

PROSPERITY WILL ARRIVE IN 1925

Bankers And Industrial Leaders Say Assurance of Reasonable System of Taxation To Be Primary Cause

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—Business during 1924 is generally summarized as fair by banking and industrial leaders. Prospects for 1925, however, are considered unusually bright, many business men echoing the sentiments expressed by President Coolidge in his annual message to Congress that "under the assurance of a reasonable system of taxation, there is every prospect for an era of prosperity of unprecedented proportions."

The prediction of further business prosperity is based on several well known facts. Settlement of the German reparations problem through the adoption of the Dawes plan is widely believed to have removed the greatest obstacle to the economic recovery of Europe, upon whose prosperity we are more or less dependent, because of our position as a big creditor nation and an important participant in international trade.

Foremost among the domestic factors is the easiness of the money market and the huge sums available for commercial credit. In addition most stocks of merchandise are relatively low, railroad traffic is at record levels, exports are increasing, the principal European exchanges are at par, or heading there, several important industrial and railroad mergers are pending, the high prices received for current crops has brought prosperity back to the agricultural regions, gasoline consumption is at record high levels and an ambitious program of hydro-electric power development is under way.

Railroads enjoyed one of their best years in 1924 since their restriction to private control. Economies effected through the cutting down of operating expenses enabled many systems to increase their net income despite reductions in gross earnings. One of the most important developments of the year was the completion of plans for the gigantic Nickel Plate merger to include the Nickel Plate, Hocking Valley, Chesapeake & Ohio, Pere Marquette and Erie systems. The Southern Pacific also acquired the El Paso.

Southwestern during the year, with considerable progress made towards other important consolidations. The so-called radical bloc in the congressional elections evoked the fear of adverse legislation and has enabled the roads to proceed with important consolidation and development plans. Inauguration of dividends on the common stocks of the Southern, St. Louis-San Francisco and Pere Marquette railways and the resumption of dividends on Baltimore & Ohio also were among the year's important railroad developments. Several other possible dividend developments are pending.

The steel industry enjoyed a good first quarter, but the second and third quarters were poor, unfilled orders of the United States Steel Corporation falling to the lowest level in 10 years in July with operations below 50 per cent of capacity. Business picked up in the fourth quarter with indications of a steady increase into the new year.

The oil industry was again hampered by the excess production of crude oil which, combined with the extraction of more gasoline through improved cracking processes, made it a particularly poor year for the refining companies and the smaller producers.

New building construction during the year was estimated by members of the trade at $5,000,000,000, a new high record.

Automobile output for the year was estimated at 3,600,000 vehicles, or less than 10 per cent below the high record established in the previous year. Several companies found it necessary to cut prices in order to dispose of heavy inventories before starting work on new models.

Copper prices stiffened towards the close of the year with indications of an increased export demand, but the industry was still hampered by the competition afforded by the low-cost producing red metal received from Africa.

Public utilities enjoyed one of the best years in their history, with large economies effected through several important consolidations, particularly in the middle west.

The textile industry was one of the outstanding spots. The American Woolen Company and the Amoskeag Manufacturing Company, respectively, the largest woolen and cotton manufacturers, found it necessary to curtail operations and suspend the payment of dividends on their common stock.

American agriculture is in the best position it has held since 1920, according to the annual report of the Secretary of Agriculture, with prospects that the gross income from agricultural products may reach $12,000,000,000 in the crop year 1924-25. In the crop year 1923-24, gross income from such products was $11,500,000,000 and in 1921-22, the low point since the war, it was $9,500,000,000.

Unfavorable trade conditions in the chemical and packing industries were reflected in the receivership proceedings against the Virginia-Carolina Chemical Co. and the Wilson Packing Co.

There were no serious labor disturbances during 1924. The only threatened dispute is that of the engineers on western railroads, who do not appear altogether satisfied with the recent five per cent increase in wages granted by the Railway Labor Board.

To Produce Play On Broadway Is Mission Of Negro Bellhop Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—San Francisco has entered a candidate for Broadway fame in the person of a negro bellhop. He is Garland Anderson, who after working for 15 years as a bellhop in California hotels decided that he had a mission in the world, and that that mission was to produce in New York a play proving that any one can accomplish any task, however difficult, provided he applies himself to it.

Encouraged with letters of commendation from Al Jolson, Marjorie Rombauer, Channing Pollock, Richard Bennett, Ernest Lubertson and others who had read his play and had induced him to come to New York, Anderson "sat in his room at the Harlem Branch of the Y. M. C. A., 181 West 135th Street, confidently awaiting bids from theatrical producers. Mr. Jolson had paid his expenses to New York, he said, and he was going to remain here only long enough to see his play on the stage, for his job as bellhop at the Braburn Hotel Apartments in San Francisco was being held open for him.

"Must Hurry Back to Job.

"I only have a leave of absence," said Anderson, unfolding the manuscript of his play, "As soon as Broadway takes my play I must hurry back to answer the calls for ice water at my old post. A desire to give the public the benefit of my philosophy and spiritual beliefs alone prompted me to discard for a moment my bellhop uniform. My play is a drama in the three acts. Its name is 'Judge Not According to Appearances.' Anyone who sees it will feel better for it. It carries a message to the downhearted. It proves beyond a doubt that any body can accomplish anything if only he sets himself or herself to do it. Now, when my play is produced it will prove my theory, for, although I was only a bellhop and a colored man at that, I had inspiration to write a play, and I have done it."

It was while attending the telephoner's board at his hotel, Anderson explained, that he wrote out his play with a lead pencil. He selected his characters from the people who lived at the hotel made himself the hero and envolved the philosophy which he puts into the mouth of the hero from books on psychology and metaphysics he read.

Anderson said he completed the play in three weeks. The plot, he explained, involved lawyers, judges, their wives, the hotel owner, the bellhop and his negro friends.

GERMAN ARTISTS BEING RUINED BY TAXES AND RADIO

Three Factors Are Blamed for Lack of Application of Fine Concerts in Germany. Indifference Is Main Cause.

DRESDEN, Dec. 27.—Another concert season like the present and German artists will be ruined, in the opinion of Dr. Rudolf Cahn-Spoyer, chairman of the executive council of the Federation of Concert-Giving Musicians of Germany. Three factors are blamed for the unfavorable condition of the concert market: the radio, an indifferent public, and an unjust system of taxation.

From the moment the government lowered the fee for radio service to 50 cents a month, there was a sharp increase in the number of subscribers. From 7,500 the number rose to 500,000 within half a year. "One can easily understand," Dr. Cahn-Spoyer observes, "that with a large part of the public the difference between a concert in a hall and one heard over the radio is not sufficient to outweigh the comfort of hearing a concert within one's own home. The latter involves no necessity to dress up or leave the house, and enables one to smoke a cigar or sip a cup of coffee while listening."

The indifference of the public to good concerts, in Dr. Cahn-Spoyer's opinion, is evidenced by the fact that concerts even to big stars are seldom sold out, and that complimentary tickets are no longer being used.

The state is unduly severe on the artist in matters of taxation, Dr. Cahn-Spoyer holds. On all box office receipts he must pay both a turn-over and a luxury tax. These receipts are, as a matter of fact, never enough to pay for the costs involved in giving a concert, save in the cases of stars of the first magnitude. Most artists pay a considerable sum of money out of their own pockets for the pleasure of giving a concert, since it is essential that they have a number of musical criticisms from the metropolitan press to their credit. Even on free tickets a luxury tax is exacted. In any commercial business free tickets would be charged to advertising and would be exempt from taxation, but the poor artist is gouged for them by the tax officials.

1925 State Legislature To Consider Reorganization Of Education Board

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Dec. 27.—The legislature of 1925 will be called upon to again consider submission to the people of the state amendments to the constitution providing for a reorganization of the state board of education and selection of the state superintendent of public instruction, as well as the county superintendents. This is revealed in the biennial report of W. S. Cation, state superintendent, who recommends passage of an act submitting to the voters amendments providing for substitution of the commissioner of agriculture or the comptroller for the superintendent of public instruction on the State Board of Education; another calling for appointment of the state superintendent of public instruction by the state board of education, and a third providing for appointment of the county superintendent of public instruction by the county school board.

In making these recommendations, Mr. Cation calls attention to the attempt made during the session of 1923 to submit an amendment to the constitution providing for a change in the organization of the state board of education by reducing the number of ex officio members and adding other members by appointment. "This measure failed by a small margin," he adds. "If friends of the measure are not disposed to put it forward again, at the next session, the following amendments are suggested:

"Let the commissioner of agriculture or the comptroller be substituted for the state superintendent of public instruction on the state board of education so as to make the latter official of the board and leave the number of members the same as before. The state superintendent should then be selected by this reorganized board."

There is no advantage, he says, in having the superintendent a member of the board. "The possibility of the selection of the superintendent by the board is the main reason suggested for the change."

In recommending that the county superintendent of schools should be selected by the county school board, attention is called by the state superintendent to efforts made by his predecessor to bring about this change. Quoting from the report of that official in 1919-20, attention is called to his suggestion that "Good politicians are seldom the best educators. The battle cry of the future will be, none but real school men in educational positions."

"The older states in the public school business and the wiser men in charge of the costly city school system have long since learned that it is not best to trust the selection of school superintendents and school boards to the uncertainties of popular election," the rec-

BEST BUSINESS OF YEARS HAD BY MERCHANTS

The Western Union Telegraph Company, through the manager T. P. Dobbs, reports a heavy increase in the number of Christmas messages handled. The public, he says, is rapidly finding favor for messages as a means of conveying greetings. There was a corresponding increase in other business as well, the manager indicated.

The best season in three years was reported by the Churchwell Company. The business already done, the manager, J. R. Forrest, reported, so far this December is greater than the volume for the whole of December, 1923. Shoppers continued their onslaught on the Churchwell counters until the store closed on Christmas Eve night.

By far the most pessimistic report of them all came from the chief of police, R. G. Williams. The chief admitted that there was an increase of "business" over the general average of the day but explained that it was a "mighty quiet" Christmas after all had been considered.

Most of the citizens of Sanford spent Christmas day at home, partaking of food from their own boards. Luke Thompson, manager of the Lu-Beth Cafeteria intimated, however, brought forth an increase in trade. This season, contrasted with that of last year, brought forth a considerable increase in buying.

British Lay Claim To Idea of Sailless Ship

HULL, Eng., Dec. 27.—Walter C. Scotter, a coal exporter of Hull, and his brother, C. R. Scotter, of Newcastle-on-Tyne, have decided to claim all patent rights for Great Britain in the invention of the principle of the rotor or sailless ship, for which Germany has so far had the credit.

They claim they applied for patents rights for the rotor principle in June, 1915, and that the patents were granted them in February, 1917. Walter Scotter asserts he repeatedly offered the invention to the British government during the war but the officials were too busy to examine his scheme.

The rotor ship has no sails but two tall cylinders turned on their axes by a motor. The action of the wind against these rotating cylinders is said to give a special several times greater than that attained with ordinary sails.

The child was hit when stepping from an ice truck. Remillard was injured when his car was wrecked by crashing into a telegraph pole when he attempted to avoid collision with a woman motorist.

Cabs In Berlin Are Doomed by Motor Car

BERLIN, Dec. 27.—The probable elimination of horse drawn cabs from the streets of this city by the motor taxi, has brought up the question of the future of the 1820 cab drivers of Berlin who today change that is coming over the city.

The young men naturally become chauffeurs, but some older drivers seem unable to adjust themselves to the new vehicle. It has been suggested that two cabbies, an older and a young one, club together and acquire an auto taxi between them in such a manner that the older man will attend to keeping the car properly cleaned, repaired, and disinfected, while the younger man does the driving.

Widening Street Cost 25 Million Dollars Mile

LONDON, Dec. 27.—The widening of the Strand, in the heart of London, is an expensive proceeding, according to H. H. Gordon, a former London county county engineer. He places the cost at $25,000,000 a mile. Traffic congestion makes the operation necessary.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

IF YE OBEY:—If ye will obey my voice indeed, and keep my covenant, then ye shall be a peculiar treasure unto me above all people. Exodus 19:5.

I NEED NOT FEAR

If I live a life that is clean and square, And I love my fellow-man, And I lend him a hand to help him bear His burden whenever I can, I need not fear what the future holds, Nor what the reward shall be, For the mighty love that all enfolds Will most surely care for me.

If I speak a good word of cheer to one Whose sorrows have borne him down, And I give him new hope to journey, And change to a smile his frown, I shall not dread when the shadows fall, And the end of life draws near, For that wondrous love that shelters all Will drive away my fear.

For my life is measured by what I meet, And I earn my own reward, So the love I give makes my heart complete, And through it I gain the reward. For whether I dwell in a house by the road Or far from the haunts of men, If only my love makes bright the abode, No fear shall enter it then. —Anon.

Get ready to write it, 1925.

Love at first sight has now been changed to love at first fight.

Russia is a cross-word puzzle for the whole world to solve.

Next year this time many changes in Sanford's skyline should be in evidence.

The merchant who doesn't have anything worth selling doesn't advertise.

Our kick against breakfast is that it is served too early in the morning.

Here's to women—once our superiors, now our equals.—St. Augustine Record.

Boasting spirit is something that every citizen of Sanford should be "all broken out" with.

Sanford—Florida's most substantial city and a place which offers the most golden opportunities to the home seeker and investor.

Sanford needs a large auditorium to take care of conventions of which this city should get its share. Atlanta made itself what it is today by going after conventions.

Baltimore manufacturer refused to accept a Christmas gift of twenty-five thousand dollars voted to him by the board of directors, saying that he did not need it and that the company could use it. And they call that philanthropy.

Miami papers say that about four hundred and fifty automobiles, loaded with tourists are arriving in the Magic City each day. This is one result of good advertising on the part of the people of the lower east coast.

If you have a vacant room at your house, list it with the Chamber of Commerce and help provide accommodations for winter visitors. Furnished rooms and apartments are in great demand. The home people must see that tourists are provided with living quarters.

The opening of the Bithlo bridge Wednesday means much to this section of the state. With the east coast but a short drive over good roads, Sanford citizens may hereafter easily reach the ocean. The fact that this new road is being opened may have something to do with getting the other roads in better shape.

Those Beautiful Christmas Headlines

"Another death from bad liquor reported"—that has become a common headline for the holiday season.

Endeavoring to celebrate the day dedicated to the birth of the Saviour, and to contribute their share to the family's happy Christmas, men of a certain stripe get drunk. And now when it is merely a chance whether whiskey is the same old slow poison or something quicker, many a would-be celebrant is killed or blinded by the stuff he drinks.

It would be cruel to say "good enough for him". The suffering engendered by wood alcohol and other deadly concoctions is said to be terrible. And in this suffering again, the victim himself is not the only one punished. The people who love him—and there is almost certain to be some one who loves him, and he saddened the rest of their lives by the fate he meets.

Occasionally, too, the person who is poisoned by "bad liquor" is not addicted to drink at all. Some "Good Fellow" gets "em up to the crowd. He has acquired possession of "some excellent Scotch"; and the crowd drinks with him the rankest of synthetic liquor. The next day the papers have another headline regarding the tragedy of drinking poison whiskey.

When Willard Mack, the comedian and playwright, was blinded a few weeks ago from drinking wood alcohol, the papers reported that he was forever "on the water wagon". His blindness was temporary and back on the stage he should have an opportunity to do some good work for temperance, if he is big enough to profit by his experience.

But it will take many an experience like Mack's and unceasing missionary work for years to come before the headlines at Christmas time can be freed from announcement of suffering and death from indulgence in "bad liquor." Curious how many fools and knaves still run at large.

By All Means, Let The Sunshine In

Dr. Royal S. Copeland, former Commissioner of Health, New York City, and a present United States Senator from the Empire State, ought to be receiving thousands of letters every day commending him for his criticism of the United States Senate chamber in Washington. Dr. Copeland believes that many of the men who have served their country as members of the upper branch of Congress have been killed by the atmosphere of the hall in which the Senate meets.

Absolutely no sunshine reaches the place. Artistic and imposing, and carrying, of course, all the beauty of historical setting, the Senate hall is an interesting place to visit. But Dr. Copeland considers it a death trap, harboring an untold number of germs in its sunless depths.

If the United States Senate had a large, well-ventilated room, into which the sunshine could be flooded and where in daylight hours there would be no need for artificial illumination, Dr. Copeland believes that the health of its members would be protected, and that business would be expected, and generally better service for the country be attained.

The criticism is undoubtedly sane and sensible. With all the educational work of the last few years in behalf of sunlight-for-health, it is strange that some one before Dr. Copeland has not led a campaign for sunshine in the national capitol. But it will be stranger still, if "sentiment" or any other consideration prevents immediate action in behalf of a properly ventilated, sun-lighted room for the United States Senate and for every other governmental body and all government workers.

"It sweetens health and it sweetens life to get the sunshine", writes Dr. Copeland. "It also gives power to the brain and energy to the body. Sunshine is needed in Washington.

BURNING THE CANDLE AT BOTH ENDS

Occasionally one reads in the newspapers and magazines of how some great man has risen from the position of office boy to that of president of a great institution. Along in connection with the story in the statement that success has been won through hard work. The president of the great institution is usually described as a poor, uneducated boy who worked hard all day and read law by a pine-knot fire until a late hour each night.

That sounds fine, but when examined in the light of truth, it will probably will be found that the "poor office boy" who rose to high position had in him the making of a great man to begin with. It will be found too, that he worked more with his brain than with his hands. And it will also be found that he realized that "all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." He appreciated the value of a night's rest each night that he might be able to think clearly and be refreshed for his day's work. His bright mind also prompted him to gather other bright minds around him in order that his business undertakings might be successful. Perhaps in the past he had been one of the bright minds that some other man had gathered around him—an experience which no doubt aided him to reach his higher position.

MAKING OF CRIMINALS

"When the employer himself shows a disregard for truth and law, the employe is quite liable to follow suit. If the employer has his bootlegger, the employe will have theirs. If the employer is a gambler, or evades his income tax, can he blame the employe for adopting the same tactics?"

That is the basic idea of a syndicated article entitled, "How Employers Make Criminals of Their Employes," by William L. Barnhart of the National Surety Company. Mr. Barnhart is the author of two books, "Crime Psychology" and "Crime a la mode," and is a psychologist who knows whereof he speaks. In his article he explains that in the last five years embezzlement and other forms of theft of money have increased 300 per cent, and that such crimes now cost American business ten billions of dollars annually. "More than three times as much as all Federal taxes combined."

As Brisbane Sees It

The Old Year is Sick. C. E. Mitchell's Plan. Nature is a Mixer. BY ARTHUR BRISBANE (Copyright 1924)

THE OLD year is a very sick man, soon to be buried. He leaves on the whole an improved, more hopeful world behind him. War on any big scale has not come as yet, and it seems to grow more remote.

This most richly blessed of all countries is wondering what to do with its gold. THE WHOLE world owes us money, and will send us hundreds of millions every year, in interest, to say nothing of principal. Whether it is good for a nation or an individual to get so much money without working for it, time will tell.

ANYHOW, we are on the crest of the wave just now, and the rest of the world is at least doing better. Get your New Year resolutions ready, and if you happen to take any of them seriously begin work on them NOW.

CHARLES E. Mitchell, president of the National City Bank, biggest in America, knows that the important WORK ATTRACTIVE. Stock in the National City Bank is worth $410. Mr. Mitchell will allow the bank's 8,000 employes to buy the stock at $275, paying on the installment plan out of salaries.

He explains that this is not charity, or philanthropy, not a gift or bonus. It is BUSINESS COMMON SENSE. Mr. Mitchell wants employes to be interested in the bank's welfare and in their own welfare at the same time. He knows that men work a great deal better when they work for themselves.

A BOOTBLACK, getting the entire revenue from his little stand, or a waiter keeping the tips he collects, is often happier and more earnest in his work than some corporation employe getting $50,000 a year. An element of uncertainty keeping the business man and the bootlegger INTERESTED is the important element.

National City Bank workers will feel, as the value of their stock and the dividends increase, that they have been working for themselves as well as for the bank. MAKE INDUSTRY ATTRACTIVE and you solve the industrial problems.

NEW YORK State's Federation of Labor officially requests Governor Smith to work for legislation of light wines and beer in New York, with a modification of the Volstead Act to that extent. That is interesting, because Governor Smith is known to believe that prohibition, with its bootleg whiskey and bootleg criminals, has proved a failure in New York.

It is important to many who believe that Governor Smith will be nominated by the Democrats for President in 1928, and that his decision on the prohibition question now may easily become part of the national Democratic platform four years hence. CHARLES W. Eliot, formerly president of Harvard, says there is no "melting pot." Jews and Irish, says he, do not lose their racial identity here or become "assimilated." He opposes "racial intermarriage."

And that is an unimportant as it is inaccurate. DR. ELIOT would be much surprised if an angel of the Lord could appear, to dissect out of his brain and blood all the different kinds of human beings of which he is made up. He would find within himself many races, possibly even Mongolian blood. That blood spread through Europe, considerably, hundreds of years ago, when many Mongolian slaves were brought back to Venice by traveler in the East. Many races dwell under each skull.

AMONG CIVILIZED peoples there is no absolutely PURE racial strain. The old racial characteristics creep out. You may see a British peasant with a head plainly of Basque origin, brought to England a thousand years before William the Conqueror started to conquer England.

The father of the late August Belmont was a Jew. His mother was the daughter of Commodore Perry. He became the president of the Jockey Club. Isn't that "assimilation"? Nature intends to have, in the long run, only one kind of human being on earth, and the "melting pot" is at work always.

ATTA BOY, CAL

DAN DOBBS

And that's what might hum and less "ho hum." Everything is a habit, and depends upon the which you change your habit. The great advantage to love in a fliver, we hear, can start the thing, so that dancing half the night, training for a girl, can walk the floor with her. Man went crazy down Philadelphia, not, however, he saw where he was. Women mustn't smoke, trot Athletic Club, so there's smoke there, too. They caught a man, most houses on fire in New York, probably a reformed jester. In Troy, O., the will of a cyman has been set aside, she wasn't sweet to her. Christmas brought many gifts, they can do with electricity now, except bills. Texas news today, an man dressed as a gal, Worth, but, and to say, cause of it. Charged with extortion, Pa., man was charged electricity as he reached ransom money. In Toledo, O., a heat, four prohibition agents, to, but we must say something amusing. New York man whipped because she smoked his, we'll bet she wasn't feeling either.

WHAT HAS 1925 FOR YOU

Was 1924 a good year for you? Do you look back over it with pleasure? Or are you glad it has gone into eternity forever, and a new year is at hand that may bring better things? Many will contemplate 1924 with satisfaction. It brought to them, increased money or wisdom or happiness. Others were less fortunate. An admirable institution is New Year's day, on which we take stock of our condition and, tearing the old calendar down, start anew with fresh enthusiasm and ambition. It is the time to forget, as well as the time to make good resolutions. We can profit by experience—especially by our mistakes. Errors teach us what not to do again. They pilot us safely through the future if we have learned our lesson.

IF YOU BREAK FAITH

If your 1924-New-Year resolutions were broken, TRY them over. You may do better in 1925. Older NOW than you were THEN, you may find it easier to REFRAIN to say NO at the right time. A year in one's age frequently changes one's viewpoint of life. Experience, a great teacher, often INSTRUCTS men and women with the LASH. Intelligent human beings do not fall from the same precipice twice. The mistakes you made during 1924 will not be made in 1925 if you are wise, but remember this: there will be new pitfalls during the year and new precipices will rise up. These new dangers one must watch closely. On January 1 promise yourself: "I will be careful; I will be fair to myself and to my friends during 1925." Keep that promise and you will be happy when another new year begins.

PAN-HELLENIC ASSOCIATION HOLDS ANNUAL LUNCHEON IN ORLANDO

The following account of the annual luncheon of the Orlando Pan-Hellenic Association which occurred Saturday appeared in the Orlando Sentinel:
Pan-Hellenic members, Greek letter members, home for the holidays and sorority members from surrounding towns gathered at the Green Parrot Tea Room Saturday at 1 o'clock to enjoy the yearly party of the Panhellenic Association. The guests were seated at three long tables which were centered with attractive cardboard house and pergolas, the beams were boxes of chocolate covered mints. The favors were miniature houses with something representing each month in the year, to show the fraternal feeling of love and fellowship going through the year. January, a house with cupid standing by the door; February, a boy with a red heart; March, a lamb and lion in the yard; April, an umbrella by the door; May, flowers in the yard; June, an automobile standing in front of the house, tied with white tulle; July, a cannon tied with the national colors; August, a canoe with hand made pillows; September, school books; October, a black cat in the yard; November, turkey; December, Santa Claus at the door. At each place was an attractive hand painted program with the name of the

FOR RENT—One furnished apartment and two furnished bedrooms. 1000 Oak Ave. WANTED—3 first class stuco men. Corner 4th St. and Park Avenue. Holy Cross Episcopal Church. EASY TO DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR. When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is messy and troublesome. At little cost you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant. Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger.

TOWER OF JEWELS. ORIGINAL No. 1 COMPANY.

The NEW EDISON Here's the One REAL Test Before making your final selection, hear all the other phonographs and have the one you think best sent to your home on approval. Then let us place beside it a New Edison phonograph so that you may compare the two. This is the final test of merit—the only test that is fair to you—and it will assure your lasting satisfaction. A small initial payment will place the instrument of your choice in your home for Christmas. J.H. Hintermister Piano Co.
