Some Hiring Will Be Done In Sanford Auto-Train To Transfer Services

By ED PRICKETT Herald Staff Writer

Blind Mosquitoes: County Will Consider Pilot Mosquito Control Program

The Seminole County Commission today agreed to hold a work session next Monday to consider a joint program with the City of Sanford to launch a campaign against hordes of blind mosquitoes that harass tourists and residents alike in Seminole County.

Horner did not disagree with Williams, however, he said voters probably would not approve additional taxes unless they're shown that the mosquito problem can be licked. What Horner is asking for is a two-month city-county pilot program which would drastically reduce the number of mosquitoes and raise the chances of voter approval of the special taxing district.

City Says Its Fogging Program Is All That Can Be Done

The city of Sanford is already doing as much as can be done to control blind mosquitoes in the Downtown area, says City Manager Warren Knowles. "A taxing district would serve slight harm," Knowles wrote in a letter to Jack Horner, executive manager of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce.

Both Ford, Reagan Shy Of Delegates

By The Associated Press President Ford and Ronald Reagan will both fall short of the delegates needed for the Republican nomination when the delegates are chosen in seven states, party leaders and campaign officials in those states say.

The nomination would then hinge on 159 uncommitted delegates in Indiana and Ohio. Ford was off today for a two-day "nonpolitical" trip in eight days while Reagan was at home in California.

Ford was to deliver a speech at the annual convention of the Jaycees in Indianapolis today. He was due to return to the White House in the afternoon.

The cost of the trip will be paid out of federal funds. Ford's trip last Tuesday to Norfolk, Va., to address the National Baptist Convention also was paid by federal funds.

Betty Ford's press staff announced Monday that the first lady will make an appearance Friday at the Minnesota Republican convention in St. Paul as a stand-in for the President.

Chile Suppresses Human Liberties

The United States has been more patient than most nations with the prolonged eclipse of political freedom and human rights in Chile. Secretary of State Henry Kissinger has now made it clear that this patience has limits.

Mr. Kissinger used the strongest terms that the language of diplomacy allows in his warning that Chile is jeopardizing its relations with our country through its now notorious treatment of political prisoners. Nor was the warning conveyed through discreet diplomatic channels. It was voiced before the general assembly of the Organization of American States, and in the Chilean capital of Santiago.

No doubt this was embarrassing to Chile's military government, which has had civil liberties in the deep freeze for nearly three years. Maybe some embarrassment would help. The junta is still quibbling about the definition of political prisoners, pointing out that 90 per cent of the people run through its military tribunals were accused of illegal possession of firearms, a civil crime rather than political one.

Well many countries with quite liberal regimes have laws controlling possession of weapons. The point is that people caught with an illegal weapon in such countries are not hauled off to spend months or years in prison incommunicado or subjected to the torturous inquisitions described by some ex-prisoners coming out of Chile.

President Augusto Pinochet Ugarte is not unmindful of the criticism being heaped on his government. He announced the release of another 60 "political prisoners" as the current OAS session got under way, bringing to 365 the number freed within a month. However, these prisoners are not cards to be played at opportune moments. His government needs to do more to sustain the credibility it promises to restore democratic government to Chile.

We would not blame Mr. Pinochet for taking umbrage at the report of the OAS human rights commission which is largely an indictment of his government's repressive policies. What about Cuba? There are far more political prisoners in Cuban jails than in the jails of the United States. Admission — than the estimated 2,500 to 4,000 believed to be locked up in Chile.

True enough, and Mr. Kissinger took note in his address that an OAS report on the condition of human rights in Cuba was completed too late to be included in the OAS report. Nevertheless, if the OAS hopes to be a moral force in the protection of human rights in this hemisphere, it had best deal with suppression of freedom and justice among its own members before trying to arraign Fidel Castro for his obvious offenses.

Passing The Buck

The Internal Revenue Service wants banks, savings and loans and corporations to withhold tax payments from the interest and dividends they pay to stockholders and customers. Dividend and interest payments already are reported to the IRS, but IRS Commissioner Donald C. Alexander says the agency lacks the funds to match the reports against taxpayer returns. According to some estimates, the Treasury loses as much as $2.4 billion annually because beneficiaries fail to disclose the additional income.

But asking private firms to assume IRS duties would complicate the systems of both the remitters and the federal agency.

And the extra costs involved in dividend and interest transactions would be charged to other banking customers and the consumers of corporate products.

Payroll withholding, because of the constantly increasing tax rate, has justified itself as the only method under which the taxpayer can meet his bill with minimum pain.

Withholding dividend and interest taxes would be simply a convenience for the government, relieving it of a task it can and should perform itself.

Around

The Clock

By ED PRICKETT

One hears time and time again in today's world about how machines are replacing people. Walk into many facilities and all you see are non-human vendor machines. Pop a dime or a quarter or more into the slot and out comes refreshments.

Personally, I've always detested vending machines. I even liked the old-fashioned concept of cigarette girls. And not just because the girls who sold cigarettes had pretty legs, but because of the human contact experienced in addition to the economic trading of coin for consumer product.

Nothing, and I mean nothing, is worse than to throw your last quarter into a drink machine and listen to the machine grind and whir and then produce nothing but a whump as the ice-cold soft drink falls to drop into your waiting paw.

It's safe to say I hate vending machines. I've got busted knuckles to prove it, and one of the funniest news stories I've read in a long time was about a cowboy type who got so fed up with vending machines that he pulled his 38-caliber pistol from its holster and shot an errant machine full of holes.

Well, before I take up all of today's space raging about my lack of regard for machines that have no regard, let's get to the point. Over at the courthouse in Sanford, vending machines — at least in the main snack bar — have been removed and real, live humans have taken their places. Now, this is one for the books. Machines replaced by humans. The concept would not federal planners back 50 years.

But it's certainly pleasing to the folks at the courthouse who pop up to the new human-operated lounge for a jummy breakfast special for 99 cents. The new concept of utilizing humans instead of machines is about a week old, and courteous workers are pleased, to say the least. The new eatery is operated by Gale and Don Saunders. After the county kept experiencing trouble with inoperable and cranky vending machines, the state

Bureau of Blind Services was called in. And that's how Gale and Don got into the act. Don, who on any given day can be seen doling out steaming food to county workers, is legally blind.

Almost every day for so far the lounge has been mobbed. And Bob Ellis, who is partly responsible for the switch, says from feedback he's getting "employees are really satisfied." Ellis says he's only partly responsible because he followed up on a Betty Simcoe proposal which was to get the machines out and people in.

It's nicer at the lounge now. No doubt the food is tastier. And the machines I once cursed and kicked have been removed. In their stead is a man and his wife, real live people who can be asked to change something if it doesn't please customers. I'll never miss that metallic sound a quarter made as it disappeared into the hungry belly of a vending machine.

Carter's Efficient Campaign

WASHINGTON — Ex-Governor Jimmy Carter's success to date rests primarily on one asset — organization. So does ex-Governor Ronald Reagan's.

Not the old-line organization which depended on party bosses and endorsements by prominent politicians but the new type party organization which depends heavily on independent, enthusiastic, enthusiastic amateurs led by hard-headed, un-sentimental pragmatic types.

Sen. George McGovern demonstrated the technique in his upset capture of the Democratic nomination the last go-round. However vague and wobbly the McGovern ideas on foreign affairs, defense and economics, his drive for the candidacy was led by tough-minded men, and fleshed out with an army of hard-driving non-politicians loyal to McGovern rather than the party. Some of the McGovern men have since shown their own ability at winning elections for themselves against tough opposition, using these same methods.

It has been the tendency of established traditional candidates of late to depend on the fading party apparatus, on labor organizations, on so-called party bosses largely stripped of their own old powers, influence and personal contacts. There are few big names with influence any more.

Carter began especially early in building his own organization. He did not care whether his men and women were in the apparatus or out, whether they were Democrats, independents or Republicans, whether they were rich, poor or middle. His organizers were like vacuum cleaners; they sought workers wherever workers were — friends of old friends, friends and associates from his Navy days, from his business days in the South and from his days in the legislature and State House in Georgia. And friends of friends of friends.

I have seen this system work time and again in local elections. The amateur, too inexperienced to know his system won't work, defeats the professionals with their experienced techniques.

In a sense it is like guerrilla war, the experts with their established channels are overwhelmed by numbers of hit-and-run operators the top party men have never heard of or seen before.

The conventional wisdom attributes the Carter and Reagan upsets to nationwide reaction against Washington and all its ilk. But there's nothing new in this. I cannot remember any time when my neighbors, in whatever state I lived, trusted Washington, or any state government either.

In fact, in my youth, if there was any government my elder and my peers mistrusted more than Washington, it was the government of their state, especially the governor, both Carter and Reagan, of course, are ex-governors, subject to as much criticism while in office as President Ford the Republican and Presidents Johnson and Kennedy, Democrats.

Rhodes Biased For Ford

WASHINGTON — "In a close convention contest, the outcome could depend on who is in certain chairs, on who's got the gavel."

The person making this sage observation is an important Ford political strategist, who speaks anonymously, and he is absolutely correct. Thus, when the GOP convention opens in Kansas City in August, it is imperative that the individual wielding the gavel be as neutral as is humanly possible.

This being the case, when the Republican National Committee's 54-member Committee on Arrangements meets here this week, it should — if it wants to avoid a lot of potential grief — not do what it is doing now, and that is elect House Minority Leader John Rhodes as permanent convention chairman.

The problem with Mr. Rhodes has nothing to do with his personal honesty, his integrity or his ability to be fair. None of these things is questionable. Mr. Rhodes' predicament is that despite his public posture of neutrality, he is in fact a long-time friend and partner of Gerald Ford.

Asked last month on "Meet the Press" about his possible conflict of interest, this appearance of propriety, Rhodes said he saw no problem, declaring:

"I have been in Congress long enough so that I think I have seen a few good presiding officers and I have seen a few bad ones, and I never pays for a presiding officer to be anything other than fair, because if he tried to favor one side or another it would be obvious and counterproductive."

Senators Fighting Over Flowers

Democratic Senators Henry Jackson and Warren Magnuson of Washington are co-sponsors of a bill to make the apple blossom the official flower of the United States. What makes their action provocative is they are ignoring their own state's partly responsible because he followed up on a Betty Simcoe proposal which was to get the machines out and people in.

Abby Passes Buck To Sister Landers

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Our 29-year-old daughter has been living out of town with her boyfriend for six years.

He refuses to support her, so she comes to town when she runs out of money. Then she works until she gets enough money to go back to him. She is highly educated and employable, and makes good money in her field.

What is really bothering us is that she never turns up unless she wants something. Either it's, "May I run my laundry, wash my hair, borrow your truck, fix something to eat, watch your TV, use your phone, etc., etc."

DEAR GRRRR: If she were mine, I'd probably also be "fired" of being used, but too chicken-hearted to tell HER, so I'd write a letter to Ann Landers and ask her what SHE'D do.

DEAR ABBY: You told the lady who wanted to meet the bachelor next door who owned a "kissing" Boston Terrier: "Invite him over for a 7-bone steak dinner and tell him you'll have the bone for his dog."

Abby, you should be aware that a small, brown, curly-coated fowl, steak or chop bones can kill a dog! Such bones splinter, and can puncture the digestive tract anywhere from the animal's throat to his intestines; a puncture of the stomach or intestines can cause rapid onset to peritonitis (infection in the abdominal cavity) followed by an extremely painful death.

EVERYONE has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY, Box 99, Sanford, FL 32771. For Abby's book, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," write to Abigail Van Buren, 133 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a self-addressed, stamped 10c envelope.

Mrs. Speer Presented Club Life Membership

The Garden Club of Sanford recently presented a life membership with the Florida Federation of Garden Clubs to Mrs. G. Audrey Speer. Included with the life membership is a certificate award and life membership pin, which entitles the honoree to special seating at state Garden Club conventions.

Mrs. Speer has served in almost every chairmanship in her club — some of them, several times. She has also been active in the club's annual bazaar, table shows, and has worked behind the scenes on a host of other occasions helping other members with their duties.

Mrs. Speer is a talented and informed clubber who has instructed free flower arranging classes and served as a speaker for clubs and circles on a variety of topics. She has won awards for her flower arranging, and is a flower show judge.

THE PACK IS BACK

And the chase is on... Greyhounds leave the starting box at the Daytona Beach Kennel Club, chasing that elusive mechanical bunny. DBKC is currently in midstream of a summer season which extends through Sept. 20. The track, adjacent to the Daytona International Speedway, is open nightly except Sunday with post time 8 p.m. Matinee days are Monday, Wednesday and Saturday at 1:30. And who won the race? Why the bunny, of course!

Down 16-7, Gregory Wins, 17-16

Game Never Over Until Last Out

When's the last time you heard the sports action tossed about concerning a game never being over until the last out? It was never truer that Monday night at Fort Mellon Park, when Gregory Mobile Homes, down on one point, 16-7, rallied with nine runs in the sixth inning and scored the clincher on last inning hits by Bob Sommerville and Bob Markon plus a run-scoring fly ball by Nick Brady.

Gregory won the game, 17-16, over Eldridge Standard.

In other slow-pitch softball games Monday in the Metro League, Auto-Train defeated the Outlets, 13-11, and league leader Seaboard Coast Line continued rolling with a 9-4 triumph over Lake Monroe Inn.

Eldridge Standard scored at will early against Gregory, getting six in the first, four in the second and four in the fourth. Joe Marino led the way with 4-for-3 and Bill Miller added two doubles.

Bill Berlin had a pair of singles in Gregory's nine-run sixth. In the seventh, Jim Ginn opened with a single, but was eventually cut down trying to leg out an extra base. Sommerville singled and went to third on Markon's double and scored on Brady's fly ball. Berlin and Ginn had three hits each for Gregory.

Auto-Train got the eventual winning run on the sixth on a triple by John Bailey and singles by Mike McGuire and Tommy Foster. Bailey went 4-for-4. Ed Jackson paced Outcasts with two home runs, a double and a single. Charles Smith tripled and singled twice.

Seaboard picked up two hits each from Steve Cooper and Larry McCorkle and let defense do the job. No Lake Monroe Inn player had more than one hit.

Flagship Seminoles Seeks City Berth

Atlantic National played the spoiler Monday in Sanford's Little League.

The Bank team, apparently tired of being trounced by the first division teams of the American League, upset pacesetter Flagship Bank of Seminole, 16-8, and in the process set back the schedule for the city championship, a three-way, double-elimination affair for each of Sanford's league champions.

A victory would have handed Flagship Seminoles the AL flag. However, a stunning loss set the stage for a possible tie for first place. Seminole Petroleum, one back, needs a victory in tonight's 8 o'clock makeup game against Flagship Seminoles to force a winner-take-all match, probably Wednesday night.

Seminole Petroleum itself tonight makeup game against Flagship Seminoles, a team which had won in slugging style throughout the season, especially against Atlantic National. The team to beat in the city tourney.

It was the second straight defeat for Flagship of Seminole, a team which had won in slugging style throughout the season, especially against Atlantic National. The team to beat in the city tourney.

City Tourney MVP Headed For School

The most valuable player in the upcoming Sanford Recreation Department Little League city championship baseball tournament will receive the usual trophy, but also a chance to improve his skills during the summer.

As part of the most valuable player award, the individual who is chosen as the top player will receive a week of instruction at the Florida Baseball School, conducted by Wes Hinker at the Sanford Memorial Stadium.

The trophy will be presented by Gary D. Taylor of Sanford, a coach in the city's youth baseball program who picked up sponsorship of the award when it was dropped by the previous sponsor.

Last year's winner was Jack Wiggins of Jack Prosser Farm.

Men Swimming Squad Tops?

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—California's Shirley Babashoff could well become the star of the 1976 Olympic Games at Montreal in leading the U.S. women swimmers, but the men of Uncle Sam should do better over-all.

The Railroaders were undefeated in 19 games, and figure to be the team to beat in the city tourney.

It was the second straight defeat for Flagship of Seminole, a team which had won in slugging style throughout the season, especially against Atlantic National. The team to beat in the city tourney.

Vincent Challenges For State Welterweight Title Vs. Ortiz

ORLANDO — The Florida State welterweight title will be on the line tonight at the Orlando Sports Stadium, as Pete Ashlock presents a triple main event that also features two of the state's highest ranked boxers.

Defending his 147-pound championship will be Miami's Eusebio "Poncho" Ortiz against the challenger of Orlando's "Mr. Excitement," Joey Vincent, in the first of the three scheduled 10-rounders.

Topping the bill is the third meeting between "Irish" Gene Wells of Orlando and Arizona's Vicente Medina.

Light heavyweight Mike Quarry also meets Cleveland's Sylvester Wilder.

The Ortiz-Vincent battle shapes up to be a free-swinging brawl, as both men are known for their ability to take an opponent.

Wells, ranked No. 1 in the United States, hopes to use his match with Medina as a springboard to a shot at the newly crowned champion, Eckhard Dage of Germany.

Ranked among the top 10 in most ratings, Quarry will be making his second Sports Stadium outing on as many cards. Two weeks ago, the 25-year-old younger brother of Jerry Quarry, scored an impressive win over Chuck Wardfield.

In addition to this trio of main events, Casselberry's Scott Clark will make his second pro outing when the 17-year-old second at Miami's Grandstand meets Tiger Hall in a rematch of a May 25 four-rounder won by Clark on decision.

A four-bout amateur show precedes the professional portion. Headlining the three round bouts will be Lake Howell's John (Hurricane) Hayden and Sarasota's Brian (Action) Begin at 8.

Finally -- Winners Draw Attention For Olympics

EUGENE, Ore. (AP)—A pair of upstarts produced fireworks, some old veterans performed as expected and the first time in three days of the U.S. Olympic Track and Field Trials the winners, not the losers, drew attention.

Edwin Moses, a 29-year-old junior at Morehouse College in Atlanta, shattered the American record in the 400-meter intermediate hurdles and Brenda Morehead rebounded to a near record in the 100 Meter.

And veteran Rick Wohlhuter earned another Olympic trip with an expected victory which marked the first two days of this eight-day competition, when such stars as sprinter Steve Williams, pole vaulter Dan Ripley and shot putter Terry Albritton failed to make the team.

Miss Morehead, 31, a freshman at Tennessee State, burst round out the U.S. team in the starting block and sped to the finish line in 11.08, a shade off the world record of 11.04 set three weeks ago by West Germany's Ingrid Hellen.

"I felt good," she said. "I didn't think it (her time) would be that good." It was the second fastest clocking ever by an American, just off the 11.05 mark set in 1968 by Wynonia Tys.

Second was Chandra Cheeseborough, another newcomer, and at 17, the youngest U.S. Olympic team member so far. The high school junior from Jacksonville, clocked 11.13 and was followed by Evelyn Ashford of UCLA in 11.22.

Wheeler, of San Diego State, the NCAA hurdles champ, said, "It was a very rough race. I dreamed about this and I can't believe it."

Shine, of Penn State, said, "When holding went by me I thought it's new or never. I gotta do it or die, so I just poured out my guts."

Wohlhuter unleashed his famous kick in the stretch and earned his second trip to the Olympics, which qualified him for the 1976 Games with a time of 1:44.78.

Mark Eastart of the Utah State Track Club struggled past Villanova's Mark Belger in the last 10 meters to run 1:46.28 and round out the U.S. team in the two-lap race.

Earlier in the day, the favored trio of Mac Wilkins, John Powell and Jay Silvester all jumped and 200 meters, were scheduled for today.

Keeling Retires After 15 Years

HAMILTON, Ont. (AP)—Veteran quarterback Jerry Keeling of the Hamilton Tiger-Cats retired Monday after 15 seasons in the Canadian Football League.

Keeling, 36, joined Hamilton last season after three years with the Ottawa Rough Riders and 11 with Calgary Stampede.

The University of Tulsa product was a defensive halfback for his first eight seasons with Calgary, then switched to quarterback in 1969.

Keeling played 150 games and scored 1,253 points, followed by Marilyn King of Millbrae, Calif., with 2,569 points.

The final two events, long jump and 200 meters, were scheduled for today.

That You (Only .309) Rod Carew?

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP)—Where are you, Rod Carew?

The man generally considered the best hitter in baseball isn't among the Top Ten hitters in the American League one-third of the way through the season, but he's hardly worried.

Carew was hitting .309 through games of Sunday for the Minnesota Twins — 19 points below his lifetime average and almost 100 points below where he was a year ago at this time. It was also nearly 40 points behind Detroit's Ron L. Flores, who was leading the AL.

"I'm hitting the ball," Carew said. "For a while this spring I didn't feel real good on the plate, but the last week or so I've been hitting it better. I'm not sure if playing a new position was affecting my hitting."

The 30-year-old Carew was moved to first base this year by new Manager Gene Mauch after nine seasons at second base.

"Sure, the switch is taking time," continued Carew, who has developed into a dependable, if not standout first baseman.

"Listen, I don't have anything to prove to anybody," Carew said. "Sure, I'd like to win it again, but I don't, I don't."

He has won four straight batting championships and five all-over while building the highest lifetime average among active players.

"Let's see where everyone is at the end of the year," said Carew, who was second in the major leagues with 31 stolen bases. "Some of the balls that have been caught will start to drop in. Everything has a way of evening out in this game."

In many respects though, Carew is enjoying one of his most remarkable years.

Carew, who has missed an average of 33 games a year in his career, has only missed one game. He's given the Twins their best defense at first base since Vic Power played the position in the early 1960s, and his baserunning has been responsible for much of Minnesota's limited success.

Calvin Griffith shelled out $600,000 in spring training to sign his only superstar for three seasons and Griffith feels it has been a worthy investment.

"Carew is the new $200,000 ballplayer," says Griffith. "If he says a thing as a $200,000 player today, Carew has to be it."

Garland Is Back

By The Associated Press
A no-hitter was the furthest thing from Wayne Garland's mind. He was just hoping for a complete game.

Garland, a long-for-gotten man on the Baltimore roster, was recently moved into the starting rotation—and repaid the Orioles with a splendid pitching performance Monday night.

Garland pitched a no-hitter before, but that was in 1962. He did not complete that start. It was against the Oakland A's, and he was two outs and Garland lost in the ninth before getting hit hard and driven to the showers.

HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE BEDEOSOL

For Wednesday, June 23, 1976

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Treat your opportunities with respect today or you'll regret it. Taking things for granted would be very unwise at this time.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You're not likely to use your best judgment today in matters affecting you personally. Weigh carefully other advice.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Acquaintances will be willing to go out of their way for you today. They may not be back a second time if you are ungrateful.

CANCER (June 21-July 21) Your whims will probably exceed your budget today. Stay far away from things likely to appeal to your frivolous side.

LEO (July 22-Aug. 22) Underplay your accomplishments in front of your peers today. Putting yourself on the back will gain you only a sprained arm.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You have good concepts today, but you need reassurance. Your problem could arise from talking to those whose vision lacks perception.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) You could be rather glib today commercially. Believe only half of what you're told and then divide that by two.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 22) Don't permit someone else to do your thinking today regarding an important matter, especially if you know this person makes impulsive decisions.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Procrastination comes easy to you today. You'll gravitate toward the type of associate who will happily waste time with you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Tsk, tsk, tsk. You bet, than anyone else, should know you can't get something for nothing. Today, you may kid yourself.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Don't take for granted the outcome of important project today. It won't turn out if you don't happen to oversee every detail.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) You may have to deal with one today whose ideals are not as lofty as yours. Don't lower your thinking to her level.

YOUR BIRTHDAY

Take advantage of this coming year of the good contacts you have developed in the past. If they're willing to open doors for you, walk through.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

to hold the trick Later on South led a spade, finessing dummy's 10 and wound up with no spade tricks at all. I was mighty proud of my play and it wasn't until some time later that Phil deflated me by pointing out that South could have made his contract plus at least one overtrick after my play, but that if I had simply played a low spade he would have been doomed to defeat.

For those of you readers who think Phil was mistaken the surefire defense was for me to play low and Phil to let dummy's 10 or jack hold that first spade trick.

I was vulnerable. My right hand opponent opened on heart and I bid two diamonds with:

♠ A 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2
♥ K 5
♦ A K 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2
♣ A K 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2

My first sectional win was in Shreveport. My partner, Phil Briggs, was a very good player, who quit tournament bridge completely due to business pressures.

I opened the queen of diamonds against South's three notrump contract and continued the suit after South ducked. He won the second diamond and led a spade. I put up my queen and was allowed

Reaction To Milk May Be A Problem

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Dr. Lamb

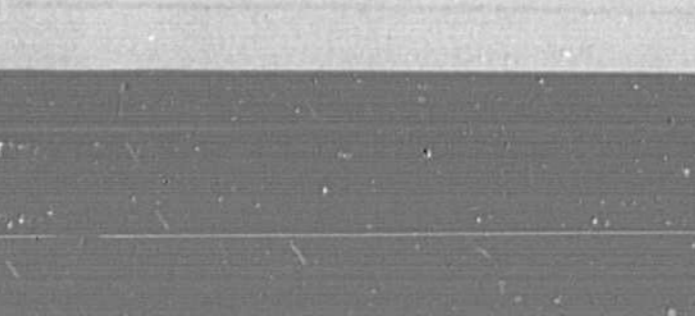

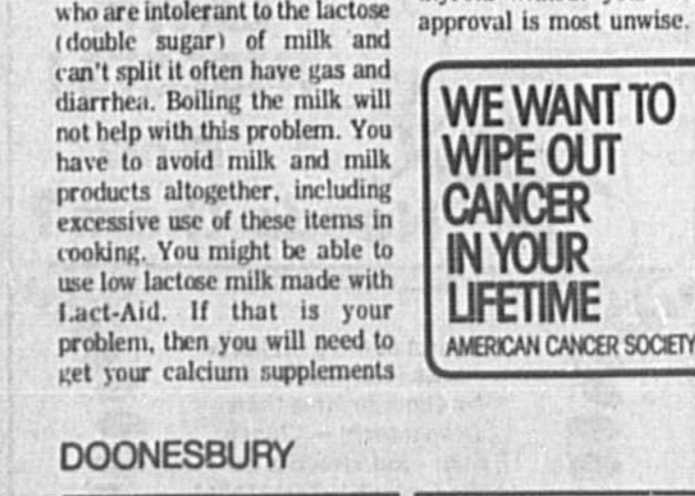

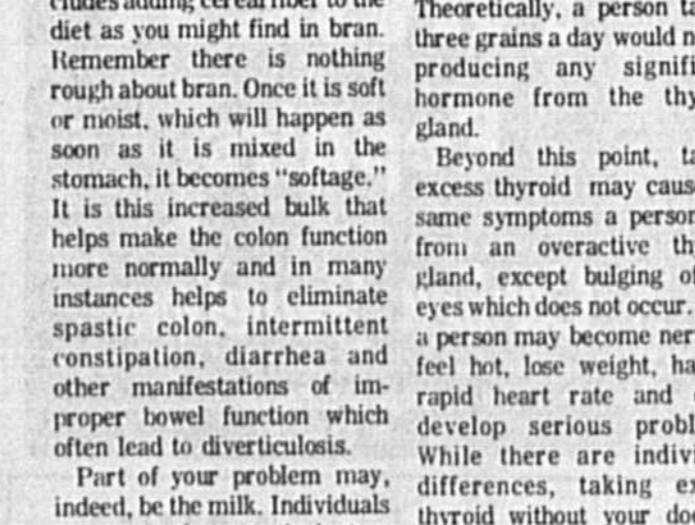

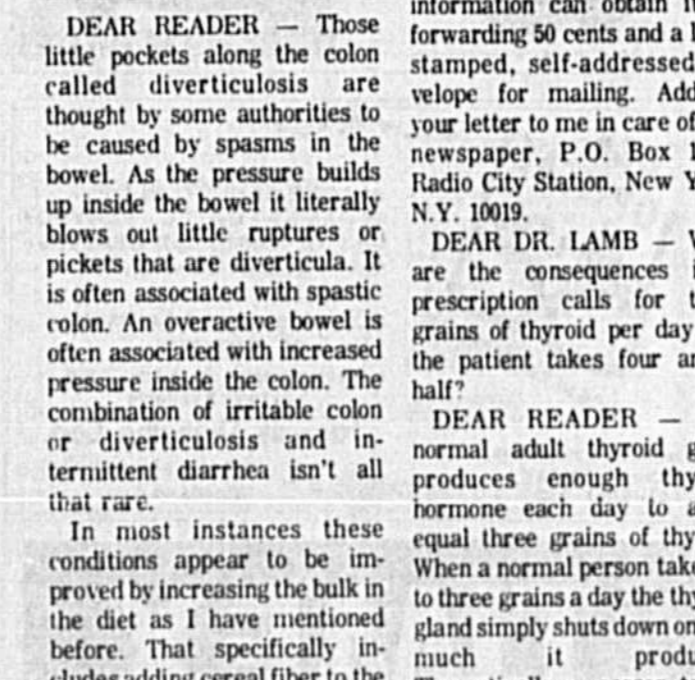

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have the condition diagnosed as diverticulosis. I also have a tendency toward diarrhea and don't seem to be able to handle raw vegetables, fresh fruits, bran muffins, etc., all of which like is this combination unusual?

I am supposed to drink milk three times a day to avoid base thinning and milk is starting to cause some discomfort. Would digesting the milk aid in its digestibility?

DEAR READER — Those little pockets along the colon called diverticulosis are thought by some authorities to be caused by spasms in the bowel. As the pressure builds up inside the bowel it literally blows out little ruptures or pockets that are diverticula. It is often associated with spastic colon. An overactive bowel is often associated with increased pressure inside the colon. The combination of irritable colon or diverticulosis and intermittent diarrhea isn't all that rare.

In most instances these conditions appear to be improved by increasing the bulk in the diet as I have mentioned before. That specifically includes adding cereal fiber to the diet as you might find in bran. Remember there is nothing rough about bran. Once it is soft or moist, which will happen as soon as it is mixed in the stomach, it becomes "softage." It is this increased bulk that helps make the colon function normally and in many instances helps to eliminate spastic colon, intermittent constipation, diarrhea and other manifestations of improper bowel function which often lead to diverticulosis.

Part of your problem may, indeed, be the milk. Individuals who are intolerant to the lactose (double sugar) of milk and can't split it often have gas and diarrhea. Boiling the milk will not help with this problem. You have to avoid milk and milk products altogether, including excessive use of these items in cooking. You might be able to use low lactose milk made with Lact-Aid. If that is your problem, then you will need to get your calcium supplements

Carter Hits Foreign Policy; Urges 'Creative Alliances'

NEW YORK (AP) — Democratic presidential candidate Jimmy Carter said today the United States must abandon what he called its "Lone Ranger" foreign policy and organize free nations to share responsibility for "a just and stable world order."

Carter, the Democrats' probable nominee, called for collective action by the world's democracies in "creative alliances" to help stabilize world prices, ease military tensions and combat hunger and poverty.

Carter painted his concept of "creative alliances" in broad strokes, giving few specific details.

He said it is time to form a partnership between North America, Western Europe and Japan, and that there is a need for increased unity and consultation with Israel, Australia, New Zealand and other democratic societies.

Carter also said in a speech prepared for the Foreign Policy Association that: —NATO forces must be equipped with up-to-date weapons to balance modernized Warsaw Pact forces, but he said the costs must be shared by NATO partners, not borne solely by the United States, and that no effort should be spared to seek a balanced reduction of forces on both sides. —Increased cooperation between East and West is desirable "but we will never seek accommodation at the expense of our own national interests or the interests of our allies."

—He is "particularly concerned" by the nation's role as the world's leading arms salesman and that the United States and its allies must work to reduce the flow of arms into developing nations. —It will be possible to withdraw U.S. forces from South Korea over a time span to be determined after consultation with both South Korea and Japan, but the United States should make clear that "internal oppression" in South Korea is "repugnant to our people."

Lake Mary Enters Firefighting Pact

The city of Lake Mary has entered into a firefighting pact with Seminole County.

The mutual aid agreement between the city and the county was announced at Tuesday's Seminole County Commission meeting.

Director of Public Safety Gary Kaiser said the Lake Mary agreement will send county-owned firefighting equipment to the city's assistance — when city officials request it.

The Lake Mary pact brings all of Seminole's cities except two under the county's mutual aid umbrella. Sanford and Longwood have not signed agreements.

County firefighters will respond to calls inside city limits when assistance is requested. That concept differs slightly with a recent pact signed with the city of Altamonte Springs. In the Altamonte Springs agreement, firefighters nearest the trouble spot rush to the fire, regardless of whether they work for the county or the city.

A Minnesota reader asks: "I was vulnerable. My right hand opponent opened on heart and I bid two diamonds with: ♠ A 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2, ♥ K 5, ♦ A K 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2, ♣ A K 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2. My first sectional win was in Shreveport. My partner, Phil Briggs, was a very good player, who quit tournament bridge completely due to business pressures. I opened the queen of diamonds against South's three notrump contract and continued the suit after South ducked. He won the second diamond and led a spade. I put up my queen and was allowed to hold the trick. Later on South led a spade, finessing dummy's 10 and wound up with no spade tricks at all. I was mighty proud of my play and it wasn't until some time later that Phil deflated me by pointing out that South could have made his contract plus at least one overtrick after my play, but that if I had simply played a low spade he would have been doomed to defeat. For those of you readers who think Phil was mistaken the surefire defense was for me to play low and Phil to let dummy's 10 or jack hold that first spade trick."
