Dear Abby:

DEAR ABBY: My husband has few faults I would like to tell you about. Whenever we go any place he walks about four or five steps ahead of me. I sometimes wonder if he isn't trying to give the impression that we aren't together.

He also has had two fried eggs for breakfast every morning since we've been married. He takes about five minutes to cut up his eggs with a knife, and then he places little pieces on his toast and eats it that way. He also has a habit of leaving shaving cream and whiskers in the sink. We have been married 46 years and I have hollered my head off about these habits, but it has done no good, Have you any suggestions?

TIRED WIFE

DEAR TIRED: Some men are deaf to hollering. Having lived with him for 46 years, overlook his minor faults and don't press your luck. Many widows would love to have your "problems." . . .

DEAR ABBY: I am keeping company with a woman who is attractive, peppy and lots of fun. She's in her middle 80's and so am I. There is one thing I don't like about her. She wears three wedding rings une right next to the other. She admits she has had three husbands. One died and she divorced two. I don't know whether she wears those rings because she can't get them off or because she thinks they look good.

By Abigail Van Buren

I've never been married and don't want to add my ring to her collection. Any advice? CHICKEN

DEAR CHICKEN: Don't be a dumb cluck. If she can't get the rings off, a jeweler can help her. If you are interested in marrying her, ask her to get rid of the three-ring circus.

DEAR AESY: I am 17 and have a little boy eight months old, I am not married and never was. I didn"t love the baby's father enough to marry him. It was just a wrong mistake. I met a boy about five months ago. I really love him and he wants to marry me. He doesn't know the baby is mine. I told him it was my sister's. (She is married.) I am afraid if I tell him the truth he won't want to marry me, but I can't keep it a secret forever. Please tell me if I should tell him. And if so, how?

Time To File

It isn't a bit too early to remind home owners that their applications for Florida's $5,000 homestead exemption may be filed any time between January 1 and April 1, 1963.

For the benefit of newcomers to our community, it should be explain-ed that a provision written into the State Constitution allows homeowners to apply for this exemption each year. The filing time once again is between January 1 and April 1.

Seminole County Tax Assessor Mary Earle Walker makes the filing of applications as easy as possible by mailing applications to those who already have an exemption. In addition, Mrs. Walker, or a representa-tive of her office, calls at each town in the county during March in order to answer questions and help taxpayers in filling out applications. Each year the Herald makes a special mention of this opportunity. We do this because, strange as it might seem, a number of taxpayers must dig up a tidy extra sum each year because they neglect to file an application.

Rights And Wrongs

The battle for power between the states and the federal government goes on. Congress and the 47 states with regular legislative sessions in 1968 are being asked to approve three striking proposals which would materially enhance state authority. Only Virginia, Kentucky, and Miasisaippi do not convene their legislatures in regular session this year.

The proposals being put before the others would bar the federal courts from acting on state legislative reapportionment, would make it easier for states to initiate amendments to the U.S. Constitution, and would esablish a so-called Court of the Union which in major respects would be superior to the U.S. Supreme Court.

These propositions are the product of the General Assembly of the States, a nationwide conclave of legislators and other state officers. They are being proposed as amend-ments to the U.S. Constitution.

One anonymous expert on state government says no more than three states are likely to endorse the revo-lutionary court plan. Most probable are Alabama and Florida, with Miss-issippi a prospective third state if it should call a special session for that purpose.

As for the other proposals, it is anticipated that perhaps 10 may ap-prove the idea of simplifying procedures by which states can initiate constitutional amendments. And just five or six are expected to endorse a ban on U.S. Court rulings in state apportionment.

There is no thought that any of the plans will get anywhere in Congress.

When Congress does approve an amendment, it must then gain ratifi-cation by three-fourths of the states

- now 88. For the states to initiate an amendment, two-thirds of the 50 must apply for a constitutional convention. Congress must then sum-mon the convention to consider amendments. Those approved must again have the endorsement of three-fourths of the states.

This cumbersome method never has been used. Under the new plan, whenever two-thirds of the states agree on a specific amendment, it would automatically make the ratification rounds in quest of the same three-fourths vote.

Since congressional approval of the three plans is unlikely, the states this time would have to use the cumbersome machinery to win firststage approval. And they are presently a long way from the necessary two-thirds majority. Remotest prospect of all is the revolutionary Court of the Union. In the states' assembly in December, it was dropped just 21 to 20. The other proposals gained heavy majorities.

The proposed new court would consist of the 50 state chief justices. It would have power to decide whether judgments of the Supreme Court affecting rights reserved to the states or the people under the Constitution were properly within Supreme Court jurisdiction.

$99.8 billion last year. Un- costs. The weapons that a Observers at the assembly meeting say the three proposals are the work of such staunch conservatives as William Chappell, Florida legisla-tor and Fred Gulick of the Kansas legislative council.

One observer suggests that many states' votes were cast by individuals "not even representative of their unrepresentative legislatures." That the proposals are under study at all is perhaps stout proof of what militant, energetic "believers" can accomplish.

In the finale Monday night post position number two jumped off to a five point lead and the fans thought victory was in their grasp, but a hot battle developed between positions seven, four, eight, and three, which were all tied up at three apiece. How about some more litter baskets along First Street? Those planters are being used a little too much for butts and assorted garbage.

The salary for a county commissioner is now $2,400 and $100 per month car allowance. That makes his salary $3,600 annually. Not bad when you consider who spends $100 per month on their car.

Don't be surprised if fee officials don't ask for a pay hike from the legislative delegation starting in 1965,

And don't be further surprised if one commissioner doesn't ask the delegation to abolish the fee system and let the commission rule what each officer makes. . . .

I don't envy Mack Cleveland Jr, that day.

How Do You Like Your Reading?

The Sanford Gerald FEC Strike

Want to know the names of some books which, apparently, are "interesting" reading? Ask any high school student.

A group of books popular with local students has created a storm among parents at Edgerton, Wis., according to a UPI report today. But a check this morning reveals the books haven't even created a ripple of complaint here.

Some 450 angry parents converged on the Edgerton School Board Tuesday night demanding the banishment of such "filthy" books as "The Ugly American" and "1984."

The board supported the continued use of the books, with such remarks as "we are no longer living in the age of Longfellow" and "we can't keep a fence around our children."

A Catholic priest disagreed, saying: "Parents have the right to put a fence around their children." And he objected on moral grounds to "The Catcher in the Rye," "1984" and "Brave New World."

A physician whose wife is a school board member told the board: "Young men have enough ideas of their own without getting more."

Classed by the parents as "filthy" and "vulgar" were these books: "The Catcher in the Rye," by J. D. Salinger; "Brave New World," by Aldous Huxley; "1984," by George Orwell; "Of Mice and Men," by John Steinbeck; "Crime and Punishment," by Fyodor Dostoevsky, and "The Ugly American," by William Lederer and Eugene Burdick.

All these books are on the shelves of the Sanford Public Library, according to Mrs. Sara King, head librarian. Most calls for this reading are from high school students, she added.

Queried whether any complaints had been received by her for having these books available, Mrs. King replied: "No, not really. The father of a high school senior did complain last year at City Hall. But, so far as I know, there have been no other complaints."

A. J. Bracken, Seminole High School principal, said three of the books-"1984," "Crime and Punishment" and "The Ugly American"-are included among the school library's 5,000 books available to the students. The three books in question, he stated, are included in Wilson's Standard Catalogue for High School Libraries.

He added none of the books are "required" reading for the students "and besides they have enough 'required' reading to do to keep up in their studies." He said books listed in the Wilson catalogue are considered educational reading for the student's personal choice.

(Ed's note: We wonder how all these angered Edgerton parents and the priest learned these books are "filthy" and "vul gar." Surely not by hearsay, Hmmmm.? And an aside to Mrs. King: Prepare for an avalanche of requests. It always happens when a book is labeled as "unfit.")
