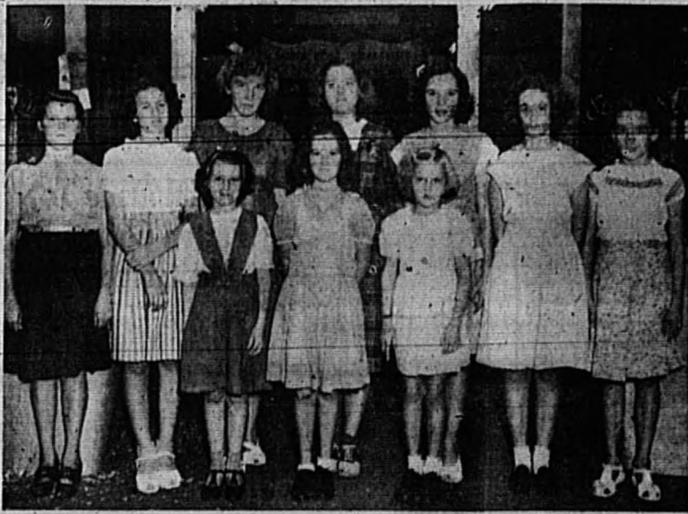

ATTENTION everyone! Don't forget the Junior-Senior Halloween Carnival coming up soon on Oct. 31, at Lyman High School on Longwood. Concerts of all kinds will be open to everyone—that is, if they have the money! Refreshments of all kinds and styles will be served, and last, but not least, the big Grand Finale at 9:00 o'clock. Please plan to attend and to have a spooky good time. It will start at 6:30.

And now, getting back to social news, Tony Hunter entertained his friends with a bang on party at his home last Friday night—swimming, dancing and refreshments were enjoyed by everyone. Some of Lyman's party-goers were: Eugene Sexton, Floyd Kenney, Lyman Phillips, Christine Buckingham.

Four of Lyman's juniors and seniors, who have participated in the radio program were: June Mallotrup and Lyman Phillips, of the junior class, and Edith Howell and James Rolin, of the Senior class. We feel honored that they made such a good showing for our school.

The cutest couple of the week is Emily Towers and Melton Helms.

Children's Bureau

(Continued from Page 1, 2nd Sec) lie in the way of a consultative service is provided for parents who come up against problems that they find beyond them. The parents may realize the young person is not getting along as he should. He does not make friends, easily, for one thing. He tends to withdraw from the group. Or, his behavior takes just the opposite course. He may be over-aggressive and belligerent and repel people who might be his friends.

Or, one's daughter may not be popular, and being popular matters a great deal to a growing girl. One cannot save one's children from all the heart-aches of growing up, but the more they are met with understanding the better they will be able to meet the inevitable disappointments and defeats. That understanding on the part of the parents comes with insight, but just being a parent, per se, does not necessarily give one that knowledge. On the contrary, too great a concern or too pat an assumption that the parent knows the child better than any one else may blind him to the true state of affairs.

There should be trained persons available to whom the parents could turn for help, just as now they turn matter-of-factly to the physician when it is a question of the child's physical well-being. In just the same way a "diagnosis" by some one with special skills in dealing with behavior problems can contribute greatly to the child's emotional well-being. Those people should be part of the staff or available to the staff of all school systems and all public

Oviedo

Special to The Sanford Herald By MARIAN R. JONES

At a recent meeting of the various chairmen of the Halloween carnival, held at the home of Mrs. J. B. Jones, Jr., general chairman, it was definitely decided to have the carnival this Friday evening, beginning at 6:30 P. M. in the Oviedo School gymnasium and lunch room.

Bingo, in charge of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Cox, has been added to the list of attractions. Also a special cake sale, in charge of Mrs. Charles T. Niblack, special chairman.

All chairmen and their committees are to meet as early as possible at the school to choose their locations and decorate.

Those present at the meeting were Professor Walter A. Teague, general advisor, Mrs. J. B. Jones, Jr., general chairman, Mrs. Charles T. Niblack, co-chairman, Mrs. W. R. Meek, Mrs. G. S. Moon, and Mrs. Lawson A. Hardy, chairmen of cake-walk, Mrs. A. M. Jones, fish pond, Mrs. Don R. Hiley, applebob, Mrs. H. D. Ellis, candy.

Mrs. R. F. King, who has been visiting her sister, Miss Esther Eason, and brother, Roy of Savannah, Ga. and in Raleigh, N. C. has returned, bringing as her guest for a week her sister, Miss Esther Eason.

Miss Myrtle Eason and Miss Helen Stewart, of Lakeland, spent the week-end as the guest of Mrs. R. F. King and Miss Esther Eason.

Among those from Oviedo attending the homecoming at University of Florida, Gainesville this week-end were Mr. and Mrs. Joe L. Mikler, Miss Betty Mikler, Professor Paul Mikler, Steve Mikler, Andy Stanko, Johnny Duda, Leon Miller, Miss Joan Meek and Miss Jane Seacrest. They also attended the football game between the University of North Carolina and the University of Florida.

Miss Joan Meek attended the homecoming at Gainesville on the bid of Donald Shaffer, and Miss Jane Seacrest on the bid of Robert Lee.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Ragsdale, of Silver Springs, Md., Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lunsford, and daughter, Judy, and Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Kemp, of Atlanta, were recent dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Ragsdale. Mr. W. B. Ragsdale is a brother of Leon Ragsdale's.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Ragsdale and Mr. and Mrs. Lawson A. Hardy have returned after spending the week-end in Atlanta, where they went to attend a surprise birthday dinner given in honor of Mr. Ragsdale's father.

Miss Lois Applegate, guest of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Wilson, left Sunday to visit friends in St. Petersburg before returning to her home at Pittsburgh, Penn. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Blackwell, of Lubox, Texas, and Miss Lois Applegate, of Pittsburgh, Penn., enjoyed a trip to Cypress Gardens and Bok Tower. They are very much impressed with the beauties of Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon C. Olliff and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Olliff enjoyed a recent trip to Bok Tower and Cypress Gardens.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hollingsworth have moved into the Jimmy Lee, Jr. home on Lake Charm until their new home, now under construction, has been completed.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Jakubcin are the parents of another son. This is their third child.

Mr. and Mrs. Lamar Echols and baby daughter, Elaine, were guests of Mrs. Echols' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Kleg, recently.

Dan Chisholm, boss of the new bridge now under construction over Econohatchee, on the Chulucota road, has announced that the bridge has now advanced so far that it will be open to traffic in about two weeks.

The Baptist Church is now conducting a study course for all officers of the church each evening this week, under the leadership of Mrs. Elsie Ferguson, a state W.M.U. worker from Pensacola.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pierson had as their luncheon guests Monday Rev. and Mrs. H. H. Link and son, Alfred, and Mrs. Elsie Ferguson, the latter of Pensacola.

Mrs. G. M. Arle is back home after having spent several days in the Fernald-Laughton Hospital at Sanford, and is doing very well.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Morgan are renovating the inside of their home.

Rev. H. H. Link and Rev. J. N. Thompson attended a Sunday school meeting at DeLand Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Martin have started work on their new home located near their uncle's, R. L. Wheeler.

One-Act-Play-Night was held Friday evening at the school auditorium, playing to a packed house. Everyone thoroughly enjoyed it, as it was, in this writer's opinion, one of the best presented in some time.

The twelfth grade was awarded first prize for their play "Magnolia Blossom" by the judges. The tenth grade won second place. Miss Jean Chance, who portrayed the character of Magnolia in the twelfth grade play and gave such a splendid performance, was awarded first prize for the best actress of the evening; while Johnny Pillotian, who also gave the audience many laughs as the son in the same play, won first prize as the best actor. Honorable mention was given to Miss Dorothy Malcolm and Frankie Gore. Johnnie Jones won first prize for selling the most tickets, and Billy Meek second.

Mrs. Elsie Ferguson of Pensacola is the house guest of Rev. and Mrs. H. H. Link this week. Mrs. Maude Coates is having the inside of her home painted, also Mrs. W. B. Young.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Aulin, Jr. are the parents of a son, James Theodore, born Oct. 18, at the Orange Memorial Hospital. The Aulins have a daughter, Diane, two and a half years of age. Mrs. Aulin and son are at home and doing fine.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Leinhardt have named their son, Donald Barry. They also have twins, nearly two years of age, Wynn and Gary.

Newly elected members of the Oviedo Woman's Club are Mesdames Joe Beasley, Jr., Henry Wolcott, Tommy Stanley, Tom Hollingsworth and Eddie Parker. Mrs. Louise Martin was reinstated.

Donald Shaffer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Shaffer, is expected home for the week end from Gainesville.

Mr. Lee G. Garry has returned from Villa Rica, Ga., where he went to visit his parents.

Tunisia in North Africa has about the same number of people as Oklahoma.

IN OBSERVANCE OF NAVY DAY, memorial services were held at the grave of the late President Theodore Roosevelt at Oyster Bay, Long Island, N. Y. Here Mrs. Edith Kermit Roosevelt, widow of the President, is shown with Army and Navy officials who came to pay their respects. They are (l. to r.): Rear Adm. R. R. Belknap, retired; Maj. le welfare agencies. Similarly their help should be available to health centers and medical clinics, or for that matter, to any agency that deals with parents and children. They should be there for parents to speak to freely about their children's behavior, as the first step in getting matters set right again.

This need for such a counseling service for parents is being recognized, but so far, little in the way of such help is actually available. Funds for such a service are generally lacking, and so are the people who are taking responsibility for children and youth in community planning would do well to look into ways and means of establishing this type of service.

COMMENTS from the SIDELINES

Giants At The Base
We made a trip out to the Sanford Municipal Airport yesterday morning to look over the progress of the New York Giants project. Hans Lober and Hal Gruber, Giants executives, are really making progress. They have approximately 40 men working on the project which will include the building of eight baseball diamonds.

The diamonds that are in the process of being readied for the training activity here next February will be as good as any major league field when the work is completed.

Three diamonds have been skinned for the infield area in the 30 acre plot south of the old laundry at the airport. There will be three additional diamonds placed in this area, but work has not really begun on them yet. However the clay has been hauled to the spots where the infield will be placed.

North of the fire station will be two diamonds, completing the eight field layout. These two fields are nearest completed. The pitchers mounds are complete and the clay has been placed in the skinned areas. The clay has been strewn and is being leveled by the workmen.

Lober plans to fertilize the diamonds and plant grass over the infields so that they will be in first class condition by the time the teams arrive next spring.

Yesterday the workers were digging trenches to place water lines across the fields so that the ground keepers will have means of watering the fields, and will give the players drinking fountain facilities.

The wonderful part of the whole program is that the Giants executives are using Sanford labor and are buying supplies from the merchants of Sanford.

It has been estimated that the Giants will spend nearly $100,000 in Sanford by the time that the men leave here next April.

That is a nice hunk of change. The people of Sanford are completely missing the boat if they do not make this New York Giants farm system a part of their own project to help build Sanford.

The Sanford airport is going to be a beehive of activity next spring. The Giants will have nearly 1,000 men here. George Barr is now advertising the umpire school that will bring over 100 men here. Carl Hubbel, chief of the Giants farm system has given all of his men orders to purchase EVERYTHING that is needed and can be obtained in Sanford.

Let's each and everyone of us take a personal interest in Giants training school, one of the largest projects of its kind in the United States. We will be proud to say that Sanford is not only the Sports Capital of the World, but that it is also the Sports Capital of the Nation.

DIES OF GRID INJURY

GALVESTON, Tex., Oct. 28 (AP)—Billy Hempel, 16-year-old Hall High School football player, died today from a dislocated neck suffered during a game Friday night with Orange High School. It was Texas' first football fatality of the season.

Baby Feds Defeat Eustis "B" Team In 27 To 6 Tilt

The Seminole High School Baby Celery Feds motored to Eustis and trounced the Baby Panthers from Eustis High last night in a 27 to 6 contest that was sparked by the outstanding play of the Seminole High Qmen.

Thrilling play was exhibited by the Feds as they ripped off long gains and scored on long punts, according to Coach Fred Ganas.

Dan Batten ripped through for a 65 yard touchdown march and was followed by Bobby Humphrey with a 60 yard sprint and a 20 yard dash. Keeling added the final score on a ten yard plunge over left tackle.

The Baby Feds entertain the Baby Buccaneers from Mainland High of Daytona Beach next Tuesday night and the contest will be sponsored by the Sanford Garden Club.

The Baby Fed starting lineup for the Eustis contest included E. B. Smith and Britt Yates, at the ends, Ed Yarbrough and Edson Meyers at the tackles, Billy Howard and Charles Lansing at the guards and George Dague at center. In the backfield Coach Ganas started Floyd Sparkman, Bobby Humphrey, Dan Batten and Keeling.

Gamecock - 'Cane Tilt Friday Night Offers Fans Unique Clash

CORAL GABLES, Oct. 29 (Special)—University of Miami and University of South Carolina football teams meeting here Friday night, will be clashing in the ninth game of a series unique in the nation for close, hard fought games.

A 13-6 win by Miami in 1942 represents the most one-sided clash of the series. A 13-13 tie in 1945 is the only other time either scored more than seven points. Each holds a 7-6 decision over the other and Carolina has won by 6-3, 7-2 and 3-0 counts in addition to its 7-6 win.

Despite the fact that the winner does little scoring in each game, that 3-0 game and a scoreless tie in 1944 mark the only shutouts in the eight games played to date.

In almost every instance the winner was the underdog before the game. The 1944 Miami team was one of the school's poorest in years and the Gamecocks of that year were pretty hot stuff. The Hurricanes outplayed their rivals slightly in a no-score. The following year the Gamecocks were going nowhere, while the Hurricanes eventually wound up in the Orange Bowl—but the game ended 13-0 all.

This year, for a change, it looks like an even scrap between teams which have had very similar records. Carolina after a warmup win, was a bitter disappointment against Maryland and Ole Miss.

Rex Enright did a fine job of rallying his men to trip Furman and Clemson in the state championship and now, with three wins and two losses the Gamecocks sport a two game winning streak and a win over Miami will mean a pretty fair season for the Enright men.

Miami was away low par in losing to T. C. U. and Baylor at the start of the season and a Villanova tie in between began to look out of place until Coach Jack Harding, juggling his squad even as Enright has done, got his men headed back in the right direction by taming a hepped up Rollins outfit and then trimming George Washington last week, to build up a two game winning streak for the Hurricanes.

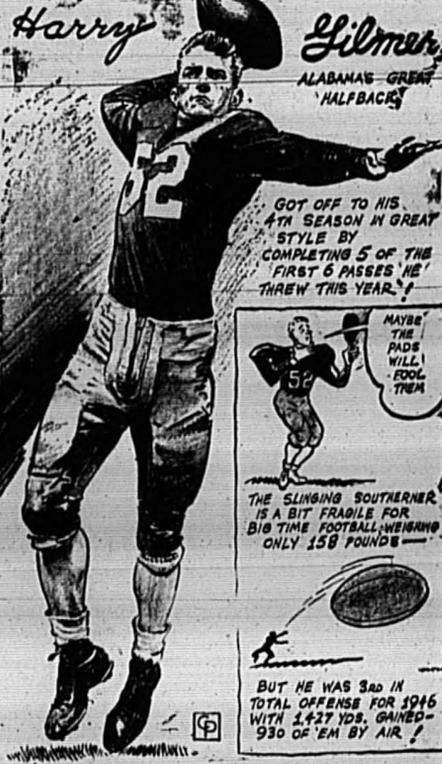

Major Cannot Play Early Exhibition Tilt

CINCINNATI, Oct. 29 (AP)—Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler yesterday ruled that no exhibition games may be played by Major League clubs before March 1.

The action follows an agreement reached last year with the players committee that players need not report before March 1 to begin their spring training. Training, including exhibitions, will be confined to 45 days under the agreement with the players.

Everyone had a big time at the Celery Crate Saturday night. Some of the boys and girls put on an adapted version of the Shooting of Dangerous Dan McGrew by Robert Service. The skit was a big success but I still don't see how Penderly fell flat on his back without breaking his neck. The cast was composed of Thurston Tyre as Dan McGrew, Bill Hendricks as the strange miner, Barbara Cergal as the lady that's known as Lou, Bill Ingram as narrator, Donald Cain as the Hagtime Kid, David Heater as the bartender, with Artie Harington, Dick Snow, Alvin Penderly (stranger), Walter Graham, Francis Moore, Zeke McNab and Barbara McNab as extras.

Evelyn Watkins sang several numbers. There were 115 students who attended the Crates Saturday night. The members are selling copies of the record "Freedom Train" to raise funds to buy new equipment. Anyone who wants to help us out by buying a copy of this popular song may get one from nearly any Crates member. Two copies will be given each member to sell. Or they may be purchased from Roundhill and Andersons or Touchette's Drug Store.

The following adults had a good time with us (we hope) Saturday night: Mr. and Mrs. Morris, Mr. Ganas, Mrs. Clause, Mrs. Graham, Mrs. Holtzclaw and Mrs. Galloway.

All last week the Key Club boys were busy selling tickets to the Kiwanian sponsored game Friday night. We took care of quite a few tickets. The game was well attended in spite of the doubtful weather and everyone enjoyed seeing Sanford beat...

Notre Dame Is Voted As Best Grid Team Of Week By Scribes

By BOB GRUBB
NEW YORK Oct. 29 (AP)—Notre Dame, still toying with the position as it moves toward the Nov. 8 meeting with Army, was back as No. 1 college football team of the country today on the basis of returns from the weekly Associated Press poll.

After giving the Irish second billing to Michigan for two weeks straight, the nation's sports writers voted Frank Leahy's men their old familiar first-place ranking and dropped the Wolverines to the runner-up position.

Notre Dame, choice of the writers as the top team of 1946, had started off in the same spot this year. The Irish slipped past Iowa last week for their fourth straight victory and, still supposedly "under wraps," headed for Saturday's meeting with Navy.

Michigan's narrow squeak in pulling a 1-0 victory from Minnesota out of the writers recently lowered the voters' estimation of the Wolverines. Last week they garnered 147 of 168 first-place votes. This time they collected only 69 while Notre Dame was awarded 78 of the 193 ballots.

The most extensive weekly poll in many years gave Notre Dame a point score of 1734 (10 points for a first-place ballot, 9 for second, 8 for third, etc.) Michigan's total was 1689. Texas remained in third place with 1516 as a result of the Longhorns' triumph over Rice.

Two new tenants appeared among the top ten, with Southern Methodist and Duke supplanting California and Illinois. S.M.U.'s Mustangs climbed from 12th to 8th on a 7-0 win over U.C.L.A. and now come face to face with Texas this Saturday to decide the South-west Conference title. Duke's 13-6 conquest of Wake Forest moved the Blue Devils from 15th to 9th in preparation for their forthcoming clash with sixth-place Georgia Tech this week.

Pennsylvania's success of Navy knocked the Quakers from 8th to 4th. Princeton, the foe which upset Penn last year, has a chance to knock down the Red and Blue again on Saturday, but even Tiger Coach Charley Caldwell isn't counting on the same luck two years running.

Seekers after trends might have found something significant in the way the top ten stacked up.

Those who like to compare "T" against single-wing-back in arguing the merits of the respective offensive formations would find a 50-50 split. Notre Dame, Texas, Southern Cal, Georgia Tech and Army are the "T" adherents in the list, Texas having converted just this season.

The other five use the single wing, predominantly, although Michigan occasionally employs the "T."

Team standing with points figured on a 10, 9, 8, 7, 6, 5, 4, 3, 2, 1 basis (first place votes in parentheses):

- 1. Notre Dame (78) 1734
- 2. Michigan (69) 1699
- 3. Texas (25) 1516
- 4. Pennsylvania (11) 1165
- 5. Southern California (8) 1133
- 6. Georgia Tech (8) 957
- 7. Penn State (2) 632
- 8. Southern Methodist 558
- 9. Duke (2) 252
- 10. Army 208

11. Illinois 206; 12. Virginia, 193; 13. Kentucky, 79; 14. California, 65; 15. Wake Forest, 61; 16. Purdue 45; 17. Louisiana State, 35; 18. Alabama, 33; 19. U.C.L.A., 28; 20. Columbia, 27.

Others receiving votes were Texas Christian, 12; North Carolina, 10; Nevada and Utah, each 7; Minnesota, Missouri and Kansas, each 5; Navy and Utah State, each 5; Northwestern, 4; Tennessee, 3; Mississippi State, Wisconsin, Yale and Franklin and Marshall, each 2; West Virginia, Williams and Maryland, Oregon and California, each 1.

Reds Charge Jap Agents In South Korea

Dulles Reveals Explosive Situation Between Russia And The United States

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 30 (AP)—Russia charged today that "Japanese agents" had been placed in responsible positions in the U. S.-administered zone of Southern Korea. The Soviet accusation was made by Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko before the United Nations Assembly's 57-nation political committee.

Gromyko took the floor after U. S. Delegate John Foster Dulles told the committee that an "explosive" situation exists as a result of the two-year deadlock between the United States and Russia on the Korean independence question.

Gromyko remarked that he agreed the situation was "explosive," at least as far as Southern Korea was concerned. He then made his charge about "Japanese agents."

Former Romanlan Official Admits Treason Charges

BUCHAREST, Romania, Oct. 30 (AP)—Victor Radulescu-Poganeanu, former Romanian foreign affairs minister, admitted to a military tribunal today the accusations against him in an indictment charging 19 leaders and associates in the National Peasant Party with high treason.

Dr. Julio Manu, 75-year-old leader of the party, and 18 of his associates went on trial on the charges yesterday. Radulescu-Poganeanu, who was interrogated by the court today, evaded implicating any of the other persons charged in his testimony.
